CHIEFS MAKE SPLENDID SHOW AGAINST STRONG TEAM FROM FARWELL IN FRIDAY'S GAME

The hopes of winning the championship of this district went glimmering Friday, October 30, when the Farwell Steers found the Friona Chiefs "off" in the second half of a spectacular but erroneous football game. From appearances in the first half the game appeared to be going the Chiefs' way, but when the game back the pep and drive of the first half was lacking. Two marvelous runs were made by both teams with both resulting in touchdowns. The first came in the first quarter when Caldwell, speedy back of the Steers, returned a punt 70 yards through the scattered Chief eleven for a touch down. The second came in the second quarter when Reeve, Chief center, intercepted a Farwell pass and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Beautiful blocking aided Reeve in his sensational run.

The Steers scored again in the fourth quarter when several completed passes put the ball on the 20 yard line, where they carried it over on three successive left end runs.

The Chiefs' attack was based on running plays almost entirely, with a few passes attempted and one completed. Frost did some outstanding punting that more than once put the ball deep in Farwell's territory. The Chiefs' defense had the Farwell running attack completely bottled up for the day, but they were a big shaky on breaking up the Steer passes.

Farwell, after seeing that they could not gain through or around the Chief line, reverted to an aerial attack entirely. They completed several passes for long gains that proved fatal to the Chiefs when they resulted indirectly in touchdowns. Farwell's defense was rather strong in the center of the line, but the Friona squad reeled off many long gains around both ends. Walling, hefty punter and passer, was the Steers outstanding man, and put off some long and beautiful punts as well as doing some accurate passing. Both teams made many fumbles, especially the Chiefs, who lost the game on them.

As was stated before, Friona's line played brilliantly on the defense and also on the offense. The usual seven, C. Crow, White, Livings, R. Crow, Reeve, Frost and McFarland, started and played most of the game, with Euler, Johnson and Harry substituting. All ten played their usual good game.

The backfield, composed of Frost, Whitefield, Boatman and Barnett, with Lansdown substituting, played a fast and even game, doing some very effective blocking and tackling.

Summary of Game.

Friona: First downs, 8; passes, attempted 3, completed 1; punts, 14 for an average of 30 yards; yards gained in scrimmage, 180.

Farwell: First downs 9; passes, attempted 13, completed 7 for 105 yards; punts, 12 for an average of 40 yards; yards gained in scrimmage, 75.

Methodist Church Notes.

Sunday closes the conference year here. The following Sunday the pastor will be at Vernon attending annual conference. Other services as usual and perhaps a special service at 11 o'clock.

Epworth League well attended, and plans an important step for the future announcement of which will be at the League Sunday. Interest increases in the Boys and Girls World Club Attendance and response is good. They are doing fine work under leadership of Mrs. O. A. Trimmer.

The stewards are working on the new financial system for next year. It is an old plan, but will perhaps be new to some of our people. The plan embraces the every-member canvass. The weekly pay system is another phase, thus each member has his own record.

Sunday school is full. Last Sunday one little girl went home because "she could find no place to sit." The situation is hardly that serious—but a place to sit is at times hard to find.

REPORTER

Farmers' Attention.

George M. Moore, with the department of agriculture, St. Louis, Missouri, will be in Friona Thursday of this week to confer with government borrowers. Those wishing to see him will please meet him here.

Norfleet Joins Law Enforcement.

Many Friona people know Frank Norfleet, or at least know of his wonderful experiences and adventures in chasing down and bringing to justice the group of confidence men who defrauded him of his lifetime savings. It will perhaps be interesting to those of the Star's readers who know or know of this man to learn that he has associated himself with the State law enforcement commission of Dallas.

In associating himself thus J. Frank Norfleet recognizes it as filling the need to handle just such cases as that which brought him into world-wide prominence as a detective of the first rank.

In discussing the matter he said: "The agencies of the state are so overloaded with duties, the funds available are so inadequate, that practically the only work that can be done in the detection of crime and the apprehension of criminals is in only the most notorious murder cases."

The state law enforcement commission is non-political and non-sectarian and it has as its slogan "Enforce all the laws, all the time." Everybody knows something of the story of J. Frank Norfleet, which reads far more interesting than the most imaginative detective story.

Friona Football Eleven.

The football team of Friona has met with great success so far during this season under the training of coach Bill Stevens.

The eleven which played a majority of the games was made up of Clifford Crow, le., Red Crow, rt., Shine McFarland, lg., Charles Reeve, c., Douglas Frost, rg., Fat Livings, rt., Dennis White, re., Conway Frost, re., Clifford Boatman, lh., Hilton Lansdown, rh., Weldon Whitefield, f., and there were several other boys who can equally fill the places of some of the others.

Clifford Crow is a member of the junior class, therefore will have another year of his splendid work.

Wilmot Crow is a member of the senior class, and we are very sorry this is his last year with us.

Hins McFarland is a junior, and will be on the team next year.

Charles Reeve is also a member of the junior class.

Douglas Frost is a freshman and has three more years to be with this school, and in that time he ought to be one of the best Friona has ever turned out.

Donald Living is a member of the junior class, and will have but one more year of high school.

Dennis White is a senior and we are sorry we will have to lose him this year.

Conway Frost is a junior, and we shall see him on the squad again next year.

Clifford Boatman is a member of the sophomore class. We shall see two years more of his splendid work.

Hilton Lansdown, another member of the junior class, we shall see with the team next year.

Weldon Whitefield is a Senior, therefore will not be with us next year.

Friona Weather.

The weather in and near Friona for the past seven days has been of the most delightful variety, there having been no stormy and very little windy weather, but sunshine every day.

Monday was really warm and pleasant for this late in the season, but later in the week it became cooler, but not severely so. Some heavy frosts has visited us and thin ice was frozen during two or three nights, but there is no reason for complaint with the weather man, unless it should be that he may send us another good rain in the near future.

New Grain Firm.

Another firm of grain dealers has recently been organized in Friona, and is composed of O. G. Taylor and E. B. McLellan, and the new firm proposes to make grain, especially grain in the head, bring all it should for the farmers in this locality.

They do their weighing at the Farmers elevator and their office is wherever they may be found, with their shingle hung on their car window.

It Seems to Be Coming.

Most of us have read that bit of sarcasm that seems to be going the rounds of the press about the farmer having to ask some state or county official as to the amount and kind of crops he shall plant each year, the kind and number of animals he shall have on his farm, and when to harvest and market each crop.

Well, in the mind of the writer, this picture seems to be overdrawn, but judging from reports and facts one reads from various sources it may not be so much overdrawn after all.

The State of Louisiana says its cotton farmers shall plant no cotton in 1932; Texas says its cotton farmers shall plant only 75 per cent as much in 1932; the Federal Farm Board strongly urges the wheat farmers to materially reduce their acreage, and now comes the advisory board of the National Dairy association, or some other sort of association and asks that the farm board demand that every dairy farmer slaughter one out of every ten dairy cows in order to prevent over production of dairy products and thus stimulate the price of these articles and hold it at a paying basis.

This condition may be all for the best, and the proper solution of the low price problem, but on this particular question the writer is perfectly willing to be classed among the "Doubting Thomases."

Supply and demand will perhaps control the price, but it will require a higher plane of mental development that has yet been attained to produce legislation that will control supply and demand.

Suppose it requires 400 acres of wheat for a Friona wheat grower to make his operating and living expenses and a moderate profit, will it be just to force him to grow only 300 acres?

Suppose it requires 100 acres of land for a Friona cotton grower to pay all his expenses and live and have a margin left, will it be right to force him to grow but 75 acres? Suppose a Friona dairyman can just meet expenses with a narrow margin of profit with ten cows; will it be right to him to force him to slaughter one of these cows and face a loss on the nine he has left?

The Star is anxious to do anything it can for the benefit of its farmer readers and patrons, but until it can see or be shown the efficiency of such regulations as those enumerated in the initial paragraph of this article, it will not be boosting them.

Congregational Church Notes.

The usual good attendance was present at Sunday school and worship Sunday. The school misses the presence and services of its superintendent, F. W. Reeve, who has been absent the past two Sundays visiting in Indiana. A good attendance is reported at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor and a good program was had.

The ladies aid gives its annual chicken dinner and bazaar at the church Thursday of this week.

Carl C. Maurer was leader at worship services in the morning, and Mrs. J. A. Blackwell delivered the message of the day from a paper prepared by herself, dealing with the prohibition movement in the United States. It was well prepared, well delivered and well received by the audience.

Denton, Nov. 2.—Miss Helen Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Crawford of Friona is among the 29 students enrolled in Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) who hold scholarships from high schools over the state. Miss Crawford, whose picture is second from the right of the top row in the group picture, was awarded first honors when she graduated from Friona high school.

She is doing major work in the department of music and minoring in education.

Baptist Church Notes.

B. Y. P. U. congregations enjoyed a cornet solo by Arlin Dilger and Scripture quotations from several, including the quotation of the entire 23rd Psalm by little six-year-old Margaret Short.

The morning sermon concerned the message to the seven churches, from Revelations. Evening sermon subject was from St. John, concerning the raising of Lazarus, on the text, "Behold, how he loved him."

Saturday night, Sunday morning and night Rev. Groom, a Greek scholar, will be with us. He has memorized most of the New Testament, and will speak from Revelations. Everyone is invited to hear him.

As most if not all of the books of the New Testament were translated from the Greek, a Greek scholar is able to explain shades and subtances of meaning that is not expressed in the King James version. Linguists tell us that the classical Greek language is the best language ever developed by any people in that it is the most nearly capable of expressing the thoughts of the mind and emotions of the heart of any language. Devout students of history see the hand of God in the development of the Greek people, who reached a degree of mental and physical excellence never attained by any other race, and believe that as God permitted the Romans to conquer the Carthaginians in the third century before Christ, was used in the Pax Romana or peace of Rome, which permitted the early disciples of Christ to travel through the civilized world and preach the gospel. He also permitted Alexander the Great to make the conquest of Southwestern Asia and spread the language of the Greeks over the region in the fourth century before Christ, thereby providing a vehicle or means of conveying the truths of the gospel to succeeding generations.

DO YOUR DUTY AS A CITIZEN AND HELP FRIONA BY PAYING TAXES AND WATER BILL NOW

Ben F. Ridge Here.

Ben F. Ridge of Duncan, Oklahoma, owner of the Friona gin, was a welcome visitor in Friona Tuesday and Wednesday, having come over to see how the business of ginning was progressing.

Mr. Ridge is well known by a large number of Friona people and is liked by all who know him and his visits are always welcome with Friona people.

He expressed himself as well pleased with the business being given his gin and remarked that he made the expression last year that if the Friona gin could get enough work to cause it to run both day and night he would be happy. He had the pleasure of witnessing such a condition since Manager Waddell was forced to put on a night crew about the middle of last week, and the gin has been running steadily both day and night ever since.

Mr. Ridge stated that the gin is doing a better business than it has ever done in preceding years, and that the cotton crop around Friona is better and in better condition than he has ever seen one here. The gin will have turned out by the end of this week about 1000 bales of cotton this season, and the most conservative estimate gives not more than half the crop yet gathered. Mr. Ridge further stated that he spent a large part of the night with the boys at the gin, and that he has never met with a more congenial, willing and cheerful bunch of boys than those who are doing his work at the gin.

While in town Mr. Ridge took time to call for a few minutes on the Star office and stated that while he is postmaster of his home town, he always makes it a point to have a good-humored quartet with his assistants in the office if his copy of the Friona Star is not handed to him as soon as it arrives each week. He sees to it that his name is kept on the Star's subscription list. Friona people appreciate Mr. Ridge's interest in Friona and are pleased to have his business interests here a decided success. They also realize that the success of the Friona gin means much to the city and surrounding territory.

The Parmer County Federation of Women's Clubs met at Bovina Saturday, October 25. On account of the absence of the president, Mrs. T. J. Crawford of Friona, Mrs. Carr of Bovina served as the chairman.

The morning session was devoted to business. The federation voted to send Mrs. R. L. Bledsoe of Lubbock as delegate to the district convention at Lubbock in November.

A Halloween Party.

A Halloween party was given Thursday evening of last week in honor of the Friona Woman's Study club by the Junior Woman's club in the basement of the Congregational church.

The church was lighted by Jack 'o' lanterns and decorated in Halloween colors. The members of the Junior club were dressed as ghosts and devils, and greeted the guests and showed them to the fortune telling room where an old witch told their fortunes. After this spooky games, races and contests, were played.

The old witch then came in and sitting in the center of the group told a Halloween story. At the end of the story a headless ghost entered and led the guests on a short trip through hades. Returning to the basement they found the tables set and enjoyable refreshments were served to a nice number of members and visitors.

REPORTER

Citizens of Friona seem to lose sight of the fact that the only way their city fathers can handle the city's business and meet its obligations is through the revenues received through taxes and revenues of the city water system.

They are prompt in paying their gas bills, electric light bills and other taxes, but seem to think it makes no difference whether or not they pay their city taxes and water bills.

In reality they can get along better without either gas or electric lights than they can without water, for there are other commodities that will take the place of either of these, but there is no substitute for water, even though some may try to make a substitute. Citizens of Friona, why not pay your water bills and city taxes along with these other bills and thus enable the men who are giving freely of their time and thought as well as labor to gain for you so many of the common privileges and enjoyments and to keep your city on the honor roll of the business concerns from which they are obliged to purchase the things so necessary to these comforts. Be patriotic by standing by your city first in these matters.

Friona Woman's Club.

The Friona Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. R. H. Kinsley Wednesday afternoon, October 28, with a large number present, including one visitor. The following program was rendered:

Some modern artists and their work: Mrs. Raymond Maples.

V. E. Weil and R. H. Kinsley. Each member was given a slip of paper with a number on it and told to go out in the back yard where a large pile of pumpkins were with numbers on them to correspond to the numbers on the paper. Everyone left carrying a pumpkin.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. D. W. Hanson on November 18.

Adult Health Club.

We regret that so many mothers could not be present. The subject for the next meeting, November 18, at 3:30, is "Foods."

The club voted to provide a loan cabinet for general use in the community. Details of the plan will be given later. A committee was appointed to secure a room in which to place the cabinet.

We expect a large attendance at the next meeting and hope to have a number of suggestions and aid to get this movement started.

HUGE DROUGHT TASK MET BY RED CROSS

Relief Given to Distressed Helps in Meeting Serious Situation, Chairman Payne Says.

"The year of the great drought," as these past twelve or more months will be known to future generations, wrought great damage to millions. Not alone did the crops, which were burned in the fields in twenty-three states, in the summer of 1930, deprive several million persons of food, but the drought disaster continued in the summer of 1931 in the northwestern states and also brought other minor catastrophes in its wake, such as forest fires, and the grasshopper plague.

More than a year has elapsed since the American Red Cross launched, in August, 1930, its first moves for relief of the drought-stricken farmers, and in that time more than 2,750,000 persons were given food, clothing, medical aid, shelter or other type of assistance. At no period during this year were there fewer than 70,000 persons being aided and at the peak of the relief work on March 1, last, more than 2,000,000 persons were being helped.

Today, still as a result of the drought, the Red Cross is giving extended relief in parts of North Dakota, Washington and Montana, where resources of hundreds of families were wiped out this past summer, when a second and more severe spell of dry weather was prolonged in that region.

This drought relief presented the greatest task that has ever been undertaken by the Red Cross as a peace-time activity. The Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, while more spectacular, and calling for relief of a costlier type, because homes and possessions were swept away, affected hardly one-fourth the number of people who suffered because of the drought.

In addition to the broad program of drought relief still being carried on, John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, has given the following suggestion to Chapter chairmen, in regard to unemployment relief: "Where there is suffering and want from any cause and the fundamental local needs are not being met, Chapters may participate in the community plans for meeting the need."

Some type of general family relief, whether for the drought victims, the unemployed or the war veteran and his family, were carried on by more than 1,000 Red Cross Chapters last year, Judge Payne said.

"The drought relief work of 1930-31," he added, "the relief now being extended following last summer's drought, principally in Montana and North Dakota; the assistance which is being given to ex-service men and their families; and the part which several hundred Chapters are taking locally in their communities' relief measures are activities of the Red Cross, national and local, which have met and are meeting some of the serious needs of the present situation."

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought relief problem, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.

Suffering, faith and courage are contained in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho, told by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:

"Picture a happy little homestead near the banks of Priest river in northern Idaho. While father, with a little son tagging at his heels, is out tending crops and adding to the clearing, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping in on its path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stork announces its arrival.

"Mother and baby are bundled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the race through the flaming forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, brushing away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised litter."

To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return to the hills to rehabilitate the little homestead. All they possessed was lost in the forest fire. The Red Cross aided all of the families and is working to help them rebuild their homes.

Altogether seventy-nine disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed. Aside from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 40,000, and a

The Next Congress

By Marvin Jones, National Representative.

The next session of Congress promises to be an interesting one. The House is almost evenly divided between the two parties. If the Democrats should organize the House, John N. Garner will be elected Speaker. He has served in Congress for 30 years, knows all the ins and outs and is the dean of the Texas delegation.

Texas has been in the Union since 1845 and has never had the speakership. It would be a rare pleasure to address a Texas man as speaker for the first time. Many important questions will be presented. One of the chief of these will be the money question. A little group of men have perverted the Federal Reserve System from its original purpose and have again centered the money control in the hands of a few men in the East. Chief of these is Mr. Mellon, and his policies have become known as Mellonism.

There are a number of contributing causes to present day conditions, but the chief one is the contraction of currency. In 1929 there was a per capita circulation of $53.01. According to a late Treasury report it is $38.62, a reduction of more than 25 per cent. And yet we have one-third more gold than we had in 1920.

When money is scarce it becomes more valuable because of its scarcity, and property becomes lower in value. Nothing would do more to restore normal conditions than an increase in the volume of money. This would make money more plentiful and would increase the value of property thus stimulating prices of property and products, encouraging world trade and furnishing work to a vast number of unemployed.

Naturally this centralization of money has resulted in mergers, monopolies and the lessening of individual opportunity.

In the meantime some immediate changes need to be made. The lopsided tariff which is destroying our foreign trade, should be revised. Provision should be made for taking up the current installments due the farm loan banks and placing them behind the other installments. I introduced a measure a year ago, H. R. No. 16,258, to do this. Several other members introduced similar measures. But due to the opposition of the bank officials and the administration they were defeated.

These measures will be reintroduced and in view of a recent statement by the president indicating that he now recognizes the necessity for such action, it is hoped that some such measure will be enacted. This is more important than any foreign moratorium, as home ownership is one of the greatest safeguards of our national life. Centralization in government and business must be checked. The encouragement of mergers and monopolies should cease, short selling should be stopped and business big as well as little given to understand that they must obey the law.

These are but a few of the subjects that will be presented. Economies should be practiced wherever possible, excessive salaries reduced, a free circulation of money restored, the control of local affairs restored to local people, and Mellonism should be destroyed.

Paul In Ephesus

Acts 19:8-20.

Acts 19:8. And he entered into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, reasoning and persuading as to the things concerning the kingdom of God.

9. But when some were hardened and disobedient, speaking evil of the Way before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus.

10. And this continued for the space of two years; so that all they that dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

11. And God wrought special miracles by the hands of Paul;

12. Inasmuch that unto the sick were carried away from his body handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out.

13. But certain also of the strolling Jews, exorcists, took upon them to name over them that had the evil spirits the name of Lord Jesus saying, I adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth.

14. And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a chief priest, who did this.

15. And the evil spirit answered and said unto them, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?

16. And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and mastered both of them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.

17. And this became known to all, both Jews and Greeks, that dwelt at Ephesus; and fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.

18. Many of them that had believed came, confessing, and declaring their deeds.

19. And not a few of them that practised magical arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all; and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

So mightily grew the word of the Lord and prevailed.

Golden Text: Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather even reprove them.—Eph. 5:11.

Time: Paul nearly three years in Ephesus, A. D. 53-56.
Place: Corinth, Jerusalem, Ephesus.

Lesson Connection.

Paul's second missionary tour had lasted three years, half of which time had been spent in Corinth, and it was now necessary to return to his starting point, Syrian Antioch, and report his progress. He set sail across the Aegean for Ephesus, taking with him Aquila and Priscilla, his host and hostess of Corinth.

He was also accompanied by Timothy and probably by Silas.

Pressing on to Jerusalem, Paul landed at Caesarea, went up to Jerusalem, saluted the church there, completed his vow during the Pentecost week, and then went northward to Antioch, where he delighted ed the mother church of missions by relating the extension of Christianity to Europe, and the founding of flourishing churches in Philippi, Thessalonica, Boreca and Corinth.

Paul needed a rest, but he could not stay long in Antioch, but felt called to begin very soon his third missionary tour, in the course of which he made his promised stay in Ephesus. This journey, in which Timothy and Titus accompanied Paul, was westward through the Cilician Gates, the pass in the Taurus Mountains, and thence through Derbe, Lystra, Iconium, and the Pisidian Antioch, finally reaching Ephesus, in Lydia, the central province on the Mediterranean seaboard.

Ephesus and the Temple of Diana.

"Ephesus was justly styled 'the Light of Asia.' She was not only the capital of the province of Asia but the leading city of Asia Minor. She was famous in literature and art, but her principal glory was her temple of Artemis (Diana), which ranked as one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. The original temple has been burned to the ground; it was, however, rebuilt on a larger scale and in greater magnificence. Its walls and pillars were gleaming marble, and the interior was fitted with ivory, cypress and cedar. Its length was 425 feet, and its breadth 220; while its stately columns numbering 127 and each erected by a king, were 60 feet in height. It was 220 years in building and the enormous cost was defrayed by the whole of Asia Minor with a splendid devotion. The presence of this great temple brought many strangers to Ephesus to worship there. The city grew rich selling charms to pilgrims.

The Apostle John became the great leader of the church which Paul founded in Ephesus.

Paul In Ephesus.

Arriving at Ephesus, Paul lodged again with Aquila and Priscilla, once more supporting himself by tentmaking, in which they were his partners. They told him about Apollos, who was an eloquent and learned man from Alexandria in Egypt, a man "mighty in the scriptures." He was a disciple of John the Baptist, earnestly expecting the Messiah as John had, but ignorant of the fact that the Messiah had already come in the person of Jesus Christ. Before Paul's arrival he had crossed over to Corinth.

Soon after Paul's arrival he found some Christians who like Apollos had been followers of John the Baptist, but they had not received Christian baptism. There were about twelve of these men, and they readily received Paul's teaching, were baptized into the name of Jesus Christ, and received the Holy Spirit, speaking with "tongues" and prophesying.

Paul In the Synagogue.

"And he entered into the synagogue." How hopeful Paul was, never despairing of his own people, always expecting them to receive the good news of their Messiah, in spite of their repeated rejection of him at Antioch of Pisidia and the nearby cities, at Thessalonica and Corinth. "Reasoning and persuading, as to the things concerning the kingdom of God." "We pause for a moment to think of the amount of work of all kinds implied in this short record. The daily labor as a tentmaker went on as before (Acts 20:34). The Sabbaths saw him evening and morning in the synagogue preaching, as he had done elsewhere, that Jesus was the Christ, and setting forth the nature of his work and the laws of his kingdom."—Dean E. H. Plumtre.

Speaking Evil of the Way.

"The Way" was the common name for Christianity, being derived from our Lord's saying that he was "the way, the truth and the life." They blasphemed Christ and repeated base charges against his people, seeking to prevent other Jews from becoming Christians.

"He departed from them, and separated the disciples." Paul no longer taught in the synagogue, and his converts also withdrew from it, since connection with it no longer brought good results. "He hired the school of Tyrannus, who did this." Tyrannus was another Jewish sorcerer (Acts 13:6-12).

"And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, a chief priest, who did this." Sceva may have been at some time the head of one of the courses of priests at Jerusalem.

And the evil spirit answered and said unto them, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?"

"And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and prevailed against them, so that they fell out of that house naked and wounded." The demon tore their clothing from them, and beat them, driving them from the house.

"They undertook to use the same sacred invocation as Paul; but it proved, like the censers of Korah, Dathan and Abiram, a strange fire kindled against their own souls."—Num. 16:1-35.

The Bonfire of Bad Books.

"And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified." The event showed the pre-eminence of the Lord Jesus, that he was really what he claimed to be, the Son of the Most High God.

"Many of them that had believed." They had "joined the church", making a public confession of Christ, but evidently their faith was imperfect, they had not been "soundly converted". "Came, confessing, and declaring their deeds." Some of them, doubtless, had continued to use magic, and were terrified by the punishment which had fallen on the sons of Sceva.

"And not a few of them that practised magical arts." Brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all. "The books which contained their mysteries, formulas of incantation, nostrums, and the like." "And they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver." "Greek drachmas, Roman denarii, worth from fifteen to seventeen cents each, or a total of about $8,000 equal in purchasing power today to about $100,000. The books were rare and were regarded by the superstitious as exceedingly precious.

"So mightily grew the word of the Lord and prevailed." "Grew" is the Greek imperfect tense, denoting a continuous process. The power of the gospel over human hearts kept on increasing, more and more overcoming the many evils in that city.

Strolling Jews, Exorcists.

"But certain also of the strolling Jews, exorcists." These Jews, wandering from place to place, pretended to cure disease by solemnly pronouncing over the sufferers magical words or longer charms. They were of the same class as Simon, the sorcerer of Samaria; see Acts 8:9-24. Elymas in Cyprus was another Jewish sorcerer (Acts 13:6-12).

Literary Society Program.

Thursday of last week the literary society had charge of the entertainment. The program follows: Song; Assembly. Quartet: Clara Benger, Claude Miller, Daisy Dee Parr and Elmer Green. Reading: Dorothy Crawford. Debate: Lee Euler, Irvin Welch. Special music: Carolyn Lange. Halloween story: Ruth Melton. Music: Elmer Green. Yells: Assembly.

The special music by Miss Lange was enjoyed and we hope she will come again. The debate was interesting, the question being "Resolved: That ghosts originate in the mind and are unreal." Lee and Seva affirmed, but Elizabeth and Irvin defeated them with the negative, which all goes to prove that the audience was rather superstitious.

Agriculture Club Report.

The agriculture club met Thursday for the club program. After some business pertaining to Halloween the following program was given:

Some reasons why I joined the club: Donald Livings.

The value of the agricultural club: Robert Chiles.

A ten-minute talk on green manuring: Clyde Sherrilob.

A ten-minute talk on winter cared poultry: Conway Frost.

Attitude toward agriculture club: Mr. Heath. As Mr. Heath was not present his part of the program was omitted.

As there was no other business to attend to the club adjourned.

What's Happening This Week.

Monday night, board meeting and bank practice.

Tuesday night, debating society. Adult class in home economics.

Wednesday night, program by Amarillo College of Music.

Thursday night, debating society.

Friday night, bird lecture by Mr. Payne.

Halloween Carnival.

The carnival sponsored by the P. T. A. last Friday night was a great success. All the expenses have not been paid, but it is estimated that about $130 was made.

Football Story Lacking.

We regret that our football reporter did not get his writeup of last Friday's game in time for publication this week. He is a mighty good reporter and knows his stuff when it comes to reporting football, but is a little tardy in his actions thereon.

Gone But Not Forgotten.

Perhaps it will be of interest to some of the people in our community to know just exactly where the seniors of the 1930-31 class are and what they are doing at the present time:

Helen Crawford is attending school at C. I. A., Denton. Edith Brookfield, Glenn Reeve and Dayton Hanson are students in W. T. S. T. C., Canyon. Mabel Wimberly is in training in the Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, and Frank Truitt is attending school at Simmons University.

These students are well on their way up the ladder of success, but there are 16 more who will follow later. We all have many years ahead of us, we hope. Why rush through life?

Two of the members have started on their voyage across the great sea of matrimony. These are Bell Cole, who is now Mrs. Fuks, and Velma Loflin, who is now Mrs. Jones.

Minnie Reed and Elizabeth McMurry are attending school again in Friona, taking post graduate work. Virginia Lillard is working in her uncle's variety store in Hereford. Lunn Bennett, Faye Reed, J. W. and Glenn Lacy, Mildred McMurry, Zelma York, John Luther Furlong and Allen Guinn are certainly not idle. These students have found work to do either in their homes or elsewhere in the vicinity of Friona. Later they will be out-standing figures in the history of Friona or some other community.

Long Live the King and Queen.

Friday night just before the ghosts and witches came, the royal couple arrived for their coronation.

The royal couple was preceded to the palace by Lady Margaret Guinn and Lord Douglas Frost; Lady Nadeen Benger and Lord Clyde Crow; Lady Dorothy Loflin and Lord Dennis White, and Princess Ina Wyatt and Prince John Benger.

The trumpet sounded and Her Majesty, Queen Noble McLean and His Majesty, King Conway Frost, entered. The queen's gown was pink lace net, very long and gracefully designed. The king wore a royal purple robe trimmed in white. The ladies wore dresses of shell pink and the princesses wore delicate tan. Crown bearers, Mary Jo Anderson and A. C. Echols, bore the crown in and the prince and princess placed them on the king and queen.

The king, who was in a mood for entertainment, called on his band for a number, and then on his little actress, Nellie Faye Wright. Lords Armstrong and Smith delighted him with a number. The king then called his Spaniard, Lord Eubanks, to relate to him the story of his ancestors who were gladiators. The entertainment was concluded by a number from the band.

Albert Conway, the king's announcer, extended an invitation to the audience to visit his adjoining palace and see the spooks and goblins.

A Full Line of Clothes.

By Ruth Harry, English I.

The clouds had been gathering all evening, and by sundown it had started to rain. It rained most of the night. When dawn came it was still cloudy. Mandy arose early and prepared to wash. Although it was not a suitable day to wash, it was Monday, and Mandy would wash, rain or shine. She cooked breakfast and her husband, Rastus, went to his work. Mandy hurried through with her washing and was pleased to see that she was the first one of the neighborhood to hang her clothes on the line.

One of the neighbors had a small dog which was fond of playing in water. This little dog had just crawled out of a ditch which was full of mud and water. As a result he was very wet and muddy. He came running through Mandy's back yard, feeling very gay. As he ran under the clothes he jumped, and hanging his teeth in a sheet, brought the line to the ground. Mandy had seen the performance from her window. As she came running out the back door she slipped and fell into a mud puddle. She picked herself up, seized a club and started after the dog. In her hurry she fell on the clothes which had already been tramped into the mud by the dog. By the time she was on her feet again the dog was gone. Very angrily she picked up the clothes and waddled back into the house.

She had just got into the house when Rastus came home for dinner. With wide open eyes, he said:

"Mandy, where you been?"
Mandy, very much out of sorts, replied:
"Rastus, what do your care?"

A Good Musical Program.

A good sized audience filled the high school auditorium here Wednesday night to listen to the musical program given by the proprietors and members of the Amarillo College of Music.

The entertainers were Prof. E. F. Meyer, assisted by his son and daughter, and Miss Kenedy all of Amarillo, and Prof. Aubrey Armstrong of Friona. Those who attended expressed their appreciation in highest terms and were well pleased with the entire program.

Mrs. Martin to Rebuild.

Mrs. L. A. Martin, whose wife building was burned on the morning of October 20, is making preparations for rebuilding and expects to have the work well under way within a few days. She secured an adjustment on her equipment last Saturday, receiving the full amount of the insurance carried.

Mrs. Martin has not yet definitely decided as to whether she will have one room or two in the new building.

The first load of cotton shipped by truck from Friona direct to Galveston left here Thursday at about noon. Superintendent Waddell of the Friona Gin Co., says he may ship all the cotton in that manner in the future.

Mr. Bennett of Amarillo spent Monday with friends in Friona.

Mrs. H. Price of Woodside, L. I., writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 yrs. old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat with speed take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—don't miss a morning—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—get it at the City Drug Store or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. adv

R. R. Bussell, one of Friona's pioneer citizens, living 12 miles northwest of town, was in Tuesday. Mr. Bussell is carrying his right hand in a sling as result of a very sore finger, which has been giving him lots of pain and trouble for the past three weeks, but which is now much improved. The bad finger is the result of getting a small jagger of some kind in the flesh from which infection set in.
