Bush claims U.S. oil supply secure

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

MIDLAND — The Persian Gulf war between Iraq and Iran should have no serious effect on the domestic oil supply, Vice President George Bush told reporters here Thursday.

"It will be a long time before we feel an adverse effect," because of stockpiled oil reserves and a lessened dependence on Middle East oil," he said. "We are only dependent for 3 percent of our energy products from the Persian Gulf."

When questioned about whether he thought the Permian Basin oil industry was better off today than four years ago, Bush cited lower inflation and interest rates as evidence the economic situation of the country has improved.

"Productivity was going backwards. Now more people are at work in the United States than ever before," Bush said. "Yes, the oil industry has had some difficulties. But it's evident by the enthusiasm (at a political rally before the press conference) that they are better off than they were four years ago."

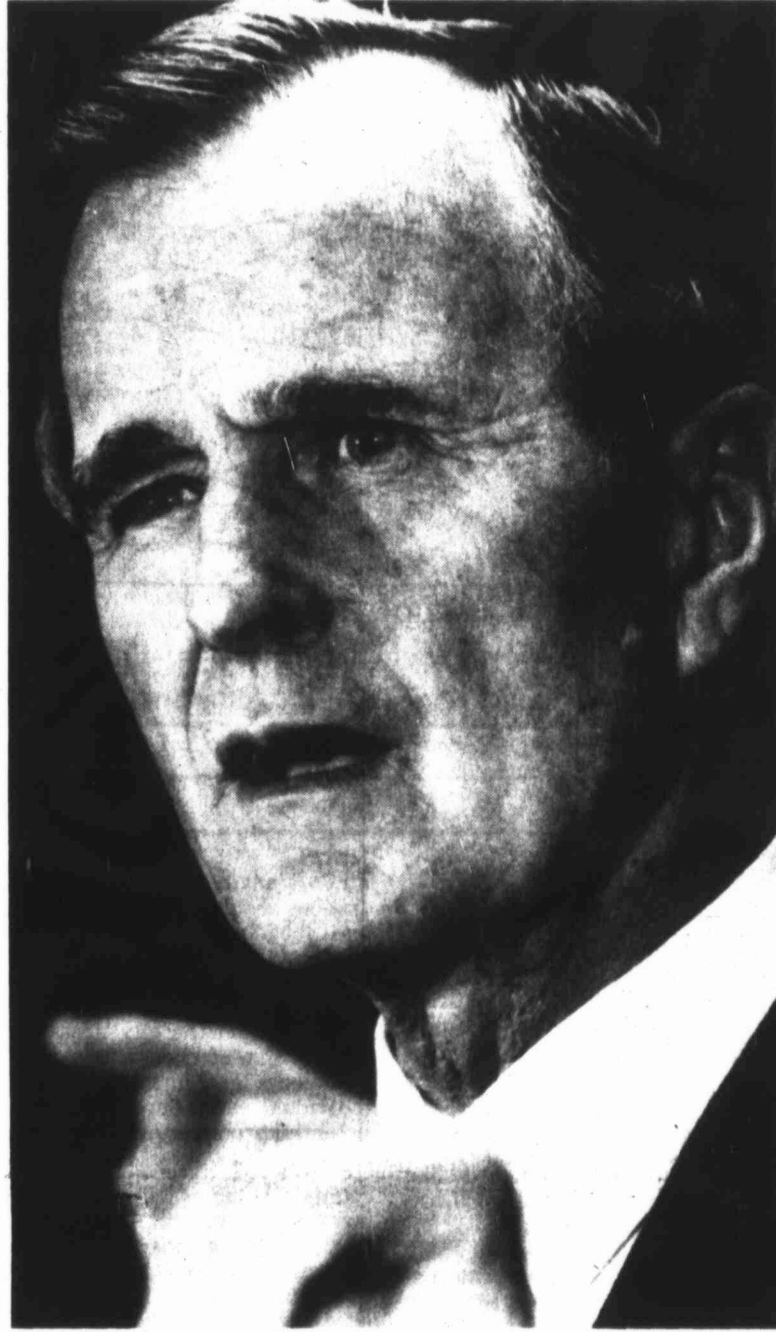

Bush responded to questions from the press after endorsing the Republican campaigns of Senate hopeful Rep. Phil Gramm, R-College Station, and his own administration at a $4-a-plate barbecue luncheon in the Midland County Convention Center.

In that same speech, he accused Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill of "blocking important legislation" from consideration on the House floor, and called O'Neill a "shrill partisan."

In answer to a question about aid to drought-stricken farmers, Bush said he did not know if the administration intended to delay the June 10 planting deadline for West Texas farmers who must meet the deadline to be eligible for federal crop insurance benefits.

The administration has been

Iran admits Iraqi bomber attack on inland refinery

By the Associated Press

Iraq today confirmed that Iraqi warplanes had attacked an oil refinery 100 miles inside Iranian territory but said its defense forces downed one plane, killing the pilot, and forced the other planes to flee.

The Iranian report was carried by Tehran radio, which also broadcast a threat that Iran would destroy ports and oil pipelines throughout the Persian Gulf region if the United States intervenes in the Iran-Iraq war.

Iraq, in announcing the air raid Thursday, said its warplanes hit both an oil refinery and a pumping station near Tabriz, about 300 miles northwest of Tehran. An Iraqi spokesman, speaking on state television, said one Iraqi jetfighter was downed.

In addition, Iraq said Thursday it would destroy installations at Iran's main oil terminal, Kharg Island, if Iran decides to proceed with an anticipated major offensive.

Neither country gave a clear indication what damage, if any, was inflicted on the targets during the air raid near Tabriz.

Iraq's Parliament speaker, Hashemi Rafsanjani, said in a speech Thursday to artillery and air defense personnel that Iran would destroy ports and oil pipelines around the gulf if the United States intervened in the war, which began in September 1980.

"We shall do so in such a way that they would not be able to rebuild them in the near future," Rafsanjani said. The speech, carried on Tehran radio, was monitored in Bahrain.

The United States has said it would intervene if any attempt was made to close the Strait of Hormuz, the narrow passage at the south end of the gulf through which about 20 percent of the non-communist world's oil passes.

Also Thursday, an Iraqi government newspaper said: "Iraq has lately decided to postpone an offensive on Kharg with a view to making room for efforts aimed at talking the Iranians into changing their stance."

But the report, distributed by the official Iraq News Agency, added that Iraq will "destroy oil installations on Kharg completely if Iraq goes ahead with its major offensive and continues to reject peace overtures."

U.S. intelligence and Arab diplomatic sources have said for several months that Iran is massing troops for a major offensive on Basra, Iraq's southern provincial capital.

Al-Thawra, the newspaper of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's ruling Baath Party, said Iraq's blockade of Kharg would be tightened in the next few days.

Seasonally Adjusted Figures

The Texas unemployment rate took an impressive tumble last month, falling nearly a full percentage point from 6.8 percent in April to 5.7 percent in May, the U.S. Labor Department said today.

Nationwide, the lowest unemployment jobless rate in three years was reported in May — 7.5 percent, compared with 7.8 percent in April.

According to the government, 457,000 Texans were unemployed last month, 75,000 less than in April when 532,000 were out of work.

The jobless rate in May 1982 was 8.1 percent. About 332,000 workers have been added to wage and salary payrolls statewide over the past year, Richey said.

America's civilian jobless rate fell to 7.5 percent in May, the lowest since August 1981, as new hiring by business created 890,000 jobs, the government reported today. Total employment reached 105.3 million, the highest on record.

Last month's rate also matched the 7.5 percent level of January 1981, when President Reagan took office.

The 0.3 percentage point dip from April's seasonally adjusted 7.8 percent civilian jobless rate broke a string of two months of standstill unemployment. The good news notwithstanding, an estimated 8.5 million Americans were still without jobs.

But today's report was studied with good news for the labor market as hundreds of thousands of young people prepare to enter the labor force in search of summertime jobs.

•Long, Lamb in JP tilt

Democratic hopefuls for Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, Place 1, China Long and Doyle Lamb both cite their experience as important qualifications for the office.

Mrs. Long, KBST news director, stresses her news and civil service experience; Long emphasizes his business experience and the period he spent as a town marshal for Red River, N.M.

"Administrative duties are important in the justice of the peace job," Mrs. Long said. "A good part of the JP's duties are administrative."

She points to her 20 years' work as a federal civil servant at Webb Air Force Base as important experience for the job.

Although she says law enforcement experience is helpful background for a peace justice, her reporting experience also made her familiar with a peace justice's duties, she said. "It's not a law enforcement position," Mrs. Long said, saying the job was administrative and legal in nature.

She also said she has an edge because of her reporting experience. "I have worked with county and city officials and community leaders. I have been able to work with them in the past," Mrs. Long said.

In contrast, Lamb said in an earlier interview that in addition to his experience as a town marshal, his business experience would help him manage the office and give him background for civil cases.

Lamb also said he has spent time watching Peace Justice Lewis Heflin, who holds the Precinct 1, Place 2 peace justice slot, to learn about the functions of the office.

In a Herald advertisement Thursday, Mrs. Long printed statistics on the number of criminal cases and revenue the cases brought in by the county's three JPs for the months of January through March this year.

The ad, headlined, "Sometimes the best man for the job is a woman," shows Willie Grant as handling 773 criminal cases for a $30,152 revenue. Heflin is shown as handling 411 cases for $18,755; Bobby West handled 110 for $3,473 during the same period in the ad.

However, Heflin said this morning Mrs. Long's figures are incorrect. Statistics he provided the paper today show that 670 Class C misdemeanor criminal cases were filed in his court, and 574 were disposed of for a total of $21,997.

•County funds issue

Democratic hopefuls for Precinct 3 Howard County Commissioner, Jonell Smallwood and Oliver B. "Bud" Nichols, have both said they would handle county funds efficiently. But each has a different way of reaching that goal.

Nichols, a Lomax farmer-rancher whose ads read, "Save dollars, Vote Nichols," said his priority was "holding the line on the tax rate."

"There are a lot of built-in expenditures in the county budget," Nichols said. "But you still have to work for the best dollar usage."

He also said commissioner salaries are "a little high," and said he would never vote to increase salaries for his term, though he said he might vote for salary increases that would take effect after he left office.

Nichols said he had experience with taxing "on both the collecting and the paying sides." He served on the Forsan school board for 10 years, as well as the tax equalization board and a forerunner of the taxing agency board. He also owns property in both the county and the city of Big Spring, he said.

Smallwood, owner of Smallwood's Western Store on Third Street, said he wanted to make "the tax dollar go as far as possible."

Smallwood said surplus county funds should be used during

•GOP to pick in race

The two candidates vying for the Republican nomination for county commissioner for Precinct 3 don't agree on what are the major issues.

Incumbent Bill Crooker, owner of Mr. G's Garden Center, says economy in government, greater efficiency and lowering the tax rate are the "issues in government constantly before you."

His opponent, Clayton McKinnon, has focused his campaign on cutting county commissioners' salaries, which he calls excessive. His recent ads say he will give half of his salary, if elected, to charity.

Crooker, a four-term incumbent, said commissioners raised their salaries two to three years ago at the suggestion of the county auditor, who studied commissioners' salaries in counties of similar population sizes.

Howard County commissioners' salaries at that time ranked 35th of 37 counties in amount of annual salaries, Crooker said. Commissioners increased their salary level to the median of that group; since then, they have granted themselves percentage increases. "We are neither the highest nor the lowest paid commissioners," he said.

Crooker also cited neighboring counties' salaries. Crane County, with a population of 4,800, pays its commissioners $33,000 annually, he said.

McKinnon, however, claims that statewide comparisons are neither fair nor accurate, since

•4 counties hold vote

Two commissioners' court races highlight Dawson county Democratic primary runoff elections Saturday.

Rudy Arredondo and Luciano Cavazos face each other in the Precinct 1 race. Arredondo was the leader in the primary, garnering 272 votes for 31 percent of the total. Cavazos got 212 votes.

In the Precinct 3 race, E.L. "Gene" Hendon faces Sanford Boardman. Hendon was the leader in the three man primary race, picking up 360 voter for 39 percent of the total. Boardman gained the other runoff spot with 33 percent of the vote.

In Martin County, incumbent Tax Assessor-Collector June

Carpenter will face Leona Louder in the county's only local Democratic primary runoff.

The only contested local county race in Sterling County is for sheriff-tax collector.

Current Sheriff Tommy Wright did not seek another term.

The runoff pits former sheriff's deputy Lloyd "Poke" Brown against current sheriff's deputy Roy Balderaz. Brown heads a dirt contracting firm.

In the May Democratic primary, Brown received 220 votes, and Balderaz got 202 votes.

In Mitchell County, Edward Roach, 59, and Warren Anderson, 62, face each other for a county commissioners seat.

Jennifer sells her house

BEDFORD — Actress Jennifer O'Neill has escaped foreclosure proceedings by selling her estate in this Westchester County community, a lawyer and a real estate agent said.

JENNIFER O'NEILL

A New York City literary agent is buying the 14,000-square-foot stone house for $895,000, said Sally Siano of Sally Siano and Associates Real Estate Agency in Bedford Hills. She would not disclose the buyer's name.

The 9.5-acre estate had been scheduled to be sold at auction in July because the actress was behind in her payments, Steven C. Greene, an attorney for one of the mortgage holders, said Thursday.

Miss O'Neill, 35, and her ex-husband, John Lederer, bought the house in 1981 for $600,000, according to Greene.

On Oct. 22, 1982, the star of the film "Summer of '42," accidentally shot herself in the stomach with a .38-caliber revolver in the bedroom of the home. She was charged with possession of a weapon and received a conditional discharge.

Lederer, 36, was charged with possessing an unregistered weapon. The charges were dismissed in January.

A Platter is dying

BOSTON — Nate Nelson, who for nearly 30 years sang with the pop groups the Flamingos and the Platters, is in critical condition and in desperate need of a heart transplant, doctors said.

"Nate is dying," his wife of 25 years, Angel, said Thursday. "He has survived this long only with life-support systems ... but time is running out."

Nelson, 52, has been at Brigham and Women's Hospital for a week in critical condition and will become too ill for a transplant if a heart is not found within two days, said Dr. Gilbert H. Mudge at a hospital news conference. Nelson suffers from coronary artery disease, the doctor said.

Nelson's three-decade career ended abruptly 2½ years ago with the first of a series of heart attacks, Mrs. Nelson said.

Floyd KO's Cagney plan

NEW PFALTZ — Former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson says he and actor James Cagney have scuttled plans to go into business together here in New York.

It was Patterson's decision Thursday to end a tentative deal with Cagney and the actor's secretary Marge Zimmerman, to open a restaurant. The decision followed a Life magazine report that accused Mrs. Zimmerman of exploiting her boss.

"Our friendship means a lot to me," Patterson said of the 84-year-old Cagney. "I don't want people to even think that was my motive... With all the bad publicity, I decided to scrap the idea."

Patterson, 44, also defended Mrs. Zimmerman.

"People are saying that Marge is taking advantage of him. I don't know anything about their business," he said, "but I do know that he is her number one."

The greening of Reagan

President visiting ancestral Irish hometown

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, asserting the Western alliance has never been stronger, is setting off on a European trip that will take him to the tiny Irish town of his ancestors and the beaches made famous by the Allied invasion in World War II.

Reagan was leaving today for Ireland on the first leg of the 10-day journey that will wind up in London for the seven-nation economic summit.

In advance of his departure, the president discussed the touchy issues of the Persian Gulf and East-West relations, themes that will no doubt follow his journey across the Atlantic Ocean.

Taking note of NATO foreign ministers finishing up their talks on Thursday, Reagan told a group of foreign journalists, "I don't believe that relationship has ever been closer or better or stronger than it is right now."

Asked about the U.S. attitude toward the Soviet Union, Reagan said, "We don't feel that we're at fault in these relations."

He said Moscow had broken off arms control talks late last year. "I think it's their move. But we'll be ready if there's anything we can do. We're not going to offer them some great concession as a reward for walking away from the table."

He sounded an optimistic note about the Persian Gulf crisis.

"... If you look at the last few days, it appears that, rather than getting worse, the situation has quieted somewhat. ... So, maybe it's going to turn out all right."

Questioned about which side — Iraq or Iran — the United States was backing in the lengthy fighting, he replied that "Iraq has made overtures to have a negotiated settlement and end the war. And Iran has refused to do this. So Iran is in more or less the position of demanding unconditional victory."

"If there was any way that any of the rest of us could, by appeal, bring an end to that fighting, I'm sure we would all do it because it's a tremendous and horrible bloodletting that is going on," he said. "And Iran, as I say, is the one now who seems to resist any effort, short of a total victory, ending that war."

The president's first stop is IRISH WHITE — The White House, one of several cafes that have opened recently in Ballyporeen, Ireland, expects a brisk business during President Reagan's visit this week.

Ireland where security measures have been beefed up for his activities, which include visiting his ancestral home, receiving an honorary law degree and addressing a joint session of the Irish parliament.

In Dublin, security sources said Swedish-made surface-to-air missiles will be deployed around places Reagan will visit. A 1,000-man security detail will help Secret Service agents protect him.

The president is expected to be met by a variety of protest groups opposed to his Central American and nuclear policies. Administration officials have shrugged off the protests, saying such demonstrations are not uncommon.

Reagan, in a recent interview with Irish Television, said he felt the Irish protesters were "probably sincere and well-intentioned. But I don't think they know the situation" in Central America.

In his public remarks, administration officials say the president not only will focus on the close ties between Ireland and the United States but also will speak to a broader audience on U.S.-Soviet relations.

A highlight of that part of the journey for Reagan will be his Sunday visit to Ballyporeen, a tiny village in County Tipperary from which Reagan's ancestors came. He follows in the footsteps of previous U.S. presidents, including John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon, who also traveled to the Emerald Isle in search of their roots.

With his presidential campaign under way, the trip has triggered suggestions that Reagan may have his eye on the votes of some 40 million Americans of Irish descent.

Reagan played down the connection, saying he would be going even if he weren't up for re-election.

Next week, Reagan will join other Allied leaders in what is already being billed as a moving and emotional ceremony to mark the 40th anniversary of the Allied landings on the beaches at Normandy. The D-Day landings in France on June 6, 1944, marked the start of the end of Nazi Germany.

Pastora vows revenge

SAN JOSE — Wounded rebel leader Eden Pastora vowed to return within a month to resume his fight against Nicaragua's leftist government, which his supporters blame for the bombing that injured him and killed four others.

Nicaragua's Sandinista government, however, said the explosion was the result of rivalry among the rebels and may have been instigated by the CIA.

Pastora, in a statement released from a Puerto Rican hospital where he is recovering from burns and shrapnel wounds, said: "Within a month at the latest, when we recover from the light wounds caused by the terrorist bombs, we will be fighting again."

The explosion occurred Wednesday evening shortly after Pastora, military leader of the Costa Rican-based Revolutionary Democratic Alliance, began talking to reporters at a house in La Penca, a town in a rebel-held part of Nicaragua about a mile from the border with Costa Rica.

9 injured in UK riot

SHEFFIELD — Seven policemen and two pickets were hospitalized today, police said, as violence broke out again on the picket line at a coke plant that has become a focal point of the 12-week-old coal miners' strike.

Police said about 4,000 pickets tried to break through a police line and disrupted a convoy of trucks carrying coke out of the Orgreave plant to a steel mill. Nineteen pickets were arrested, they said.

Several other officers were treated on the scene, including six who were isolated from the main force and surrounded by pickets.

In clashes at Orgreave on Tuesday and Wednesday, 61 policemen and 32 pickets were injured and 126 miners were arrested. On Thursday the situation was calmer and there were no casualties.

4 killed in Beirut fighting

BEIRUT — Police said today that four people were killed and 45 wounded, including three members of the presidential palace guard, in the worst night of fighting around Beirut in two weeks.

The hostilities between Christian and Moslem militiamen broke out late Thursday, shortly after Prime Minister Rashid Karami asked Parliament for special powers to rule by decree for nine months in an attempt to end Lebanon's nine-year civil war.

The battles escalated shortly before midnight and tapered off at daybreak today.

Among the wounded were three members of President Amin Gemayel's government palace guard. Shells and rockets crashed around the palace in suburban Baabda, five miles east of Beirut, police said.

Jackson boycotts unity meeting

By The Associated Press

Walter Mondale and Gary Hart were putting aside differences long enough for a Democratic unity dinner to help bail out George McGovern's campaign debt, but the Rev. Jesse Jackson wouldn't join the party and attacked his rivals' Central America policies.

With all eyes on California and its giant delegate prize, Sen. Gary Hart's campaign manager acknowledged that Hart must win there and in New Jersey — or at least win one and run close in the other — to have any chance of winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

In Los Angeles, Mondale and Hart attended a party unity dinner held to help pay off the debt McGovern ran up before dropping out of the presidential race. Performers Warren Beatty, Ed Asner, Margot Kidder, Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner and football star O.J. Simpson were among 300 guests at the fete, which raised $160,000.

Hart and Mondale, who have been battling across America since the political primary season began, listened politely to each other's speeches criticizing President Reagan, shook hands and were photographed together.

Jackson stayed away, voicing objections to McGovern's recent suggestion there should be a Mondale-Hart ticket.

Jackson was in Northern California, saying unity talk was premature with the nomination undecided, and he took shots at Mondale and Hart on Central America.

Pipe bomb scare spreads

CHICAGO (AP) — A pipe bomb with a note signed by a "Gay Strike Force" was found in a downtown office building and dismantled by police today, less than a day after a bomb with a similar note exploded and injured a Milwaukee trash collector, authorities said.

The bomb discovered by a janitor in a stairwell above the 53rd floor of the Standard Oil Building was the second found within 24 hours in Chicago, police said. Both devices were similar to 15 others authorities said were "made to maim or kill" which have been planted in four cities in Minnesota and Wisconsin over the past week.

On Thursday, a pipe bomb was found in a downtown Chicago parking lot and disarmed by police. It was positioned so it could be detonated by the weight of a car rolling over it, police said. No note was attached to that bomb.

Six bombs were found May 25 and 26 in La Crosse, Wis., including one that exploded and pelted a man with debris. Another bomb was detonated Sunday in Stillwater, Minn., and six more were found and detonated safely Sunday and Monday in St. Cloud, Minn.

Truth on trial in El Salvador

It took four years to bring five Salvadoran soldiers to trial for the murders of four American church women. The Salvadoran military resisted it. Judges refused to hear the case because they feared retribution from security forces. The American embassy had to do the detective work and prepare the prosecution.

The trial was imperfect. The defendants claimed they had been bribed and beaten to confess. The court-appointed defense attorneys were ill-prepared. One admitted the guilt of his client and asked for mercy.

After the years of delay and preparation, it took only one hour for the jury to come in with the verdict: guilty. This was the first conviction of members of the Army or state security forces for the murder of civilians in El Salvador, where 40,000 people have been killed in political violence since 1979.

The trial lit a small candle of human decency. The light is dim, but perhaps it will encourage the Salvadoran people who bear the scars of torture to bring their torturers to justice. The leaders of the death squads must be held responsible for the murders they ordered. They must be put on trial.

The judicial process cannot bring the dead back to life, but it can revive morality and decency. The guerrillas attack law from without, the security forces from within. Their aims are different, but their effect is the same.

The war in El Salvador is being fought with guns. But the ultimate struggle is for law. In that struggle, U.S. lawyers are as crucial as U.S. military advisers.

Dial carefully

What is the most important thing a person needs to succeed in business?

According to the latest advertisements, it's a cellular telephone. The cellular phone will give you the edge over your competitors, because you can keep in contact with your office and your clients at all times. You can confer with your staff while you are on the highway, dictate to your secretary while you're in a traffic jam, and call anyone in the world while you're waiting to be tanked up with gas.

The cellular telephone differs from your ordinary car phone in that you don't need a radio operator. You can dial direct just as you would on your home phone, and people can dial you while you are in your car. Pretty soon the entire country will be ready for cellular phoning. So what's wrong with it?

Every advertisement I've seen for this communications marvel shows the person holding the phone in one hand and the steering wheel in the other.

To my knowledge no instructions are issued with the phone on how to dial a friend and avoid an accident at the same moment.

I'm not saying this will happen every time you make a call, but there are occasions when phoning and driving don't go together.

One is when your mother calls you in the car.

"Harold, where are you?" "Fifth and Elm, in Bethesda. Why are you calling me now?"

"I was worried about you. I hadn't heard from you in three days."

"I'm sorry, Ma, but ever since I got my cellular phone I've had more business than I can handle. It's given me a tremendous advantage over my opposition."

"So how do you take the orders down?"

"I write them down, Ma, on my clipboard, which is attached to the telephone."

"Tell me, son, if you have one hand holding the phone, and one hand writing down the orders, who's driving the car?"

"I'm driving the car with my elbow."

"You think that is a good idea?"

"I haven't had an accident yet. Listen, I don't want to talk too long because I'm waiting to hear from a guy on his cellular phone. He said he'd call me back about the time I get to Rockville."

"Then you think it's progress with all the crazies on the road to be driving with one hand or an elbow on the steering wheel?"

"Ma, you don't realize how the cellular phone is going to change people's lives. Before, we used to sit in our cars listening to the radio or thinking all sorts of thoughts. Now we don't have to waste that valuable time. Every minute is precious when you're closing a deal."

"You still didn't answer my question. How do you keep from running into a lamppost when you're driving with one hand, and dialing with the other?"

"Only a mother would ask a question like that. You know I'm a good driver."

"It isn't you I'm worrying about. It's the person who owns one of those phones who can't drive with two hands that could be a menace. Maybe Ralph Nader should look into it and start asking some questions."

"Don't get Ralph Nader into this. If he had his way we businessmen would still be making our calls from pay booths. Look, I have to hang up. I just saw Sam Kaplan on his cellular phone and he's after the same account I am. I've got to call the office and find out what's going on."

"All right, son. But please do your mother a favor."

"Anything, Ma."

"Dial carefully."

Two easy marks for Soviet aims

WASHINGTON — In most respects, Japan and West Germany are among our staunchest allies in the global conflict with the Soviet bloc. But they head the dishonor roll of nations that allow greedy businessmen to sell the Soviets high technology that can be converted to military use.

In congressional testimony earlier this year, a high-level Pentagon official said Japan was the worst offender in the high-stakes, high-tech transfer to the communists. Another military source conceded, though, that Japan's dubious distinction may only be due to the fact that U.S. intelligence is better in Japan than in West Germany.

Associates Dale Van Atta and Michael Binstein investigated the situation. Here's what they learned from knowledgeable intelligence sources in both Tokyo and Washington:

The KGB considers Japan an "easy collection target" — a veritable sieve for technology secrets. In fact, some of the biggest, most respected industrial combines in Japan have been involved in questionable transfers of technology to the Soviets, according to the intelligence sources.

The transfer of high-tech items to the Soviets and their Eastern European satellites may be accomplished through subsidiaries of the Japanese corporate giants. The most popular location for subsidiaries at this point is Kuala Lumpur, the capital of Malaysia, with nearby Singapore in second place. Mexico is becoming increasingly popular as a transfer point.

The sources emphasized that the CIA doesn't know of any exclusively military technology the Soviets are getting from the Japanese. But the KGB has gone after micro-

Coahoma grads impress speaker

To the editor:
It was my pleasure to address the 52 graduates of Coahoma High School during graduation exercises Thursday night, and I would like to note how genuinely impressed I was by this group.

They were attentive, well-groomed, and extremely appreciative. Their efforts were noted by the some 1,000 people who crowded into the auditorium for the ceremonies.

It is my understanding that almost half of the graduates plan to attend college, and that many already have received attractive scholarships. I am not surprised.

Coahoma has every reason to be proud of its schools — of Mr. Griffith, who is President of the Board of Trustees, and his colleagues; of Superintendent Jerry Doyle, and other members of the administration, and of course of the faculty — who provides the "heartbeat" for every educational institution.

I suspect that most of the college-bound seniors of Coahoma will attend our fine sister institution, Howard College, but if any want to go "away to school," they certainly would be welcome at Western Texas College.

electronic equipment, machine tools, computers, telecommunications, automation devices and specialty steel — much of which can be incorporated in Soviet weapons systems.

The Russians get a lot of their high tech from Japan by legal means, but lately the Japanese are becoming more careful. Soviet representatives were barred, for example, from a recent Japanese conference on "composites," new super-strong, light materials made with special alloys and processes.

One almost ludicrous example of the Soviets' hunger for modern technology was their purchase of a Japanese toy robot called "Taro." It has a sensitive heat-identifying device that makes it avoid people. The Soviets adapted the toy for use in surface-to-air missiles.

One problem is that, however willing the Japanese government may be to keep embargoed technology from the Russians, Japanese law enforcement agencies have little legal authority to crack down on export-control violations or related industrial espionage committed by foreigners. The best they can do is try to bring informal pressure on firms looking for lucrative contracts with the Soviets — and this has proven to be inadequate.

There are several tricks Japanese companies can use to make sales, which are technically legal, to the Soviets. One is to set up dummy corporations to act as intermediaries in their Soviet-bloc trade. The dummy firms are expendable and allow the parent firms to avoid responsibility for financial losses or illegal activities of the surrogate corporations.

Another standard device is simply to transship the high-tech items through several companies in different countries. This makes it difficult to trace a single embargoed item through less than perfect corporate records, especially when the particular piece of equipment is obligingly installed in low-grade machinery and provided with false documentation to avoid customs scrutiny.

Belatedly, Japanese officials have promised they will try to plug the leads of technology in line with U.S. policy.

FRUSTRATION IN FOGGY BOTTOM: The State Department's P.R. experts keep close watch on the opinions of the American public — or at least that part of the public that feels strongly enough about administration policies to write letters or send telegrams. And to the obvious annoyance of the Foggy Bottom bureaucrats, the letter-writing public often disagrees vehemently with the policies the department is obliged to defend.

An internal memorandum covering one recent two-week period — and some 11,700 messages — noted that response to the TV show about nuclear, "The Day After," gave relatively short shrift to Secretary of State George Shultz's remarks following the program. "More people noted Dr. Carl Sagan's post-program comments than the secretary's," the memo observed at bit peevishly.

The mail brought much criticism of the administration's Central American policy, the memo noted, "with most (writers) emphasizing that U.S. military aid should be halted or reduced..."

EXECUTIVE MEMO: The director of the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Bay Pines, Fla., used $109,000 of health care funds to install a posh office suite for himself, according to a report by the agency's inspector general. The IG report says Director Richard McElligott used unauthorized funds for the suite, which includes an automatic door, intercom system, refrigerator with ice maker, microwave oven, electric range, disposal and hot water dispenser. Not only was a kitchen not included in the master plan, the IG pointed out, but "an additional effect is that the director's suite has been provided by using $109,000 in medical care funds rather than by using major construction funds." McElligott took leave for heart surgery two weeks after the IG report was completed.

Pupsi challenge

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The makers of a new soft drink for dogs slunk away with their tails between their legs when some pooches who took the "Pupsi Challenge" turned their noses up at "K-9 Kola."

A local pet store, following the lead of the "Pepsi Challenge," sponsored Wednesday's taste test for the drink, which reportedly tastes like weak grape juice.

Despite the best efforts of the dogs' owners, who took matters into their own hands by pouring the cola on their fingers and sticking them in their pets' mouths, the dogs wanted no part of the taste test, witnesses said.

The cola, which sells for $4.99 a six-pack, will be available by the end of the week at about 40 pet stores in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, said Bill Wilson, co-owner of the local distributor, B&R Pet Supply of Grand Prairie.

Makers of the canine cola had their own explanation for why the animals were dogging it. "There's just too much excitement," said Edward Reed, a partner of R&Y Enterprises in Phoenix, which produces the beverage containing no caffeine, carbonation or cola beans.

Reed predicted there would be a market for the product, which took 12 years to develop.

But a spokesman for the American Veterinary Medical Association in Chicago said products like K-9 Kola are targeted more at pet owners than pets.

"A bowl of water is just fine for America's doggies," said spokesman Tim Donovan.

Milking an idea

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — This is cow country, and dairymen here have come up with a new gimmick they hope to milk for all they can get.

In an effort to boost milk sales, the Stearns County chapter of the American Dairy Association has sent "mystery customers" to local restaurants with instructions to give $5 to any waiter or waitress who offers milk as the first beverage choice.

As of Tuesday, about $50 had been awarded, said Leon Wieber, chairman of the local dairy group.

"I'm sure it's selling more milk," Wieber said. "We'll continue with it as long as we feel it's doing the job" — or, presumably, until people sour on the promotion.

Too square

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — After going around in circles for the better part of the debate, the state Senate decided not to make the square dance the official state dance.

The bill's author, Republican John Doolittle, said he just wanted to "give official recognition to what is a very popular dance."

"The square dance is enjoyed by people of all races and nearly all ages" and expresses "positive family relationships," Doolittle said.

But other lawmakers thought Doolittle was out of step with what the people want.

"What about the waltz and the fox trot?" asked Gary Hart, a Democrat who is not running for president.

"If we're going to choose a state dance for California, it ought to be something of a Mexican flavor," said Democrat Art Torres.

The vote on the bill Thursday was 11-16, with 21 votes needed for passage.

Spalding spends summer as youth minister

By RHONDA WOODALL
Church Editor

Jerry Spalding will spend his summer as a youth minister at First Baptist Church of Coahoma. He attends Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene during the school year.

Spalding was asked to serve the church, after Danny Curry interviewed him at Hardin-Simmons. A week after interviewing him, Curry asked Spalding to talk to a committee who asked him to be the summer youth minister. "I liked what I saw, so I accepted."

His goals for the ministry, Spalding said, is "to be able to teach the youths and to be able to relate to them. I want to be a friend, a minister and an example."

Spalding has several activities planned for the church's youth this summer. "We need to help make the summer not so boring. By having so many activities, we can have fun, fellowship and tell the youth that Jesus Christ is Lord, and through Jesus Christ they can have an eternity in heaven. If a kid grows up in church, that is where they usually stay."

Tonight, the youths will have a cookout and play broom hockey. They will visit the Circle 6 Ranch in Stanton, July 23-27. Summer activities also include an all night lock-in in Midland, lake retreats, youth revivals, movies, basketball and volleyball games, and hay rides. Other activities are a weekly Bible study called "Re-entry" on Wednesdays, and an early morning male-fixing breakfast.

Spalding decided to become a youth minister during his freshman year in college. "I felt Jesus was calling me into the ministry. He had been calling me for a while. I worked in the oilfield, and by working there I saw those people weren't happy. That wasn't the kind of life I wanted to live."

His youth ministers also helped

Spalding to decide to become a youth minister. "My youth ministers helped me to see what I wanted to do in my life. They got me interested in it. They showed me what a youth minister really is."

"I've always admired them (youth ministers) for what they've done to help youth. They taught me. Now, it's my turn to pass it on. Going through adolescence is the hardest time in a person's life, and an adolescent needs all the help he or she can get."

Spalding also credits his mother in influencing his career choice. "My mom is probably the key reason I'm in the ministry. She always made me go to church. She taught me the Bible, and the rights and wrongs."

After graduating from Hardin-Simmons, Spalding plans to attend seminary. He attended Midland College for two years. Spalding enjoys water skiing and sports.

Twenty-four first grade students averaged 3.1 grade equivalent on combined test results with some students scoring as high as 5.2 on the total battery of test and 6.0 on reading test.

Ten second grade students averaged 4.1 grade equivalent on combined test results with students scoring as high as 5.5 on the total battery of test and 6.7 on reading test.

Program given at meeting

The Royal Service Missionary program, "You Are One In A Million," was presented at a meeting of the ladies of Calvary Baptist Church at the church, May 15.

The program asked the question "Can 13 million Southern Baptist baptize 1 1/2 million new believers in the United States between 1982-85?" A million witnesses say "Yes." Bold witness training is one of nine church projects promoted in Bold Mission Thrust for 1982-85. These projects focus around three major emphases for a three year period. The emphases are to reach people, to develop believers and to strengthen families.

HIS BANNER OVER US IS LOVE

THE BIG SPRING CHAPTER OF FULL GOSPEL BUSINESS MEN'S FELLOWSHIP INTERNATIONAL INVITES YOU TO ATTEND ITS MONTHLY MEETING EVERYONE IS WELCOME TO ATTEND.

Guest Speaker

DON MCKINNEY is a prisoner in Big Spring Federal Prison, serving a three year sentence. He was raised in a Christian home and at fourteen, he began to understand what God had done for him through Christ. Early in life Don became a highly motivated and success oriented person to fill the growing void in his life. Material possessions and community status became his gods after graduating from college.

Highly successful in engineering and banking, Don used the business contacts he had made in both fields to further his career as a "deal man" and "private investor." He created a financial empire on paper that soon folded association with the Word of God and other Christians led him into the infilling of The Holy Spirit. God has filled that void that was in his life and gave him a new purpose in life.

Don welcomes the opportunity, both free men and prisoners, to share the Good News of Jesus Christ and the real freedom He has for all mankind.

Dear Abby

Childlessness is a matter of choice

DEAR ABBY: I would like to comment on the many childless couples who write to you moaning about how miserable they are because they can't have children of their own.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not unsympathetic toward infertile couples. I am, however, a bit disgusted with childless couples who are so obsessed with reproducing that they speak of little else.

What about each other? Is there so little love and satisfaction in their relationship that it's "empty" without children? Was their only purpose in marrying to produce children?

If the "emptiness" of their lives without children is so intolerable, may I suggest that they take an orphan into their home? It would fill their need to be parents and give the child a wonderful gift — a loving home with parents. Don't be fooled, Abby. Childless couples are childless by choice. RICHARD G., BRISBANE, CALIF.

DEAR RICHARD: Please don't minimize the heartache and disappointment experienced by couples who desperately want to conceive and bear children and can't. But you make a valid point. No one needs to be forever childless. Today there are many children growing up in institutions because they are racially mixed, too old to be adopted, or they're physically or mentally handicapped. And there's a special place in heaven for those people who will provide a loving home for such children.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh, but whenever my husband approaches me for sex, I really do get a headache. We've only been married a few months and I need to find a cure real soon because it isn't fair to my husband. Aspirin doesn't help. I was never bothered by headaches before I was married, and I only get them when my husband asks for sex. Please help me.

N.J. NEWLYWED
DEAR NEWLYWED: See your doctor and tell him exactly what you have told me. Regardless of the cause, you can be helped, so don't delay.

Dr. Donohue

Patchy hair loss usually temporary

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have lost hair in patches from my scalp. I have not lost it in other places on my body, just the scalp. My own doctor referred me to a dermatologist. He put me on cortisone cream, which I apply each day to the bare spots. He says it may take time, but that it will regrow. He calls my condition alopecia areata. My hair up till now has been thick and healthy. Why does this happen? Will the hair grow back and will it be the same color? I have noticed some growth, but it is grayish. — S.S.

Why alopecia areata (literally area hair loss) happens is not known. Groups of hair follicles seem to take a vacation. Their hairs stop growing and fall out. Usually the person has two or three well-defined areas of loss. There is no pattern as in the natural hair loss that often comes with age.

There are about 100,000 hairs on the human scalp. They are in either the anagen (growing) or the telogen (resting) phase. The growing phase lasts anywhere from two to six years. About 85 percent of our scalp hairs are in that phase at any given time. The resting phase lasts about three months. In alopecia areata, there is an aberration in the follicle growing/resting cycles. More hairs are in resting phase than should be, so the patchy loss occurs.

As your doctor told you, the hair usually returns, but that may take months. The new hair might not be the same color as the hair that was lost or it may be gray.

Corticosteroids in the form of cream are tried. The hope is to jolt the hair follicles back into activity. And a recent study involved use of psoralen medicine (oral form) along with exposure to ultraviolet light. That showed some promise, especially for stubborn cases of AA. The dermatologist diagnoses this kind of hair loss by close examination of the affected hair follicles, which take on a peculiar shape noticeable under a strong magnifying glass.

15 Minneapolis hospitals faced with nurses' strike today

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Fifteen hospitals in Minneapolis, St. Paul and suburbs pared down their patient loads, admitted only emergency cases and transferred some patients to skilled-care nursing homes in preparation for a nurses' strike set to begin today.

All 15 hospitals planned to stay open by using non-union supervisors or temporary replacements, and some doctors were preparing to replace striking nurses in coronary care units and delivery rooms, hospital officials said.

Robert Wiesner, labor relations representative for the Minnesota Nurses Association, said 5,950 union members would go on strike at 6:30 a.m. today against nine Minneapolis hospitals, three in St. Paul and three in the suburbs.

Wiesner said the strike would be the largest ever by registered nurses in the United States, since the unit is the largest in the nation. The nurses are unhappy with management layoff policies.

More than 1,500 people attended a rally for the nurses at the Prom Center in St. Paul on Thursday night, Wiesner said. Among those on the speakers' platform were Steve Jordan, Minnesota Vikings player representative, and state Sen. Karen Clark of Minneapolis, herself a nurse.

Contract talks between negotiators for the MNA and Health Employers Inc., bargaining agent for the hospitals, broke down Thursday afternoon.

No progress was made Thursday and no new talks have been scheduled, according to federal mediator Ed Larson.

The MNA's two-year contract with Health Employers expired at midnight Thursday. The nurses voted May 16, by a margin that Wiesner said was "substantially better" than 2-to-1, to reject Health Employers' final offer.

Larson said the two sides were "a moderate distance" apart on economics, while there is "a very strong difference in views on layoffs and recall procedures."

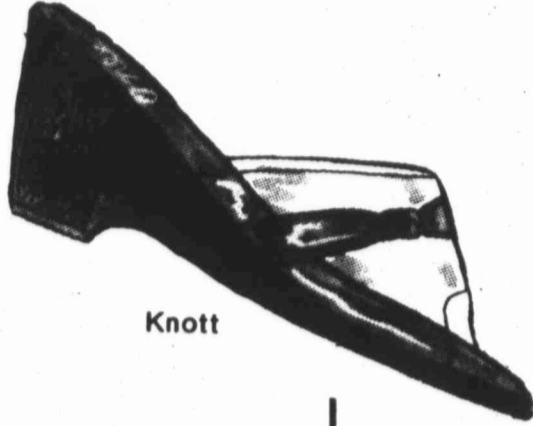

The nurses have said job security is the main issue to be resolved.

"We realize there are going to be reductions (in staff)," Wiesner said. "There have to be cutbacks. It's the manner in which cutbacks and recalls are being carried out."

Management, however, maintains that staffing decisions are never that simple. Hospitals need flexibility in deciding who will be laid off because nursing has become so specialized, said Mike Phillips, director of industrial relations for Health Employers.

The hospitals estimate that about 8,000 non-nursing personnel would have to be laid off during the strike because of reduced patient loads.

Budd's eligibility may be problem

LONDON (AP) — Zola Budd, the 18-year-old South African-born distance runner, is now officially eligible for the British Olympic team, giving rise to the possibility that some African nations may consider a boycott of the Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

The British Olympic Association gave the go-ahead Thursday to Budd, who was granted a British passport within 10 days of arriving in the country from her native South Africa in March.

Budd, who holds an unrecognized world best in the 5,000 meters, should formally get her place on the British team when she competes in the 3,000 meters in London on June 6 in the first of two official Olympic trials. Her chances improved even more Thursday when Wendy Sly, one of her principal rivals, withdrew from the race because of a chest and throat infection.

The final meeting of selectors to choose the British team is scheduled for June 24. But Nigel Cooper, secretary of the British Amateur Athletic Board, the sport's ruling body here, said: "First past the post (at the June 6 meet) must be selected under our policy."

Budd would not have been able to compete in the Olympics had she stayed in South Africa, since that nation's policy of apartheid — racial separation — has resulted in it being barred from many international competitions, including the Olympics.

And even competing for Great Britain, she may encounter opposition.

The London Daily Express reported today that some British selectors are opposed to picking Miss Budd for fear her presence could spark a walkout by African nations, some of whom boycotted the Montreal Games in 1976 because a rugby team from New Zealand had played a South African team the previous year.

Nine members of the British board abstained in a 12-0 vote last weekend to grant her the same guarantee of Olympic selection if she wins her trial as other British athletes have been given.

There was no immediate comment from any African nations.

But the official Congolese news agency ACI had suggested Monday that inclusion of white South African athletes on the British team could jeopardize participation of African teams in the Los Angeles Games.

"Britain's apparent intention of integrating white South Africans in its national team by giving them British nationality, and flouting the International Olympic Committee regulations, which forbid the participation of South Africans," the dispatch said.

"The disguised participation of South African sportsmen could cause African countries to refuse to take part in the Games."

Celtics tie series in 124-121 victory

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics were struggling feverishly to climb out of a deep hole they had dug for themselves. The Lakers reached in and gave them a hand.

"We let them out of the grave twice," said Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley. "We had a three-point lead in overtime, and also the situation at the end of the game when we wanted to get the last shot."

The Celtics, who squandered a 13-point first-half lead, clawed back to edge the Lakers, 124-121 in overtime Thursday night, and even their National Basketball Association championship series at 1-1.

"You go out there 0-2 and it's going to be tough," said Boston's Scott Wedman, referring to Games 3 and 4 in Los Angeles Sunday and Wednesday.

Thanks to Gerald Henderson's steal and layup that forced overtime and Wedman's game-winning jump shot with 14 seconds remaining, the Celtics head for the West Coast with the series tied.

Boston forward Cedric Maxwell said he thought the Celtics had lost the up-and-down game "two or three times and I thought we won it two or three times."

But, with Los Angeles holding the ball and the lead, 113-111, with 18 seconds to play in regulation time, Laker Earvin "Magic" Johnson was confident his team would become the first in a NBA championship series to win the opening two games on the road.

"I thought we had it and I figured they would foul and we'd make it and win the game," said Johnson, who had 27 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists. "I never thought we'd turn it over. We let it slip out of our hands."

Henderson stole a pass from James Worthy, who made 11 of 12 shots and led all scorers with 29 points, and went in for a game-tying layup with 13 seconds remaining.

Johnson kept the ball for most of those 13 seconds, then gave it to Bob McAdoo who couldn't get a shot off before the fourth quarter ended.

"Anytime you're in that situation you have to go for the steal. Worthy just lofted the ball to Byron Scott. There was room for me to step in and I did," Henderson said. "We had to have that steal. We had to have something at that point."

They needed something else in the waning seconds of overtime. McAdoo's 12-foot baseline jumper put the Lakers in front 121-120 with 1:26 to go. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who had 20 points, missed a hook shot with 25 seconds left, and Worthy committed a foul fighting for the rebound, giving the ball to Boston.

The Celtics called timeout to set up their last chance.

"The play was really a screen on each side of the lane for Larry (Bird) to come off one side and me to come off the other," Wedman said. "I knew when the ball was coming to me, the shot was going up. I knew my man was off me. I knew I had time."

Wedman, who had averaged just 4.1 points and 11.3 minutes per playoff game this year, buried a 15-footer from the left baseline with 14 seconds to go.

"You have to make a choice within yourself. Do you want the responsibility?" said Wedman, who had 10 points in 18 minutes. "When the opportunity comes, you have to take it."

But the Lakers weren't dead yet. They had the ball, Boston center Robert Parish slapped it away from Abdul-Jabbar, but it went out of bounds off Bird with eight seconds to play. Then the ball went to McAdoo, and Parish slapped it away from him with 5 seconds remaining.

This time, Bird held on to it, was fouled, and made both shots to cap the scoring with two seconds left and finish with 27 points. Parish added 18 and Henderson and Maxwell 16 each.

Steelers QB great on verge of retiring

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw, his memorable pro football career jeopardized by a throbbing elbow, says he will have no regrets if he is forced to retire from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Bradshaw, 35, returned to his Louisiana ranch after a brief 15-minute workout Tuesday at the Steelers' minicamp produced an aching right arm and even more question marks about his comeback.

"All we can do is sit and wait," said Steelers Coach Chuck Noll.

Los Angeles sports physician Dr. Frank Jobe diagnosed Bradshaw's injury as a torn ligament three months ago, but other doctors disagreed. Bradshaw has spent his off-season rehabilitating and strengthening the arm and as recently as six days ago was throwing the ball 50 yards on a line without discomfort.

Now, his comeback is in jeopardy again, and Bradshaw has repeatedly said he would retire rather than go through another season of uncertainty — or another operation.

A Pittsburgh TV station, KDKA, reported Thursday that Bradshaw might announce his retirement as early as next week.

"I've never said, 'Gee, what if I hadn't gotten hurt.' I feel fortunate. It's not like I'm dying or anything. It's not like Gabe (Rivera)," Bradshaw said, referring to the Steelers' defensive lineman paralyzed last year in a car accident.

"I feel fortunate," he added.

Connors dazzles opposition

PARIS (AP) — Americans Zina Garrison and Kathy Horvath today became the first players to reach the final 16 in the French Open tennis championships.

Garrison, seeded sixth, defeated Raffaella Reggi of Italy 7-5, 6-4 in an entertaining Center Court match, while Horvath swept past Kathy Rinaldi 6-0, 6-3.

Horvath, seeded eighth, has now dropped only eight games in her first three matches in this $1.8 million tournament, but was not thinking about a potential meeting in the quarterfinals with Martina Navratilova. She beat the world's No. 1 player here at Roland Garros Stadium last year, but told reporters:

"I just want to get there and live up to my seeding. Anything more is a bonus."

Play was held up for three hours because of rain but eventually got under way at 2 p.m. (Paris time).

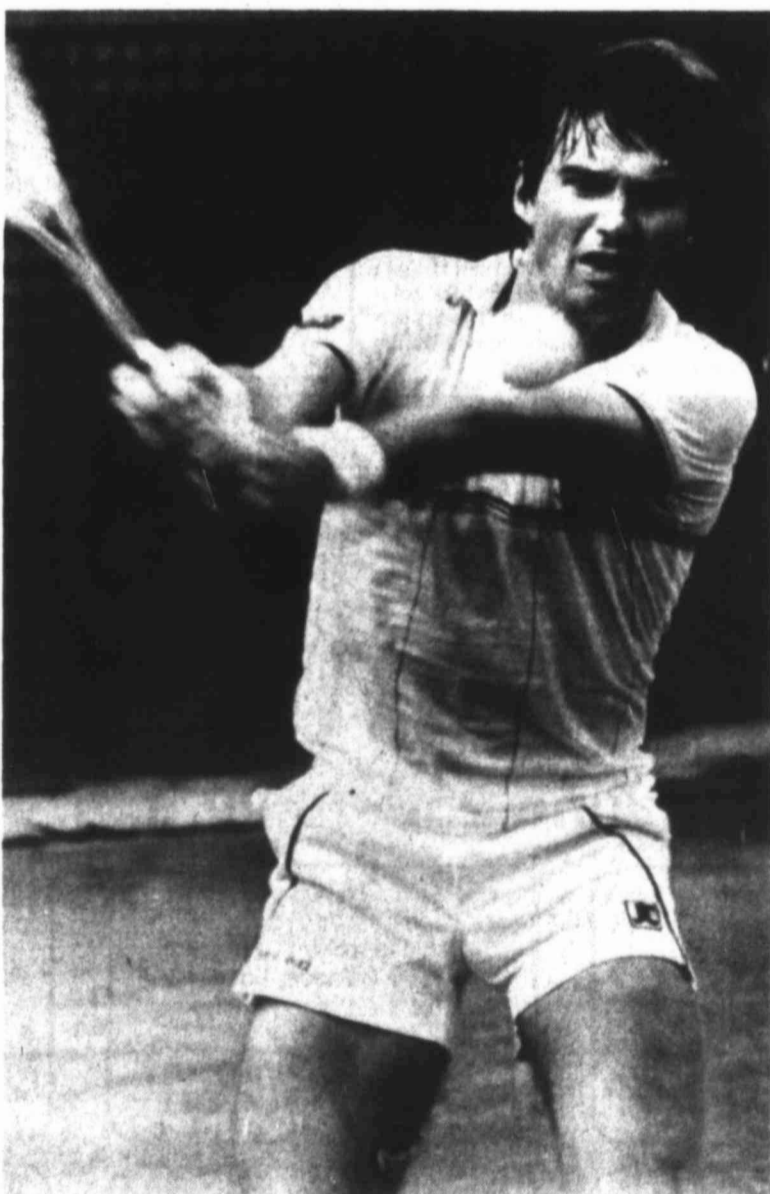

It's been 29 years since an American has won the men's singles title at the French Open tennis championships — and that's long enough for John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors.

The top seeds in the men's singles strode methodically into the third round on the slow red clay courts. All but one, Connors won, too, but his advance was a gem as he overcame difficult terrain and a determined opponent in one of the best matches of the day.

Martina Navratilova, seeded No. 1 in the women's singles, also was scheduled to play a third-round match today in her attempt to capture her fourth consecutive major tournament title and complete a Grand Slam title which would mean a $1 million bonus.

"We played some good tennis," Connors smiled after downing Britain's John Lloyd 6-4, 6-1, 6-4 on Thursday. "But I want to add that I think I can do better."

Better would have been hard to imagine. Connors consistently turned defensive lobs into baseline winners, faked Lloyd into line winners. John Frawley of Australia outlasted West Germany's Hans-Jorgen Schwaier 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-7.

Area talent dots Chippers' roster

Despite a 20 percent chance of wet stuff falling from the skies, the Eighth Annual Cotton Mize Fast Pitch Tournament is slated to get underway tonight at 8 as 10 teams vye for championship honors.

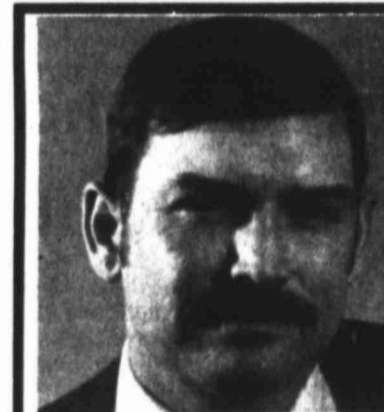

Mize's Cotton Chippers take the field at 8 and 11 and in addition to former BSHS players Paul Spence, Kenny Fowler, Johnny Mize, David Altom, Tommy Vaughn and Bobby Doe, there will be several faces from the surrounding area attempting to aid the Chippers in their quest for a fifth title in the event.

Other Howard County Area

talent lending a hand for the Chippers will be shortstop Brent Miller of San Angelo, Darren Sorley of Stanton, Danny Guinn, a pitcher from Graham, and Mike and Phillip Ritchey of Coahoma.

Finals will be held Saturday with the championship game slated for around 8 p.m.

ELECT CLAYTON MCKINNON

As your County Commissioner, I will work to accomplish the following:

1. REDUCE THE SALARIES OF HOWARD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Many taxpayers are not aware that our Commissioners set their own salaries. The salaries have been doubled in the last three years at a time when the population of Howard County has been decreasing rather than increasing. The current monthly salary of each Commissioner, including a car allowance, is about $2,000.00. The Commissioners meet regularly two days each month, meaning they each receive approximately $1,000.00 per meeting. By contrast, members of the Big Spring City Council receive only $50.00 per month in salary, and members of the Big Spring Independent School Board receive only free football tickets and sometimes a free High School yearbook for their services. The responsibilities of City Council and School Board members are certainly as great as those of our County Commissioners. The School Board administers approximately $14,500,000 annually while the City Council oversees $12,631,000. In contrast, the County Commissioners administer only $5,533,700. If elected, I intend to vote for a substantial reduction in the salary paid to the Commissioner of Precinct 3, and I will publicly ask my fellow Commissioners to make the same reduction in their own salaries.

2. REDUCE TAXES:

The County Commissioners have raised the tax rate from $0.20 per $100 valuation in 1980 to $0.23 in 1983. As a result of this increase, the County has accumulated a surplus balance of over $3,000,000 as of the end of February, 1984. Although I recognize that a moderate surplus may be necessary to meet unexpected contingencies, a three million dollar surplus seems excessive.

CUT DOWN — Atlanta Braves catcher Bruce Benedict is tagged out at home plate by Cincinnati Reds Brad Gulden when Benedict tried to score on a ground ball to shortstop during the ninth inning of their National League game in Cincinnati. The Braves beat the Reds 7-1.

Braves cut down Reds, 7-1

By The Associated Press
Brad Komminsk used to drive to Cincinnati to cheer for the Reds. On Thursday night, he drove Atlanta past them.

The Braves' rookie, called up from Richmond of the International League to replace injured Claudell Washington, drilled a tie-breaking, game-winning single in the fourth inning that started the Reds on the road to a 7-1 loss.

"I grew up as a big fan of the Reds," said Komminsk, who grew up in Lima, Ohio, about a two-hour drive north of Cincinnati. "I came down to two or three games a year.

ing and his control was a lot better."
"Overall," Forsch said, "I felt good. There was no pain at all. My back felt a little tight, but that might have been due to being out of shape. It's been a long time since I pitched or did any running."
George Hendrick did the running — or, more precisely, trotting — for the Cardinals, hitting home runs to support Forsch's effort.

a little confidence. They weren't classic hits. Just hits up the middle."
The Phils jumped on Chuck Rainey for six runs in the second inning, two on Schmidt's single.
PIRATES 2, EXPOS 1
Joe DeLeon convinced Chuck Tanner to leave him in the game against the visiting Expos, and the Pittsburgh pitcher rewarded his manager with a six-hitter.

National League

PHILLIES 10, CUBS 2
Mike Schmidt used a couple of simple hits to break out of an RBI slump and boost the Phillies past Chicago and into first place by one-half game in the East Division.
Rick Mahler pitched a four-hitter, striking out five batters and walking just one as he ran his career record to 3-0 against the Reds.

"I thought about taking Jose out," Tanner said, "but he kept saying, 'I feel good.' So I said, 'OK, kid, it's yours.'" DeLeon struck out the side in the first inning — he had one one-strikeout rest of the way — and limited Montreal to three hits after the second inning. "I had good stuff, a good fastball and a good forkball. I felt strong," he said.

Pirates hand defending champs their first loss

In an International League game played Thursday night, the Pirates posted an 8-2 win over the Indians to hand the defending city champs their first loss of the season.
The Indians are 11-1 and the Pirates 8-4. The Pirates got a good effort on the mound from Ernie Dominguez as he scattered five hits. He was backed by a seven hit showing from his teammates including a double and single by Ben Islas and two hits by Kevin Ramirez.

Terry Bailey and Michael Hilario led the Indians' attack while John Flores suffered the loss. Flores pitched until the fourth when Hilario came on in relief.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very good day for whatever has to do with an extension of your interests where your home and your family are concerned.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) See what can be done at home that will please kin more, but tonight steer clear of arguments there.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Early contact those persons who can assist you with some serious problem you may have.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to add to your bank account so that you have quite a reserve in case of emergencies later on.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Go after those personal aims that mean much to you and gain them, but tonight build up your health in some way.
LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy and plan the social activities you like with the aid of a good friend.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can easily bring some wish to yourself if you pursue it wisely.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to get your activities modernized so they run very smoothly, but tonight keep to yourself.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You know exactly what to do now so that you can develop and become more prosperous.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Outside affairs can be well handled if you have a meeting with one in business who is interested in your welfare.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have every opportunity to come to a better understanding with associates today, so do so.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to handle your work more efficiently and then you have greater benefits from it.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make appointments with those who can assist you to get rid of worries that are plaguing you, and keep them on time.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one who can sell his or her ideas quickly especially with whatever has to do with commodities. There is a sensitivity here that could ruin this life so teach to be objective

Students do comedy for exam

ATHEN, Ohio (AP) — A 10-minute final examination might sound like a dream come true. But spending the time onstage telling jokes to a hostile, drunken crowd can make it seem like an eternity.

The 22 students in journalism professor Melvin Helitzer's humor-writing class at Ohio University had their final test in a campus barroom Thursday night, each trotting out their best jokes and trying to defuse the legion of hecklers.

It sounds like a scholar's nightmare — there was an abusive proctor, tipsy evaluators and a supervising professor who laughed out loud at the students' work. But it provided them with a brief moment in the spotlight — a chance to enter the heady world of stand-up comedy.

The Truth About "Lower" Taxes

In a paid political advertisement published on May 27th, my opponent stated, "For the past four terms W.B. (Bill) Crooker continuously has lowered taxes and has achieved a budget surplus through cost reduction."

THE TRUTH

1980	County Tax Rate	$0.20
	Total Levy	$2,077,467.00
1981	County Tax Rate	$0.245
	Total Levy	$3,126,006.00
Please Note: (1) Tax rate increase from $0.20 to $0.245 represents a tax rate increase of 22.5%. (2) This tax rate increase resulted in a 50% gain in tax levy. (From $2,077,467.00 to $3,126,006.00.)
1982	Tax Rate reduced 1/2 penny to $0.24.
Please Note: Total Value of property taxed (valuation increase) increased over 339 Million Dollars resulting in increase in the tax levy of $396,627.00 over 1981.
1983	Tax Rate $0.23. Decrease of one cent. But total value of property taxed increased over 115 Million Dollars resulting in an increase in the tax levy in excess of $82,000.00 over 1982.

Howard County today has a surplus of over 3 Million Dollars in its treasury.

In other words, Howard County has collected 3 Million Dollars more of your tax dollars than it needed for its budget. Think this over — 3 Million Dollars that should still be in the hands of the taxpayers of Howard County.

I submit that the achieved budget surplus referred to by Mr. Crooker has been achieved, NOT by a budget reduction, or through cost reductions, but through over taxation.
