Free pre-natal classes

The Healthy Baby Coalition of Parmer County is having sign up for free pre-natal classes Saturday, April 12, from 9:00 am to 11:00 am. Registration will be at the conference room of Parmer Medical Center. All expectant mothers are encouraged to register for the free classes.

Mothers who participate in the classes earn points to use for free baby items for their newborn.

Classes are available in both English and Spanish.

The coalition will also be accepting donations of new or gently used baby items at the same time.

For more information about the coalition, see a HBC Board member or contact Heidi Eichenauer at 806 250-2754 or JoDonna Terry at 295-8291.

Cemetery Association to meet

The annual Cemetery Association meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 17 at the Friona City Hall boardroom at 619 Main Street. Those interested in the upkeep of the cemetery are urged to attend.

On May 15, there will be a clean-up day. Due to the brisk winds this spring, there is a lot of trash, weeds and flowers that have blown against the trees and fences.

Water and cold drinks will be available for those that come out to work.

Friends membership campaign

The Friends of the Friona Public Library began their annual membership campaign on April 1. The annual meeting will be held at 2 p.m. on April 27 at the Redeemer Center, 1304 Virginia. Applications are available at the library, 109 W. 7th. Each returned application will be given a ticket for the Friends of the Library basket drawing on April 27.

Memberships are $5 for individuals, $10 for families, $25 for business/organizations and $200 for a lifetime membership.

"Don't forget to visit the library and see all the wonderful baskets," stated Membership Chairman Terri Ellis. "Tickets are just $1 each."

Ellis added, "We appreciate our members and thank you for your continued support of the Friends of the Friona Public Library."

City council agenda for Monday meeting

The Friona city council will meet in regular session Monday April 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers, 619 Main St. The tentative agenda appears to be brief. The final agenda is posted, by law, 72 hours prior to the meeting on the front window at city hall.

The council will approve a resolution to cancel the special election seat on the council. Nancy Davis is unopposed to fill the seat.

They will review the city's investment policy, discuss and approve accounts payable and financial statements, hear a report from Police Chief Frank Mooney, and authorize city manager Patricia Phipps to seek bids for re-roofing Prairie Acres and Heritage Estates and to participate in the nursing facility upper payment program.

All city council meetings are open to the public.

Cancer Coalition 'Walk for a Cure'

The Parmer County Cancer Coalition (PCCC) will get back to basics with a "Walk for a Cure", Saturday June 7, 8 a.m. to 12 noon at the Friona high school track. The event will be similar to the former Relay for Life that were held in years past. All funds stay in Parmer County providing grant money to Parmer County residents undergoing cancer treatments.

There will be some distinct changes from the 'Relay' format. Walking for cancer is the goal and focus to raise money to assist our cancer patients. This will be an individual event rather than teams. The cost to participate is by donation. The amount is up to the participant.

Each participant will be walking 'In Memory of' or 'Honoring' a person in their life who is or has been fighting cancer. The Coalition board is still in the process of finalizing certain details, but they would like for everyone to SAVE THE DATE, Saturday June 7.

There will be t-shirts available for sale the day of the event provided by the PCCC. They encourage organizations to raise funds or have money-making events at the track during the Walk for a Cure.

Because the event will be held during the daytime, the luminaria sales will be replaced with a "Ribbon Awareness" insert to the Friona Star. Details are still being worked out but the ribbon cost and purchase forms should soon be available. Watch the Friona Star for further information.

The Walk will begin with the familiar survivor lap and caregiver second lap, then followed by all walkers joining in to walk in support of cancer research through PCCC. It will be a morning of fun and fellowship so plan to bring blankets, lawn chairs, and awnings. The stands will be available to sit in but do not provide much shade for resting between laps.

The walkers who donate as a participant will be provided recognition where they will put the names of the loved ones they are walking for. This is also a detail that has not been finalized. All businesses who donate to the event will be recognized throughout the Walk.

PCCC donates 25% of all funds raised to the American Cancer Society. Other fund raisers PCCC supports are "Flush Out Cancer" which is currently through mid-April, and the Pudge Kendrick Golf Tournament which will be held June 21-22 at the Dimmitt Country Club. If you are interested in playing in this tournament you can call Greg Lewellen at the Kendrick Oil offices.

Make your plans to join the Walk for a Cure on June 7. The board suggests you might want to create your own t-shirt with your memorials or other fun decorative ideas to make it a fun day as the community celebrates and remembers our cancer survivors and fighters.

Entry forms and ribbon awareness forms will be published when details are finalized. You can sign up the day of the walk also. Contact Chairperson Barbara Grimsley at 806-265-7309 with any questions or ideas. If you are interested in assisting Barbara in this event let her know and feel free to join the fun! "We look forward to any and all help the great people of Parmer County have to offer," she said.

old harry and free speech

Let's talk money. Rich old grumpy Democrat Senator Harry Reid, the most dangerous politician in America and a prolific liar, says that the rich people, especially the Koch brothers, are spending millions to buy elections. Not sure what old Harry is talking about. No one has ever bought my vote. With the 2014 and 2016 elections on the horizon, old Harry and his rich Democratic Senator pals will be constantly yammering about how money is ruining politics and causing poor people to remain poor. The Koch brothers, David and Charles, and Las Vegas billionaire Sheldon Adelson spend millions donating to Republican conservative candidates. On old Harry's side, billionaires George Soros and California billionaire

Tom Steyer donate their millions to Democrats and climate change deniers. Old Harry doesn't have much to say about Mr. Soros and Mr. Steyer. There are a bunch of other millionaires and billionaires out there that pour money into campaigns trying to sway elections. I'm sad to say I'm not one of them. The Supreme Court threw old Harry and his cohorts into a frenzy last week when they removed restrictions on how much money an individual can donate to political campaigns. They said it is a first amendment free speech thing and of course old Harry doesn't much care for free speech. If you are one of those folks who went online and sent Barack Obama $5.00, now you can send as much as you want to your favorite. Heck, you could boost your donations up to $25 or $30. That should definitely make you feel more powerful. The amount of money spent on elections pales when compared with the amount spent by the government, especially by Mr. Obama and the Democrats. No one knows how much they have spent trying to take over the health care industry or "investing" in clean energy companies, i.e. $500 million loan guarantee to Solyndra, which spent the money then went bankrupt and $600+ million on a website that does not work. The truth is because of the Affordable Care Act debacle (Nancy Pelosi reminds us it is not Obamacare), the Democrats are fearful they might not get re-elected and that is the ultimate goal of all politicians. The last time

I looked almost 30 congresspersons had decided to not run for re-election. Between now and November we will all see the results of campaign funds. We will be bombarded with political advertisements and debates on national TV. We will see our candidates for Texas governor sling mud at each other. Old Harry will sweat over losing his Senate power. He will be blasting the Koch brothers over and over and the Koch brothers will still not care about old Harry. To me it is going to be a terrific spectator sport watching the political goings on. Old Harry won't be worried about me buying an election. I have never donated dough to a politician. The only dough I'm going to worry about will be on a pizza.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Titles of Nobility Amendment was proposed in 1810.

Text of the Amendment:

If any citizen of the United States shall accept, claim, receive or retain, any title of nobility or honour, or shall without the consent of Congress, accept and retain any present, pension, office or emolument of any kind whatever, from any emperor, king, prince or foreign power, such person shall cease to be a citizen of the United States, and shall be incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under them, or either of them.

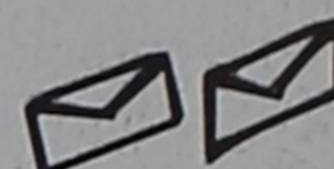

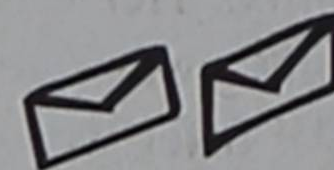

This amendment can still be ratified by the states, as the Congress did not impose a ratification time limit. It has not been ratified by three-fourths of the states and thus is not part of the Constitution....Mary Johnston

That was rain we saw Saturday night. Didn't recognize it at first. The WT Services weather info says it was 0.19". The rain caused a slick highway and a semi-rollover about 8:30 p.m. Saturday west of town near Cargill. A husband and wife team were extracted by our volunteer firemen after they cut out the front windshield. Friona EMS transported them to the hospital. The volunteer firemen were called to two grass fires last week. Let's hope for a lot more rain.

Loyal Leal's fans might be happy to know that the popular Mexican Restaurant has opened a Leal's in Littlefield at 601 Waylon Jennings Blvd., so says an ad in the Littlefield newspaper. Now trips to Littlefield don't necessarily require a stop in Muleshoe.

Happy anniversary to two nice people. Troy and Mona Sharrock celebrated their 55th anniversary last week. Congratulations and many more. And two more nice people, John and Kathryn Gurley celebrated 25 years.

Don't forget the senior class steak dinner Sunday. Tickets are $12/$10 in advance and $1 more at the door. A delicious fundraiser for the all-night drug free party after graduation. Serving 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Takeouts available. Seniors have tickets or see Allison Johnston or Kim Kimbrough.

Betty Louise Rector is in the Friona hospital battling leukemia. She has decided against chemo treatment. Betty is 82 and when I talked with her this week she said to tell folks how wonderful the Friona hospital is. Mrs. Rector has long been a supporter of the Friona Star and the community. Her 21st great grandchild was born last week. We offer words of encouragement to her and her family during this difficult period.

We received a subscription renewal from perhaps our most distant reader, Jo Carrol Czeizinger way up in Dover, Delaware. Probably takes the Star a week to get there. She sent along a note that reads, "I enjoy reading about some of my old classmates." Thanks Jo Carrol for being a loyal reader. Appreciate your comment.

We also received a thank you note, signed by members of the St. Ann's Catholic Youth Organization in Bovina. It said "thank you for advertising our fundraisers and for your generous support and thoughtfulness." In today's Internet Twitter universe it is especially nice to receive a thank you card signed by real people. I say thank you to the Bovina youth for your thoughtfulness. Keep up the good work.

First Baptist Church in Friona will celebrate its 100th birthday with activities April 26-27, 2014. A 5:00 p.m. worship service on Saturday. Following the Sunday 10:40 a.m. worship service, a delicious catered meal will be served followed by recognition of former members and ministers who served at or grew up in FBC. If you plan to attend the free catered meal they ask that you RSVP to the church office by April 13. The number is 806-250-3933.

Calvary Baptist Church will hold its annual Easter Egg Hunt at the Friona city park on Saturday, April 19 at 10:00 a.m. The hunt will be in separate areas by age group. Everyone is welcome to participate.

Jean Terry called about two recent deaths in her family with Friona connections. Wayne Edwards died March 20 in Amarillo. He was married to Jean's sister, Karen Hughes Edwards. They were married August 5, 1966 in Friona.

Wilbur Dean Moore died March 27 in Dumas. He was married to Lawanna Houlette Moore for 52 years. She is Jean's niece. Her granddad ran a laundry in Friona for many years. Jean said Lawanna played basketball in Friona on Baker Duggins' state champion teams. She will be moving from Dumas to Amarillo. Thank you Mrs. Terry for sharing this information.

The Parmer County Cancer Coalition has announced a "Walk for a Cure" event to be held June 7 from 8 a.m. to noon at the high school track. It is a short rendition of the Relay for Life program. Instead of luminarias honoring your loved ones there will be ribbons. Lot of details still to be finalized but mark your calendar and read the story on the front page.

Principal Autumn Sloan says she is excited to announce that Friona primary school will offer all day Pre-K and Head Start beginning with the 2014-15 school year. She says please come pre-register April 14 - 17 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. You will need your child's shot records, birth certificate, social security card and proof of household income.

The senior class banquet at Calvary Baptist Church will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday April 14. I heard it rumored that the churches might get together and hold only one church banquet for seniors each year instead of four or five. The banquet would rotate among the local churches. Seems like a good idea to me. Graduating seniors have a hectic spring schedule.

The Friona Cemetery Association will meet Thursday April 17 at 3:00 p.m. for their annual meeting. We are fortunate to have folks like John Fred White, Martha Hamilton, Holly Campbell, Mary Joyce Barnett, and Elizabeth McLellan who work hard to keep our cemetery up-to-date and organized. I am glad we have an association that cares about our cemetery and the families of those buried there. A cemetery clean-up day is scheduled for Thursday May 15 at 5:00 p.m. and volunteers will be appreciated.

The FHS All-Sports banquet will be held May 13 at 6:00 p.m. in the junior high cafeteria. After the meal the event will move to the junior high auditorium for the awards presentations. Cost is not yet decided. There will not be advance ticket sales. Tickets will only be sold at the door. More info later.

Raffle baskets are on display at the library. They have names like Downtown Abbey, Something to Crow About, Legos Galore, and Duck Commander. Tickets are $1 each. Go by the library and sign-up. Drawings will be Sunday April 27 at the Friends of the Library annual meeting at 2:00 p.m. at the Redeemer Center.

See you at the senior steak dinner Sunday. Coach Styler Haddock has notified us the baseball game at Bushland next week has been changed from Tuesday to Wednesday because the boys regional golf is Monday and Tuesday in Odessa. Lot of action between now and graduation. We will try to keep up. Until then!

Beware of toddlers!

"A 9-month-old little boy was arrested for attempted murder"

I almost dropped my coffee cup when I heard that announced on the news. Fox News and CBS were reporting that a nine-month-old Pakistani boy was being charged, with 30 others, with attempted murder.

Muhammad Mosa Khan, the toddler, was being charged with threatening police and interfering in state affairs. He and his 'co-conspirators' were booked following a raid to catch suspected gas thieves in the city of Lahore.

Little Muhammad was accused of trying to kill security officers by throwing stones at them. (How bad could that have hurt?) This all stemmed from a protest against electricity shortages.

There were pictures of the boy being fingerprinted in a Pakistani police station. He was having difficulty holding his bottle much less throwing stones. He is out on bail and has a hearing on April 12.

What is this world coming to? I know that meanness can start young but that young. Really?

He is just a cute, adorable little boy that was in the wrong place at the wrong time.

The judge was even so gracious as to tell the bailiff to take down the boys' statement.

At nine months, what could that statement have consisted of? Dada, Mama, BaBa, or whatever the Pakistani equivalent is.

What were you doing at 9-months old? What were your children or grandchildren doing at 9-months old?

Stoning a state official was not one of those many accomplishments my children or I could list on our resumes.

Being jailed at 9-months will be on that little boy's record for the rest of his life. Gives a completely new meaning to a 'permanent' record.

Who is going to testify for or against little Muhammad? And on the outside chance that he is convicted of attempted murder where will they send him? Do they have childcare in prison? Will he have his own cell or will he have to share with a prison hardened two-year old?

I am just flabbergasted.

I can see it now, gangs of toddlers knocking over convenience stores for formula and diapers. Gangs of little ones wandering the sidewalks because they can't cross the street alone. This could become a very serious issue.

How long of a sentence do you give a toddler for committing a crime? Do you educate them as rehabilitation into society? Are they taught how to make teething rings for kids on the outside because license plates are too dangerous?

I have met some children that are 'holy' terrors but I never thought of arresting them.

My kids could have been classified as holy terrors but thankfully, they grew out of it. And when they were bad, they got spankings and were punished appropriately.

I never once thought of them as 'terrorists'. And honestly, I don't think the little boy in Pakistan is a bad child. I think they are trying to make a statement and this little boy is just a very badly executed attempt at publicity.

Hopefully, he is young enough to not be scarred by this stupidity. There I said it. Pure and simple stupidity.

Don't kids have enough to deal with, without adults being morons? These days' kids have too many issues and stress. Kids should be allowed to be kids.

The assistant superintendent who filed the charges against little Muhammad has been suspended. I would have loved to have been there for that behind chewing.

Dangerous Deceptions Regarding Greed

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

John D. Rockefeller once said, "I have made many millions, but they have brought me no happiness," and "The poorest man I know is the man who has nothing but money."

Do you search for happiness in an incessant pursuit of money, or are you content with what the Lord has given you and allowed you to earn through your labors?

In other words, would you rather have gold or God, money or The Messiah, silver or The Spirit, jewels or Jesus?

The prevalence of greed in our society has turned into a dangerous deception in which people look to money for salvation, instead of Jesus Christ. Greed is an acceptable sin and a virtuous in our culture, but at the heart of it is a love for money instead of God.

1 Timothy 6:6-10 gives God's warning for the greedy. Greed, along with its close cousins covetousness and materialism, lead down treacherous paths in this life and in eternity.

In fact, one of the richest men to ever live said "He who loves money will not be satisfied with money," (Ecc 5:10), because only Jesus Christ can bring peace and contentment to your soul.

If money is your god, repent of that sin, and pursue the True God, through a relationship with Jesus Christ, and get on track to use your resources for God's glory.

Imitation: When It Is Good!

JEFF PROCTER, Minister, 6th St. Church of Christ

If you are a parent then at some point your child has done something they saw you doing. Hopefully, that was a good thing.

Kids love to imitate things they see. I have seen little cowboys following their dads who are real cowboys or little boys with pliers on their belt because dad had pliers on his. I have seen little girls playing with dolls like they have seen their mom care for their younger siblings. Imitating others is not unnatural; we want to be like those we admire. When I was 4-years-old I could lean my shoulder in, walk with a little swagger and called it my John Wayne walk.

The key to imitation being good is who or what you imitate.

"Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children. And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us, as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God." Ephesians 5:1-2 ESV.

What if we imitated God? Look at God's pursuit of relationship with humanity? He never gave up and continued to work until He could make it right through His son.

What would marriages look like that do that, never give up on the other? I would dare say there might be a few more saved rather than lost if they did. What if we were as patient as God has been with us when we dealt with others?

Or what would it look like to imitate Jesus? Acknowledging the human existence of folks our society had cast to the street corners with card board signs? Or comforting a family who has faced the loss of a child, not with words but mere presence and holding them? What would it look like if our lives were more sacrificial than self-serving?

Imitation can be cheapened or it can be deepened depending upon who you follow and how much heart you give to that pursuit. Yes, imitation can lead us closer to the King, let our hearts sing and allows freedom to ring, when it's good.

The Myth of Multi-tasking!

April is National Distracted Driving Awareness Month

Shana Fleming, Parmer County Extension Agent, Family & Consumer Science

Most of us incorrectly assure ourselves that we can multi-task! After all, we can walk and chew gum at the same time! Right? When we stop and think about those activities – chewing gum and walking, we have to admit that walking is one of those things we do that requires very little brain power; in fact, it's subconscious and nearly automatic. Unlike walking and chewing gum, both driving and using a cell phone require higher cognitive thinking. Your brain simply cannot perform two higher cognitive tasks at the same time. Instead, it must switch between the tasks, and that's where we get into problems! With technology at their fingertips, drivers are constantly faced with distractions, such as talking or texting, which places their safety and that of others at serious risk.

April is National Distracted Driving Awareness Month, and the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) is launching the Talk. Text. Crash. campaign to raise awareness of the dangers associated with distracted driving and to encourage Texans to put down their cell phones while driving.

Distracted driving is becoming increasingly common and dangerous, causing traffic crashes and fatalities. "The statistics in Texas are sobering," said John Barton, TxDOT deputy executive director. "One in five traffic crashes in Texas is caused by a distracted driver, and last year 459 people were killed as a result." In 2013, the number of Texas crashes involving distracted driving totaled 94,943, up 4 percent from the previous year.

Drivers can be distracted by conversing with other passengers, eating, smoking, manipulating dashboard controls, reaching for something in the vehicle, and talking or texting on a cell phone. Among the many distractions drivers face on the road, cell phone use is one of the most common and a major cause of distracted driving traffic accidents and fatalities.

While distractions affect drivers of all ages, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has found that hand-held cell phone use is highest among 16- to 24-year-olds. This age group has the largest proportion of drivers who were distracted. In Texas, 46 percent of urban teens and 52 percent of rural teens talk on a cell phone while driving, and nearly the same percentage text while driving. (Texas A&M Transportation Institute).

Text messaging is particularly dangerous. New research conducted last year by the Texas A&M Transportation Institute showed reaction times double when drivers are distracted by text messaging. Additionally, sending or receiving a text takes a driver's eyes away from the road for an average of 4.6 seconds. At 55 mph, that's the equivalent of driving the length of a football field while blindfolded.

The Talk. Text. Crash. campaign aims to reduce distracted driving, not only for National Distracted Driving Awareness Month, but throughout the year. Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service agent, Shana Fleming reminds drivers to put away their cell phones and wait until they arrive at their destination to use their phone. Although cell phone use is the most easily recognized distraction, all in-vehicle distractions are unsafe and can cause crashes or fatalities. Keep your eyes on the road and arrive alive!

Swine virus topic of April 29 seminar

By Kay Ledbetter

The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service and Texas Pork Producers Association are joining forces to educate producers in the Texas Panhandle about a threat to the swine industry.

Porcine Epidemic Diarrhea Virus or PEDv, as it is known in the industry, is a disease occurring only in pigs and is caused by a coronavirus, according to the Texas Pork Producers Association. It produces acute and severe outbreaks of diarrhea, which rapidly transmits among all ages of pigs.

A seminar titled "What is PEDv and how does it affect you?" will be held at 5:30 p.m. April 29 at the Texas A&M AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 6500 W. Amarillo Blvd., Amarillo.

"This program should be very useful to our producers in Texas," said Nathan Carr, AgriLife Extension agriculture and natural resources agent in Potter County. "As we think about the commercial industry, it is located primarily up in the Texas Panhandle. Also, the show pig projects have quite a few breeders in the Panhandle and South Plains.

"The program should be very useful to all of them as they think about their operations and the health and biosecurity to them," Carr said.

The meal, sponsored by Lindner Feed and Milling Inc., will begin at 5:30 p.m. and immediately be followed by the program, he said.

The program will include the following topics and speakers:
- What is PEDv and how to protect your operation?, Dr. Jodi Sterle, Iowa State University associate professor, Ames, Iowa.

- Dealing with PEDv – past consultations, bear studs and their effects from PEDv and outlook, Dr. Dale Hendrickson, owner of Four Star Veterinary Services and Top Cut Genetics Inc., Farmland, Ind.

- FAQ over PEDv as it relates to feed, Ronny Moser, JBS/Lindner United, Sheridan, Ind.

The program will wrap up with a panel discussion and questions and answers. The panel will include: Jeff Thayne, managing director of competitive events for the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo; Jay Winters, Texas swine health commissioner and owner of Wintex Farms at Lubbock; Dr. Jimmy Gleason, West Plains Veterinary Clinic in Levelland; and Dr. Scanlon Daniels, Circle H Vet Clinic in Dalhart.

Those planning to attend should RSVP by April 24 to the AgriLife Extension office in Potter County at 806-373-0713. For more information, contact Carr at the same number or mcarr@ag.tamu.edu.

Irrigation assessment program reinstated

After a four-year absence, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 (HPWD) is bringing back its irrigation assessment program for the 2014 growing season.

Under the program, producers volunteer to have their center pivot or drip irrigation system evaluated by HPWD staff. Several times during the growing season, water wells are metered with an ultrasonic flow meter to determine the total gallon per minute flow at each pivot or drip irrigation site.

The total hours that water flows through each irrigation system is also monitored. The pumping hours and the gallon per minute flow data are then calculated to obtain the total gallons of water pumped during a typical 2,000-hour irrigation season.

"As drought continues on the Panhandle-South Plains region, it is important for producers to know exactly how much groundwater is pumped during an irrigation season," said HPWD Manager Jason Coleman, P.E.

"Because of this, the HPWD Board of Directors and staff felt it was important to reinstate the irrigation assessment program to give producers insight into the amount of water being applied to their crops," Coleman said.

As an extra service to the producers participating in the irrigation assessment program, district staff will take water quality samples at each site—including total dissolved solids and water pH.

Furthermore, water level measurements for each site are also taken at the beginning and end of the season.

"It's important to understand water chemistry as it impacts the efficient use of supplemental nutrients applied to crops," he said.

All information gathered by district staff will be entered into a database. At the end of the irrigation season, the total hours are obtained and a final pumping average is calculated from data obtained throughout the season.

Producers receive a report of all information gathered from their site, including irrigation amounts and pumping data.

"We encourage interested agricultural producers to participate in the program," Coleman said. "It helps them understand how much water they use each year, and it also helps the Water District in future water planning efforts where accurate irrigation pumping information must be considered. The program is free and all participants remain anonymous," he added.

Additional information is available by contacting Field Staff Supervisor Keith Whitworth at (806) 762-0181 or by e-mail at keith.whitworth@hpwd.com

Pyramids

By Melanie Braun

Ancient history, geometry, geography? How do pyramids fit into fitness? Pyramid training encompasses many different forms, but simply put, you start at the base progressing to a high point or the top, and then if you choose, regress back to the base. You can choose one exercise and begin with a light weight then progressively add weight to each set as you move up the pyramid. The pyramid is a popular technique for the bench press. For example, one might begin set one with 135 pounds for 12 reps (135 x 12), set two--150 x 10, set three--165 x 8, set four--180 x 6, set 5--195 x 4 and set 6--210 x 2.

I like to use pyramids to break up the monotony of a workout.

You can design a pyramid however you want and use more than one during a workout. You can incorporate several different types of exercises in one pyramid even adding cardio intervals between weight sets.

Decide what exercises you want to do according to what your goals are, and then decide how "tall" you want your pyramid to be. So say you are working on your upper body, and you pick biceps curls, lateral raises, triceps extensions and pushups.

You could begin your pyramid with 10 pushups, 15 lateral raises, 20 triceps extensions and 25 biceps curls then go back down the pyramid with 20 triceps extensions, 15 lateral raises, and finish with 10 pushups. Add cardio intervals (60 seconds of jump roping) between each set for a little spice or choose all cardio exercises for a cardio workout. FYI-heavier weights and low reps will build muscle. When you've got the correct weight, the last two reps should be very difficult and require an almost max effort. When those last two reps become easier, add weight. If you are looking to tone, use lighter weights and do more reps.
