Trades Day Fund Used to Pay for Street Improvements; Work Under Supervision of C. of C. Committee

The street and highway committee of the Friona chamber of commerce was busy with a force of men, a tractor and grader Monday relieving Main street and a few of the other most used streets of the many bumps and chuck holes that had reappeared in them since they were last worked on.

It appears that the chamber of commerce has an account at the bank of nearly $100, which had been deposited as a Trades Day account. The trades day scheme having been abandoned, this money was diverted at the recent meeting of the organization to the street fund, with instructions for the street committee to use to the best of the judgment of the members of the committee.

At a call meeting of the city commission Monday morning, Messrs. Crum and Reeve of this committee met with the commission and offered the use of the funds to the city commission to be applied as the commission thought best. After some discussion, it was moved and seconded that the chamber of commerce street committee be authorized by the City Commission to go on with the work and take full authority in repairing the streets so far as the available funds would allow.

Vested with this authority the committee at once got busy with the result that our streets are once more in fairly good condition, pending another rain or snow. The city commission and the street committee have the thanks of the citizens for the interest they are taking in trying to keep our streets in passable condition so far as possible.

Returned from Vacation.

Mrs. L. G. Simpson who has been spending the past ten days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cearley, in Haskell, and her sister and brother in Amarillo, returned Friday evening of last week.

She was accompanied home from Amarillo by her brother, Louis Cearley, who remained visiting with them until Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Simpson reports a very enjoyable visit and vacation.

Prof. Conway Here Saturday.

Prof. A. Conway, superintendent of the public schools at Kress, was a visitor in Friona Saturday, meeting and shaking hands with his many Friona friends.

Prof. Conway was superintendent of the Friona schools for four terms and has therefore a host of intimate friends here who are always pleased to have him return. He owns residence property here and is therefore interested in Friona and its affairs.

Union Layman's Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Union Layman's of Friona was held Sunday night at the Methodist church with a full house for an audience.

The principal speaker of the evening was G. A. F. Parker of Hereford, who held the undivided interest of his audience while he told of conditions that existed during the days of the open saloon previous to the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, and compared them with existing conditions since its adoption.

Mr. Parker was well prepared with data and illustration, which he could give from his own personal knowledge and his information was worth much to the greater part of his audience, many of the mblng young people who have no personal knowledge of the open saloon conditions.

Many of the musical numbers had to be omitted on account of the parties who were to present them being unable to be present. The next meeting will be held in the Congregational church on the third Sunday in March.

Clyde Goodwine for Judge.

In this issue of the Friona Star will be seen the announcement of Clyde V. Goodwine, who is seeking the office of County Judge and E-office School Superintendent of Parmer County.

Mr. Goodwine has been a resident of Parmer county for the past 24 years, having come here with his parents and brothers and sisters during his early boyhood, and has lived ever since on the Goodwine farm at the south edge of Friona, having spent all of this time at farming except two years in college and three years teaching school.

With the greater part of the people in the eastern half of the county Mr. Goodwine is so well known that an introduction from the Star will be superfluous, and to the remainder of the voters of the county it is sufficient to state that he is thoroughly qualified to efficiently discharge the duties of the office which he seeks, and that his honor and integrity is positively beyond reproach. If chosen to fill the office he is now seeking he will discharge the duties of the office with justice to all and special favors to none. He will run a clean race for the nomination and will merit every vote given, and no mistake can be made in giving him a vote.

If you want to buy used implements, read the classified ad column in the Star each week.

Large Grain Crops Going In Ground Now

According to reports from many farmers of the Friona territory there is being a considerable acreage of barley and oats sown as grain crops here this season.

Farmers say there are no better crops for spring planting than these two very useful grains. They claim there are no better feeds for dairy stock and hogs than these grains provide, especially when ground and properly fed. Then another advantage is that when placed on the market, owing to their more bountiful yield than most other grains, they provide as good an income for the labor and expense necessary to grow and harvest them.

Wheat Growers Have Meeting.

There was a meeting of the local branch of the Texas Wheat Growers Association held in the Texan Theatre building Wednesday afternoon.

L. B. Mayhue, of Runningwater, one of the directors of the association was the principal speaker and was introduced by F. W. Reeve of Friona, also a member of the board of directors.

Mr. Mayhue is a clear thinker and straight talker, and among the many good things he said was that the farmers need organization more than anything else. He said that in times of depression the brunt is always borne by the class of people least prepared for it, which has always been the farmers. He reminded his hearers that small results only need be expected so long as only 15 per cent of the farmers were in any kind of a farm organization, and the other 85 per cent going alone or throwing into the hands of other classes of business. Therefore to be prepared to meet any kind of depressing circumstances, farmers should reverse the present conditions and show an 85 per cent organization with not more than 15 per cent unorganized.

It was shown that farmers should show no more signs of discouragement in perfecting their organization than has been shown by classes of tradesmen and professions.

There were about 25 members of the association present, some of them coming over from Bovina.

Seen By the Observer.

Our observer has taken another little stroll through town during the past week, and it is surprising the many nice things he saw. Some not so very pretty but novel enough to make them interesting.

For instance, he saw in one show window a real horse, all dressed up in some of the best and most serviceable harness. It was a real horse, or at least it was covered with skin, was what might be called shovel-footed and wooden-legged, and, like many other creatures, it has a can for a head. But the main thing about this horse, it was on the job and showing the goods.

In another window it looked as if some thoroughly up-to-date poultryman had established his poultry business there. There seemed to be everything a poultryman would need to successfully prosecute his line of business, except the chickens.

Then another window was so attractive that he just had to step inside and there was a line of ladies' apparel that one would scarcely expect to find in a city no larger than Friona, even to millinery, of which a nice stock and assortment of pretty and up-to-date hats were displayed.

Then he saw in one of the windows a nice assortment of potted flowers with their bright, rich, green leaves apparently pressed against the plate glass as closely as they could, giving the appearance that they were either kissing the window or else tempting someone to kiss them.

Now this is not nearly all the interesting things the Observer saw, but for want of time he will have to wait until next week to tell the rest.

If you visit the poultry show today, do not fail to attend tomorrow—Saturday.

DAVID W. RAY FOR JUDGE AND SUPT. OF SCHOOLS

This week David W. Ray of Black, announces as a candidate for the office of County Judge and E-office Superintendent of the Schools of Parmer County.

Mr. Ray moved to Parmer county in 1927; taught school at Black, bought land and built a home there. He was born in 1897 on a farm near Whitewright, Texas. Came to Parmer county from Fannin county, near Bonham, where he lived for more than a quarter of a century.

Mr. Ray has had years of ex-

perience in school administration, having climbed from teacher and principal in the rural schools to superintendent of the Randolph high school, independent district, and from there to teacher and dean of men at Burleson College.

After coming home from the U. S. army in 1919, Ray decided to get an education as he had not finished the eighth grade at the time of his enlistment. He worked his way through school, graduated from college, and since coming to Parmer county has spent two years in graduate work, one year in the graduate school of the Yale University at New Haven.

Mr. Ray is well qualified and fully capable of filling the office to which he aspires. In presenting himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Judge and Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Ray issued the following statement:

"I have no other wish than to be the best County Judge and Superintendent of Schools that Parmer county has ever had. I am a Democrat and believe in practicing democracy—equal rights to all and special privileges to none. I believe in the supremacy of the law; the weakest voice should be given a hearing.

"The county with the schools has the future. Yet, manhood, not scholarship, is the first aim of an education.

"I favor a lower tax rate and rigid economy in office. A public office is a public trust, and an occupant should exercise his best abilities in the performance of the duties assigned to him.

"If elected I will be on the job every day. It is the chief aim of my life to make Parmer county the best County Judge and Superintendent it has ever had."

He solicits your vote and influence in behalf of his candidacy.

New Business Building.

Ground was broken here Thursday for the erection of a new business building on the lot between the Texan Theatre and the Friona State Bank.

The building is being erected by Mrs. Charles of Black; but the information as to the kind of business to be established therein has not been made public.

Spent Week-end at Home.

Miss Esther and Glenn Reeve who attend college at Canyon, was here Saturday, Sunday and Monday with home folks. Monday was Washington's birthday and a holiday at the college, and they had the pleasure of two days at home. Hadley Reeve, also in college there, had some important school work to do so did not come home, but devoted his time to the extra work. Charles Reeve took them back to Canyon Monday evening.

Horse and Mule Market Open; Good Market

There was a man in Friona this week looking for work horses or mules that he could buy, evidently for the purpose of furnishing power for farming operations the coming season.

A Star advertiser mentioned in his ad last week that mule jewelry would jingle in many fields again this year and called attention to the fact that this kind of jewelry could be had at his place.

Apparently this prophecy will prove true, and is nothing to the discredit of tractor or power farming, for there is no easier, speedier or humane way of farming than with a tractor, or power farming as it is commonly called.

However, the fact remains that many farmers owning perhaps but a quarter section of land, can ill afford to buy this good machinery to till that amount of land, especially at prevailing prices of power machinery and farm produce.

While this is true, good work stock in the form of horses and mules can now be purchased at very reasonable prices that are proportionate with the prices of the various grains produced here.

L. B. Lansden Will Judge Poultry Show at Friona Friday

Dr. Lansden of Lubbock, poultry expert, was a business visitor in Friona and vicinity Tuesday and while here tested a number of flocks of poultry for those of our citizens who are interested in raising the best poultry possible.

The doctor has been giving his time to this line of work for the past 25 years, having been with the U. S. department of agriculture for 20 years, and for a time with the Arkansas department of agriculture, and the remainder of his time has been employed by various schools and corporations, and working with county agents in various parts of the country, and he has a license with the American Poultry Association.

He is now connected with a mill at Lubbock and spends his time traveling over the territory grading and culling flocks of poultry, judging shows and giving general information as to housing, feeding, breeding and culling poultry in order to secure the greatest possible income from either small or large flocks. He also assists in designing flocks for A. P. A. certification. In this he first culls the flock to remove the borders, saving only producing hens, and of this number he selects the highest producers, grading them for form, size and color. The hens are then separated from the remainder of the flock and placed in smaller pens, a dozen in each pen with which are placed the best possible roosters, as to form and color, and best production figures. From these pens the poultrymen secure eggs from which to breed stock for the next season. This process enables the breeder to keep his flock up to the certification standard, not for production alone, but one that will make good showings as exhibition stock as well.

Mr. Lansden also organizes poultry associations and promotes poultry shows in territory or localities where the poultry business has not received sufficient interest among the citizens to induce a show sponsored by local interests. In judging these shows he takes pains to show all interested spectators just why he places birds in the individual classes to which he consigns them and is pleased to have interested persons question him as to the merits of certain birds and how those merits are determined. He also shows why certain elements of food are necessary to produce the best production and how these foods should be balanced. He shows how a greater amount of profit may be secured from one individual hen than from 100 hens as regards egg production alone.

Dr. Lansden says that a great majority of hens produced on the average farm produce less per year than is required to feed them, thus showing a loss to the owner.

A large number of other hens, which he calls producers, barely break even, and hens of this class may be classed as a nuisance, since a man may as well sit still all day and do nothing as to work all day and be no better off at the end of the day.

Dr. Lansden went from Friona to Portales, New Mexico, Tuesday afternoon, but will return Thursday evening or Friday morning in time to judge the Friona show Friday. He especially desires that all who are interested in growing profit producing poultry should be present when he is judging the exhibits and he will be pleased to give all the information he can concerning profitable poultry raising and at the same time demonstrate his method of judging both for production and for exhibition. Friona farmers and poultry raisers should not fail to avail themselves of this opportunity to learn more of the poultry business.

City Tax Collector Reports Three-Fourths of City Taxes Paid; Election Will Be Held Tuesday, April First Used Farm Implements in Demand.

It appears that there will be quite a demand for used farming implements this season, as from reports and inquiries many farmers will resort to the use of implements that they have discarded during the past few years, and will be pleased to secure used implements of this kind as an economic means rather than buying new implements.

There is no questioning the fact that farmers would far rather use new implements than those that have been used by others, but the very low price of farm commodities for the past year has forced many of them to the use of machinery that has been laid by, but with a moderate amount of expense can be made to do good service for at least another season.

Is Gradually Failing.

John Gischler, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is gradually failing at his home in the south part of town.

Mr. Gischler is one of Friona's pioneer citizens and business men and is held in high esteem by the entire community, whose hearts go out in sympathy for him in his stricken condition.

Fifth Grade Honor Roll.

Those making an A average in the fifth grade for the month of February are Raymond Baker, Glenda Carter, Edith Moseley and Roberta Rushing.

Bobbie Lee Roden Improving.

Little Bobbie Lee Roden, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roden, was taken seriously ill Sunday with a serious affection of the throat, and is still quite ill in the hospital at Hereford.

A physician was called as soon as the little fellow's condition was seen to be serious, and when the trouble refused to yield to treatment, he was placed in a car and driven to the hospital, where a tube was inserted in the trachea to prevent suffocation and permit breathing until treatment could remove the trouble in the throat.

It was feared for a time that he would not be able to survive the disease, but at this writing, Thursday morning, he is reported as still gradually improving, with hopes for his permanent and early recovery entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Roden have the sincere sympathy of their many friends, who join also in the hope for the recovery of their little son.

day evening or Friday morning in time to judge the Friona show Friday. He especially desires that all who are interested in growing profit producing poultry should be present when he is judging the exhibits and he will be pleased to give all the information he can concerning profitable poultry raising and at the same time demonstrate his method of judging both for production and for exhibition. Friona farmers and poultry raisers should not fail to avail themselves of this opportunity to learn more of the poultry business.

The city commission held a very interesting meeting in the city's office Monday night with the entire membership present. This meeting was called by order of Mayor J. C. Landrum and a few matters left over from the previous meeting were discussed and finally disposed of.

On request of one of the city's water users for a meter to be placed on his private property in order to avoid the expense of a tap on the city mains, it was pointed out by the commission that such requests could not be granted, as it would be in violation of the water ordinances and to begin the practice would lead to numerous complications, and that all meters must be placed according to regulations, so that all patrons should receive the same treatment.

A report of the city tax assessor and collector showed that a total of $6,488.54 city taxes had been assessed for 1931. Collections of city taxes to date have been made to the amount of $4,790.32, leaving a balance of $1,698.22 yet uncollected, or a little more than one-fourth of the total. The report also showed that during the past year, beginning February 1, 1931, $313.29 of the 1930 city taxes had been collected, making a total collection during the year of $5,103.61.

Provisions for the coming city election on the first Tuesday in April were made by appointing F. W. Reeve as presiding judge of the election. This election will be held April 1, and all candidates for city offices who wish their names printed on the official ballots should have their names filed with the city secretary at least five days before that date.

It is the plan of the present city commission to have the city's accounts and records all in as good shape by that time as it is possible to have them.

Many of our people had the

pleasure of enjoying a speaking and musical program, which was rendered Monday from Washington, and many other cities throughout the country.

Many of those who did not take the time away from their business to go to their homes to listen in at their own radios had the opportunity to listen in at some one of the radios in business places.

Every one who listened appeared to be deeply interested and fully enjoyed music and speeches, and to enter into the spirit of the day and program with a loyal and patriotic spirit. The program from the old Fannell Hall, known as the "Cradle of Liberty", in Boston, a part of which was the ringing of the old cracked bell which was used to call together the Minute Men in the early days of the Revolutionary War. The bell did not give forth a very musical tone, but yet, it had more of a metallic ring that did the old Liberty Bell which was rung last year in Philadelphia.

Visited in Fort Sumner.

Attorney A. D. Smith spent from Friday of last week until Tuesday this week visiting friends and relatives in Fort Sumner, New Mexico. Mr. Smith was a resident of Fort Sumner for several years before locating in Friona and has many friends there, also business interests that require his occasional attention.

West Texas Farmers Burn Corn

Here is George W. Magness, Farwell, Texas, farmer, who concludes it is cheaper to burn his own corn, which he could sell for $4 a ton, than it is to buy coal at $10 a ton. He lives about eight miles out in the country and would have to truck his corn to town and the coal back. Many West Texas farmers are burning corn to heat their homes this winter.

Money is scarce and hard to get, and when we spend it away from home it is "good-bye money." Let us trade in Friona and boost our town and community.

Baptist Church Notes.

Due to the muddy roads, the attendance was below average, there being but 67 present for Sunday school and 58 for B. Y. P. U. During B. Y. P. U. hour Mrs. Magness gave a very interesting story setting forth the virtues of honesty, purity, truth and courage as symbolic of our national flag.

The pastor announced his sermon subjects for next Sunday as follows: Sunday morning, Why Do Baptists Baptize? Sunday night, Properly Relating Yourself to Christ and His Work.

Next Sunday the Sunday school will study about the most remarkable miracle performed by our Lord while He was on earth, the raising of Lazarus from the dead. The golden text is, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.

The following is the program for the senior group of B. Y. P. U. for next Sunday evening: Leader: John T. Burton. Introduction: Leader. Menacing Dangers: Lee Euler. Crime and Lawlessness: Wilbur Meade.

Decline of the Home: Raymond Euler. Modernism: Wilma York. Disregard of the Sacred: Laura May Bush. The Imperative Need: Hilton Lansdown.

The Home Mission Board's Part: Virgil Weir. What Can We Do?: Olen White.

David W. Ray Announces.

In another column of this issue of the Star will be found the announcement of David W. Ray of Black Preinct, who comes before the voters of the county asking their support for the nomination for the office of County Judge and Ex-officio Superintendent of the Schools, to be decided at the Democratic Primary in July.

Mr. Ray has been a resident of Parmer county for the past five years, having come to the county at that time as a school teacher, and has since purchased land, built a home and adopted farming as an occupation, which he is now following.

Mr. Ray has never asked for public office, although he has held many important positions in the teachers' profession, and is therefore qualified to fill the important position he now is seeking. Mr. Ray promises, if elected, to give his best ability to the service of the people of the county in the discharge of his official position. During his five years of residence in the county he has made quite a wide circle of acquaintances among our people all of whom he asks for their support at the primary, July 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Rushing Here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rushing of Pampa were here a part of last week visiting in the home of their son, E. V. Rushing.

Mr. Rushing was also looking after the marketing of some of their large wheat crop which was grown here last season, and shaking hands with his large number of Friona friends.

Mrs. Rushing, who has been in poor health for the past year or more, is now greatly improved and is still gaining in health. On leaving Friona they planned to drive back to their former home at Ada, Oklahoma, where they would visit with old neighbors and friends for a while before returning to their home in Pampa.

JESUS RAISES LAZARUS FROM THE DEAD

John 11:32-44

32. Mary therefore, when she came where Jesus was, and saw him, fell down at his feet, saying unto him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.

33. When Jesus therefore saw her weeping, and the Jews also weeping, who came with her, he groined in the spirit, and was troubled.

34. And said, Where have ye laid him? They say unto him, Lord, come and see.

35. Jesus wept.

36. The Jews therefore said, Behold how he loved him!

37. But some of them said, Could not this man, who opened the eyes of him that was blind, have caused that this man also should not die?

38. Jesus therefore again groined in himself cometh to the tomb. Now it was a cave, and a stone lay against it.

39. Jesus saith, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time the body decayeth; for he hath been dead four days.

40. Jesus saith unto her, Said I not unto thee, that if thou believest thou shalt see the glory of God?

41. So they took away the stone. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou heardest me.

42. And I knew that thou hearest me always; but because of the multitude that standeth around I said it, that they may believe that thou didst send me.

43. And when he had thus spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44. He that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with graveclothes; and his face bound about with a napkin. Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

Golden Text: I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live again.—John 11:25.

Time: The raising of Lazarus, February, A. D. 30. The retirement to Ephraim, March, A. D. 30. The anointing by Mary Saturday, April 1, A. D. 30. Place: Bethany and Ephraim.

Introduction.

"The eleventh chapter of John is a life-commentary on the exceeding preciousness of Christ's presence in the last and saddest moments of experience."—Mackay. "He who lives by the Life cannot die," was the motto of Raymond Lull, the heroic African missionary.

"Sara Coleridge wrote to a bereaved friend: 'My thoughts had turned the same way as yours—where all mourners and friends of those that mourn will naturally go for sure and certain hope and ground of rejoicing—to that most divine chapter on the raising of Lazarus.'"

Life Through Jesus.

The outstanding lesson and truth of this miracle is, life through Jesus. True life, in our Lord's teaching, is of the greatest of all good things, and eternal life the supreme gift.

Bethany. A little village on the eastern slope of Mount Olivet, on the Jericho road, about two miles from Jerusalem. Mary, though the younger, had come by the time John's Gospel was written, the better known of the two sisters on account of her lavish honoring of Jesus, recorded in the next chapter. Tradition says that Lazarus was still younger—"the pet of the two sisters."

Their hospitable home in the secluded suburb was a refreshing retreat for our Lord from noisy, hostile Jerusalem. It must have been one of the few places that the homeless Master could really call home. It is a precious spot for the Christian imagination. Richly has their guest-friendship been rewarded. They are immortal types of the life, of the heart, that says, "Welcome!" to Christ Jesus.

The Postponed Miracle.

A sudden stroke fell upon that peaceful household, a deadly fever or some other fearful disease, striking down the dear brother, the hope of the home.

Then occurred one of the strangest events in our Saviour's life, his deliberately waiting two days in Bethany, so that Lazarus might be dead and four days in his grave by the time he reached the sorrowing home. How can we account for this postponed miracle? Jesus accounted for it. He said it was for the glory of God and the Son of God. He looked far ahead of the temporary sickness and griefs of this world;

he was at work for the eternal life of all believers. He knew that the miracle he was about to perform would result in his own death, and he did not flinch from the cross, because he knew also that his death would open the door of hope and salvation for all sinners. "For the glory of God, and for the sake of others, for the sake of the disciples, for the sake of the world, says Christ, I have suffered my friend Lazarus to die."

A Decisive Event.

This miracle created such a sensation and attracted so much attention there at Jerusalem that it may be regarded as the beginning of the end of Jesus' career. It led the Jewish council to take decisive steps for his arrest and killing. The cross was inevitable, but strangely, an act of great loving-kindness toward those friends of his was thus the immediate cause of the tragedy. Both our Lord himself and the disciples apprehended this outcome before they left Perea. "Let us also go, that we may die with him," His remark, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," is pathetically pertinent to the incident.

I Am the Resurrection and the Life.

Martha's faith, imperfect as it was, won from Christ the immortal saying, repeated in millions of funeral services all over the world to the comforting of uncounted hearts: "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth on me, though he die (physically) yet shall he live (spiritually); and whosoever liveth (spiritually) and believeth on me shall never die (spiritually)."

"You bend above the grave, and listen to the silence of the earth and heaven, and yet await in strong patience the resurrection joy; for He once lay there himself, and rose again."

"This saying of Christ's has made the tomb a gateway instead of a terminal."

Our Lord wanted Mary present when he raised her brother from the dead, and so he sent Martha to call her sister. "The teacher is here, and calleth thee," said Martha quietly; and Mary sprang up eagerly to follow her. "Mary therefore, when she came where Jesus was, fell down at his feet."

Martha had not assumed this worshipping attitude; Mary long before had chosen "the better part". "Saying unto him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." She uttered the same sad cry as Martha, for it had evidently been the burden of the two sisters' talk for all those four sorrowful days.

Jesus Wept. This is the shortest verse in the Bible, and one of the most beautiful. "Almost the sweetest words I know are these."—Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D. "Does not Christ show in his attitude at Lazarus' grave that he loves and cares for the suffering loved ones at every grave?"—President L. R. Scarborough. "That is what we all need, a God who can feel for us, understand us, sympathize with us." Also Jesus may have been weeping for his friend Lazarus.

"He knew what the eternal world is and what glory lies behind the veil; and he did not weep because Lazarus was done with life and its gladness and sunshine; no, but because his friend had passed to where, beyond these voices, there is peace, and he must summon him back, must fetch the wanderer who had got home out once more into the weary wilderness. And his tears say to us, 'Oh, if you only knew the glory which lies beyond the veil and which I know so well since I dwell there from everlasting; if you only knew that radiant world of rest and peace and joy, you would never wish your dead back in this dark world of toil and tumult and sorrow; you would rejoice that they are at home with God.'—Prof. David Smith.

The Glory of God. "Thou shouldst see the glory of God?" That was said also when Christ heard of the sickness of Lazarus, that it was to advance the glory of God and of his Son; see v. 4. "So they took away the stone." Jesus might have bidden the stone to remove of itself, but he never worked needless miracles. "The analogy teaches us that there are some things which we can do for the unconverted, and these we should hasten to perform."—C. H. Spurgeon.

Our Lord is jealous for the glory of God, and makes it perfectly clear that he works the miracle through God's power given to him as God's Son. "The miracle itself was overwhelming as a proof of power with God. But the manner of it, the thanksgiving here uttered beforehand, the address to God, the name by which he calls him, all would convey the impression to the witnesses, not of a mere prophet, like Elijah or Elisha, but of the Son of the Father, and sent of God."

The Effect of the Miracle.

As this miracle was worked for the glory of God in his Son, it is necessary to record its effects, which, as in the case of every miracle, were twofold: some were led to believe on Christ, while the hearts of sceptics were hardened into obstinate opposition even in the face of such a stupendous fact. The latter went away to report the event to Christ's confirmed enemies, the Pharisees, and discuss what should be done with the wonder worker. So it is with all of Christ's gracious and mighty words and works: they are either "a savor from death unto death" or "a savor from life unto life."

Poultry Show.

The agriculture club is sponsoring a poultry show Friday and Saturday, which will be held in the Parr building west of the bank. Prizes will be given.

The Texan Now Operating.

The Texan Theatre here has again been opened and placed in operation for the entertainment of the amusement-loving public.

O. G. Turner, owner of the building is in charge of the business and is doing his best to furnish good, clean entertainment.

Health Hints

The Five-Point Child.

The State Department of Health is sponsoring through its different affiliated health groups and voluntary workers a project by which school children are awarded a certificate for five major health achievements. The children are found and awards made through the service of the state health nurse in each section. Such report was recently made of Virginia Myers, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta. Virginia is not only the first 5-point child to claim the certificate in this district made up of four counties, but is the first in all the state.

Virginia's illuminating radio talk will give grown-ups an idea of how health work may successfully be promoted among children:

"My name is Virginia Myers. I am 10 years old and in the 5th grade of the Henrietta school. I have had a physical examination each year. The state department sent Miss Mayfield, a public health nurse, to conduct a program in Archer, Clay, Jack, Young and Wichita counties. She interested and encouraged me to become a five-point child. My teachers also have helped me. Because my little friends, Evelyn Murphree of Iowa Park and Edith McClure of Jacksboro were in the contest, I did my very best to earn the first certificate. It was fun having corrections made when other children were doing the same thing. The best way to become a five-point child is to learn how many points you have and then work for the others:

"First, practice health habits. These are cleanliness, proper food, fresh air, proper posture, correct weight. Second, be a good citizen. In the home, with playmates, in school, be obedient, be fair. Do your work cheerfully and well. Third, bad teeth, eyes and ears must be corrected by doctor or dentist. Fourth, prevent contagious diseases by vaccination or immunization. Fifth, when you have done all these, it is easy to add the fifth point, which is satisfactory grades at school.

"These five points represent the Texas Star. To earn my certificate I had tonsils removed, three teeth pulled, two filled, vaccination, immunization against diphtheria, took typhoid serum.

Mr. Parker Here Sunday.

G. A. F. Parker of Hereford spent Sunday here as the guest of Rev. Annis of the Methodist church, and assisted with the church services.

He spoke to the congregation at the morning church hour and went with Rev. Annis in the afternoon to one of his country appointments. He also was the principal speaker at the Union Layman's meeting at the church in the evening.

Mr. Parker is recognized as one of the most capable layman workers in this conference of his church and the local congregation is fortunate in receiving his visits and assistance in the church work.

If you have good seed oats or barley or any other kind of good farm seed, you had better advertise it in the Star's classified column. The Star receives inquiries nearly every day about where to obtain good seed of some variety.

Don't fail to attend the Friona Poultry Show. If you do not attend today, but sure to be there tomorrow, Saturday.

Training for Track Meet.

Coach Stevens of Friona high school is preparing to put his boys through a course of severe and critical training for the many features of the county track meet to be held in Farwell in the spring. The boys will probably use the ground north of the school in the White pasture for their athletic court for practice meets. Coach Stevens also has in mind holding athletic contests there at a date to be fixed, to which will be invited a number of schools in the district.

It is understood this contest, if it materializes, will have no connection with the county track meet, but will simply be in the cause and promotion of athletics in a general way.

Football-Basketball Banquet.

The football-basketball banquet was put over in a big way at the high school building last Friday evening at eight o'clock, with about 11 football letter men, eight basketball letter men, their escorts and the faculty. About 64 were present.

Mr. Eubanks acted as toastmaster. The first speech was to be given by "Red" Crow, but perhaps he was not there, and Conway Frost made a speech on football and what had been accomplished this year in that field. Roy Johnson, as captain of the basketball team gave a talk on basketball. Miss Deaton gave a talk as the girls' coach. Dennis White, captain of our coming track team gave some pointers on our chance at the county meet. Coach Stevens addressed the guests on the topic of this year's work, and what this school should do next year. Mr. Heath explained what athletics is for and how it is treated by this school. Mr. Smith and Mr. Armstrong also addressed the group.

Courses were served between the speeches. At the end of the last one, the desert course of ice cream, was served and everyone went home, reporting an enjoyable evening.

Had Good Attendance.

H. G. Norris, local manager of the Buchanan & Rosson Implement Company, and who was in attendance at the tractor and implement school given by the company at their Hereford house Tuesday, reports a large attendance.

One member of each family in attendance was permitted to place the name on a card which was dropped into a box, and later in the day a card was drawn from the box and the person whose name was on the card was awarded a prize of a new feed mill. This award was made to J. A. Noland of Summerfield.

Mr. Morris says a good interest was manifested by the large crowd in attendance. He says also that there will be a farm implement demonstration held by the company in Friona in the very near future, the date of which will be announced next week in the Star. The I. H. C. and the Buchanan & Rosson Co. people are anxious to give their patrons and the public generally all the service they can as to the use and care of farm machinery.

Congregational Church Notes.

There was a fair attendance at Sunday school and considerable interest was manifested by the groups in the various classes.

Following Sunday school, the church service hour was devoted to a religious George Washington program in conformance with the recommendation or suggestion of the United States Government Geo. Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The program was led by L. G. Simpson. Patriotic songs were sung and patriotic responses were read. One of the young men of the high school class of the Sunday school, Weiden Wlstedfeld, gave a short talk on the subject, George Washington, the Leader of Men, which was a good talk and well delivered. The congregation is proud of this group of young men, who are using their talents so willingly and so fearlessly in promoting the church work. There was another talk on the subject, George Washington, the Christian, and Milford Alexander favored the congregation with a vocal solo, which was highly appreciated.

The coming Sunday there will be a short business meeting of the congregation between the Sunday school and worship hours, as there has been propositions offered by which the congregation may secure regular preaching services, and these will be discussed.

The leading feature of next Sunday's worship hour will be an address of Dr. F. M. Darnell, head of the English department of the W. T. S. T. C. Canyon. Dr. Darnell is a fluent talker and a deep thinker, and a man of high Christian ideals. The general public is cordially invited to hear him.

OBSERVE TEXAS WEEK

Wide observance is to be given Texas Week, February 28 to March 5, as suggested by Wylie A. Parker, principal of the Forest Avenue High School, Dallas. The idea has been given the enthusiastic endorsement of the State Teachers' Association, many civic organizations and hundreds of individuals and schools all over the state.

About this Week: a unique feature is that there is nothing to be sold, no holidays to be taken, but to the contrary, it is one of endeavor. Included in the suggestions for the observance are these:

- Unfurl a Texas flag to the Texas breeze each day.
- Read a Texas book.
- Place a Texas book in your library.

Work harder during Texas Week than you work during any other week in 1932.

Texas will honor the founding of this Lone Star State by putting forth greater efforts in their work during Texas Week.

Texas should live worthily as citizens of this great state thru-out Texas Week.

Chas. Kaiser Wants Star.

The Star is in receipt of a letter from Chas. Kaiser of Columbus, Ohio, containing the remittance for a year's subscription for the Star.

Many of our people will remember Mr. Kaiser, as he and Mrs. Kaiser spent several weeks here in Friona, stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wentworth, several years ago. He owns a half section of land just west of town and north of the S. F. Warren poultry farm.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser were well pleased with the Plains country and were great boosters for it. The Star appreciates Mr. Kaiser's subscription, since it indicates a continued interest in the Friona country.

Mrs. Blackwell Returned.

Mrs. J. A. Blackwell and son, Bobbie, and her sister, Miss Syble Bowland, returned Monday evening from a few weeks visit with her parents at Bernice, Louisiana.

Mrs. Blackwell reports a most enjoyable visit and was fortunate in being able to see each of her eight brothers and sisters living at various points along her route, either in Texas or Louisiana. One sister at San Antonio met her at the home of another in Dallas. There are nine children in the family, but one other brother, Carrol Bowlin, who is located in Clovis, New Mexico, she sees frequently.

Her father, George Bowlin, has been afflicted for some time with rheumatism, but she says he was much improved when she left on her return trip. She reports much water in that country, many of the rivers and creeks being out of their banks. She expresses her happiness at being back home with her husband and Friona friends.

By all means let's keep our generals and admirals as happy as we can. Let there be parties, parades and spelling games. Let them have everything their hearts desire with only two reservations—no speeches, no wars.—Haywood Brown.

Announcement was made of the marriage during the previous week of Miss Opal Whitefield and Mr. M. B. Buchanan, the ceremony being performed at the Methodist parsonage in Lubbock on February 14.

A. C. Elliott of Homeland had grown 500 acres of corn from which he had at that time shelled over 7000 bushels and was not through gathering. It was estimated that his crop would total at least 12,000 bushels of shelled corn.

Miss Thelma Saunder (now Mrs. Bethel Hicks) was quite ill at the home of her uncle near Homeland.

A bad fire was reported, which had broken out in the large stacks of feed at the J. W. Parr home at the western edge of town, but the large crowd of neighbors that soon gathered were able to save most of the feed.

Is Your Home Merely

"LIGHTED?"

During the winter months more time is spent under artificial light. Because of this, careful attention should be given to the matter of lighting.

Many people expect only one thing of electric lighting—illumination. That is not enough. Lighting may be good or bad.

The basic rule of proper lighting in the home is to light the object—not the eye. There should be an adequate supply of light; there should be no glare; the illumination should be well distributed.

Improper lighting causes eyestrain, fatigue, headaches. Proper lighting not only saves the eyes, but its soft, diffused light makes the home more attractive.

Look through your home—is the light good in some places, poor in others? An added lamp would mean convenience—even safety.
