RICHESON TO BE BURIED AT HOME

ment which existed between the two, and because of a condition in which Miss Linnell found herself.

As pastor of a small church in the Cape Cod town of Hyannis two years before, the handsome and eloquent minister, then 33 years old, had been attracted to Avis Linnell, who was an exceptionally pretty girl of 17 years.

Miss Linnell joined Richeson's church, was baptized by him and became a member of the church choir.

Friction developed between Richeson and his deacons in June, 1910, over the young minister's impetuous manner and his violent language.

The evening of October 19 Chief Inspector Dugan, and members of his force went to the home of Mr. Richeson on Devon street, in Brookline.

Before leaving the house he took in his arms Miss Violet Edmunds, who was weeping hysterically.

At the same time Richeson was meeting Miss Linnell as formerly. But one day he borrowed the diamond ring he had given her, on the pretext that the stone needed resetting.

Greene were heard coming from a bathroom of the association quarters shortly after 7 o'clock that evening.

A belief that the girl had committed suicide was at first general, but her family were disposed to discredit the report, and a thorough investigation was made.

The theory of suicide was dispelled when the real conditions surrounding the death of Miss Linnell were made known. The girl had been sitting in a chair with her feet in a tub of hot water while bathing her when she

On the day following the girl's death Rev. Mr. Richeson preached what was to be his last sermon in the Cambridge church, and in his prayer referred briefly to the death of a near friend.

Scores of police and newspaper men took up the mystery of the death of Avis Linnell. It seemed apparent at the outset that the belief in a suicide theory was one which the murderer had planned to foster.

In a week's time material evidence began to accumulate. A woman declared that Richeson had telephoned from her home making an appointment for the afternoon of October 14 with someone at the Young Woman's Christian Association rooms.

The evening of October 19 Chief Inspector Dugan, and members of his force went to the home of Mr. Richeson on Devon street, in Brookline.

Under the lashings of remorse I have suffered and am suffering the torments of the damned.

"You are instructed to deliver this to the district attorney or to the judge of the court. Sincerely yours, CLARENCE V. T. RICHESON.

Richeson was taken into court on January 9, pleaded guilty of the murder of Avis Linnell and was sentenced to be electrocuted at the Charlestown State Prison in the week beginning May 19.

A negro murderer, Henry H. Butts, has been the constant companion of Richeson since his act of self mutilation.

Richeson had early written to his church asking that judgment be suspended until after the grand jury sitting.

The police had even at this time far from a satisfactory case against Richeson. The container of the poison which Miss Linnell had taken could not be found.

At the same time the police began an investigation into the life of Richeson. Every important act of his life from the date of his birth at Rose Hill, Virginia, 35 years ago, until his advent in Cambridge was gone into.

Amherst Courthouse, Virginia, high school, they went to Carrollton, Missouri, to work for a brother and attend a local academy.

Richeson's life had not been an undisturbed one, it was learned, and many tales were related of his entanglements with young women.

Richeson was expelled from William Jewell College for cheating in examinations shortly after he had been ordained at the First Baptist church in St. Louis.

While at Budd Park Baptist church in Kansas City, Richeson became involved with a widow. One Sunday she appeared unexpectedly during the church service.

Richeson entered Newton Theological Seminary in the fall of 1906 and graduated in 1909.

Interest in the case was intensified on December 20 when it became known that Richeson had mutilated himself in his cell at the Charles Street Jail.

"Deeply desiring as far as in my power lies, to make atonement, I hereby confess that I am guilty of the offense of which I stand indicted.

"Under the lashings of remorse I have suffered and am suffering the torments of the damned.

Richeson was taken into court on January 9, pleaded guilty of the murder of Avis Linnell and was sentenced to be electrocuted at the Charlestown State Prison in the week beginning May 19.

Richeson, on April 26, sent a petition for commutation of sentence to Governor Foss. It read:

"I respectfully request that the sentence of death pronounced against me by the Superior Court for the county of Suffolk be commuted to imprisonment for life, and I leave the presentation of this request and the reasons in support thereof with my counsel.

Simultaneously with the presentation of the petition, Counsel William A. Morse and Phillip R. Dunbar, of Boston, and John L. Lee of Lynchburg, Virginia, filed numerous depositions relating to evidences of insanity on the part of members of the Richeson family in Virginia and as to peculiar acts and traits of the prisoner.

What the Church Can Do to Help the Negro of Rural Districts

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

By BOOKER T. WASHINGTON, President Tuskegee Negro Institute

WHAT can the church do to strengthen and conserve the 10,000,000 black Americans, 82 per cent of whom live in the country districts and small villages?

IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS THE NEGRO, ALL THINGS CONSIDERED, IS AT HIS BEST IN BODY, MIND AND SOUL IN THE CITY HE IS USUALLY AT HIS WORST.

Negro population FOLLOWS THE CHURCH BUILDING. Few things delight the soul of the negro so much as to erect a church building, even though it be so crude and small as to be almost ridiculous in its appearance.

Here, then, is the opportunity for us to improve the church life of the country negro and thus help to KEEP HIM ON THE LAND WHERE HE HAS A CHANCE TO GROW A STRONG, HEALTHY BODY AND BE AWAY FROM THE TEMPTATIONS AND COMPLEXITIES OF LARGE CITY LIFE.

HOW CAN THIS BE DONE? MAKE CHURCH LIFE FOR THE NEGRO IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS AS ATTRACTIVE AS IT IS IN THE CITY.

If we would save the negro, 82 per cent of whom, as I have said, live in the country, he must be taught that when the Bible says, "The earth is full of thy riches," it means that the earth is full of corn, potatoes, peas, cotton, chickens and cows; that THESE RICHES SHOULD BE GOT OUT OF THE EARTH BY THE HAND OF MAN and turned into beautiful church buildings and righteous, useful living.

Cultivable Land Should Be Made to Produce Its Maximum Yield

By CHARLES J. BLANCHARD, Statistician of the United States Reclamation Service

IT IS ESSENTIAL TO THE WELFARE OF THIS NATION THAT EVERY ACRE OF CULTIVABLE LAND SHOULD BE MADE TO PRODUCE ITS MAXIMUM OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

The tremendous increase in our population is changing conditions of our national life and has made an imperative call upon congress and the legislatures of the states to enact laws which will create additional opportunities for those who would till the soil.

Our vast areas of public domain as yet are PRACTICALLY UNSURVEYED. The government itself knows little concerning its important possessions and is therefore incapable of directing intelligently any practical movement toward its proper development.

Millions of acres have been given away with lavish hand without a thought of the time now so near when these same areas might be UTILIZED TO SUPPLY THE LAND-HUNGRY WITH HOMES. As it has been with the government, so it has been with the states. There should be prompt action toward remedial legislation and the initiation of new methods which will tend to correct past mistakes and at the same time promote a healthy movement back to the land.

America Must Be Leader in Move For Peace

By Baroness BERTHA VON SUTTNER, Peace Advocate

THE averting of war through armament or partial disarmament can be brought about by the infusion into the peace movement of more life and energy and an aggressive campaign against the military spirit.

In the final analysis it is PUBLIC OPINION which, after all, has the greatest influence to enforce peace if it is once awakened to a realization of its power in this direction.

The American people as a whole perhaps have no idea of how might, power and prestige in Europe are ALL ON THE SIDE OF THE MILITARY SYSTEM. Militarism, wealth immeasurable, the royal courts, the judiciary, the great political men, the press—all are on the side of the military spirit, and these are threatening a catastrophe for Europe that will set back civilization for a century.

HOPEFULLY WE EUROPEAN PEACE WORKERS LOOK ACROSS THE ATLANTIC TO THE GREAT AMERICAN PEOPLE.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

DIRECT SENATORIAL ELECTIONS.

(Temple Telegram)

Several southern states, through their representatives in Congress, opposed the passage of the law providing for the direct election of senators. The ground of objection was one which is ticklish to comment upon. For long, the South has been denied full fellowship in National benefits on the score of being unwilling to surrender state's rights, and long ago the senatorial situation might have been clarified if the southerners had been willing to accept the federal supervision of such elections, as demanded by the Republicans.

On both sides of the controversy there is good argument. One may with propriety urge that inasmuch as the election of a senator is a selection to a National body, there should be full uniformity in the qualifications of the voters, in all the States, and assurance that the voters should have full and free expression of preference.

On the other hand, the federal government has been long encroaching on the rights of States, and there has been continuous effort on the part of the dominant party to interfere in the State regulations governing the franchise. Federal supervision of senatorial elections has been considered as an opening wedge for further federal restrictions, and on that ground has been opposed by many. The solid vote of the Republicans in favor of the measure is not therefore to be taken as indicating that the Republicans want the direct election. Rather, they would accept it in consideration of securing a hold on the supervision of elections in the Southern and some other States, while the Democratic opposition was not on the merits of the proposition, but was based on unwillingness to thus open the way for that same federal supervision.

THE PUBLIC'S PART.

It was reported that complaints had been made by passengers on an ocean-going steamer because they found the decks encumbered with lifeboats that had been put on the stumps in numbers to correspond with its passenger list. If this report be true, it furnishes an example of irresponsibility referred to the absurd, but one that is seen in a great many branches of activity besides ocean traffic.

OUR CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR.

The Record is by no means a political paper, but rather a paper working continuously for the upbuilding of Vernon and Wilbarger county. Nevertheless, the writer has always reserved the right to express himself upon all matters pertaining to state or nation.

In the governor's race which is best at this time—waxing so warm, we cannot help feeling more than a passing interest. We do not agree with Governor Colquitt on his prohibition policies, yet we will have to admit that that makes no difference whatever as to how we shall cast our vote. This paper has taken the position all the while that it would support the prohibition cause in all instances where it was not connected with the political affairs of the country, but when the prohibition question is thrust into a campaign to the neglect of other questions of state, we shall vote the Democratic ticket and not the Prohibition ticket. We maintain that Prohibition has no earthly connection with either state or county politics this year, as the question was submitted to the people only a year ago and, as we understand it, was settled till the sovereigns of Texas decide they wish to vote upon it again.

The editor of this paper watched Mr. Colquitt during his tenure as railroad commissioner, and we always found him on the side of the people. During his first term as governor, he has perhaps done as well as any man could have done under similar circumstances. He has encountered a stumbling block at each and every step taken, and having come out as creditably as he has, we believe he should be honored with the nomination for the second term, as has been the custom so long in Texas. We shall not attempt to dictate to anyone how he should vote, but yet unless some comes up that has not yet been brought to light, the Record editor, will, through a sense of duty, be compelled to support Mr. Colquitt, leaving other to follow the dictates of their consciences. The political affairs of a state ought not to be overshadowed by any single issue that is not likely to come up for consideration for some years. At least that is our way of seeing it.

SHORT MEDICAL TALKS

BY DRS. DUNCAN & DUNCAN

LECTURE NO. 23, "DOCTORS"

Why are doctors jealous? Why are they ever ready to knife each other? These questions are often asked by the laity. The best reason I can give is ignorance. Because medicine is not a science. The old astrologers were ever at sword's point with each other, because they could not agree as to the influence certain stars had upon the destiny of man. Our modern physician is at cross bones with each other because they can not agree as to the influence drugs have upon the living. The astrologer with his scheme of planetary influences, cast most as good a horoscope as the modern physician does with his drugs and microbes. The Chinese physician makes medicine by stewing, baking, burning rats, bugs, catapillers, and the race has increased for thousands of years. For all we doctors know a tumble bug properly killed and an extract made thereof, would be just as good a medicine as some of the serums we use, and perhaps better. It is this "don't know" that makes doctors unkind towards each other. Every doctor knows that he knows as much about drugs as the other doctor knows, and is just as good a guesser at the patient's ailments as the other doctor, and it makes him peevish to have a professional brother shrug his shoulders and look wise at a patient when he knows—its all bush. When a doctor puts on his sympathetic look and knowing smile after he has smelled and tasted the medicine his professional brother has prescribed—he gets his brother's goat. I know a bone-headed doctor in this town who can not talk ten minutes to any one without telling how much he knows and how little the other doctors know.

Medicine is the least progressive of all science. It is still shrouded with mystery. A few hundred years ago religion was shrouded with awe, it was in the hands of a few, it was considered only a science for priests, too deep for the common mind. It was almost sacrilegious to read the Bible. It was forbidden. It was a power held and swayed by priests and the people were kept in poverty and ignorance. Today religion is free to all. Each man may have his creed.

his thoughts, and worship according to his own belief. He is free to seek his God. When doctors tear off the winding sheet that hides the dead science of medicine, take away its petty schemes to awe and subdue the people, and let the world know its secrets then will medicine become an exact science and doctors will rank along with other professional men in good fellowship. Teach the people how to live—not how to die—teach them hygiene, economy; teach them how to keep healthy, how to avoid disease and then medicine will be a science and not until then.

The doctors are ever ready to cry fake, quack, fraud at every new method unless it is thoroughly soaked in drugs, or has a knife sticking out of it. Some of these dope doctors call us fakes; they can't tell you why—except that we are not members of the local branch of the medical trust. We do not see splitting surgeons. We pay our advertising bills; we do not permit any druggist to pay our office rent; we do not receive commission from any druggist on any of our prescriptions. We are free moral agents—not shackled by petty association, nor ruled by past master quacks from Chicago. These local doctors have splendid grounds for saying anything about our methods.

Look you, at the splendid hospitals, sanitariums, charity clinics they have built here in Wichita Falls by their untiring and united efforts; look what splendid hygienic streets and alleys we have; look at the city dump heap within one block of the main street, and then tell us that the doctors are not fighting disease, scourge and pestilence with tooth and toe nail (not barin). All the sanitary water, sewerage, alleys, trash heaps, hospitals are due to the splendid efforts of the medical trust, that is why they cry electricity, osteopathy, modern methods—that is why our short medical talks are criticised. We will continue to write them and to use modern methods in spite of the dope doctors. Consultation free.

"GREAT SUPPER" SERMON SUBJECT

REV. J. W. HILL DRAWS INTERESTING LESSON AT METHODIST MEETING.

DISCUSSION OF EXCUSES

Various Reasons Given By Mankind For Not Unting With Church Set Forth.

A large, attentive and evidently sympathetic congregation heard Dr. Hill at the first M. E. Church, South, in his exposition of the parable of the "Great Supper," as recorded in the 14th chapter of Luke. Following is a synopsis of the points made in the discourse:

The parable, as originally spoken by Jesus, was intended to justify the calling of the Gentiles into the Kingdom, after the Jewish people had practically rejected their "excuses" for not attending the feast were apparently very trivial; and yet they were not more so than those which people make today for not taking Christ into their lives. The first man, who had "bought a piece of ground and must needs go and see it," fitly represents the young man, having been restricted to the home and the school all their lifetime, excuse themselves from being religious, until they have "sown their wild oats"—until they have gone out to "see" the world; foolishly supposing that a religious life will curtail the number of real pleasures that belong to their age and condition.

The second excuse, that given by the man who had "bought five yoke of oxen and must needs go to prove them," may represent that same character, who, having gone out into the world to "see" it, has, contrary to his original intention, taken stock in it and has become entangled by it. The third excuse, that of the man who had "married a wife and therefore could not come," represents the same class in the last stage, and illustrates their final rejection of the offers of divine mercy. They are "married" to the world.

The necessity, therefore, of choosing Christ early in life was argued from the foregoing consideration and earnestly pressed upon the conscience of the congregation. The meeting was one of the most interesting of the entire series. It is attended by the members of the different denominations of the city and all express themselves as greatly benefited by these plain, simple spiritual exercises.

The meeting at 9:30 o'clock this

PRISONERS PROVIDED WITH SUPPLY OF "DOPE"

Quantity of Morphine Passed into Cell By Someone, But Officers Don't Know Who.

Two dope fiends, one a woman and the other a man, have been making the nights hideous at the city jail for the past several nights. Both are morphine users and after they had been deprived of the drug for about twenty-four hours they began to rave. It was noticed this morning that both were quiet and, upon investigation both were found supplied with hypodermics and a plentiful supply of needles. How they got them is a question that the officers haven't been able to answer.

TRAIN SERVICE BEGINS BEYOND WOODWARD SOON

Tomorrow Will Mark Operation of First Trains on Through Schedule Over Line.

Train service on a regular schedule will be placed in operation between Elk City and Woodward, Oklahoma, tomorrow. From Leedy 171.5 miles north of Wichita Falls into Woodward which is 219.6 miles north of Wichita Falls the trains will be operated by the Texas-Oklahoma Construction Co. Northbound the train will leave Elk City at 5:40 a. m., will reach Leedy at 7:25 a. m., Trail at 8:00 a. m., Camargo at 8:20 a. m., Viet at 9:05 a. m., Sharou at 9:50 and Woodward at 10:40. Southbound the train will leave Woodward at 11:40 a. m. and will reach Elk City at 5:00 p. m. Under this arrangement a passenger can leave Wichita Falls one afternoon and arrive at Woodward the next morning, or can leave Woodward in the morning and reach Wichita Falls the next afternoon.

Between Leedy and Woodward the trains will be operated by the Texas-Oklahoma Construction Company until the extension is turned over to the railroad company. By July 15 it is expected to complete the extension to Forgan when the whole line will be taken over by the Northwestern and trains run through from Wichita Falls to Woodward.

It is hoped by that time that conditions will justify putting the night trains back on and it is probable that the through service between Dallas and Northwestern points will then be resumed.

The Sittng of the Nations

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

"To sit the nations with the sieve of vanity."—Isaiah xix, 25.

The cunning mind and daring hand
Make line and boundary,
Some seek dominion over land
And some would rule the sea,
We barter, bargain, plan, and plot,
We war on kin and kith—
But Caesar is a man forgot
And Pharaoh a myth.

The sand drifts over crumbled heaps
Which hide the kings of old,
The sea, unresting, laughs and leaps—
None knows what it may hold,
What galleons beneath its sway,
What armor gathers rust!
But where is Hiram's Tyre today?
And Darius is dust.

Turn back the leaves of time—each page
Shows tales men thought would live,
Forgotten now, for age on age
Were shaken in the sieve,
Somewhere there lie the palace gates—
What vandals won the throne?
What hid the mighty loves and hates?
Who was the king unknown?

Some seek dominion over land
And some would rule the sea,
But in the hollow of a hand
Lies all of destiny,
The story patiently is wrought
In tomb and monolith,
But Caesar is a man forgot
And Pharaoh a myth.
