It was a long time ago, he lived in a farming community and his home was about six furlongs from the school house, which old, small and gray. About one third of the distance he had to travel to school was down hill, one sixth was level and the remainder was mostly up hill.

It was a dirt road all the way, and mostly clay of a bright yellow color, and was a fairly good road when it was dry but when rain had converted it into mud, it was both sticky and slick. He was about 13 years old, and was above the average in height for his age, which made him look much taller among the other boys at school, and he apparently had paid but little attention during his growth to the other two dimensions, thickness and width, which caused him to look still taller.

His home like most all of the homes in his community, was warmed by a wood fire in a medium sized fireplace, and his clothes like that of many of the other boys, was a pair of homemade jeans pants and a homemade jeans coat, and heavy leather boots.

It had been raining for a few days and the yellow clay road was both sticky and slick, and he was on his way to school. He always started early enough to have plenty of time to reach the school before school had "taken up" for he detested being tardy. Since he had to make one pair of boots last throughout the winter, he must necessarily buy them rather too large so he would not outgrow them before spring, and this fact allowed the toes to turn up slightly, somewhat in the form of a sled runner.

He was going down the steeper part of the hill near his home when one boot slightly stuck in the mud while the sled-runner toe of his other boot allowed that foot to slide on so far in front that he lost his balance and sat down abruptly, but in a sitting posture, in a small pool that had formed where some horse's foot had gone into the mud a few inches and had filled up with the yellow water and the thin, slimy, sticky yellow mud.

He had dropped his dinner pail in the mud and he had to stick his bare hands into the water and yellow mud in order to get himself up again. His clothes were not fine, but the best he had, and he did not like to have them smeared with the yellow mud and water, and it was still raining and he was getting wet and cold, and he could see nothing funny in the situation, so he got as mad as a pod full of cross-eyed peas. His old slouch had had been dislodged by his sudden down-sitting and had fallen top downward in the mud.

Since he thought he had plenty of time and was not far from his home, he turned back to wash his hands and dry his trousers. His hands were soon clean and dry, and he stood before the hot fireplace until he thought his trousers were dry—at least they were hot enough to be dry as he learned when they touched his skin—and he again sallied forth for school, which he reached without any further mishap; but lo! school had "taken up" and he was tardy. But he swallowed his embarrassment and mortification and entered, placed his lunch pail on the shelf with the others and went to his seat.

His tardiness, however, was so unusual, that Miss Mattie called him to her desk to explain why he was tardy, and as he stood with his back to the school and began a recital of his episode, a chorus of audible snickers from the boys and giggles from the girls, which rapidly grew louder until it developed into an unrestrained volume of chuckles and guffaws. He was already ready to sink through the floor from embarrassment, and he turned to see what was causing all this merriment among his fellow pupils, and thus exposed the seat of his trousers which his coat was not long enough to cover, to Miss Mattie's view, and she too broke into a gale of unfeigned merriment. That was more than he could bear. He was accustomed to having the other pupils look at him, but for Miss Mattie to do so, was for him, beyond the limit of endurance. It seemed that he had not given his trousers time to become thoroughly dry and they were still wet and showing the stain of the slimy yellow mud. And as he realized the sort of a spectacle he was presenting, he burst into tears of mortification, rushed to his seat, threw his arms upon his desk and hid his face upon them.

As soon as his tumult of embarrassment had subsided, he thought the matter over and decided he would leave the school at once and never, never enter a school room again as long as he lived, and he began to put that resolve into execution by leaving his seat, setting his pail and hat and heading for the door. However, it seemed that Miss Mattie had surmised his intention and was at the door as soon as he was, and with a gentle remonstrance, he told her his resolution in as decisive language as he could command, which seemed not to be too mild or meek, and asked that she let him out.

She placed her soft, warm arm around his shoulders and in her modest and most sincere tones, sincerely begged his pardon for having laughed at him and promised that she would never laugh at him again. And she never did. She then continued her kind and persuasive pleading with him to remain. She was joined by some of the other boys and girls, who said they were sorry for laughing at him and asked him to remain. They realized that if they left there would not be anything left at school for them to laugh at. He told Miss Mattie and the kids that he did not blame them for laughing, for anyone who had any laugh in them could not help laughing at the spectacle which he had presented that morning.

At that they all laughed again, only Miss Mattie, who only smiled, and by that time the lad was well enough recovered that he laughed with them and returned to his seat. When recess time came, the wet trousers were well dried and the other boys helped the woebegone lad to rub and brush the yellow clay from the seat of his trousers and from the top of his old hat. They were still chuckling but the lad was joining them in their merriment now. One boy remarked to his unfortunate school mate, that he knew he was unusually supple and limber, but he still could not see how he could stand on his head and have the seat of his trousers in the mud at the same time. Evidently that boy never forgot the genuine sincerity and kindness of heart which was possessed by Miss Mattie, which was evidently her crowning virtue. Evidently also, with that boy, she was "tops" ever after.

Well, the above is just an episode in the life of one country school boy, and one which was, by him, long remembered, and which evidently had a sincere bearing upon his character as an adult. Life is filled with episodes, and I know not that any individual life is free of them. And going into a more discriminating or hair-splitting interpretation of the word, it is not too far removed that each life is just one long continued chain of episodes. Some, of course, more poignant and telling than others, thus more keenly felt and remembered by the individual. At least it seems so with me, and it is one of my chiefest regrets that, when opportunity had offered, I have not been so tactful as was Miss Mattie, in changing what seemed destined to be a regrettable episode in the life of a fellow being, into one of fond remembrance. I say happy is he or she who has done so.

A little love, a little trust.
A soft impulse, a sudden dream
And life as dry as desert dust,
Is freer than a mountain stream.

REV. ALLEN TO CLARENDON
Rev. Tommie Allen is to go to Clarendon Monday to assist in their Sunday School enlargement campaign. He will return to Friona on Friday.

REV. AND MRS. WALTER H. NORTH

Rev. and Mrs. Walter H. North To Minnesota Summer Home Last Week

The above is a fairly good picture of Rev. and Mrs. Walter H. North, who made their home in Friona during the greater part of four years, while Rev. North was pastor of the local Congregational-Christian Church.

After spending a week here as guests of their many Friona friends, they departed on Wednesday of last week on a leisurely trip to their summer home at Burtrum, Minnesota. Their first night was spent in the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Lindeman in Oklahoma, on Thursday they journeyed to the home of another friend in Oklahoma City, and from there on to Kansas City, where they will visit with their sons for some time, before going on to Northern Illinois, the place where they had spent their childhood and youth, and after an extended visit with relatives and former neighbors, they will journey on to Burtrum planning to reach there some time in June.

Radio And Television Is Modern Study Club Topic

"Radio and Television" was the program topic for the Modern Study Club meeting recently. Mrs. Wesley Foster gave the history of radio and told what goes on behind the scenes of a typical radio program broadcast. Mrs. Bill Stewart discussed "The Challenge of the New Media—Television."

Jacquelyn, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Magness sang "Dreamers Holiday" and "I Said My Pajamas." She was accompanied by her sister, Deniece.

Dalton Caffey, superintendent of local schools, urged the members and their friends to vote in the school bond election to be held Saturday, March 25. The purpose of the election is to vote a $225,000 bond issue for the building of a new auditorium, gymnasium, and the remodeling and repair of the present grade school building. Mr. Caffey pointed out the increase in number of pupils in the Friona school the past three years, and the probable increase for the next several years. The 1947 enrollment was less than 400 while the present enrollment is more than 500.

The Modern Study Club voted to contribute $10 to the Red Cross drive for funds. A committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities of establishing a student loan fund. Mrs. J. Beene is chairman of the committee.

An arrangement of sweet peas, the club flower, and other appropriate appointments carried out the spring motif. Hostesses were Mesdames Ralph Miller and Claud Miller.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Beene, John Blackburn, Dalton Caffey, Cayce Dunn, Dan Ehrigle, Foster, J. T. Gee, George Jones, Henry Lewis, Harold Lillard, J. G. McFarland, Roy Miller, Ernest Osborn, Hadley Reeve, Frank Spring, Stewart, Steve Struve, Nelson Welch, Otho Whitefield, Miss Lola Goodwine and Mrs. Wm. B. Childress, a guest.

JUST ANOTHER JOB—John Jobe, expert oil well fighter from Houston, stands at the base of a wild gas well at Tyler. The dangerous job of capping the well is just another job to him. Jobe said, "Early efforts to cap the well failed because of the strong pressure. The spray of gas caused officials to evacuate the surrounding area, hoping to avoid a serious fire." (AP Photo)

Chants of The Chanticleer

The things we will narrate in this column this week, did not all happen or go to happen at Friona, but it is all Texas stuff and may be interesting to some of our readers. The paragraphs that are quoted here are sorted out from mail that has been received at the Star office during the past few days.

There is a concern in New York City, known as "Gaines Dog Research Center." Following are a few quotations from a letter received from those people.

(Quote) "The weekly features, "Dog Oddities," which your paper has been receiving regularly for some time, has met with unusual success since its inception about a year ago. At the time we receive the request for the feature from your office, we asked that you send us copies of your paper showing the use of "Dog Oddities," but to now no copies have come to hand. (End quote).

We have no recollection of ever having ordered this feature, and have never used it, hence no copies have been sent. We have wondered if such a feature would be interesting to our readers. Here is a sample:

Copple, Irish terrier, owned by Catherine T. Manning of South Norwalk Conn., helps her Mistress, who suffers from a back injury with the housekeeping, by picking up and carrying things. (A picture of the dog and the lady is shown with the statement). We still wonder whether or not our readers would like it.

The following from the Western Railway Club, Hotel Sherman, Chicago. (Quote) March 29—An industrialist tonight warned before the Western Railway Club, Chicago. (Quote) "The present awareness of the damage that is being caused the railroads by subsidized competition." Speaking before the Western Railway Club, Andrew H. Phelps, of Pittsburgh, vice-president of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, said "unfair competition" can ruin the railroads but not replace them."

From Austin—State Senator G. C. Morris, Greenville, Thursday announced his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor, Senator Morris, 37-year-old Greenville attorney, promised an active campaign, carried on in every community in Texas. There will be other announcements for this office.

The Star office is in receipt of a letter from the Potts-Turnbull advertising Agency, Kansas City, wherein they are offering a 50-50 advertising campaign for the local dealers of the Thompson-Hayward Chemical Co. of Kansas City. Proof sheets for the advertising available on this basis, were inclosed with the letter. The Star will be pleased to contact the local dealers for this company and make arrangements for them to avail themselves of this liberal offer.

Something about Texas Oil business: Texas Oil and Gas operators accounted for 75 per cent for all the new additions to the nation's crude oil reserves during 1949, an analysis of newest reserve estimates showed today. Although Texas operators are suffering from reduced incomes, occasioned by decreased demands for Texas oil at this time, they contributed mightily last year to the development of the state's petroleum resources.

To Aid Texas Crippled Children: More than one million Texans are being asked to buy and use Easter Seals during the rest of March and through April 9. These colorful Easter Seals have been mailed state-wide with a reminder that the sale of the seals represent the only support of the Texas Societies for Crippled Children. There are now 125 counties with local societies carrying out specific projects for handicapped children. Eight of these have been added during the past year. In other counties, aid is furnished through the Texas Society for Crippled Children.

$225,000 Bond Issue Will Be Up To Voters Saturday

Friona School District patrons will go to the polls Saturday, March 25, to vote on a $225,000 bond issue. Voting will be held at the high school.

If the bond issue carries a new auditorium and a new gymnasium will be constructed. The grade school building will be improved and remodeled, too. No raise in valuations or tax rate would be necessary to finance the building program under the Gilmer-Aiken set-up Friona is receiving this year.

4-H Plaque Awarded

The 275 boys and girls of Hall county, who took part in the 4-H Better Methods Electric program last year, had a hand in winning the handsome bronze and green plaque, recently presented to the County Extension Office by Westinghouse Educational Foundation. Hall was selected by the State Club office at Texas A&M College, for doing the most outstanding job in the project. Every year one county in each state is given this recognition.

$30,000. Of the present $150 tax rate 34c would be sufficient to finance the building and repair program.

An increased enrollment in the past three years from less than 400 to more than 500 indicates a definite need for a building program. From all indications the enrollment will continue to increase. There have been nine new pupils in the past seven days.

Plans call for converting the old auditorium into four classrooms. This would necessitate the leveling of the floor. The entire building would be re-floored. Fire-proof cello-tex ceilings would replace the tin ones which are a fire-hazard due to the boards used in putting them up. This new ceiling would make for better heating and acoustics. Rewiring of the whole building and repair of all plaster would be included. Fire escapes from the gym would add safety. The heating plant will be repaired. Redecoration throughout would add to the appearance of the building. The stairways would be removed to a position near the front entrance.

Patrons are urged to vote in Saturday's election. All patrons who have rendered any real or personal property and who have a poll tax are eligible to vote.

City Election Is Scheduled April 4

April 4 is the date set for the Friona city election of officials. Offices to be voted for are mayor and two city commissioners. No names have been filed for these posts. The present slate of officials include Mack Bainum, mayor; and Carl Maurer and Nelson Welch, commissioners.

Election managers will be Floyd Reeve and Mesdames E. J. Shackelford and O. F. Lane. The city hall is the place chosen for the election.

During the time the incumbents have held office many city improvements have been made. These include establishing a city office and the employment of a secretary. The water works improvement project has added a new water well and many new extensions. Several more fire hydrants have been installed.

The $93,000 sewer system was recently completed. Other accomplishments include the purchase of a dump truck, street improvement, fencing, of the

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT HERE SUNDAY

George A. Heath, who was formerly superintendent of the Friona schools, was a visitor at Friona Sunday and favored the Star office with a short visit. Mr. Heath is now employed with the Veterans Administration and is located at Lubbock. He said he was trying to see as many of his old Friona friends as possible during so short a visit. While at the Star office he secured the address of Howard J. Morris, another former citizen of Friona, who is now located at Elk Grove, California.

Miss Lurell McFarland and her college friend will arrive today (Friday) to spend the week end

Friona Woman's Club Meets; Study Health

The Friona Woman's Club met in regular session at the Club House, Wednesday afternoon, with 19 members present. The subject for the afternoon was "Health."

Mrs. John Benger read a paper on "Cancer" in which she mentioned its disastrous effects and efforts being made to discover a cure.

A paper on Arthritis, describing the possible new cure for that dread disease.

Following the program on "Health," Superintendent Caffey of the Friona Public Schools gave a talk explaining the object of the bond election to be held here Saturday for issuing bonds for building a new gymnasium and auditorium for the school. After his explanation of the bond election he urged each one present to give the matter their most careful consideration, then go to the polls and cast their vote according to their sincere sentiments regarding the matter.

How to be a clock watcher- and be successful too!

As a rule, clock watchers wind up behind the old eight ball. But watching a clock or a calendar can also be a profitable little side line for the person who owns U.S. Savings Bonds.

For with every 24-hour turn of the clock, U.S. Savings Bonds get that much closer to maturity—that's the day when you get $4 for every $3 you invest.

So get the clock on your team, starting today. Arrange at the place you work to have more of your income stashed away for you regularly, automatically—in safe, sure U.S. Savings Bonds. Or, if you are in business or the professions, have your bank enroll you in the equally convenient Bond-A-Month Plan.

Then watch the clock all you want.

Census Will Be Biggest Statistical Job In U.S.

A full-scale census of the United States is a gigantic undertaking. Such an undertaking as the 17th Decennial Census, which in reality is a combination of three, namely, the Census of Population, and the Census of Housing, is not prepared for or done overnight.

As a result of the market and business dislocations occasioned by World War II, and the unprecedented postwar prosperity, it is particularly appropriate to obtain a new inventory of the Nation's human and material resources.

Naturally, we are primarily interested at this time in the actual taking of the Census in Deaf Smith County. Mr. Walter S. Shalle, District Supervisor for the 18th Congressional District which includes our County, advises that Mrs. Ruth Gidden of Canyon has been appointed Crew Leader for our County and will be responsible for the actual enumeration. Mrs. Gidden is now attending a six day training school in Amarillo, under the Technical Instruction of Mr. James M. Lindsey from the Washington staff of the Bureau of the Census. There will be several enumerators appointed in this County, under the supervision of Mrs. Gidden. Selection of enumerators, based on qualifications and experience, will be made in the next two weeks. Applications are still being taken for enumerator jobs and persons interested in employment as enumerators should contact Mrs. Gidden in Canyon.

Statistics About The Census

There are 27,518 square miles in the 28 counties comprising this District. There are 18,400 rural public road miles. In 1945 there were 15,717 farms, with 1.17 miles per farm. The 1940 Census showed a population of 239,736 in this District.

The following figures give us some idea of the gigantic undertaking a full-scale census of the United States involves. Approximately 151,000,000 persons will be listed by name; 45,000,000 dwelling units will be listed by address; 6,300,000 farms will be listed by location; 150,000 Census employees will do the big Census job; 140,000 will work as Census takers (enumerators); 8,300 will serve as Crew Leaders over enumerators; 450 District Offices will divide the work; 14 Area offices will oversee the District Supervisors; 70,000,000 copies of about 150 different types of questionnaires, recording forms, manuals, administrative records, etc., will be used in the field offices.

400,000,000 punch cards will be used to record Census facts for tabulation.

15,000,000,000 holes will be punched in these cards for machine counting operations, each hole representing an item of decades, because of the shifting population, some States have gained seats in the House and others have lost. No reapportionment of House seats was made after the 1920 Census, the only decade since 1790 in which this was not done, while after the 1930 and 1940 Census the present fixed number of 435 seats was distributed among the states under what the Congressional Apportionment Statute defines as the "method of equal proportions."

Recommend Iodized Salt

Many people think of iodine as a brown liquid and a mighty good disinfectant rather than an essential food. Small but steady quantities of iodine are needed by the body for normal growth and development, healthy skin and hair, mental alertness, physical vigor as well as a preventative for goiter. The simplest, most practical and least expensive way to make sure that all people, especially growing children, have the iodine they need is the use of iodized salt, says Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College.

She points out that fruits and vegetables grown on iodine-rich soil, seafoods and some drinking water contain iodine but many people lack these sources. There are many large areas in the nation that are deficient in iodine and it must therefore be supplied by other means.

Miss Mason says the USDA, the U. S. Public Health Service, physicians, nutritionists and other groups concerned with national health are cooperating in a campaign to increase the use of iodized salt. She urges homemakers to look for the word "iodized" on the container the next time they buy salt for this is their assurance that they are getting health protection for their families. Only one part of iodine in 10,000 parts of salt is needed for protection and this small addition does not increase the cost.

Iodine is essential for a healthy thyroid gland which in turn affects the growth and general well-being of the body. Iodine hunger is the cause of much fatigue among adolescents, physicians say. The use of iodized salt in areas where goiter was prevalent has proved a most effective means of preventing the disease.

Iodine is naturally present in salt from the ocean and in many local salt deposits in the earth but is lost in refining. Returning iodine to salt, concludes Miss Mason, is similar to enriching flour. Here vitamins and minerals removed from the grain during the milling process are restored.

Final Rites Held Tuesday

Final rites were held in the Friona Methodist Church Tuesday for Richard Rhodus Bussell, 83, who died in his Friona home at 9:45 Sunday morning after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Bussell moved to Friona from Ralls in 1916 and farmed there until his retirement. He was born at Camden, Arkansas January 1, 1865.

He is survived by his wife, Loueva Bussell, and three sons and two daughters. Morley M. Bussell and William R. Bussell live in Friona and Milo Bussell lives in Springdale, Colorado.

The two daughters are Mrs. Pearl Turner, Hereford, and Mrs. Jewell Williams of Washburn, Missouri.

Also surviving are 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Interment was in Hereford's Westpark Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Methodist Church, Rev. Edgar Irvine, who was formerly pastor of this church, will bring the message and show some slides of the improvement program, which has taken place at the Methodist Camp Grounds at Ceta Canyon, near Happy. He is the director and manager of the camp grounds.

The week of April 1-8 has been proclaimed by Governor Shiver as Texas Industrial Week.

Bob Wills Hears Folks Tell Of Hadacol's Many Blessings

Hundreds of folks, who are benefiting every day from taking HADACOL meet at the Trianon Building in Oklahoma City where Bob Wills, famous band leader, and his Texas Playboys broadcast each noon for HADACOL.

"It looks like all my fans are getting wonderful benefits from HADACOL," said Wills. "It is a real pleasure to broadcast for HADACOL because the folks taking HADACOL are so enthusiastic that I feel like I am performing a real service for mankind."

Hundreds have told Wills of the blessed benefits of HADACOL and the following statement by Miss Carol Jean White, 3636 West Park St., Oklahoma City, is a good example:

"One of the luckiest days of my life was when I heard Bob Wills tell about the wonderful blessings of HADACOL. I had lost my appetite, my energy was down, I suffered with gastric disturbances and indigestion. I took the advice of Bob Wills and took HADACOL. I felt better right off and have felt better and better as I have continued to take HADACOL. I now recommend HADACOL to my friends."

Miss White suffered with a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals which HADACOL contains.

A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances. . . . Your food will not agree with you. . . . You will have an upset stomach. . . . You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the result of other causes, they are Bob Wills, famous western music band leader, loves to talk with his fans at the Trianon Building auditorium in Oklahoma City about the blessings of HADACOL. In the picture above Miss Carol Jean White, 3636 West Park St., Oklahoma City, tells Bob how much HADACOL has helped her. Hundreds of folks who are obtaining rich blessings from the precious B Vitamins and Minerals in HADACOL visit Wills each week for his network broadcast, which is originated from WFTL, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma's western music station, and sent over a leased wire to stations, WFLA, Tampa; WFL, Fort Smith; KGLC, Miami, Oklahoma; KLYN, Amarillo, and KWPT, Wichita Falls.

So, it matters not who you are. . . . it matters not where you live. . . . or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering. Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplies the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. Demand the genuine HADACOL. Accept no substitutes.

SIMPLE ELEGANCE KEYNOTES MID-WEST STYLES—The lady on the left chooses rayon crepe for a white blouse with its smart, accoridian-pleated skirt mate, and tops it with a boyish-in-mood bucciner linen jacket. The slick chick in the middle prefers this printed bolero costume in a candlestick print. Mandarin collar, jet buttons and cuffed, three-quarter sleeves. The dress is girdled with a wide, scalloped patient belt. And the stylish individual on the right is wearing the "ensemble look" as interpreted by Chicago Fashion Industries. It boasts a drop shoulder and sleeve yoke effect of intricate cording. The corded trim is repeated on both suit and coat.

Preston Smith, 38-year-old Lubbock business man, entered the political arena this week by announcing his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor. Smith is a three-term veteran of the Texas House of Representatives. He was first elected in 1944 to represent District 19. During his service in the House, Smith has been for four years a member of the appropriations committee. He has also served as chairman of the sub-committee on higher education. He is a firm believer in the application of sound business methods in the operation of the state government.

Born on a Williamson County farm, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Smith, he stayed with farm life until 1931. He is the seventh child in a family of 13 and has six brothers and six sisters.

Much of his career in the House has been devoted to championing the cause of Texas' rural people. He was author of the rural hospital bill and co-author of the rural telephone bill, and also has been active in the fight for farm-to-market roads and soil conservation. Smith has been a supporter of all veteran legislation.

Smith has been a Lubbock resident for 18 years. He has been in the theater business since 1936.

His schooling includes a diploma from the Lamesa High School and a degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock where he studied auditing and accounting.

In 1935 Smith joined forces with another Smith—Miss Ina Smith by name—who is now Mrs. Preston Smith. She also is a Texas Tech graduate, born and reared in the state. The Smiths have two children, Preston Michael, 9, and Jan Lauren, 5. A member of the Methodist
