We note that we've been asked to sit on the Grievances & Appeals Committee of the American Legion Convention next week in San Antonio. Now we would say offhand that someone's on the ball, selecting one from the newspaper profession to hear the grievances! Why we are old hands at this sort of stuff, as is every newspaperman! So whatever the grievance they may present us... surely we have been confronted with it somewhere along the line... you don't have to be nutz to be in the publishing business but it helps.

Caddie: "Please, sir, we left the golf course an hour ago."

"What do you think about the situation at West Point involving the dismissal of cadets for cribbing on examinations?"

Jim Schaeffer: I think you'll probably find forms of cheating in all schools. I haven't really made up my mind about who's right and who's wrong, because I haven't heard all the story yet. There's two sides to the question and you have to have both sides before you can judge.

Mrs. Henry Lewis: I think they should be dismissed. But I think they should have to prove that they were cheating before the boys are dismissed. Of course, some of the boys say that cheating has been going on for years, there, but it's almost impossible to discipline the fellows who have already graduated. I think they probably haven't been strict enough on the boys. I do think that this incident is as much of a national scandal as the basketball fix that rocked N. Y. U.

O. J. Beene: That's hard to say because it is certainly out of my line. I don't know that it is particularly a national scandal. And frankly, I don't know how any of them ever have time to study with all the athletics that they engage in.

Mrs. John Burrow: I agree with the commentator who said, "Let him who is without guilt cast the first stone." I believe those boys should be given another chance. West Point, because it is a military academy is supposed to set an example of a code of honor. Consequently, although the cheating may be as bad in some other schools, it just looks a little worse when it happens at West Point. That's why I believe the boys should get a second chance.

Raymond Adams: Cheating probably goes on in most schools. I've been reading about what's going on at West Point, but I haven't really made up my mind about what I think of it all. I don't think it's going to be a national disaster, though.

Allen Stewart: That's just too far distant for me to worry about; I've got enough worries closer to home. I do think it stands out pretty clearly as a good example of what happens to a school when there is too much emphasis on athletics. I'm certainly not opposed to athletics, but I think they have their place, and I think they should be kept there. Their function is not to take the place of scholasticism, you know.

Californians Injured In Local Car Mishap

Four vacationers, bound for the East Coast were seriously injured in a car wreck about 6:30 o'clock Monday morning four miles west of Friona when the driver lost control of the car which left the road, turned over several times and landed right side up some 100 yards from the highway.

Injured were Daniel Tataseo, 27, who suffered a broken neck, his wife, Mrs. Daniel Tataseo, 26, who received a head injury and lacerations; his sister, Mrs. James Elia, 26, who has multiple lacerations, and his niece, Miss Carmella Alter, 22, who had a comminuted fracture of the right shoulder.

Miss Alter and Mr. Tataseo have been removed from Parmer County Community Hospital to Amarillo, for specialized treatment.

Mrs. Tataseo and Mrs. Elia remain in the hospital here. Details of the accident were not readily available. Mr. and Mrs. Tataseo were in the front seat and she was driving. The other two girls were riding in the back seat. They were not aware that anything was wrong, they said, until the driver suddenly wrenched the car across the road, lost control of it and headed across the fields.

Whether Mrs. Tataseo was dozing or not, has not been determined. She was unconscious for two days following the accident. The party had been driving all night. Passing motorists called the hospital, which sent out the ambulance. They were brought in to Friona for emergency treatment.

Lovelace Recovering From Knifing Affray

Gene Lovelace, well-known Parmer County farmer and elevator operator, was released from the Memorial Hospital in Clovis late today, after being hospitalized as result of stab wounds suffered Saturday.

In an altercation Saturday morning with E. P. Porter of Farwell, Lovelace suffered several stab wounds about the abdomen. Though he was at first believed in serious condition, he was reported recovering rapidly today.

Though Porter was charged with assault with intent to kill, reports were being circulated today that charges would likely be dropped.

Cotton Gin Plans Opening at County Fair Time is Announcement of Owners

Workmen are busy this week installing the smaller machinery at the new gin at Friona, with all heavier equipment already installed and the gin building erected. Manager Wright Williams stated yesterday that work is on schedule for initial operation by September 13, Parmer County Fair time.

"We won't have any cotton until sometime after that date, but we want the plant to be ready and in smooth operation by then, so that we can have our formal opening at Fair time," Williams added.

Located on a 20-acre plot insuring adequate space for storage and truck parking, the gin is reputedly one of the most modern in the country. The owners and installation personnel state that it compares favorably with gins deep in the cotton country. Housed in an all-steel, fireproof building, the Hardwicke-Eiter 4-stand plant will be able to handle 120 bales every 24 hours, the owners pointed out. The big 225 horse-

County School Board Acts on Final Transfers Of '51 Scholastics

County School Board members met Monday at Farwell to take final official action on the last transfer application before the opening of school in September.

Four pupils were moved to Muleshoe, six from Lazbuddie to Farwell, and two from Bovina to Friona.

Deadline for applying for transfers was July 31, according to A. D. Smith, ex-officio Superintendent of the County Schools. These transfers apply only to those students who expect to ride the school buses.

Attending Monday's meeting were Hamlin Overstreet, Farwell; Mat Jesko, Lazbuddie; C. E. Holt, Bovina; and Jim Shaifer, Friona.

Equipment also includes a process drier. All loads will be graded by the government inspector in Lubbock at the Smith-Doxey grading station. Conducted under government supervision, the technical process eliminates the guesswork in grading.

Fifty-ton Newhow 45-ft. scales have been installed to take care of all loads.

Plans are for 12 employees to operate the gin on a 24-hour schedule at peak production time, the management has announced.

Large Scale Planting

With successive wheat failures in the county, and with the government call for record cotton production, Parmer County with its irrigation has naturally fallen into line in 1951 with greatly increased cotton acreage.

Paving Crew At Work As Operations Commenced on Woodland Street Monday

Machinery was moved in, ground broken, and the grading of Friona streets was commenced Monday morning to launch the full-scale street-improvement program that before completion will net over 60 blocks of new paving within the city.

Emphasis was added to the construction activity by a statement today from Dan Martin, Brown and Root Construction Company representative, revealing that over one-half of all contemplated units had been signed up.

Overnight Camp Held By Girl Scout Troop

Members of Girl Scout Troop 11 were entertained at an overnight camp on July 26 celebrating the annual outing as a culmination of the year's work.

The group met at the home of sponsor, Mrs. Frank Spring, and hiked to the roadside park east of Friona, where they had supper, played games and enjoyed a sing song. Then they returned to the Spring home and camped out in the back yard, cooking breakfast outside Friday morning.

These Scouts have finished their second class scout work so the party served as summer entertainment, and gave the girls a chance to put into practice what they had learned during the year about making bed rolls, outdoor cooking and related enterprises.

Sponsors were Mrs. Spring and Mrs. Tom O'Brian. Girls who attended were Barbara O'Brian, Linda Gee, Jan Edelson, Thila Mae Buske, Lila Gay Buske, Billy Ray McKee, Luellen McLean, Judy Barnett, and Bonnie Stars. Mary Tom Spring was a special guest.

Historical Pageant Is Planned by Women at Floyd Schlenker Place

Plans for presenting a historical pageant of Parmer County in the natural amphitheater on the Floyd Schlenker farm near Rhea Community, were discussed Monday afternoon by a group of seven women who form an unofficial steering committee for the project.

Tentative plans call for the presentation to be given in Easter Canyon, and the story of the land will be told in episodes, scenes, music and pantomime depicting the days when Indians roamed the prairies, the first settlers came in their covered wagons, the conversion from ranchland to homesteading and the transition to modern times.

On Friday night at 8 p. m. the committee will meet in the home of Mrs. Wesley Foster and name other groups to draw up more complete plans for the project.

Monday's initial meeting was held with Mrs. Floyd Schlenker, who showed the group the proposed Easter Canyon site.

Although no definite dates have been set, the plans are to present the pageant before the opening of school.

Attending the meeting at the Schlenker farm were Mrs. Glen Reeve, chairman of the Youth Conservation Committee of the Modern Study Club, Mrs. Steve Struve, Mrs. J. T. Gee, Mrs. Nelson Welch, Miss Vera Ann Jones, Miss Raynell Foster and the hostess.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Robason celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a family dinner at their home. During the day a silver service was presented to the honorees by members of their family. Attending the gathering were Mr and Mrs. Calvin Talley, Mrs. Wanda D. O. Jr., and Jim Robason.

Woodland Street, most western in the street improvement program, is being graded this week, and construction officials promise "full speed ahead" activity, with scheduled completion within 90 days.

According to E. A. Carswell, foreman for the construction firm, the working plans call for the excavation of the streets, then pouring of curbs and gutters, followed by laying a 6-inch caliche base upon which the black top surface will be poured.

"Barring emergencies and the hazards of weather, we hope to complete the entire job from excavation to topping in the prescribed time limits," Carswell said.

The asphalt hot mix topping has been labeled by city officials, construction representatives, and the engineers as being the most satisfactory type paving, of much better quality than much of the highway paving.

Currently the only paving within the city limits is the Highway 60 stretch, and the Farm Road 199 serving as Main Street, and the three blocks to the east of the schools. Included in the new program are arterials serving the principal public service buildings, including the churches, American Legion Hall, the Women's Federated Club building, and others.

Foreman Carswell, who comes directly to Friona from his completion of an 80-block paving program at Austin, reports "When this program is completed, Friona is certainly going to have some fine street paving of which it will be mighty proud of for years to come."

Martin is retaining offices in the bakery building for the signing of contracts; machinery and construction offices have been set up two blocks east of the Friona Star office.

Increased Number of Migrant Laborers in Vicinity Impose Problems and Obligations Demanding Early Solution by the Employers and Retail Businessmen

Most everyone is quite optimistic and enthusiastic about the cotton prospects locally, looking forward to direct and indirect benefits

In spite of modern harvesting methods, there is little doubt that a great deal of migrant labor will be utilized in the cotton; these workers, many of them Mexicans and possibly negroes, will leave a considerable amount of money in the community; we have seen evidence of this elsewhere.

BUT . . . there is a distinct obligation on the part of each of us if this migrant labor situation is handled successfully, and now is the time to recognize this, making our plans and adjustments before the problem is upon us.

Adequate housing is a necessity for the large families. And by adequate we mean not only spacious but also sanitary. If adequate sewage and other sanitary measures are not taken, a real health problem will be upon us . . . fast.

Then there is the situation of retail service to the laborers. Will the Mexican be able to secure a haircut or a meal in the vicinity? Whatever your opinion or ours may be, it is inevitable that this problem will arrive with the first cotton picker.

Some of us might be partially correct in saying this is a major problem for the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture; but its a larger program than even that. It must be tackled by every resident of the community, especially those employing the laborers and those serving them in the stores.

Are We a Political Leper?

Several subscribers to this paper have casually and not-so-casually asked us in recent weeks if the Star was a Democratic or Republican newspaper.

Both parties, from the area level to the national organizations have more than adequately supplied us with propoganda and requests for editorial and financial support.

Only this week a letter from a prominent Amarillo Republican patted us on the back for an editorial that were sure "could only be voiced by a true Republican"!

A Dallas publication (anti-Truman) has reprinted some of our editorials.

So what are we?

Dear reader, when any political body, no matter the name, takes a bold stand for true Americanism above partisan, shortsighted, grafting politics, we'll be glad to string a long with that group. Until that time we'll work independently for what we conscientiously believe to be the ideals of our statesmen forefathers who gave birth to this nation and nurtured it in its infancy, maintaining a vision of democracy for a free people.

At this date in the United States melodrama, we cannot believe either of the two major parties are providing antidotes to our ills. We'll admit that back in B. T. (Before Truman) the Democrats were more in sympathy with the needs, desires, and politics of the then solid south. But times have changed, maybe not rapidly, but in such subtle manner that many of us were caught napping. Hardly a day passes but we see manifest some dictatorial edict of this man in the White House to whom one editor has referred as "the man who holds the destiny of the nation in the hollow of his head."

On the other hand, the Republican party has pulled from its bag few new tricks. Until they present an aggressive, comprehensive, modern understanding and platform, we can see no hope for salvation there.

Likely in 1952 there will be numerous coalitions among the small factions and the larger parties. Without doubt, the solid south will waver, and some already prophesy a union of the Southern Democrats and the Republicans.

The Republicans have been quite adept at pointing to the weakness of the present administration. They have called the score almost perfectly. But its rather easy to be a "Monday Morning Quarterback;" we're anxiously awaiting that platform outlining a plan for the future built upon hard-headed economic stability, religious emphasis in deeds above words, and statesmanlike conduct of external affairs, reclaiming for you and for your neighbor the respect of the world.

Other Editors Say Playing Footsie With France Is Latest Of Diplomatic - Political Immoralities

From the Rails Banner

Add to our mounting list of political and diplomatic immoralities the fact that we have just paid a very high price to get in bed with Spanish Dictator Francisco Franco, the international skunk brought to power by the late-lamented Mussolini and the Vatican.

It is safe to say that before Admiral Sherman died this week he concluded an agreement with Franco whereby certain "aids" and comfort from Spanish fascists would be thrown into the war against Communist aggression. At tremendous cost in dollars and the sacrificing of international moral decency, we are acquiring a few mases in that desolate, dictator-ridden land. In return, the swashbuckling dictator will receive billions of American dollars to bolster his tottering domestic economy and to maintain his people as slaves of the state.

Every dictator at one time or another (and this includes Joe Stalin) has been brought to bed by the United States. History records that no (repeat NO) benefit has ever accrued to this country from such clandestine association. What has actually happened has been a loss of prestige and a sacrificing of domestic principles we profess to uphold.

If there is left one dictator with whom this country is not paying footsie, Stalin now expected, let us fervently hope his identity remains a secret from Washington.—Rails Banner.

BANK IS CLOSED DUE TO HOT MONEY

GROESBECK — Possibly the first and only case of a bank closing (temporarily) when all of its money became "hot," occurred here last week. Something went wrong with the air conditioning in the building, which depends entirely upon the cooling system for ventilation. The tellers were hot, the customers were hot, and the money was hot. So the bankers just called it a day, and waited for a repair man to put them back in business.

HE DRIVES NEW CAR FOR FIRST TIME

BELLVILLE—B. W. Schiller, who clerks in a local grocery store, was never financially able to drive anything except a fairly old used car. Currently he has been driving a 1931 model. That is he was, until last week. Then his luck changed. He was the lucky one to receive a brand new 1951 model car given away by the American Legion post of Rockdale.

DO YOU KNOW what date the last session of the Legislature established for Thanksgiving to be observed?

Dinner Honors Mrs. Merrill On 82nd Birthday

Mrs. C. L. Vestal gave her mother, Mrs. Ida Merrill, a surprise birthday dinner Sunday at her home south of town, honoring her 82nd birthday.

Visitors included Mrs. Merrill's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gray of Snyder, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Brewer and sons, Byron and Galen Ray, of Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Vestal and Celia Payne of Friona; and Mr. and Mrs. David Moseley, Jack, and Hugh.

Mrs. J.S. Dickey of Amhears returned to her home after spending the past week in the Arthur Hilton home.

Stating that there was considerable confusion as to which Thanksgiving should be observed by Texans, the Legislature decreed that the last Thursday in November should be a legal holiday beginning in the year 1952. This established the legal date of Thanksgiving in Texas from 1952 forward. For the year 1951 Thanksgiving shall be on such day as shall be appointed by the President of the United States or by the Governor of the State of Texas.

Mississippi Floods Bring Back Memories To 'Uncle John' White, Beloved Founder And Longtime Editor of The Friona Star

By Phyllis Dishman

"This Kansas City Flood was sure bad this year, and I've seen that Mississippi River flooded, so I know what it means," and with that "Uncle John" White leaned back in his chair and started reminiscing about his own life on the Mississippi that sounded like something straight from Mark Twain.

"I had a letter the other day from Chester, that's in Illinois, and that's where I used to live. They said the flood level there on the river gauge was 39.3; highest it's been in 107 years. Didn't do much damage but when the river receded it left 8 or 9 inches of thick slimy mud all over everything. Guess they're busy digging that out now," he decided.

Uncle John was busy filling his pipe. That's a contemplative enterprise because that pipe is two and one half inches long, holds exactly 16 grains of tobacco and 17 puffs of smoke, according to the owner. It was a gift from Mrs. Selma Habbingae. I allus liked small pipes," he remarked.

"Does it have a bite, Uncle John?"

"No, its a mighty civil, friendly little feller," Uncle John decreed.

And so is Uncle John.

He can spiel away stories by the hour, about his days on the river, the lumber barges, the showboats, the daily trivia of life in a by gone era; and he has a whole repertoire of incidents that happened while he was deputy sheriff. He swears he's the only man who ever made an arrest in a prison. And then there's his account of his early days in Texas, and his experiences for a quarter of a century with the Friona Star.

"Those showboats... I remember them well. They'd start out from New Orleans in early spring, and get to Illinois by May or June. They were high class entertainment. Nicely finished inside and very fashionable like the opera houses were."

"They had a good advertising scheme, so we knew when to expect them as the posters blossomed all over town. And when you heard that steam calliope it cast a picnic spirit over the town. You'd think everybody, white and black was there to see a performance."

He recalled the performances given on the 200 foot long boats such as the "Dixie" and the "Cotton Blossom" the plays, the vaudeville acts, the master of ceremonies, and the music.

"Saw an instrument there once, never saw the like of it before and never heard the name of it since. It looked like a series of long silver rods. A man and a lady played it, each wearing a pair of kid gloves. They stroked the rods and the musical vibrations sang out. I don't see how two people could play it and keep crossing into each others part without getting all mixed up, but they did a nice job. Wonder what that could have been."

But for all the asthetic qualities afforded by the river, there were days when it got its dandies up.

"Oh my, I remember some of those high water days. Once when I was a kid I was going out to the wheat field. We cut grain with a binder then, and we had five horses hitched to the stand. It was my job to ride the lead horse and encourage the others to pull.

"There was one place where the river had cut out a channel, but a levee had been built across it to serve as a road. In flood time, however, the road was covered with water, and there were no guide marks to show you where the road lay.

"I was driving up to it, hoping to get my horse across it a" right, when I saw an old negro woman sitting on the fence. She asked me if she could get on behind me and ride across, since she had to go across the river to help a woman do some harvest cooking.

"Course, I was pretty leary of it. I didn't know if I would even make it or not, but she insisted, so she got on and we crept across that eight foot road for about 100 yards to the other side. Made it all right, too."

Now Uncle John has always been a gentleman, he says. He never had a fight because nobody could catch him, he vows, and says his favorite sport is just being one.

So its rather difficult to think of him as a deputy sheriff, but he was for four years in Chester. During that time he had his share of petty thieves, drunks and even two murders.

He was called over to the state penitentiary to arrest one of them and it happened like this. A certain Mr. Johnson, a guard at the pen was going to work one morning when he fell into an argument with one Mr. Moore, a station agent and a popular man in the town. One word led to another and words led to blows and soon Moore was getting the best of Johnson, physically. About this time the prison Chaplain ventured up and was a witness to the rest of the incident.

Johnson, in retaliation, got out his gun and plugged Moore, surrendered to the Chaplain, was taken to prison, where he was held until White could come over from Chester and pick him up.

"There's two sides to every question, but my sentiments were with Moore. He was the most badly beaten man I've ever seen. His jaw was fractured, his eyes were slits his chest was bruised and he was black and blue all over," deputy Sheriff White declared.

On August 16, John will celebrate the 37th anniversary of his coming to Friona. He and his family arrived here in 1914.

Asked where he was born, he grinned, "I don't really know if I was, I don't remember it, but they tell me I was born in Rockwood, Illinois. And you have to have a little faith in people, you know. Rockwood was a good name for that place, too. All you could see there were rocks and woods."

His mother died when he was small, and his father, a farmer, felt he couldn't do justice to the baby, with the long hours he spent in the field, so John went to live nearby with his grandmother an dhis aunt.

On November 30, 1899, while he was teaching school he was married to Miss Florence Simpson and the couple had two children, a boy and a girl. Both are now living in Friona, Mrs. Ed Flippin, and Fred White. Uncle John has one grandchild, John Fred White, 15.

The trek to Texas began even before 1914. In 1908 John White came out to the Panhandle on one of the excursion trips offered by the land companies. They went out to Finley and he purchased a quarter section of land there. Then he returned to Chester where he was working in town.

But both he and his wife were born and raised on farms, and they decided they wanted to go back to the country, so they packed up to move, but at the last minute Mrs. White suggested they just go out to their land in Texas and farm it.

And so the family came. But they didn't move to Finley. "There weren't any schools, any churches, any stores or even any neighbors out there, so we settled in Friona."

One year later they moved into the house where Uncle John still lives. It has now been his home for 36 years.

In 1925 John White assumed editorship of the Friona Star. That was not his first experience with newspapers, for back in Illinois he had worked on the Chester Tribune.

One of the main features of his newspaper was a column entitled "Jodok" and he received many comments on the cleverness and originality of the name.

Actually, he says, it came about like this. "One day Joe Horton, a real estate dealer and Dr. McElroy, one of the early day doctors out here, were in my office talking about some of the things that had happened in the past, and what they thought about it.

"Well, after they left, I got to thinking about what they said, wrote it up for the paper, added my own comments and then had to have a name for it. So I just put Joe with Doc and came up with Jodok."

"I used to hear people arguing about whether it was a Biblical name or not," he chuckled. "It wasn't."

"I never called myself an editor because I didn't want to embarrass the editors of the Press Association," he remarked, "but newspapering is interesting work."

Asked if he believed that you met all types of people in the newspaper business, he replied, "I guess you do. I know a jailor does. When I look back on my experiences, and realized what all I had been through I sure don't want any more of that kind of work, believe me."

Today Uncle John keeps busy with his garden, his writing, his reading and his real estate. He is an avid reader, "I like books and articles that make you think," he says.

And he knows almost everybody in town. He shuffles through his desks, picks up a roll of pictures, and reels them off, all of them his friends, the business men and farmers who have watched Friona grow, encouraged it in its growing pains and smiled with pride at the progress it makes.

The picture accompanying this article is one which adorns Uncle Johns' letterheads, along with his creed of life, which reads: "I owe to my fellowman:

Honesty, verity, lenity and esteem.

I have a right to expect the same from him.

I owe the same and reverence to my God.

I have no rights before Him.

TIDELANDS QUESTION

The House of Representatives wrote history last Monday when it passed the so-called Tidelands Bill by a vote of 265 to 109. The thumping majority clearly shows the attitude of this Congress as being definitely against a central government that overrides states' rights. It also proves that the members of this Congress are not susceptible to the entreaties of propaganda and high pressure tactics of government officials or private interests lobbies. Many newspapers in this section of the country and columnists waged a continuing fight against this legislation, but the legislation passed anyway. The members of this Congress have shown that they are interested in retaining the American way of life and are not going to be swayed from this course by politics, propaganda or pressure. The debate was heated, but the sound logic on the side of the proponents of the bill could not be answered effectively. We hope that this legislation will do as well on this legislative. We hope that the Senate did the House and that the President will respect the voice of the people and sign this bill into law. It will be one of the greatest strides against socialism that could possibly be made.

BUREAUCRACY

Immediately after the passage of the Tidelands Bill, HR 3298, was taken up for consideration. This is a bill to amend the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. It would primarily do three things: 1. Permit prescriptions to be taken by pharmacists over the telephone. 2. Permit refills of certain types of prescriptions without obtaining a new prescription. 3. Authorize the Administrator to earmark drugs that could be sold over the counter and those for which prescriptions must be obtained. Although I had very little correspondence on this bill, many of the Representatives displayed communications from druggists and the American Medical Association opposing the bill, especially that section granting the armarking powers to the Administrator. The debate became very heated on this matter, and finally resolved itself to an argument of personalities, the argument being that Oscar Ewing, the Federal Security Administrator, in whose department we find the Food and Drug Administrator, would have powers that should not be entrusted to any individual. Oscar Ewing is a man who has repeatedly advocated so-called socialized medicine, which explains the opposition to granting him any further powers. The proponents of the bill argued that unless the power to earmark these drugs, approximately 30,000, was placed somewhere, the average druggist would have no way of knowing whether he was violating the law or not until he had been arrested, subjected to criminal prosecution and most of his stock confiscated by the government. Actually, the passage of the bill, with or without the powers in the Administrator, is not going to solve the problem faced by the average corner drug store in the small town. The trouble to be remedied lies much deeper than any of the provisions of this bill go, or any amendments to it, and I so stated to the Congress in this debate. For your information, the entire bureaucratic control situation can be remedied by one action. That action is to do away with the application of the "substantial evidence rule," as has been applied for a number of years to administrative rulings. This rule, in part, says that when an administrator or administrative body makes a finding of fact, any hearing before the courts subsequent to such ruling is confined to the matters presented to the administrative body; that if there is any evidence in the record before the administrative body upon which that body could have based its decision, the courts are bound by the findings of the administrative body and can not overturn it unless they find that the administrative agency acted capriciously or arbitrarily. Actually, this rule places in administrative agencies powers that are not even placed in federal and state district courts and in effect denies an aggrieved party the right to his day in court. I am now working on legislation to remedy this situation, and if we can procure passage of it, it will pull the stinger of the bureaucratic control of our daily lives and again permit us to go to the courts for a proper and just redress of our wrongs.

SOME FACTS ABOUT WHO IS CONTRIBUTING TO COMMUNISM

Congressman E. E. Cox, of Georgia, has just introduced a Resolution to investigate educational and philanthropic foundations and other similar organizations. In presenting the Resolution, Representative Cox gave a discussion of some of the things he was seeking to dig out. He called attention to a number of situations, too lengthy to include in this letter, but I will give you two of them for example. He refers to a Negro poet as follows:

"The Negro poet, Langston Hughes, author of the poem, 'Goodbye Christ,' which urges Jesus to 'beat it' on away from here now, and to 'make way for -Marx, Communist Lenin, Peasant Stalin, Worker Me,' last heard of as a 'poet in residence' at the Rockefeller-supported University of Chicago, was the recipient of a Guggenheim fellowship in 1935, and a fellowships from the Rosenwald Fund in 1931 and 1941. In 1946 he received a grant from the National Institute of Arts and Letters."

He also refers to Hans Eisler as follows:

"When Hans Eisler, brother of the top Soviet agent, Gerhardt Eisler, was about to be expelled from the United States because he was a Communist, Dr. Alvin S. Johnson, then director of the New School for Social Research, intervened and persuaded James L. Houghteling, then Commissioner of the Bureau of Immigration, to let Eisler remain in the United States in order that he might engage him as a teacher in his New School for Social Research. He then secured a grant of $20,160 from the Rockefeller Foundation to defray the costs of a music study project to be conducted by Eisler at the New School. All of this was done with the full knowledge that Eisler was a Communist and in this country to spread the doctrine of communism."

There is much information available on the subject, and I will try to include more of it in subsequent News Letters. I do want to point out that Communist propaganda can not be spread without funds and that these funds are not coming from the poor and middle classes to which you and I belong.

FARM LABOR PROBLEM

We have arranged for hearings on my bill and several other similar bills to remedy the situation which confronted farmers last year in the harvest of their crops. Howdy Neighbor:

INSURANCE RATE

The grading has started for the new pavements here in town. This is another step toward progress in Friona, and it will benefit every one of us in a way that probably very few know about, and that's your insurance rate. The key rate is a charge against the insured in determining the rate insurance. We, here in Friona, as of November 1th were being charged on key rate 63c per 100, but as of July 15th, 51c. We are penalized .03. The new pavement will cut this down some.

The money has been raised and a meeting to purchase a fire alarm siren will be held this week. We are being penalized .05, and this will be cut down.

Here is a resume of the penalties: waterworks, .06; water mains, .10; fire hydrants, .03; fire department, wholly volunteer, .10; fire apparatus, .02; fire alarm system, .05; building laws, .08; streets, .03; conflagration hazards, .09. BUT we do have some credits coming: chemical engine 1/4; methods of fire prevention taught in public schools, .03; arson reward, .02; firemen fire drill school, .03. This may seem very small to one individual, but take Friona as a whole and the amount of insurance in force and figure up the premiums and see what 56c on a $100 would amount to.

REGARDING SUGGESTIONS

Last week's Column Left carried a suggestion from our editor - it was good! In fact, this office received some comments which tell me that his column is being read and answering the questions I wrote on suggestions for Friona, the Chamber of Commerce is now working up a new program of work and it is these suggestions which make this program more effective and the chamber more efficient.

NEW FAMILIES

Have you noticed the new permanent residents who have moved to town in the last few weeks? We are happy to have these people come here and make their home; we want them to be a part of our town and just plain friendly people.

VETCH EXHIBITED

If you have never seen vetch seed and are interested in what it looks like, you will find a bottle at the bank from Steve Struve's farm harvested last week.

Want A Driver's License?

A request has been made to

Mr. A. F. Temple, Drivers License Division, in Austin, for a highway patrol drivers license man to come to Friona at a designated time to give tests. No word has been received but it is hoped that the highway department will find available help to give the people in Friona and the territory this service which is much needed here.

The question of what can be done about our park has come to this office on several occasions; and here is what we have come up with: First, equipment will be donated if there is someone who can run it, to level off the ground. Second, the boys from the S.C.S. will be glad to run grade lines so the levelling will be right for drainage. We have secured catalogues and information pertaining to benches and other equipment for the kids and older folks alike, even to picnic tables and outdoor stoves. What can we do about this project which will benefit everyone?

Benger Air Park has added Mr. Bill Bell to its staff of pilots together with the addition of another airplane sprayer. Mr. and Mrs. Bell are our newest family to make their home here.

Here's a tip on how to cut long distance phone calls to the 3-minute time: buy a 3-minute egg timer and set it near your phone. When you start to talk turn the timer over and as you watch the sand run through, you'll know when the 3 minutes are up. We have one here at the office and it works!

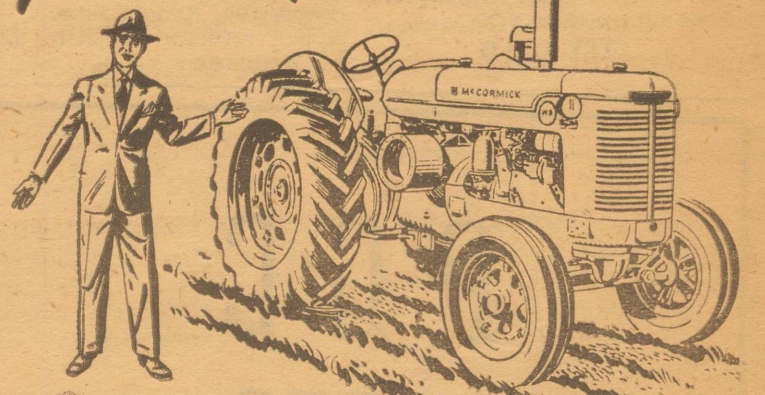

The next meeting of the Parmer County Fair Board will be held on Tuesday evening, Aug. 14th, at the agricultural building at Bovina, to make definite plans for the fair this September 13-15. The catalog has been completed for Friona, and this part of the county, and will be turned over to the printer at this time.

If you have a room for rent, an unfurnished or furnished house, please call the office. We are having calls every day.

The new gin building has been completed and the machinery is being installed and will be ready for operation in the very near future. When you are driving past, stop in and see what a modern, up-to-date gin we have to serve this area.

Daily we are receiving telephone directories from towns all over Texas to build up our library. Should you be in need of a number or other information which can be gathered from this service, feel free to come in and use it.

"THAT I MAY SEE"

Remember the hymn which goes "Open mine eyes that I may see, visions of truth thou hast for me...?" Our forefathers sang it in this country years ago. In the high-powered business world of today, many of us have dropped the responsibility of church to spend time gathering treasures on earth. Your church beckons you this week. Join your friends there to learn more of the teachings of Him who died that you may be saved. This week and every week, attend the church of your choice.

COTTON GIN

ion bale cotton crop in 1952; to get it, support prices of 35c per lb. were retained and all former acreage restrictions were removed. As a result, the present cotton crop is the largest ever planted in Parmer County, with most estimates hovering around 14,000 acres.

About 85 per cent of the cotton planted was Moca Storm-proof, a variety noted for resistance to wind damage; it holds the mature cotton in the bolls until late picking time, rendering an ideal situation for the new mechanical pickers with their once-over operation.

Prospects for the local crop are very bright, authorities note; if the cotton goes ahead and matures as indicated by present condition, much of the land will produce a bale per acre.

A small percentage has been planted on dry land; this is in need of rain at the present time. However, insect damage has been slight, giving the local grower a break.

The trying time for cotton planters is the maturing span between the time of early boll appearance and the first frost, Williams adds, and he states that the cotton crop in Parmer County should be worth about a million and a half dollars this year.

Parmer 4-H Boys Take Baseball Honors at Camp

Thirteen Parmer County 4-H Club boys, together with adult leaders, returned Wednesday from the annual District 4-H Camp held at Lubbock on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

The local boys won the baseball championship for the second consecutive time this year, bringing back the trophy which becomes the permanent property of any team winning it three years.

Eighteen counties were represented at the camp, with an attendance mark set at near 300. Recreation included swimming, baseball, horseshoe pitching, rifle practice, etc.

Noted speakers at the camp included Gib Gilchrest, Chancellor of the Texas A & M College; Dr. Wiggins, Texas Tech president, and G. E. Gibson, director of the Extension Service of A & M.

Attending from Parmer County were Jerry Houlette, Kenneth Ferguson, Vernon Petty, and Leon Massey, all of Friona; Marvin Glen Young and Julius Bradshaw of Bovina, Eddie Bdyan Smith, Lee Dennis Jesko, Jerry Primrose, Frankie Coffman and Donnie Carpenter, all of Farwell; and Robert Ivy and Jerry Gleeson of Lazbuddie. Accompanying the group was Ruel Barron, adult leader, of Bovina, and County Agent Joe Jones.

This Tastes Good in Texas! Lemon Meringue Pie Is Added to Collection As the Star Recipe of the Week

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

1-1/2 cups sugar
7 tablespoons cornstarch
1-1/2 cup boiling water
3 egg yolks
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1-1/2 tablespoons grated lemon rind.

Meringue: 3 egg whites; 6 tablespoons sugar; 1 teaspoon lemon juice, if desired.

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Stir in boiling water, cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Set over boiling water and cook 10 minutes longer. Beat egg yolks slightly; beat in a little of the hot mixture. Then beat into hot mixture in double boiler. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from over hot water. Blend in butter, lemon juice, rind. Cool. Pour into cooled baked pie shell. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar—continuing beating until mixture is stiff and glossy. Slow and complete blending in of sugar prevents beads of sugar on meringue. Add lemon juice at the last. Spread over cooled filling, seal in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 13 to 15 minutes.
