FRIONA, TEXAS, THURSDAY SEPT. 27, 1951

VOL. 27—NO. 9

COLUMN LEFT

There is nothing so powerful as the truth, and often nothing stranger.—Daniel Webster,

CL
The Sunshine Class of Methodist Church in Friona will sponsor a bake sale at the B. T. Galloway store on this Saturday. The sale will commence at 10:00 a. m.

CL
We noticed where the merchants of Dumas already have met to lay plans for the Christmas celebration. The theme of their plans seems to crystallize into a program offering real services and inducements for Christmas visiting and shopping in Dumas. We're hoping increased interest is taken here this year both by the individual merchants and the affected organizations.

CL
The Friona Chamber of Commerce is asking cooperation in the furnishing of the local park with benches, tables, playground equipment, etc. This move merits a mention in our "pat on the back" department, for we believe this project to be well worthwhile and overdue.

CL
We were happy indeed to note at the recent fair how people of the entire county could enjoy the park, availing themselves of its use for resting and for the big barbecue. We just cannot understand any move to auction this property.

CL
This is the time of year when we look at the thermometer in the early morning to remark, "It's colder than that!"

CL
This is the last call for the "Birth?Dated Calendar" for the Friona Community sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the Congregational Church. All names must be in by Sunday September 30th. Anyone desiring their names on the calendar or a calendar should see the chairman of the committee, Mrs. George Treider.

Romich Is Named USO Drive Head For Parmer County

Mr. Al Romich, Friona, has been named Parmer County Chairman for the forthcoming fund appeal in Texas for the U.S.O.

Appointment of Mr. Romich to head the Parmer County appeal was announced by Ben H. Wooten of Dallas, Campaign Chairman of the Texas United Defense Fund Committee and George Hipp, District 5 Chairman of the U.S.O. fund campaign.

In accepting the appointment as County Chairman, Mr. Romich pointed out that Parmer County has a total of 75 boys and girls serving in the armed forces, and that more young people will be called up from time to time as our defense program expands.

"One of our most important civic, patriotic and personal responsibilities is to these young people in uniform," Mr. Romich said. "Through the U.S.O. we have a means by which we can assist in keeping up the morale of our boys and girls and women who are giving up so much to protect our freedom."

Wilkerson Youth Injured in Farm Accident Friday

Junior Wilkerson, 18 years old, was hospitalized Friday after receiving a badly mangled arm when working on a tractor belonging to A. L. Black by whom he was employed.

While dressing a gang of v-belts on a pulley, he caught his arm in some manner, breaking it in four separate places between the wrist and elbow. Black rushed him from the field near Dimmitt to the hospital there where emergency treatment was given. Wilkerson is expected to remain there for about 10 days.

Public Poll

Who is going to win the World Series?

Bill Sheehan: It looks like the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees will play in the World Series and if the Yanks play I'm sure they'll win. I do think the American League will beat the National League. You know, I've been rootin' for the Chicago White Sox for the past five years and they never have made it, so it sure would be nice to see them get to the World Series for a change.

Mrs. Sam Weir: Well, I haven't been keeping up with baseball this year like I generally do, but I'm sure the Yankees are going to win. I'm an American League fan, even if its Detroit, and I don't think Detroit even remembers what a ball game is. But you know, the Yanks can stump their toe, and still just get right up and win a game, even three runs behind.

Ed White: I guess its going to be the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees. My favorite team is the St. Louis Cardinals, but I don't think they have a chance. And I'd rather see the Cleveland Indians win than the New York Yankees, but as usual, I guess its going to be the Yankees.

S. T. Thornton: I'd like to see the Chicago White Sox win, really, but of course, its all tied up between the New York Yanks and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Fred Barker: It its going to be between the Yanks and the Dodgers, like it looks like its going to be, I would sure like to see the Dodgers win a six game series.

John Burrow: I would really like to see Cleveland Indians win, but since its obviously going to be the Yanks and the Dodgers the Yanks will win.

Jack Anderson: I say the Yanks will play the Dodgers and I would really like to see the Yankees win.

Bill Stewart: I think the New York Yankees will play the New York Giants and the Yanks are going to win. Of course, if it could turn out the way I want it too, I would like to see Boston play against St. Louis.

Mrs. Bob Reden of Clovis and David, were in Friona this week end to visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Lawson.

Students Study Annual Layout, Photography

Three high school students, accompanied by Dillie Kelly sponsor of the annual, were in Amarillo Saturday attending an annual clinic sponsored by the News Photo Publishing Company.

The all day session was held at Amarillo College, with a general session meeting in the morning, a special luncheon served at noon in the College Cafeteria and panel discussions in the afternoon.

This clinic is held each year in Amarillo and in San Angelo for the benefit of high school students in surrounding towns who must work on their school year book.

Representing Friona were Don Lewis, Wanda and Zelma Faye Beatty. Don and Wanda worked on The Chieftan, Friona's annual, last year. All the group attended the panel discussion on lay-outs and the sponsor and Wanda attended the discussion of news photography.

Kelly announced that the annual staff for this year has not yet been selected, but students who will work on the yearbook as well as on the school paper, The Arrow, will be named shortly.

Crowded conditions now existing in Friona schools make it impossible for the group to have a place to edit their paper until the temporary high school building is complete.

A picnic for the children of members in the Modern Study Club Tuesday night entertained approximately 70 people at the Women's Club House.

Roasting weiners over a roaring bonfire, drinking pop, and toasting marshmallows filled the evening for the junior guests; yard games were also played.

Each year the club plans a special program for their children, but heretofore the annual affair has been an Easter hunt. Members who have no children are asked to bring young guests anyway.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Tuesday at three in the Womens Club House. Topic for the day will be the Forty Ninth State and appearing on the program will be Mrs. Dillie Kelly, Mrs. Jimmy Tidwell, and Mrs. L. F. Lillard. Hostesses are Mrs. Sloan Osborn and Mrs. Bill Stewart.

Fire Station Bids To Be Taken Soon

Bids for construction of a fire station in Friona will be let quite soon, according to announcement this week by Mayor Mack Bainum. Plans are for construction to begin before cold weather of the two-truck station. The building will be built so that an addition can be added at later date for housing of city offices. Location will be on the city-owned lots just north of the park on Main Street.

Class Officers Named at School

Friona High School Students in the upper three grades have elected their class officers for the 1950-1951 school year.

Senior Class officers include Arnold Fangman, president; Wayne Cribbs, vice-president; Sue Jones, secretary and Wanda May Beatty, treasurer.

In the Junior Class officers are president, Johnny Parker; vice-president, Doris Barnett; and Joyce Ann Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Band Was Fair Guest

Members of the Friona High School Band spent Tuesday in Amarillo as guests of the Tri State Fair Committee, participating in the celebration of Fair Week in conjunction with other high school bands over the area.

The group, accompanied by Director Earl Hise, left Friona about 8:45 Tuesday morning by bus, and arrived in time to parade down Polk Street about 10:30 a. m., accompanied by a police escort. After marching and playing in town, the group was taken to the fair grounds where they spent the day. They returned home about four o'clock.

School was not dismissed for the Tri State Fair, but several students attended the event during the week.

Superintendent Dalton Caffey said the band and pep squad would also go to Anton Friday night to support the Friona Chieftains in the football game.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Wendell Bedichek of the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association has investigated all phases of the local option elections to be held this Saturday, and he has compiled the following specific information regarding voting in Parmer County.

This election will decide whether the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 shall be created, with Parmer County a member.

We are re-printing Mr. Bedichek's outline verbatim inasmuch as technical points of the program could well be mis-constructed by any change in explanation phrasing.

CROP Program Initiated Locally

A group of Parmer County Citizens met in the court house at Farwell Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock to lay plans for organization of a CROP unit in Parmer County. Joe Jones, County Extension Service Agent served as chairman of the convening committee meeting as Mr. W. E. Fisher, Texas CROP Representative outlined the operation of the unit.

CROP means Christian Rural Overseas Program, and is operated by Church and Civic Leaders as a receiving and shipping unit for raw product contributions to be shipped overseas and distributed to the needy people over there. Commodities from this area will go to countries of the Orient unless contributors specify other areas for their gifts. Local Elevator managers have agreed to cooperate in handling grains for shipment free of charge.

Church Ministers and laymen of the county will meet in Friona Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m. for the election of officers who will promote the work in Parmer County. Joe Jones, scheduled to be out of the county, appointed Raymond Euler to act as temporary chairman at the organization meeting.

Those in attendance at the convening committee meeting in Farwell were: Joe Jones, County Extension Agent, Rev. Hurst, Methodist minister of Farwell, George Meyer, Congregational minister of Friona, John Aldridge, representing Farwell C of C, Wilfred Quikell, Vocational Agriculture teacher in Farwell, Loyd Brewer, County Clerk, Raymond Euler, County Farm Bureau Service Representative and W. E. Fisher, State CROP representative.

Visiting in Hereford on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Thornton and son, Steve. They were guests of Mrs. Thornton's sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Dub Reeves.

Monday morning a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Terry. The baby weighed seven pounds. His grandparents are Mrs. Rosa Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. P. A.

Add to Water Conservation
Resident owners of tax-rendered property of Parmer County will cast ballots Saturday in local option elections to decide whether each voting district shall become a part of High Plains Underground Water District No. 1.

There will be three voting places where two ballot boxes will be located—one for ballots cast by residents of the respective cities and the other for those cast by person residing outside of limits of the cities.

The two-box voting places will be Friona American Legion Hall, Bovina American Legion Hall and the court house in Farwell. A single ballot box for other living outside of an incorporate town will be at the Lazbuddie school.

To determine whether one is entitled to vote he should refer to a complete description of boundaries of the proposed district at the county clerk's office.

Voting will be done in all of four and parts of 17 counties. The district may consist of all or any part of that territory, depending upon the number of voting districts that return a majority in favor of creation of the District.

Only parts of the 17 counties lie within the District because its boundaries must be the same as those of the underground water reservoir, as it has been defined by the State Board of Water Engineers. That is the reason why voting precincts will not have the same boundaries as in general elections.

Only those voting districts which return a majority in favor of creation of the District will be parts of it. A city or the portion of a county outside of a city or cities—either or both—may be in are out of the District because of the local option method of holding the election.

The movement for creation of a political subdivision for conservation of irrigation water has been led by Plains farmers. They organized as the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association to combat persistent attempts to establish state control of underground water.

A trend toward Federal control of this water has gained much momentum, these farmers point out. They cite this as another reason why this step should be taken to fix manage-

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING . .

. . for the use of the Public forever . . .

So reads the deed of Block 50 in Friona, referred to as the "City" Park or the "County" Park . . . the land under the trusteeship of the Commissioners of Parmer County, the land which that commission has announced would be sold within 60 days at public auction.

We have ceased to become excited over the pronouncements of the state-line boys. Announcement was made from that far sector of the county some weeks ago telling of the Soil Conservation Office having already been moved. It had not been, as was duly pointed out in the Star, the Parmer County paper that took care to investigate with the proper authorities before transferring the allegations to print.

Should a tract of land be left my son for his education, certainly the whole community should severely censor me should I turn that property at profit for my personal and selfish gain. Of course such a hypothetical case, not so far apart from other instances we know, would be illegal in the first place. And certainly I could not walk down the streets of Friona or through the courthouse corridors down at the county corner, looking my constituents in the face.

We need go into little explanation of the park case, for other county-seat news gatherers have done a satisfactory job reporting the action of the commission. Understand - this viewpoint is taken because THEY, the commission, is taking the action. We're merely observing, for within the law we need do no more.

Actually, this is the situation to date:
The park is being surrounded by pavement.
This was not done in a haphazard manner, or without due investigation of proper procedures. The county of Parmer was assessed for the paving costs.

The County Commission, in September 10 meeting, entertained a motion by Commissioner Day that the county meet this bill. The motion died for want of second.

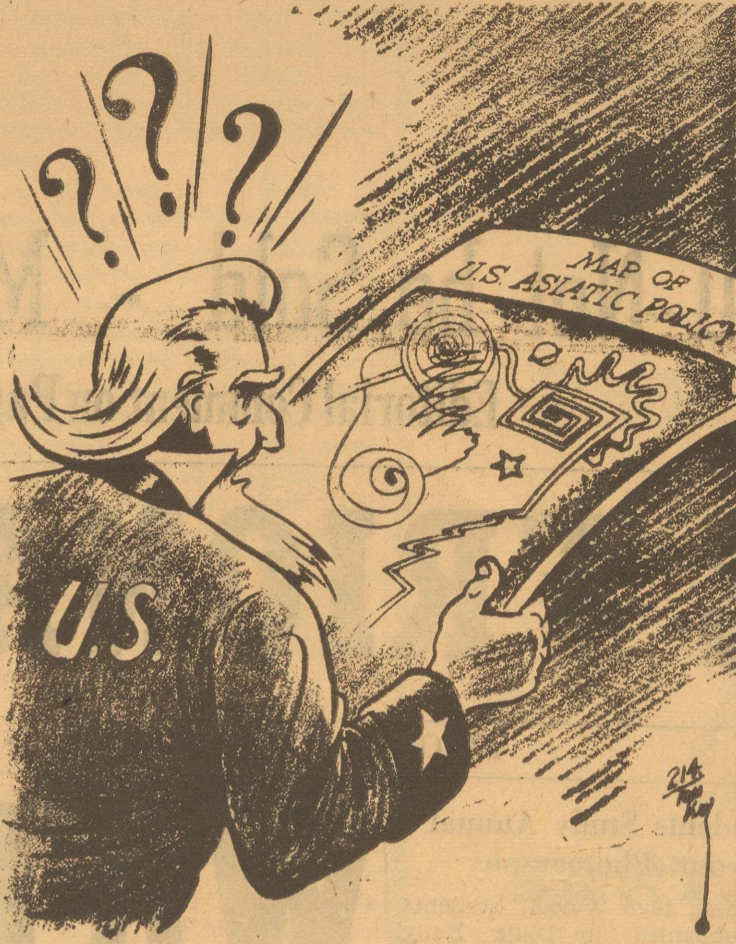

Commissioner Jefferson made a motion that the county appoint a commissioner to sell the property at public auction. This was carried by a 3 to 1 vote.

The park has not been sold. The Soil Conservation offices were not moved.

So friends, especially those of you whose son's and brothers' names are emblazoned upon that soldiers' monument in the park, we hardly believe that monument will be relegated to any junk heap, being replaced by a commercial edifice erected by any mercenary bidder at the county's invitation.

This editorial was written after discussion with the City Commission of Friona, and after assurance from an impeccable source that the park would not be sold to private enterprise.

The Law and You By Robt. (Bob) Kirk

DO YOU KNOW what legislation the last session of the Legislature passed in regard to treatment of alcoholics in State Hospitals?

The last session of the Legislature recognizing that there is a pressing need for hospitalization and treatment of alcoholics, passed an act authorizing anyone who was a bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas for twelve months prior to making application for admission to a State Hospital, and who was suffering from the disease of alcoholism, and was not charged with criminal offense, should be eligible for admission into, and care and treatment in, any State Hospital authorized by law to care for and treat mentally ill persons. This permits the voluntary application of such persons for admission into a State Hospital. It is necessary for the person seeking admission to the hospital to secure a certificate from a reputable citizen of this State, who is a recovered alcoholic, and also by a reputable practicing physician licensed to practice medicine in the State of Texas, each of whom shall, by written statement, certify that to the best of his knowledge and belief that the applicant is an alcoholic and is in need of hospitalization and treatment.

Any person admitted to a State Hospital under the provisions of this act shall be cared for and treated and shall be detained as a patient in such hospital for at least ten days after his admittance. No patient admitted to a State Hospital under this act shall be treated and kept in such Hospital for a period in excess of ninety days from the time of his admittance. If the patient on being admitted to the hospital does not have sufficient funds to pay the charges for his maintenance at the hospital, he shall still receive full treatment. If the patient does have funds with which to pay for his maintenance and care at the hospital, he shall be charged the same rate other patients are charged for maintenance at the hospital.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON THIS SUBJECT, SEE YOUR LOCAL ATTORNEY.

Legumes Feed Soil with Nitrogen at Low Cost

Shropshires Thrive on Clover in Virginia.
What is a bushel of legume seed worth? A merchant would say it is worth what a customer is willing to pay for it. Put the farmer who has done a little figuring has found out for himself that a bushel of alfalfa, red clover, sweet clover, ladino clover or other legume soil building seed is worth many times what he pays for it as a nitrogen fertilizer plant and restorer of organic matter in the soil. During recent years, farmers have convinced themselves that mineral fertilizers will return three to six dollars for every dollar's worth they use. Although some have used chemical fertilizer for years, it has been only recently that farmers generally have accepted the liberal use of fertilizer as a wise farm business procedure. Likewise, farmers have grown legumes for various purposes for many years, but few have yet accepted as good business the practice of seeding a legume crop at frequent intervals in the crop rotation to increase the nitrogen supply in the soil. This benefit is reflected quickly in bigger crops of corn, cotton or other grains after the legume is plowed down. At the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio, for example, sweet clover as a green manure has increased corn yields as much as 37 bushels to the acre. At average prices this would return $15.00 for each dollar invested in sweet clover seed. In a North Carolina experiment, an adapted legume plowed under for corn gave about the same yield increase on an acre as 90 pounds of fertilizer nitrogen. This amount of nitrogen would cost about $14.00. Winter legumes for green manure in Southern states have increased corn and cotton yields by 60 to 65 per cent. The return from money invested in legume seed to establish a strong hay or pasture or for a green manure crop to be plowed under is profitable enough to justify seeding legumes frequently and regularly in the crop rotation. A plentiful supply of reasonably priced sweet clover, ladino and other legume seeds suitable for hay, pasture or green manure plantings in 1951 will make extensive seedings of legumes more profitable than ever. A dollar for legume seed will return $5.00 to $15.00 worth of nitrogen fertilizer a year later. If hay or pasture crops are taken for two or three years, a high nitrogen feed crop is gained each year, in addition to the nitrogen obtained when the land is plowed for row crop.

Rhea Community Dubbed Outstanding In Both a Rich History and in Present Farming, Social, Religious Activities

By Phyllis Dishman

Behind every successful enterprise, there has to be an idea, and quite frequently, particularly in the early days of the west, this idea was also an ideal. So it was with the community of Rhea, founded by farmers who wanted land they could care for and pass on to their sons, who wanted a free country where opportunity was all they asked, and where they carved out character along with Faith as they raised their family, their crops and their livestock.

Tucked into the northwest part of Parmer County, it is a snug little farming area still striving to maintain its identity while all about it the once integrated rural communities merge or decentralize.

And it is succeeding remarkably well, for there is a definite personality about Rhea, constituted of neat farm homes, well organized agriculture programs and a social and religious life that centers about the neat, white Gothic designed Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

And it has character, too. Character that is the product of years of faith, years when farmers held tenaciously and stubbornly to their land in the face of hardship and struggle, years that they now placidly refer to as "the bad years," but their surface calm conceals the real memories.

Rhea Community, today, is a prosperous, settled community, carved out of ranchland and drouth ridden sod, carved out of hopes and dreams that finally knew fruition. It is a symbol of Faith.

BUT NO REDSKINS

It's citizens are first generation pioneers. They remember well the trials. But their philosophy is keen. "No, it wasn't exactly easy, but we thought we were lucky there weren't any Indians around," seems to be the stoic answer.

The history of Rhea stretches back to about the turn of the century. Then, the approximately 100 square miles that make up the community were divided between the Rhea brothers ranchland and the XIT holdings. The Rhea boys had placed some of their land for sale with the S and W Land Holding Company which was selling it for nine dollars an acre in 1906, at $15.00 in 1916.

Enterprising land agents had invaded Fort Wayne, Indiana, talked a group of industrious German-descent farmers into investigating the possibilities of lush Panhandle plains.

EARLY PIONEERS

And so it was that the Reinkings, the Gallmeiers, the Droeges, Schroeders, Schlinkers and Shultz came, saw, bought and eventually conquered.

It was between 1906 and 1910 that most of them drifted out here, joining the Walz family from Arcadia, Indian; Will Schumms from Ohio, and the Porths from Kansas.

Here they met to fight together the hazards of building a house, drilling a well, growing a crop, raising a family, creating a life. In comparative isolation, they were all new to the land, miles from supplies, from doctors, from everything but a church and a friend.

Today the community encompasses about 40 families on its 100 square miles of land, many of them represent three generations in a family that is still farming the same land. Many of the families have intermarried, and both of these factors help account for the strong community spirit prevailing there.

But, like most stories of pioneers, the first years were discouraging. Those people had to meet and control the problems of drouth, bugs, prairie fire. The beautiful grain crops which the land agents showed off so proudly began to look suspiciously like experimental farms; it was the same old story of a Paradise forced to meet reality face to face. Some of the families, discouraged and broke, went home to the Middle West but there were those who stayed.

And what was life like? Well, truly it was the era of the independent, staunch, anti-socialist thinker. There were no subsidies, no guarantees, and quite frequently no profit.

Farming was a heart breaking experience. Those men of the soil, born to the settled farmland of the Middle West were used to established ways of farming. As Mrs. Charles Schlenker pointed out, "Nobody that came down here knew what would work."

EXPERIENCES TEACHES

Here they discovered their standby tools would not do. Grains grew too tall, moisture was too light. They deserted their breaking plows and rollers for listers. They had only draft animals to help them farm a half section or a section of land instead of 40 or 80 acres. It took time; but they learned.

Some investigated the possibilities of ranching. They could buy cattle below the breaks, purchase yearling calves for $12.50 and sell at a remarkable profit—but their were deadly quirks in the cattle market.

Water was a big problem. Even back yard gardens on whose success even subsistence sometimes depended, had to be irrigated. They experimented with tiles laid three feet deep, like pipes, through which the water seeped and nourished the plants. For doctors and dentists it meant either a trip to Hereford or Clovis or using homemade medicines. Every housewife kept a supply of the old standbys horehound roots, sassafras bark, hard rock candy, whiskey, mustard for plasters, turpentine and lard.

There were no roads in the area, transportation was by horse or horse drawn buggy. You could drive from Friona to Rhea and stop for only three gates.

was eliminated, the citizens began to get their mail out of Bovina. Charles Schlenker delivered the mail on Monday and Friday. Mrs. Schlenker always left a light in the window for him, so he could find his way home easily after those deliveries, and the neighbors for miles around would know mail was on its way.

AND PARTIES, TOO

Of course social life was a community affair, and it centered around the church and the school.

Community parties included sing songs, box socials, pie suppers, special holiday parties, Christmas programs, a community tree and sometimes even amateur dramatics. The women had sewing bees and later meetings of the Home Demonstration Club to spark their social activities. Bridal showers were always given and the entire community attended and weddings were gay occasions.

These activities, perhaps more than any other feature, show the foundation which Rhea has laid. Even today community looked forward to by all the families. Although the school has now been disbanded and the children ride a bus into Friona, the gatherings are still gala and everybody comes.

Perhaps the secret of the integration at Rhea lies in the influence—which the church has had upon all their lives. Each

When the Rhea postal office Sunday for weekly services and each special festival day the church is opened, not only to members, but to all the citizens of that community, regardless of their denomination.

Mrs. Herman Schuler who was formerly a Gallmier, recalls the first time she attended church in Parmer County. It was the first Sunday after the family arrived here, on February 3, 1910, and although they were still unpacked and unsettled, the family dressed and attended church. There was no church building there and no pastor, but services were held with the same reverence and devotion, although it convened in the parlor of the residence, a square table was used for a pulpit and the speaker was Pastor Lohman, who drove 30 miles from Hereford in a surrey to deliver the message.

In 1910 the church was built. The S. and W. Land Company donated 40 acres and $1,000 to the project. The men gave their labor, hauling material from Friona. Then the Lutheran pastor from Fort Wayne, O. E. Schmidt, came down to Texas to serve his flock.

That church served, almost without repairs until 1946 at which time it was remodeled. Now the pastor, Rev. Litchmann lives in the five room manse next door, and serves the Lutheran churches at both Rhea and Hereford.

Today Rhea Community is one of the most surprising rural areas in the entire Panhandle. It is marked by beautiful homes, all of them neat and friendly, many of them elaborate and

Not just the cleaner you use every day, but vacuum cleaners made before 1912? Even before 1908 would be better. The engineering division of the Hoover company is trying to augment its unusual collection of "ancient" vacuum cleaners which go back to about 1870. They include some of the weirdest contraptions outside of Rube Goldberg. Three of these recently purchased are shown above. If you have one for sale write to R. L. expensive. The grounds boast trees, lawns, flower and vegetable gardens. There is evidence of a great investment in modern farm machinery, all aids to running a large scale farming operation with a minimum of effort. But shining in its midst is the slender gothic spire on the Lutheran Church, still leaning down on its own people, representing the Faith which the citizens of Rhea so readily acknowledge.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

Congress is looking forward to an adjournment within about two or three weeks. Frankly, I doubt the advisability of an adjournment this year, even though it would give an opportunity for the members to get back to their homes and visit with the people. Personally, I want that opportunity as much as anyone, but there is much legislation in the mill that needs early attention and I hope that it could be attended to before adjournment this year. There are several legislative matters now pending that would be most beneficial to the farmers and would not involve one cent of cost to the taxpayers. This legislation is important because the harvesting of many crops is now underway and the legislation is not passed this year, its benefits will not be available until next fall. There are other legislative matters concerning small business that should be attended to as quickly as possible, and I would like to see these measures brought to the floor and debated before the first of the year. If they are pigeon-holed until after the first of the year, they could easily be lost in the great mass of legislation that comes before every Congress and must be disposed of during the early part of the session. Some of the pending bills are aimed at marked curtailment of bureaucratic and agency controls, and there is no better time than the present to pass these measures. Some of the matters concern the rights of veterans and should be acted upon with the greatest possible speed. However, it appears that adjournment is in the immediate future and it will be impossible to forestall it.

I certainly would not want to see this Congress adjourn without final action being taken on the Tideland Bill. That fight has been long and hard, and I want to see the Senate pass this piece of legislation by the same majority percentage-wise as did the House. Such action by the Senate would almost insure passage over the President's veto in the final analysis.

TAXES:

The talk about more taxes is completely out of the question as far as I am concerned. I have stated publicly, and I repeat that the American taxpayer has reached the saturation point in taxation and there is only one way for taxes to go from now on—that is DON. A great many of the members of the House with whom I have discussed the matter are in complete concurrence with me, and I do not believe that any measure for additional taxes would have even a remote chance in the House of Representatives. In fact, I doubt, seriously that it would ever be forwarded out of committee. If additional funds are needed, which I doubt, they should come from savings in non-essential Government expenditures rather than from additional taxes.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER

Much has been said about the centralization of power in Washington, and the people from our section generally are violently opposed to such centralization, as any staunch believer in the Democratic form of Government should be. There is a lot more to the problem than just being for or against centralization. I want to give you one example of how centralization can be brought about and the people will not realize it until it is upon them. Whether or not a particular field of endeavor, whether it be in agriculture, industry, or otherwise, comes within the confines of interstate commerce depends in many, many situations upon the decisions of the courts. The courts are to some degree influenced or bound by the decisions and findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the particular field of endeavor in question is held to be within the definition of interstate commerce, then that particular field of endeavor is subject to the regulations and laws of the Federal Government. These regulations and laws would not be applicable to that particular field of endeavor or that business if it were engaged solely in interstate commerce, that is, commerce wholly within the state. The interstate status has been extended to farmers in the production of their crops, and has been extended to many small businesses that are suffering from such interpretation. This procedure can take one business at a time, or one field of endeavor at a time, and eventually have practically every business or activity in the United States earmarked as being in interstate commerce and therefore subject to regulations and laws administered out of Washington, D. C. This is very dangerous and I call it to your attention briefly so that you may maintain a watchful eye, should efforts be made to bring your business or your activity within the confines of interstate commerce. It may appear harmless to you at first, but I warn you not to be misled. This is only one of the many methods that could result in centralization of power in the United States.

WATER MEETING

ment of a conservation program at the local level.

Voters will decide Saturday whether the Board of Directors shall be given authority to levy a tax not to exceed five cents per $100. Temporary directors of the district, all of whom are irrigation farmers, have stated that a tax of but 2½ to 3 cents per $100 will be sufficient.

The tax will be on renditions on the County rolls. It will be assessed, and collected by the assessor and collection of each county.

On Saturday a Director will be elected in each of the five precincts. On a permanent basis the directors will serve overlapping terms of three years.

Purposes of the District are:

1. To prevent waste of water and assure that it is used for purposes beneficial to the owner thereof.
2. To recognize individual ownership of underground water.
3. To make a systematic search for a practical method of reaching the underground water reservoir from the thousands of lakes that form on the Plains. It is an unchallenged fact that the water table is falling. Engineers and geologists declare this water could easily be returned to the reservoir for future use. They report that nearly six feet of water will evaporate from these lakes every year.
4. To place in the hands of local people regulations to prevent waste instead of allowing control to be taken by the State or Federal agencies.

The District will have no authority over wells used exclusively for domestic and stock raising purposes, or over wells that cannot produce more than 100,000 gallons daily. Owners of non-irrigation land voted into the District will have it excluded from it and made exempt from taxation. Rights of cities to acquire land for expansion of water supplies will not be affected.

Frionans Placed On Water Board

Bruce and Raymond Parr of Friona have been appointed as an advisory committee to the temporary Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water District No. 8888 by Jess Osborn of Muleshoe, temporary director of precinct 3.

All of Parmer County is included in the proposed district, which embraces an underground water reservoir as defined by the State Board of Water Engineers. All or part of 21 Plains counties is in the district.

The temporary board was appointed by the State Board to serve until permanent organization of the district. The temporary directors voted, said Osborn, to have each of the five name an advisory committee of one or more for each county in his precinct.

Osborn said the advisory groups will assist in providing complete information on all matters pertaining to creation of the district and the provisions of the law under which it will operate. After its creation, it is intended that the county committees will advise the Directors on all matters pertaining to management of underground water.

VOTE SLATED

Qualified voters who own property in the district and who also live within it will vote on Sept. 29 to decide whether it shall be made a political subdivision for underground water management. At that time the voters will decide whether the directors shall be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed five cents per $100. They also will elect directors to serve until the second Tuesday of January, 1952. Directors elected at that time will draw straws to determine lengths of their terms—one, two or three years. Thereafter, an election will be held each year to
