Column Left...

The open date on the Friona football schedule, next week-end, has been filled - there will be a game played here Saturday night against the Clovis "B" team.

CUB SCOUT PACK WILL MEET NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT.

Rev. Pogue has a good idea regarding a slogan for our area. He says that a slogan should be both "catchy" and based entirely upon the truth, and so many new residents are moving here, some appropriate slogan could be built around the fact that "more people call this home every day."

Speaking of homes - several new ones are nearing completion in Friona this week. Among them are the C. L. Lillard residence, C. W. Dixon home, and the Jimmy Baxter and Bill Cogdill houses.

"He worked his way through college, As heroes often do. Now he's back where he started, Working his son's way through!"

There's been considerable talk and agitation for street and house numbering in Friona. We have worn out a few fonts of type (more or less) plugging these needed improvements, and we are happy to note this week that something is going to be done.

The Progressive Study Club has taken street marking and house numbering on as a project for this year - and though we don't know the details yet to be worked out - we commend this group for their enterprise and we're sure that they will see the job is done. Hats off to the women again!"

Thanks to a good Bovina reader for writing us this week. The reader called our attention to the fact that some names had been omitted on the fair contributors list.

We checked immediately with fair secretary Euler and he tells us to his best knowledge all names were included in one of the last two issues of the Star - some being printed in each issue. We rather surmise that the reader overlooked this division of names; we hope that is the case, for we certainly appreciate the support of our Bovina friends and co-workers, and we believe Mr. Euler can say the same.

Hope this clears this up. Bill McGlothlin has a last-minute change in his show schedule, the late picture "Kangaroo" being substituted for the usual Friday-Saturday picture. Maureen O'Hara, Peter Lawford and Richard Boone are starring in this picture.

Mrs. T. W. Collins of Canyon visited over the week-end in the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spring.

Area Is Favored In Monday Rainfall

It's commonly agreed: .80 inch rain, falling gently, can make a lot of difference where no moisture has fallen for months. The Friona area benefitted Monday from that amount of moisture falling through the day and night. Over an inch was reported in the Lazbuddie area, with all parts of the county receiving appreciable amounts.

Irrigation Well Permits Subject County Meet Water Meeting Is Called at Bovina

A county wide underground water meeting of Parmer County farmers has been announced for next Monday night at the Bovina School Auditorium. This meeting, called by county committeemen Parr, Euler and Caldwell, is intended to learn from farmers what regulations, if any, are desired for issuance of permits for drilling of irrigation wells. Permits will be required beginning February 1, 1953. It is the desire of county committeemen that every person interested in irrigation be present to participate in this discussion. Thursday, at Hereford, the committee will be called upon to present Parmer farmers' views, and they desire to know what they want.

The Friona Star— Editorially Speaking....

"A vigilant press has made the American people the best informed in the world."

Monday Morning Musings...

Still we get letters with the writer asking for their publication, yet not signing his or her name.

We like to publish letters - but we just cannot do so when the writer will not affix his name. The particular letter we have in mind, now lying on our desk, is signed "A Citizen for Decency" and discusses recent appearance here of a clergyman advertised as a former Catholic priest. The speaker was presented on a Sunday afternoon in the local school auditorium, but was not sponsored by the school we understand, but by a religious group, that properly announced the talk in a paid ad in this paper.

We personally do not favor any written or spoken word that would tend to dis-unite this community. We try to refrain from such in our columns, and we believe the citizens of the community in most part feel the same way - for "a house divided against itself cannot stand." And in the case of speakers, we only regret that the limited seating facilities of the town cause many functions to be held in the public schools that otherwise would be held in the various churches, Legion Hall, etc., for it is only human to associate meetings with the house in which they are held.

But we do want to say "thanks" for a well-written letter, our unknown reader, and we hope you will write again sometime, signing your name.

WE STILL BELIEVE THAT GRAFT, GREED AND CORRUPTION LEADS

From
The Canyon News

We have not changed our opinion. The mess in Washington should be the primary issue in this national campaign. The charge of greed, corruption and graft should be sounded throughout the nation.

While it seems that the administration is making an effort to clean up the mess, Truman insists that there is no mess in Washington. Just how much he will be able to fool the people is another story.

Will Stevenson continue the work of cleaning up Washington? Is he so close to the Truman administration that he will shake in his shoes every time Harry comes around with a suggestion? Will he allow the gamblers to continue as he has in Illinois?

As we see it, you cannot vote for Governor Stevenson without approving the graft, greed and corruption of the Truman administration.

From WILLCOX (ARIZONA) (8-29-52) ARIZONA RANGE NEWS (IND.) SAYS:

... It is the theory of this writer that the people, all of us, are to blame for the excessive spending by government agencies. We all yell to high heaven for government installations, (and we surely have our share in Arizona), and we grab every federal dollar that we can get—witness our schools, etc. We doubt that Governor Stevenson has turned down any federal money allocated to his state. General Eisenhower has been the spokesman for the defense spending and his financial chairman, Paul Hoffman, was director of the Marshall Plan for European and foreign aid when it was at its highest. It is highly possible that overseas aid can be cut soon no matter which political party wins. But as long as Russia menaces we simply cannot do much about defense spending.

Thanks to Bill Cogdill for bringing this old newspaper clipping to us. Wanted: Proficiency In Popular Skills, Printing Included

So you wonder why printers are scarce? Here's an interesting editorial comment on the skilled labor problem as written by the Tulsa Herald editor. And he should be qualified to discuss the printer situation - our printer went to work for him last week after reading paragraph 2 of the following:

HELP WANTED: SKILLED

A basic weakness in the youth of our generation was revealed to us in three situations during the past week or two. That weakness is the lack of the American desire on the part of youth to learn a trade, to become skilled in some activity, to feel that he is an expert of a kind in some field.

We were looking for a linotype operator. To more than one operator we offered as much as $100 a week. Only to get the cold shoulder. Many were mediocre operators, but they could demand top wages because of the scarcity.

Time was when a skill was prerequisite to almost any job that amounted to anything. Only persons who performed unskilled duties were tramps, feeble minded, illiterates, or persons who because of economic misfortune could not find work in his trade because of an over-supply.

But today, unfortunately, we're raising a generation of unskilled young people. People are not learning a trade or profession because of poverty, or inability to learn but because they can make just as good wages performing unskilled duties.

"Why spend four years in college preparing to teach," they argue, "when I can step right out of high school and earn almost as much as a public school teacher?"

"Why spend several years becoming proficient in a trade when I can make just as much doing farm work or working in a filling station?"

The three situations, referred to in the first paragraph were these:

Glenn Osborn, chairman of the Swisher County Hospital board was in to discuss the perilous conditions at the hospital due to the shortage of registered nurses.

"One shift does not now have a registered nurse," he said. "If the present trend continues, there is danger that our county hospital may have to close for want of registered nurses."

Meanwhile, Supt. Swinburn of the public schools was lamenting the fact that some basic courses cannot be offered this year because no teachers are available. It's virtually impossible to find a math teacher. Almost as scarce are music and science teachers.

Here are three golden opportunities for the young man or woman looking for a well paying, respectable profession. Young men and women from any economic background can learn to be a nurse or a linotype operator without having to invest much capital in their training. Most any shop would be glad to train a linotype operator and pay him good wages while he learns. Nursing schools have attractive propositions which they make to young women. Almost any bright school graduate can work his way through college and prepare himself for the teaching profession.

What better social security could a person want than a skilled trade at which he can work during all his productive years?

Someday ditch diggers, lawnmower pushers, and other laborers classed as unskilled are going to be a dime a dozen. Then it will be that the sheep will be separated from the goats. Then it will be that a person will be paid for skill. Many are going to be caught short. Many who have passed the age of learning will find that it is to go back and learn a skill.

We do not mean to cast any reflection on unskilled laborers. Any work that is honest is honorable. Many persons because of choice or necessity will never rise above the unskilled level. But we would admonish every young man or woman to make the most of his ability. Ditch digging may pay as much today as school teaching, but time will come when it won't. A store clerk may be able to earn as much today as a registered nurse, but consider the rest of the story.

Becoming skilled adds to national as well as personal resources.

—Tulsa Herald.

THE AMERICAN WAY

WASHINGTON AND— "Small Business"

—By C. WILSON HARDER

The controversy over the 400 page Federal Trade Commission report on worldwide oil monopoly, released to the Senate Small Business Committee continues to draw the top billing in Washington.

As it appears now, the basis for the worldwide oil monopoly by which five U. S. and two British companies control the major share of both reserves and production, was started in the U. S. in the mid-thirties.

Around 1936, the report states, under the guise of conservation of oil, Congress passed an act permitting states to control oil production.

At that time, as now, more oil can be produced than can be consumed. However, Congress was stampeded into passing the necessary legislation as a means of saving oil.

Actually, the result has been somewhat different, FTC says.

Oil production has been slashed, it is found, when prices go down due to ample supply and before the law of supply and demand reduced prices.

The FTC reports that there has never been a real shortage of petroleum. For example, the committee quotes January and February 1947 when Eastern homeowners froze because of a supposed heating oil shortage.

At that time the major oil companies had in storage 220 million barrels of oil which could have been refined by the independent refiners. They were seeking work, because enforced by National Federation of Independent Business curtailment of production kept them from getting crude from independent producers.

The only way that the independent refiners could get any of this vast supply was to agree to exorbitant terms set up by the major companies holding the surplus, in an oily version of the dog in the manger story.

Without the government giving power to control U. S. oil production, it is held doubtful that the present international oil cartel could have been built. The FTC report states that "conservation" was the missing link that was needed by the major U. S. companies to forge themselves into a world cartel.

The report further states that when government acts to curtail production, it breeds monopoly.

For this reason, one of the solutions of the present scandal brought about by the release of the FTC report after months of secrecy, will possibly be legislation removing all legal restrictions on oil production.

It is not believed that if oil prices go down due to the collapse of monopoly pricing control, that everyone will rush out and buy an extra automobile in order to use more oil.

But such a move, coupled with strong protection of independent oil producers and refiners through the application of the anti-trust laws, might result in the public having a wider choice of brands, grades and prices on gasoline and oil.

Perhaps some Congressmen have over simplified the problem but here is their feeling on the entire oil situation.

"There is no oil problem that a little, free, independent oil fashioned competition won't solve".

The Law and You

By Robt. (Bob) Kirk

DO YOU KNOW the effect of the Workman's Compensation Act upon the rights of employees injured in the course of their employment?

One of the leading cases decided by the Supreme Court on this question sets out an excellent discussion of this matter. The Supreme Court in discussing the Workman's Compensation Act as it effects the rights of employees injured in the course of their employment states, "Its theory, as it concerns them (employees), is that the plan of compensation it provides for their injuries suffered in the course of their employment is more advantageous than a suit for damages. In the latter, the employee is compelled to assume the burden of establishing that his injury was caused by the employer's negligence or the negligence of a servant for which the employer is responsible. His suit fails if it is subject to any of the common law defenses, that is if his own negligence was the proximate cause of the injury, or if the injury was due to a risk he assumed, or the negligence of a fellow servant. By the act a fixed compensation is payable to him upon the mere happening of any injury in the course of the employment, or to his beneficiaries in the event of his death from the injury, without reference to any negligence on the part of the employer or his servants, and without regard to defenses available to the employer at common law."

The law requires, that the injured employee should give notice of his injury in duplicate copies, one to be sent to the Industrial Accident Board, and one to his employer, or his employer's Insurance Carrier, within thirty days after the accident in which his injuries arose. Every employee who is injured in the course of his employment, and expects to receive compensation for this injury, should see that such a notice of injury is prepared on the proper forms, and forwarded to the Industrial Accident Board and his Employer or his Employer's Insurance Carrier, within the required thirty days. The employee must also file a claim for compensation within six months after the date of the injury on the proper forms. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON THIS SUBJECT, SEE YOUR LOCAL ATTORNEY.

Remember the bowl and pitcher sets of by-gone days? If you're lucky enough to still own one of the prettier sets here's how to put it to good and glamorous use: Plant the bowl with a variety of small green plants, leaving space in the center for the pitcher. Then in the pitcher arrange philodendron or small ivy.

Homemakers who prepare lunch boxes daily will appreciate this sandwich filling which can be made up in quantity and refrigerated for at least two weeks: Blend 1 cup ground cooked ham with 1/4 cup real mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon mustard-with-horseradish and 1/2 teaspoon grated onion.

Women are going to love the new Fall fabrics not only for their good looks but because so many of them are washable. Examples are the velvety-soft cotton flannels and the cotton herringbone tweeds.

Top your ice cream sundaes with this scrumptious sauce: Over boiling water melt 6 ounces of semi-sweet chocolate. Remove from heat and quickly stir in 6 tablespoons of soft vitaminized margarine, stirring until melted. Place over hot water until ready to serve. Makes about 1 cup.

Sliced or diced zucchini, raw, is a delicious addition to tossed vegetable salads.

Grass Roots

Had a fine trip through Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and some other sub-urban states of Texas and can truthfully say that the fine people who have migrated here from these places have a right to be proud. However the best place we saw on the entire trip was Hereford when we pulled in. It will be of interest to a lot of people to know that the wind blows in areas other than the Panhandle of Texas. I did not have to eat much dust but the breeze really did mess up television in Salt Lake City for a couple of days.

Seems that quite a story circulated while I was away. I traced the tall tale down and was horrified to find that I had started it myself. The sum and substance is this: Five acres of irrigated carries three hundred head of cattle. I really slipped on this somewhere! Howard seeded a twenty acre pasture last Fall and did not put any cattle on it until early this summer. The pasture divided into five acre plots and when he turned the stock in the grasses and legumes were waist high. Three hundred head didn't make a dent on the five acres so he pulled them off, bought a hay bailer and went to work bailing grass hay. As a result he put right at 1900 bales of high quality, grass-legume hay in his barn. He has been using the 20 acres of pasture all summer and will have a barn full of hay for supplementary feed this winter. Now the question arises, "Why didn't he turn in on the grass earlier?" Truth of the matter is he didn't need the pasture. He had seeded hairy vetch into corn in June, filled up a couple of pit silos with corn ensilage which he fed all winter, turned the cattle into the vetch in April

Lawn Seedings—Now is the proper time to seed that lawn. Again a mixture of grasses and legumes has given the best results, although straight seedings of Kentucky Bluegrass, Bent grass, and Bermuda make a nice lawn during the season in which they are apted to produce. Dollar Spot and brown patch have beat up quite a number of lawns in the area, but we feel sure we have the material now to stop these killing fungi. Remember too that a lawn receives more severe punishment than a pasture being grazed by too many cattle so fertilizer is necessary to keep the old homestead looking green and pretty.

TEXAS-BORN IKE
...a man of integrity

He is the Choice of Texas Democrats for President!

Texas Democrats for Eisenhower!
That is the rallying cry of Texans who believe in the traditions and time-honored principles of the Democratic Party — but NOT in the policies and practices of Trumanism.

We are the Texas Democrats who have studied the candidates and platforms of the two major parties and are ready to announce: "We like Ike!"

We are the Texas Democrats who feel that best interests of our party, our state and our nation would NOT be served by another four years of Trumanism.

We are the Texas Democrats who stand ready to carry out the mandate of the State Democratic Convention which on September 9, 1952, resolved: "It is the recommendation of the Convention that every Democrat in Texas vote and work for the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower for President and Richard Nixon for Vice President."

If you, as a Democrat, feel as we do — join us! Be a Texan — not a Trumanite . . . Vote Ike!

TEXAS DEMOCRATS FOR EISENHOWER

I am a Texas Democrat for Eisenhower, and I want to work in my community to elect him. Please send me further information.

'Political Year' Issues Enumerated by Congressman

QUESTIONS IN THE MINDS OF THE PEOPLE

Although there is much opinion of the United States, in my opinion, are doing some deep thinking about the issues being presented in this election year. Certainly this is true in the 18th District of Texas. My mail and the many verbal inquiries addressed to me on my recent trip to the district are conclusive proof upon which I base my opinion. For instance, much has been said about the dangers of the so-called "filibustering. Under the original rule, debate could be limited by a two-thirds vote of the Senators present and voting. However, in 1949 changes were made so that limitation of debate could be imposed only by the vote of two-thirds of all Senators. This meant that a Senator, by absenting himself from the Chamber, could have the same effect on permitting unlimited debate as if he was present and voted "No" on a motion to limit debate. At the present time debate can be limited or halted only if sixty-four of the ninety-six Senators vote to so limit it. The great interest on this particular matter is caused by the controversy over civil rights legislation. Should the rules be changed so that a bare majority of the Senate or two-thirds of those present could invoke cloture, it is highly probable that much legislation would be brought to a direct vote on the Senate Floor, including civil rights legislation, FEPC, statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, and other highly controversial measures. I have always supported unlimited debate in the Senate and will continue to do so. Debate is limited in the House of Representatives, for the reason that there are so many members it would be impossible to properly attend to business without some limitation on the amount of time each member can talk. However, the smaller membership of the Senate provides a forum in which all segments and phases of legislation may be thoroughly and completely discussed and debated without undue delay in legislative processes. The unlimited debate in the Senate provides a safeguard against legislation passed too hastily in the House of Representatives and without sufficient discussion and debate. True government by the people demands that expediency yield to a full, thorough and competent understanding of the issues involved in the laws passed and the possible effect of such laws upon the people to be governed thereby.

QUESTIONS ON FEPC

Many people have asked me about FEPC and what the party platforms said on the subject. The truth is that neither the Democratic nor the Republican platforms mention the initials FEPC or the exact phrase, Fair Employment Practices Commission. The Democratic platform called for "federal legislation to secure to everyone the right to equal opportunity for employment." The Republican platform advocated "federal legislation to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices." Most of the people here consider this as a good example of "the same tune with different words."

OTHER QUESTIONS:

Space will not permit me to go into detail on the many other questions that are being asked, but will list for you some of the subjects that the people are vitally interested in from a factual standpoint: The Taft-Hartley Law, the Social Security legislation, the proposed health insurance program, the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, the Hatch Act (this concerns political activity of federal employees), the lobby groups and their activities, and many other questions, including many direct ones about the Constitution. One man stated that he had heard that the President and Vice-President could not come from the same state and wondered if this was a matter of law or politics. It is a matter of law. In fact, it is controlled by the Twelfth Amendment to the Constitution, which specifies that the President and Vice-President may not be inhabitants of the same state.

YOUR DUTY TO VOTE

Many people say that they have only one vote, and certainly it could not change the outcome of an election. However, such is not the fact. It is everyone's duty to vote. Many elections have been determined by one vote, in fact, so many that there is not enough space here to list these elections. I will point out, however, that from 1949 to 1952 there were 17 tie votes in the Senate on important issues. On eight of these issues the Vice-President cast the deciding vote. It was his vote on such a tie that established the Special Committee to Investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce. On 24 other votes in the Senate the matter was decided by a single vote. The Alaska statehood bill was recommitted to the Committee in 1952 by a single vote. In 1950 the Korean Aid Act was defeated in the House of Representatives by a vote of 192 to 191. Don't fall in your duty to your country and your fellowman. Exercise your right to vote.

HELP THEM LEARN

When boys and girls begin to wonder about the greatest mystery of all, who created them, and why, parents and teachers sometimes are confronted with difficult problems. Their own conception of God and the purpose of life may be satisfactory as far as they are concerned, but they may be hesitant about conveying it to their children, or unable to do so. Always ready to come to their assistance, if given the opportunity, is the Church, the center of religious life in the community, and the interpreter of divine law for the individual. Children need the Church, but the Church also needs them, for the boys and girls of today are the Church of tomorrow.
