

Friona Student Elected To Area FHA Office

Gay Cass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenyth Cass of Friona, was elected to the area FHA office of reporter at the Saturday area meeting of that organization in Lubbock. Gay also is reporter for the Friona Chapter.

Forty girls from the Friona FHA attended the meeting; official registration figures revealed that 2,170 FHA girls and 173 chapter mothers wedged themselves into the Texas Tech gymnasium for the sessions. The local group was accompanied by Mrs. H. T. Magness, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mrs. Ray Landrum, Mrs. Kenyth Cass, Mrs. Claude Osborn, Mrs. J. T. Gee, Mrs. Sloan Osborn, Mrs. Lyndon Sanders and Mrs. and Mr. Dillie Kelley.

Gay Ann McFarland outgoing president, presided over the entire morning session.

Dr. E. N. Jones, Texas Tech president, gave the keynote address of the day. Miss Esther Sorenson, area FHA Advisor, directed the meeting and other program features included a talent show with each club presenting a stunt. Friona was represented by Eugenia Landrum who performed the Charleston dance.

Canyon was chosen to be host city to the 1954 area meeting.

Lunch was served the Friona group on the campus at Sneed Hall. Mrs. Sanders, Gay Ann, Gay, Zelma Beaty and Jane Phipps drove to Lubbock Friday afternoon and spent the night. The remainder of the group went down on the school bus Saturday morning.

The Boy Scout organization cleared $140.00 Tuesday night at the Scout-sponsored show. This money will be used to send a boy from the local troop to the National Jamboree to be held in California in June.

Local television set owners report spasmodic reception of the Amarillo KGNC-TV test pattern that went on the air this week.

Most local dealers have a selection of sets on their floors, and local sales are expected to increase rapidly with the actual program broadcasting to commence next Wednesday at Amarillo.

It's kite flying time again, and time for a lot of fun by the youngsters if they observe a few simple rules, mainly on STAYING CLEAR OF HIGH-LINES.

The Star is in receipt of the following note:

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the 160 parents who visited the grade school during School Visitation Week, and we extend an invitation to visit with us any time.

Reddest and brightest thing in town is the rebuilt auxiliary fire truck. Firemen have been busy for some weeks constructing this new unit on a late model chassis to replace the ancient model so familiar here. The new truck will prove invaluable for calls into the country. Firechief Charlie Bainum says, with a greatly increased water-carrying capacity.

You just can't get ahead of the local fire boys - anywhere.

Mrs. Lucy Jones, manager of the local Credit Association was in to call our attention to a bill to be introduced in the Texas Legislature designed to cut costs and save time in small claims law suits. The legislation in effect would establish small claims courts in Texas by designating justices of the peace as small claims judges and setting forth procedure for the trial of cases in justice courts. The bill also provides for limiting costs and attorneys fees and providing for early trials. Under the proposed system, a JP would have authority to take a complaint, notify the party or parties involved, and set the trial date from five to ten days after filing the complaint. Loan and collection agencies could not make use of the procedure under terms of the bill.

"A Newcomer's Tea" was given by the Progressive Study Club Tuesday night at the Club House. After the business meeting a program was given. Don Lewis sang two songs accompanied by Denise Magness. Easter decorations were used. There were nine guests. Mrs. Patsy Tally was hostess.

Lions Club Was Organized, Bovina

Several members of the Friona Lions Club and their wives went to Bovina Tuesday evening to attend the Charter Night and Ladies Night program of the Bovina Lions Club.

Guest speaker for the program was District Governor Buff Morris of Canyon who also presented the charter. Special music was given by students from the Muleshoe High School. The Farwell Lions Club presented the Bovina Club with the Lion emblem, and the gong and gavel were presented by the Muleshoe Club.

Attending from Friona were Messrs. and Mesdames W. A. Foster, Dudley Robason, Bill Stewart, Glenn Reeve, Joe Douglas and Hank O'land.

Otho Whitefield Named Association Inspector

Otho Whitefield, prominent Columbia sheep breeder living southeast of Friona, has recently been named an inspector for the Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association of America. Whitefield already is a director of that national association.

Inspectors for the association actually are the "work horses" of a selective registration program wherein 3,320 Columbia sheep now are culled and registered.

Rural Phone Exchanges Complete; Line Staked, Some Phones Installed

The staking of lines of the West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative has now been completed in Parmer County.

Four exchanges are to be located in this county as follows: Parmer, 3 miles north and 7 miles west of Friona; Hub, 3 1/2 miles south and 4 miles east of Friona; Tharp, 3 miles north of Bovina; and Oklahoma Lane, 1 mile northwest of Lariat.

The four exchange buildings have now been completed. These structures are 12 ft by 20 ft and are made of preabricated steel, and they are easily recognizable by their vivid green color. The equipment, manufactured by the North Electric Company of Galion, Ohio, has been placed in all of the buildings except Oklahoma Lane, and it is expected shortly. A team of installers is expected from the factory soon to put this equipment into operation.

The contractor for the pole lines, Thompson, Haight and Keister of Oklahoma City, have set the poles in the Friona area and they are now digging the holes in the Bovina area and will shortly move into the Oklahoma Lane vicinity. The wire and cable crews are completing their work south of Hereford and will move into the Friona area next week.

Two crews of two men each, headed by Bill Hampton and H. R. Hellman, are installing phones in the area at present. Their work is almost completed in the Friona area. These crews will not install phones while the resident is away from home but will continue to call until someone is at home.

The Parmer and Hub exchanges will connect to the Friona exchange, Tharp to Bovina, and Oklahoma Lane to Farwell. Negotiations are now underway, as they have been for the past year, with the General Telephone Company and the Mountain States Telephone Company for this extended area service. Directories are being printed; however, the exact date of putting these phones into operation cannot be set at present. Late May and June are the expected dates. The Board of Directors and employees of the Cooperative are just as anxious as the customers to get these phones into operation as quickly as possible, a spokesman for the organization said.

Questions concerning this telephone service should be directed to Mr. Robert Bell or Mr. George V. Stambaugh at Box 753, Hereford, Texas.

Farm Bureau Report

BY RALPH SMITH

Rhea Farm Bureau, one of the most active locals we know of, had Mike Pavalus, hospital technician, out to their monthly meeting last Friday night to type the blood of their members. This is a commendable service for any group to perform. A life is often saved in an emergency when it is already known just who can furnish the needed transfusion. Charlie Calaway is president of Rhea Farm Bureau. Thanks to Mike, too, for this off-duty service.

G. A. Dietz of Happy is a member of the State Farm Bureau Irrigation Water Advisory Committee. In Olton last week he asked elected officials of Water District 1 for advice in handling pending legislation in Austin. Local Farm Bureau members are urged to present suggestions on this or any other subject to the county directors for consideration. You can run your own business by using your organization strength in such matters.

There is no direct connection, but all County Farm Bureau offices in the district are assisting farmers in securing permits for irrigation wells. Nearly 200 approved permits are on file in the Parmer County office in Friona.

Mr. R. D. Flesher, who is farming the former C. P. Warren farm north of Bovina, is the latest new resident of the area to take advantage of Farm Bureau services.

The Farm Bureau Queen contest to be held in September is expected to arouse wide interest. If the queen selected from Parmer County wins in the district, she will be entitled to an expense paid trip to Mineral Wells in November. If she wins there, she will go to

(2) Monetary and fiscal policies which will contribute to the maintenance of a more stable general price level must be used effectively. (3) Government policies which tend to place agriculture at a disadvantage with the rest of the economy must be corrected.

The pollsters forever and eternally find ready subjects for their probings, and today we received a questionnaire asking: "Would you favor Ike in an election now over the probable Democratic nominee?"

Possibly an interesting question but a bit early in the administration, its very suggestion benefiting no one, and all in all about as useless as rain gauges in Death Valley.

Probably this year will be no exception; little will be said about our school board election until the last minute - then there'll be considerable discussion and possibly some names filed for the two positions.

If you have a genuine interest in the schools, we hope you will give serious consideration to serving on the school board. We are not alone in believing these offices to be among the most important positions in this or any community - a responsibility and a privilege not to be ignored or lightly considered.

Let's see several names on the ballot.

Needs Patching

WASHINGTON AND "Small Business"

—By C. WILSON HARDER

British Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, for the second time in a few months is a U. S. visitor. The purpose of the visit, it is said, is to talk over mutual problems with President-elect Eisenhower.

The time has come, many feel, to clearly analyze just what this mutual problem with Britain entails. Of the half billion allocated to European aid during this fiscal year by the Mutual Security Administration, over half has been allocated to the United Kingdom.

However, information received now indicates that even Churchill and other European leaders think that the continued American dollar give away plans are getting to be ridiculous.

The new plan, now finding favor among the monopoly industries of Europe is for a much bigger giveaway... the giveaway of the American market.

In short, here is the proposed. The Congress of the United States should reduce substantially, and in some cases, remove entirely, import tariffs.

There will be a great debate on import duties, far greater than these of many years ago.

The picture is not pretty.

With the U. S. Marshall Plan, and other aids, billions in production machinery and raw material have been shipped to Europe. Most, if not all of this, went to the big European monopolies who have increased their production 40 per cent or more above prewar standards. Now, they have a surplus of manufactured goods.

They are eyeing the rich American market as the area in which to dump these goods at low prices.

Neither is there much limit to the price level to which these goods can be sold because a large share of the raw material was donated by the U. S. taxpayer, and the labor received low European wages.

Neither have European governments curtailed big monopolies so that small business could create employment to develop a healthy home market. Not too long ago, William Foster, former head of the Marshall Plan, in a public address, pointed out that the failure of all U. S. relief plans is due to the refusal of European nations to adopt a free economy system, bulwarked by anti-trust laws.

This principle should be plain.

Yet, surprising as it may seem, there will be a lot of support in Washington to reduce tariff duties. These supporters comprise a strange alliance. Some of them are the professional "do gooders" who wax eloquent about the beauties and joys of one big happy family all through the world. The other part of the team are those with European subsidiaries, or other arrangements. They can see bigger profits made on their European production than with their domestic production. In other words, they are in a position of "heads or tails" they win.

The forthcoming Great Debate on tariffs will affect everyone, labor, farmers, independent manufacturers, and even the retailers.

U. S. taxpayers have given Europe billions. Now they seek the carcass, hide and tallow.

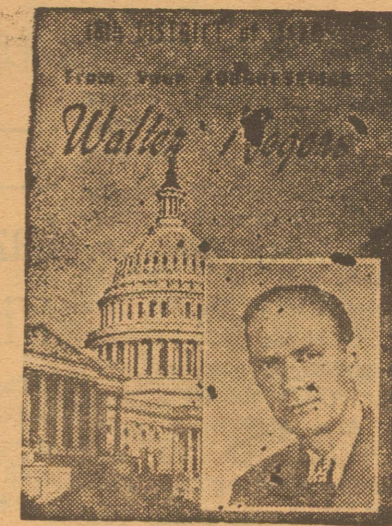

The publication laws of Texas are many. Few attorneys are familiar with all of them, and public officials charged with carrying out these laws may not have a detailed knowledge of them.

This series of articles calls attention to some of the publication laws so as to attract the interest of more citizens in the governmental units that they support with their tax dollars; and to inform government officials who may be in violation of these laws through unfamiliarity with them.

One of the provisions of the law is that the tax assessor and collector must by the first of April each year prepare the delinquent tax rolls of water control and improvement districts.

The tax assessor and collector shall on or before the first of April each year prepare a delinquent tax roll showing all charges upon the tax rolls which have not been paid and file same with directors of said district. The directors shall publish said delinquent tax list showing name of owner, description of property, and total amount due, in a newspaper published in the county where said district or any part thereof is situated. Said notice shall be published once a week for two weeks. If no newspaper is published in the county said notice may be published in a newspaper outside of the county. There shall be paid to the newspaper for publishing such a notice a reasonable fee fixed by agreement, not to exceed, however,

PAST IS PROLOGUE

There is a story in Washington about a visitor who was on his first trip to Washington. He was in a taxicab and was viewing with great pride and admiration the many beautiful government buildings. AAs they passed the imposing edifice that houses the National Archives he noticed the following inscription carved over the entrance: "Past is Prologue". He asked the cab driver what this inscription meant. The cab driver thought a minute and then replied, "It means You ain't seen nothing yet."

The exchange between the cab driver and the passenger is supposed to have occurred shortly after the building was opened in 1935. It seems to me that history has proven that the cab driver was somewhat of a philosopher. The story often comes to my mind when new and untried legislative proposals appear before the Congress. As all of you know, some of these pass and some fail, but there is always the possibility so well expressed by the cab driver, "You ain't seen nothing yet". It is a sound prediction of the future expressed in plain understandable, although questionable English. Let us all hope that the things we have not seen yet will be of great benefit to mankind and produce the everlasting peace for which we continually search. It is easy to predict and so difficult to be correct. This is because God endowed us with the power of speech but in His wisdom did not endow us with the power to see into the future. I often think that a man would have a very small grocery bill if he could live on the words he has to eat.

THE TIDELANDS

I was somewhat amazed at the position taken by Attorney General Brownell before the House Judiciary Committee concerning the tidelands. The proposal that Mr. Brownell offered to settle this controversy is probably one of the worst that has come forward yet. What his proposal does is simply to make the coastal states tenants at sufferance of the Federal Government. It actually underwrites and supports the decision of the Supreme Court through which Texas and the other states lost basic titles. The Supreme Court decision did not say that the states did not have title to these offshore lands, but it did say that the sovereign power of the Federal Government was of such stature that it included all rights concerning these lands. Boiled down, this simply meant that if the coastal states ever had any title, the Federal Government would take it.

Grass Roots

Took a quick run to Lubbock Monday and was surprised at the amount of farming going on in that area. Looks like cotton is going to be king in the South Plains again this year. It is hard to estimate how many acres of native grass I saw being plowed up but there was enough to put plenty of Texas top soil in Oklahoma when the wind is in the right direction. Also saw a lot of underground irrigation systems being installed and more yet already in operation. Jackrabbit stew, Republican administration or five cent cotton hasn't excited those boys.

HUBAM CLOVER AGAIN: I have been mousing for a couple weeks about the value of legumes as soil builders and have concentrated on Hubam Clover since this is the season for planting this summer growing legume. While doing a job of soil building this clover can be used as a supplemental pasture for livestock. Hubam's record as a stock feed is hard to beat. There are a number of ways to use Hubam as a supplemental pasture. Seeded alone or in mixtures with Oats or Sudan have proved very satisfactory. All idle Johnson grass land should be seeded to Hubam. Johnson grass in itself is a fine grazing grass and with the addition of Hubam clover one can expect a lot of cattle on a few acres for quite a spell. This practice of seeding clover into Johnson grass has a very definite effect on the control of this pest. Jelly McGowan near Summerfield seeded Hubam into a heavily infested Johnson grass field last Spring and took off quite a lot in grazing due to the competition of the clover the Johnson grass roots were forced near the surface of the soil and he was able to get under most of them with one plowing. Could be that one of the control methods on Johnson grass will be to kill it with love.

IT'S LAWN TIME AGAIN: Last Fall's dryness was worse than usual and our lawn soils went into cold weather deficient in moisture. Due to this condition the vigor of our lawn grasses was reduced since the plants were not able to tiller out as they normally do in late fall and winter. Now is the time to make plans for your lawn. Outdoor activity on the lawn is a rewarding challenge and a fine spring tonic. There are several things a lawn doesn't need this time of year, but it does need FOOD. An early breakfast in bed is a good idea. The grasses can use the root strengthening Phosphate and the growth stimulating Nitrogen as the plants begin to stir and stretch. So put it on now. Another item is getting all the debris raked up and out of the way. Get rid of old leaves and trash that smother grass. These are just two of the many things that need to be done this time of the year to insure a nice lawn this summer. This column will try to carry as much information as possible concerning lawn care, but in the meantime drop by to see us for your lawn fertilizer and tips on lawn care.

TIP FOR THE HAY PATCH: Alfalfa is waking up now and should be watered right away. Before watering you should give it a shot of Phosphate and insure yourself that increased yield. We have a good stock of both 45 percent and 20 percent Superphosphate on hand to fill your needs.

School Districts Designated as Population Increased

School Progress Recalled by Reeve in Historical Review

The young mother expressed real concern about school facilities but the enthusiastic husband assured her that ere their baby was old enough for school there would be nice brick houses all over the country.

In no time at all this first school house was outgrown. The overflow was taught in the Congregational Church. In 1912 the old house was sold for a barn and moved south of town. A very nice brick structure was built on the location. It was a two-story building and provided for high school.

In just a little while a high school with one teacher devoting his whole attention to its work was a reality. Some of the earliest teachers were T. J. Crawford's wife, and Clyde Good the wine's sister, both now deceased. A good grade of teachers was always provided. Several of those old time teachers have gone ahead with successful careers in the educational field.

At that stage of Friona's civilization everyone thought of the district school as the ideal. In fact no one had yet dreamed of any other plan.

When the county was organized in 1906 it was cut into school districts as near 6 miles square as could be figured accomodating what few scattered families and prospective families that were known about. The plan was to have a school house near the middle of each district. North of Friona was the Maurer district. Edith Maurer, later Mrs. L. F. Lillard, was the head teacher there.

The Black district was left much larger than the 6-mile pattern because all of the land south of Black was not yet on the market for settlers.

Southeast of Friona a 6-mile district was set off. It was called the James district. Mr. James, with a large family, lived in the district. The older children in the James family soon learned they could get to Friona by carriage or horseback. They were the first ones to set the pattern for transferring and driving to the Friona school. The James schoolhouse was near the present Ranza Boggess house. One item of historical interest related to this schoolhouse: after the house had ceased to be used for school purposes, two small children became lost in a storm, took refuge in the old building and froze to death.

To the west of Friona the Spohn school was located. One year that school had an attendance of 9, including the cowboy who felt called upon to take the teacher to and from school, of course resulting in matrimony. That kind of a climax was not an uncommon experience those days.

West of the Spohn district extending to the state line and north to the county line was the Rhea district. In 1912 a 6-mile square district was made around the Lutheran Church. For a few years that school operated part time public and part time parochial.

In 1917 the district was disbanded and put back into the original district. At the same time a 3-mile strip was cut off the east edge of the Rhea district and placed in the Friona district by county schoolboard action. Friona was beginning to catch the idea of expansion.

For several years the best judgement of the county school board was to keep the districts as small as possible. The thought was that 3 miles was enough for a child to walk to school. But in just a little while people realized that all children could ride horseback or drive. Then before anyone knew it, they were driving Model A's. The automobile completely

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Cupid is as old as mankind. But many of the wedding customs to celebrate his triumphs have changed considerably because of the car. Take a typical wedding procession today—a caravan of cars following the bridal couple with blasting horns. This is the modern version of the old French custom called a "charivare" during which the newlyweds were "serenaded" under the nuptial chambers with a howling and howling boisterous enough to be heard in the next prefecture.

The business of tying old shoes to the back of the car has an amusing origin. In merrie olde England, the father of the bride presented his new son-in-law with one of her shoes to symbolize the transfer of his authority. The groom promptly conked his beloved over the head with the heel—to make her cognizant of this change immediately!

Many people today load the couple's car with cakes and sweets as they depart on their honeymoon. The ancient Greeks really started this when they poured flour and sweetmeats over the bride and groom to wish them an abundance of life's goodies. And talking about honeymoons—they started way back when a man had to capture a bride. He took her to a hide-out while the parental wrath subsided.

changed the school picture. Over night everybody wanted their district enlarged. Distance seemed to make little difference to the children, and big distances furnished big tracts of land off which to collect school taxes.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

One of the world's most dramatic and free spectacles takes place every spring right over and under our noses. It's the return of our birds.

A short drive to field, park or lake anywhere in our country can reveal a remarkable feathered parody of human emotions and institutions.

You can see how birds build artistic and well-equipped homes, entertain lavishly, hold courts of council or justice, impress the opposite sex and practice occupations from fisherman to street-cleaner. A pair of binoculars is the only equipment necessary. Just stay still for a while with the light behind you so that you can see them clearly.

All of us have seen a swarm of crows on a hill or treetop. Next time you pass this sight, stop for a moment. It might be a crow-court cawing accusations and passing sentence upon a miscreant standing sheepishly in the middle.

You'll respect the Ford Tractor for the way it buckles down to heavy jobs of plowing or discing. You'll like it, and Dearborn Equipment, too, for the way you can do such jobs as scraping, leveling, loading, ditching, terracing, excavating, digging post holes or sawing wood. Presenting No. 2 in a Series --

"New Homes of Friona"

About this Series:

Here's further proof that the new homes of Friona would be a credit to any community or area.

In this new series of "Introductions to Friona Homes" we want to salute the homebuilders who have seen fit to build here, purchasing material from our firm, another home institution.

This week we salute Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lillard for their most attractive home. Also we commend contractors Johnnie Brand and Virgil Hall, George Grant Plumbing, and McLean and Fulks, paint contractors.

And we like to note that all material was purchased here at home from hometown dealers; it is of highest quality - from the Cativo slab doors to the BPS paints and furnishings, adding to unmistakable beauty and durability.

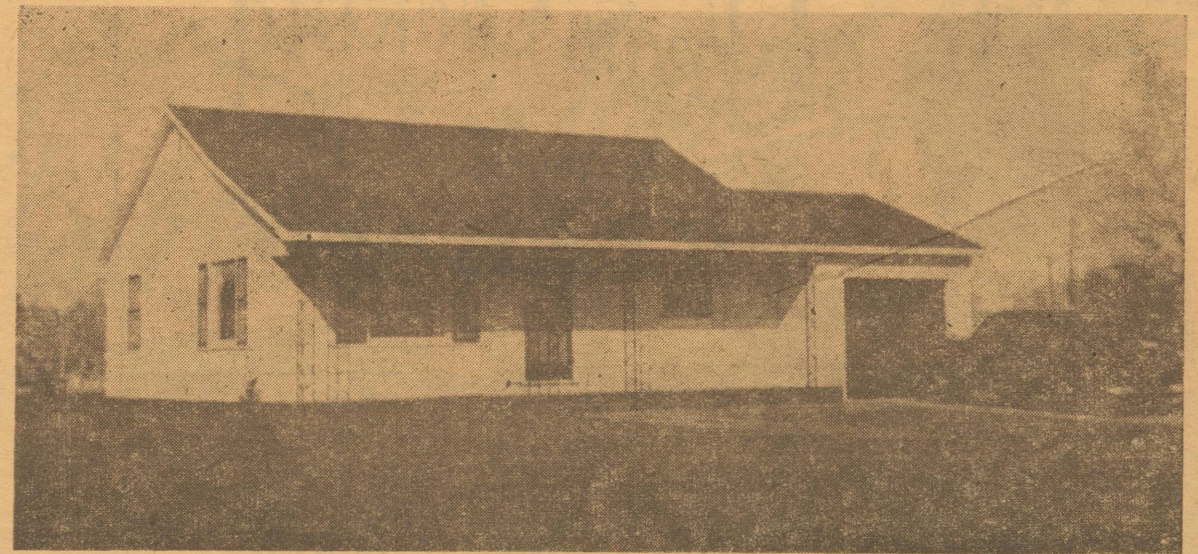

About the Home Featured:

The women are most enthusiastic about the interior of the home, especially the kitchen with its large cabinets, two convenient lazy Susans, suction unit over the stove, etc. Sliding doors are used on the closets throughout the house. The home is heated from a Coleman Blend-Air central heating plant.

A large basement is designed for conversion into a den. Both a tub and shower are in the one bathroom.

In fact this home could leave little desired for gracious living.

New Golden Jubilee Ford Tractor

A new, heavier, longer and much more powerful Golden Jubilee Model tractor has been put into production by the Ford Motor Company, manufacturer of more than two million farm tractors since 1917. The new machine is described as the most modern farm tractor ever built. It has new advanced hydraulic controls and is powered by an entirely new overhead valve Ford "Red" engine. In 1953 the company celebrates the 50th anniversary of its founding by Henry Ford Sr., in 1903.

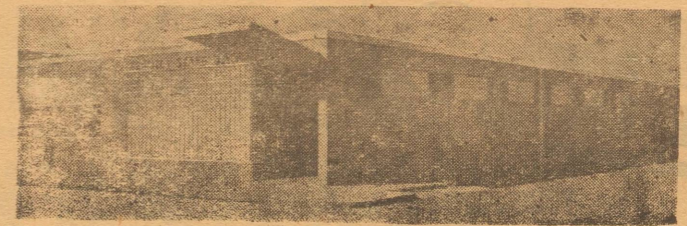

Will You Remember!

This month you probably will pay some expenses that will be deductible from your income tax next March. Will you remember in March what you paid out in September . . . in December? ?

The solution:
YOU DON'T HAVE TO REMEMBER if you use a Checking Account to handle all your business transactions.

And you have a written record of where your money went . . . in many cases such a record is the guide to a better saving plan.

Broadhurst Named as Hydrologist for District

W. L. (Bill) Broadhurst, now in Austin with the ground water branch of the U. S. Geological Survey as district geologist, has been named chief hydrologist for the High Plains Water Conservation District No. 1, serving 13 West Texas counties. He will assume his duties the later part of May, according to announcement made on March 5 in Lubbock by T. J. McFarland, manager of the district.

Employment of Broadhurst as full-time hydrologist for the 13 county Water Conservation District is of direct benefit to the five-member county committees in each county, as well as the water well owners and drillers, and others interested in the best use of underground water supplies, McFarland pointed out. His scientific and practical knowledge of southwest water problems will be brought to bear on the current water well spacing problems of the area.

In addition, Broadhurst is to be active in recharging activities for the District. He has liberal experience in this field.

ernment had the power to prevent them from using it or enjoying it. Mr. Brownell seemed to take the position that Texas and the other states were not interested in the principle involved, but were merely looking for some money. His proposal was in the nature of a compromise to permit the coastal states to take some of the oil out from under the submerged lands without settling the title question. Such a procedure would mean that if this Congress passed such a bill, the next Congress could come along and repeal that law and leave the states with nothing. Of course, if there is oil under the submerged land, Texas and the other coastal states are entitled to it for the reason that they own it, and always have owned it. The entire question in the tidelands dispute is not a question of dollars and cents, but is a question of principle. A settlement of the controversy by the states' accepting a few dollars would mean compromise of principle. Texas has never compromised its principles and I hope the day will never come when such a policy is adopted. As I have often said before, Texas will not stop until this battle is won. It will not compromise its principles and it will not soft-pedal the discussion of the wrong to which we have been subjected. The question will be settled right only when title is again fixed in Texas to these tidelands. Mr. Brownell's proposal does not do that, and I suggest that he resurvey his position and come forward with the proper solution to the problem.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA DELEGATIONS

Several members of the Texas and the Oklahoma Delegations had lunch recently in one of the Senate dining rooms with Gene Autry. The meeting was most enjoyable, and Gene gave all of the members who have children autographed pictures of himself on his beautiful palomino. Needless to say, when I took these home to the children, I was welcomed with open arms. There is one outstanding thing that I think should be said about Gene Autry, in view of the many radio, television, and picture show programs that are questionable. He is a clean fellow and his programs are always clean. This is something that should be appreciated by all of the mothers and fathers in this country and is certainly a tribute to Gene.

VISITORS

One fellow from the Panhandle who has been doing a tremendous amount of work in Washington on farm and cattle situations is none other than Jay Taylor of Amarillo. He pops in and out, and it is always good to see him. The highest officials in this Government listen with great respect to what Jay has to say on these problems because they know that he is thoroughly familiar with the subject. He certainly is in wonderful standing in the Capital City.

Disregard of Signs-

Most communities are well posted with traffic signs. We have two new ones near our own schools. Are they properly observed?

A high school student recently remarked that he actually had seen people speed up when they saw the sign, "Slow for School Crossing".

Let's never let that be the case here.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

BY TED GOULDY

The sheep trade and the sheep country shared the limelight at Fort Worth Monday. Milk fat lambs were strong to 50 cents higher and topped at $23, a new high for this year's crop of genuine Spring lambs. Top for old crop woolled fat lambs was provided by the FFA and 4-H Club youths of Cottle and King Counties who brought their lambs to Fort Worth and sold them at $22. This was the first experiment in feeding lambs for these youngsters.

The sheep country, major portions of it, got the best rains in a long-long time, and jubilant sheepmen in those areas had hopes for green feed in the near future. Grain farmers in the area would make grain, and the possibility of some early grass and weeds that would make fat Spring lambs was enhanced. Numerous points reported three to five inches and more, enough to soak the ground and put out stockwater.

WSCS Continues Course of Study

The Study on Human Rights was continued by the WSCS under the direction of Mrs. Joe Moyer, Tuesday afternoon in the local church.

Mrs. Hadley Reeve, president, called the meeting to order with a prayer by Mrs. J. T. Gee. Mrs. Henry Outland, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

A devotional in the form of scripture readings was given by Mrs. Gee, Mrs. Will Osborn, Mrs. A. W. Anthony Sr. and Mrs. Slagle. Five women portrayed different nationalities by their dress and speaking abilities. They were, Mrs. Ernest Anthony, Mexico; Mrs. Newman Jarrell, Japan; Mrs. Gene Anthony, the migrant worker; Mrs. H. V. Rocky, Puerto Rico; and Mrs. Henry Outland, negro by singing a negro spiritual.

Mrs. J. H. Boyle discussed briefly eight of the universal Declaration of Human Rights.

There were 22 members present and one visitor. The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. Shaffer.

Salesmen on the Fort Worth market expressed the view that a very good market for fat new crop lambs in the last two weeks of March for the Easter trade loomed. Greek Easter dates coincide with Easter this year. Last year some forty to fifty lb. lambs topped at $40 here for the Greek trade. While that figure is not in the cards this year, Fort Worth salesmen would not be surprised to see some prices well in excess of current lamb prices.

Cattle news was depressing again. Numerous shipments of X-Disease cattle appeared and it was reported that the cattle poisoning might be much more widespread than originally feared.
