NUMBER 31

$55,000 More Approved for Highway 36

THIS writer gets a big kick out of the news about the various and sundry rackets and grafts that are being practiced throughout this great nation of ours.

Whoever heard of a "tooth-selling" racket? Well, there is such a thing. Someone posing under the name of William F. Rogers is selling false teeth, and it so happens that the real Mr. Rogers is vice president of one of Denver's largest banks.

ONLY a few years ago we would have branded the man a "fool" who tried to conquer the air in a machine that flew like a bird.

SOME of the old customs of heroic times, when chivalry predominated and bravery was an absolute human trait, may have been lost in the whirl of modern times and present day mannerisms.

When the Cities Service Petrol sank in flames off the coast of South Carolina recently, Captain Sears stood on the bow as the vessel went down and proudly refused to leave his ship.

YOU CAN depend on Cordell Hull, chief American delegate to the World Economic Conference. Rather than approve bills which had been contracted by Prof. Moley and his friend, Herbert Swope, aggregating more than $3,000, Hull sent the statements to Washington for approval.

Moley said his friend stayed two weeks in London and how they contracted bills to the extent of $3,000 is more than we poor tax-paying people can understand.

NOW THAT Elliott Roosevelt has succeeded in getting his divorce, which after all was entirely a personal matter, it looks like there is going to be another name to draw part of the attention in the affair.

Farmers May Plow Up On Orders From County Committee

Approval for Cotton Reduction By Local Committee Sufficient; Producers Must Wait on Permits

A telegram from Washington received by local authorities Wednesday brought news that will speed up action on the cotton control plan in this locality as well as in the entire cotton-belt.

Secretary Wallace has authorized approval of all producer contracts where they have been approved by the county agent and the county committee.

There will probably be a meeting called Wednesday of next week of all farm inspectors, at which time they will be charged with the responsibility of certifying to the committee the following:

- 1. All cotton that is destroyed is located in same position as specified in contract.
2. Exact acreage is destroyed as agreed upon.
3. Cotton is destroyed beyond possibility of ever reaching market.

As quickly as cotton is destroyed the inspector will certify same to the committee. The latter will certify same to Washington and checks will be mailed to producers.

To date 32,500 acres have been contracted for destruction by Coryell County. Which means that $300,000 is assured the cotton producing farmers of this county.

"We are more than pleased with the response of the farmers and business men of this county to the program", stated Mr. Sherrill.

Following the concert program, members of the Gatesville band served refreshments to the McGreggor delegation, after which members of the two bands joined in a swim in the city pool.

The Community Club house was erected through the efforts of the Priscilla Club, organized about five years ago. Lease on the land was given by Mrs. Gus Barsch. The labor was contributed by the R. F. C. and was directed by N. P. Harper.

SAILING FOR LONDON

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle Powell left Corsicana for New York Wednesday where they will sail for London on the S. S. Europa Friday at midnight.

Mr. Powell is the talented son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Powell of this city. He was recently married to Miss Ruth Roberts of Corsicana, whom he met while attending Baylor University.

PREWITT GIVEN BOOST FOR CO. ADMINISTRATOR

Mr. Frank H. Bushick Jr., field representative of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission, was in Gatesville Thursday to formally thank in behalf of the Governor and Colonel Lawrence Westbrook, director of Relief in Texas, the Coryell County Relief Committee.

"I was especially impressed," said Mr. Bushick, "with the splendid work that has been done on the City Hall building. It is one of the finest examples of relief work construction in the state, and I am anxious to see it carried through to completion."

The last Legislature passed a law requiring that relief work in counties should be in the hands of a County Administrator who will act under the advice and supervision of the County Relief Committee.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow
Extension Service Editor
A. & M. College

This column has been forced from its chronicle of simple, yet important farm news to adopt the "cotton standard". The cotton reduction campaign has created an emergency about which a few things ought to be said.

It's the future that counts. By the time this is read the campaign will probably be history. The cash cotton rentals will probably not have arrived, but the problem of what to do with retired acres will be staring every cotton farmer in the face.

Some farmers will probably meet it by going fishing. Others will vainly try to plant this summer or fall every kind of cash crop they can think of. The majority, we hope, will take another look at the contract they signed and think hard about ways of making extra money out of these extra acres without violating their agreements.

Boiled to its essence, the cotton contract forces the signer to do something toward living at home, or toward encircling his land, or toward stopping soil erosion.

What can a farmer do with these extra acres? Well, he can sow cowpeas, season permitting, and have some good cow and hog feed, and perhaps some food for his family. If he gets a rain he might try a late sowing of sudan grass. It should give him grazing for work stock and cows until way up in the fall.

He may plant some late feed to get his stock through the winter. He may dig a trench silo and plan to fill it with late feed. If some of the acres are rather unproductive anyway, he might get ready to have a fling at a permanent pasture by sowing improved grasses and clover this fall.

Speaking of pastures, a fine way to handle a few acres is by sowing to such small grains as oats or barley or rye this fall. A winter pasture is something farmers can tell you.

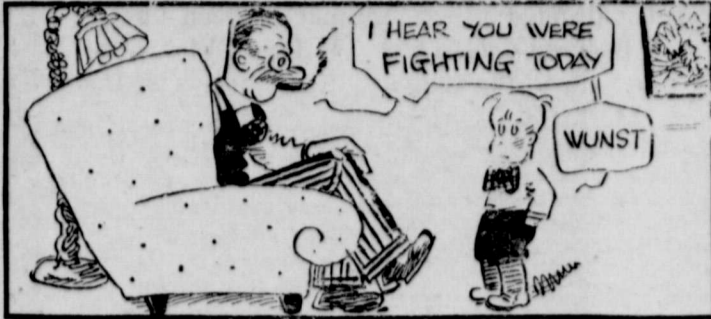

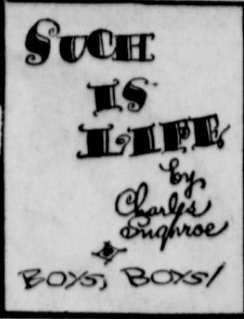

A good cover crop of sorghum or cowpeas for turning under late this fall might be a good move. Whatever the future holds in store it's a safe bet that low yielding acres won't pay tomorrow any more than they do today. A farmer for his own good ought to either turn his poor acres up with cover crops or manure, or turn 'em out to pasture.

College Station—"The great majority of estimated cotton yields put into offer contracts by Texas farmers in the acreage reduction campaign are conservative," announced H. H. Williamson, vice-director and state agent of the extension service after checking county returns at the end of the first campaign period. "Unusually high estimates of yields in some instances, suggesting that mistakes may have been made in preliminary estimates, are to be checked the week of July 16 in all parts of the state" he continued.

"The Government is offering the cotton farmer a square deal and is demanding a square deal in return", he added. "No farmer is asked to claim a lower yield for his retired cotton acres than present prospects justify. It is well known that yields of some farmers are higher than those of others, but where the difference is very great the Government feels that a careful check should be made to remove all doubt. The Government has accurate production records in every county, and is well informed on present crop conditions", Mr. Williams concluded.

College Station—There should be no let up in living at home activities now that quick cotton money is in sight, points out Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent and H. H. Williamson, vice-director and state agent of the Extension Service in a joint statement to farm families and to county farm and home demonstration agents.

"All that may be gained by cash cotton rentals this summer may be lost this fall and winter unless all the food and feed that can possibly be raised to advantage on the farm is put into storehouse and pantry." they say. "Texas farm families saved themselves the last three years by making their farms almost self-sustaining as far as feed and food are concerned. There is no reason now to stop feeding the hogs and heaves for winter killing, or to sell off most of the poultry flock, or to give a way the steam pressure cooker and sealer. Texas cotton farmers have gotten a 'break'. If they hang on to their depression life saver—living at home—they have a good chance to turn this 'break' into a permanently better future", the statement concludes.

Junction — Tanning sheep skins for rugs and gloves is becoming popular in Kimble and Sutton counties, according to Mrs. Etta W. Ringgold, tri-county home demonstration agent. At a tanning demonstration held recently at the W. A. Bannowsky ranch in Kimble county the men all agreed that it is much cheaper to buy tanning material at local drug stores and tan your own at home than to hire your hides tanned, or to pay $1 per pound for leather.

Among those who have successfully tanned hides are Mrs. Morris Murr of Murr community, Kimble county, who has tanned two black sheep for rugs; Mrs. Merton Shurley of Sonora who made two pairs of gloves from goat skins tanned by both the White Napa and Gambler processes; and Mrs. Tom Davis who had made gloves using White Napa process and who has more in the making.

College Station—Movies of Texas home demonstration work were made recently in the Panhandle district by the office of Motion Pictures, Extension Service, United States Department of Agriculture, reports Miss Minnie Mae Grabbs, district home demonstration agent in the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Mattress making, rug making, laying sub-irrigation tile, and a county recreation group in action were photographed in Potter, Carson and Childress counties, she says. The scenes are to form a part of the South-wide home-makers' reel, and is expected to be available for borrowing in Texas in the fall.

Beaumont — Proof that New Zealand spinach, introduced into Texas a few years ago as a hot weather plant, will stand the gaff of Texas summers, is furnished by Mrs. J. S. Rollins, garden demonstrator for the Hampshire Home Demonstration Club in Jefferson county. This variety planted five years ago in a 75 foot row is still producing in her garden, seeds from the plant having kept the row seeded. Only twice has the spinach been of poor quality. Last fall the hot sun scorched the plants and in February the freeze

The Government Bureau And Recovery

All businesses have been watching the operation of the National Recovery administration with vast interest. No government bureau has ever had such dominance over trade practices, wages, hours of work, working conditions, production, etc. The textile industry was the first to present a code for consideration; it has been worked out and approved in rapid time. Now dozens of other important industries are preparing codes. Among them are: Oil, construction, lumber, automobiles, tobacco, motor equipment, hosiery, hats, wood workers, dairy products, ceramics, retail dry goods, wholesale grocers, and so on. Higher wages, shorter working hours with more workers and higher prices, principal goals of the measure, will result.

This price question has created some trouble in another bureau — that of agriculture. Recent advances in wheat prices, plus the coming progressive tax on flour, caused a group of mid-western bakers to announce an advance of 3 cents a loaf in the price of bread. Secretary Wallace at once said that the increased cost to the baker could not be more than 1 and one third cents a loaf, pointed out that the anti-trust laws are still in effect, intimated that prosecution would be the result of unjustified price boost. —Industrial News Review.

killed it down, but the first rain after the freeze brought up new plants.

College Station—"The grandchildren of the farmers who plow up cotton this summer will talk about the great event of 1933," declares O. B. Martin, director of the Texas Extension Service. "It is within our power now to cause these grandchildren to regard this event as the turning point in Texas country life. These retired cotton acres are forcing upon us a new land policy. The terms of the contract dictate a living at home policy, and invite the opening up of new sources of income from farm and home manufacture. These are the things the Extension Service has been working for. The present emergency makes it possible to travel further toward these ends in one year than would normally be possible in 10 years," he continues.

"The answer to the question of what to do with retired cotton acres and with the time released from tending to them has been written in the fields, in the barn lots and in the homes of 100,000 farms these passing years," says Mr. Martin. Now is the time for decisive action to swing Texas to a better balanced farm system while a new land policy is in force."

In the first 13 months of operation of the only air service in Greece it carried 10,950 passengers, 257,700 pounds of merchandise and 17,500 pounds of mail.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. LEE HINSON.

The grim river of death has entered in the home of one of our beloved neighbors and friends and carried away his dear wife. She was indeed a true companion and an ideal mother, and a real neighbor. One who was always ready to go and render what service she could. She was one person who always had a kind word and a sweet smile for all she met, and her going was so sudden one can hardly realize that she is gone. Yes, she has gone, but is not forgotten, to that better world above, where no pain nor woe can enter, but where all is peace and love.

Mrs. Hinson was born in Paris, Texas, July 7, 1880, and died June 30, 1933, at her home near Turnersville. She united with the Church of Christ at the age of 17 and lived true to her faith until her death. She leaves to mourn her untimely death her husband, Mr. Lee Hinson, and two children, Abner and Gladys of the parental home; one son, Oran Cheatham, of Breckenridge; four sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Anne Patterson of Breckenridge, Mrs. Carl Shother of Denton, Mrs. Mattie Beel Paris, Mrs. J. E. Crawford of Ocean Beach, Calif.; Mr. Gus Burrous of Paris, and Mr. Quince Burrous of San Diego, Calif.

MRS. JOHN MACK FUNERAL.

(Intended for last week's issue)
Mrs. John Mack, 64, died at the family residence, west of Gatesville, at 11 o'clock Monday, July 10, 1933. She had been in feeble health for about one year and six months.

Miss Eva Hassmann was born at Buckovina, Austria, near the city of Stonesti, Jan. 9, 1869. She was converted and was baptized into the Baptist church, Oct. 10, 1887, in Austria, by Rev. Ferdinand Massier. She was married to John Mack, March 9, 1888, in Austria. To this union ten children were born. Mr. and Mrs. Mack came to America as a young couple, Oct. 27, 1889, and settled near Crawford. After living at Crawford for four years they moved to their present home west of Gatesville.

Funeral services were conducted at the German Baptist Church, 3 p. m. Wednesday, July 12, 1933, by Rev. C. A. Morton, pastor of the First Baptist church of Gatesville, in English, and Rev. Becker of Waco, pastor of the German Baptist church of Waco, in German. Burial was in the Hemmeline Cemetery.

Mrs. Mack is survived by her husband, John Mack; three sons, Martin Mack, Walter Mack and Adolph Mack, all of Gatesville; and three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Schange, Mrs. Wilhelmina Hotel of Osage, and Mrs. Martha Kloss of Roscoe, Texas; and a sister, Mrs. Stein, of Austria.

The once mighty Seminole Indian tribe in Florida has dwindled to less than five hundred members.

A BUSINESS TRAINING VS. A COLLEGE COURSE.

Under the present conditions, is it wise to undertake a four-year College Course? A very prominent educator said recently that since the World War the Colleges of the country have been over-crowded with students, with the results that there is now an enormous over-supply of college graduates. Young men and women with even Masters Degrees are walking the streets unable to find employment. They are told by the business men that their Degree is very valuable and desirable to have, yet they must know how to do some specific thing in order to be of any service to them.

A young man or young woman with a high school education, supplemented with a complete General Business Course, stands a far better chance to find employment than one who has, or will spend four years in College. A four year College Course equips one for just a very few places, mostly teachers. The records disclose more than fifteen thousand surplus teachers in Texas alone. The same thing is comparatively true in other states. This record is not much inducement to spend the time and money for a college degree and be unable to find employment.

Business is on the upgrade and this means, of course, that we will see a vast improvement in the employment situation immediately. We hope by fall to be placing every one of the students who graduate.

Comparing the chances for immediate employment and the small cost in taking a business course with that of a College Course, and the cost incident to a business course and the slim chance of employment thereafter, We think the odds greatly in favor of a business training.

"STANCE OF SEAGULLS WILL FORETELL WEATHER" SAYS OLD CANADIAN FISHERMAN
Halifax, N. S., July 16.—A deepsea fisherman here reports that a change in wind direction can be foretold by the stance of seagulls on pilings and wharf structures. He says that gulls at rest ashore will always face the way the wind is blowing but within three hours of an approaching variation they will head themselves in the direction from which the wind is to arrive.

WHY WAIT LONGER FOR SOMETHING TO TURN UP?

We not only ask you and the other fellow that question, but ourselves as well. We are admonished by the conservative to sit steady in the boat. That is very good advice we must admit, but we have been doing that very thing for several years, and the constant sitting has become monotonous, unprofitable and intolerable.

Business conditions generally have made a marked change for the better. Merchandise in many lines is steadily advancing in price. Real estate, building materials and labor are due for an advance. The consumer is probably unaware that his local merchant, in many instances, is selling merchandise at a price less than the wholesale quotation. This cannot last forever, as the price of labor and commodities must adjust themselves on an equal basis. Then, is it not wise to barter, buy and build.

Let's turn up something. That's the object of the Prosperity Circle, to benefit all those who participate.
