

Governor Candidate To Appear Publicly Here Monday, 2:30 TO DISCUSS PLATFORM

HON. C. C. McDONALD

Hon. C. C. McDonald, will probably lay emphasis on his federal and state plan for family homesteads and old age pensions, when he makes his local public debut in Coryell county in an address on the courthouse lawn in Gatesville Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. McDonald has also given great importance to his proposed co-operation with President Roosevelt and the federal recovery program, stressing required federal aid to the unemployed, which he claims will be of utmost importance this winter following the intense drought which presently prevails.

Previous plans for Mr. McDonald's coming to Gatesville were announced for Monday evening, however, arrangements were altered to the extent that the gubernatorial candidate will speak here in the afternoon instead. He will fill a speaking engagement in Eastland Monday evening.

A complete program has been arranged for the afternoon meeting at which county and district candidates will be given the opportunity to make brief announcements. A local band will probably furnish music for the occasion.

Local supporters have extended a special invitation to the women and elderly people of Coryell to attend the meeting.

FORMER LOCALITE TO LEAD REVIVAL HERE

Rev. Charles W. Watkins, evangelist; and son Arthur B., will direct the services at the Church of Christ revival which opens Saturday evening; June 30; at Stanlee Chapel.

This is the former home of Rev. Watkins and his many friends in this vicinity will welcome his forthcoming visit to Coryell county. Both he and his son are good singers and together will direct the song services during the meeting.

Everyone is invited to attend the meeting.

House Repairs for Farm Owners, Homes For Needy to Be Provided by Com.

Owners May Rent Property to Government

Plans are underway this week whereby the land owners of Coryell county can secure many needed repairs to farm houses by renting same to the Government.

Many thousands of dollars will be used by The Texas Relief Commission in Coryell county in repairing these farm houses and it is expected that many farmers who are now on the relief rolls will be moved into these reconditioned houses.

The land owner will have the privilege of making his own selection of a family to live in the house after he has entered into a lease agreement with The Texas Relief Commission, furnishing a house and as much as five acres of land. In fact the entire agreement will be made giving the land-owner all the advantages possible and at the same time permitting the State of Texas to rehabilitate many farmers taking them off the relief roll and giving them a new start which will enable them to make their own living.

If you are a land owner and have a vacant house on your land which is in need of repairs you can assist greatly in this rehabilitation work by communicating with County Administrator, Fred G. Prewitt, at the Relief

Headquarters in Gatesville.

Mr. L. D. Brown representing the Relief Commission from Austin will be in charge of the work in Coryell county and will be glad to visit the land owners who are interested in the plan. He will be in a position to go into the matter thoroughly and explain the particulars in regard to the lease agreement.

Mr. Brown will be in the Gatesville Office on Friday and Saturday of this week and it is expected that many land owners will take advantage of the opportunity to discuss the matter with him at this time.

Select Location for Second Oil Well on Doyle Ranch Survey

IN CORYELL COUNTY

IRELAND, Texas; (Spl)—The Sunrise Oil Company, with headquarters at Fort Worth, have secured several leases in the southwest section of Coryell county.

On Tuesday of this week a location was selected by company geologists on the J. P. Key survey, better known as the Doyle Ranch, and as soon as the drilling equipment can be moved on the ground, activity will start immediately thereafter.

The location for the second well on the Doyle Ranch will be in Coryell county.

Some folk that have new cars are so busy admiring them they can't see their friends, but I wouldn't say that about W. C. Guggolz; he gave me a lift in his the other day. J. J. Allin was in town Thursday; he hasn't forgotten our "Centennial trip." Mrs. W. I. Chenault says she hates to leave Gatesville and I know G'ville hates to see her go. I looked for the smoke when I saw one of the fire trucks out of pocket but I guess it must have been Leonard Milner and Roland Bone just taking a spin. Everytime you see Feno Straw headed home you can bet he has a blueprint with him somewhere. Mrs. Elbert Slone and daughter Mary Jane may be around the square now but I'll bet they will be in the swimming pool soon.

Schools Are in Sound Financial Condition, Says Sup't. Stephens

$9,399 CHECK RECEIVED

The county school treasury received a check Tuesday of this week for $9,399.00 as final payment of the State Aid for this county for the current year. Included in this check is the final installment on the transportation appropriation.

Those who have claims for transportation may present those claims at the office of the county superintendent and receive settlement on the basis of 90 per cent of the original grant.

In speaking of the financial condition of the schools of this county, County Superintendent R. W. Stephens said, "The schools of this county are in better shape financially than they have been in several years. The teachers have received all of their pay except for $5 per student which is the deficit in the Local Available Fund. Schools generally over the county have had longer terms and better work."

NAMED BANKHEAD AGENT, BOSQUE CO.

W. I. Chenault, of Gatesville, who has been an employee of Alvis-Garner Company for the past several months, received word Wednesday from College Station of his appointment to the position of county administrator of the Bankhead Act.

Mr. Chenault will leave Sunday for Meridian where he will assume his duties the following day in charge of the Bankhead program in Bosque County. The appointment was made through T. B. Wood, district extension supervisor.

Mr. Chenault has been granted a leave of absence from the Alvis-Garner Company to perform his new duties.

Holiday the Fourth, By Mutual Agreement Of G'ville Merchants

DOORS WILL BE CLOSED

Through the efforts of city officials in making a survey of inquiry Thursday morning, the merchants of Gatesville; by mutual agreement, unanimously decided in favor of declaring a business holiday on July 4th.

All business institutions and all stores, with the probable exception of cafes, will be closed all day Wednesday, July 4.

There will be no form of special celebration in Gatesville but places of amusement including the theaters, skating rink, and swimming pool will be open.

Banks To Close

The three Gatesville Banks, First National, Gatesville National and Guaranty Bank & Trust Company will observe Wednesday, July 4, as a holiday.

Patrons and customers of the forementioned banking institutions are urged to arrange their affairs accordingly.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST REVIVAL, JULY 6-15

Beginning with the evening of July 6 and continuing each evening thereafter through July 15, the Tabernacle Baptist Church will hold a revival meeting in the Union Community.

Rev. Fred Grubb of Purnela will conduct the spiritual services.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting and take part in the worship.

CORRECTION

In a previous issue of the News there appeared a story concerning the prizes and their contributors for the July 4th Golf Tournament. The name of Perry Brothers Store was erroneously omitted from the list of contributors. The News is glad to make this correction.

Lieutenant-Governor Would Relieve Masses According to Address

OMITS PERSONALITIES

The fact that Hon. Edgar E. Witt failed to dwell on personalities and eliminated so called "mud slinging" in his address last Monday evening left his audience with a feeling of good will toward the Lieutenant-Governor.

Although it was somewhat difficult to estimate the number who turned out to hear Mr. Witt, when he spoke on the courthouse lawn in Gatesville Monday evening in the interest of his candidacy for Governor of Texas, there were two lines of automobiles forming a complete semi-circle on the east side of the square besides approximately three hundred people who filled the chairs on the lawn, and listened intently to the message of the Lieutenant-Governor.

The speaker was introduced by Hon. T. R. Mears, local attorney and long-time friend of the Lieutenant-Governor. Preceding and following the address, music was furnished by the Training School Band.

Beginning with a background panorama of universal economic conditions, Mr. Witt explained the cause of the present day circumstances and gave his own solution to the problem. Relief for the masses was the paramount feature introduced by the candidate for Governor.

Relief for the tax-paying masses with an extension of homestead exemption to include all homes not exceeding $3,000 in value was the first point of Mr. Witt's program.

A plan for old-age pensions and a program including appropriation of $5,000,000 out of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue already voted to provide land grants for the unemployed of the agricultural section with the idea of making the people self-sustaining, were other points in his program mentioned.

DONKEY TALENT

Softball fans who have witnessed one of the two recent "donkey" games will have an opportunity of seeing new talent attempt to man the steeds when the Gatesville Firemen play the Hamilton Firemen at the Fair Park under the lights Saturday night, June 30.

Mirth and splitting sides presided again at the second game of the "softball on donkeys" series last Wednesday. The more spirited animals were retained for the batters who, immediately upon taking turns at the plate and connecting with the ball; attempted to do likewise with the contrary "jacks;" who insisted upon remaining unmounted.

If we had our "druthers," as the fellow says, we would "druther" have good lateral roads all over Coryell County than any other one thing we could think of. And as for Gatesville, it would be a Municipal Auditorium or recreation center, a modernly facilitated hospital or a federal postoffice building. About the first thing we had better wish for, however, is RAIN. If we don't get that, it's a cinch we won't get any one of the foregone mentioned.

Gatesville has a newly acquired prize in the remodeled and renovated City Park. Many local residents have not paid enough attention to what has been going on within the past few months to realize this fact, and suburban residents who haven't walked or driven through Raby Park would be surprised at the beauty of the park site. People who drive along 10th Street going south can't get a fair sight of the park and unless they pursue the driveways or pathways that go through the park they will not be able to really appreciate the beauty that dwells there.

Dr. J. W. Torbett, of Marlin, who will be the keynote speaker at the Central Texas Pioneer Day program at Temple today, is a native of this county. Dr. Torbett, eminent in medical circles, and one of the founders of the nationally-known Torbett Clinic is another example of a local boy who made good. He was born near The Grove and is a brother of J. S. Torbett of Gatesville.

Ed Kilman, political editor of the Houston Post, is compiling information significant in the present gubernatorial race. The editor has sent letters to the newspapers of Texas, both dailies and small town papers, in an effort to obtain as nearly as possible the status of the candidates. A letter of inquiry was received by this newspaper which was promptly returned with a request from the News editor that Mr. Kilman furnish this paper with a complete summary of his compilation. As soon as this is received a report will be printed in the News for the benefit of the readers, giving the standing of the candidates in the race thus far. It is probable that the results of Mr. Kilman's efforts will develop a very authentic survey.

Many people make it a pastime to criticize members of the Legislature, the Commissioners Court, the City Council and members of the school board, charging them with extravagance in the expenditure of tax-payers' money. Generally state and city officials are attempting to represent the tax-payers' interest but they usually have little help from the taxpayer himself. It is oftentimes that these governing bodies have suggestions from the people on how the money might be spent but it is seldom that they have suggestions concerning the reduction of costs in government.

Since the price on printed candidate cards has increased, one office aspirant has reported the loss by theft of about a thousand cards. If the cards were taken by some mischievous boy the chances are the candidate will get plenty of publicity by the time the youngster gets through scattering them over the neighborhood backyards. Candidates might do well to put cards up in packs of fifty-three and distribute them to bridge players as a publicity stunt.

STUMPIN' THE STATE

WITH THE SPECTATOR

Editor's Note.—This column is published by the News as a news feature because of the interesting comments of this writer upon politics. The views expressed are those of the writer and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial opinions of this newspaper.

In a recent issue of the Ferguson Forum "Editor Jim" listed some interesting "pre-election" returns on the governor's race. He estimated 1,075,000 votes being cast, and gave 400,000 votes to the leading candidate in the primary and 25,000 to the "trailer." Your correspondent seriously doubts the ability of any one candidate to muster 400,000 votes in the first primary. The best Mrs. Ferguson could do two years ago with only three leading candidates in the race was 402,000. Perhaps Farmer Jim is a little optimistic in estimating the chances of his favorite but we concede him "off the bat" a good chance at the second race.

Particularly impressing to your correspondent was the Panhandle-wide-Small-for-Governor rally at Amarillo Monday, when supporters gathered from 53 surrounding counties to reaffirm support to the Senator candidate and hear him speak. Four years ago this west Texas vote placed Small third in a race of eleven contestants, gave him 140,000 votes, and most of the gubernatorial candidates in the present race concede him 95 per cent of this vote again.

An estimate of his strength in other than west Texas may be had from a recent straw vote taken in New Boston in the Allred-Hunter-McDonald territory of northeast Texas. Small led the list, by a small majority yes but he led.

A friend of Edgar Witt's recently said that "no man in Texas has a larger acquaintanceship than the lieutenant governor of Texas. Few men have such a feel for public affairs as he." I believe every one who heard Mr. Witt speak here Monday evening obtained the latter impression.

"One thing Witt can do no other candidate is sure of and that is to bring about cooperation of the Legislature," says his supporters. It would be an accomplishment in itself regardless of the ability and experience of the man, to elect a governor that can control this body of faction-split legislators. For the last twenty years the legislature of our state has been split into two camps, supporters of the Fergusons and anti-Fergusons. This should not continue indefinitely.

Charlie McDonald is appealing to voters all over the state with his plan for relief of the unemployed. In a recent speech he indicated there would be another winter of intense suffering for the poor and stressed the necessity of full cooperation with President Roosevelt. Other candidates have such "planks" in their platforms but are not bas-

Tom Reese Addresses Voters Through Letter

To the Citizens of Coryell County and the 52nd Judicial District.

I announced several weeks ago as a candidate for the office of District Attorney of the 52nd Judicial District, composed of Comanche, Hamilton and Coryell counties.

Since that time I have discussed the matter with citizens all over the district. The friendly interest which you have shown my candidacy encourages me to offer for your consideration these further remarks, which I hope are of some materiality and relevancy in this campaign.

Personal history is neither of interest nor importance except so far as it affects qualification for office. Therefore, I will only say that I was born and reared in Comanche county and have lived here all my life, nearing thirty-five years. During the war I served in the army overseas and afterwards spent four years in the University of Texas, where I received my legal education. I have practiced law continuously in Comanche since 1923, serving six years, from 1925 to 1930, as County Attorney.

I take it for granted that any man who seeks election to the office of District Attorney favors the fair and impartial enforcement of the laws; believes in equal rights to all and special privileges to none, vigorous prosecution of offenders, and all such similar principles. These declarations of principle, I believe, are common fundamental attributes of all good citizens and I claim no particular credit or distinction for adhering to them.

Conceding that each candidate for this office possesses a proper conception of the statutory and moral duty which a District Attorney ought to perform, and a due regard for his plain oath of office, it occurs to me that in addition to those qualities your District Attorney ought to be a lawyer well qualified by education and experience, with some measure of ability proved in the courtroom.

It has been my good fortune to practice both civil and criminal law in the State as well as Federal courts and before several governmental departments. I have actively participated in every phase of the practice of criminal law and have engaged in both prosecution and defense of important criminal cases, making appearances before the courts of all three of the counties of this district.

I do not claim to be a brilliant lawyer. I have no notion of trying to impress the people of this district that as your District Attorney I will set the woods afire. Any man ought to recognize his own infirmities as readily as he does his qualities. Therefore, it is not self-praise, but a simple statement of fact which I believe, when I say that I am qualified by training and sufficient experience to fill the office of District Attorney with honor to myself and credit to the citizenship of this district.

I assert that the District Attorney's office is no place for experiments. Your District Attorney is directly responsible for the peace and security of every citizen of this district so far as enforcement of the law is concerned. It is a matter of vital concern to every man and woman in this district that you select as your District Attorney the man who in your calm and dispassionate judgment is best qualified for the office.

It has been my privilege to contribute toward the maintenance of a safe, secure, law-abiding and God-fearing country where your children and mine may have opportunities to grow up to useful citizenship. In such an environment we are determined that the thief, the bootlegger, the bawdy, the murderer and all others of that stripe shall not establish a foothold. Let that stand as my declaration of principle.

Our District Court handles approximately twice as much business in Comanche county as it handles in either Hamilton or Coryell counties, but it has been some fifteen years since a District Attorney has been elected from Comanche county, and nearly twenty-five years since a District Judge lived here. It is not reasonable to believe that a resident District Attorney might be able to render more efficient service in the place where most of his business is transacted, than one who lived at some distance away from Comanche County.

The confidence which my friends have reposed in me is of greater value to me than political preferment. I would not jeopardize it. I can do no less than make the best effort that I can to justify that confidence.

Yours truly,
TOM F. REESE.

LOU SUMMERS

Mrs. Lou Walker Summers was born Nov. 22, 1868, in North Carolina; died June 17, 1934. On October 4th, 1888 she was married to W. H. Summers who preceded her in death three years ago. To this union six children were born.

She leaves to mourn her going four sons: Walker, Tom and Floyd Summers of Gatesville, and Vance Summers of Statesville, N. C., and one daughter, Mrs. Bob Nicks of Statesville, North Carolina.

Grandmother Summers was a devoted Christian, being converted and joined the Methodist church in girlhood.

After long months of suffering Jesus saw fit to call her home where sorrow and suffering shall be no more.

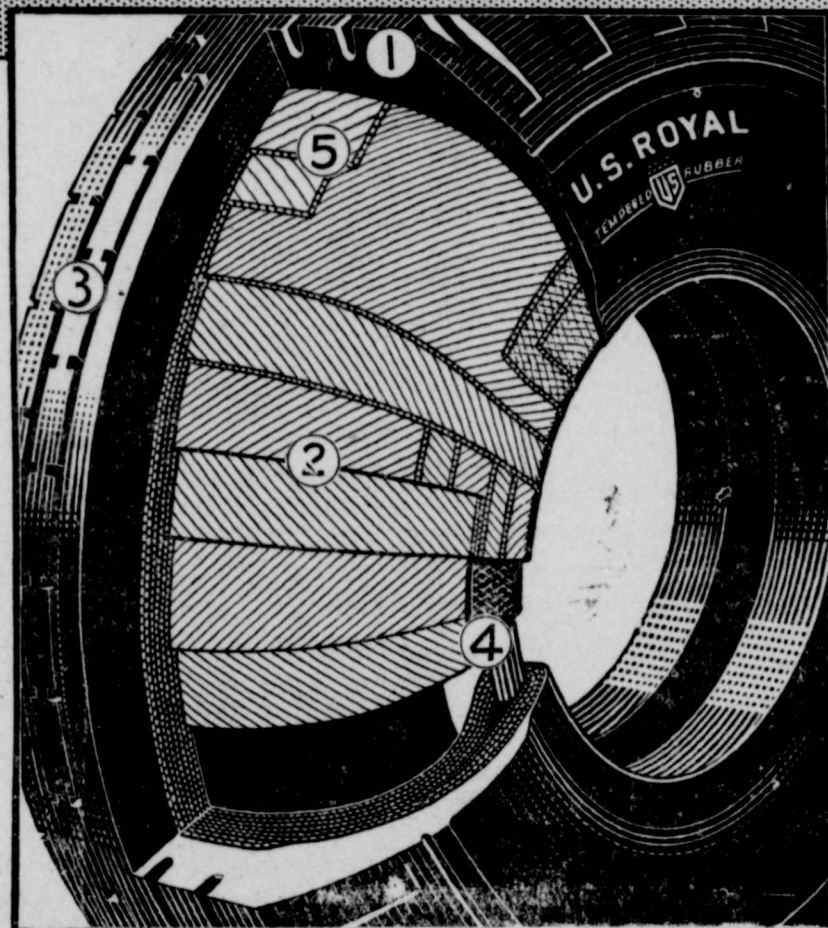

Rev. J. W. Dunn and Rev. George Siler spoke the comforting words to loved ones, and she was laid to rest in the Bethel cemetery. Pallbearers were her grandsons, Guy, Jack, and Amos Summers, Bugs Honeycut, Oscar Bryant and Gaines Saunders.

Connor-Powell

Rev. M. M. Chunn read the impressive ring ceremony uniting Miss Annette Connor and Mr. Louie Powell in marriage, last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 at the Methodist Parsonage.

The bride wore a beautiful frock of navy corded sheer with white starched braid color and cuffs with white accessories to match.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. N. A. Harper of this city. She is a graduate of the Gatesville High School, and for the past eleven years has been employed as Bookkeeper and saleslady at Alvis Garner & Company.

The groom is the son of Mr. R. E. Powell and is now associated in business with his father.

The couple left for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home in this city.

Wilson-Parr

In a ring ceremony, witnessed by only members and close friends of the immediate families, Miss Elsie Wilson became the bride of Mr. Marvin Parr last Friday evening at 8:00, with Rev. J. H. Baldrige, Presiding Elder, reading the marriage vows.

The bride wore a suit of navy blue triple sheer, finished with blue chiffon ruffles, and belted at the waist. She wore a large white hat, and her slippers and other accessories were of white.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson of this city. She was a graduate of the Gatesville schools and attended John Tarleton College in Stephenville. Following her college work she taught in the Leon Junction School, and for the past year has been employed as saleslady in Waco.

The groom, whose parents reside in Waco; is a graduate of Waco High School, and has received his diploma from Tyler Commercial College in Tyler.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip to south Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Parr will make their home in San Antonio, where Mr. Parr is engaged in business.

Mrs. Gladys Westerman had as her guest the first of the week her father and brother of Lampasas.

Visitors in the A. W. Edwards home the past week were Uncle Bob Chatham of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edwards of Pearl, Miss Lillie Cox of Pidoake and John Edwards of Oglesby.

Annual YWA Camp Near Jonesboro.

Tuesday afternoon, June 19, a merry group of YWA girls, with Mrs. Keifer Sasse, Mr. Joe Hanna, and Mrs. Will Rutherford as chaperons, posed for a Kodak picture taken by Mrs. Morton, before leaving for their annual camping trip. A spot on the Leon river, near the Koen home, seven miles west of Jonesboro, was chosen as the camping grounds.

The campers, along with Mr. and Mrs. Travis Hestlow, Mrs. A. T. Rogers, Miss Milda Schley, Nita Jean Rogers, Mr. Brooks Sasse, and Mrs. Hope Thompson from Gatesville, Clarence Watson and J. B. Morgan from Jonesboro and Elmo Koen enjoyed a 9 o'clock picnic on the river banks.

Games carrying out the "June-teenth" idea were directed by Miss Emma Lera Gregory. These were concluded at about eleven o'clock when the visitors returned home.

Wednesday was spent in devotional periods, fishing, swimming, riding to Jonesboro for supplies, and hiking. At sunset the campers and Elmo Koen engaged in a delightful and inspiring YWA vesper service. Following this diversions were boat-riding, singing, story telling and playing interesting games until a late hour.

They broke camp early Thursday morning and started homeward. The camp slogan, which has a mysterious significance known only to the campers is: "Where's El-mer?"

Misses Theresa and Lucretia Wooton of Mexia are the attractive guests of Miss Alice Earl Anderson.

Flame of the Border

By VINGIE E. ROE

Copyright, Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc. WNU Service

And then three horsemen came up over the debouching lip of the ancient trail; while a fantastic form with long white hair on its shoulders was seen to emerge from some hidden cranny of the pueblo. Serge Savarin, Rodney Blake, and Mr. Marsten rode forward in astonished haste; the Servant of the Lord came up between them all.

"Sonya!" cried her brother. "Oh, my God! Where have you been? What's happened to you?"

But Rodney Blake sat silent, his narrowed eyes taking in the group before him: the haggard woman, the scarecrow man with his right arm around her, the Indians, and the mad old preacher of the Word.

And Sonya Savarin looked back, her mind racing for the words which she must say, the tale she must tell.

With guarded eyes she glanced around: at Two Fingers, at Hosteen Nez, at Hosteen T'so; these three who had cleared the world of danger for her, who had saved her and hers from death.

These three—whom no one must ever know had done what they had done.

"I," she said, wetting her dry lips again, "I have been in Mexico—kidnaped by two men who have—died. I escaped—I and Starr Stone here—in this plane, but they followed us across the Border to catch and kill us both. We landed here—but—they—mistook the—height. They—they—struck the edge, and—fell."

She looked bravely in the three men's eyes, her low voice clear and quiet, even though she could not help the little gaps between her lying words.

"Is it not so?" she asked of Two Fingers, turning.

"It is so," the Indian replied.

"And you, Hosteen Nez, Hosteen T'so? Have I not spoken truly?"

"Truly," these said quietly, nodding, their English limited.

"My heaven!" said Serge Savarin. "My heaven! But who is this man with you? It seems I ought to know. Where have I seen him?"

"You have never seen him," said Sonya swiftly, "and he is my own man. I've known him since the spring. I've meant to tell you, Rod, hands clasped on his pom-pom. "Sonya," he said, "I know this man. I saw him once—at that Indian's hogan. I felt a presage of this moment then. But that is neither here nor there. I do not release you. We're taking you home with us now—I'm taking you to New York as soon as possible. Away from this fantastic country you'll return to sanity, to your normal self, and shudder at this memory. Come along, Serge."

And he started forward, flung himself from his saddle.

Marston followed him; Serge Savarin hesitated.

But here for the first time Starr Stone spoke, moved from Sanya's side.

"Not quite," he said, "my friends." And in his extended hand was that excellent automatic which El Capitan Diablo would never need again, trained on them both.

At that grim command Rodney Blake stopped in his tracks, the other behind him.

"You, Mr. Savarin, have a right to know that your sister is free as the wind to choose—her man and her life. If I am that man, I give you my word that she shall not regret her choice through me. If that life is with me, I give you my word again that it shall be all that I can make it with my heart's very blood. But she shall choose. Sonya—remember, you are free."

"Free!" the girl cried. "And I have already chosen! To the end of life I choose you, Starr Stone!"

Once more the other turned his head, put his free arm round her, smiled down with his wild blue eyes that were midnight dark by now.

Then "Padre," he said to the Servant of the Lord, "can you say the marriage service?"

"Surely, my son," the old man answered softly.

"Will you say it here and now, for her and for me?"

"Gladly. The young heart must have its mate while the world is new. All things lose their brightness, and youth is short at best."

The shabby, thin old figure moved forward with a strange dignity.

"Thy right hand, child," he said to Sonya, "and thine, son. No," shaking his silver locks, "not with that engine of destruction in it."

So Starr Stone changed the gun from his right hand to his left, but its blunt nose never wavered from its mark. He took Sanya's hand, and with his eyes fixed on the faces of the three men held at bay before him he began to answer the lovely questions of the ancient ritual.

"Wilt thou, Starr, take this woman, Sonya, to be thy lawful wife, to love, cherish, and protect," the tender words went on, "till death do you part?"

"I will," he said.

"And wilt thou, Sonya, take this man, Starr, to be thy lawful husband—to love, honor and obey . . ."

Sonya's clear "I will" sounded in the high silence like the tones of a distant bell.

Then Starr Stone bent and kissed her swiftly.

"The covenant," he whispered, "forever and forever."

"Forever," she repeated.

"Padre," said the man, "for this service I give you my deep thanks. Some day I'll give you gold. Gentlemen, I warn you, stay where you are. I'm leaving with my wife."

And backing away, Sonya in the circle of his arm again, he went step by step toward the plane.

Once in its shadow he lifted her to her seat, reached for the belt, drew the buckle.

Sonya clung about his neck, laughter in her throat, tears on her cheeks.

"Where?" she cried. "Oh, Starr, where?"

"To a new life," he said steadily, "to a new world—to the West."

"Wait," she said, "one minute while I leave the old."

She leaned out and called into the silver shadows where the three men stood.

"Serge, dear," she said clearly, "don't forget me—ever—and forgive me if you can. My love to you always, and to Lila and to Babs. Keep Darkness for me. Rod—dear Rod—forgive me too. Mr. Marston, if you're quick enough and smart enough, you may find that one who sends the contraband to your city—at the store in town. Good-by, Serge—some day I'll be coming back. Until then, God keep you."

She changed swiftly to Navajo. "Two Fingers," she called, "Hosteen Nez, Hosteen T'so—my hand on my heart to you—my people—my friends. I shall not forget."

And presently there was the roar of the motor, the trembling beneath her as the little gray ship came to pulsing life, Starr Stone in the pilot's seat, the moving of the moon-lit rock of the mesa's top, the turn, the surge, the gathering speed, the lift, the thrill of quiet as they lost contact and sailed away across the mesa's rim. Swiftly they rose, and the tall stars came down to meet them, glorying.

As they had faced together bravely death and danger and disaster, so now they faced together bravely life and all it held for that white flame of immortality which lights all mortal flesh, true love.

COMANCHE COUNTY BAR UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSES

Tom F. Reese

FOR

District Attorney

TO THE VOTERS OF 52nd JUDICIAL DISTRICT:

We, the undersigned attorneys of Comanche County, take pleasure in endorsing Tom F. Reese's candidacy for District Attorney of this District.

Mr Reese has spent his entire life in Comanche County. He has served this County three terms as County Attorney, and has proved himself to be an able, fearless and vigorous prosecuting attorney; and is a lawyer whose ability, integrity, honesty and courage cannot be questioned.

We further urge that Tom F. Reese be elected to this office for the reason that Comanche County has not had either the District Attorney or District Judge for the past sixteen years; notwithstanding Comanche County has 24 weeks of District Court against 28 weeks for the other two Counties.

Feeling that Comanche County is at this time entitled to be represented in our District Court we earnestly urge your support of Mr. Reese's candidacy.

HON. C. C. MCDONALD

WILL SPEAK IN GATESVILLE

IN BEHALF OF HIS CANDIDACY FOR

GOVERNOR of TEXAS

Monday Afternoon, July 2, at 2:30 o'clock

On the Courthouse Lawn

I pledge my full support and co-operation throughout my administration to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his entire recovery program, for social justice, for a more just division of the national income, and a greater buying power and opportunity for property ownership of all kinds by the masses.—C. C. McDonald.

We must cut out extravagance in public and private affairs. Tax payers can only control government expenditures by united action.

I pledge a continuation of the state policy of reduced appropriations, to consolidate duplicate offices and to abolish useless jobs and the fee system, the foundation for which was so ably laid by the present administration.—C. C. McDonald.

I favor: A registration tax on all notes, mortgages, deeds of trust and liens recorded or filed, and a maximum contract interest rate for the use of money, of six per cent per annum and no more, such indebtedness not to be collectible by law if such tax is not paid or if excessive interest is charged.—C. C. McDonald.

Having personally received the benefits of our system of education and having been for four years a teacher and superintendent of public schools, I welcome the opportunity to co-operate with all people and organizations now working to such end in order that we may together do constructive work and render conspicuous service for this generation and for the cause of education.—C. C. McDonald.

SOFTBALL SYMPTOMS

By TEDDY

The Baptist defeated the Fire Boys Monday night 5 to 3. The Baptists, in my opinion, won the First Division for Arnold's crew. I believe the Fire Boys could defeat Arnold's gang twice out of a three game draw.

Arnold's bunch won the First Division and is deserving of it. They are all interested in the game, and get much "kick" out of hitting the pellet.

The Second Division will be composed of six teams, namely: Arnold's; Gartman's; Fire Boys, Roundtable; Methodists and Baptists. These six teams will be stronger this division than last, and with revived interest, promises to have some real games this division.

—MY—DOPE—

Not Boasting, but would like to call your attention to the Dope interest this first half. I have doped fifty-some-odd games and have missed only seven. Do you think that is enough to miss or too many. Let's hear from you.

Arnold's gang will go down at the hands of Ward's gang, but

CHURCHES

First Christian Church

Bible Study at 10 o'clock every Lord's Day morning. Come and worship with us.

First Methodist Church

At 9:45 a. m. next Sunday meet us in the growing morning, living Bible study hours as the church meets to study.

At 11 a. m., a theme worthwhile, "The Creed of Democracy."

Is America truly keeping faith with our fathers who liberated us from the bondage of the old world? What is the true creed of our nation? "Lord, God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget!"

At 7:30 Young People in group meetings. Our young people are the salvation of the day, the Sunday theaters and worldly amusements were left for the young people to support they would die of non-support. The adult is dooming us today.

At 8:15 five young people will make reports of the Young People's Assembly, four wise virgins and a choice young man. Following these reports a brief sermon by the pastor on the theme of the assembly, "Dare We Be Christians"

Macus M. Chunn, Pastor.

A mother who was bent on having her children really see things would occasionally send them out of doors for the pur-will give them a good game.

The Baptists will also meet defeat by a strong Firemen's club.

See a local all-star crew play a like team from Hamilton Saturday night on Donkeys. You will really get a "kick" out of it.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on November 14, 1933, at a stockholders' meeting of the Planters State Bank located at The Grove, Texas, the proposition was duly submitted to the stockholders to close the business of the corporation and that at said meeting the following resolution was adopted, to-wit:

"Whereas the stockholders of the Planters State Bank of The Grove, Texas, have been called and are now in meeting assembled to consider the liquidation of this bank; now therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, That the business of this bank be closed; that all depositors, and all creditors of every nature, be paid in full; that after paying all depositors and creditors, and discharging all remaining liabilities, the remaining assets of said bank be distributed proportionately among the stockholders; and that this bank surrender and have cancelled its corporate franchise. Be it further

"RESOLVED, That the officers and directors of this bank be hereby authorized and directed to take all necessary steps, and execute all necessary papers, to carry into effect this resolution."

NOW, THEREFORE, we, the undersigned directors, certify that the foregoing proceedings were had at such meeting and that the resolution hereinabove quoted was duly adopted.

pose of finding out how many things they could see in a given time and then to come back and tell the mother about the things they had seen. Other things equal it is the keen observer, who gets ahead. Learn from what you see and put into practice, that which is good and the other shun.

Do not look for a flaw in the life of friend or brother, but if you wish to find one with a flaw in life, you may find just that one in your mirror—why not look? "The observing faculty is particularly susceptible to culture, and is capable of becoming a mighty power. Few people realize what a tremendous success and happiness is possible thru the medium of the eye.

Now let us ask: What do the people see, when they see me and when they see my church, the place where I worship? Any room for improvement? Money is scarce, but every day has 24 hours. See?

Conference time is only a month away and the pastor sees much that must be done before the conference. Don't you?

Next Lord's Day the services will be as usual:

Sunday School in the morning at the usual hour. Preaching service at the usual hour in the forenoon. Rehearsal for the picnic program at the usual hour. And the usual hour for the evening service, lest you forget, is: B. Y. P. U. 7:15. Be on time! Preaching service follows the B. Y. P. U. Both the evening services are in the American language. Announcements for the week will be given on Sunday. Come, see and hear!

Sensational Film in "Wild Cargo" Soon to Be Seen in Gatesville

PLAYS REGAL THEATRE

Quiet must reign along the Asiatic jungle front since Frank Buck has come away with some of his rarest wild denizens and thousands of feet of exposed negative which has been boiled down to feature footage as presented in his new animal adventure, "Wild Cargo," which plays at the Regal Theatre starting Saturday night at 10:30.

Movie fans are the gainers to the extent of what is said to be a highly exciting production, wherein Frank Buck does not "pass the buck" to nature for his thrills, but goes into pit and trap and tree for the animals himself. He uses a gun to kill in only one instance, that in which a murderous python gets a flying start on him for a deadly constricting process.

One of the highlights of this thrill-shot motion picture is the capture alive of a man-eating tiger. It seems that the Sultan of Johore, long a friend of Mr. Buck, reported a "striped terror" that had been making raids on native rubber workers. Buck surprised the Sultan by volunteering his services—not to kill the jungle demon, but to bring him back alive. This Buck does, but not until he has put his jungle craft to good use and has brought the lariat he learned to toss in Texas into play. Incidentally, "Wild Cargo" is said to show Buck entering the pit to perform the little detail of locking the cage doors on Mr. Tiger. "Wild Cargo" was made over a period of half a year, with at least two months of that time given to the wild elephant drive, in which a karal encircling some ten acres was constructed by several hundred natives in the jungle-heart of Ceylon. The party reached New York after having been away nine months and the animal shipment followed soon afterward with most of the rare creatures, including the rhino, destined for the St. Louis zoo.
