

Gatesville Eleven Will Attempt to Get Hog Back in Game With Clifton Today

Coaches Make Change in Backfield Combination

The Gatesville Hornets will meet the Clifton eleven on the local gridiron this afternoon (Friday) in an attempt to avenge their defeat by a lopsided score at the hands of the Cliftonites there last year. The game will start at 3:30 p. m.

Back from their trip to Lampasas last Friday night, the Hornets have been put through three days of hard work by the coaches. The locals came out of the game with no casualties but badly shaken up and despite the fact that they have appeared poorly in practice this week, the entire squad with the exception of White, halfback, will be ready to answer the call today. White is nursing an injured elbow sustained in practice.

A slight shakeup was apparent in the Horent team when Hair, diminutive quarter was seen backing up the line on the second team during practice this week. The job of running the first team went to Albert Dickie with Bone, Chamlee and Powell composing the remainder of the backfield. The latter's punting demonstration in the Lampasas game will probably make that feature of the game his assignment for today, which incidently will be the first conference game for the Hornets this season.

Having spent the week chiefly on offensive practice the Hor-

Relief Director Calls Upon Administrators to Check Rolls for Winter

ONLY DIRE NEEDY TO REMAIN

Austin, Oct. 11.—Calling upon county administrators for a complete re-check of relief rolls, State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson declared today that "we must drop from the rolls every case not clearly entitled to relief before winter comes. The exhausted condition of our funds makes it essential that we pare our rolls so that we may adequately care for those in dire need during the winter months."

To county administrators, Johnson quoted the following excerpts from a letter from Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator:

"I know that you will agree that it is imperative that relief rolls in your state be examined at this time to remove therefrom any persons not actually in need. A complete re-check of your relief families is possible now, and it should be made before entering upon the heavier period of the late fall and winter. I will appreciate your cooperation in having this review made at this time."

AUTOMOBILE THIEF TAKES FORD COUPE

An unidentified thief stole a Ford coupe belonging to Dr. Ralph Bailey, local physician, as it was parked in front of his residence in the northeast part of town. The theft occurred sometime between ten and twelve o'clock Wednesday night.

Evidently the thief pushed the car away from the house as the owner was carrying the key in his pocket. Inside the car were Dr. Bailey's medical kit and supplies.

Up until late Thursday evening no trace had been found of the car or the thief.

Large Crowd Attending Rodeo at Balch Ranch See One of Best Shows

SPECIAL ACTS FEATURED

Approximately 700 residents of Coryell and Hamilton counties witnessed the Rodeo last Tuesday, October 9, at the Balch Ranch near Levita.

The two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night, drew large crowds of interested spectators who saw exhibitions of bronc riding, calf roping and Brahma steer riding, besides many other rodeo attractions.

Two clowns along with a special event in which appeared a trained trick horse were among the features of the program. It was also interesting to note that only men and boys participated in the rodeo events. However, there were many interested women spectators among the crowd.

Many well known rodeo performers took part in the exhibition including the oldest active rodeo rider in the country.

Austin Dooittle, widely known cowboy, acted as master of ceremonies for the affair. Raben Balch, on whose ranch the rodeo was held, was chiefly responsible for the success of one of the best shows of this nature ever to be conducted in this section.

SACRED MUSIC WILL BE SCHOOL FEATURE

The Rev. C. A. Morton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has requested that the following statement be published in the News, concerning a coming event which should be of much interest to the church and community as a whole:

Reynolds, head of the School of Sacred Music, of the Baptist Seminary, at Fort Worth, in a fifteen period school of music which will open Friday night at 7:15, October 19, and will consist of lectures, choir and congregation singing. No charges will be attached to the school. Choir members, those who play instruments and those who are fond of sacred music are invited to attend."

Initial Tryouts For Little Theater Shows Draw Good Attendance

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BOOSTED

A highly enthused gathering was the result of the Little Theater meeting held last Tuesday evening in the district courtroom, which was well attended by members and prospective members of the local organization.

Tryouts, the first of the season, were held for the purpose of choosing casts for the first two productions this year. The cast will be announced at an early date, according to C. E. Alvis, Jr., director, and immediately afterwards rehearsals will begin.

Reports from the membership committee indicated progress in the current drive to increase the personnel of the dramatic guild. It was decided to extend season tickets to all school children for the price of $1 each.

Parts of the new stage setting are in the act of being constructed and other pieces will be installed before the opening of the auditorium.

Isn't it a funny thing this human nature business. Did you ever see a person who didn't get some sort of a thrill out of receiving a package from some place. That being the case C. E. Gandy and D. R. Boone certainly should be popular men, from all the parcels they deliver in Gatesville. Mrs. Roger Miller and Mrs. Ralph Neely, two attractive sisters, were among the morning shoppers Thursday, and Roger, Jr. of course was present. Mrs. J. F. Tadlock stopped me to remind us not to let her subscription expire; it's gratifying to have such interested readers. Ivy Edmondson was seen paying his respects to the east side business section of town, having come from his office in the county hall of justice.

I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be.

Automobile drivers in any small town, our own county-seat municipality for instance, have the habit of disregarding minor city ordinances, especially traffic regulations. This fact comes about by the impression held in the minds of these local residents that traffic and traffic regulations are figures of speech and are not to be taken seriously except in the case of cities from the size of Dallas on up. There are times when we are all guilty of the careless neglect of our own laws, and some of us are habitually careless in this respect. The fact remains, nevertheless that for some reason there is a need for rules and regulations in small town traffic.

There are two particular street intersections in Gatesville where moving traffic is the greatest. We have reference to the corner of Main and Lutterloh and the corner of Lutterloh and Leon. Some several months ago the city went to the expense of buying and having installed stop signals at each of these two intersections—four of them. Many favorable comments followed and for a few days afterwards local residents observed the motive of these signs. With the passing of a few weeks the same people began crossing the signals without slowing up long enough to change gears. As for lasting results the stop signs might as well be taken up today. Certainly car drivers have not disregarded the signs intentionally—it is merely a case of carelessness.

Besides the single danger of head-on collisions between cars meeting at these two sometimes congested corners, there is another grave danger as we see it, and we have seen its evidence day after day. Around the hour of eight o'clock in the morning when business people hurry to town in their cars there may always be seen several groups of children on their way to school, playing, running, darting here and there—all unaware of the danger that might occur should they run across the street in the path of automobiles that are constantly passing each other at this particular time of the day. The same condition exists at noon and again late in the afternoon. Fortunately Gatesville has experienced no casualties from such circumstances and it certainly is to be hoped that such a sorrow will not be the cause for future serious consideration of the few minor traffic regulations which we have.

Highway markers on Leon Street direct transient traffic westward on that thoroughfare. There are no Stop signs on this section of the highway. The signs face Lutterloh in each direction, hence it is the duty of local residents to give the rightaway to east and west traffic. With only two directions instead of four to look for cars, school children have at least an even break to escape the dangers of being hit by swiftly moving autos. But with cars speeding at will in four directions youthful pedestrians must be more than normally precautions to escape danger. . . . Your cooperation is needed.

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

One of the curious circumstances about the present Administration is that though it has almost unparalleled popular support, there is a notable disaffection among prominent members within the party. Numerous elder statesmen, headliners of the last decade of Democratic politics, big shots who were carrying the torch when the parade was not as long as it is now, are not in the line of march.

Prominent in this group are men who in 1920 pitched in and fought to save the party in the face of almost certain defeat at the hands of Warren Harding. In 1924 they went into the trenches again knowing that Calvin Coolidge was unbeatable. A third time in 1928 they took up the lost cause against Herbert Hoover.

But in 1932 the Democrats won and Franklin D. Roosevelt sat down in the executive mansion, but the old players stayed out of the game. Alfred E. Smith, who had made Roosevelt Governor of New York State and thus put him in line for the Presidency, withdrew into the draughty recesses of his Empire State Building. And John W. Davis, who like Smith was nominated for President once, has remained out of the picture.

There are two reasons for this state of affairs. One is that some of these Democratic wheelhorses are out of sympathy with the Roosevelt program and refuse to join it. The other reason is that this Administration bears its grudges to a degree not often seen in politics. These men were not "For Roosevelt Before Chicago."

They have thus little or no consideration in the White House circle.

Even before the new Administration took office, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia refused to become Secretary of the Treasury. He was not sure he could agree with the Roosevelt monetary policy. And Al Smith denounced the gold price fixing experiment as one which was producing "baloney dollars" and as a result was booed even in New York City.

John W. Davis is appalled at the rapid growth of radicalism at Washington.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, who placed Smith in nomination at the 1932 convention, knows what the White House sentence of excommunication means. And so does Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland who was a candidate for the presidential nomination himself.

Others at "outs" with the Administration are ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, still a prominent figure in that state's democracy, Sen. David A. Walsh of Massachusetts; Sen. Millard O. Tydings of Maryland; Sen. Royal S. Copeland of New York; Sen. Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia; Owen D. Young; Sen. Josiah W. Bailey of South Carolina; Sen. M. M. Logan of Kentucky; Rep. George B. Terrell of our own state, and the veteran Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma.

REGAL'S COMING FEATURE

Recapturing the leisurely charm of the pre-War days in American rural life, "A Girl of the Limberlost," Gene Stratton-Porter's famous novel of Indiana country life, comes to the screen of the Regal Theatre next Saturday night for a two day run.

Twenty years ago automobiles were quite a novelty in Indiana, women wore hobble-skirts, and piled their hair and their hats high on top of their heads, while sweeping their skirts to the ground. It sounds silly to tell about, and the old styles look very strange in the snapshot albums of the contemporary period, but the Monogram studio staff has succeeded in retaining all of the beauty of the era with only slight modifications to conform to present day tastes.

Presbyterian Church

There is joy in our hearts at the loyalty and response of the members and friends of our Sunday School and Church. If the expression of those who were present, is any indication, our efforts were well worth while. Some of our Sunday School pupils were absent, but we are sure that the teachers will see them during the week, and find the reason for their absence. At the morning services we announced that we were one short of 50 per cent of our Church membership present. The rally Day program was enjoyed by all. The offering was for Sunday School Extension, which amounted to a little more than 23 cents per member of the Sunday School.

The dinner in the park was enjoyed by a large number. It was a time of fellowship. We want to take this means of thanking Mr. Louis Thomson of the Thomson Grocery Company for the Maxwell House Coffee; it was good to the last drop. Also Mr. Gartman, of Perry Bros. for the cups from which we drank the coffee.

At three, in the afternoon, a large number of the members assembled at the church for the Communion Service. We were happy to have Rev. Marcus Chunn, the Methodist Pastor, assist in the distribution of the wine. The whole congregation left, feeling that we had been in the presence of God. It was truly a time of consecration.

Having enjoyed such a spiritual feast, we be not weary in well doing. Having been blessed on last Sunday, let us renew our efforts to receive additional blessings each Sunday that is to follow.

There will be services on next Sunday. Those who have received this blessing should be careful that they do not "let them slip" from us. Each one who was present on last Sunday, is requested to see some of those who were not present, and try to get them to be present next Sunday.

Jas. M. McLean, pastor.
