

Committees Are Named To Carry on Plans of Baptist New Building

OLD BUILDING GOES DOWN

By J. M. Witcher

The Baptist people and other friends of Gatesville as a progressive town, were very sorry when they were told by two competent authorities that the settling of the foundation of the Church had caused three walls to give outward until it was unsafe to have anymore services in it. This building had been the church home of many people for the last thirty-two years. Many sacred memories must remain with this old building, but they will be good foundation material for greater experiences in future Christian development. They will serve as an anchor to those principles and that faith which will endure longer than time.

Thomas Edison said to his friends after a very disastrous fire, "well boys we are pretty well burned out to night but tomorrow at sunrise we will begin to rebuild." The Baptist people of Gatesville in like manner began at once plans for the building of a plant that will take care of their Christian interests without loss. The Church authorized the appointment of committees for all needed lines of action.

The committee on taking down the old building, with N. E. Foster as chairman will soon have its work completed. This committee is doing its work very deliberately so as to save all materials in tact that can be of any use in re-building.

The Committee on a temporary place of meeting, have so far made arrangements so satisfactory that the attendance at church services and Sunday School has held its usual good standard. It is sincerely hoped that fine spirit of loyalty so noticeably present in the greater part of the church membership will increase in the present emergency. Every member in a church has a place to fill. When this is filled well the church is doing well. Ira Glass is Chairman of the committee on temporary meeting place.

Bosque Couny Griders Out-Smart Gatesville to Win Xmas Game, 7-2

LOCALS OUTPLAY VISITORS

A heroic stand but a losing fight now mars the record of the Gatesville All-Stars, following their game with the Bosque county team here on Christmas Day before an anxious crowd of holiday fans, when the locals were defeated, 7-2.

Despite the fact that Gatesville was accredited with gaining more yardage from scrimmage and more first downs than their opponents, they were unable to stop the overhead attack that was responsible for their defeat in the second quarter when the Bosque club completed a 20-yard pass in mid-field, the receiver tearing loose for the lone touchdown.

In the fourth quarter with only seconds to play, after Gatesville had pushed the ball within a few inches of the goal, but lost it on downs, a smart Bosque signal caller elected to give the Coryell All-Stars a safety rather than risk a punt out of danger. Receiving the ball from center, he fell on his knees behind his own goal line to give Gatesville a lonely two points. The game ended on the play that followed the kick from placement on the visitors 20-yard stripe.

FORD MEN PLAN SHOWING OF NEW 1935 CAR

Officials and employees of the Coryell Motor Company left for Dallas Wednesday to be on hand at the Dallas distributing plant when the first 1935 model V-8 Fords are released. Among those who made the trip in behalf of the local agency were R. R. Anderson, Walter Stewart, Claude Stewart and Kit Bridges. They were expected to return sometime this morning.

The Coryell Motor Company has announced a formal showing of the new 1935 model V-8 on Saturday, December 29 (tomorrow).

Frenchmen say the story of Paris is the history of France.

Some submitted by competent architects and will likely be ready at the proper time to submit their choice to the church for its consideration in conference. Tdgar Franks is Chairman of building plans.

While those who can are busy inside the church encouraging reports and offers of assistance come from without. Pete Bagley (colored) of Coryell Church has the honor of sending $5.00 as the first cash offering since the building was condemned. Other offerings are said to be on their way and will be reported later.

Let us hope that the same good faith and congenial fellowship that has characterized the beginning of this great work may through God's grace continue until the end.

Interesting Program Given When Building Is Officially Opened

GOOD CROWD IS PRESENT

A large and appreciative crowd attended the formal opening of the High School gym-auditorium in Gatesville on Thursday evening, Dec. 20.

Before and after the program, patrons of the local schools and friends were escorted about the premises of the building where they were shown the modernly equipped home economics department and the many other features of the new building.

The Gatesville High School Band, under the capable direction of D. W. Disereans, furnished music for the evening and opened the program with a group of selected numbers.

The Gatesville Little Theater presented a one-act play, "Sparkin'" by E. P. Conkle, and featuring Misses Penelope Hardin, Louis Walton, Mrs. Gracie Patisillo Barber and Mr. Hazen Ament. The presentation was directed by C. E. Alvis, Jr., assisted by Miss Elizabeth Williams and Mr. Henry Yongue.

The High School Choral Club, directed by Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook, presented several vocal selections in choruses and solos.

The Morris Federation Ensemble, a quartet of talented pianists, appeared next on the program with a special rendition.

Sup't Frank L. Williams presented three outstanding persons who were instrumental in securing the new building, including Dan McClellan, president of the school board; Fred G. Prewitt, representing the city council, and C. E. Alvis, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

NAMED ON LIST OF A. C. C. HONOR STUDENTS

Three hundred twenty-one students in Abilene Christian College are listed in the second six weeks reports with honor grades in one or more subjects, according to records in the office of Mrs. Clara Bishop, registrar.

The second period reports show nearly ten per cent more honor grades than were made in the first six weeks. Six of the 594 college students earned honor grades in six subjects and seventeen made the required 90% in five subjects. Five or six subjects is the full load of courses allowed. The honor roll was posted last week in the bulletin board of the Hardin Memorial Building.

One student from Coryell county, who is on of the list of honor students for this period is T. H. Adams, Gatesville, who has honors in Bible 311.

Four dust coated paintings, being carried to a rubbish heap at Honolulu, were found to have values of $800 to $1,000 each.

Well, it's history now, Christmas I mean. That is, Christmas of 1934 is a thing of the past never to come again, except in memories and recollections. Gatesville and the county were privileged to have many visitors during the holidays. Saw Norris Hammack here; he is staying over for a few days with his mother and sister. Miss Ruby Turpio is helping with entertainment for some of the younger set while visiting here. Elmo Strickland has discarded his soda-apron for a typewriter. He's leaving soon for business college, so we are told. When Emmett Stewart and Elbert Stone got together after the holidays they probably revealed Santa's thoughtfulness of them. Mrs. Walter Schaub has moved from Pideoke Street to Main, and says she doesn't want to miss her paper. Penelope Hardin has what we might call "Christmas time." If you don't know what I mean—ask her about it.

RELIEVING THE TAX BURDEN

Every two years, just before the regular session of the legislature convenes, we hear a lot about tax reduction. It may be caused thru the promises that nominees made to the people over the country about how they would reduce the tax burden. Regardless of how it may come about we hear entirely too much about it.

The legislature of Texas has never reduced the tax burden and most likely it never will. It is true that the last regular session cut down its appropriations by about twelve million dollars, but the State ad valorem was just about the same as it has been in other years.

Special taxes levied here and there just as the sulphur tax, cigarette tax and the various oil taxes, along with other special levies are an entirely different matter from what is considered the property tax. The latter is the one that most of the people are concerned about.

Most every subdivision of the State government has levied about eighty per cent of the taxes it is paying. In other words the people voted these taxes themselves and even though the governor or the legislature wanted to do so, they could not alter the situation.

We have the school tax, the county tax, city tax and road taxes. Who gets the money that is paid into these tax funds, may we ask? We get it ourselves, of course.

Then why should there be so much confusion and prattle about the proposition of lowering taxes. The governor nor the legislature can do very little about it.

The State ad valorem tax is a constitutional levy; the people themselves made provision for taking care of the schools, old soldiers and the general fund of the State Treasury. At the most it takes very little from any property owner, compared to the amount he is called on to pay for local purposes.

Let's forget about lowering the property tax, or at least bring it down to a local aspect. But this does not mean that this newspaper is indifferent toward other special levies that are to be made from time to time.

One thing the voters should know is that there will be a determined effort to pass the sales tax at the forthcoming regular session of the legislature.

The Empire-Tribune is opposed to the sales tax, just like it has been for a number of years. Citizens ought to acquaint themselves with the legislation proposed on retail sales. It is, indeed, a dangerous proposal and will cost far more tax money than any other levy Texas has ever made.—Stephenville Empire-Tribune.

Preliminary Census Bureau reports credit Dallas with total manufactured products during 1933 of $53,132,247, as compared with $80,573,294 in 1931, the last preceding report. Fort Worth showed a total of $50,947,665 as compared with $68,470,716 in 1931. Sherman was among the few cities showing an actual gain, the totals being $10,032,253 and $8,477,454.

Joe Burns enjoyed a delightful Christmas and hopes that each and every reader did likewise. The Yuletide snow failed to arrive but nevertheless I think Old Santa was generous in his gifts of happiness plenty which this section enjoyed. The community tree was an example of what can be done toward helping fellow man at this time of the year. Many a kiddie who looked for Santa Claus would have been disappointed had not the citizenry cooperated so wonderfully in bringing this about. Gatesville again has set an example that can well be followed by other communities.

President Roosevelt, in his annual Christmas eve talk, asked for a Christmas of "courage and unity" while on the other side of the world Pope Pius pleaded for "Peace! Peace! Peace!"

And thus the Christmas of 1934 passed with all looking forward to a 1935 of peace and contentment and plenty—to a nation emerging triumphant from all dangers and enjoying a future of tranquillity and prosperity.

Although 362 new planes have been added to the Air Corps this year, the total number of planes remains 1752, according to a report released by Harry H. Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War.

The new planes, costing a total of $10,000,000, were for replacement of obsolete craft. During 1935 the Air Corps will let contracts for 800 additional planes to give the army an air fleet of 2,320 serviceable machines. According to the 1932 report, the U. S. is slightly ahead in air forces with a total of 1752; France a close second with 1687 but taking the lead by the inclusion of reserve planes and school machines; Japan with 1385; Soviet Russia with approximately a thousand although this number has been substantially increased since then due to the Japanese war scare; Italy with an estimated 800 and great Britain with 706.

Speculation is stirring in the capital as to who will be Mr. Roosevelt's running mate in 1936. Naturally, one of the main factors to be decided is whether Texas Jack Garner will run again. The two Republican independents in the cabinet, Wallace and Ickes, who have stolen the spotlight from the conservative cabinet members, are being boosted by their friends. Donald Rickberg, director of the National Emergency Council, is being discussed as a prospective candidate along with E. R. Burke, senator-elect from Nebraska and Senator Robert Bulkley of Ohio. Gov. Paul-McNutt of Indiana would like to team up with the president, it is reported. (Who wouldn't?)

Apparently the Democrats will choose a Middle-Westerner if Garner does not ask for a second term. The administration is weakest in this agricultural area because of the drought and agricultural agencies of the government, many of which have met with considerable opposition.

WHAT IS A NEWSPAPER? BRISBANE DEFINES IT

What, fundamentally, is a newspaper? Everyone knows what it is, more or less vaguely, but who can put his ideas on the subject into prose so simple, accurate, and graphic that everyone can understand it

Well, Arthur Brisbane can, for one. A newspaper, he says, "is a second hand." "On the face of your watch there are three hands. There is the slow hour-hand—you can not see it move. That is history written a long time after. Then, there is the rapidly moving minute-hand. You can see the change of its position, and that is the making of law and the other minor things that make it up. Then there is the second-hand. The part that the second-hand plays is time the newspaper plays in the history of events."

Mr. Brisbane made his analysis at a luncheon celebrating his seventieth birthday anniversary and his completion of fifty-one years in journalism. In a congratulatory telegram read at the celebration, President Roosevelt said that the famous Hearst columnist had "simplified the interpretation of news for many millions of people and that "none of these millions were ever at a loss to understand exactly what you meant". That the President's opinions were justified, Mr. Brisbane's remarks on the nature of the newspaper will show.

What, fundamentally, is a newspaper? Everyone knows what it is, more or less vaguely, but who can put his ideas on the subject into prose so simple, accurate, and graphic that everyone can understand it

Well, Arthur Brisbane can, for one. A newspaper, he says, "is a second hand." "On the face of your watch there are three hands. There is the slow hour-hand—you can not see it move. That is history written a long time after. Then, there is the rapidly moving minute-hand. You can see the change of its position, and that is the making of law and the other minor things that make it up. Then there is the second-hand. The part that the second-hand plays is time the newspaper plays in the history of events."

Mr. Brisbane made his analysis at a luncheon celebrating his seventieth birthday anniversary and his completion of fifty-one years in journalism. In a congratulatory telegram read at the celebration, President Roosevelt said that the famous Hearst columnist had "simplified the interpretation of news for many millions of people and that "none of these millions were ever at a loss to understand exactly what you meant". That the President's opinions were justified, Mr. Brisbane's remarks on the nature of the newspaper will show.

the loss suffered by Mrs. Wollard in the recent fire that destroyed the apartments where she and her family dwelt. After Mrs. Wollard had joyously gathered her packages from the tree and shared the revelation of each with the group of guests, there was merry chatting over a cup of hot chocolate and delicious cookies in red and green. The crystal ware used in the service was also in the red and green. Miss Morgan gave opportunity to the following friends of Mrs. Wollard to enjoy the afternoon with her and to present her with appropriate and desirable gifts: Mrs. J. O. McCargar of Whittier, eighty-four, were guests of honor at the Western division meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles. Asked for their recipe for longevity, A. L. said: "Hard work and regular habits."

L. W. Watson of Cordele in return this year of over $40 per Jackson county states: "In 1932 I made 120 bales of cotton at a net profit of $120 or only $1 per bale. Wheeler—In checking the list of things she had planned to can Mrs. Glen King of Wheeler county finds 25 varieties she could not get because of the drought, but she does have 165 varieties on her pantry shelves, according to Miss Viola Jones, home demonstration agent. The 344½ quarts are arranged and labeled, and her pantry also contains special shelves of food for use when unexpected company comes or in other emergencies. Sale of canned products has paid the grocery bill, paid the canning expenses, and left a bank balance of $79.75 for other expenses.

Through the cooperation of his tenant, his county farm demonstration agent and his commissioner, Mr. S. L. Johnson of Leonard in Fannin county was enabled to terrace his blackland farm for $2 per acre. The tenant said: "When the spring rains caused me to lose good seed and several days' work by having to replant, and then in the fall when my lint yield was about 80 pounds less per acre than the adjoining terraced farm, I became interested in getting my landlord to terrace."

Madisonville—Gid Manning of Madison county is thoroughly convinced of the value of culling, dusting and feeding his flock of white leghorn hens properly, according to W. L. David, farm demonstration agent. Mr. Manning had about 300 hens which were laying 75 eggs a day. These chickens were badly infested with fleas and lice and were not getting a balanced ration. After culling his flock to 190 hens and treating them for fleas and lice, Mr. Manning put them on a balanced ration. As a result of this, he is getting 100 eggs a day from his 190 hens.

Baird—D. M. Jones of Callahan county will have fresh tomatoes for the Christmas holidays because he packed green tomatoes in dry sand and allowed them to ripen, according to Ross B. Jenkins, farm demonstration agent. Due to the late rains in the fall, Callahan county farmers had a fine crop of green tomatoes, and many inquired as to how they might preserve them for fresh use. Under the direction of the farm demonstration agent, Mr. Jones packed them in dry sand using care that no tomato touched another and leaving about ½ inch stem on each tomato. That was done before the first frost, and about 30 days later he exhibited some evenly ripened fruit. He says that he can easily hold the tomatoes for 60 days.

Sulphur Springs — One-third more cotton was gathered this year on terraced fields on a farm operated by I. G. Davis of Hopkins county than was gathered on adjoining fields which were unterraced, according to S. L. Neal, farm demonstration agent. Terrace lines were run and terraces constructed on approximately 70 acres in November 1933. The average width of the terraces was 24 feet and the height was two feet with a fall of from one to two inches per hundred feet. Gullies from two to five feet deep were filled in and rows run with the terraces.

Haskell—An investment of $1.20 for 90 feet of concrete tile netted $14.50 in fresh vegetables and canned products for Mrs. Paul Frierson of the Midway Home Demonstration Club in Haskell county, according to Miss Peggy Taylor, home demonstration agent. In addition to using 100 pounds of fresh tomatoes, Mrs. Frierson preserved 12 quarts of soup mixture, 12 quarts of tomato juice, 4 quarts of catsup, and 12 quarts of canned tomatoes.

Spinach was grown over the tile in the early spring before the tomato plants were set out. Mrs. Frierson plans to put down 90 feet more of the tile and plant lettuce, mustard, and radishes before time to set out tomato plants.

McKinney—A cutting bed 6 by 18 feet started in February 1933 has furnished a total of 137 strong plants for use as screen and foundation plantings in the yard of Mrs. Bart Bryant of Collin county, according to Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent. Although a freeze followed the first planting of the cutting bed, 32 cuttings were transplanted last fall as plants to screen the outbuildings. New cuttings were planted, and now Mrs. Bryant has a total of 105 living plants which will be used in foundation plantings. She plans to use waste water from the milk house to water the cutting bed by running it through subirrigation tile.

Mr. Jeter Newman and Beecher Newman of Harrison county have started a pasture demonstration. They have cut the brush, contoured the hillside and placed Bermuda grass sod on the contour. Each of them has seeded an acre with burhop, and white Dutch clovers.

The local all-stars met defeat at the hands of a picked team from Bosque county Tuesday afternoon. The writer has no alibis to propose, but would like very much to see the locals pitched against the Bosque county crew with coach Ewing and Busby in the local line-up. Ewing played exceptionally good ball in the first of the series of all-star football games. Busby who is a triple-treat, could have improved the Ex-Hornets offense to a great extent. The former Hornets made more yards from scrimmage and piled up more first downs than their opposition, yet lost 7-2.

Corpus Christi up-set practically ever sports-scribe's dope bucket in the State, and through the pigskin through the air to lick the Greenville crew last Saturday in Houston 34-14.

The Amarillo Sandies defeated the Masons last Saturday in Amarillo 3-0 to go to the State finals. The Masonic Home lads played a defensive game of ball that will be remembered by the Sandies, yet lost 3-0.

Amarillo and Corpus Christi officials met a few days ago and agreed to play the game in Dallas at the Fair Park Bowl. This is probably the best site in Texas for the game due to the fact that the Bowl will seat something like fifty thousand fans, and the field can be kept dry.

Several local fans will likely witness this game in Dallas Saturday. It will be a toss-up. The South Texas lads have been under-rated. Amarillo has a good offense and has the edge on the Bucs in weight. The Sandies are again doped to win from Corpus Christi 3-0.

The Cock-of-the Rock of South America is said to be the most beautiful bird in the world.
