The county agent has received 1577 checks amounting to $18,322.20 in payment of Pool Surplus Tax Exemption Certificates. Cards were sent out Saturday notifying signers the arrival of checks. There will be about 323 more checks to arrive.

The corn-hog program closed definitely last Saturday, March 9. The Corn-Hog committee will meet this week and appraise the corn-hog signers acreage. Signers are urged to have their acreage ready.

Cotton committeemen met yesterday for final study of the cotton program of 1935. Schedules that appeared in the papers last week will be followed. Cards for old signers as well as prospective signers will be carried out this week, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, respectively. Farmers are urged to follow this schedule in order to avoid delay in the cotton program.

In cases where there has been a change of legal status are divisions of legal form, next week, March 18 to 23, has been set aside for all interested parties of the cotton contract program to come before the county committee and sign the necessary papers and have them affected.

It is hoped that all applications for new contracts and old contracts will be in the county office by March 23.

Federal Special Relief Funds Available for Emergency Seed Loans

Austin, March 9.—Special funds have been made available to the Texas Relief Commission by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for the purpose of making emergency seed loans for spring planting of commercial and forage crops, it was announced today by Adam R. Johnson, State Relief Director.

"These funds have been made available to meet the emergency created by temporary lack of funds in the Farm Credit Administration which heretofore has made such loans," Mr. Johnson said. "Loans will be made in all cases of emergency regardless of whether the applicant is on the relief rolls or not. Applicants will be taken by county relief officers."

All applicants will be passed by the local county committees which heretofore have functioned under the Farm Credit Administration. It was pointed out, however, that no loans would be made to farmers who are able to obtain credit through usual commercial channels and that in cases where existing crop or chattel liens existed, waivers and non-disturbance agreements from such lien holders will be required before any loans will be approved. For non-relief clients, loans not to exceed $50 will be approved.

Mr. Johnson said the Relief Commission will discontinue making these loans immediately upon resumption of activities by the Farm Credit Administration.

ONE OUT OF EVERY THIRD CHILD DOOMED

Being of a cheerful turn of mind, we have tried to leave to insurance companies the somber task of charting life's overwhelming hazards. One particular hazard, however, has increased so steadily that we can hardly be held a spoilsport for calling the attention of 1935's parents to the fact that their children, according to the latest estimates, stand one chance in three of meeting death or serious injury from that deathlike convenience, the motor car. Take a room containing three children; one of them is destined to be killed or badly hurt by a car before he has completed his normal life span. Statistically, the motor car is life's ugliest joke; its toll makes war seem like a spring outing. —The New Yorker.

The black spider, so named because the female eats her mate, is found throughout the United States but is most plentiful in the Southern half.

Will Speak Tonight

Walter R. Adams, above, will be the guest speaker for the local Roundtable Club tonight. Mr. Adams is a native of Coryell county, and has many friends in this city.

Though he is one of the younger writers of the Southwest, Mr. Adams, with his first book, "The Dead Lie Down," takes his place among the mature lyrists of the country.

Mr. Adams has written many books of verse, and has gained a widely reputation, and newspapers as well as magazines have received his books, and passed very favorable comments on his work.

The topic of his discussion tonight is not known, however, it is understood he will speak on his particular profession. C. H. McGilvray, Jr., will introduce the speaker. The meeting will be in the District courtroom, and members of the local organization with their guests are invited to be present at 7:30 tonight.

MANAGERS OF SOFTBALL TEAMS MEET

Managers of the local softball teams met in the office of Eugene Alvis, Jr., and decided to sponsor another Softball League this year. Plans were set up to have six teams in the League, and play on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Two business men teams were also planned, however no action has been taken to date on that matter.

Realizing that the basketball season will soon terminate, managers have planned to give local citizens some real amusement through the summer months.

At the meeting no plans were provided for "donkey games" this year, however, it is thought arrangements could develop so local fans may again get the thrill of their lives by witnessing a few of the comedy games this season.

The rules as well as the schedule will appear in a later edition of the News, when plans have been ironed out for the opening date, which will be between the 1st and 15th of April.

Lots of fellows expect to get to heaven on a scalper's ticket.

AN EXPERIMENT IN PIONEERING

The Federal Government, under the relief administrations rehabilitation program, is trying an experiment, a reviving of pioneer days in moving two hundred families and four hundred unmarried laborers from the drought-blighted northwest to the rich manatusca valley, under Alaska's northern lights.

Their travel and preliminary expenses will be advanced them under the relief rehabilitation program. Members of this migrating party are to be selected immediately after a conference next week of State officials with Lawrence Westbrook, had of the rural rehabilitation division. Claims will be staked out on 8,000 acres of public land in the valley.

The first shipload will leave Seattle or San Francisco around May 1. The remainder will follow later in the month.

Landing at Seward, the settlers will be moved with their baggage to Anchorage, fifty miles from the valley, then will be sheltered under tents.

Officials said the summer would be devoted to clearing a part of the forty-acre homestead tracts allotted each family, building cabins and a school, and preparing for the first crop next spring.

Some of the 400 unmarried men will operate land-clearing machinery supplied by the Rural Rehabilitation Corporation. Others will work at a cooperative creamery to supply Anchorage, the Willow Creek gold field and nearby coal mine communities.

Grains and peas are expected to be the chief products from the 100-day growing season. Clearing the remainder of the land, officials said, will give the settlers plenty to do in the long winter months.

Still fighting Yankees! A niece of Gen. Robert E. Lee, living in Oklahoma had a scrap with her Yankee husband, 94, slapped him, and the Yankee husband declared she chased him with a butcher knife. It was her fourth Yankee husband. Just marries 'em to whip 'em! True spirit of the old time South!

DUSTING COVERS —OF— TEXAS HISTORY

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of several stories on early Texas history that the News has the pleasure to print in its columns. They are exceedingly interesting to students of Texas history and, being out of the ordinary style of history, throw many sidelights on events that were important factors in the making of the Republic of Texas, and later becoming a great commonwealth of the U. S.

The stagecoach that had left after reveille from Guadalupe Victoria March 26, 1836, carried news for Portilla of the Mexican army that meant disaster to Fannin and his fellow prisoners. Colonel Urrea wrote asking the Texans be given all consideration and that they be employed in erecting houses and building new quarters. The very same day an official order came from Santa Anna that all prisoners who surrendered by force of arms be shot.

As the prisoners were led out in a single file to the open space to be shot at sunrise on the morning of March 27th, thoughts of homes and families they were leaving behind must have occupied their minds. Perhaps by the time the Bluebonnets were in bloom again all the bloodstains would be gone from the field of war. They had done their part to protect their homeland and their rights. Some day their deaths might not be in vain.

Colonel, Fannin, wounded and ill, did not change his expression except for one horrified shadow which flicked across his face when he heard that he was to die as his friends had died. He had only two requests: Both were refused. He asked that he not be shot through the head, and that he be given a decent burial. He was shot in the head; his body burned on the funeral pyre with the others.

It was a violent shock to Urrea when he heard, hours later, of the massacre. Of course the Texans were his enemies, but after all, he had nothing absolutely personal against them. "I never thought that the horrible spectacle of that massacre could take place in cold blood and without immediate urgency. It was painful to me, also, that so many brave men should thus be sacrificed, particularly the much esteemed and fearless Fannin."

"Fannin was a gentleman, a man of courage, a quality which makes us soldiers esteem each other mutually. His manners captivated my affection, and if it had been in my hands to save him, together with his companions, I would have gladly done so. All I could do was to offer him to use my influence with the general-in-chief, which I did from the Guadalupe."

It is sad that he had such little power; for if he had had his will, the Texans would have experienced a different fate.

It would not be long before the cry, "Remember Goliad" would urge on the Texans to achieve their victory at San Jacinto, resulting in the independence, the Centennial of which is to be observed in 1936.

TWO MILLION DOLLAR BOND ISSUE FOR CENTENNIAL

Dallas, March 4.—The two million dollar bond issue of the Texas Centennial Central Exposition, which has been placed on sale, may be increased a half million dollars later if it is deemed necessary, officials of the committee said in announcing completed details on the securities that will bear 4 per cent interest and be repaid from net profits and gate receipts of the project.

The bonds are being issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 and will bear interest from April 1, date of issuance. Principal and interest are due on or before six months after the official closing date of the exposition in the fall of 1936.

These bonds are to be secured by the net profits of the exposition and after the first thirty days of operation not less than 33 1-3 per cent of the cash gate receipts shall be paid to the trustees each day. This cash will be used to create a sinking fund to pay principal and interest on the corporate bonds.

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

Amid declarations that Japan intends to attack the United States, the Senate passes an army appropriation bill of $400,000,000 last week. The bill, carrying an appropriation greater by nearly $70,000,000 than a year ago, and one of the largest ever proposed in peace time, reduced assertions that there is danger of conflict not only with Japan but with Great Britain and possibly other nations. Senator James Hamilton Louis of Illinois said unpreparedness invited trouble and that European nations as well as Japan are arming in preparation for conflict into which this country might be drawn.

Trouble in the Balkans again. That stormy petrel where most European conflicts originate seems again to be on the brink of war. Bulgaria and Turkey have entered formal protests at the League Council at Geneva against alleged mobilizations on their borders by troops of the other nations. The Bulgarian delegate at Geneva asserted that 24,000 Turkish soldiers have been sent from Asiatic Turkey into Eastern Thrace near the scene of the conflict between the Greek rebels and government troops. Turkey has also declared that Bulgaria was mobilizing its army and threatening Greece.

Siam has a new king but this one will rule not as an absolute monarch but will be advised and held in check by an elected parliament. King Prajadhipok has formally announced his abdication and little 11-year old Ananda Mahidol has been proclaimed the new monarch. A Regency Council will administer state affairs until the little King reaches a majority. Thus comes to an end the only remaining absolute monarchy existing at the present time.

It seems as if all the boys at Washington are getting eager to attack Huey Long. It is reported that the big boy at the White House has issued orders to open up on the Kingfish and the Chief's lieutenants are responding nicely. First Floor Leader Joe Robinson clashed with the Senator from Louisiana and now other Senators are getting ready to show at the first opportunity that they are not afraid of Huey. Included in the group are Bailey of North Carolina, a comparatively new member, George of Georgia, and Logan of Kentucky.

Joe Robinson probably welcomed the opportunity to take a crack at the Kingfish because of the Louisianan's boast that he will go into Arkansas in 1936 and defeat Mr. Robinson in his campaign for re-election. Another on the Long black-list is Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who has so far avoided a verbal clash with Huey. Harrison also comes up for re-election in 1936 and Long has promised to "get" him also. Huey's election campaign will all be over when the Arkansas and Mississippi primaries arrive. Huey injected a constitutional amendment in one of the recent bills railroaded through the Louisiana Legislature setting the Democratic primary for January. So the Kingfish will be free to crack down on Messrs. Robinson and Harrison good and strong by 1936 time.

THE STORY OF CANCER CONTROL

Written Especially for Women, with Special Emphasis on Preventability and Cure.

A Modern Woman's Viewpoint

An interesting report was recently made by Doctor Herbert L. Ratcliffe of the University of Pennsylvania, in the American Journal of Cancer. In this report Doctor Ratcliffe stated that about two per cent of all animals dying in the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens are afflicted with cancer or other tumorous growths. This conclusion was reached after a review of more than five thousand autopsy records at the Zoo.

This is but one of the many arresting bits of information relating to cancer which have been recorded from time to time since the disease was first mentioned in an Egyptian prescription dated 1600 B. C. In fact, there is evidence that the prehistoric animal, the Mososaur, a lizard like creature fifty feet long, who lived over a million years ago, developed a tumor like growth. Innumerable instances could be cited to show that malignancy has been found in all climates, in all races and in all peoples. Neither birds, fish, animals nor insects have escaped.

In the last 2 or 3 decades the knowledge relating to cancer has increased amazingly and the contributions resulting from research in physics, medicine, chemistry, foods and environment has been of incalculable value to medical science. More than any other person, the nature woman of today is in a position to reap the benefits; she may now lay aside an instinctive fear and fight cancer with knowledge.

For instance:—

1. Beyond recognizing the need for a balanced diet she permits her fancy to choose her food and drinks, which in moderation will not hurt her. She fears no vegetables, fish, fowl or variety of meats, whether they are smoked, salted or refrigerated. She cares not one iota whether her meals are cooked in a saucepan of copper, iron, aluminum or tin.

2. She fortifies her intelligence by reading the excellent health information which is being presented daily in newspapers and magazines.

3. She seeks additional information relative to the prevalence, nature, causes, danger signals, early signs, preventability and cure of cancer from the Cancer Committee of the State Medical Society, or secures pamphlets relative to it from her nearest state, city or county Board of Health.

4. She comes to possess that knowledge so necessary for success in the early treatment of cancer, which knowledge always comes to the timid, fearful and less well informed person when it is too late. In addition, she realizes that the advice and ideas of her neighbors and friends on the preventability and cure of cancer are often based on lack of correct information and to follow then jeopardizes her chance of cure. She realizes too, that advertised cancer cures are dangerous and of no avail.

Musk rats Cause Wreck of Power Plant

The railroad bridge at Hudson, Wis., over the St. Croix river which was damaged by a cave-in of the river bank thought to have been caused by muskrats tunneling under the bank. In the background may be seen part of the wreckage of the Willow River Power company's plant which was completely destroyed by the cave-in.

5. She protects her future by a periodic check-up of her physical condition which includes the latest scientific aids. She makes a cancer-minded family physician a confidant and follows his instructions implicitly.

6. When her physician is in doubt, she does not delay, but seeks a group medical opinion and acts on their advice, because she knows that the early curable case of cancer is frequently the most difficult to diagnose without special skill and equipment.

THE PRODUCTION OF CLEAN MILK AND CREAM

By Byron A. Bassel

The first factor to be considered in the production of high quality milk and cream, is the physical condition of the cow itself. The cow should be examined periodically and if any physical defects such as swelling or inflammation of the udder is noted, a veterinarian should be consulted at once, because these signs may be forerunners of indications of serious diseases in the cow, which might be spread to the others in the herd.

The next important step to be considered is the condition of the cow, as far as cleanliness is concerned. All long hairs which might hold dirt should be kept well trimmed, and before the belly, flanks and thighs. Then the udder should be well cleaned with a damp rag and dried thoroughly. With the cow in this condition the milker should then wash and DRY his hands thoroughly. The milk should be drawn from the cow into a small top milk pail, because the use of this pail which is 75 per cent covered means that there is 75 per cent less chance for contamination of the milk from falling dust, dirt, hair, etc.

Of course the barn in which the milking is done should be kept just as clean as possible; trash and dirt should not be allowed to collect on the floor, because this affords just that much more chance of contaminating and ruining milk. The walls and ceiling should be brushed off and clean so that there will be no chance of falling dirt getting into the milk. The barn should be well lighted and ventilated. Roughage should not be fed before milking, because the air will become filled with dust which will settle in the milk or in the milk pail. Also, feed should not be stored in the loft above where the milking is done, because of the danger of feed dropping into the milk.

While on the subject of feed it would be well to mention the consideration which should be given feeding, in order to avoid off flavors in the milk and consequently in the cream. All highly flavored feeds such as turnips, silage, wild onions, bitter weed, etc., should be avoided entirely if possible, because their particular flavors will be carried over into the milk. If these highly flavored feeds must be used, they should be fed immediately after milking and never before, because by doing this the possibility of their flavor being given to the milk is avoided.

Progress on Great Norris Dam

The penstock tubes of the Norris dam; one section of the dam which will reach a height of 250 feet at this point, showing the downstream end of the two huge tubes through which the waters of the Clinch river will flow into the turbines to furnish power to generate electricity for the plant.

Some explanation is due as to why all of these precautions in producing milk should be taken. The importance of keeping dirt or any form of contamination from the milk and cream is that this dirt etc., carries with it many germs, or bacteria, which cause the milk and cream to decompose in one way or another. This decomposition may be evidenced by souring, which is a natural process, ropiness, off flavors and colors, and many other conditions. When any of these occur you have a low quality product which will bring you a low price; therefore, to insure the highest possible price, it is necessary that attention be paid to the items about which we have been talking, namely: the physical condition of the cow itself, the way in which the cow is prepared for milking, the cleanliness of the milker, the type of pail used, the sanitary conditions of the barn, and the feed which is given the cow.

Nine farmers of Gregg county have made $2100 worth of leather out of $24 worth of hides at a cost of approximately $100. It is estimated that this leather is of a quality which will sell for 50 cents per pound and it cost about 4 cents per pound to make.

Gregg county's officials, taking note of the leather work of these farmers, bought $12 worth of hides and $60 worth of tanning materials and proceeded with the labor of county prisoners to tan 1200 pounds of leather for the county to use in making and repairing harness.

Before landscaping their home Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wright of Brooks county enclosed it with small limbs pruned from athol trees cut 12 inches long. These stakes were driven into the ground making an inexpensive but perfectly satisfactory enclosure for the under part of the house and background for foundation planting around the house.

Five hundred dollars in cash prizes are offered to Marion county farmers who secure the greatest yield of peas from five acre plots. This incentive is offered in an effort to place the county in the forefront of black eyed pea production. From 15 to 21 bushels per acre have been produced in the county.

Bexar—From a garden sub-irrigated with 300 feet of concrete tile laid at a cost of $3 Frances Steubing, garden demonstrator of Leon Valley 4-H Club in Bexar county, raised $98.50 worth of vegetables in 1934, according to Miss Marie Strange, home demonstration agent. In addition to supplying the family with fresh vegetables she had enough to can 200 containers. The total cost of her garden was $5.25, including the cost of the tile which she considers a permanent investment.

McKinney—As part of her yard improvement work, Mrs. Bart Bryant of Collin county had a man and team plow the bed where screen plantings to hide the outbuildings on the farm were to be set, according to Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent. The plants were cultivated carefully about every 10 days and particularly just after rains. Mrs. Bryant also made a cement tile cutting bed as part of her yard improvement work and she now has 105 cuttings ready for transplanting.

Marlin—From nine rows of plowed-up cotton land planted to black eyed peas and pinto beans in 1934, Mrs. B. L. Powell, of the Lamar Home Demonstration Club in Falls county canned 100 No. 3 containers for her pantry, according to Miss Virginia King, home demonstration agent. To fill her food budget for the year, Mrs. Powell also canned 185 containers of leafy vegetables, 100 cans of corn, 59 cans of succulent vegetables, 65 quarts of fruits and fruit juices, 131 cans of tomatoes and tomato juice, 20 cans of meat, 86 quarts of preserves and jelly, 54 jars of pickles and relishes, and made 20 lbs. of cheese. Her pantry is valued at $227.49.

Dimmitt—One hundred lambs are being fed for the 1935 Easter market by Colin Walton of Castro county whose successful feeding enabled him to win the grand championship with his load of 88 winter lambs at a stock show in Fort Worth last year, according to E. W. Thomas, county agricultural agent.

Because of unusual skill in feeding and the use of South-down bucks on Rambouillet ewes, Walton's lambs weighed 86½ pounds at the age of five months. The lambs were dropped mostly in October and run on wheat pasture with the ewes until the last 30 days before the show. They were fed threshed milo, oats and spelt in self feeders until the latter part of the feeding period when they were fed ground feed twice daily. The lambs had free access to a mixture of equal parts of salt and bone meal and were fed bundle sorghum along with their dams when taken off the wheat.

The 88 lambs consumed 7200 pounds threshed milo, 1600 lbs. oats and spelt, and 748 pounds cotton seed cake which all cost $81.22. Walton sold 50 head weighing 90 pounds at 14 cents making $630.00, and 38 head weighing 82 pounds at 10 cents making $311.60, totaling $940.60 for the lot.

Rockwall—A net profit of $459.90 was made on six acres of onions in 1934 by T. H. Smith of Rockwall county, according to W. R. Holsey, county agricultural agent. The plants cost $15.00 per acre, and other expenses amounted to $159.45, making a total of $249.45. His total receipts for the sale of the onions was $459.90. The plants were cultivate according to methods outlined by the county agricultural agent.

NOTED SPEAKER TO APPEAR AT METHODIST CHURCH

Miss Norma C. Brown, of Bloomington, Illinois, announced for an address in the Methodist Church, Sunday, March 17th, at 2:30 p. m. She is declared by her friends to be no old-style speaker on the drink problem. She comes to discuss "The Oncoming War with the Liquor Traffic."

Her contact with all sections of the country—she has spoken many times in every state—has put her in touch with the mind of the people. Her wide acquaintance with political and religious leaders has made her familiar with their thought on the issue. It is announced that among the questions she will answer in her address are:

- Why Was the Eighteenth Amendment Repealed?
  - What Has Been Saved from the Wreck?
  - Can a Nation Drink Itself Into Prosperity?
  - What Are the Requisites for Victory?
- She has her back to the past and is facing the future with clear conviction as to what must be done. She undertakes to place the issue fairly and squarely before the people. In addition to her duties as Vice-President, she is Editor-in-chief of the National Enquirer—through which she speaks constantly to its readers.

Since Jan. 1, 1934 Miss Brown has been heard from coast to coast. Five weeks of her time were given to Kansas where she had a significant part in the campaign that held the fifty-four year dry amendment. Immediately after election she began an extensive itinerary of the Pacific Coast states to acquaint the friends of prohibition with the national situation and call them to the fight to take the government out of the hands of the wets.

The meeting here is open to the public. There is no admission charge.
