E. T. Nagle Speaks To Assembled Farmers In District Court Room

Speaking to a large number of farmers and land owners in the District Court Room Saturday, E. T. Nagle, State Administrator for the Soil Erosion Camps of Texas, outlined and explained to those present just what the Erosion Service would expect of the farmer or land owner, and also what the farmer and land owner could expect from the Erosion Service.

Mr. Nagle stressed particularly that a thorough understanding and positive co-operation between both parties concerned was absolutely necessary for any program like this to be put over. He stated, also that unless the farmers agreed to the specifications read to the assembled groups, and to the stipulations in the contracts, that no work would be done on their farms. This program, according to Mr. Nagle, is one of co-operation by the farmer and the Erosion Authorities, and the government is no going to waste any money on those who will not co-operate with the camp.

Mr. Nagle stated that there were no hitches in the contract signed by the farmer and the Erosion authorities, and that everything is thoroughly explained so that both parties would be in agreement before any work is done at all.

As far as expense to the farmer, according to Mr. Nagle, most of the expense would be the necessary use of his teams and his labor.

Those interested may register with County Agent D. W. Sherrill, secure application blanks and further information.

"THE RENDEZVOUS" OPENS WITH TWO H. S. BOYS AS PROPRIETORS

Gatesville's only "drive out" place, The Rendezvous, has just re-opened for the season near Aubrey Walker's store at the end of Leon Street pavement, giving "guaranteed curb service" with proprietors Royce Davis and Edwin McDonald, both high school boys.

Serving the public root beer, sandwiches, cold drinks and cold candy, these boys will give you what you want when you want it.

Mrs. Claude Turner, accompanied by her small son Benny Claude, are visiting in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Swint and daughter Miss Jo, of Iowa Park, Texas.

COUNTY BOARD MET WITH BUSY SESSION FRIDAY

Friday, June 14, was a busy day for the County Board, and Flat School No. 93 and Flint Creek No. 29 asked to be consolidated. The board acted as far as it could legally in this matter.

This board and local boards are studying closely the matter of giving every child a chance at an affiliated school without any additional cost to the individual.

The Superintendent's office asks that all transfers be made in July. The state department asked that the county board suggest a convenient and economic set up of bus lines for this county at its August meeting.

Mr. Witcher also advised that all the force in the office was working with the compilation of the census rolls, term reports, and collecting data on the standard tests.

FORMER CORYELL RESIDENT PASSES AWAY IN ABILENE

Miss Mildred Ward, who for the past eight years has been in a hospital at Abilene under the care of Dr. T. B. Bass, died Thursday, June 13. Miss Ward had been in ill health for several years but seemed to be better the past several months.

The body was brought to Gatesville for burial which was Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the City Cemetery with Rev. Owens, pastor of the Church of Christ, conducting the services.

Miss Ward was born in Coryell County November 19, 1908. She was a member of the Church of Christ, having joined at the age of seventeen.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ward, seven sisters; Mrs. J. B. Wiggins of Gatesville, Mrs. E. P. Foster of Cisco, Mrs. D. F. Beasley of Killeen, Mrs. W. A. Prewitt of Gatesville, Mrs. A. P. Brashear of Temple, Mrs. J. E. Buster of Waco and Miss Hazel Ward of Temple; three brothers, Edwin Ward of Navasota, Jack Ward of Beeville and Bill Ward of McGregor. All attended the funeral.

Mrs. Theo Copeland and children of Dallas and Dr. E. B. Baker and son of Edcough are visitors this week in the home of Mrs. D. H. Burt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Waller and Mrs. J. W. Harper were visitors last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Gardner of Oglesby. They are visiting this week with Mrs. S. R. Belamy at Port Arthur.

UNPAID TEACHERS NOW HAVE HOPES OF BEING PAID PART SALARY

Federal aid authorities, according to Supt. J. M. Witcher hope to be able to pay teachers at the rate of $15.00 per week for all time taught after the regular school money gave out.

Bus drivers, so affected, will be paid at the rate of $11.25 after the teachers are paid.

This money has not been released yet, but Mr. Witcher stated Federal authorities had advised that it would be soon.

SOME SAY PLENTY, SOME SAY MORE, ANYHOW IT RAINED!

Rainfall for the past week has amounted to date to a total of 3.13, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau equipment on the Courthouse lawn.

We've heard some kicks about too much, some about too little and some not enough. It can't please everyone. Some talk is of damaged crops, but discounting the damage, we're going to do better than we have in several years anyway. Too, unlike other sections of the country, things are not floating around much and bridges are not washing out here like they are in a number of other places. Cheer up! We're plenty lucky!

SERVICES AT MOUNTAIN

Church services will be held Saturday night and Sunday, June 22 and 23, with Rev. Ira Grantham as preacher. Dinner will be on the ground and everyone is urged to be present.

Since returning from the Firemen's Convention at El Paso, Bill Ament and a few others who made the trip, have a few yarns about Juarez, as well as the Convention. Thanks for the Mexican cigarette, Bill. Jack Bone sometimes looks as if he has turned "cowboy" since returning from school. Some have hit-us-up about "doing" on the Fourth; and dear readers are requested to read the editorial "What Are We Going To Do the Fourth?" Looking fired and heartbroken, Doyle Baldrige greets us, and wants to know if we haven't been on a vacation, says he hasn't seen us in quite a while. Thanks Doyle for letting us know we have been out of town. We're human and like compliments, and Miss Jessie Rubarth comes in with a lovely one and renews her subscription, saying nice things to us. Too, we had the pleasure of meeting Gayle Walley, one of T. C. U's famous exes, and who is here for a vacation. Ex-Ed Ayres Compton went into a huddle with us and gave us some high points on the recent Texas Press Association meeting in Galveston. "Flaming Mamie" red light delivery operated by "Bill" Morgan got loose yesterday and ran over

TURNOVER ADULT SCHOOL ENTERTAINS JUNE 22

Headlined by two plays, with complete casts Turnover Adult Schools are holding "public day" with the school members participating. The plays entitled, "Silver Lining" and "Gay Pretenders," will occupy 1 hour and 30 minutes and 1 hour and 45 minutes respectively.

Special seats will be reserved for all Adult Teachers and it is expected that Supt. J. M. Witcher, and Miss Elizabeth Lazenty, U. S. Adult School Supervisor will be present. No admission charge will be made.

HAVE OUTING FRIDAY NITE

Sixteen Boy Scouts, accompanied by Messrs. J. M. Witcher, Roger Miller and E. W. Jones, had an outing Friday night under a cliff on Coryell creek northeast of town on the Coryell City road.

Although the day had been rainy and the ground wet, it was dry under the cliff, where the scouts prepared and enjoyed their supper.

RETURN FROM SOUTH TEXAS

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Morton return today from Corpus Christi where they have been spending a short vacation, according to publicity director, J. M. Witcher.

Brother Morton will be in charge of the Wednesday evening prayer service and also the services next Sunday, and all members are urged to be present to welcome him and his family home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Straw and children returned to their home here after a fifteen day trip to Washington, D. C. by the northern route and returning home by the southern route visiting places of interest along the southern coast.

SCORPIO

Scorpio, one of the 12 signs of the Zodiac, so they say, made her appearance in multitudes locally. Old lady scorpion made her appearance at "Rip" Walker's house accompanied by approximately 50 or more children clinging tenaciously to her back, sides and any other place they could possibly stick on.

Not being a shark in "Bugology" we didn't know about this. "Rip" says she carries her brood with her until they gradually eat her up and leave nothing but a "frame." From the number sticking with her, she certainly won't last long, and there's going to be many a sting in that scorpion's cargo.

She was safely confined in a well known fruit jar, with the lid on—well not too loose. Here's hoping she R. I. P. and that even if she's done right by her little Johnnies and Marys, she and her brats, we're sure will never be allowed to get out from behind glass.

Just another one of the everyday "phonies" that happen here in Coryell

NRA May Be Dead Here Technically, but Many Merchants Are in Line

Although the "chicken" got the N. R. A. bird in the Supreme Court technically, the old bird has left his mark with the majority of Gatesville merchants, who are still following the law if not the letter of the NRA.

Naming all the merchants who are still with the "bird" is impossible, since we have not interviewed, but the consensus of opinion and from chance remarks in conversation with them, we find most of them "still flying the Blue Eagle," as to working conditions, hours, salaries, and price levels.

NEFF PARK CCC CAMP WINS AWARDS FOR MAY

Mother Neff Park, CCC camp at Neff Park, won the pennant for May as the best all round camp in sub-district 2, which includes Taylor, Temple, Troy, Belton, Burnet and Coolidge, Lt. H. A. Little, Commanding officer, has announced.

Hillsboro, Brownwood, and Ottine were winners in the other sub-districts. Competition for the West Texas district flag will take place among the groups some time this week.

WHAT'S THE VALUE OF MONEY?

Dallas, June 17.—E. M. Baker, federal referee in bankruptcy here, is wondering about the answer to a puzzler, the question mark of which is "what is the value of money?"

As referee Baker presents the puzzle, a salesman stopped at a hotel and asked the manager to put a $100 bill in the hotel safe.

The salesman left next day on a trip of several weeks. The same day, the manager of the hotel used the $100 bill to pay a groceryman.

The groceryman, in turn, paid a debt to a wholesale concern, which later paid a debt of its own with the same bill.

The bill passed through a number of hands, and finally was given back to the hotel manager by a guest in payment of a bill for $100.

The original owner of the bill, the salesman, returned to the hotel, asked for and was given the same $100 that he had left there.

The hotel manager gasped when the salesman rolled the bill up, stuck it in a fire and lighted his cigar with it.

"What on earth," the manager asked in consternation, did you do that for?"

"That was a counterfeit bill," the salesman said.

Referee Baker lets his listeners draw their own conclusions about the different transaction in which the $100 bill figured and then asks:

"What is money?"

WHAT ARE "WE" GOING TO DO THE FOURTH?

Well, it's nearly upon us, and the question is being asked "WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO THE FOURTH?"

The Fourth means nothing in Gatesville, only that there won't be any one here. Everyone either stays home and rests or gets out to Belton, Lampasas, Waco, and any other place where there is a rodeo, parade or some other form of celebration, while self-satisfied Gatesvillians sit here and let oodles and oodles of good old American coin go elsewhere and into other pockets, where it hasn't a chance to return here again.

We believe old Gatesville has the initiative, originality and anything else it takes to put on a show of sufficient note that will hold what has been getting away, as well as enticing a lot of others in here, that are certainly going places this coming glorious Fourth.

It seems, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Lion's Clubs are asleep to a golden opportunity, both as to revenue, and the more valuable consideration Good Advertising and Good Will for the best looking little town in Texas that we've seen, by not putting, promoting or abetting some kind of a Celebration that will draw for the Fourth.

With only fifteen or twenty days, a lot COULD be done about this. We've a beautiful park, swimming pool and a lot of other places where splendid amusements and programs could be arranged, also two bands that are available, and for the life of us, we don't see WHY NOT!

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦
SEAPORTS' POLICY.

"Vice-President James D. Mooney of General Motors delivered his address in New York Monday on the economic values of international trade to no unfriendly audience, nor to an unappreciative one. Unusual as a convention talk, the speech was presented in written and illustrated form; picture captions formed an integrated part of the entire argument.

"The pictures told a story that the seaport cities have already learned to know. It was a repetition of the irrefutable statement that domestic prosperity depends on foreign trade. When the freighters lie idle in port, the surplus piles up at home. Mooney presented the argument that for foreign trade to exist, the ships must carry a load both ways. We can not sell when we do not buy. The seaport cities were asked in the argument to join in supporting and enlarging the reciprocal trade treaties engineered by Cordell Hull."

From statistics we've seen, export cotton trade with Germany is approximately 70 per cent off; France and other countries who used to use our cotton are equally bad off. Since the depression, the slack off of cotton exports have been appalling, and even a number of cotton exporters are either moving outright or opening branch offices in South America where tariff rates are more favorable and that country is beginning to gobble up the trade the south has been dependent upon for their bread and butter.

"This is not a seaport fight, but one in which every phase of production is interested. Tariff reduction and mutual trade is a question of markets, not of ports. These are but intermediaries of and exchange which has had a costly lapse."—Dallas News.

The Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium law provided that when a farmer was threatened with foreclosure he could apply to a Federal court for aid. The court was empowered to issue a stay against the foreclosure and have the property revalued by local appraisers. Thereafter, the law provided, the farmer could remain on the property for five years for a small annual rental. At any time during that period he could again regain title to his land by paying the appraised value—which, as the appraisal was made on the basis of depression values, was bound to be much less than the original mortgage. The Supreme Court held that it deprived a mortgage holder of property without just compensation as provided for in the Constitution.

By JOE BURNS

SOMEWHERE in the United States there is a man who barely a year hence will be nominated for the difficult task of leading the Republican party back to national power.

It is customary to mention Herbert Hoover in any discussion of G. O. P. presidential possibilities. At present there is little enthusiasm for renominating Mr. Hoover. Hoover has given no indication publicly that he wants or will try to get the nomination. That he wants vindication from the 1932 defeat is a safe assumption. Possibly he would accept the nomination if it were offered, but would not exert influence to get it. It is safe to say that it would be difficult to unite all the widely divergent factions of the Republican party with Mr. Hoover as the candidate. Nevertheless, Mr. Hoover will remain the key figure of the party from now until July 1936.

Well, then, who else? Without any attempt to list them in the order of expectancy, the Republicans from whom the next candidate will likely be chosen include:

Senator Arthur A. Vandenberg of Michigan, who was one of the few Republican senators re-elected in 1934. He has been about 50 per cent for the New Deal and is well liked in the North.

Col. Franklin Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News. He is widely and favorably known among Republican organization leaders, was a veteran of Teddy Roosevelt's Progressive party fight in 1912, and has been a vigorous anti-New Deal opponent.

Rep. James W. Wadsworth of New York State, former United States Senator. He is strictly anti-New Deal.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City. He would receive the indorsement of such statesmen as Senators Borah, Norris, Nye, and Wheeler. He is frequently suggested by some of the advance liberals in Congress.

Dr. Glenn Frank, president of Wisconsin University. Unknown in the South, he has had no active political experience but has made wide contacts thru constant speaking tours about the country.

Ogden L. Mills of New York, Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury. He is influential in the party but seldom viewed as a good vote getter.

Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa. He is a conservative of a large farm bloc, affable, rousing, and a sturdy campaigner. He has a good geographical location for a successful candidate.

Former Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire. He is a progressive and is closely allied with the party's national conservative leaders.

Former Governor Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin. He is a conservative and has a long record of excellent labor relations in his plumbing factories.

Theodore Roosevelt of New York. He has a successful record as a territorial governor in the Philippines and Puerto Rico, but has difficulty in persuading party leaders to take him seriously.

Patrick J. Hurley of Oklahoma, Secretary of War under Hoover. He is a rousing speaker and is favorable to some features of the New Deal program.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon. He is the Republican leader of the Senate but is friendly to the New Deal. He is a progressive, opposed to the eastern conservative leadership of the party.

Rep. Bertrand H. Snell of New York. He is the House Republican leader and is vigorously anti-New Deal.

With the Democrats commanding the executive departments and both houses of Congress, a Governorship is one of the highest political offices a Republican can hold. Of the forty-eight Governors, eight are Republicans and must be given favorable mention in our discussion of G. O. P. presidential timber.

The most talked-of Republican Governor is Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey. Hoffman defeated the powerful New Jersey Democratic machine of Frank Hague in a Democratic year and is regarded as a distinct possibility in 1936 or 1940.

Governor Harry Nice of Maryland is mentioned chiefly because as a Republican candidate for Governor in 1934 he defeated Maryland's long-time favorite Democrat, Albert C. Ritchie.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam of California defeated Democrat-Socialist Upton Sinclair for the governorship of that state in 1934. Endorsed by the California Young Republicans.

Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas. He was elected Govern-nor in 1932 and 1934 in the face of a Democratic sweep of the state. He favors the New Deal in part and is allied with the progressive faction of the state organization. There is a sentiment for placing him on the ticket in 1936, either as candidate or running-mate.

Governor C. Douglas Buck of Delaware was recently indorsed for the presidency by the Delaware Legislature.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald of Michigan, H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and Charles M. Smith of Vermont are being favorably mentioned.

As a final reach for the Republicans there are two men on the Supreme bench who would be widely favored should it be thought they would consider entering politics—Justice Harlan F. Stone and Owen J. Roberts.

Justice Stone has never run for office. He is sixty-two years old, a noted lawyer, and was Attorney-General under Coolidge. He usually joins the liberal wing of the Supreme Court in major decisions. In Stone the Republicans would find a man of untried political talents, but a genial, highly popular, exceptionally able, and flexible-minded. (Continued from page 3)

TABLE SHOWING INCREASE IN NUMBERS OF BACTERIA IN CREAM AT DIFFERENT TEMPERATURES IN RELATION TO TIME

TIME FROM MILKING UNTIL DELIVERED AT CREAMERY

It is very necessary that cream be delivered as often as possible for two important reasons: (1) cream under 4 days old possesses a natural aromatic flavor that is very desirable and which disappears with age; (2) holding the cream too long results in the development of many off flavors which tend to lower the quality of the product. These two points should be discussed separately.

In regard to the first one, that is, the natural aroma and flavor possessed by cream when it is fresh, it is very important that this virtue of the cream be preserved. Butter made from cream less than 4 days old and which has been properly cared for, will possess a distinctive natural flavor which cannot be duplicated by any means of processing. 4 day delivery coupled with our present method of grading by taste, smell, and sediment tests, would be desirable due to the fact that we would receive the fresh cream with its natural flavor preserved without having any off flavors or odors, and without being grossly contaminated by extraneous matter.

In regard to the second reason for frequent delivery of cream I would like to discuss briefly some of the flavors which develop from holding the cream too long. The discussion of the developed flavors is taken partially from Extension Bulletin No. 109 of the Michigan State College of Agriculture.

High Acid or Rancid Cream: Such cream is very sour and often bitter in taste. It is caused by use of unclean milk pails and dirty separator, by lack of proper cooling, by mixing warm and cold cream together, or by holding at a high temperature.

Yeasty or Foamy Cream: Such cream has a characteristic yeasty pungent smell and fluffy, foamy body. This defect is brought about by uncleanliness, by failure to hold the cream at a low temperature and by exposure of the utensils and cream to dust laden air.

Cheesy Cream: Cheesy cream has the taste and smell of an aged cheddar cheese. Such flavors in cream results from unclean utensils, dirty separator, low butterfat content and to holding the cream for a long period of time.

Bitter Cream: Bitter flavor may result from souring cream at low temperature for a long time or may be a flavor carried over from the milk.

Tallowy Cream: This flavor results from unclean production and holding for a long period of time at a low temperature and especially in the presence of light, particularly the direct rays of the sun.

Fishy Cream: This flavor develops in cream held for a long time at a low temperature and is very objectionable. Many cream producers have the mistaken idea that holding cream for a long period of time tends to increase the butterfat content. It is true that the butterfat test on a batch of cream held over a period of time will be higher, but this increase in test is due to the evaporation of moisture from the cream and does not mean any greater. The butterfat content will remain the same, although there will be a variation in the weight of the cream itself due to evaporation. Delivery as often as possible, at least every 4 days, will pay the producer dividends because his cream reaching the market will be of high quality and in such condition that a true representative butterfat test can be made on the same.

Other news releases will be sent out at intervals dealing further with the production and marketing of high quality milk and cream.

Despite the fact that there are many coal deposits in Texas and that many of them have been mined profitably, natural gas in the state has practically ended the coal mine business. Texas is noted throughout the land as a state with clean cities due to the use of natural gas.

When Sam Houston first took charge of the Texas forces as their Commander-in-Chief he sent orders to Col. Wm. B. Travis to dynamite the Alamo, which he termed a "death-trap" and told Col. Travis to retreat. Both these orders were disobeyed.

"Your name and fame will be enrolled amongst the greatest chieftains," Andrew Jackson, wrote his former lieutenant—Sam Houston, following his victory at San Jacinto.

Nearly all of the mineral wealth now enjoyed by the United States of America came into the country directly due to the Texas revolution, as most of it lies within the states carved from the Mexican acquisition following America's War with Mexico over the annexation of Texas.

World Comment—

Justice Roberts is sixty years old. He was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Hoover. High-up Democrats seem to fear a man like Justice Roberts more than any others mentioned. There will be more discussion of Mr. Roberts in this column as the months roll by.

The difficulty would lie in persuading either of these gentlemen to resign from the Supreme Court to enter the chancy game of politics against a president as strong politically as President Roosevelt. In 1916 the G. O. P. turned to the Supreme Court for a presidential candidate—Charles E. Hughes, —and almost put him in the White House.

"MARY JANE'S PA" OPENS AT REGAL THEATRE TODAY

"Mary Jane's Pa," the new Warner Bros. comedy drama, opens at the Regal Theatre today, with Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee teamed again in the stellar roles.

The picture is a whimsical story of a small town printer who is born with the wanderlust and who cannot resist the call of the road when a train whistles. Deserting his wife and two children, he wanders the world over, returning after many years to find them moved, no one knows where.

Kibbee has the role of the tramp printer while Aline MacMahon, who buys a newspaper to support her family, is the deserted wife who makes good on her own and subjects her husband, who finally finds his family, to the role of caretaker to the children, who do not know him.

Nan Gray, as the older daughter, and Tom Brown have the romantic roles, being very much in love against the mother's wishes. Betty Jean Hancy has the part of the younger daughter, who has inherited the wandering instincts of her father.

Robert McWade and Minor Watson have the roles of political enemies and opposing candidates, while others in the cast include Johnny Arledge, Robert Light, Oskar Apfel, DeWitt Jennings and Carl Stockdale.

The story is based on the play, "Mary Jane's Pa," by Edith Ellis Furness and the novel version by Norman Way. William Keighley directed the production from the screen play by Tom Reed and Peter Milne.

Moses Austin was a Spanish before he ever had his "dream" of colonizing Texas. He swore allegiance to the flag of Spain when he removed from Virginia to Missouri to go into the lead mine business. What later became the Louisiana Purchase was at that time under Spanish control due to a treaty existing between Spain and France. Spain later ceded the territory back to France and the latter nation sold it to the United States.

CHAPTER III
WHAT HAS HAPPENED
Nicky Kerry, extremely wealthy, handsome and in his middle thirties, is acknowledged as Europe's most sought after man. He is utterly charming, especially to women, and thoroughly likeable. His younger brother, Brian, is of more serious mien, taking Nicky's place in the architectural world when Nicky resigns. Nicky is introducing Brian to the Riviera, and while alone in Monte Carlo, meets beautiful young Kay. Though he doesn't expose his name, they become companions for the evening. They are out in what Kay thinks is a borrowed speedboat. It really is Nicky's.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Kay's eyes opened wide. "Oh, look!" She pointed to a large, graceful yacht anchored in the bay. She didn't know, of course, it was Nicky's. "Gorgeous, isn't she!"
"Not bad at all!"
"Probably belongs to some old millionaire—with a fat stomach and a bald head!"
Kay laughed. "Yes—let's give him a red nose!"
Nicky looked up. "The octogenarian millionaire's probably gone ashore tonight. What'd you say we go aboard—and have a look around?"
"Would we dare?" Kay was excited.
"Let's take a chance."
In a few minutes more they were at the top of the ladder leading to the deck of the ship. Steadily, they stepped on the deck.
"Maybe we'd better not—" whispered Kay.
"Let's look the old tub over. I've ing for me—And tomorrow all this will be gone... all this—magic! I've had so much of hotels—and crowds—people that didn't matter. Please let me stay a little longer—" Nicky hesitated, then: "All right, my dear." He turned and pressed a button. Almost immediately Weems appeared.

"Yes, sir?"
"Mademoiselle will stay on board tonight."
Weems bowed and moved away with a doleful sigh. Kay looked at Nicky, startled.
"Oh, but I'm afraid I—"
Nicky smiled. "I shall be sleeping on shore." He bowed. "Sweet dreams."
Nicky returned in the morning. There was breakfast—a charming affair—and a delightful swim in the cool waters. Morning turned into noon, noon into evening—a very ordinary procedure—but not so for Kay—oh, not for Kay! Alone, on the deck, their cigarettes glowed in the dark. Impulsively, Kay reached out to clasp Nicky's hand.
"I know it's late—but, oh, it's been so heavenly—every minute of it—"
Nicky spoke lightly. "I'm rather sorry I brought you here."
"Why?"
"Because I'm afraid this boat will never seem the same. On nights like this—I'll always be seeing you—your little ghost will haunt me—"
Kay turned away. "That's very pretty—but I don't want to be a ghost." She turned back again, impetuously. "Monte—you told me I was too romantic. Perhaps I am—"

"I can say it now..." Her voice was a whisper, "I love you."
(Posed by Tullio Carminati and Lillian Harvey)

always wanted to see how these capitalists live!"
They turned, startled, as a third voice was heard. It was the steward.
"Do you wish something, sir?"
"Oh!" Kay stepped back. "We—we were just going!"
Nicky stepped forward bravely. "A bottle of champagne, please."
"Champagne, sir?"
Nicky nodded. "Champagne. You know—that stuff with bubbles!"
The steward blinked, then turned and hurried away. Kay turned frightened eyes to Nicky.
"Now we will be put off!"
Nicky sank into a wicker chair. "Then let's enjoy it while it lasts. Sit down, Carlotta. Make yourself at home. Cigarette?"
"Monte, in just about ten seconds some muscle-bound sailors are going to rush up and throw us overboard." Kay turned suddenly. "And here they come!"
But the stewards were bringing champagne—to Kay's utter amazement. She bent close and whispered in his ear. "How'd you get away with it?"
"I have an honest face."
For a few moments, the peace of the night, the champagne and the enchanting moon made a sublime combination. But the enchantment vanished with Weems' voice.
"Beg pardon, sir. Will you be sleeping on board tonight?"
Kay gasped. "Oh! This is your boat!"
"Weems," said Nicky crossly, "you're a blockhead."
Kay began to laugh. "Oh, you beast! Aren't you ashamed of yourself! I was feeling so sorry for you! Poor but honest!"
"And now you find I'm neither poor nor honest."
Kay smiled, her voice was low. "I'm afraid you're all the things I'd hoped you would be..."
"So you believe it was Fate that arranged for us to meet?"
Kay sighed. "I suppose every girl dreams that some day Prince Charming will come along..."
"Prince Charming? He's only a myth—like the stork."
"Why do you insist on destroying all my illusions? Is that kind?" Nicky smiled. "Perhaps it's the kindest thing possible. You see, my dear—you're very romantic."
"At least that's better than not believing in anything!"
"I like you," said Nicky gently. "I don't want you to be hurt." He straightened suddenly. "I'm taking you home. It's midnight."
Kay smiled. "But I'm not Cinderella!"
Nicky took her hands and lifted her to her feet. "Get your overshoes and mittens. Home you go!"
Kay pleaded wistfully. "Please—not yet! I only have that dreary hotel to go to—it doesn't matter when I get there Nobody's wait-but—but I'm not ashamed of it. I'm glad!"

The ship's bell tolled. Kay looked up into Nicky's eyes.
"I know—don't tell me. It's midnight—and this time I must go—"
Nicky rose, helping Kay to her feet. Her hand tightened on his. "Don't go back to the hotel with me—I'd rather go alone. Listen!" The faint sound of music drifted to them from the shore. "They're playing a waltz. That's for—us!" She moved closer to him, her eyes radiant with the fiery wave of emotion that swept through her. Her voice was uow provocative. "Dance with me—She was in his arms, their bodies close. They began to sway to the slow, beautiful rhythm of the waltz. Their faces touched. Kay, her body seeming to merge with the night with the dance, closed her eyes. She had become an infinite part of the enchantment of that night—enchantment that could never be recaptured... it was hers now... the night was hers...
Their steps became slower... slower... they stopped—still in each other's arms. Nicky pulled her closer to him. Tenderness, longing, worship were in Kay's eyes.
"I can say it now..." her voice was a whisper, "I love you."
Nicky's arms tightened. Kay lifted her lips to his....

Morning. With the rise of the sun seems to come a new life. Each day holds something new for all of us... for some it is really life... for some... heartbreak, disillusionment, tragedy... death....
Kay, in her hotel awoke entranced... she seemed living in an aura of ecstasy... though the word escaped Kay, she could not doubt the sincerity of her feelings.
The man...
The man... and the night... romance. She had made him see it. She had broken down his false wall of cynicism. Kay smiled. Had she, Kay, taught this unbeliever love? She hoped, she prayed, this morning would bring him the happiness she felt. But he must—he must feel it—his kisses....
The maid was at the door of her room. "Pardon, Mademoiselle—for you." She handed Kay an envelope.
"Thank you." Kay tore it open eagerly. From him—it must be! She read the note, quickly avidly. Her eyes closed, she sank weakly to the bed. The note, in Nicky's writing, read: "Forgive me, my dear, for leaving like this, but to say goodbye would spoil a very beautiful memory. Some day you will understand that my way—which you think cruel now—is best."
Kay ran to the window. In the bay, far in the distance, a yacht—Nicky's—was moving slowly, deliberately away.

What is "THE FLAME WITHIN" That Burns Deepest in You?

It doesn't matter who you are, what you are, where you are or how much you know. There is a "Flame Within" that brings you either joy or sadness, beauty or sordidness, tenderness or meanness.

It colors your life, thoughts and emotions. It might be ceaseless ambition, emotional tenderness, vivid personality.

What is "The Flame Within" that burns deepest in you? Psychoanalyze yourself right now and tell us what that quality is which dominates your life.

For the briefest and most intelligent psychoanalyses (self-descriptions) the Coryell County News will award to its women readers 10 pairs of Guest Tickets to the most startling and exciting production in any woman's life, "The Flame Within," coming to the Palace Theater for three days, beginning Saturday night, June 22.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture stars Ann Harding, Herbert Marshall and Maureen O'Sullivan in a special cast of players.

For the first time on the screen, every woman will see herself revealed—her secret desires, her hidden thoughts of the heart, the tortures and ecstasies of love as she has experienced it.

It is so much like herself that every woman will be amazed—and will think to herself, "Here is part of my life, my thoughts, my desires."

Mail your answers to "The Flame Within," Editor not later than Friday, June 21, to be eligible for the guest tickets.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION WILL URGE MODERN ROADS BEFORE BODY

Austin—In a determined effort to obtain $100,000,000 for gap-closing on Texas highways before the Centennial and the opening of the Mexico City road, Harry Hines, new chairman of the State Highway commission, will lead a delegation of Texas leaders to Washington in mid-June, he has announced.

His hope is to impress the federal administration with the fact that the building of modern highways in Texas can provide more and better and quicker employment than weed-cutting, ditching or many of the other former CWA activities. It can do this, he contends, with minimum waste or abuses, and the result will be useful, permanent, revenue-producing facilities.

Gov. James V. Allred favors utilization of road-building as a means of unemployment relief in Texas, an has wired his view to President Roosevelt.

"Well over 90 per cent of the Texas road dollar goes to labor either on the job or in the factories, mills and pits behind it," Mr. Hines explained, "and this is why we hope to get some of the money from purely temporary relief projects shifted to it."

Texas sold a portion of five states—Oklahoma, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico, covering 100,000 square miles of land to the United States government for $10,000,000.

DUSTING COVERS — OF — TEXAS HISTORY

The bareheaded rider dashed off, leaving a family of three children and a tired-looking mother looking after him in bewilderment. He had told them to gather their belongings and flee—Santa Anna and his troops were going to overcome Texas. The result of Mexican rule would be disastrous. He told them the Texan troops were retreating, and that there were at least five thousand in the Mexican army.

The man was one of the few deserters from the Texan army; the family was one of many who were to flee from their homes in great terror. It seemed as though the whole world were topsy-turvy. Houston had left Gonzales in flames on the night of March 13, and the homeless were in a sort of daze.

If only the incessant rain would stop for just one day! Day after day, night after night the rain came; often in torrents, more often in a steady drizzle. The roads were slushy; mud gobbled up and made progress slow; swollen streams and the low places and prairies were flooded. Dull, heavy clouds hung low over the towns. Discouraged families became more discouraged. It was difficult for worried mothers to keep up the morale of their children. Husbands and fathers were fighting with General Sam Houston—or else they had died at the Alamo or Goliad.

By the waters of the turbulent Colorado at Burnham's Crossing, near the present town of Columbus, Houston ordered a halt and called his officers for a conference. After a hurried meeting, William T. Austin was dispatched to the mouth of the Brazos for artillery. The Texans must be prepared to meet their foe when the time came. Two days later the army moved down stream to Beason's Crossing, and remained there until March 26. Generals Sesma and Woll arrived with 700 men at Burnham's Crossing the day Houston's force left. Having 1200 men, Houston could easily have defeated the Mexicans, but knowing that the defeat would not be final, and that the entire Mexican army would be concentrated on the Colorado, he decided not to

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The Swimming Hole

Children should never be deprived of the pleasure, the exercise, or the safeguard which swimming affords. Although the familiar plea, "May I go swimming?" makes us a little squeamish, there are few parents who don't see the importance of granting that wish.

It's folly to be always saying "No." And it's worse to scare the child. Probably the sensible move is to get acquainted with the swimming hole. Enlist the aid of other parents. Call upon the health department to test a sample of the water. There may be other departments that will help you rid the bottom of old tin cans, broken glass, and rocks. If not, organize a group of fathers to tackle the job. But if the hole can't be made healthful and safe, petition the police or town council to close it.

There are many instances where that "ole swimmin' hole" has been transformed into a place of beauty and a cause of community pride. Some of the worst places are now public parks where the whole family may enjoy a daily frolic in the water and a picnic supper. No one believes it can be done, until they try it. Many believe there is no such place near their town, until they look around. The effort will more than repay you.

Should a child's summer meals differ from those of winter? Next week Dr. Ireland will give advice on this problem.

attack until he had word from Fannin. Then, too, he was far from his base of supplies, and it would be a fatal step to get himself penned in his own trap.

An order from Houston for retreat was given March 26. Soldiers anxious to fight openly grumbled at Houston's orders. They wanted to fight—they did not want to make a cowardly retreat! Captains moseyly Baker and Willie Martin joined each other in disgust after they had been told to get their companies in marching order. They would obey this one time, but if another plan as foolish and useless was made, they would refuse to co-operate.

Thus we have the Texan army, distrusting their leader, anxious to fight, and accomplishing nothing for the time being.

However, shortly all this was to be forgotten in the joy occasioned by the victory at San Jacinto, which affords basis for Texas' Centennial celebrations in 1936.

JUNIOR SHAKESPEARE CLUB

The National Junior Shakespeare Club thru the assistance of local teachers and club women will shortly form chapters here.

Mrs. J. W. Clark has been selected as Supervisor by the Club's State representative, Mrs. Lucile Vinson, because of her special qualifications of having worked with children more than 15 years, nine years of which were spent in the Sunday School cradle roll then to Junior Dept. of Seventh and James Street Baptist Church of Waco, Texas. Mrs. Clark has been living here two years and has been teaching Kindergarten and nursery school. She has many delighted little pupils whose parents are highly pleased with the work. She is well known and a host of friends wish her success in this new work.

The Club is educational in purpose and is designed to give grade and Junior High School children a combination course in Expression, Dramatics and

WOULD you like to acquire, quite simply and easily, the reputation of making the best home-frozen deserts in three counties? You can do it by being the first homemakers in the said three counties to make your refrigerator ice creams with marshmallows!

The truth is that it is easier to make still-frozen ice cream perfectly smooth than it is to make it full of little ice crystals, though the latter is the way it comes to most tables. It is even easier than not to make ice cream at all, once your family has tried it and learned to clamor for it!

Using marshmallows is the one sure way to make ice cream smooth without a bit of stirring. Besides, it cuts down the ingredients and thus simplifies the recipe; and it cuts out entirely one ingredient which almost every still-frozen ice cream contains—that is, anxiety. When you put marshmallows into your ice cream, thus turning it into a marlow, you may be perfectly assured that nothing can happen to it. If you do not operate a mechanical refrigerator, use an ice cream freezer, without agitating, or pack the mixture in a mold, and freeze in an ice-salt pack. The mold must have a tightly fitting cover, sealed with adhesive tape. You can no more help serving a perfect ice cream than you can hope to save any of it for tomorrow—although, of course, it could be kept if any of it was left to keep.

Ribbon marlow is a recipe which, when served, has an unusually festive appearance, and which endears itself especially to the lover of strawberries.

RIBBON MARLOW

30 marshmallows 1/2 cup crushed
1 cup milk strawberries
1 cup whipping cream

Melt marshmallows in the milk over hot water. Chill until slightly thickened and add whipped cream. Pour half the mixture into the refrigerator tray or mold, cover with crushed berries, and over these pour the remaining cream mixture. Freeze without stirring. Any other berries may be substituted for the strawberries if desired.

Story-Telling based on the works of the famous bard, in simplified form and in such a way that it will appear like play to them. At the same time it prepares them for their High School English studies.

Until the number of members enrolled is ascertained, the plan is to have one club. If, however, there is sufficient number, the children will be divided by ages or grades. An appropriate Shakespearean name will be given each Chapter or Club.

Prizes will be offered at various stages and diplomas in Elementary Dramatics Arts will be awarded each child who has finished the prescribed course.

The grand finale will be a Shakespeare Play in simplified form or Pageant having the children portray the Shakespearean characters.

The National Club now reaches into practically every State and has been immensely successful. Aside from the fact that members of the Club are improving their education and mastery of English, the social feature is thoroughly enjoyed by the children. Parents and teachers have endorsed the plan with enthusiasm.

There will be a special story hour for tiny tots who wish to be enrolled. Stories will be told which they will understand, enjoy and appreciate.

START WORK ON CENTENNIAL BUILDING SOON

Dallas, June 13.—With plans completed and authorization by the State Control Commission to go ahead on plans and construction of the $1,000,000 Texas Building which will be the center piece of $15,000,000 of buildings on the Texas Centennial Central Exposition grounds, efforts are being made to rush the construction work as much as possible, it has been announced here by Walter D. Cline, managing director of the Central Exposition.

The Control Commission has accepted the general plans for the Texas Building.

The City of Dallas has authorized the issuance of $3,500,000 in bonds, which will be used for the acquiring of 26 acres of additional grounds, the installation of new sewerage lines, the building of a $500,000 art museum, and other permanent improvements on the State Fair Grounds.

The Central Exposition is engaged now in disposing of the remaining $580,000 of the $2,000,000 bond issue. The wind-up campaign has progressed nicely since it was opened last week, workers disposing of $92,300 of the bonds during the first few days. The bonds are secured by one third of the gate receipts to the exposition. With an attendance of 6,000,000 people to the exposition, a full return with a four per cent interest will be paid on the bonds sold.

The half-million dollar wind-up campaign is expected to be brought to a successful completion within a short time. Several large subscriptions are in the mail at the time and is expected to reach the bond headquarters before the week is over. The private corporation bond money will be used in remodeling present buildings on the State Fair Grounds and the erections of new ones.

FIRST DIVISION OF SOFTBALL TERMINATES

PLANS ARE UP TO INCREASE NUMBER OF TEAMS IN THE LEAGUE; IT'S RUMORED INDEPENDENTS WILL HAVE NEW MANAGER; SOFTBALL HEADS TO MEET.

The first division of the local

Softball League which was to have terminated Friday night of this week, terminated last Monday night in order to make arrangements for the opening of the second division.

The Firemen won the first division with the Independent club second. The Round Table dropped out of the organization a few weeks ago, and the Oilers hold the cellar.

Throughout the first division high interest has been more or less just at times due to opening the league too early, and when school was still going on. This will be taken care of next year in an effort to improve interest in the organization that has created more amusement for Gatesville and Coryell County than any we know of. Probably today or tomorrow Softball Managers and the Executive Committee are to meet and make arrangements for the second division. It is rumored that Archie Gartman, co-manager of the Independents the first division, will suggest a new manager for his team as he will be out of town the next month.

Some few softball players are of the opinion that the organization is limited to certain players in Gatesville, and the organization should consist of more teams. The writer with several softball enthusiasts met the first of spring and sit for some two hours trying to get two managers so the organization would be composed of six teams, which we found in vain. If a player wants to play he should see some manager as soon as they are announced.

The first division of the local Softball League has terminated, however the scheduled will be followed this week as usual. Softball heads are to meet within a few days to iron out the necessary steps for the second division, which is due to open next week.

We do not think the organization has carried the interest it did last year merely because it was composed of eight and six teams last year, and has only four this year.

The Firemen won this division practically before it was half over. Starting off like putting out a fire, the Smokeaters only lost five games. The Independent crew placed second in the Teams' Standing, while the Conoco team was in the cellar. The Bachelors and Independents were playing on even terms until the Round Table club decided to drop out. There has been many good softball games played this division, and many are promised as the second division gets underway.

The weatherman interfered with the County Baseball games the past week end, only allowing two games to be played.

Mound defeated the Hubbard crew 16-3 Sunday at Mound, while the Levita team downed the strong Purnela aggregation 10-4.

Managers are called to attention regarding these games rained out. The by-laws state the games must be played during the week following their scheduled time, which is this week for the games. Managers are urged to play the games this week in order that the Teams' Standing may be kept up to date.

Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock there will be a baseball game at the Training School between the State inmates and a team captained by Francis Rutherford and coached by Earle Worley. Worley has a
