Baptist Pastor Seeks Information About President's Letter

Like many other ministers of the Gospel, Rev. C. A. Morton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, this city has received a letter from President Roosevelt asking counsel concerning the good of the country. Rev. Morton stated to a News reporter that courtesy calls for an answer. Yet the answer of the ministers' is fraught with possibilities of good and at the same time carries a grave responsibility. Granting the correctness of the President in seeking advice from the ministry, he stated that he had not as yet answered the letter, and perhaps would not for a few days. He also stated that if any one cared to express an opinion as to what he should say to the President to feel free to express it to him.

In addition to Reverend Morton, Rev. James L. McLean of the Presbyterian church and Rev. M. M. Chunn of the Methodist church received this same letter. Whether or not other ministers of the county have received the letter, we do not know.

Rev. McLean said late yesterday evening he had received his Friday, but did not state whether he had answered it or not. The text of the President's letter follows:

The White House,
Washington, D. C.,

September 24, 1935

Reverend and dear Sir:
Your high calling brings you into intimate daily contact not only with your own parishioners, but with people generally in your community. I am sure you see the problems of your people with wise and sympathetic understanding.

Because of the grave responsibilities of my office, I am turning to representative Clergymen for counsel and advice, feeling confident that no group can give more accurate or unbiased views.

I am particularly anxious that the new Social Security Legislation just enacted, for which we have worked so long, providing for old age pensions, aid for crippled children and unemployment insurance, shall be carried out in keeping with the high purposes with which this law was enacted. It is also vitally important that the Works Program shall be administered to provide employment at useful work, and that our unemployed as well as the nation as a whole may derive the greatest possible benefits.

I shall deem it a favor if you will write me about con-

CHICKEN'S ROOST MOVES; HE COMES TO TOWN SADDAY NITE

Sadday nite, the folks were coming to the show—they started after dark. During the rainy weather of the past week, one of these "blonde" leghorns had made a practice of roosting on the cross piece at the end of the truck frame, and was still practicing this "Sadday Night." Blondy evidently said, "If the world moves, so do I," and he did, because he comes to town roosting sleepily on the cross piece of the truck's frame. Boy, Page Ripley!

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Chambers and daughter attended the Brazos Valley Exposition Sunday.

Conditions in your community. Tell me where you feel our government can better serve our people.

May I have your counsel and your help? I am leaving on a short vacation but will be back in Washington in a few weeks, and I will deeply appreciate your writing to me.

Very sincerely yours,
Franklin D. Roosevelt.
Reverend Clarence A. Morton,

POST OFFICE INSPECTOR LOOKS OVER SIGHTS SUBMITTED

Post Office Inspector R. R. Range representing the Post Office Department, was here last week looking over the sites submitted.

It seems Mr. Range was more interested in those on Leon street and also reviewed one or more near the city hall. However, so far, nothing is definite, and Mr. Range, we understand will only make recommendations to Washington, or to the department and they will designate the site.

POST OFFICE WINDOW NOT OPEN BETWEEN 7 & 8 BUT CAN GET SERVICE

Erroniously reported to be open between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m. the Post Office at Gatesville is not open this hour, at least the window is not, however, patrons wanting stamps and other post office supplies may call the clerk on duty and receive them, according to Postmaster C. W. Ford.

Miss Virginia Belle Curry of Dallas spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Curry. She was accompanied to Waco Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Curry and Bailey Curry.

HUNTERS BAG MOOSE, ELK AND ANTELOPE IN WYOMING HUNT

Howard Compton and Charlie Liljeblad only have to make a big game hunt in Africa to complete their hunting thrills, since they have just returned from a trip to Wyoming hunting moose, elk and antelope, each bagging the limit on each.

During the three weeks' trip they were in the wilds of Wyoming and according to Mr. Compton, they were very fortunate since only 100 moose permits were issued this year. The recent snow storm in the midwest and over the Rockies, sent them scurrying for home, coming from near Cody and Jackson Hole, Wyoming, via Ratoon Pass back to Gatesville. The storm covered Wyoming, Colorado and most of New Mexico, and, being the first of the year, even before the first frost, caused considerable damage.

Among those at the Brazos Valley Show at Waco Saturday were James Hair, Brack Curry, and Tom L. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rivers and children were among those who attended the Fair in Waco Sunday.

Brazos Valley Project Is Approved; Coryell County Included in Area

President Roosevelt approved an allocation of $30,500,000 from the work relief fund for flood control and water conservation on the Brazos river in Texas.

Final government approval will have to come from Comptroller General McCarl, and the Works Progress Administration said it usually took about one week for projects to clear him and another week for a warrant on the treasury to be issued.

John Norris, chairman of the Texas Water Board of Engineers, said construction of the contemplated 13 flood control dams on the 900 miles long river could start within 30 days after the money was made available.

The dams would stretch from Throckmorton county to Madison and Brazos counties, and the most expensive would cost about $4,000,000. This allocation does not permit installation of hydro-electric equipment but if other funds become available, power might be generated at eight of the dams.

TRENCH SILOS BEING BUILT FOR BIG FEED CROP

Five Trench Silos have been constructed and filled near Gatesville in recent weeks, as a direct result of a Trench Silo Demonstration held the past season.

The tremendous feed crop produced in this area will cause others to be dug and filled within the next few days. Plans are being made daily to utilize these feed crops by feeding to local raised livestock.

FORTY-THIRD ANNUAL FOX HUNT TO BE HELD AT HEARNE

Fox hunters of the state will hold their annual hunt at Hearne beginning October 28, at Camp Ed Wicks, 6 miles southwest of the Wheelock road. Yearly these men gather there and judges are selected to judge both the hunters and the dogs in the Bench Show. The Derby, one of the principal events is to be run on Monday morning, and for one day only. Dogs entered in the Derby must be etered and marked up before mid-night Sunday.

Judges for the show are Alex W. Parrish, Berea, Ky., who is reputed to be one of the best bench show judges in the entire United States.

Mrs. H. H. Howell is confined to her home with an attack of the flu.

The Leon dam, at a cost of $3,000,000 will be one of the first constructed and will be in Bell county. It has been estimated that 2,000 to 3,000 men WPA labor, from state lists and transient camps will be employed at each dam.

The Leon dam, 115 feet high will impound 12,300 acre feet of water.

As will be seen the accompanying map, Coryell county is included in this project, although no direct donations or projects are to be worked on in this county.

The first carpet mill was started in the United States by William Peter Sprague in Philadelphia in 1791.

CHAPTER 6

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jean Valjean, fugitive from the French authorities and one Javert in particular, plans to escape once and for all to England. His plans are interrupted by a student's law reform revolt which sweeps over the entire city. He attempts to rescue its ring-leader, young Marius, in love with his ward, Cosette. Javert appears on the scene, decides Jean is the "man higher up," senses his opportunity to right all previous humiliations and goes after him with a vengeance.

Free at Last

Jean and Eponine come out. They are in the light for a brief second as they look around cautiously. Javert has the house spotted from an opposite window.

"Valjean!" To a gendarme, "Come on—follow—that's the man I want." They start off, two students following with a gendarme emerge from a doorway. Instinctively the gendarme with Javert stops to aid his comrade and Javert goes on.

Through narrow streets around corners and then up a dozen or more steps rush Jean and Eponine.

"He's following us—get on the stairs—we're there!" gasps Eponine. They arrive just as they disappear from the building. He fires with a hand to "Stop!"

The street where Marius and his companions are barricaded is a blind alley. A house nearby is alive and the barrels of doors are paying. The defenders are firing. Wounded are strewn about the streets.

Javert is caught in the dead-end passage when a student steps behind him. Joined by others, breathless, disarmed, they bar the way.

"Police! Spy!" is the warning cry. "Spy, possibly; police, certainly," is Javert's calm reply.

"Ha! We've got one of them. The guillotine will run here and now!" shouts one, fingering a wicked-looking blade.

"He's Mine!"

"Let me. This man has persecuted me for ten years—he's mine!" It's Jean's voice.

"Do it then!" The knife is thrust into his hand.

"I'll do it as it was done in the galleys—the pistol in the mouth."

Cries in the distance attract the others and they rush off, leaving Jean and Javert alone. Jean turns to his old enemy, his thoughts flooded with revenge.

"Now, Javert, the hunt ends."

"End it then?" "It had to be one of us. You wounded me; you pursued me—it's you who drive me to this—you and your law!"

"Do your part. I've done mine. I stand by everything I've done. I take what comes."

Jean can't bring himself to do it. There is a terrific struggle going on within him. He shakes his head.

"Go, before the others do what I can't."

"You feel, you know what'll happen. I shall take you in the end. You know I will—you know I must—I can't help myself—I am what I am."

"I take what comes. Go!"

Jean remains looking after Javert then fires the pistol into the air. He returns to the barricade. Eponine tries to pull him down from his exposed position and herself falls dead.

Mounted gendarmes begin to attack with drawn sabres. There is a scrimmage. Marius is felled with a blow on the head. Jean pulls him down through a half-open manhole into the sewers, picks up the unconscious boy and staggers along down the tunnel in water up to his knees. Marius comes to enough to nod to Jean and flounder along himself.

Jean batters through the steel gate that bars them from the river and they pass through.

Through dark alleys they wind their way back to Jean's house in the Rue Druond. Cosette, on her knees before a small altar, rises and comes forward to Marius eagerly. For a moment it looks as though she has forgotten everything Jean has done.

Jean closes the door on them and backs into the hall. He senses the presence of another person.

"Javert! You're here, I know it—where are you?"

A shadowy form moves and Javert steps out into the light.

"I'm ready. All I ask is a few moments to say goodbye."

"The law allows you nothing."

Jean raises his head to Javert, a face so agonized helpless and hopeless that even Javert is moved. He nods slowly. He knows this man has saved his life but still he can't help himself.

"It's not I—it's the law that wants you—the law. I can't help it." (Assumed of his weakness. "Go ahead, I'll wait.")

Jean goes in. "Cosette, I've come to say goodbye. It has to be—there are reasons. My dear, what little I could do I have done—in my poor, stupid way I have tried to do what I could. Now I give her to you (to Marius)—let her be as precious to you as she has been to me. Look after her, Cosette. Look after her."

His face is bathed in perspiration from the struggle going on within him. He turns, looks back and takes down the two candlesticks which he has kept with him all this time.

"Keep these always," he says to them. "Never, they say—be true to them." Cosette kisses him and he moves over to Marius with her.

"Love each other—there's scarcely anything more in the world but that. Remember, as was once told me—Life is to give, not to take. What I give—take, and give again."

The door clicks and he is gone. It is over. He has given up Cosette and now he has to face the other—the galleys. He tries to move to the door to the street, but his strength cracks and he drops to one knee.

"Father of all—I've done what I could—take what you will—I've given all I can—I'm ready!"

With a great effort he rises and marches towards the open doorway to the street, his hands in front of him, his wrists drawn together to receive Javert's handcuffs, his eyes half-closed, repeating in a whisper the word "Give!"

Javert Disappears

But there is no Javert. The moonlit street beyond is empty. To Jean it is unbelievable — Javert is gone. He has left him. We can almost hear the voice of the old bishop over the scene. "Well done, my son. Well done!"

His eyes go up to the heavens—to the voice—his face lights up with a smile as if the whole soul were lifted—at last he is free.

Excited cries of "Down here! Down here! Hurry!" snap him out of his trance. Through a narrow opening in the street opposite is an alley leading to the river. There is a small crowd gathered—others are coming up.

Jean pulls himself together and as if drawn by a magnet races to the scene.

"What is it?" "Suicide—must be—"

"I tried to stop him," adds another onlooker, "but he pushed me away and jumped in—The river's in flood."

Still another, "Look! It's a policeman's cloak—"

A gendarme takes it and looks it over. Jean immediately recognizes it as Javert's. He turns and looks at the river. The water is swirling past. He now realizes that Javert has left him for good. He is free, indeed—free to go back to Cosette and Marius.

BRAZOS RIVER PROJECT

We smell Pork—and why not! Since the Brazos River Project has finally been approved, it's some "hog," and we don't see why all of us don't get a piece of sirloin.

Seems like a lot of the counties are getting dams, which means a lot of the money will be spent in those counties. We have the Leon, which is to be dammed by Bell County, so why shouldn't we dam it?

This is certainly something for service clubs, chambers of commerce, politicians, "big shots" and everyone to work on. We just might as well have a dam over the Cow House or Leon as any other county. It means lots of this "pork" would be spent here, and we certainly should come in for some of it.

Thirteen flood control dams are to be built on the Brazos and its tributaries which are to conserve soil and control floods, and are to be used for vast industrial, agricultural and recreational uses, in addition to the important flood control and water conservation work.

This is all very good, and not quite as ridiculous as making the Trinity navigable to Dallas and Fort Worth, but still it's a fine gesture by the present party in control to "pass the pork."

However, we believe, the south and southwest, should not kick about these patronage measures, and with the G. O. P. in power so long, many other projects just as silly have been worked out as a handout for Republican states, and for many other years, before the Democrats had a chance at the handouts.

With Coryell county nearly in the center of this project, certainly some of the money should be spent here on flood control, erosion work, recreational work or for some other purpose, so, it's past time for us to get busy and get some of this done here.

"PILL ROLLERS"

That's the moniker for the Pharmacist. Lots of us think he's a glorified "drug store cowboy" or "skeet." Stop and think!

This pharmacist now, must have a pre-medical course, including practically the same courses the glorified doctors have. Then, a three year college course before he's a full fledged pharmacist. Requirements are growing tighter all the time.

We ask him to prescribe for everything under the sun, and then he must concoct something that will get us well in a jiffy. Too, the doctor writes his prescriptions and sends it to the pharmacist to fill. Mistakes cannot be made by the pharmacist, as his unglorified work of weighing and mixing medicines is quite as important as the work done by the one prescribing. This is a coming profession, and one which soon can't be acquired in one of the quick schools, but will require full university work before one may qualify.

So, in this NATIONAL PHARMACY WEEK, we pay tribute to one of the professions which has so long been regarded as not a profession, but just a "job at the drug store."

World
ment

By

November 25 the Philippines will set up their 10-year home rule commonwealth, designed to prepare them for complete independence. A model constitution has been ratified and Manuel L. Quezon, president of the old Philippine Senate, elected president. Quezon defeated Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the insurrection against the United States in 1898, and Bishop Gregorio Aglipay in the September 17 general election. Quezon adherents won a majority of the ninety-eight seats in the single house of the new National Assembly.

The new government will retain title to all natural resources and these may be exploited only on lease. Land holding is restricted to small parcels.

Altogether the new constitution is a charter of which the Filipinos are proud. A Texas Congressman, Hatton Sumners of Dallas, who is chairman of the House Judicial Committee, helped draw up the new charter. American officials eye certain provisions with open misgivings, however.

"The six-year presidential term may prove to be a strait jacket," said one high official at Washington. "Extremist elements again may resort to violence, simply because they will have no vent for their protests thru the ballot in the meantime."

Mining men have expressed fear that public ownership of the national domain may stifle initiative. But Americans recall how our formerly abundant natural resources—mines, forests, oil—have been wasted thru the years. The Filipinos will not regret this provision of the new code.

American troops and warships will remain in the islands; foreign affairs will continue in charge of the state department at Washington; limits are placed on government borrowing; court decisions may be carried to the supreme court of the United States; the American president may intervene to preserve the commonwealth from assault, within or without.

Frank Murphy, former mayor of Detroit and now governor general, will be watching over all as American high commissioner at Manila.

In any event, in the words ascribed to President Quezon, the islands prefer "a government run like hell by Filipinos to one run like Heaven by Americans." That is the attitude taken by most of the Filipinos and its best to give them a chance.

Shaking off the present almost complete dependence of the islands upon the duty-free American market for their farm products, admittedly will be the most difficult task of the new government. Last year 84 per cent of all Philippine exports came to the States. Other countries will buy the islands' sugar, coconut oil, tobacco and hemp only at prices that would force a sharp reduction in the Filipino standard of living.

That standard is rated several times higher than that of China, India and Java, although many American necessities are luxuries to the average islander.

The great mass of the 14,000,000 Filipinos are farmers and fishermen. Manila, Cebu and Iloilo may show massive concrete buildings, but the rural Filipino lives in a bamboo hut, plows behind a patient carabao and fishes with primitive equipment.

A laborer buys canned goods and cotton cloth from a village store, generally run by a Chinese, although thousands of Japanese have open shops in the last few years. In some sections crowded motor buses take him to a neighboring village. In the Manila area he patronizes the thousands of two-wheeled vehicles called "carro-ratas," drawn by small horses.

If he works as a cigarmaker in Manila he gets about 50 cents a day. A stenographer or bookkeeper earns from $25 to $30 a month, a domestic servant from $3 to $15.

Yet Filipino leaders maintain that the islands are better prepared for sovereignty than many other nations already in that category.

For 35 years the Philippine adaptation of the little red schoolhouse has spread its influence, so the literacy rate is higher than in 37 other countries.

The insular government's budget is balanced, unemployment is slight, health conditions are good and 1,400,000 children are in school.

BOYS' FOUR-H CLUB

During October Boys' 4-H Clubs will be organized in Coryell county and demonstrations started. Much interest is being manifested and requests are coming in from various parts of the county from interested boys. Some will feed calves, some lambs and some pigs. Plans are being formulated now for a County Show to be held in the spring for boys to exhibit the calves, lambs and pigs which they place on feed. The best lambs will probably be entered in the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and possibly some other shows in the spring.

Two Centennial Shows will be held in November 1936. Boys are urged to make plans now for these shows. Coryell county must be represented and in order to stand well in the show, it will be necessary for us to begin preparations immediately.

All boys enrolled in 4-H Club Demonstrations by Agents of the Extension Service must be ten years of age on January 1 of the club year for which they are enrolled and less than twenty one on December 31 of the same year.

We would like to work with boys of the above age in organized groups on the condition that the boys will carry on demonstrations and are willing to carry out instructions. Many prizes are offered to boys whose demonstrations are above the average.

County Agent Guy Powell will be glad to have the name of all boys who desire to become members of organized 4-H Clubs. This word may be sent through the superintendent of your school, or the boys may write a card to the County Agent or call in person and leave word at the office of the County Agent.

IN MEMORY OF EVA ARMSTRONG

Friends and loved ones have been left sad and heart broken since this true and noble woman has been called to her eternal home. Everything that was humanly possible was done for this dear woman, but when all earthly hope for her recovery had vanished and God saw fit to make a change, they could not question God's motive, but only say: The Will of God will be done on earth as it is in heaven. I know how desolate life seems for the husband and son she left, yet I know their troubled hearts can be comforted with the thoughts that if they but do the Will of God they can meet again their departed loved ones and enjoy happiness forever more. It says in the Bible: "In my Father's house are many Mansions. If it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. I will come again and receive you unto Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." We must believe in these mysterious divine words, "It is all for the best."

Eva was always so honest, so sweet in her charity toward less fortunate people than herself—Such an ideal of beautiful perfect womanhood. So much so that to her dear memory and in respect to her bereaved family and other loved ones, I dedicate these lines:

"You think you stand alone in all your sorrow, yet your lonely tears, and doubt shall prove as naught. The sun for you will shine some glad tomorrow, for the child of God can keep no troubled thought. "Once she walked in pride and duty, in her home she dwelled serene. All her life was one of beauty, and her soul is white and clean."

THE flavor of the oyster, most delicate of all the seafoods, may be added to the meals in the form of oyster salad. The salad will be especially delightful on the warm days of Indian Summer. A simple but tasty salad may be prepared by boiling the oysters in their own liquor for five minutes, draining, and chilling on ice.

SAILING THRU LIFE

How Do You Do Homemakers?

The end of all religion is in social and personal salvation, in help over the difficulties and redemption from the evil of life. Like the mind itself, religion exists to meet the needs of life, and it is essentially an adaptive device of life; like reason, it exists in particular to meet the needs of life in very complex situations, in crises, where the lower processes of body and mind are inadequate to cope with the situation. Religion braces vital feeling. It taps new levels of energy, and gives strength. So far as can be seen, the time will never come when man will not have need of religion to release fully his energies, to brace his vital feelings, and to help him face the issues of life and death with confidence in himself and in the world.

The atom is at the present time being seriously studied by the learned. They are endeavoring to split the atom, which, if accomplished, will effect important changes in our material and economic values.

The other effort is to harness or control the power latent in the atom. We are credibly informed that in a single atom there is resident sufficient power, which, if released, could run all the dynamos of any large city.

The power is there, but how to release it is another question, a problem about as interesting and baffling as the effort to extract electric current out of the sunlight. Perhaps some day our children may live to see the solution of some of these problems.

The theory is not without its suggestive values. We are told that long ago the greatest of all Teachers said: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed nothing shall be impossible unto you."

Since the day of that utterance, experience has demonstrated its truth. The mustard seed was the smallest possible thing with which faith could be compared—an atom of faith.

There is great creative and enduring power resident in the so-called atom of faith. No race is ever won without the runner having sufficient faith in himself to win. No great achievement is ever accomplished, or problem solved, without the exercise of faith. Faith creates the ideal, fires the imagination, and furnishes motive power. The overcoming of obstacles is largely attributable to the exercise of faith. Faith is the basic element in friendship.

Remove faith from business and we have bankruptcy. When one country has faith in another country, we shall have international peace. There is sufficient reconstructive power locked up in an atom of faith, which, if released, could work wonders in restoring our country to its normal economic and social life.

ERNEST O. THOMPSON, R. R. COMMISSIONER, ASKS FOR RE-ELECTION

It is my aim and intention to run for re-election as Railroad Commissioner in 1936.

At the proper time my complete platform will be announced.

Your Railroad Commission is honestly and efficiently administering the regulation of the oil, transportation and gas utility business.

This Commission has fought for the right of the people of Texas to control our own internal affairs in oil and gas production.

My race should decide whether we have truly represented the people's views in this matter. Our oil law is written to protect the consumer as well as the producer. We have administered it faithfully.

Some big oil companies thru their policies of trying to force acreage proration on Texas; their swift movements in price decisions; their heavy imports of oil and their heavy withdrawals from storage would continue a fifty year policy of buying independent oil cheap and selling it high. I am opposed to this.

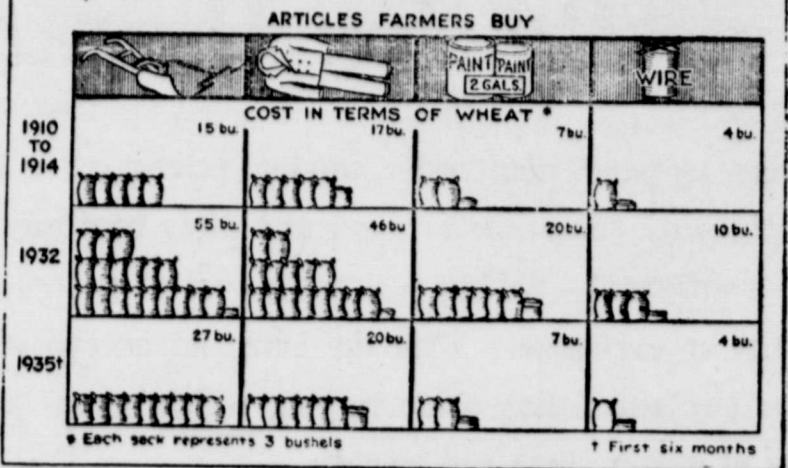

The issue is not one of big business versus the small man. It is greater than that—The real issue is shall Texas youth continue to have free opportunity amid their natural resources? Or—shall our youth in the near future be forced through lack of opportunity to work for some big company in a chain filling station?

Mass money and mass brains controlled in New York can whip any independent operator who raises his voice in opposition to them.

But together and united our six million Texans will remain economic free men. When the people know the facts, they rarely fail to decide issues for the greatest good.

BUYING POWER OF WHEAT
(Not Including Benefit Payments)

THE sacks of wheat show how higher wheat prices are giving farmers more purchasing power, even without counting the adjustment payments. They show that when wheat was at a fair exchange value before the war, 15 bushels would buy a plow. In the depth of the depression in 1932 it took 55 bushels to buy the same plow, but in 1935 a farmer could buy the same plow with the money from 27 bushels of wheat. The sacks of wheat in the other squares show the purchasing power of wheat in terms of a suit of clothes, paint, and barbed wire.

HORNETS DEFEAT BRUCEVILLE-EDDY HERE FRIDAY P. M. 21-6

Last Friday afternoon in ideal football weather the local Hornets defeated Coach Tommy Schneider's Bruceville-Eddy eleven 21-to-6. Led by "Blondy" Hair the Hornets passed and ran to 14 first downs while the invaders were held to 4. The locals mainly thru the efforts of Hair started an offensive in the first quarter that carrier the pigskin to Bruceville-Eddy's one-foot line where on the fourth down a momentary fumble killed their chance of scoring.

Again in the second period Hair and Culberson with some nice blocking from their mates began another drive that bogged down with the pay-stripe in sight. The Schneidermen backed up to their own goal saw the Hornets take a 2-0 lead as their punter, on a bad pass from center was downed behind his goal line for a safety. The rest of the half was spent in futile jabs at the line by both teams, ending a few minutes later. Gatesville 2 Bruceville-Eddy 0.

Soon after the second half started a Bruceville punt was killed on Gatesville's 4 yard line. Captain Horne then took Culberson's return punt and raced untouched to a touchdown. The try for point was missed.

Behind 6-2 the Hornets, with Bruceville-Eddy in possession of the ball came to life. Horne, the hero of a few minutes before, in attempting to pass was partially tackled. In a vain attempt to keep from losing 5 or 6 yards he threw the ball widely and right into the hands of Weaver, charging in from his guard position, who raced about 60 yards for a touchdown. Culberson plunged for the extra point, making the score Gatesville 9, Bruceville-Eddy 6.

Bringing the kick off back past midfield Bruceville again passed with Hair intercepting and behind quickly formed interference, sprinted to the goal line 65 yards away bringing the score to 15-6. The try for point failed.

The fourth quarter was underway a few seconds later and the Hornets again started an offensive drive of their own with off tackle runs by Hair and jabs at the line by Byrom and Culberson. Mixed with passed to Clark and McDonald, the ball was placed on the 1 yard stripe after a nice run by McDonald with Hair's pass. It was rammed over from this point on the first try by Culberson. The try for extra point was again missed, and the score stood Gatesville 21, Bruceville-Eddy 6. The game ended a few minutes later with the Hornet reserves repulsing the Bruceville attack.

For the first game of the season it was highly interesting. Of course the first game defects were present such as fumbling, mixed signals and faulty blocking, but as a whole the game was good and the teams showed great promise.

And let it be said that Schneider, a Hornet himself a few years ago, brought over a well coached and scrappy club. A club who, despite being outplayed for the most part made the Gatesville victory one of luck and should give its Class "C" opponents many unhappy moments.

Pricilla Club

On Wednesday afternoon September 18, the Club met with Mrs. W. E. Hays, who was hostess.

The time for work was spent embroidering, cutting strips for rag rugs and quilting.

Banana ice cream and cookies were served to members present, as follows: Mesdames A. B. Chatman, Eli Williamson, Sterling Edwards, Edd Schloeman, Ansel Prewitt, Dan Hirsch, Bob Alford, Parker Hirsch, Lonnie Flentge, R. C. Dyess, J. C. Bunnell, Misses Nimmexa Williamson and Estelle Cooper. Also one visitor Mrs. Jake Black of Oklahoma.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Dan Hirsch Oct. 2.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By TEDDY

Gatesville Hornets, ran circles around the Bruceville-Eddy aggregation at times last Friday afternoon to luck a 21 to 6 defeat from Coach Tommy Schneider's eleven. We give ourselves credit to but one thing, we stated several times last week the Bruceville-Eddy backs would be hard to handle, and they were. Horne and Kincannon ran wild at times, Horne on one occasion returning one of Culberson's punts for his team's lone touchdown. "Blondy" Hair proved the entire show for the afternoon. It was he who could pick-up a few yards when other local backs failed to gain. "Sonny" ever confident, on one occasion intercepted a pass to make a spectacular run of nearly 70 yards for a touchdown.

Being the first game of the season, it had its usual flaws as well as good points. Dave Culberson, stellar Hornet full-back looked exceptionally good at times. Byrom, Dickie and Colgin demonstrated their capacity of intestinal fortitude with good blocking at times. Royce Davis and his little bud up on several occasions. "Cotton" were also in the mix.

Sunday afternoon in Atlanta, Georgia, in the first game of the Dixie Series, Oklahoma City got away to a flying start when the Texas League representatives beat the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association 7-4. The Indians with a great young ball club have a good chance to bring the championship of the South to the Texas League.

We have been informed by one of the local colored baseball fans that a colored team from here will meet a like team from Lampasas Wednesday afternoon at Hamilton. If nothing else the game will afford an unusual sight to the Hamilton citizens.

HORNETS RANK WITH HIGH 'B' TEAMS OF THIS ATHLETIC DIST.

A check up of what the Hornets' district rivals did in their games of the week end.

Rosebud victor over Clifton 20-0 the week before plastered a 38-0 licking on West. Evidently the Trojans are not nearly so strong as a year ago, and the prospects of the locals winning this game takes on a rasher aspect.

Belton won over McGregor 6-0. The Bulldogs either improved a lot since their 38-0 defeat by Mexia or the Bell county Tigers are not as strong as reported. We will wait until Friday night to make a statement regarding the true ability of the Bulldogs. It will be remembered that they play Clifton that night at McGregor.

Mart, expected to give Hillsboro, a weak class A team trouble, met defeat at the hands of the Hill county team 25-6. This lowered Mart's stock to a marked degree.

Marlin, in their first game an upset victim, was more upset Friday when Hearne, loser to Calvert the week before, took the Marlin lads to a 7-0 white washing. It becomes more apparent that Marlin has been greatly overrated.

Valley Mills in their first game so far as we know won over Morgan in a rather handy fashion. Just where Morgan is and what kind of football team they have we can't say, but the chances are that they are one of the few teams that Valley Mills could defeat in such easy fashion. In other words the Eagles are not being counted on by other district teams to offer much opposition.

Clifton didn't play and we have no report on Moody. The M. E. Home team, whose clash with the locals later on, is creating a bit of interest, defeated a much heavier Groesbeck team 15-7.

From the above it can be seen that there is really no great favorite established as yet for district honors, and the Hornets rank about as high as any at the present time.

OBJECTIONABLE FLAVORS AND ODORS IN CREAM

By E. W. Renner

Objectionable flavors and odors found in cream, and subsequently reappearing in butter made from this cream, may be grouped as follows: feed and weed flavors coming from such materials consumed by the cow, flavors absorbed from surroundings, flavors due to contamination with foreign materials, and those due to bacterial contamination and fermentation.

Feed and Weed Flavors—Feed flavors affect the flavor of milk to a great extent, but as a rule they are not distinctly objectionable. All are familiar with the flavor of milk after cows have been on green pasture. This is usually designated as a grassy flavor, but varies with the type of grass in the pasture. Any other highly flavored feed will give milk a more or less characteristic flavor resembling the feed. These flavors can usually be overcome or lessened to a great extent, by cutting down on the amount of feed, feeding immediately after milking and in some instances cutting down the time the cows are on pasture. Weeds are the source of the most objectionable flavors in this group and affect the market value of cream to a great extent, the most familiar being wild onions, garlic and bitterweed. In some sections of the state, flavors from mesquite beans and oak leaves cause considerable trouble. These flavors are all seasonal and in many cases can be lessened by keeping cows in the pasture by keeping cows in of time. The best method is to rid the pasture of these weeds by mowing. If this practice is followed, pastures will be greatly improved as well as the quality of cream produced.

Flavors Absorbed from Surroundings—These flavors are not as common in cream, but when they do occur are very objectionable. Cream will absorb flavors from Machine oil, gasoline, coal oil, and various vegetables when kept in close contact with them. Bad odors may be absorbed by milk from dirty stables and cows, and they are, as a rule, stronger in the cream separated from such milk. These flavors may be overcome by producing milk in a clean place and storing the cream in a place where it will not absorb odors.

Flavors Due to Contamination of Cream with Foreign Substances—Such flavors are due almost entirely to carelessness in handling the cream and utensils in which it is stored. Coal oil, gasoline, and metallic flavors are the most common of this group, the first two are due to spilling these materials into the cream or using the can to hold such products. Metallic flavor may be due to rusty cream cans. To prevent these flavors, be sure your can is used for cream only and that it is free from rust.

Flavors Due to Bacterial Contamination and Fermentation—The most common flavors of this group are cheesy, stale, yeasty, metallic, bitter and high acid. They are usually the result of careless production methods, dirty utensils, cream held at too high temperature and not delivered often enough. These flavors can be overcome by producing clean milk, keeping all utensils, including the separator, clean, cooling cream properly, not mixing warm and cold cream together, and delivering cream at least every three days in warm weather.

IN MEMORY OF MY FRIEND MRS. J. S. RILEY

In memory of my dear friend Mrs. J. S. Riley who passed away September 22, 1935 at Gatesville, Texas, age 74 years, 10 months and 19 days.

She was a true companion, A mother good and kind.

A friend to all around her, This noble friend of mine.

She left some children Who loved their mother dear.

And her companion, Who will miss her everywhere.

Her spirit has gone to heav'n, Her body in the ground,

While you are left weeping Great sorrow all around.

She suffered on for months, And years,

Her suffering now is o'er, While you are sad and lonely,

She's singing on that Happy Shore.

You will miss her; yes you'll Miss her,

At morning, noon and night, You will never forget the day,

Her spirit took its flight, But, if you could draw the Curtain,

And see her face so fair, You could say "Sleep on Dear Mother,

I hope to meet you there."

Where parting will be over, Where sorrow never comes, Where God shall wipe all Tears away,

In that sweet heavenly home. In spirit she is singing,

Around the throne of God, Her body now lies sleeping,

Beneath the sod. Yet some sweet day the Lord

Will come and call her to arise And then her body shall Come forth, To meet Him in the skies.

The soul and body shall reunite,

And to sweet heaven ascend, There forever to sing God's Praise, In a world that ne'er shall end.

Oh, what a glorious thought To me,

Sometime I long to go, To see my loving Saviour's face

And sing his praise forever More.

—By Mrs. J. J. Nichols.
