San Marcos Quartet Appears in Program At M. E. Church Sun.

The State Teacher's College Male Quartet of San Marcos, under the direction of H. Grady Harlan, head of the voice department, will sing a sacred concert in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church Sunday beginning at 11 o'clock.

This quartet is said to be one of the finest college organizations among the colleges of Texas and has met with success and afforded unusual pleasure whenever and wherever it has appeared. Their singing is not only artistic, but of a certain quality that its appeal is everywhere in evidence.

May the members of the church take it upon themselves to tell others to be present for they will seldom get an opportunity to hear a finer program which also carries with it an inspirational message.

A free-will offering will be taken at the close of the program for the young men.

PROGRAM

OFFICIAL FIGURES FOR RAIN FOR WEEK SHOW 2.30

Reading the rain gauge, according to advices we have is that the "old cup" says for this time 2:30, no. not p. m., but inches fell on these "green pastures" during the past inclement weather.

We didn't get the temperature reading, but it was cold enough for us to snatch our last year's overcoat and to be thankful the moths didn't get it.

NOT OFFICIAL BUT NO STORES WILL BE OPEN THE 11TH HERE

Although we have no document signed by the Mayor or any member of the City Council, according to Fred G. Pre-witt, City Auditor, Stores in Gatesville will be closed Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

In talking to members of the Knox Curtis Post of the American Legion, they advise there will be no ceremony or celebration by their organization as a celebration.

The annual football conflict between the Hornets and the Hamilton Bulldogs will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. Monday.

BEAUTY PAGEANT HELD FOR "CHICKENS"; LOCAL MAN EXHIBITS HIS

Rather cold, for a "Beauty Pageant," we think, especially when "chickens" are exposed to cold drafts from across the barbed wire fence. All of which is taken wrong, since Roy Chamlee, member of the "National Rhode Island Red Club of America" is shipping five of his fine pullets to Austin, Texas, Poultry Show, which runs Nov. 8 to 11.

Mr. Chamlee is showing his chickens in Austin, and also at the 6th Annual Cockerel Show at Paris, Texas. For the winner at this show, he yesterday sent one of his pullets which will be used at Paris as a prize, to Austin for exhibit.

Exhibiting in the Heart of Texas Poultry Show at Waco, Dec. 28 to January 5, Mr. Chamlee is offering one of his pullets to the exhibitor coming from the farthest distance.

FROM "THE LAST OUTPOST" TO "BARBARY COAST" A WEEK-END

Jumping from "The Last Outpost," to "Barbary Coast" in one week end is some jump, but the News is forced to do this very thing in order to bring to its readers, stories up to the minute that we have been featuring for the past few months.

Since "The Last Outpost" draws the final curtain with this issue, in looking for another story, we have selected "Barbary Coast," laid in old San Francisco during the time of the Gold Rush, way back before our time. It was a hurly-burly time, and a time when anything went. In U. S. history, it's an event, with us, it's just another interesting story for our readers. We hope you'll enjoy it!

Incidentally, it'll be shown soon at one of the local theatres—watch for the announcement!

A 25c WANT AD WORTH $20 TO LONNIE WHARTON

Last Friday Lonnie Wharton lost two Ten Dollar bills on the street. On Tuesday he ran a 25c ad in the News' want ad column and a few hours after the paper came out he was a happy man in possession of his two bills. Lucky for Lonnie that an honest man like Robert Powell found the money.

Daredevil Duo Delight Dangerously Defying Death in Dual Drama

Daredevil "Smitty" and Daredevil Miller are in Gatesville this week end to put over stunts as have probably never been witnessed by many of us, through courtesy of Gatesville Merchants.

Daredevil Miller performed his death defying stunts here back in 1922 and is one of the best living exponents of daredevilry living. He will be here on crutches which he is forced to use since he fell over 78 feet while strappell in the strait jacket in Mississippi. He has acted as a double for Harold Lloyd and Jack Hoxie in their life risking stunts in the movies. He has been "in the business for the last 28 years, including parachute jumps, climbing buildings and riding bicycles off aeroplanes."

Daredevil "Smitty," also sponsored by the business men, will drive one of the new models of a well known car through the streets around the square while blindfolded, and after his drive, he will mount a ladder to the top of the Painter & Lee building where he will give another example of his stunts and walk the top ledge of this building still blindfolded. This one stunt alone is very dangerous and one mistep and "Smitty" is liable to fall to his doom, but he says, that he can do it regardless of the ideas about it.

The drive will start promptly at 3 p. m. rain or shine, and from 10 a. m. until 5 there will be activities that will please each and everyone by these daredevils who defy death with daring disvertissements.

During the free performances Saturday, prizes will be given to the youngest and oldest married couples present and to the farmer who travels the farthest distance, and many other contests will be held.

"1662," SAYS JOE HANNA; ECHO ANSWERS "1662" REASON: BIG CROWD

Wednesday, Joe Hanna "had numbers on his mind" and yelled "1-6-6-2" or some such number, when someone, about a mile out in the street answered, "1-6-6-2," indicating the dimensions of the crowd that wanted to see what was goin' on and also had "numbers on their minds."

"RAMBLING COUNTY BOYS" ENTERTAIN WITH NEW SOUND EQUIPMENT

Billing themselves as the "Rambling County Boys," three string instrument musicians "and entertaining and advertising over Gatesville's only radio station, CAR.

In other words, they have a new sound system they use on an automobile and entertain while driving thru the streets. These progressive boys from the Pearl Community are Mack Brazier, Thurman and Herman Maxwell and Fred Foreman. They will next be heard over Station CAR on Saturday, November 9. Watch for them!

PLAINVIEW SCHOOL'S PARTY HALLOWEEN PROVES HUGE SUCCESS

One hundred people attended Plainview school's big spook party, participating in indoor sports, and auctioning of the beautiful boxes brought in by patrons of the community.

Masks were in order and no one was sure "Who was Who" for sometime—at least until unmasking time came, when the air was split with Ohs, and Ahs, as one after another was fooled by the various make-ups used, but, as the saying goes, "It's fun to be fooled."

The nickel auction sale of a cake baked by Mrs. W. H. Bueening was one of the most interesting features of the sale, this one netting $7.00. After a check-up proceeds for the entire evening were $54.36, which will be used in the school athletic fund.

Tonight, the first 4-H Club meeting will be held at the school and everyone is invited.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA FAVOR ECW PROGRAM

"We are going to be the future farmers of this community therefore, we, as boys, should take a more active part in the soil conservation program of this county than our dads. We will have to operate these farms some of these days and should expect them to be passed on to us in such a condition that it will be possible for us to have a reasonable chance of making a living on them," said Reb Brown, President of the Gatesville Chapter Future Farmers of America, in speaking to the members of the local chapter at its last regular meeting.

Realizing that the fertility of the soil must be conserved if they are to make a living on the farm, fourteen future farmers enrolled in vocational agriculture classes in the Gatesville High School, have chosen terracing as a supervised practice job to do during the year.

Dads, isn't it time you were realizing that your sons and daughters must live on these farms after you are gone, and that part of your heritage to them should be well kept farms? It is not true that:—"Hoards of gullies now remind us

We should build our land to stay
And departing leave behind us
Fields that have not washed away.

When our boys assume the mortgage
On the land that has had our toil,
They won't have to ask the question,
'Here's the farm, but where's the soil?'"

SELLERS OF OVER 5 BU. SPUDS MUST GET SPUD ALLOTMENT

In accordance with the Potato Act of 1935, enacted by Congress, all persons whose average sales of potatoes in 1932 to 1934 were more than five bushels, must make an application for sales allotment.

Gene Pruner First in Tiny Tot Review at Regal; 30 Entries

Impersonating Mae West, of the "come up 'n see mu sometime" fame, Gene Pruner, carrying the banner of the Ritz and Regal Theatres was ahead of a varied field of entries in the Tiny Tot Revue at the Regal Theatre, last night. The prize was $2.00.

Second prize was Raye Virginia McCreary, representing Texaco products, Mrs. Mabel Gardner, Agent.

Jerry Bob Gartman, "the crooning cowboy" with his banjo, who roped in the judges for the third honors.

Charles Luke Walker, carrying lumber for Wm. Cameron Co., Inc., nailed fast the fourth ribbon.

An encore was featured in fifth prize, giving Carl Sterling McClendon "full measure" and a prize, as he represented the Dixie Service Station, Carl McClendon, manager, and dealer in Texaco Products.

Other entries were: Community Public Service Co., by Billie Frank Carroll; Byrom and Walker, Dry Cleaners, by Charles Luke Walker; Continental Oil Co., by Wanda Jean Jones; The Economy Press, by Jebra Anne McKinney; Carroll's Sinclair Service Station, by Dorothy Ayres; Magnolia Petroleum Co., by Billie Bob Ashby; Buckhorn, by Sam Ed Franks; Borden's Co. of Texas by Carolyn Blankenship; Coryell County News by Margaret Ann Jones and Morris Ashby; Blue Bonnet Beauty Shop by Sammy Beth Williams; Humble Oil Co., by Martha, Anne Hallman; Bauman & Son by La Verne Ament; The Gatesville Messenger by June Edmondson, Cooper Co., Inc., by Janet Sadler; Horace Dyer's Service Station by Emily Ament; W. F. and J. F. Barnes Lumber Co., by Billie Carl Bradley and Sammy Beth Williams; Howard Compton, Insurance by Jerry Davis; Gatesville Laundry by Jack Saunders; C. O. Thompson, Conoco Service Station by Shula Moreland; Meeks' Cafe by Dorothy Chamlee; Gulf Refining Co., by Mary Anne Powell; Poston Bros. & Britain by Georgia Morgan; E. W. Jones & Son by Bettye Jane Jones and Fuzzy Chamlee's Shop by June Marie Chamlee in the order of their appearances, leaving out the winners.

This revue was put on by the Regal Theatre and Miss Vera Culbertson of Hamlin, Texas, who has been handling revues of this nature in Texas and New Mexico for the past year. Miss Beulah Gamblin acted as pianist and accompanist. Judges were out of town traveling men.

Nearly 5,000 students study for degrees at the 21 colleges which comprise Oxford University.

County Agent Guy Powell requests all producers who come under this classification to apply at the County Agent's Office before November 12 for their application for an allotment.

ARMISTICE DAY

In 1918—the end—or was it—of war. It seems not. 1935, nothing but a chance to holler and dig up some disagreeable reminder of a past monstrosity.

In an idealistic war to "make the world safe for democracy," "we" get in. What "we" got out with is another story, but we're still paying for it, and haven't gotten paid for our part—and probably won't. But that's our funeral!

Today, we look back at the brighter side of this Armistice, if there is one. We look at those who have come back, and placed themselves in the daily routine of life with an eager look to the future, not figuring that the U. S. should forever keep them up, but are bucking down and making "their own," like the rest of us.

To those who were so unfortunate to have their health impaired, or have suffered dire consequences of the war, we are for any and all support that will give them an even break with the citizens who were fortunate enough to miss such a conflict.

Finally, to those who have "paid their all," we have a deep reverence, not only to themselves, but to their families, who if they are in need, should be compensated in keeping with their needs, but not with the idea of keeping them up.

In an unfortunate escapade like the "last" war, someone always gets stepped on, both individuals, states, and nations. It is a real "revolution" in a hurry, and not the peaceful kind that takes place over a period of years.

Nevertheless, we pay homage to those who were willing to sacrifice all even tho they were not called on to do so, and to those who did we have the deepest reverence, both for them and their families.

IN MEMORY OF DURWARD ROBUCK

Dear Durward has gone from this world with its trials and temptation. He has gone to that beautiful shore to live with Jesus and the angels. Weep not for him dear mother. For we loved him too, and hate to say farewell, but God loved him and took him home to dwell. A precious one from us has gone, a voice we loved is still, a place is vacant in our home which never can be filled.

Our hearts are sad and lonely, now a vacant chair by the fire side no Durward to rest there now. We miss him, oh, we miss him, was so hard to say good bye. But soon in Heaven we will meet him where no farewell tears are shed.

Blessed are they that sleep in Jesus for they no more shall wake to weep.

But sing and shout in Heaven above with Jesus and the angels.

In sad and loving memory of our dear Durward. One that loved him.

Mary Fortune.

C. A. COBB TO SPEAK AT TEMPLE ON COTTON PROGRAM

Mr. C. A. Cobb, Director, Division of Cotton, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, at Washington, D. C., will discuss the Cotton Program at Temple, Texas, in the Municipal Auditorium, 10:30 a. m. on Tuesday, November 12.

Those who have heard Mr. Cobb speak uniformly agree that he is a most forceful speaker. County Agent Guy Powell urges all who can possibly do so, to attend this meeting.

Dusting the Covers of Texas History

Why were the people on board the Steamship New York acting so strangely? Wild cheering could be heard even before the boat docked in Galveston harbor. Could it be that good news had actually arrived? The New Orleans newspapers were grabbed with eager hands and hastily scanned. There was the important news! Annexation resolutions passed both houses of Congress and had been signed by President Tyler! It was too good to be true!

"The news of the passage of the annexation resolution was hailed with a burst of enthusiasm by all citizens that has never been exceeded. The news of the victorious battle of San Jacinto scarcely excited such general and enthusiastic rejoicing. The sound of the drum and other musical instruments, the roar of cannon, loud shouts of the multitude resounding long after midnight, indicated the ardent longing of our citizens to return once more under the glorious aegis of the American Eagle."

Brazoria had a mass meeting immediately after hearing the news. The people assembled and "fired a salute of 29 guns for the several States of the Union, including Iowa, Florida, and Texas, and were so overjoyed that they fired an additional salute to reach Senator who voted for the bill."

Exuberance and good will predominated in Liberty County. "The demonstrations of unbounded joy that have been everywhere manifested indicate that the genius of liberty has indeed rested there. It is said that only two men have been found throughout the country who are opposed to the measure, and the ladies have already offered to furnish each of them with a red cap, a white feather, and a Victoria petticoat."

Brenham, San Augustine, Houston Columbus—all towns held mass meetings to adopt unanimous resolutions favoring the Senate joint resolution. Wherever citizens met, there was "heartfelt satisfaction pictured upon every countenance in the vast assemblage."

Enthusiasm was to die down slightly before annexation became an actual thing, but the mass meetings speeded up matters between the Texas Congress and the United States. They wanted prompt action on the all-absorbing question. And, in a short while, their wishes were fulfilled.

What a heritage those pioneers left for future generations! Proudly we will celebrate in 1936, giving to the world a century of civilization and progress through out exhibits, programs, and literature.

HOW'S YOUR ETIQUETTE

Have good manners anything to do with charm?

A great deal. They make for smooth and easy relationships between people. Where there is friction, there can be no charm.

OYSTERS IN ICE FOR THE BUFFET SUPPER

An ornamental dish lending an inimitable flavor to the buffet supper may be fashioned from a cake of ice, two dozen oysters, and all the "fixings." It will catch the eye, stir the appetite, and then satisfy it. Hollow the center of a small cake of ice—six inches square and three inches deep—line with lettuce and deposit twenty oysters. Decorate each corner of the ice with an oyster in the shell and dot the remaining surface of the ice with stuffed olives. Surround the ice with a garnish of mint leaves and lettuces. Serve with cocktail sauce and quarters of lemon.

A variant may be provided by filling a large wooden bowl with flaked or crushed ice, leaving a hollow in the center for the oysters.

Choral Club

The Choral Club held its regular meeting Monday morning. The trio practiced some songs that they sang on a program for the Lions' Club Wednesday. The songs they sang were: "Thrilled," "Sweet Sue," "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," and "Who Walks In When I Walk Out."

Press Club

The Press Club is in a hurry. But it will always do. Brack Curry is our leader, And he's going right on thru. Though we have not many members, However, it is very fine. Miss Durham is our sponsor, And she makes us toe the line. Monday and Tuesday are our meeting days. We will never forget the date For we have a leader, And he might get us if we're late. We are all very busy With something for each to do. And if you will join us, You will always be busy too. We try to supply the papers With news from Gatesville Hi Which will be most interesting to you. But we always tell the truth and not a lie.

Junior Class Has Theatre Party
 On Monday, November 5, the Junior Class attended a theatre party at a local Movie House where they viewed an excellent production, "The Dark Angel." Almost all of the class and many of the teachers were present for the gay event which was the opening of the social class life for the present school year.

The Juniors met at the gymnasium shortly after seven and proceeded to the theatre. After the show they returned to the gym where refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, and grape juice, were served while a rented machine played the latest numbers.

Later a mock amateur program, sponsored by the imaginary makers of Blodgett's Dog Biscuits for the doggy dogs, was staged. The "fault" as well as the students took part in the fun. This mock amateur radio hour was marked by the frequent ringing of the gong and the clownish antics of Mr. Williams.

Who's Who in the Senior Class?

Erle Edwin Powell
 Erle Edwin Powell, known by his friends as "Pelly," was born February 14, 1919. Erle is president of the Senior Class and the Dramatic Club of 1935-36. He has played in the orchestra for the last three years and has been a member of the band since his Freshman year. He was a member of the Dramatic Club last year and was chosen as one of the cast for the annual one-act play, "Pelly" has two main hobbies, reading books and playing golf.

John R. Colgin: If a dog starts after a cat, what is his interest?

Donald Weaver: I know that one—One purr cent.

Wendell Lowrey: I see that the big banker who went up for 15 years for embezzlement is taking it easy at prison because of a nervous breakdown.

Bill Witt: Yea? Well, he sure needed arrest.

senior member of the faculty. Mrs. Reesing says that in her first years here she taught a number of the fathers, mothers, aunts, and uncles of the students in school here now.

Coryell School News

Editor-in-Chief... Dale Britian
 Assistant Editor... Doris Johnson
 Sports Editor... Pierce Richards
 School began Monday, September 23, and is now in the sixth week.

We have only two grades, 8 and 9, in high school this year; pupils from the tenth grade are attending school at Crawford, Turnersville and Gatesville. At present there is an enrollment of 108 distributed among the grades as follows: Grade 1, 20; grade 2, 7; grade 3, 18; grade 4, 7; grade 5, 17; grade 6, 17; grade 7, 14; grade 8, 7; and grade 9, 8.

Activities

The Senior Class was organized early in the year and on Wednesday, October 30, made definite plans to present their annual play Thursday, December 19. The money obtained from this work is to be used in the school program of ground beautification or in any other appropriate way that the Senior committee may see fit to use it.

The first general school program of the year will be given Wednesday, November 27, in celebration of Thanksgiving. The schedule of school programs will follow as closely as possible the holidays and days of special importance. An attempt is being made to avoid the injurious affect of time lost from too much of this kind of work as well as the equally injurious practice of having too little of the same thing.

The boys are working on volleyball at present. Our team of last year, above the average for small men, was beaten in the district. This year's training has started early in an attempt to go a lot further than that this time. Junior boys are playing softball.

Elementary Grades

There are 28 enrolled in the primary room. 21 of these are in the first grade. They have almost completed the "Jack and Nell" book. All but three can count to 100 and make numbers to 20.

The Second Grade is working hard on their notebooks in drawing and health. They have their second and new reader.

The third and fourth grades of Coryell have been working diligently. We also enjoyed the visit of our State Inspector and county Superintendent.

The fifth grade has just completed their unit of work in history called "Finding and Settling America." We especially enjoyed looking for acceptable pictures portraying early settlers life.

We have made some clear health posters emphasizing the health rules.

We are sorry to lose one of our classmates, Dorothy Lou Hedgpeh. We hope she enjoys attending school in Valley Mills.

Our room, the sixth and seventh grade, has started the combination Winnetka and Dalton Plan lessons. We started October 28.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. Witcher visited our room Wednesday, October 30. We all enjoyed their visit.

The seventh grade is printing a newspaper. They have the whole staff. They have only printed one paper and was successful.

Honor Roll

Those making the honor roll are: Florene Henning, Irene Hoedel, Dolores Sadler, Juanita Lee, Alfred Giebler, Beulah Faye Gallaway, Olen McBroom, Etha Lee Meyer, Erwin Giebler, Roy Lee Jr., Roselean Lunning, Kurt Lenderberg, Raymond Gohlke and Emma Louise Meyer.

The annual average value of all agricultural crops and livestock in Kansas for the last 20 years was $438,241,102, according to official estimates.

LOCAL MAN ON COMMITTEE FOR TRINITY HOME COMING NOV. 11

Waxahachie, Nov. 6.—Cam McGilvray of Gatesville has been appointed a member of the Trinity University Home-Coming committee to help plan the Armistice Day celebration to be held here next Monday. Gatesville is expected to send a large delegation here for the day's program as many Trinity exes reside there.

The feature athletic attraction of the day will be the football game to be played in the afternoon between the Trinity Tigers and the Southwestern Pirates, gridiron rivals since 1909. The Tigers are expected to win a victory that day as they have not lost a Home-coming contest since Leland J. Wilkins and Alvah Boggs have been coaches here. The last time Southwestern was the Home-Coming foe of the Tigers, the Pirates were defeated 6 to 0 in a thrilling battle.

Officers of the Association of former students are Henry Zoller of Rockwall, president; the Rev. Claude V. King of Dallas, vice-president; Prof. Lester Jordan of Waxahachie, secretary; and Prof. J. B. Ford of Waxahachie, treasurer.

Pricilla Club

Mrs. Edd McDonald entertained members of the Pricilla Club Wednesday afternoon, October 30th. Only a few member were present.

A quilt was half finished and a large ironing done. Chicken sandwiches, cake and hot chocolate were served to the following: Mrs. J. J. Hays, Mrs. Edd Schloeman, Mrs. A. B. Chatman, Mrs. J. C. Bunnell and Miss Estelle Cooper.

The club will meet with Mrs. Parker Hirsch for an all day meeting November 21st.

Legislative Doings As Reported by Sen. Poage

Austin, Nov. 5.—Fairly good progress has been made by both Houses this past week, but we are still a long way from completing the work that has been assigned to this Session, and it becomes more apparent every day that we are not going to be able to secure the passage of any substantial revenue bills before adjournment. I now expect the session to end with a liquor bill passed, an officers' salary bill and an old age pension, but no revenue to pay the pensions. This would, of course, require the Governor to call another session to pass some tax laws, and I am almost convinced that no new taxes will ever be levied on any of our natural resources or on any of the utilities and other corporate interests of this State, until we have a session of the Legislature with absolutely nothing before it except the matter of taxes.

The House, after two weeks discussion passed the so-called "Omnibus" tax bill and the Senate State Affairs Committee began hearings on it yesterday afternoon and continued the hearing until 11 o'clock last night. This bill includes a tax on so many different interests that if the Committee gave each industry only one hour to be heard, it would take all of the session to complete the hearings. Of course, the House had already heard most, if not all, of these interests at the Regular Session, but no hearings have ever been held in the Senate as this is the first substantial tax measure that has reached us. It does not, however, seem that this bill is going to finally secure any substantial revenue, as practically every industry that has so far objected has been taken out of the bill by the Senate Committee. I am not a member of this committee, but it looks to me as if some of the members were deliberately trying to force a sales tax. The bill claims to levy a tax on natural resources, but the increase amounts to only one-fourth of one cent per barrel on crude oil, when it should be at least 8 cents.

Last Friday night I spoke over the Southwest Broadcast hookup and sought to explain just how this State might be by the levy of a 10 per cent natural resource tax secure enough new revenue to pay the old age pension and at the same time abolish the State ad valorem tax. I also pointed out that this could be done without any unfair burden to the oil or sul-

Armistice Day! Brings sorrow to all of us, in that there are some who are not here to join in the festivities designed for rejoicing that so many of "the boys" came back. To those who did not return, we bow in humble reverence, because, they died in vain that "the world might be made safe for democracy" in lieu of hypocrisy! Such is life!

phur industry, and that most of the money so produced would be secured from people living in other states. This is the only proposal of any kind made at either of the Called Sessions to reduce any tax and it contains the special merit of providing for the payment of the pensions at the same time. I have received a great deal of encouragement from citizens of all walks of life, but realize that we have a very hard fight here in the Legislature. We will not win unless the people arouse themselves to the seriousness of the situation, but when they do, whether it be this year or next, we are going to see a Legislature in Austin that will be willing to force those who are exploiting our resources to at least collect some taxes for the support of our State.

Both Houses are today working on liquor bills. This morning the Senate adopted the so-called Small bill as a basis and the House voted to work on the Bradbury Bill. Both the Small bill and the Bradbury bill define an open saloon as a place where distilled liquor is sold by the drink. One or both Houses may dispose of the subject today. The Senate is not in session this afternoon, as the State Affairs Committee is holding hearings on the tax bill, but we will meet again at eight tonight. The same group that has been trying to delay action on all resources voted against meeting tonight. Had we not met again today, it would have meant that the liquor legislation would have had to go over until Friday as tomorrow and Thursday are House Bill days. Those who voted against a night session (thereby seeking to postpone action until last Friday) were as follows: Holbrook, Martin, Moore, Rawlings, Regan, Sanderford, Shivers, Stone and Sulak.

In connection with this vote, I find that some of the Senators take exception to my practice of giving the people the roll calls. Last week Senator Hopkins of Gonzales spoke at some length in criticism of my practice. I have never wanted to offend any Senator, but I know of no reason why anyone should object to allowing the people of Central Texas to know just how every member voted, and I expect to continue to do so. My comments have been sent out only in Central Texas, and I feel that it is somewhat of a compliment to know that the Senators in other sections of the State are taking such an interest in

PAPERS MUST BE FILED IN CO. AGENT'S OFFICE TO RECEIVE PAYMENTS

Attention is again called to the dates on which papers must be filed in the County Agent's Office for the producers to receive Adjustment Payments (12c) on this year's cotton. On all cotton sold before November 9, the forms must be in the County Agent's Office by November 16. On all cotton sold after November 9 the forms must be in the County Agent's Office within seven days after sale. Farmers are urged to keep these dates in mind and be governed accordingly.

San Angelo. — "Beets are thriving in my winter lettuce bed and are protected from insects there," Mrs. B. R. Buchanan, pantry demonstrator of the Water Valley Home Demonstration Club in Tom Green County, told Miss Dyora Crowder, home demonstration agent.

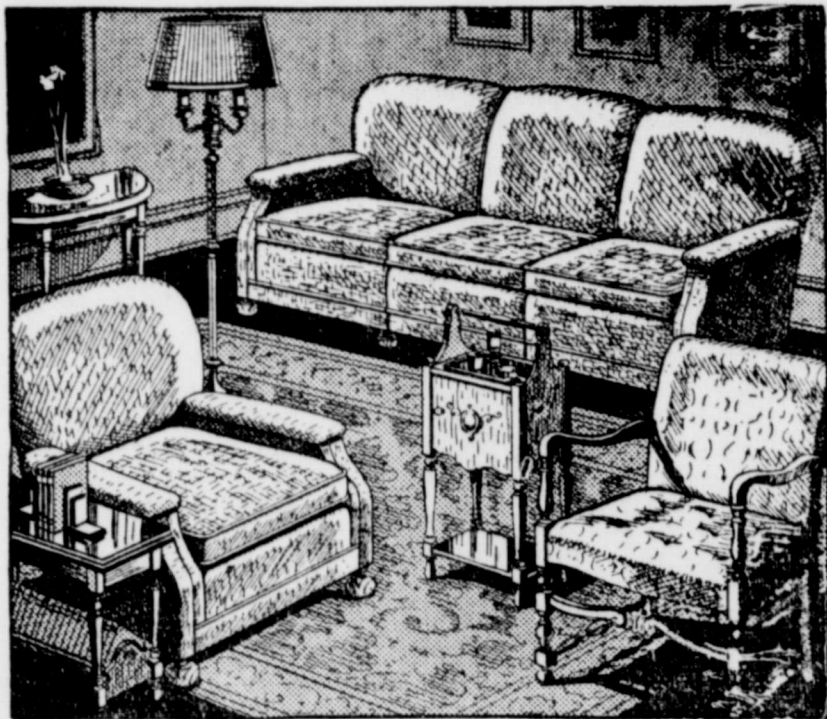

After planting two rows of beets in her fall garden, Mrs. Buchanan broadcast the rest of her seed in the winter greens bed which is six feet long and four and one-half feet wide. She then covered the bed with canvas which was removed occasionally to admit more sunlight.

Grasshoppers and other insects ate up the young beets which were planted in the garden while those in the bed grew rapidly and are now furnishing greens and beets for the table. Mrs. Buchanan planted home grown seed of the variety which she raised last year.

It is possible to make comforts for the home from home grown wool, if the wool is scoured perfectly and carefully carded says Mrs. J. D. Robertson, member of the Hagerman Home Demonstration Club of Graysca County.

This lady recommends that the wool be spread on paper in the sun to dry, and where the air can circulate around it fully. The wool loses about one-half its weight in washing. A three pound bat is about the average for comforts.

IN MEMORY OF VICTOR GENE POWELL

A great and good man once said as he thought of life and death. It must be sweet in childhood to give back the spirit to its Maker ere the life had grown familiar with the ways of sin and sown to garner up its better fruits.

It must be true for the little ones who go away but to those who mourn their loss it is hard to accept that beautiful truth.

It is peculiarly sad in the death of little Victor Gene, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Powell, who died in the Provident Sanitarium, October 14, for he was so dearly beloved and the tendrils of his heart were so enturn with those of his loved ones.

He came to bless the home when the other children were almost grown.

They took him at once to their hearts and its was remarked that the love and tenderness of the older brother for him made a sweet and attractive picture which will live always in the memory of the loved ones.

Little Victor Gene tho not three years old, was bright and active beyond his years and gave promise to the future, but we believe the all seeing eye looked down the years and saw his greatest joy lay in being taken to Himself, so God's finger touched him and he slept.

Then he knows joys this world could never give and we who experience this sorrow have deeper sympathy for others who mourn for.

There is no flock however watched and tended.

But one dead lamb is there. There is no fireside how so ere defended.

But has one vacant chair.

Our comfort too will come if we but try to realize that he is saying to us:

"Where I am, too, will be your place.

I've only gone ahead for a little space.

When you join me where I dwell.

You will come to know it was not farewell."

Another source of comfort is the knowledge that we now have great treasure in heaven, and where the treasure is there will the heart be also.

Little Victor Gene's presence there will make the Father's House more to be desired and loved; more gloriously real and beautiful.

SYNOPSIS

Captain Michael Andrews, of a British armored car division, is rescued from the Turks by a mysterious secret service agent who calls himself "Smith." In a fight with "Smith," Andrews breaks his leg and is sent to a British hospital in Cairo. As his leg heals, he falls in love with his nurse, Rosemary, who reciprocates his affection, but reveals that she married a secret service agent who vanished at the outbreak of the war. Her husband, John Stevenson, who is the mysterious "Smith," reappears on the scene and asks Rosemary to go away with him. Andrews is ordered to a new post in the Sudan interior. He sees Rosemary before he leaves. On her way home she is run down by a truck and dies in Stevenson's arms calling for "Michael." Stevenson swears revenge and asks to be transferred to Andrews' post. Meanwhile, Andrews arrives at the fort to find the garrison slaughtered. He sends for relief. Stevenson comes in later and calmly announces that he is doing to kill Michael, but a native attack stalls him. They evacuate the fort to warn the relief party and take refuge in a forest which the natives have surrounded and set afire.

CHAPTER X

Hardly had Stevenson given his warning when great billows of choking smoke swept over the camp. The natives had set a circle of brush fires which, fanned by a brisk picked up the trail. Stevenson hacked at the bridge with his knife and managed to sever the ropes just in time, hurling their pursuers into the water.

For days they struggled through the jungle toward the relief column. Once they had a narrow escape from a herd of hippopotami. On another occasion Andrews leg gave out while he was endeavoring to escape from a charging elephant. Only a quick shot by Stevenson saved his life.

"Why did you do that?" the captain asked curiously.

"Time to kill you later," was the response.

But it soon became plain that Stevenson would lose his revenge after all. Andrews' leg gave him more and more trouble. The wound from his operation had opened and became infected. He limped doggedly forward, his face contorted with pain.

At last they emerged from the forest and started across a desert into the deep sand of which they sank to their ankles at every step. Andrews struggled valiantly forward whisper to his half-delirious ears. "Go back...Go back..."

"I hear you...Rosemary," he muttered, pressing one hand to his feverish forehead.

"Go back... Go back...He is your friend..." The voice of the dead girl rang clear.

Stevenson stopped in his tracks. The voice (or was it merely the swish of the sand) stopped.

"No. No," he shouted with sudden shocking violence. "I can't go back. Even if I want to I can't."

He plunged forward once more. Immediately the voice began again.

"You saved him once...from the fire..."

Stevenson stopped as though shot. A wild exaltation swept over his face.

"Fire," he whispered.

Running forward to the top of a little hill, he pulled out a knife, hacked off a piece of scrub with demonic energy and started a fire. As soon as a heavy column of smoke arose from it he tore off his shirt and started using it to produce little puffs of vapor in the form of dot-wind, soon were raging in all directions. Wild animals charged through the forest in a mad scramble to escape the flames and made the confusion even greater.

With Andrews and Stevenson at their head, the soldiers tried to keep ahead of the fire, but the natives started a steady barrage which made that impossible.

"We've got to go back...through the flames," cried the secret agent at last. "We might get through that way. Out in front they're sure to pick us off."

The maneuver was carried out, not with dreadful loss of life. One of our men were shot down or suffocated. Only Andrews and his enemy managed at last to break through the ring of death. The former had twisted his hurt leg, but Stevenson lifted him on his back and carried him to a deep river across which the fire could not spread. They found a rope bridge and managed to cross it safely, but behind them the natives again until his leg gave way beneath him. Struggling to arise, he found it would no longer bear his weight.

"No good," he said hoarsely to Stevenson who had turned and was regarding him with a frown of annoyance. "I'm finished...all in. You've got to get over those hills to find the column...Go on..."

"And leave you here?" Stevenson's face was expressionless now. "You'll die."

"If you don't stop column...two hundred men will die." Slowly he sank back upon the sand, muttering: "We...we ought to have been friends."

"Stevenson stood without moving for a long moment. Then, without a word, he turned and walked away, his step that of a weary man on a long march.

For hours he walked, hearing only the swish of the sand at every step. Then this slight sound seemed to take on a new note.

"John...John..." it seemed to and-dash code signals. Would the column see it?

Covered with sweat, he paused from his labors at last and scanned the horizon. Far down in the heat haze, he caught an answering flicker. "O. K." it said. "Coming. Hold on!"

With a sigh of vast relief Stevenson turned to retrace his steps.

He found Andrews lying unconscious, face-downward in the sand, just where he had fallen. Quickly Stevenson knelt and with infinite tenderness lifted his old enemy to a sitting position and forced the mouthpiece of his canteen between the parched lips.

Slowly the captain opened his eyes and for the first time the two men smiled at each other. Then, while Stevenson still held the water bottle and the other drank avidly, they heard, far away but very clear, the high, shrill notes of a trumpet from the Relief Column.

No. 3—MIST AND FOG

SO LONG as there is light we may skip around at a lively rate over this old globe of ours. We may span oceans in surprising time. We may cross the continent from sun-up to sun-down.

But every now and then Mother Nature decides to put us in our place, and of all her devices to make us slow down, none is more effective than mist and fog.

Now we may not have to contend with fog and mist very frequently, but we're bound to now and then, and when we do, it can cause us a lot of annoyance and trouble.

When a good heavy fog comes—on land, at sea or in the air—everything that moves, moves with caution. The ocean liner slows down several knots an hour. Lightships signal, buoys sound and foghorns boom. Airlines ground their planes and cancel trips. Even trains on tracks reduce their speed—and we drivers on the highways, too, must make our way cautiously through that baffling screen. For one thing is true. In spite of all our progress, transportation still depends on pairs of eyes in human heads.

Scientists who have studied fog, say that it is composed of tiny drops of water. These drops are so small and light that they hang in the air, and so close together that light can hardly get through them. Instead, these little drops act like tiny convex mirrors. When we try to pierce them with a beam of light, a great deal of it is thrown right back at us, so the effect is just like a great, gleaming white curtain in front of us.

Experienced drivers say that the first thing to do is to get our lights right. The main thing is to direct the beams downward. If we have them shining straight ahead, those little mist-drop mirrors reflect the rays back in our eyes. But if they're pointing downward, the rays are deflected toward the road.

Then they say it's a good idea to guide by the road edge at our right, and if we have a spotlight on our car, to focus it right on that road edge. close to the front of the car, so the edge will be clearly lighted. But we have to keep a good weather eye ahead, too, because fog veils more than the road. It hides not only things on the road but such things as roadside warnings of curves and hills and intersections. Even the traffic light's red and green signal rays have the same hard time that our headlights do getting through that strange haze. In fact, in a good heavy fog, the best we can do for our vision is none too good. And so the main thing is to slow down. The ships have to do it, the trains have to do it, and we have to do it too. If we won't make up our minds to that, they tell us the best thing we can do is to pull off the road, or if we have not yet started out, we had better just stay home.

But seeing in fog and mist is only half the story. We not only have to see, but we also have to be seen. Our headlights properly adjusted are strong enough to do their duty in pointing us out to people coming from the opposite direction. And, in addition, some drivers use their horns like foghorns by giving them a toot every now and then. But another thing we have to think of is to be sure drivers behind us see us. That's why it's so important to have our stop-signal and tail-light working when we're driving in fog. And so it's a good thing to make sure that these lights are working and to wipe off those little red glasses if they happen to be covered with mud. If the weather's clear and our tail-light has gone out, the other fellow's lights may point us out fairly well. But if his headlights are fighting fog, they can't do much to protect us.

So, when all is said and done, driving in fog is just a matter of having our headlights and tail-lights right and being a little more careful. If we do that, we can drive our cars safely, even through Nature's stubborn obstacles of mist and fog.

BOB POAGE—

Both Houses have finally passed Officers' Salary bills and this matter is not in conference committee as is the pension bill. Both of those committees should report within a day or two. The conference committee on the District Attorneys' Salary Bill—which was separate from the County Officers' Bill reported yesterday and the bill was finally passed, fixing the salary of all district attorneys at $4000, except in El Paso Co. where the salary was made $5500.00. I did not feel that any exception should have been made.

On last Friday I succeeded in getting the Senate to take up and to finally pass without amendment my Drivers' License Bill and it is now pending in the House. I have introduced a drivers' license bill in two previous sessions, and have always succeeded in getting the Senate to pass it, but the House has always killed it. However, I feel that at last the members of the House have had the dangers of reckless driving brought home to them to such an extent that they will probably pass the bill this time.

CORYELL CITY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sadler and children spent Sunday in Valley Mills with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Byrd and children spent Sunday in Mosheim with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Johnson.

This community was made sad last Tuesday when Miss Ida Belle Warren passed away after an illness of six weeks, and was laid to rest in the Millard Cemetery, west of Coryell. The bereaved family has the sympathy of this community.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Bell Galke has been in the hospital at Waco, but is home now, and improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Audie Hestilow spent Sunday at Osage with Mr. and Mrs. George Clemons. Those visiting in Gatesville

Saturday afternoon from this community were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sadler, Mr. and Mrs. Hurl Goff, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Goff, Mrs. Audie Hestilow, Joe Marie Tubbs, and Cecil Copeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Pruitt and Joe Griffith and son, Louis, were also Gatesville visitors Saturday.

Everyone must remember that Sunday, November 10th is our regular church day. Everyone is invited to attend.

Rev. Byes, Presbyterian Pastor, preaches here every 1st and 3rd Sunday night. Everyone is welcome.

Missouri hunters are preparing to use phonograph records, with duck quacks, as decoys for wild ducks this year. We consider this a very round-about way to lie to a duck. Why not tell 'em direct?—Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal.

Sketch of Football in Gatesville High School

By FRUMAN BLANTON
News' Sports Staff

While discussing the football relations between Gatesville and Hamilton and Gatesville and McGregor, the question arose as to how long Gatesville had been playing these two teams and, then the question of how long football had been played in Gatesville. After inquiring into the matter and asking a few of the older fans we found a most interesting story.

The first school team in Gatesville was organized in 1909. Prior to this, football had been played but not as an organized school activity. The first school team was not a high school organization but a team made up of any student from the primary up who wished to play. That first team consisted of 12 men including the coach who played. The coach, Kiser by name, was really a teacher who undertook to show the boys what little he knew and to organize them. That year the boys went to Meridian and on Friday won from that team by a 30-to-0 count. Returning home they encountered car trouble and didn't arrive home until 5 o'clock Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon, after getting the field in shape to play on, Waco was played and won by a small margin. Mind you these two games in two days were played with 12 men. Some of the men playing that year were Willie R. Parks, Jim Hanks, Richard Dickie, Cliff Rankin, Bill Sedrick, Veazy Taylor, Ray Franks, T. P. Priddy, Jr., Elbert Sloan, Robert Oldham. The team met and was defeated that year by McGregor. Most of these fellows returned in 1910.

From 1910 to 1913, included on the Gatesville squad, were these familiar names: Fred Prewitt, Dan McClellan, Clyde Bailey, Herschel and Leslie Sadler. This team played about the same schedule as the 1909 team. Hamilton was not played but McGregor was.

In 1914 Fred Prewitt, who had played the year before, began coaching and football began to take on its modern appearance. Prewitt had attended Baylor University one year and having played while there, he returned to Gatesville with the knowledge of how football was really played. Along about this time Ted McCollum, Whitley Smith, Lloyd Williamson, Packard Harris, Earl Walker, and Bill Hill were participating with Jim McClellan, Boy Trapp, Lewis Holmes, Lloyd Ware and McKie Walker following them.

In 1916 in the third game of the season against Waco McKie Walker was severely injured and football was discontinued for that year with the two war years of 1917-1918 following to interrupt the game these two years.

In 1919, with Fred Prewitt again coach, found Jim McClellan, Luke Walker, George Painter, R. L. Bates, Troy Jones, Dick Hampton, Raymond Edwards, Boy Trapp, Dick Blair, Eiland Lovejoy, Marvin Fletcher and Paul Colgin playing. The annual game with McGregor had now taken on the aspects of a grudge fight. Hamilton was played for the first time this year being overwhelmed.

In 1921 McDaniels was elected coach and his regime of three years saw football really changed to its modern version, and saw such performers as Jim Walker, Greely Ricketts, Gordon Powell, Kermit Jones, Bob Arnold, Arthur Wolf, John H. Curry, John Gilmer, John Hearne, Gabe Smith, and Pete Patterson make Gatesville High a feared team by all opponents.

In 1924 Aiken took over the coaching reins and Bodie Hunter, Eugene Alvis, Arthur Blankenship, Orville Petree, John G. Morse and Joe Whigham arose to become stars.

From 1919 thru 1924 Gatesville met both Hamilton and McGregor each year. The outcome of the games with the exception of 1924, I could not find out. I am sure though that Hamilton did not win more than one if any at all. McGregor, however, held a slight edge. In 1924 Gatesville and Hamilton played two games, the first one ending in a 0-0 tie and the second in a Hamilton victory 20 to 13. McGregor was defeated that year 27-to-0.

In 1925 R. F. Ogan became coach and this writer, a freshman candidate for the team. This year saw Capt. John Gilmer, Arthur Wolf, Bodie Hunter, Orville Petree, Joe Whigham, S. L. Witcher, R. D. Hendrickson and Arthur Blankenship playing their final game for the Gold and Black and such men as Jack Richardson, Velda Bradford, and William Hill earning their first letter. From 1925 down to the present the writer is quite sure of the scores of the games. In this year (1925) Hamilton was beaten 47-0 and McGregor 25-0.

In 1926 with Ogan still coaching the writer played his first year. Other members were Buster Gough, Buster Laxson, Dick Forrest, "Eskimo" Weaver, Henry Young, "Sparky" Hord, Joe Sasse and John Washburn. This year Hamilton was played to a 0-0 tie and McGregor won by a 9-7 count. The McGregor game saw this scribe punt ten yards over his head and behind him for the winning 2 points for McGregor.

In 1927 with B. Q. Green in command Hamilton was beaten 27-0 and McGregor again won 27-6. Edgar Thompson, Cecil Dixon, "Brigham" Young, Joe Johnson, Fred Lam and Roy McBeth earned their spurs this year.

Nineteen twenty-eight found Green again at the helm and the class "B" districts formed for the first time. Hamilton was defeated 21-0 and the Hornets and McGregor played a 6-6 tie for the district title. McGregor won the flag by virtue of a 0-0 tie the locals had played with Mart. To the 1927 line up the names of Tommie Schneider, Hugo Adams, Lem Weaver, E. W. Jones, Clarice Wiggins and Bernard Lauder milk were added.

Charley Taylor took charge of the 1929 aggregation with high hopes of a district title, having lost but four men from the '28 club but the Hornets had a most disastrous season. However they did win over both Hamilton and McGregor by scores of 14-7 and 19-14 respectively. New comers to the team were Jim Thompson, Jack

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By TEDDY

When the Gatesville Hornets and the Hamilton Bulldogs meet in their football game here Monday, the 11, at 2:30, it will mark the 17th straight year and the 18th straight time these two rivals have met in grid combat, having begun this annual battle in 1919. The extra game comes from two meetings the teams had in 1924. The early records have been lost but as near as can be found out Gatesville has won 10 of these games, Hamilton 4, and 3 have been tied. We stand to be corrected on these figures.

The first few years following the war Hamilton's football teams were in the experimental stage more or less, but since 1924 the Bulldogs have just about played on equal terms with all teams in this part of the state.

Both the Bulldogs and Hornets have had an in and out team so far this year and their meeting Monday afternoon is expected to be one of those nip and tuck battles with the Hornets slightly favored because of their at-home advantage.

A large holiday crowd is expected with the admission price being 35 cents.

Friday evening under the lights, if the weather permits two interesting games will be played with the outcome of each playing a large part in deciding the district race.

At Mart the Panthers take on McGregor in a game that may break or make the Panthers while Clifton plays host to Valley Mills in a game that is just as important as the Mart-McGregor conflict.

NORGE Gas Range

The box-frame construction of the Norge oven permits more complete insulation. With oven registering 200 degrees inside, tests have shown room temperature increases as little as 3½ degrees. You can safely place your hand on oven top.

This heat-saving feature means lower gas consumption, more economical baking. You can turn oven off sooner and finish baking on stored heat—double economy.

New convenience is provided by the porcelain, easily-cleaned level-sliding racks and oven bottom. There is a combination heat regulator and oven valve, as well as a safety oven lighter.

Economy and convenience are further increased by the CONCENTRATOR BURNER, exclusive with Norge; automatic top lighter, burner bowl and tray, seamless top, two roller-bearing utility drawers, and adjustable elevating broiler.

See the Norge Gas Ranges. Investigate their many advantages. Available in white, as well as green, tan and peach in Mother-of-pearl porcelain.

Twelve months from now Americans will know whether Franklin Roosevelt will occupy the White House for four more years or retire to his home at Hyde Park. On Nov. 3, 1936, voters will pencil ballots, election officials will spend busy hours of counting, and thousands of newspapers, bulletin boards and radios will tell 130,000,000 anxious Americans the result. In just two months, Congress will convene for the last session left for the making of such changes as the Administration desires in the record it will trundle out for inspection for the voters.

This seems a good time to analyze Mr. Roosevelt's strength in the Nation and the chances of a Democratic victory next year. Paul Mallon, Washington columnist, just returned from a 5,000 tour from coast to coast, makes this blunt statement: "President Roosevelt would be re-elected today." Mallon says Washington is in close contact with the Democratic Governors, bosses and dominant political leaders and that with public works allotments, Federal patronage, and relief organizations the present Administration will be very hard to beat.

West of Pennsylvania, Roosevelt is said to be ahead in every state but Kansas and Michigan. Both of these states have Republican governors and are unshakably Republican.

Mallon reports business 8 to 40 per cent better throughout most of the Nation with the average improvement in the west part of the country about 10 per cent over last year. It is significant to note that in the states where the least improvement has been noted Roosevelt is strongest.

New York betting odds are 10 to 1 for the renomination and reelection of President Roosevelt next year. Mallon's report of only deflections in the western states seems to bear out such odds. If business conditions continue to improve, if the relief rolls are materially reduced during the spring and if Mr. Roosevelt can succeed in substantially reducing Federal expenditures, the Republicans will stand little chance of defeating their century old foes.

By historic precedent, England does not act in a crisis affecting her imperial existence until her back is against the wall. In August, 1914, it was necessary for German troops to march within striking distance of her shores before she met the gage of battle. It is no small wonder now that the world finds it difficult to reconcile such traditional policy with the sudden concentration last month of 150 ships of the British Navy in Mediterranean waters.

Could England possible be so aroused over Italy's invasion of a half-forgotten African nation? Now, it has become no longer a secret that behind this and other precipitate activities in this region lay a much bigger prize at stake, namely, Egypt.

Albert Viton, writer in "The Nation," sees in Mussolini's attempt to conquer Ethiopia only a step toward the conquest of British Africa. "Mussolini's imperial plans are quite simple: he expects to use the Italian colonies as sources of man-power for the conquest of British Africa," Viton writes. "Their next point of attack is to be Egypt, which they hope to wrest from England within the next twenty-five years. Once, Egypt is in their hands, and this means the Suez Canal, the entrance to the Red Sea, they would hold a stiletto at the heart of the British Empire."

"This is Italy's dream and the permanent basis of its foreign policy. The Italian front is solid against Britain and the key to this anti-British attitude is the belief that Britannia is doomed. "In the Nineteenth Century, England was the undisputed master of the Mediterranean," recalls a writer in "The Living Age." "Today England is at least as dependent upon Italy as Italy is on England. Malta, British naval base south of Italy, could be destroyed in two hours by Italian airships."

This explains the announcement last week that Alexandria, Egypt, will become the new British naval base in the Mediterranean; that British garrisons in both Egypt and the Sudan, bordering Ethiopia, will be greatly increased with a powerful air force. This explains Britain's uncompromising attitude in the present crisis. Why, the American reader wants to know, is so much fuss being made about this insignificant African empire? Why is Britain so interested? Mr. Viton gives an adequate explanation. Britain crushed Imperial Germany because it threatened the Empire. Britain is determined to crush Fascist Italy for the same reason.

It may really be "Back to the horse and buggy days" if new oil deposits are not found.

Texas oil men were told Wednesday. Members of the Independent Petroleum Producers of America were told in Dallas that oil reserves in the U. S. now total only ten billion barrels. Reserves of the eastern states are down to five billion barrels.

Mervin Lee of the Kansas State Corporation Commission told the assemblage that "The oil industry has skimmed the cream of the shallow production, and from now on is faced with deeper and more expensive exploration. The industry is already in the red on drilling, and search for new reserves is going to entail greater and greater losses. The answer is that the price of oil must be raised to levels which will permit the exploration necessary to insure a continued supply."

Crude oil production has been making rapid increases since 1900. In that year, total world production totalled only 149,100,000 barrels (barrel equals 42 gallons). By 1933, this had jumped to 1,369,700,000 barrels. Production first reached the billion barrel mark in 1933 and, as said above, has continued to increase year by year.

BUSTER NEWS

A good many Buster people were in Gatesville Saturday and Monday.

The cold norther is a welcome after so much rain. The roads are still bad, but we are hoping some improvement will be made soon.

Bro. Hollaway was here for church services Sunday afternoon.

M. R. P. Williams, Jr., and Mr. Jim Morgan were in Brownwood during the week end, visiting Mr. J. D. Morgan who is attending college there.

Mr. Orvice Teague spent Saturday night with Mr. Ted Williams.

Mrs. Irene Williams and Donald and Mrs. Lillie Williams and Frances and Dorothy Ruth spent Saturday with Mrs. Clara Teague.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnice Hardie and daughters of Turnersville spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Huskerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Latham and J. R. Jr. of Liberty Church are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louie Hamilton.

Mr. Willis Williams of Hamilton visited here two days last week.

Mrs. Emma Miller is in Waco visiting her daughter and friends.

FOOTBALL—

Bone, Horace Hardin, Horace Blanton and "Bug" Jones.

The year 1930 was a slack year with few returning lettermen. Olin Fenner was coach and team members included "Tangle-foot" Adams, W. A. Pruitt, Chas. Baker, J. B. Martin, "Mutt" Patterson and Crawford Scott. Hamilton won this year 14-7 and McGregor did likewise 33-6.

Ben Hines took over the coaching duties in 1931 and with new material molded a great team headed by a first year backfield of sensational brilliance consisting of David Franks at quarter, Johnnie Bradford and Huron McCoy at the halves and Jessie Lee Wiggins at full. The line was headed by Capt. Chas. Baker, J. B. Martin and Horace Hardin. Hamilton was overwhelmed 51-0 and an inferior McGregor team on a muddy field won by a 21-7 score. Again in 1932 Hines took raw material and fashioned a fair team. A 0-0 tie was played with Hamilton and a fine McGregor team white washed the locals 28-0. Some of the boys playing were Delmar Ramsey, Paul Hinson, Grady Wilhelm, J. W. Summers and J. R. Saunders.

Maurice Ewing became coach in 1933-34. These two years saw the poorest array of material in the recent history of the school. Hamilton won in '33 by a 54-0 score and in '34 19-0. McGregor won by scores of fifty some odd points both years. Players these years included "Rooster" Rogers, Sonny Hair, Harry Dillashaw, Byron L. McClellan, J. C. Byrom, Seth McLarty, Hazen Ward, and Joe Powell among others.

The above list does not include near all the football players from year to year and prior to 1925 some of the names may be associated with the wrong year, but the main object of this write up is to revive old memories and no name was neglected on purpose. The records are as near correct as was possible for the writer to get them. If I have caused anyone to happily relive his high school football over again then I will gladly accept any criticism that may be offered in regard to my story such as it is.
