Rep. Huddleston Views Special Session's Work In Letter to Readers

The Second Called Session of the 44th Legislature closed on November 14th, however, I regret to say that I do not think that the wishes of the people were carried out fully in these sessions.

As all of you know, when the Governor called an extra session of the Legislature in September, he submitted three questions which were voted by the people; the Liquor Bill, the question of salaries for state and county officials, and the Old Age Pension Bill. At the close of the First Called Session (Continued on Last Page.)

Thirty-four members of the Gatesville High School 1935 football squad were banqueted last night at a local cafe by Painter & Lee and their employees from the men's department of that store.

Besides members of the team, were Coaches Earle Worley, Coach Maurice Ewing, Superintendent Frank L. Williams, George Painter, B. W. Lee, Charlie Sydow, "Rip" Walker and Mr. Hudson.

Speakers for the occasion were Coaches Worley, Ewing, Superintendent Williams and George Painter.

Menu for the occasion consisted of roast turkey and dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, green peas, fruit salad, pie and hot chocolate.

AYRES COMPTON MEMBER STAFF OF CENTENNIAL PUBLICATION

In Volume 1, Number 1, of "Texas Centennial Review," Ayres Compton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Compton, and former Editor of the News, is listed in the roster of this new centennial publication.

Ayres left here a short time ago to accept a position with the Centennial Publicity Department, but it was not known just what position he had received. He is listed as being one of three members of the Press Division, under the direction of Mr. Charles R. Roster, Head of the State Publicity Department of the Texas Centennial Celebrations.

14 BALES OF COTTON BURN ON TRUCK NEAR NAVASOTA

Clarence Howell, driving one of the trucks for Perry Hale, had his truck of cotton catch fire enroute to Houston Saturday night, burning fourteen bales of cotton.

Other motorists called his attention to the fire and they unloaded the cotton quick enough to prevent damage to the truck. The cotton was a total loss, but was insured. Howell was alone in the truck at the time.

Thanksgiving

A SHORT HISTORY OF THANKSGIVING DAY

Quoting, "Thanksgiving Day, was suggested by the English 'Harvest Home,' an old fashioned festival held to celebrate the completion of harvest. A similar festival in Scotland was known as Mell Supper."

Americanized, "Thanksgiving Day was first observed by the Plymouth Colony, November 26, 1621. The observance of the day became general thruout New England. After the Revolutionary War, the usage spread to the Middle States and over the West, making progress more slowly southward. Most governors issued proclamations, and since Lincoln set the example in 1863, all presidents have issued proclamations, the last Thursday in November being set aside and accepted as Thanksgiving Day."

Originally, the Plymouth Thanksgiving was held under peculiar circumstances. After the first corn crop had been gathered, Governor Bradford and the Pilgrim Fathers decided to have a feast of ingathering—a day of thanksgiving. They invited the friendly Massasoit (Indian Chief) to join them. He and his braves, ninety strong, came with venison and wild turkeys. The surrounding woods yielded the housewives wild fruit, and the waters supplied fish and clams. The children gathered wood; fires were built out-of-doors. They boiled, and baked pastries, corn-bread, and puddings in kettles. Wild turkeys, geese, ducks, and venison were hung on poles and roasted over open beds of coals. Clam chowder was made hissing hot for the first course. Tables were set under the pine trees. What was lackin' by way of plates was made up by wooden trenchers. If they did not have silver spoons, they had wooden ones. There were knives enough. All sorts counted, and forks they did without. The children ate by themselves or waited for second table. What with preaching, feasting, talking and games, the exercises lasted three days. Fifty-five English-speaking people were present. Sickness had told heavily on the colony. Over forty of their band lay under the sod. Of the fifty-five mentioned, there were but four women. These, with the young girls and one servant, prepared for all that large company and the ninety Indians besides.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME OF W. W. HAGANS AT NOON SUNDAY

Fire of undetermined origin, practically destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hagans, who live on Saunders Street Sunday a little after noon. Prompt work by the neighbors saved some household goods, but the house was a total loss, even tho the firemen answered the call promptly.

The house was owned by Mrs. T. J. Caton of Arlington, who formerly lived in Gatesville. Mr. and Mrs. Hagans lost nearly all their clothing in the fire.

Another small fire was reported Saturday afternoon at Fletcher & Beerwinkle's when insulation on the wiring to an electric refrigeration unit ignited. This was put out by men in the store. However, the fire department answered the call immediately.

County Clerk C. P. Mounce Marries Miss Marlin Saturday Night

Miss Hazel Marlin became the bride of C. P. Mounce, County Clerk, Saturday night at nine o'clock at the home of Rev. M. M. Chunn, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city.

Mrs. Mounce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marlin, who lives several miles north of Gatesville.

Mr. Mounce, who has lived in Coryell County all of his life, has been County Clerk for the past several years.

He is the son of Mrs. J. P. Mounce, also of this city.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home in Gatesville.

The News' joins in with their many friends in wishing them success and happiness.

TEXAS STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETS IN SANTONE THURS.

The Annual Meeting of the Texas State Teachers' Association convenes at San Antonio Thursday to Saturday of this week. Many teachers in Coryell and adjacent counties have stated that they are going. This means that teachers are reaching out for the best to use in their own schools. Teachers often feel that they are working in a small place and work in a small way. The best is just good enough for Coryell boys and girls. Teachers who mean to make school work a life business usual do not mind investing in their future.

Teachers who attend colleges during the summer, keep in touch with educational program in this way.

DO RIGHT BY WILL!

Will wouldn't ask this! Not Will! We Will! Will You?

The Will Rogers Memorial Commission has had a campaign on since Will Rogers' birthday, November 4. This proposed Memorial to this man who was loved the world over, and still is, is to be a "living memorial," not a "piece of rock or bronz," just a cold chunk of something on a cement base, but a "living" memorial of some sort to perpetuate his memory. This campaign closes Thanksgiving Day!

For your convenience, we've had a blank in the paper for the past few weeks. Also, all three Gatesville banks have been designated to take donations, and according to their statements yesterday, none have been forthcoming.

This worthy movement is backed by such men as Rex Beach, Arthur Brisbane, Vice-Pres. John Garner, Amos G. Carter, Jesse H. Jones, Walter Chrysler, William Green, Owen D. Young, and many others.

Radio programs, newspapers, magazines, and every other medium of spreading information has been used (cheerfully donated) to this cause. Besides, fights, plays, horse races, night clubs, and many other attractions have given their receipts or made special days, for the benefit of this Memorial. One school in the middle west took pennies, making some $65.00 for this cause.

Can we entirely let Will down?

WHEAT CONTRACTS WERE ACCEPTED

One hundred eight Coryell county Wheat Contracts were accepted by the County Committee on Saturday, November 16. They were completed and forwarded to the State Wheat Board on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Only 52 Wheat Contracts were in force in Coryell county the past program. The noticeable increase is a fair index to the attitude of farmers toward the Adjustment Program.

WELL, WE GOT IT!

Thru approximately five years of effort by those in authority, Gatesville (which extends to the county's borders) has finally gotten what they've been working for. The new auditorium.

This is the final unit of the City Hall. The project has been approved and work order issued by the WPA, as announced in Friday's News.

Being designated as an auditorium, the building is to be used for what the term usually stands for. Community gatherings, plays, shows of many sorts, principally those in which most of the county would be interested.

Cooperation will necessarily have to be the word in order that all will receive benefits from a structure of this nature. When any gathering is planned, using this building, it devolves upon each of us the responsibility of seeing that what is being promoted is put over in a successful manner. Later there will be numerous problems to be worked out in connection with this new auditorium, and we want to be among the first to hand the "orchids" where they belong—to the city administration, and assure them we believe they have done this city and county faithful service in their five-year vigil of working successfully in securing this new addition to our city.

ST. LOUIS-SOUTHWESTERN BOARD OF DIRECTORS PASS RESOLUTIONS

In a Special Board of Directors Meeting of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company of Texas, the following resolutions were passed on the death of Mr. J. R. Curtis, former local Agent of that railroad here at Gatesville.

The resolutions read as follows:

"On motion duly made and seconded the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS, John Russell Curtis, Agent of this Company at Gatesville, Texas, since September 22, 1893, and in continuous service of the Company since July 11, 1882, departed this life on the 18th day of September, 1935, and this Board desires to make record of the tribute to his memory:

"THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That John Russell Curtis, born in the year 1862, at Spartanburg, South Carolina, was a typical son of the "Old South," refined, affable, chivalrous and democratic in all the relations of life.

"He devoted fifty-three years of his life to the faithful, loyal and efficient service of this Company.

"His only son was killed in the World War, just prior to the signing of the Armistice, and his devoted wife passed away soon thereafter.

"This Company has lost a diligent and efficient employee and his many friends have lost a friend."

The Secretary of this Company is instructed to spread this resolution upon the minutes of this Company and furnish a certified copy of the resolution to the newspapers at Gatesville, Texas.

"I, A. R. Wood, Secretary of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company of Texas do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct extract of the minutes of the Board of Directors of said Company duly called and held in Tyler, Texas, October 2, 1935.

(Signed) A. R. WOOD,
(Seal) Secretary."

World Unity

By Viola Wolf
(Evant Correspondent)

The best seed that we can sow are those of "World Mindfulness." Of course, years may pass, and probably many of us now living may not see that time, but we firmly believe that in some distant time the world will enjoy that great blessing.

We should begin, now, to sow the seeds in the minds of the child, where we find the most fertile soil, for here we find an absence of the sense of class distinction and social standards. Children play together with no thought of one individual being of higher rank than another, and were it not for the seeds of selfishness and wrong impressions sown by their elders they would not develop these traits. The parent or teacher who is wise will instill in the child mind the ideals of consideration, kindness and thoughtful regard for the rights and feelings of others, not only in the home, the school or town or country, but in the world. Teach him that his interest must be world-wide, not each nation as a single unit but the world as a great whole and each individual a part, just as the human body is a whole but composed of tiny cells each dependent on the others for its well-being, and when harm comes to one group the others in turn suffer because of this.

The adult mind is less pliable. Before we can hope for results there must be a mental housecleaning. Brush away the cobwebs of misunderstanding. What if some do have strange ideas that differ from our own, we'll venture to say that if we'll meet him at least half way with a smile and firm hand clasp and really mean it from the heart, we'll find to our surprise that it's a pretty good old world after all. Open the windows of our minds and let the sweet breezes of tolerance and the sunshine of love and we'll be surprised to find there is no room left for suspicion and distrust and prejudice that writh and squirm and hiss in our ears hatred for our fellowman. A good way to do this is to cultivate an interest in others. Try to feel the way we might feel if we had their trials or problems. Rejoice and be glad with them when they've found success and happiness. To be sure, there are types of individuals who appear cold and indifferent, and show that they do not care for or regard the good will of their fellows, but we can only pity such a one, for truly they're missing the sweetest thing in life without knowing it, but no one can tell them or show them because they just refuse to see.

Human need is the same the world over, and when we have learned the fine lesson of world brotherhood in deed as well as word then we may look for the beginning of the Millennium.

Valley Mills Defeats Hornets 12-0 Friday P. M.

Displaying for the afternoon the best running back we have seen in the district this year, the Valley Mills Eagles defeated the Hornets 12-0 last Friday on the local gridiron.

The back we have reference to was Black, and he had everything it takes to make an all district man. He had speed to burn and a terrific drive to go with it. Whether or not the young man has played this same type of game all year, we do not know but for this one game, he was marvelous and emerged the games outstanding performer.

Black was ably assisted by his team mates and by Everetts in particular. When Black wasn't dealing out misery for the locals Everetts was. As a unit the team Coach Larkin presented was a well coached and hard driving aggregation, and, but for a poor passing attack would undoubtedly be leading the parade for district honors.

The locals played a fair game but were seemingly dead on their feet the first half, and but for a couple of times they were caught asleep, the score might have ended for differently. The second half the Hornets came back fighting and honors were about even. No score being made in this period.

The Hornet line played a good game as a whole with the guards, after the first quarter, being standouts. Culberson's line backing looked good while Dickie showed to advantage, both on defense and offense. Despite poor attempts on the part of some of the Valley Mills rooters at sarcastic wise cracks directed to Sonny Hair, the Hornets field general played bang up ball and is still the best signal caller we have seen.

The game started with Gatesville receiving and making two first downs, but having the drive stopped with an intercepted pass. The Eagles with Black and Everetts carrying the ball advanced inside the Hornet 10 yard stripe before their drive was stopped. Hair punted out but shortly afterward, came the first Gatesville 'siesta.' With the ball resting 10 yards from the south sideline, the left side of the Hornet line decided to take a rest with the result that Romine faking a thrust at his own left side, spun and found the entire field next to the sideline as devoid of defensive men as a hen is of teeth and raced for the first touchdown with Hair the only man to get close to him. Try for extra point failed.

The game rocked fairly even then until the closing minutes of the first half when Gatesville fumbled and the Eagles recovered on about Gatesville's 30 yard line. With Black doing most of the damage the Eagles started a drive that saw Black take the ball over for the second marker. Extra point was again missed. The half ended following the kick off.

The second half was mainly a defensive one with neither team showing a sustained drive. The game ended with the Hornets desperately trying to score with passes and making two first downs with their aerials the last minute of play.

The first downs were even at 10 each. The locals tried 26 passes and completed 11, having 2 intercepted and 13 incomplete. The visitors attempted two passes with one incomplete and one intercepted. The long dashes of Black made a more impressive total of yards gained from scrimmage than did the Hornets but neither team really showed a great sustained drive at any time outside of the Eagles first quarter drive. The Hornets passes were all for short gains and helped very little in their attempts to tally.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By TEDDY

Just when this writer's life was roseate with the thought that Gatesville might beat McGregor in their annual clash Thursday, Monday morning's mail brought an unsigned letter from McGregor pulling these thoughts down around our ears with a disheartening crash. The unsigned piece of heart sickening news was written so as to lead this scribe to believe it was from the Bulldog coaching staff. Whether or not it was, yours truly doesn't know but it was appreciated for this writer now knows exactly how the game will end. The sender of this timely warning lets it be known that the locals chances will be much brighter if they keep Amelunke, the Bulldog star, in a good humor, but if he is in anyway crossed, it will be just 'too wet to plough.' The easiest way to arouse his ire is to call him a 'Dutchman.' The locals must be on their toes and by no means refer to the great Amelunke as a "Dutchman." All in all the entire letter tells of the many advantages the Gatesville team has over the Bulldogs but despite these handicaps, by sheer fight, the Bulldogs will emerge victorious. In referring to the size of the two teams the author of the letter cannot understand what advantage a large man has over a smaller one. Poor fellow! If he really doesn't know then the writer will take it upon himself to tell him, providing he makes known his identity. Perhaps he fears the ire of the Bulldog followers for imparting to us such valuable information, and thinks it best to keep his identity a secret.

We notice where Lampasas,

Hornets in Final Game Thursday Against McGregor on Wood Field

Next Thursday afternoon the Hornets meet their old foes, the McGregor Bulldogs on Wood Field in McGregor.

This rivalry between the Bulldogs and Hornets is one of the oldest football feuds in Central Texas Class B circles. The first game between the two teams was played back about 1909 and so far as we know has been unbroken but few times if any during the intervening years.

This annual clash has produced some highly interesting games on the playing field not to mention some highly exciting moments among the spectators before, during and after the games in the early days of their annual meetings. The last few years have seen the hostile attitude eliminated and both cities now look forward to the game, both for the game itself, and for the opportunity of again meeting friends they have made in Gatesville or McGregor as the case may be.

However you will find that rooters from both places will argue the merits of their team and fight for them with yells from the sidelines from whistle to gun, win or lose, and then acknowledge the fine points demonstrated by their opponents after the game is over.

The two teams this year have about the same kind of record and are as evenly matched as they have been in years. The Bulldogs are slightly heavier but the Hornets have a little advantage in experience. The Jenkinsmen also have th at-home advantage but it has been proved in the past that regardless of where they game is played, who has the better record or how much the game may mean to the winner, the contest has always been hard fought and interesting.

The Hornets have won one game and tied one in the past nine years, and Thursday will be striving to break this string of reversals, and they have the best chance they have had since 1929.

The McGregor officials are preparing for a large turn-out and every fan in Gatesville should be there pulling for a Hornet victory.

defeated by the locals 13-0, are playing Fredricksburg this week for the championship of that district.

Since T. C. U. administered that artistic trouncing to Rice the past Saturday they have become heavy favorites to "take" S. M. U. this week end. This writer was very skeptical regarding the vaunted strength of the Christains until they mal treated Rice in such a convincing fashion and any team that can win by three touchdowns from a team whose own play for the day would have beaten 9 teams out of 10 will get my vote against any body.

Following guesses on games to be played this week, probably on Thanksgiving. Don't take them too seriously.

Gatesville-McGregor—Comparative scores mean nothing in this game. On a dry field, we take the Hornets.

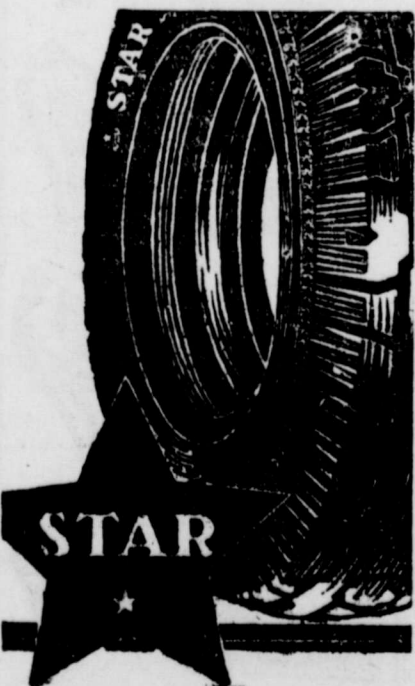

Mart-Marlin—In this championship game the Panthers will claw their way to the top. Or will they?

Fredricksburg-Lampasas—The "Hill Billies" will have "Badger" hides hung on all their cabins.

Texas A. & M.-Texas U.—We'll string along with the cadets and the Kyle field tradition.

HOW'S YOUR ETIQUETTE?

How can I overcome Self-consciousness

By concentrating on something else besides yourself and the impression you are making. In a crowd concentrate on the talk that is going on; if with one person, try to think of his interests and personality. When you have to speak in public think intently of what you are going to do that there will be no room in your mind for thoughts of self. Sit back comfortably in your chair, not on the edge of it; let your hands fall in your lap, instead of gripping the arms of the chair, as if ready for an earthquake. And finally, don't place too much importance on little things—some little mistake you have made, or some slight you imagine some one has shown you.

American dramas and comedies constitute the most popular talkies in Czechoslovakia this season.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jim Carmichael, young prospector, without knowing her identity, falls in love with Swan, who runs a table at the notorious gambling den, the Bella Donna. Finding her in the gambling house, he stakes his entire fortune at her wheel, losing it all. Meanwhile, trouble is brewing for Swan and her partner, Louis Chamalis. A miner has been killed for protecting the crookedness of the play, and the honest citizens of San Francisco are up in arms.

THE VIGILANTES

Jim's presence at the Bella Donna was a fresh drop of poison in Swan's bitter cup. "I don't want you around here," she said, when she discovered him installed as waiter. "If you don't mind," Jim answered stiffly, "I'd like to work around here until I get enough money to get a boat back to New York. This is about the only job I could get. I'm not very talented." "Chamalis will stake you to the gold fields, or I will do it myself." "Mr. Chamalis is the soul of generosity, Ma'am, and so are you. But I don't think I have enough initiative to start puttering around again in the sand. I've sort of lost my interest in gold. It's a troublesome possession." "You could steer clear of harpies next time, Mr. Carmichael." "Someone would take it away from me," said Jim philosophically. "I'll give you your fare back," Swan said suddenly. "Back to Gramercy Park, Mr. Carmichael."

"I'm sorry," Jim answered. "But I've got some notions on the subject of—handouts." "You mean," Swan commented bitterly, "that I'm not good enough to give you money?" "I mean, I'm not bad enough to take it." Swan turned upon him wrathfully. "Well, if you don't hate me, I hate you, Mr. Carmichael. Because, with all your talk about being a poet, you're small and you're mean and you're righteous — no different from the rest of them. Bring me my breakfast—some toast with butter on it, some jam and coffee—and, oh, yes, some lamb kidneys in wine sauce!"

Knuckles, strutting arrogantly down a street along the Barbary Coast, was confronted with a sign, tacked on a pole, which was for the first time a challenge to his unquestioned authority in that district. It read:

"Knuckles kill my friend Sandy in the back. If you want to lose your money on a crooked wheel and get kilt in the back visit the Bella Donna. Chamalis is a crook."
(signed) Sawbuck MacTavish.

Knuckles ripped the sign down with an oath and set out in search of the luckless MacTavish. He found him in front of the office of the "Clarion," where the demoralized Mr. Cobb, the editor, was steadily imbibing from a stone jug.

Knuckles came upon MacTavish as the Scotchman was at work nailing up another sign in front of the "Clarion" office. He reached for his gun and fired. MacTavish sagged and fell to the ground. Cobb grabbed the dead man's revolver and approached Knuckles, who was tearing the sign down.

"Get away from there, sir!" yelled Cobb, waving the gun drunkenly. "Get away from there! Nobody is taking that sign down. He put it there and it's staying. It's the first honest news the 'Clarion' ever had." Knuckles fired again. Cobb fell back, the gun unfired still in his hand.

The Trial

The bystanders, who had scurried to safety when the shooting began, now pressed forward around the dying old man, who addressed them as he would an audience. "Gentlemen of San Francisco," he said, "forgive me for dishonoring my profession . . . forgive me for betraying you as your conscience and your watch-dog . . . forgive an old man who went to seed, and forgot . . . forgot that the function of the press is to safeguard the decency of a free country. Let the 'Clarion' speak out and print the news of how I died on the streets of San Francisco — and keep on printing that news . . ."

Late that night Knuckles was walking toward the Bella Donna when out of the shadows three men silently came forward and walked beside him. Knuckles looked around quickly. He was covered with their guns.

"Keep on walking, Mr. Jacoby," one of them said. "You're going to your trial."

"Trial? What for?" Knuckles asked in alarm.

"Murder!" the man answered.

As they walked, others joined them, until they reached the front of the Clarion office, where the crowd came to a stop.

The trial was short. "Is this the man you saw shoot down MacTavish and Col. Cobb?" the leader asked.

"That's the man," a miner answered.

"I will cross-examine the witness. Are you sure?"

"Dead certain!" the miner answered.

"Gentlemen, what is your verdict?"

Then the chorus of voices answered: "Guilty!"

Later that night, citizens who had occasion to pass the "Clarion" office moved wide to the other side of the street. For from the sign that hung over the door swung the body of Knuckles, limp and lifeless.

The Vigilantes had started to work. The body of the late but unlamented Mr. Knuckles Jacoby was still swinging from the signboard when Jim, unaware of the tragedy that was being brewed in the fog, prepared a second time to leave for home.

It was, strangely enough, the unregenerate Old Atrocity who had come to his rescue, performing, as the old man himself admitted, the first decent act in his lifetime.

"I found a bag of gold that you dropped on the floor," Old Atrocity said. "Take it and leave. I hate to see you go, but I guess it's more suitable in the East."

"For poets and failures," Jim said.

"Can't I reward you, sir?"

"I took the reward out in advance, son," Old Atrocity stated, unabashed.

"So's not to delay matters with any bickering."

The way was clear for Jim to leave; nevertheless he hesitated at the table where Swan presided, spinning the wheel for three doleful and not over-prosperous customers. Business had fallen off since the killing.

Old Atrocity observed Jim staring.

"Hey, Swan," he called out. "He's going away."

Goodbye

Jim walked over to her table and stood smiling.

"Well," he said, "this is the second time we say goodbye. I'm sailing on the Flying Cloud after all, with the handful of gold this saintly gentleman rescued for me."

"Licked," said Swan tersely.

Jim shook his head disconsolately.

"Why don't you say what you are thinking? That I'm a harpy who smiled at you and cheated you. It's in the paper tonight . . . all about how I run this crooked wheel. You believe it, don't you? You believe that I'm a cheat, don't you?"

Jim shook his head slowly. "No. I don't believe that."

"Then why are you crawling out without giving yourself another chance. That's not the way for a man to go. To crawl out of the Golden West with just the price of a ticket."

Jim quietly placed his bag of gold on the table.

"I'll try the black again, ma'am."

Old Atrocity threw up his hands in horror.

"Son, it's pure folly. It's an outrage. Nobody has ever won from that table."

"The Gentleman from Gramercy Park bets on the black," Swan said calmly. "Here it goes."

The wheel spun rapidly.

"Moses in the Mountain!" Old Atrocity yelled. "You won!"

"Are you letting it ride, Mr. Carmichael?" Swan asked.

Jim hesitated.

"I don't know, ma'am. I—"

Swan interrupted him:

"The play is made. On the black again. Here goes."

And again black turned up. Until the third time, Swan halted play, calling out exultantly:

"The game is closed! The Bella Donna pays off thirty-five to one on a number always, Mr. Carmichael."

She turned to Old Atrocity.

"Take him to the Flying Cloud and put him on board. Let's have no more Galahads around this place."

To Jim she said:

"Goodbye, sir. I'm afraid I'm not as good a loser as you are."

ON TEXAS FARMS

Minnie Fisher Cunningham
Extension Service Editor
A. & M. College

In Randall county, 22,235 quarts of canned foods valued at $4,730.40 have been added to the pantries of 120 home demonstration club women during the last canning season. $2,072.69 worth of dried or cured products, cheese and lard have been added.

Mrs. W. T. Spires, a Kleberg county home demonstration club member, finds that asparagus is a practical vegetable to grow in the south Texas home garden. It produces with little attention, and is a valuable green vegetable at seasons when there is not much else in the garden. Mrs. Spires' plants came from seed and are now four years old; she cuts sprouts in the fall after rains as well as in the spring.

Following the trench silo demonstration arranged and given by A. R. Bateman and E. R. Eudaly, there is an unusual interest among the farmers of Parmer county. Ten silos have been dug and filled. That many more are now under construction.

One hundred and forty-three rural yards have been sodded to Bermuda grass in Hill county this year as a result of the Extension landscaping program.

A production of 60 bushels of corn per acre and 200 bushels of potatoes per acre is the result of crop rotation in which cowpeas and alfalfa have played an important part on the farm of L. G. Gossett, who lives in the Burr community in Wharton county. In discussing his farm operations with the county agricultural agent, Mr. Gossett stated that he had never raised any cotton and that he had not known that there was a depression on.

Cow Feed in a Ditch

Canyon.—Silage in a "ditch" is cheap cow feed according to R. O. Allison, a dairy farmer who lives west of Canyon in Randall county.

Mr. Allison has just finished filling a 100 ton ditch with grain sorghum at a total cost of 92 per ton. This included 40 cents a ton paid for the operation of a cutter. He estimates the cost of filling the silo at about the same as the cost of cutting, shocking and stacking the same acreage of feed in the dry state.

Last winter, Allison paid $17 a ton for poor quality roughage to feed his cows. He says this silage will be better as well as cheaper.

Rhodes Grass Pays Well

Alice.—F. L. Jennings on Charles Mull's purebred Hereford ranch near Alice in Jim Wells county, planted eight lbs. of Rhodes grass seed per acre on 50 acres of additional land in Feb., 1935, and has grazed it for two periods and also secured two cuttings of hay.

In the spring of 1935, about 60 head of cattle grazed this pasture down, thus causing the grass to spread. In the summer a cutting of hay was made and stacked loose without weighing. Cattle were grazed during the summer again and removed later to allow a hay crop to develop. In early October one and a half tons per acre of bright hay were cured.

"I was well repaid for planting this crop for grazing," Jennings said, "and in addition I secured two hay crops." This ranch has several fields of Rhodes grass and will have more next spring.

Contoured Rows Yield More

Amherst.—Crooked rows have netted Bill Langford, Amherst farmer in Lamb county, $5.12 more per acre. Cotton planted on his contoured land has yielded 50 pounds more lint per acre than cotton planted on uncounted rows. "My entire farm will be contoured next year," states Langford.

More Canned Beans

Siera Blanca.—More than 100 No. 2 cans of string beans have been canned by Mrs. Gordon McAdoo, who is food supply demonstrator for the Allamore home demonstration club of Hudspeth county which was started in May, according to Miss Gladys Young, home demonstration agent.

Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo have worked together and have irrigated a small garden spot from their stock tank, and have had fresh beans, squash, corn, pepper, onions, turnip greens and spinach. They also canned a few each day for their winter pantry. There are four children in the McAdoo family.

The library at Texas State College for Women, Denton, contains over 52,000 books, 200 volumes, 4,969 pamphlets, 2,500 government publications, 4,110 bound periodicals and 258 magazines.

French ranks first and English second in the possession of the richest slang vocabulary.

IRELAND NEWS

We have had a long spell of bad weather, now, if we can get some beautiful weather so the farmers can finish gathering their corn and cotton.

Quite a number of turkeys have been sold, they have been fine, better than usual. They have brought in a nice revenue which will help out.

Mr. A. A. Krause has rented his farm for another year to Mr. Roy Northcut and family. Mr. Krause left the past week for Washington county where he will in the future reside. Mr. Krause is a good citizen whom we highly commend. May he prosper in his new home.

They are busy graveling the roads on the Hamilton county side in the city limits of Ireland and will continue this work on into Hamilton. They are using wagons and teams and are hauling eighty to eighty-five loads of gravel per day. This will be an all weather road and means much to Ireland and Hamilton, which our people are very grateful.

Ireland now has three garages and filling stations. Mr. Luther Fisher is the owner and operator of the new station and will handle the City Service Products. We also have the Gulf station and Texas, all are anxious to serve you with the very best workmanship, oil, gas and quick service.

Mrs. G. M. Coston left recently on a visit to relatives in Sweetwater, where she will also visit her son in California. She will be away for several months.

We are glad to meet the new pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. A. T. Plunkett, who will have in his charge the Ireland, Jonesboro circuit, succeeding Rev. C. F. Bell, who goes to Milford. We are glad to welcome Bro. Plunkett to our city.

Mrs. Ludie Hill and daughter, Miss Willie Percy Hill, were recent visitors with relatives at Evant.

Well, well, the candidates are getting ready for the new year

Bless the Lord, O' My Soul!

Bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless His holy name.

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases;

Who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with living kindness and tender mercies;

Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's.

The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy.

He will not always chide: neither will he keep His anger forever.

He hath not dealt with us after our sins; nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.

For as the heaven is high above the earth, so great is His mercy toward them that fear Him.

As far as the east is from the west, so far hath He removed our transgressions from us.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him.

For He knoweth our frame; he rememebereh that we are dust.

As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth.

For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more.

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and his righteousness unto their children's children.

FOR ALL THESE WE GIVE OUR THANKS!

PAN-AMERICAN Airways giant China clipper is now on its way from San Francisco to Manila, Philippine Islands, not quite 8,000 miles, inaugurating the first regular air service across the broad expanses of the Pacific.

With 100,000 pieces of mail aboard, the Clipper successfully completed the first two laps of the route, from California to Hawaii, a distance of 2,400 miles, and from Hawaii to Midway Island, 1,300 miles west last week. After Midway, Wake Island is the next stop, then Guam, and on to the Philippines.

One more step toward real flying; another important conquest of the air.

THE FIRST results of The Literary Digest's canvass of 10,000,000 voters on New Deal sentiment show 53.3 per cent against the New Deal and 46.7 per cent in favor of it. The question asked was whether the voters now approve the policies of Roosevelt.

From another quarter, last week's poll of Roosevelt popularity, conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion and known as "America Speaks," shows 53 per cent of the support of the Nation behind Mr. Roosevelt, compared with 56 per cent against him in March, 1935. If every State listed in this poll as definitely or borderline Republican and borderline Democratic votes for the G. O. P. nominee, Roosevelt would yet have 269 electoral votes against 262.

Too much emphasis should not be placed straw polls, although the Digest polls usually foretell the outcome of the national campaign with unerring accuracy. Many voters might disapprove Roosevelt, indeed a larger number might disapprove than approve, but, in casting a ballot, they might also feel that the alternative offered them in the Republican candidate and platform was still more unsatisfactory. The main value of the poll now being taken is that it will reveal to the Administration that the American people are by no means solidly behind New Deal policies as they were. It is one thing to express disapproval of the New Deal, but quite another to vote for anybody the Republicans may put up, as one G. O. P. strategist put it.

December 15 will soon be rolling around and it will again be bill collecting time for one Uncle Sam. And its for the meager sum of $965,000,000. Of that sum the Uncle expects to collect $230,000 due from little Finland, or only 1 cent on each $42.

The State Department will nevertheless go through the motions of telling the 12 war debtors that their semi-annual payments are due. Most of the debtor countries have made no payments in more than a year, and Washington experts nothing but polite acknowledgments of the duns and vaguely expressed hopes that the bills can be paid.

Great Britain heads the list with an installment of nearly $600,000,000 due. France owes less than half this much, with Italy, Belgium and Poland close thirds, each debtor to less than $50,000,000 semi-annually. Others from which payments are due include Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, and Rumania. Little Finland, grateful for a loan made in time of stree, will, as stated above, pay its installment of $230,000.

Altogether the debt on which these installments is due totals around twenty-two billions or as much as the New Deal has cost to date. With this amount, the national debt could be reduced to only a small sum—eight billions! an entirely new national railway system could be built; any city in Texas could be demolished and rebuilt. Europe fought the war; America paid for it.

Military observers of various nations believe that the Ethiopian war will not last much longer, even with 50 nations economically at war with Italy.

With last week's subjugation of rich Ogaden province, Italy claimed control of three-sevenths of Ethiopia's total area of 350,000 square miles. Last battle reported last week had 20,000 Ethiopian warriors scattering over the hills after aerial bombardment in the mountains 8,000 feet high.

Thousands of Ethiopians have joined the Italians and are now fighting against their former countrymen. Ethiopians don't like bombs, poison gas, and machine guns any more than do their "civilized" white brethren.

The United States was a target for Italian criticism as Washington threatened financial pressure to shipping companies transporting materials to Italy in violation of President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation of Oct. 5. Oil, scrap iron, steel, coal and cotton are labeled "materials of war" by the State Department. These are under no specific ban as are actual implements of war.

Oil companies were asked to withhold shipments to Italy and Secretary Hull hinted that cotton might be included in the ban list. Italians consider this act tantamount to following the lead of so-called British imperialism, and warned that this country would be subject to economic reprisals should the Government put any actual embargo on the exportation of oil.

The League is also considering adding oil, coal, iron and steel to the list of products now barred to Italy. Associated Press reported Mussolini as warning France that an oil embargo would mean war. Italy's large air forces, its navy and tanks, are dependent upon oil brought from the outside and an oil blockade would bring an abrupt halt to the African operations.

TEXANS hope there will be no embargo on cotton exports. With a steady price of around 12c for several weeks and forecasts of 13c cotton by AAA officials, cotton planters are more optimistic than in quite a spell.

With a strong demand for cotton in Europe, particularly Italy, and with European stocks practically exhausted, the Government hopes to dispose of a considerable part of the 4,450,000 bales now held under 12c loans. The price will have to be as much as 13.5c a pound before loan cotton can be marketed.

Large orders have been placed at Gulf ports by Italian officials for cotton since the outbreak of hostilities in Africa. Several thousand bales have moved out this month and a ready market can be cultivated there in the future.

WILLIAM E. BORAH, United States Senator from Idaho, looms as the chief candidate for the Republican nomination for president next year, overshadowing his former chief and standard-bearer, Herbert Hoover, and a flock of other aspirants.

Last week the veteran legislator made a definite bid for support of negro delegations from the South with the announcement that, should he become President, he would veto as unconstitutional the Costigan-Wagner antilynching bill, violently opposed by 12,000,000 American negroes.

Lending further credence to Washington belief that the Senator will be out for the nomination was a statement by Rep. Lemke of North Dakota, co-author of the much-publicized Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium act and friend of Borah, that the Idaho Senator is the only candidate so far prominently mentioned who could get the support of the farmers of the West. Lemke supported President Roosevelt in 1932.

With Hoover surging to the front and semi-official leadership of the conservatives of the G. O. P., it bides no good for Republican hopes of a united front against the Rooseveltian

New Deal. Borah has never been identified with the pre-Hoover or Hoover crowd and has consistently played the part of the lone wolf. Borah may realize that his efforts to capture the nomination will be fruitless, but he is apparently decided upon a course of liberalizing the party by wresting the leadership from the Hoover group. And, Borah would of course name the G. O. P. nominee could Mr. Hoover & Co. be deposed.

A star cannot possibly appear within the horns of the crescent moon.

Enrollment last month ran about 63 per cent. In order to meet new requirements for state aid 65 per cent of a school's scholastic enrollment must be in attendance. It is essential that in so far as possible for everyone to be in school at all time.

The state achievement tests were given and graded November 7 and 8. Grades are being recorded in order that they may be compared with the grades made on the tests to be given at the end of the year. In this way pupils weak points may be detected and eliminated.

Monday, November 11th was a holiday, but owing to the various conditions, no program was presented at that time. On Wednesday night, Nov. 27, the high school and the grades will unite to furnish a Thanksgiving program.

Work on the Senior Class play is scheduled to begin on Monday, December 2. The play will be presented on Thursday, December 19th, and the proceeds used by the class in the construction of concrete posts for the new gate to the school ground.

Fifth Grade

The fifth grade pupils have started studying geography since they have finished their health texts. We especially enjoy a new product map of the United States.

LITERARY GUIDES MOTION PICTURES PREPARED BY TEACHERS

The approaching release of a number of new films of outstanding literary merit has led the Motion Picture Committee of the Department of Secondary Education of the National Education Association, to recommend the preparation of additional photoplay study guides of the type that has become increasingly popular with high school teachers and students in recent months.

On the basis of the Department's recommendations, Educational and Recreational Guides of Newark plans shortly to publish study guides for the following pictures, under the general editorship of Max J. Herzberg, of the Weequahic High School, of Newark:

Romeo and Juliet, by William Shakespeare.
 A Tale of Two Cities: Charles Dickens' stirring romance of the French Revolution.
 Mutiny of the Bounty: A dramatic chapter of England's naval history by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall.

Ivanhoe: by Sir Walter Scott.
 Captains Courageous: Rudyard Kipling's well known tale of high adventure.

Knights of the Round Table: a saga of the heroic days of King Arthur.

Mary of Scotland: Maxwell Anderson's famous stage drama brought to the screen.

Marie Antoinette: a dramatization of Stefan Zweig's arresting novel of French court life.

Little Lord Fauntleroy: Frances H. Burnett's ever popular story.

Quality Street: by Sir James Barrie.

The Good Earth: a unique presentation of Pearl S. Buck's widely read story of life in China.

These study guides are made available to high school students and teachers throughout the country on a subscription basis. Similar study guides have already been completed for four current photoplays, Les Miserables, A Midsummer Night's Dream, The Last Days of Pompeii, and The Three Musketeers.

The Motion Picture Committee of the Department of Secondary Education plans also to publish an appraisal of the educational value of these and other photoplays in current issues of Secondary Education, the official organ of the Department.

An increasing desire on the part of high school teachers to utilize the educational value of current entertainment pictures is reflected in the rapidly expanding use of study guides and in the number and prominence of the educators who are taking an active part in their preparation.

The study guide for Les Miserables was prepared by Ernest D. Lewis, head of the Social Science department at Evander Childs High School of New York and William F. Bauer, head of the English department, East Orange High School. The guides for A Midsummer Night's Dream was prepared by Henry W. Simon of the faculty of New College, Columbia University. This guide is supplemented by a teacher's manual. The guide for The Last Days of Pompeii was also prepared by Mr. Lewis.

The guide for The Three Musketeers was prepared by Gladys D. Brooks, formerly head of the French department of Garden City High School, and now of the Horace Greely School at Chappaqua, New York. The guide for Mutiny on the Bounty was prepared by Frederick H. Law, head of the English department at Stuyvesant High School, New York, Marion C. Sheridan, head of the English department at New Haven, Conn. High School, is preparing the guide for A Tale of Two Cities, and David Brockway of Isaac Young School, New Rochelle, is preparing the guide for Dicken's Christmas Carol, called in the screen version, Scrooge.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL
 By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
 Director, Physical and Health Education
 New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

SPEECH DEFECTS—2

The following suggestions for the treatment of speech defects completes the list started last week.

Avoid forcing child into new situations where speech is required. Call for easy recitations.

Take care that other pupils do not mimic or make fun of the afflicted child.

Give praise for trying and for successful speaking. Maintain a hopeful attitude. Never scold or otherwise draw attention to the defect.

Convince the child by simple speech exercises that he can speak without faltering.

Provide normal contacts with other children in play. That is, do not focus attention upon the afflicted child.

Don't be over-sympathetic. Some children will not care to be cured if it means losing the teacher's favor.

Discourage baby talk at home.

Avoid quick questioning and compulsory answers.

Ask for a medical examination in order to determine possibility of physical causes—tongue-tie, defect of tongue, palate and disease of throat or ears.

In his next article Dr. Ireland tells how the old adage, "Seeing is Believing" can be turned to account in the education of the child.

WOMEN FIND OYSTER GOOD TO STAY SLIM

Oysters' reputation as a leading masculine food, should not prevent women from recognizing that oysters have an appealing quality—that of not being a fattening food.

For the single reason that oysters do not contain fattening starch they are not classed among the complex foods, but no food has gained a perfect ranking in the eyes of the dietitians.

Women who believe they are confronted with the problem of preventing an increase in pounds will discover that oysters are one of the foods on which they may depend to stay slim. Instead of starch, oysters contain generous quantities of glycogen, a substance similar to starch but differing in that it is pre-digested. It is ready for immediate use by body tissues.

The hazard of every reducing diet is the shutting off of the body's supply of iron and copper, mainstays in the constant bodily warfare against anemia, but oysters are an excellent source of both minerals.

Three thousand pounds of potatoes are consumed each week by girls at Texas State College for Women.

sion, none of these bills had been passed, therefore, he was forced to call an extra session. I will frankly say that these bills should have been passed during that session. At the close of the Second Session only two of these bills were finally passed as the people voted on them, these were the Liquor Bill and the Salary Bill. The Old Age Pension Bill was passed but with practically no money to pay the same.

I regret that the Legislature failed to pass a complete Pension Bill. I voted for the Pension Bill and also voted for a tax bill to pay the same, because I thought it was the will of the people. I voted to tax those able to pay, and to place taxes on large corporations. When the Tax Bill was finally brought in to pay the Pension Bill, although it might not have been perfect, yet I voted for it because I thought it was keeping faith with the people to carry out their wishes, but the House failed to accept the bill as sent to us by the Senate, therefore, we have no money with which to pay the Pension Bill.

I also voted to make a special appropriation out of the General Revenue Fund to pay the Pension, but this was also defeated. I know the Legislature is being criticized on the pension question, therefore, I want to say that I will be glad to show anyone my record on this question or on any other question that has been before the Legislature. I have tried to keep faith with the people at all times and I will welcome any investigation of my record.

Respectfully,
