Senator Bob Poage Announces for U. S. Congress This Dist.

State Senator W. R. Poage of Waco comes out this week in his formal announcement for U. S. Congressman, to succeed Hon. O. H. Cross, who has given out that he will not be a candidate for reelection. Two years ago Mr. Poage made a short, whirlwind campaign for this office and at the polls showed a surprisingly strong following.

In his statement to the voters of this district Senator Poage has the following to say:

Statement to the Voters

"Twelve years ago I announced as a candidate for Representative in the State Legislature. The people of my home county honored me with election over a very splendid man. Since that time I have been honored with promotion, and for the past six years I have represented my district in the State Senate. I have spent approximately one third of my life in legislative work, and prior to that time enjoyed a number of years of academic training in Baylor University and the University of Texas preparatory for this work. I feel that I am qualified to take the next step—into the United States Congress. At least, I have had enough legislative experience to enable me to become of real value in much less time than any one who has never had such experience, and at least, I am young enough to be active and aggressive. I was born in this district thirty-six years ago. It has been one hundred years since we declared our independence from Mexico, yet this district has never been represented in Congress by a native son. Centennial year is good time to elect a native born Congressman.

"In the State Legislature I have tried to serve the people of this district to the best of my ability. I have stayed on the job. I have never missed a single day during the years I have been State Senator. I have carried on a fight, sometimes almost singlehanded, to hold down expenses of State government. I have sought to relieve our property from taxation and I supported both the Homestead exemption and the abandonment of the state ad valorem tax. I offered a bill to shift most of our tax burden to the exporters of our natural resources, and in this way to relieve our own people, and at the same time to pay the old age pension, for which I voted and which I think should be paid as soon and as generously as possible. I was one of those who did the actual writing of every one of the Brazos River Acts which with proper support in Washington, will bring many millions of new money to our section. And those Acts have been held by the courts to have been constitutionally drawn. In short, I feel that I have proven that I have been of value in the Legislature. I believe I can be of greater value in Congress.

"I do not think that I am indispensable to the Nation, the State, the District, or even to any special group or interest. I have not been forced into this race. I am not making any financial sacrifice in quitting my place in the State Senate to run, but if I did not believe I could be elected I would not quit it.

"I have heretofore been before the people of this District. My views of public questions are generally well known. I advocate no radical measures. I am a Democrat. I join with the President in a sincere effort to bring our country back to a speedy and complete economic recovery. I recognize that agriculture is the cornerstone of our prosperity. I believe in extending to agriculture a full

TEXAS SPEAKER

HILL McALISTER

Huntsville's Centennial observance on March 2nd of Texas Independence Day and Sam Houston's birthday will bring to Texas the Governor of Tennessee who, together with Governor Allred of Texas and Governor LaFollette of Wisconsin, will participate in patriotic ceremonies at the old home of the "Savior of Texas." The event is significant in that Sam Houston himself was Governor of Tennessee more than one hundred years ago before resigning to lead the struggle for Texas freedom. Governor McAlister returns a visit made to Tennessee last month by Governor Allred.

C. E. GANDY ATTENDS EXPRESS CO. MEETING WED. NIGHT

C. E. Gandy, local express agent attended a district meeting of officials and employees of the Railway Express agency held at Waco Wednesday night. W. B. Harris, Waco agent, was in charge. The session was one of the series being held all over the state. Approximately 50 attended the meeting from central Texas.

Mr. Gandy, who was among the speakers of the evening, talked on "Courtesy and Its Benefits."

Among those attending were E. K. Stone, general manager, G. Y. Reed, Superintendent, J. J. Rohrer, traffic agent, all of Houston, and officials from Tyler and Temple, and agents and employes from Cleburne, Bremond, Hillsboro, Hubbard, Marlin, Mexia, McGregor, Waxahatchie and Temple.

Governor Allred's Proclamation!

To early Americans, the word "Tejas" meant friendship. Today the word "Texas" still means friendship, and more. It means opportunity, a land of fabulous natural resources, of rolling ranges, of loamy black farmlands, of unsurpassed climate, and—BEAUTY.

This year, Centennial Year, Texas is entertaining millions of visitors from every part of America. They're coming to see the Texas they've heard and read about. They will travel every part of our state. The favorable impression Texas and Texans make will result in a priceless asset for the Lone Star State.

Let each of us do everything possible to see that our visitors not only remember Texas as an empire of friendly people but as a land of BEAUTY, as well. This can best be accomplished by each citizen seeing that his or her premises is free from unsightly rubbish, made attractive with flowers or green lawns. In brief, let us all cooperate to the end that visitors will be impressed with the cleanliness and beauty of Texas as well as with our far-famed reputation for friendship.

James Allred
Governor of Texas

PROCLAMATION

On "Texas Week" Issued by Mayor M. W. Lowrey.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, M. W. Lowrey, Mayor of the City of Gatesville, in accordance with Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 8 of the Forty Second Legislature, proclaim TEXAS WEEK and invite our citizens to observe TEXAS WEEK, not as a season of holidays but as a week of better work and better living;

FIRST. I urge every home, office, place of business and industry, every public and private school to fly a Texas Flag each day during TEXAS WEEK; and

FOURTH. Centennial Clean-Up Plans To Be County-Wide

Thru co-operation with Coryell County's Centennial Committees and the Lions Club of Gatesville, plans are in the making, in line with the Centennial "Get Ready Week," which starts February 28. To get the county in its best dress for the visitors to the 1936 Centennial who might pass thru our county.

Mrs. Tom Mears, Chairman, has announced that the Lions Club will assume responsibility for Gatesville's clean up, and a committee composed of Bill Weigand, Coach Earle Worley and Pat Olsen have charge of the city clean up.

A committee to ask the co-operation of the rural communities is composed of Mrs. Turk Brown, Chairman, Mrs. Francis Caruth, and Mrs. Francis Powell, who will confer with people in the different communities with the view of cleaning premises and making other uncostly improvements that will make a good showing for 1936.

In Gatesville, the proposed plan is to divide the city into sections, and, with judges from outside the city, to have a contest on beautification, and clean up, and the selection of a suitable prize for the most improved premises will be decided by these judges.

Some of the premises in the city are far improved over others, and the condition of each will be noted before the contest is started, and the prize will be for the most improved, is the suggestion.

There are 76 state parks in Texas to attract visitors to the state during the Centennial year.

Santa Helena canyon on the Rio Grande river in Brewster county, with walls which rise perpendicularly for 2,000 feet, will be a big Centennial year attraction.

Waco Attorney Comes Out for Office to Succeed Con. Cross

Hon. Frank B. Tirey, Waco attorney, makes a formal announcement this week of his candidacy for U. S. Congress, to succeed Hon. O. H. Cross, who has announced that he will not run again.

When asked for a brief story concerning himself and past record of service to the public, Mr. Tirey said: "I was born and reared on a farm in Ellis County. Graduated at Baylor University and took law at the University of Texas, then located in Waco to practice law. Was assistant prosecuting attorney of McLennan County under Hon. Pat M. Neff. Special Assistant United States Attorney for the Western District of Texas during the World War. Was prosecuting Attorney of McLennan County for two terms, since which time I have been engaged in the practice of law and farming."

Platform

As to his platform of principles and issues upon which to base his campaign, Mr. Tirey gives out the following:

I believe in President Roosevelt, in his sincerity of purpose, and with the proper cooperation I am convinced that he will pull us out of the depression.

I believe that upon agriculture depends the prosperity of our country; that a plan should be worked out that will increase the annual income of agricultural products to a level which will enable those who are engaged in agriculture to maintain a standard of living equal to that maintained by people in other occupations. As long as manufactured products are protection.

I believe that every man, woman and child is entitled to enjoy social, economic, religious and industrial freedom. I think our laws should be made so that everybody should have a chance to earn their living and enjoy the products of their labor.

I believe that labor is entitled to a living wage. I am in favor of an honest dollar and an honest day's work. I do not believe in squandering money either publicly or privately.

I believe in an adequate old age pension for those who are not able to care for themselves.

I am against entering any European war, or paying for one.

I believe this country should be governed for the benefit of humanity, and as President

To the People and Voters of Beat 2:

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for County Commissioner, Beat No. 2.

In doing so I realize the many difficulties that have to be passed on that come through this office; I also realize the duties and responsibility of the man who fills that place. But I feel that I am eligible and qualified for that position.

I consider this position to be filled with a man elected by the people, for the people, to look after the business of this office to their best interest with partiality to none. This I will endeavor to do should I be elected. I expect to deal with

CHECK YOUR HOME!

Here Are Some Valuable Points for Improvements

You can be your own judge of your property's present condition.

How many times have you found yourself saying, "How I wish my home were different!" Perhaps you have had ideas in a form too nebulous for any action. Perhaps you need some specific suggestions. If so, the definite home improvements listed here will come in handy.

Begin in Your Basement
 Are floors sound? Perhaps the floors need reinforcing — new posts and piers. Plaster on the basement ceiling, with metal lath, or similar base, will make the first floor fire-resistant.

Look at the Outside
 Do the windows stick? Perhaps they need refitting or new hardware. Do they leak air? Weather-stripping may make a saving in your fuel bill. Grading walk and drives should be brought up to par. Brick, tile, and other clay materials, cement, asphalt, gravel, etc., may be used to good advantage. Landscaping often improves appearance and value far beyond its cost.

Check your wood trim, window and door frames, cornices. These are the spots constantly exposed to hard wear from the weather.

How about your porch? Screen or glass will convert it into an additional living room. Shutters, awnings, screens, storm sash and doors may need repair or replacement.

Watch These Danger Spots
 Does rain reach your wall paper? Maybe there are loose shingles, broken or misplaced slate, tile, or other roofing material.

Your rafters may need inspection. Perhaps the frame of your house is resting in insecure supports, in which case you will need new foundation walls.

Faulty gutters cause costly damage and so do downspouts which need to be repaired or replaced.

Check Up Chimneys
 Is the chimney a fire hazard. Are bricks loose? Fire resistant material, properly placed, means added protection and fuel economy.

A smoky fireplace means improper drawing. Perhaps your dampers are at fault, flues may need extending, or the fireplace may need enlarging.

As for the Interiors
 Are floors uneven? Perhaps there are loose or broken boards in the flooring. New floors may be laid over old ones—or floors may be refinished.

How about the bathroom? Does it need new wall covering, plumbing, new paint, new fixtures? Would an additional bathroom mean greater convenience?

For Protection and Appearance
 Are painted surfaces peeling? If so, the old paint should be removed before new coats are applied.

Are gutters rusty? All exposed sheet metal (except metals which do not rust or discolor) needs paint protection—roofs, railings, flashing, gutters, downspouts.

Does the outside of the house need stucco, veneering or replacement of original material? All of these materials are for protection as well as for appearance.

All-Stars vs. Walker's Dry Cleaners in Basketball

Raborn Balch of Levita, one of the county's leading sportsmen, has arranged a basketball treat for fans of the game by bringing Walker's Dry Cleaners to this city tomorrow night for a game with the county All-Stars. Balch's team is made up of the county's best basketball players and includes such stars as: Johnny Edwards, Bob Weaver, Hazen Ward, Cullen Walsh, Jack Thornton, Claude Huff, Seth McLarty and others. The visitors are credited with having one of the best independent teams in Central Texas and will represent this part of the state in a forthcoming tournament. Last year this same team won consolation honors at this tournament.

The two teams have met twice before this season on foreign courts with the locals winning both games by margins of two and four points respectively. The Waco outfit will be gunning for the all-stars and a goodly crowd should be present, not only to see a good game, but to show appreciation for Raborn Balch's efforts in making the game possible.

The opening whistle is scheduled for eight o'clock.

SPORTS

The News' received the following note of thanks from Superintendent Williams yesterday morning, which is self-explanatory:

WE THANK YOU

The recent A. A. U. basketball meet for girls was a splendid success. It was largely made so by the cooperation of the citizenship of Gatesville. We wish to thank you for your splendid response to our request for homes and for assistance given at the meet itself.

All teams in the tournament displayed a fine spirit of sportsmanship and athletic interest and they all played good basketball, even those that lost. The visiting teams went away loud in their praise of the Gatesville people, all of which is very gratifying, and is of interest to us all.

FRANK L. WILLIAMS.

Basket ball, as far as the local high school is concerned, has come to a close, and the efforts of the coaches and the athletes will be bent toward moulding a track and field team worthy of representing the Black and Gold in the forthcoming county meet.

The local thinny clads should win the county meet as usual in the athletic events but their chances at the district us usual will be absolutely nil. After the county meet local mentors will probably begin Spring football and all overs of the sport will be more than anxious to get a look at next year's prospects.

Speaking of track and field events, there is one athlete in the county who can and we hope will go to the district and win at least two of his specialties. The athlete in mind is Sid Goff of Evant and the two events he is capable of winning are the broad jump and the vault. Two years ago he set a state Class B record in the latter event at Denton. His mark at that time was something over eleven feet, if we remember correctly. Not only is he good in these two events, but runs a fair time in the 100-yard dash and clears a pretty decent height in the high jump. If the county boasts of a star track and field man it is Goff. However, local coaches may uncover some "diamond in the rough" and have him so polished by the time the meet takes place that his chances of winning in fast company will be better than fair.

As far as the writer is concerned, tennis and volley ball are the most interesting sports the county meet affords. Just who will have charge of the tennis hopefuls we do not know but coach Worley will tutor the "volley ballers". Sonny Hair and Dave Culberson will probably be the tennis representatives and are pretty fair racquet wielders.

"GHOST GOES WEST" IS NEW DONAT FILM

Robert Donat, the handsome young English actor who rose to world fame overnight last season when he was brought to Hollywood to play "The Count of Monte Cristo," makes his latest appearance in "The Ghost Goes West." Alexander Korda's gay romantic comedy which comes to the Regal Theatre Saturday night at 10:30, also showing Sunday and Monday. Jean Parker and Eugene Pallette head the supporting cast.

Adapted by Robert E. Sherwood from a story in London "Punch" by Eric Keown, "The Ghost Goes West" is the first production to be directed in English by Rene Clair, the famous French director who handled the megaphone on such successes as "Sous Les Toits de Paris," "Le Million" and "A Nous La Liberte."

The story follows the amazing adventures of a handsome and amiable "spook" who haunts an ancient Scottish castle.

When a wealthy American food merchant named Martin buys the castle from Donald Clourie, the ghost's debt-ridden descendant, and transports it to America stone by stone, the spook goes along. Donat plays the dual role of Donald and the ghost and a series of hilarious situations develop when the ghost, suddenly makes his appearance aboard the luxury liner and is mistaken for Donald, who is credited with all his strange and unaccountable antics.

The story reaches a surprise comedy climax when Martin who had decided to use the ghost to publicize his grocery business, re-erects the ludicrously modernized castle in New York and holds a gala reception to introduce his famous 'spook' to the gentlemen of the press.

Jean Parker provides the love interest and Eugene Pallette plays the millionaire. Elsa Lanchester and Patricia Hilliard are also prominently cast.

IRELAND NEWS

Mrs. C. D. Allard and daughter from Dawson, Texas, were Ireland visitors Sunday. They have many friends in Ireland who are always glad to welcome them to their old home town.

A King Listens While He Rides

DOES His Majesty, the King of Iraq, driving through Baghdad in his Philco radio-equipped automobile, compare his modern transportation with that of the fabulous Magic Carpet of Baghdad?

The Magic Carpet anticipated modern transportation methods in its conquest of distance, but to the modern mind leaves much to be desired in that it offered, alas, transportation sans music.

Now airplanes are provided with radio, most of our finest trains are radio-equipped, and 29 automobile manufacturers offer Philco as standard optional equipment on all cars. It is not surprising therefore that the modern-minded King of Iraq, who already had seven radios or his personal use in the palace,

His Majesty, King Ghazi ibn Faisal of Iraq, should have ordered another Philco installed in a recently purchased automobile.

WORLD COMMENT

By
JOE
BURNS

We wonder if the recent $200,000,000 credit made by Britain to France is not something of a "bribe" to prevent the Paris government from signing the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact. Britain has always been wary of the Soviets, although cultivating their friendship for commercial purposes. George V never forgave the Bolsheviks for murdering his cousin, Czar Nicholas II. British friendship for Germany, openly manifested by Edward VIII at the ceremonies for his father, has caused Prime Minister Baldwin to frown upon the French pact with Russia. London sources hinted that the price France would have to pay for the credit would be abstinence from a binding agreement with Moscow.

The proposed agreement is of the utmost importance to Europe and the world. It would mean a new alignment of the Continental powers into two armed camps such as existed and did much to cause the last war. When the Franco-Soviet treaty is ratified, it is intended that there shall be a similar treaty between Russia and Czechoslovakia and then one between Russia and Rumania. Together the treaties will form a ring almost all around Germany. They will be linked up with the Little Entente of Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and the Balkan Entente comprising Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey, all of which are opposed to German expansion and fearful of Nazi aggression.

The alternative involved with the French is whether they will continue to strive to set up a defensive system against Germany or whether an attempt at reaching an agreement with Germany will take precedence over every other consideration. France, by relinquishing the African colonies of Camerons and Togoland taken from Germany at the close of the war and allowing the Nazis to share in the exploitation of French Indo-China could make lasting friends of the Germans and secure peace for themselves. To be sure, France under such a set-up would someday have to stand by and witness the annihilation of Russia at German and Japanese hands but, is not German expansion to the East better than expansion to the West?

An agreement with Russia by France and other anti-German powers will inevitably bring war with Germany and any allies she may make. Already there is talk of or revival of the old Triple Alliance of Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Italy—all eager to expand and become great powers—all handicapped with few raw materials and too many people.

Rome, chaffing under League condemnation and restrictions because of the Ethiopian venture, raises this question: If the League of Nations Covenant sermon by the Pastor. "River Jordan Scene" over the Baptistry will be unveiled and indirect lighting will be in full effect.

supposedly is sufficient to guarantee collective security, then the Franco-Soviet pact is superfluous. There is logic in this contention, but the truth of the situation is that the League Covenant is enforced against belligerent nations only when there is some League member vitally interested and willing to enforce the covenant. Instance, Britain, fearful of Italian expansion along the Suez route to India, enforcing League sanctions against the Fascist nation but, in 1931, when Imperial Japan took over Manchuria, Britain was content with a protest through her Foreign Office.

Looking at both sides, we must consider the defense of the alliance. It must be admitted that French desire for security and alliance is occasioned by the feverish German rearmament and warlike measures.

France and Britain know that Germany must have more territory or in the future will fight for it. Britain is willing to meet the situation fairly and return the African colonies to Germany, permitting the Germans to purchase the Portuguese territories in Africa, but attempting to maintain present boundaries in Europe and the status quo. France prefers alliance and the risk of war to acquiescence to German demands for equality and breathing space.

TOM F. HUNTER, twice gubernatorial candidate, was in Austin last week and let friends know he is considering running for Governor and that he is in favor of immediately providing old age pensions revenues as authorized by the constitutional amendment.

In the runoff primary two years ago Hunter, a Wichita Falls oil man, lost to Allred by 50,000 votes. Should he enter the contest against the incumbent it would make 10 avowed competitors.

REMOVAL of Major General Johnson Hagood as commander of the Eighth Corps Army area, presumably because of testimony given before a subcommittee of the House, has provoked a storm of criticism of both the Administration and the War Department from both Democrats and Republicans.

The venerable American Liberty League, striking for once a responsive chord in the hearts of many Americans, issued the following statement:

"Suppression of free speech and a free press and denial of the right of citizens to petition their Government are the universal weapons of dictatorship. Unfortunately there is nothing surprising in the disciplinary measures taken against General Hagood following the general's exercise of his right of free speech before the House Appropriations Committee."

Perhaps the most belligerent defense came from fiery Rep. Tom Blanton from Abilene, who asserted he would "fight to a finish" against the War Department for its "punishment" of Hagood and declared that War Secretary Dern and Gen. Malin Craig, Chief of Staff, should "be impeached and removed from office."

"They shall not," Blanton added, "punish General Hagood for giving Congress his honest, conscientious opinion about appropriations."

General Hagood told the subcommittee he was not familiar "with the various pockets in which Uncle Sam keeps his money" but understood there was:

"Budget money, which is very hard to get. PWA money which is not so hard to get. A vast quantity of PWA money which is very easy to get for trifling projects, but almost impossible to get for anything worthwhile."

Although nothing official has been released, it is presumed that Hagood was dismissed from his command because he did other than give the subcommittee information about Army needs. The subcommittee did not ask for his opinion about the various governmental agencies dispensing government funds.

On the other hand, the General was asked to testify and, according to Rep. Blanton, was permitted by Gen. Craig "to speak his mind and judgment freely in answering questions asked him." It is committee custom to permit those testifying to expunge from the record all remarks which they do not wish to be official. Apparently there was a slip-up and General Hagood was not permitted to do so.

Family Needs Are First Home Requirements

Faced with changing interests an increasing family, or any of the influences that make a change in living conditions advisable, the usual reaction is to decide that complete change is necessary. And, too often, such decisions are followed by a rushed purchase that experience shows is not a satisfactory solution.

Faced with the necessity of making a change, several courses are possible. The present home can sometimes be remodeled. Another house can be purchased, with remodeling in view. A new home can be purchased or built. But whatever course is followed, it will provide a satisfactory solution only if the needs of your particular family have been considered. While these needs vary considerably, some suggestions are generally helpful. The needs of the family must be considered impersonally, if the resale value of the house is to be maintained, for purely personal decisions, in building, will often leave a "white elephant" on your hands when you decide to sell.

Probably the most common fault in homes is a lack of room. Growing children may make additional bedrooms necessary, or another bath desirable. The present house may lack space for entertaining. The need for a garden or playground is sometimes a factor. But it's surprising how often a little ingenuity will devise a solution by remodeling!

Utilizing space in the attic is a common answer to the need for additional bedrooms. Many older houses made this an easy course, since an already installed stairway and a high roof will require only finishing to utilize this space. In other houses, usually smaller and newer, a stairway must be installed, but some of the new types that can be pushed out of sight through a trapdoor in the ceiling will save space on lower floors, and are easily installed.

Where the roof is low, insulating before finishing the rooms is necessary. Bulk or sheet insulation can be used, and some types of wallboard are available which can be painted or papered, providing both insulation and finishing. Adequate provision for heating and plumbing should be made, if remodeling of this kind is considered, and the advice of a reputable plumbing and heating firm should be sought before plans are carried out.

Additional sleeping room can sometimes be provided by an enclosed porch. Roofing and glazing a balcony is generally not expensive, but heating and insulating should be considered here too. The effect of such an addition on the exterior design should also be carefully considered.

Present day bathroom fixtures and planning make the convenience of a second bathroom a possibility in many homes. Unused closets or pantries, the ends of halls, and sometimes a part of a large bedroom can be utilized for this purpose. If this investment is to be made reasonably, of course, it is necessary to consider the location of present plumbing in the house as well as available space.

Where the remodeling problem involves additional space for entertaining, porches and attics again enter the picture... along with the basement! Where a porch adjoins the living rooms, insulating and enclosing it will provide an extra room. Although most commonly used as a sun parlor, such a procedure can also provide a dining porch for use throughout the year. The recent trend toward the elimination of dining rooms offers another possibility here too, as dining room space can sometimes be used to increase the size of the living room when an enclosed porch serves as a dining room or dinette.

JUDICIOUS USE OF COLOR ADDS DIGNITY TO HOUSE

The colonial is still the most popular architectural style in America. In the thirteen original states, houses dating back to colonial times are regarded as models for many houses built today; and in other parts of the country, we often see houses in the colonial manner that remind us of the homes the early settlers left to travel west.

The colonial house receives from this age one important contribution—additional color. The traditional white or yellow for the body and the darkened green for the shutters does not completely satisfy the growing taste for color today. New notes of color are added to the shutters, sashes and window boxes. Odd colored designs copied from colonial decoration are often picked out in the shutters. Bright curtains may be seen at the windows.

The upright dignity of the colonial house and its gracious proportions are accentuated by a judicious use of color. But restraint must be exercised for best effects. There is no reason for gilding a lily or hiding the classic beauty of a colonial house with circus wagon colors.

OUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

TEACH DRINKING FOR HEALTH

Along with every educator known to me, I am concerned about the alcohol problem. Of course, what the individual adult or adult society wants to do is not my business, but what we do for children and youth is another matter. Of course the answer is to tell the truth as given to us in turn by science. Other answers such as hearsay, personal prejudice, and faddistic beliefs carry little weight in the long run. But a truly scientific fact strikes home.

Among our sources of scientific knowledge we have the statistics of life insurance companies. These may be obtained upon request, and they may form the basis of discussion and project study by high school groups. The findings of research laboratories are also available. In searching for data, don't overlook the positive scientific knowledge of milk, fruit juices, tomato juice, and water. In other words, perhaps the best defense against the early appeal of spirits are habits and attitudes favorable to known healthful beverages. Give the child a thorough grounding in what is known to be good for him, and there is little temptation to break away from regular customs. Incidentally this is good teaching practice wherever applied.

Little accidents may become big ones, warns Dr. Ireland, in his next article.

TEXAS FARMERS TO RECEIVE DELAYED PAYMENTS

College Station—With the passing of a recent appropriation bill signed by the President of the United States, Texas farmers are due to receive approximately $17,500,000 to fulfill all old government obligations, according to E. N. Holmgreen, administrative assistant of the AAA at College Station.

"Some payments should begin to arrive within the next 30 days," Holmgreen announced.

"Obligations of the U. S. Government to Texas farmers consist of second payments on the corn-hog contracts, the completion of rental and parity checks of cotton and the cotton adjustment payments," he said.

Holmgreen went on to say that nearly all counties in the State have some second cotton rental and parity payments due and also that all counties have some cotton adjustment payments coming.

HON. FRANK B. TIREY

With the opening of action again and an appropriation of $296,185,000, skeleton forces were put to work February 13 and 14 in College Station to push with all speed the paying up of government obligations to the farmers.

Information rushed to the field and county agents by E. N. Holmgreen consisted of the statements: "All contracts and obligations made and complied with prior to January 6 will be paid.

"We are to proceed in liquidating all 1934 and 1935 cotton corn-hog, and other contracts which were suspended or returned for correction."

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act in Washington, D. C., recently released this statement, "We will try to prevent delay in fulfilling obligations and in reimbursing those producers who carried out their agreements with the AAA in good faith."

CENTENNIAL COINS GO ON SALE AT BANKS ALL OVER TEXAS

(Special to the News')

Austin, Feb. 24.—Texas Centennial half-dollars, which are being sold throughout the State as souvenirs of Texas Centennial celebrations, are now on sale at banks here and throughout the State.

Proceeds from the sale of the coins will augment state and federal funds now on hand to build the Texas Memorial Museum on the campus at the University of Texas. The federal government allocated $300,000 of the Federal Centennial Fund for the museum building, and the Texas Centennial Commission allocated $225,000 for equipping and furnishing the building. A minimum fund of $500,000 is needed from the sale of the Centennial coins to Government. We face new conditions and have new adjustments to make. Many of our problems are deep-seated and cannot be solved without great thought and great care. I would try to cooperate with the leaders of our party and try to help work out the problems that confront us, and if the people see fit to elect me, I shall be very grateful.

TWINS MAKE TWIN VISIT UNKNOWN TO PARENTS

Another co-incidence! Twins, grown and now both married, one from Shreveport, and one from Port Arthur, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hall of the Arnett Community almost simultaneously, although unknown to each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hall of Shreveport arrived Friday afternoon about 5 p. m. for a visit with the Halls.

Along about 12 p. m. that night, Evan Hall of Port Arthur arrived at the Hall home, and, going in "his" room, saw someone asleep and asked: "Who's in my bed?" He was informed by his parents, it was none other than his twin brother, whom he had not seen for some time, and whom he did not know was coming home for a visit.

Incidentally, miracles do happen, here in old Coryell!

Centennial Exposition, June 7th. All exhibits and display grounds used in the University Centennial will be constructed so that they can be transferred to the permanent memorial to Texas Centennial celebrations when the Museum is completed.

IS CATTLE CENTER

The City of Fort Worth has been developed from old Fort Worth, a federal garrison named for General Worth of the United States army who distinguished himself in the Mexican war. The cattle industry, which gave Fort Worth the start that enabled it to become a great city, will be recognized in the city's celebrations for Centennial year.

The United States has had about 800,000 miners working underground in normal industrial times.

Burglars 'Clean-Up' for Centennial With Six Jobs in Two Nights

Taking a total of not more than ten dollars in a series of six burglaries during Tuesday and Wednesday nights, burglars here were probably "cleaning up" for the Centennial.

Tuesday night, McClellan Bros. Grocery Store was entered by forcing the front door, and some 30 packages of cigarettes were taken and some other small articles.

Wednesday night was the big night, however. Starting at Bailey's Wrecking Shop, the haul there was a seiberling automobile tire for a chevrolet. The door had been pried open, supposedly with a screwdriver.

Black's Grocery was next, and it was "knocked over" for about $1.00 in change and a few packages of cigarettes.

Dixie Service station suffered a broken window, "jimmied" cash register, and a total loss in money of about 80c.

The Sinclair Service Station, opposite the new Baptist Church was tried, but entrance to the front door was unsuccessful.

Wm. Cameron Lumber Company lost about three dollars in change, when the bandits pried their way into a door.

So far, no one has been apprehended, but it is understood finger prints are being made by a fingerprint expert from Waco.

Funeral Services Held Monday in Gatesville For J. C. Gouldy

J. C. Gouldy passed away Sunday evening, February 23, at 7:20 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Annie Fore, in Dallas after an extended illness.

Coryell Co. Wild Life Organization Formed At CCC Camp Thurs.

An interested group of sportsmen from this county and surrounding counties yesterday afternoon listened to a very interesting talk by Wm. J. Tucker, secretary of the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, on the conservation of wild life in the state as a whole and in the county in particular.

The group was made up of land owners, professional men and sportsmen. These are the men in positions to make possible the restoration and preservation of wild life and must work together as an organization and not as individuals if any thing is to be accomplished along these lines.

A general knowledge or education is necessary concerning each type of wild life and this will be secured from the State Commission through an organization to be formed at a later date in the county.

At this meeting it was decided to call the group, The Coryell County Wild Life Organization, for the time being, and Guy Powell was elected president. This temporary organization will be in effect until further plans are carried out.

Governor Allred has called a state wide meeting for those interested in the conservation of our wild life to be held in Austin March 27-28. All interested persons are urged to go and if you are interested, leave your name with County Agent Guy Powell.

night, Feb. 29. The cast includes: Draper Morgan, Mrs. Tylene Edwards, Powell Seward, Opal Morgan, Molly Montgomery, Frank Hanes, Cloyce Marshall, Ruby Lee Shafer, Scotty Seward and Emra Dean Phillips. This entertainment will be free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

SPRING! AND GATESVILLE STORES BRIGHTEN AND REMODEL

One of the Pre-Spring indications to the casually loafing is the changes made in Gatesville stores, fronts and interiors, within the past few weeks, which herald the arrival of spring.

Painter's are having all their signs repainted, and in the new trade name, which has been adopted by the manager.

Joe Hanna's Cash Store has completely changed its Shoe Department, which now extends from half way back in the building on both sides, under the balcony, and a new set of opera chairs has been installed for the convenience of patrons. Additional changes have been made in shelving for piece goods.

Davidson's have moved a center line of shelving and substituted tables for better display of their merchandise, and have also changed the arrangements in the office.

Leaird's Department Store, has a newly painted canopy, freshing up the front, and other changes in the shoe department inside.

Baby Blue is the color scheme being used in Morgan's Bakery, and includes the outside trim on the windows and the partition inside, getting the benefit of added light as well as beauty.

"TOP HAT, TAILS AND WHITE TIE"

Yes, Si-re Bob! Gatesville and Coryell County are literally going to have on their respective "Top hat, tails and white ties" when those "furniers" start passing thru here for the Texas Centennial THIS June.

Committees are already in the making, plans are being made and you are going to be gently urged to get your premises all dolled up in their best "bib and tucker," cause company's coming.

So, in line with the Texas Centennial Celebrations "Get Ready Week," these committees (names in this issue) are going to ask that you clean up, paint up, plant flowers, get rid of unsightly rubbish, and beautify your premises before the world visits Texas this year. Give your premises that "Saturday night bath."

IT'S HIS DAY

It's his day to say "No". And, "I already have a date," and all the other thousands of alibis the fair sex have been using against mere man for the past four years, when mere man tries to "make the grade" with her majesty, the Miss. In other words, folk, it's Leap Year!

Of course, the girl who has been overlooked for four years, can now take her own initiative, take the bull by the horns, and go out and "get her man," during this year, 1936.

We suggest, burning the wires with telephone calls, so that the ladies may get a break, (or is it a break), this year.

Whatever else may happen, anyway, we're just calling your attention to the fact (if it's necessary) that this is Leap Year, and February 29th, is the extra day.

ROOSEVELT FOR CIVIL SERVICE

Away back in the days of Canonized Saint Andrew Jackson, the democrats believed "to the victors belong the spoils." President Roosevelt is a Jacksonian democrat but he is opposed to the spoils system and would substitute civil service, placing all postmasterships under civil service. He does not expect action at this session. He told his press conference he expects to continue conferences on the subject during his second term. He remarked that he advocated such a proposition as far back as 1913. First and second and third class postmasters do not come under the civil service now. Really, all employes of the government, federal or state, should be picked by civil service commissions and the fittest should survive and win the appointments. This may take place some day after the coming of the millennial age, but not while the spoils system of favoritism in selection shall have the backing of great political leaders who are practical men, who must have rewards for their henchmen who prefer the pie counter choice to the cold-blooded examiners of the civil service commission.—Waco News-Tribune.

TEXANS ARE URGED TO BUY NEW STAMP AT MARCH 2 EVENT

Dallas, Feb. 28.—All Texans should join in a drive to make the first day sale of Texas Centennial stamps at Gonzales, March 2, the greatest first day stamp sale ever held, according to Charles Roster, director, state department of information for Texas Centennial Celebrations.

It was suggested that individuals could do this and at the same time promote interest in the state-wide Centennial celebrations now underway throughout the state by writing invitations to friends and relatives in other states, asking them to visit Texas during 1936, and sending the letters to Gonzales to be mailed March 2 under new stamp cancellations.

Such letters, with envelopes addressed by the sender, should be sent under cover to the postmaster at Gonzales, accompanied by a proper amount of cash or a money order. The Centennial issue is a three cent stamp. Stamps or checks will not be accepted. The letters then will be stamped with the new Centennial stamp and will be mailed from Gonzales March 2 with the coveted cancellation.

All previous record for first day sales on new stamp issues may be broken when the Texas stamp goes on sale at the "Lexington" of Texas independence. The heavy demand made by stamp collectors throughout the world is being increased materially by efforts of Gonzales business men to secure large orders for future use from business firms. Texans throughout the state may swell the volume by sending Centennial invitations to Gonzales to be mailed under the new stamp on March 2.

How's Your Etiquette?

Are your acts too personal for some places?

Good usage suggests not indulging ordinarily in expressions of affection in public, except at railway stations and steamship piers where kisses of greeting and leave-taking are too common to be noticed.

Cleaning or filing the nails, running the comb through the hair, tricking out the face with a complete make-up, spitting, using a tooth-pick, and attending to the person in other ways are decidedly out of place in public.

"Mary Burns, Fugitive"

By Wallace West—Novelized from the Walter Wanger-Paramount Picture of the same name.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Burns, pretty owner of a roadside restaurant, doesn't know that her lover, Don Wilson, is a merciless desperado wanted by the Department of Justice. When Don calls on her, Mary's place is surrounded by G-Men and a gun battle ensues. Don escapes but Mary is caught burning stolen bonds that he was carrying. Sentenced to fifteen years in prison, she is offered a pardon for information about Wilson. Unable, on account of her innocence, to give the desired information, she stays behind the bars. Goldie Gordon, her prison cellmate, has a plan of escape. Mary threatens to squeal if Goldie doesn't take her along. They make their bold get-away with the help of Goldie's pals.

CHAPTER V

"EXTRA Wilson Moll Escapes Prison!" shouted the diminutive newsboy as he thrust his head into the garage where Don and his new trigger-man, Spike, had their hangout. "Extra! Read all about Mary Burns! Extra!"

Wilson bought a paper and read it avidly.

"Since Mary Burns will not go to Wilson at this time," Harper said, "we must make Wilson come to her . . . by tipping off the underworld that she is hiding in New York and waiting for him to contact her."

"How'd she do it?" demanded Spike, looking over his shoulder.

"What's the difference?" Don was enthusiastic. "She's out—that's all I care about. Poor kid, she's probably hungry and ducking her own shadow . . . going insane looking for me. I'd give a million dollars if I knew how to get to her."

"She sure had plenty of moxie, cracking out."

"Mary couldn't break out of a bird cage," answered Wilson, looking at him with withering contempt. "The escape's strictly a phoney. They framed it . . . for my benefit."

"You're crazy!" Spike couldn't believe it.

"Don't you get it? They let her out because they know nothing can keep us from each other. That's how they figure to catch me. . . . But they won't," he laughed cruelly. "I'll beat them to the punch."

"Psst! Here she comes." Harper, the government agent, said these words as he ducked into a dingy hall bedroom where two other G-Men were sitting around a table littered with ear phones and dictaphone machines. Quickly they slipped on the phones and listened intently to a conversation which was taking place in another part of the cheap rooming house.

"Where have you been?" Goldie's voice came over the wires.

"I found a job in the kitchen of the Mercy Hospital," answered Mary excitedly as she closed the door and tossed her coat on the bed.

"I start work tonight—on the nine o'clock shift."

"You must be nuts!" Goldie's voice was harsh and strident. "You'll be picked up before daylight. . . ."

"But we're broke and hungry. I had to take a chance, Goldie."

"There's only one thing you had to do, and you haven't done it," snapped the other hatefully.

"I told you again and again I didn't know where Wilson was!" Mary's voice rose defiantly. And if I did I wouldn't go to him if we starved!"

"Don't give me any of that con!" Goldie was furious. "Why do you think I let you make the break with me? It's time you did something for me now! Wilson's rolling in dough—big dough, and there's nobody he'd rather give it to than you."

"I'd rather die. . . ."

mation in the right underground channels. Sooner or later it will reach Wilson." He paused again and looked at her steadily. "As an escaped convict, no one will respect that you are working with us."

"I understand, sir," answered Goldie humbly. "I'm willing to do anything to get my parole."

"My! . . . but you're jumpy!" exclaimed Jennie, a nurse at Mercy Hospital. As she entered the kitchen Mary Burns had started so violently that she had dropped a plate.

"You can clean that up later," the sour-faced old maid continued in a grating, harsh, nerve-jangling voice, as Mary bent down to pick up the pieces of crockery. "My patient wants some more of your coffee right away."

Mary poured a cup of her special brew from the steaming percolator and spread a napkin on a tray.

"I'm expecting a phone call—from the booth in the hall. Could you take it up to him for me? Room 1422."

"I'd be glad to."

"Don't say anything to him. It makes him cranky. He just seems to hate the sound of women's voices," continued Jennie as she glanced at her wrist watch. "I think his operation left him a little peculiar."

Barton Powell, explorer and scientist, a man of about thirty-two, was sitting up in bed, smoking a pipe and listening to the radio when Mary entered 1422. His eyes were tightly bandaged but he sniffed the aroma of coffee and turned quickly, his hands groping toward the tray. Mary picked up the cup and placed it in his fingers.

"Smc's like coffee! Looks like coffee—I hope," he mused. Then, taking a sip and sighing with satisfaction. "It is coffee." He took another sip and felt of the girl's hand. "You're not my nurse," he said. Then, when she did not answer, he demanded: "Who are you?"

"Your nurse told me not to talk . . ." explained Mary in a soft voice.

"Why?"

"She said," Mary answered reluctantly, "you didn't like the sound of women's voices."

Instead of being offended, Powell laughed merrily.

"She got it all wrong," he chuckled. "What I don't like—is the sound of her voice. It's not exactly soothing. Yours . . . is"

"More coffee?" Mary was embarrassed.

"If I ever get married, it'll be to a woman who makes coffee like this," answered Powell as he took another swallow.

Mary was momentarily startled, then burst out laughing.

"Why are you laughing?" he asked.

"I'm sorry. I laughed because I'm the woman who made the coffee."

"Are you? Well, you're the world's champion coffee maker and I'm the world's champion coffee drinker. How do you do? He extended a groping hand. "My name's Powell, Barton Powell."

"I know," Mary took his hand timidly. Your nurse told me all about you . . . how you were an explorer, and how a gun burst in your face."

"What's your name?"

"M. . . Alice Brown," stammered Mary. "I work in the kitchen. I must go back. The superintendent wouldn't like my being here."

"Will you bring some more coffee later? I'll fix the superintendent."

"Yes, sir. If you want me to," she replied picking up the tray.

"You're a nice girl," smiled Powell, patting her hand.

LETTER FROM SENATOR POAGE

Waco, Feb. 26.—I find that considerable publicity has been given to a statement appearing in several of the papers of the State to the effect that the State pension law creates a lien on any property owned by the recipient to be repaid out of the proceeds of the property after the death of the pensioner. Several of our citizens have called at my office to inquire about this phase of the law.

It is true that such a scheme was proposed and discussed in the Legislature, and I understand that some other States do have this provision, but it is NOT in the Texas law, and, while I realize more and more each day that this bill is full of holes, as is all legislation that is passed under pressure and at times when the people are demanding that the Legislature "pass a bill, adjourn, and go home," it is not subject to this criticism, and those who would like to strike it down will have to look for some other plan.

The section that probably lead to this statement is subdivision (c) of section 11, and reads as follows: "If, on the death of any recipient of the Old Age Assistance or aid, it is found that he was possessed of property or income in excess of the amount provided in Section 2 of this Act, which the recipient was by law entitled may be recovered by the Commission of Old Age Assistance as a preferred claim, together with six (6) per cent interest thereon, and all costs incurred from the estate of the deceased; the Commission shall institute the necessary proceedings to recover such claim and the amount recovered shall be paid into the Old Age Assistance Fund, one-half (1) of such amount shall be paid over to the United States Treasury in such manner as the Social Security Act may require."

It will be seen that this only relates to moneys fraudulently or accidentally received in excess of the amount allowed by law and certainly there should be no criticism of the State's effort to recover money to which the pensioner was never entitled.

It seems to me that the greatest weakness in the whole set-up is the apparent effort of those in charge of the administration of the Act to reduce the amount any one can receive to too small figure. It seems that the Board, realizing that they do not have the funds available which to pay more than 2 month, if full pensions were paid, has decided to cut down the amount paid to any one individual so as to try and make the money go two or three months. Of course, this may be the best thing that they can do under the circumstances, but I still think we should levy a tax on oil, gas, sulphur, etc., and raise enough money to pay the pensions in full. I cannot believe it is right to allow these resources to go untaxed and our old people unpaid at the same time.

LIONS LEARN READING FROM MRS. WALLACE; SPEECH, H. FLENTGE

Lions at lunch! Instructors at work! Anyway, Mrs. C. H. Wallace, wife of one of the local utilities kings, was the principle item on the intellectual menu of the Lions' Club luncheon Wednesday.

Another feature was the oratorical display, and purveyor of puns and fun, Harry Flentge, who delighted the lackadaisical Lions with his ready wit and quips. He was introduced by H. W. Allen of Hamilton, District Attorney.

Visitors were Mrs. Harry Flentge, Curtis Humphries, principal of Flat schools, and L. J. Garner, Assistant Supervisor of Education.

Frank L. Williams, Secretary, reported Gatesville Lions were leading this district for 1936 in securing new members.

"THE COMMENTATOR" HERALD COLUMNIST TALKS OF M. ROBERTS

"The Commentator," a columnist in the Waco Times-Herald, has this to say about Morris Roberts, son-in-law of Boone Gordon of Gatesville: "To our attention that Morris Roberts of Pettus is going to run for the state senate. Once of Baylor, married a 'Waco' girl. We wish we lived in his district so we could vote and work for him. Our idea of tops in graduates who have left the local campus..."

Even the columnists make an occasional mistake. Mrs. Roberts was none other than Camille Gordon of Gatesville.

years as required by the new law.

The old-age assistance law requires that applicants for assistance have lived in Texas five out of the last nine years and one year continuously immediately preceding application.

"Assistance applicants should be able to name exact places in which they have resided—street numbers, etc.—and the length of time at each place during the last nine years," Mr. Carpenter said.

"Another requirement is that if the applicant has been convicted of a crime or crimes, he will be asked to tell the number of convictions and give the nature of the offense or offenses and the place or places of conviction regardless whether they were in Texas or not," he added.

Applicants may get blanks in their own locality February 14 or after. These forms may be filed as soon as filled out.
