Baylor University Director of Athletics Speaker at Hornet Feed

Coach Ralph Wolf, Athletic Director of Baylor University, has definitely indicated that he will be in Gatesville the night of Tuesday, December 8, as the principal speaker at the Hornet Banquet to be held in the high school gym at that time, 7:30.

Under the auspices of the Lion's Club the banquet will include musical numbers from various local celebrities, as yet unannounced, and remarks by the coaches, members of the team, superintendent of schools and other leading athletic enthusiasts here.

Committees appointed by the president of the Lion's Club include: arrangements, Judge Floyd Zeigler, chairman, George Painter and Coach Earle Worley.

Program includes Supt. Erceel W. Brooks, chairman, Postmaster J. H. (Hurl) McClellan and Dr. Otis Ray. Tickets are on sale, proceeds above expenses going on the training camp fund for the Hornets next year.

DAVIDSON KINDERGARTEN PRESENTS PROGRAM AT ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

On Wednesday morning at 11:30 the Davidson Kindergarten gave their first program of the year entertaining the first four grades in the Gatesville Grammar School. The program was given as a part of the training that Mrs. Davidson offers in the kindergarten to give the children poise and naturalness in appearing before the public and it also gave the mothers an opportunity to see the progress of their children.

The Rhythm Band played, "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star," announced by Patsy Ruth Schaub and "My Pony" announced by Neta Jean Rogers.

Kent Biffle spoke very clearly in giving "A Thanksgiving Greeting" and others on the program consisted of Patsy Ruth Schaub, "My Doll;" Maurice Ashby gave "The Little Girl Across the Street" and Martha Ann Davidson and Billy Doris White read "If I Were a Pilgrim Child." The dance numbers were omitted due to the absence of Mrs. Sherrill Kendrick, who was called to the bedside of her aged grandmother.

The dance numbers consisted of: A Tap Routine by Carolyn Blankenship, Mary Sue Brown, Billy Doris White, Rose Marie Martin, Martha Ann Davidson, and Neta Jean Rogers. The ballet numbers included Dianna Jenson, Jackie Richardson, Joyce Martha Ann Hallman, Billie Hoose, Maurice Ashby, Margaret Ann Jones. A final tap number with Charles Diskey, Fisher

M. E. Young People Hold Fourth Annual Banquet At Church Wed Eve.

The Young People's Department of the First Methodist Church of this city held its fourth annual banquet in the basement of the church Wednesday evening beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The banquet hall was beautifully decorated in cedars, red and silver poinsettias and ferns. The outstanding decoration was a scene depicting the journey of the Three Wise Men following the star which led them to the birth place of the baby Jesus. The tables were arranged in U-shape around a large decorated Christmas tree and were laid with white linen centered with miniature reindeers. At each end of the table stood a miniature snow laden Christmas tree. White tapers burned in silver candlebras.

Miss Frances McCoy, president of the young people's department, presided over the meeting and introduced the toastmaster, C. E. Alvis Jr., Rev. J. H. Baldrige, presiding elder of the Gatesville District gave the invocation and Miss Jane Thomson read, "Going Home for Christmas," followed by a vocal duet by Jack Hearn and John Rufus Colgin.

Jack Hester, student in S. M. U., Dallas, was the guest speaker for the occasion and very enthusiastically discussed "The Glory of a New Power." Following his address, the Young People's Benediction was said.

Those present were: Misses Evelyn Anderson, Margaret Gettr, Lalla Rook Martin, Grace Rochester, Dortha Dillishaw, Eloise Cook, Frances Brown, Orpa Mayo, Martha Moore, Dorothy Swindall, Waldine Wharton, Buehah Gamblin, Pearl Brown Frances McCoy, Virginia Burleson, Marjorie Flentge, Martha Ann Powell, Ruth Rivers, Jane Thomson, Bernice Gamblin, Lowrey Burleson, Charlotte Rivers, Bertha Lillian Stewart, Dorothy Culberson, Grace Richards, Ina Beth Fore, Annie Ruth Witt, and Miss Phial Dean Copeland of Waco. Messrs Johnnie Schloeman, C. H. Wallace, John Rufus Colgin, Bob Thomas, C. E. Alvis Jr., Ira Swindall, C. W. McConnaghuay, Danny Christ, Burl Davis, Jack Hearn, Steve Lindley, Bobbie Melbern, Estene Poston, Royce Davis, Zaek Fore, N. J. Thompson, Tommy Hix, G. C. Martin, A. C. Bates Jr., Jee Ned Brown, Leaks Ayres, C. E. Rankin, Jack Hester of Dallas, Doran Pulliam of Ft. Worth, Mesdames, C. E. Rankin, C. E. Alvis Jr., J. H. Baldrige, M. M. Chunn, Pearl White, C. W. McConnaghuay, and Rev. J. H. Baldrige.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, turkey, dressing, waldorf salad, cranberry sauce, peas in nest, hot rolls, eggood pie and hot coffee.

Brown, Roger Miller, Patsy Ann and Robert Painter.

The program was well received by an attentive audience.

Local Alley-Men to Meet School Boys in Football Saturday Nite

Climaxing the season's football, the local "alley-rats," a team composed of young men of this city, will meet the local high school football squad Saturday night, December 5 at about 8:15 to be played in the Stockyard Stadium.

This will probably be the last football game for several of the high school boys, and should be highly interesting. There will be a small admission charge of 10c and 20c, and everyone interested in football should be out. Proceeds from the game is to be applied to publication of the high school annual.

BRING YOUR DOGS, HOGS HORSES, MULES MON. IS FIRST MONDAY

The Bridle and Spur Society will hold its monthly meeting on Bridge street, when men, boys, horses, dogs, stovewood, and other items for exchange and barter will be shown Monday, Dec. 7 on this "Street of All Animals."

A custom of many years, this is a never-to-be-forgotten scene—a scene, which belongs almost exclusively to the men and boys of the county.

"NIGHT OWL" SERVICE AT CITY FILLING STATION

As has been announced elsewhere, the City Filling Station, operated by J. B. Martin, never goes to bed! In keeping with J. B.'s policy of complete service, to give this service, they stay up all night.

So if you forget to gas up during the daylight hours, this additional service will keep the old bus rolling.

SAINT NICK DUE TO BE IN WACO TUESDAY

In a letter from the Waco Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsoring Saint Nick's arrival in Waco, which was scheduled for last night, Saint Nick had the same trouble there that he had in Coryell county, and has postponed his date until Tuesday evening, December 8.

Schools in this section will be given a section in the parade and the floats and cars will be judged, 25 percent for originality and 75 percent for arrangement beauty, the prizes being offered for the best being $25.00, best car, $10.00 and other prizes amounting to $60.00 in all.

Community Service Held For Thanksgiving in New City Auditorium

Unique in its novelty, a community Thanksgiving service was held in the new City Auditorium Wednesday of last week, with all churches of the city participating. Rev. James M. McLean, local Presbyterian pastor, was the principal speaker. Approximately 350 people were present for the services.

Rev. M. M. Chunn, pastor of the First Methodist Church, acted as Master of Ceremonies, and also pronounced the benediction. The Thanksgiving Proclamation was read by Mr. E. D. Shelton, as a representative of the Church of Christ, and Rev. Clarence Allen Morton, of the First Baptist Church, read the scripture reading.

After the service, Rev. McLean, who was to leave the city shortly, had a number of tributes paid him by Rev. Mr. Chunn, and representatives of organizations with whom Rev. Mr. McLean had been connected, were asked to the front and the congregation in a friendly fellowship mood shook hands with these and Rev. Mr. McLean, giving him their best wishes in his new field.

Included in those representing the organizations were Rev. C. A. Morton, J. P. Kendrick, E. W. Brooks, R. H. Miller, C. F. Gandy, Coach Earle Worley, Coach Fred Schwarz, J. M. Witcher and Rev. James M. McLean the honoree.

LYTLE POWELL'S CONCERT PROVES OUTSTANDING MUSICAL TREAT

Lytle Powell, pianist supreme, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Powell, charmed a selected audience at the city auditorium the evening of December 1st, with his inimitable selections from the famous composers, including Bach, Beethoven and Chopin.

Mr. Powell demonstrated beyond a doubt that he is the pianist the critics intimated, and that he will go far in his chosen profession as an artist of the first water.

A delineation of his technic, touch, and handling of the difficult numbers which he rendered would take a better critic than there is locally, and we must therefore quote his instructor and admirer, Tobias Matthey, who stated as follows: "It give me great pleasure to introduce Mr. Powell as an artist. He has studied here, (London) some years now and has become a fine player, who can hold his own anywhere. His readings are alive and musical, and he always holds his audience, having an ample technique to express himself."

The concert, held in Gatesville at the City Auditorium on the evening of December 1, was under the joint auspices of the Morris Federation, the Lions Club assisting in ticket sales.

Church Services at Schley

On Friday night, Dec. 4th at 7 o'clock, Rev. G. L. Derrick, Baptist pastor at Turnersville, will hold church services at Schley. No collection will be taken and everyone is urged to be present and worship with us. As a special feature the Liberty Quartette will give several numbers.

Denver Roberts of Pettus was a guest of Miss Elaine Cross over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Thomas of Levita were guests of her sister, Mrs. Kay Ament and family Sunday.

REINDEER INJURES LEG IN HOLE IN ICE NEAR NORTH POLE. ARRANGEMENTS TO COME SATURDAY.

Santa Claus has cancelled his date with Coryell County children for Thursday night, due to the fact that Prancer, one of his leading reindeer stepped in an icy hole and injured his leg, according to information received here late Thursday morning.

However, in conversation with the Old Gentleman, he stated that he would arrive here at about 6:30 Saturday evening of this week, December 5, with his sleigh loaded down with candy for his friends, Coryell County Kiddies.

Also, on Saturday evening, all the stores in Gatesville will be lighted up, and as soon as you see Santa Claus you can go in the stores and tell Mama and Papa that you want what you see in the stores and then get your Xmas Want List from this office, write your wants on it to Santa and drop it in the North Pole Postoffice at the News office. It will be forwarded direct to Santa so that he will receive it when he gets back to the North Pole where he will prepare to see all the children on the evening of December 24.

Workmen are completing the installation of colored Christmas lights which was stopped, due to the 1.97 inches of rain during the week, and particularly to the 1.77 which came to us on Wednesday.

On Saturday night at 6:30, the main switch will be thrown as Santa Claus arrives and the HOLIDAY SEASON will be officially inaugurated in Gatesville and Coryell County. You must be here!

HOME LUMBER COMPANY OPENS DOORS AT OLD GRAHAM LBR. STAND

Prosperity, especially in the nail and lumber business is evidently here, because Gatesville is the proud owner of a brand new lumber yard, the Home Lumber Co., across from the City Hall.

According to information we have, the yard is owned by Owen Davidson, formerly of Pecan Grove, but who is now together with his family, is a resident of Gatesville. Frank Kelso is the bookkeeper. The yard has been open since December 1, and a visit from everyone in the county will be appreciated.

BASKET BALL OPENER HERE FRIDAY NIGHT; B-WOOD COMING 11th and 12th

Dribble, turn and shoot! That's the cry over the county at this time and beginning to be here in Gatesville tonight, when the CCC camp meets the Gatesville High School basketball team in the gymnasium at 7 p. m.

Friday and Saturday of next week, Brownwood, usually runners-up in the state, or at least in at the last, will take on the Gatesville Hornets in the gym.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas: To the Sheriff or any Constable of Coryell County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon unknown heirs and legal representatives of Lelia T. Curry, deceased, and unknown heirs and legal representatives of A. M. Curry, deceased, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Coryell County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Gatesville, Texas, on the second Monday in January A. D. 1937, the same being the 11th day of January, A. D. 1937, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 31st day of October A. D. 1936, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 4669, wherein Mrs. Eleanor Dubes, a widow is plaintiff and Tom Carlton, Mns. Tom (Ruth) Carlton, E. L. Stewart, Maggie Lee Stewart, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Lelia T. Curry, deceased and Mrs. A. M. Curry and the unknown heirs and legal representatives of A. M. Curry, deceased, are defendants. The nature of Plaintiff's demand is as follows: That on or about April 4th, 1912, C. L. Curry and wife Lelia T. Curry, made, executed and delivered to Percy Witt a certain mechanic's, laborer's and builder's lien promissory note for $750.00, secured by a valid mechanic's, laborer's and builder's lien, executed and delivered simultaneously therewith, covering lots 1 and 2 in Block 3 of the Wells Addition to the City of Gatesville in the C. Cazanoba survey in Coryell County, Texas, shown duly recorded in vol. 1, page 302 et seq. of the Mechanic's Lien Records of Coryell County, Texas; that Lelia T. Curry died intestate, in about 1918 or 1919 and that on Jany. 20th, 1923, said indebtedness was a valid and subsisting indebtedness against the Community Estate of the said C. L. Curry and his deceased wife, Lelia T. Curry; and that by deed of that date, the said C. L. Curry as survivor in community, conveyed said property to the Defendant, Mrs. Tom (Ruth) Carlton, then Ruth

Curry, in consideration of her assumption and promise to pay said $750.00 note; and the further consideration of her executing and delivering to A. M. Curry, her note for $150.00, dated Jany. 10th, 1923 and due 2 years after date; said A. M. Curry, having paid, $150.00 interest on said $750.00 note; said $150.00 note to be secured by a second lien on said property, all of which will appear from said deed of record in vol. 98, page 246 of the Deed Records of Coryell County, Texas; that said $750.00 indebtedness and the lien securing same was and has been from time to time duly renewed and extended as to unpaid balances thereon and that the Plaintiff is the legal owner and holder of the balance of said indebtedness due and owing on said $750.00 note; which balance is evidenced by that certain $600.00 note, dated Oct. 31, 1931, due Oct. 31, 1932, executed by Tom Carlton and Mrs. Tom (Ruth) Carlton, payable to this Plaintiff, bearing 8% per annum from its date until maturity, past due principal and past due interest bearing 10% per annum until paid, and described in extension contract recorded in Vol. 118, page 27, Deed Records, Coryell County, Texas. Plaintiff seeks judgment for debt, foreclosure of liens, establishing

SYNOPSIS

Carrie Snyder operates a rendezvous for the town's gay blades in small Crebillon, La. A misunderstood youngster of eleven, Paul Darnley, looks upon her as his best friend. Carrie is forced to leave town by the council. Paul runs away from home and takes refuge with a tramp river fisherman. He rescues Lady, an orphaned girl, from a train wreck and brings her to Nick's. Carrie brings the two children to New York. Entering the dry-cleaning business, she is successful. Paul graduates from college and works for a literary agency. Lady attends finishing school. When Paul becomes interested in Lili Elpper, Lady marries Mat Burdon in spite. Carrie tells Paul, Lili is an ex-convict but Paul decides to stick to her.

CHAPTER IX

WE HAD a wire from Paul the next day, saying that he was looking for Lili, and another a few days later saying that he had found Lili and would be back with her the following Monday. Lili, Lili—not a word about Lady.

Maggie had called the Elpper's apartment house and learned that she had left the day before Paul got her letter. What her game was I couldn't be sure. I had a hunch about it, but I wasn't saying anything to Lady. She was going to be hard hit if it was what I feared. During the second week of her stay the two Burdons phoned her every day.

"They're lonely, and I've got to go back to them," she said. "I can't give my two Mats much except kindness, but they're not going to suffer for the lack of that." The following Saturday Young Mat drove up from Baltimore and took her back with him.

On Monday morning I was back on the job again and glad of it. In the afternoon, with many misgivings, I went to the Grand Central to meet the returned travelers. They were late getting off the train, and when I saw them at last they were in the clear. They were still a hundred feet away, but I said, "My God, she's done it." Though she wasn't touching him, she walked, as one who possessed this man by her side.

Paul and I took her to her apartment. As we were leaving Paul put his hands on her shoulders. "I'm depending on you, Lili," he said.

At the cottage that night he told me the story—or at least the story she'd told him. It seems she'd been lonely and got to brooding because she didn't have much work here, and decided suddenly to go to a small city, where living expenses would be light, and try her luck there. So she went to Jefferson City. She'd been there once (you bet she had!), and it was the only place, outside of St. Louis and New York, that she knew. She drifted around the streets there for awhile, but she didn't like the place and she couldn't find any work.

"In her depressed condition she couldn't like any place," Paul told me, "so she decided to get out of it, but she couldn't make up her mind where to go. She wandered into the postoffice, and then remembered that she'd written me that mail could be addressed to her there. She called at the general delivery window, got my note, and came on to my hotel.

"She seemed half-starved, sick with loneliness, and sorry that she'd left New York. She was glad to see me. The look in her eyes got me, Aunt Carrie," he said. "I thought, 'if Franz had lived, she wouldn't be skulking around like a whipped dog.' She began to brighten up as since. She's grown up now. She's a dark young woman with eyes that are dead these days except when one man's name is mentioned. She's a young woman with a high head and a high heart, and it's breaking for the love that's in it. You can hear it breaking when she laughs.

"No one needs you now, you say, except Lili Elpper. Lady needs you more than she's ever needed you before. You could at least keep yourself in the clear and be ready to go all out for her if she has a chance to get out of the mess you and your precious Lili put her in."

"But I've given my word, Aunt Carrie," he said. "Lili understands it that way."

"She would," I said. "So you're going to marry her? When is it to be?"

"There's been no talk of time. The whole thing is for Lili to decide."

"Lili! My voice was rising and my heels were pounding the floor. 'Do you know who Lili is? Do you know that she's served a two-year prison term—that the criminal doctor she was convicted with is still in prison, and writing to her? That's why she was in Jefferson City—to see him!'

He stared at me for a second, then said quietly, "Of course I know. She told me that. But she didn't tell you. How did you find out, unless you hired someone to spy for you?"

At any other time the look in his eyes would have shut me up, but nothing could stop me now. "Of course I did," I shouted at him. "Why not—if that's the kind of woman she is?"

Paul sank wearily into a chair. He lit a cigarette and began walking up and down. "And so," he said, "I brought her back. She needs me, Aunt Carrie, and no one else does."

"I'd kept still as long as I could. 'She needs you!' I burst out. 'But what about Lady?'"

"Lady?" He said it in that dull flat voice because he was wretched about her, and miserable and confused. I understood that later when I'd had time to think. But at the moment his saying her name as if he'd never heard it before was the last straw. I got to my feet and began walking up and down close to him.

"You don't seem to remember her, Paul. Lady is the little girl you gave a hand to down in Crebillon. She went with you in the dark then, and she's loved and worshipped you ever

"No wonder she hates people—when they go digging around in her life hunting for things that will hurt her!"

"Paul," I said, "you're a man, so you couldn't be expected to know why a woman fights to hold her family together. But never mind. We're finished now—the three that were going to stand together, whatever happened, against the world. Everything I've hoped for—everything I thought we were living for—is gone."

He did then what any man does when faced by a hysterical woman. He got up and ran. "I'm going for a walk," he said.

At that the last spark of my fury flared up. I said to his bowed back rushing out of the screen door, "You can go to hell and stay there for all I care."

Prolong the Spirit of Christmas for Years With Aladdin Light

"And a wonderful light shown round about," so Scripture says of that first Christmas night. How appropriate, then, to put that truly "wonderful light" of the Aladdin Lamp into your home this Christmas. So white—so pure—approaching sunlight in its effulgence. Modern, too—unsurpassed by electric light for quality and steadiness.

Giving Aladdin Is Good Taste!

The gift of Aladdin is the gift of something recognized to be fine and durable. You couldn't choose anything more appropriate for friends in the country who are without modern light. Its use means economy. Runs 50 hours on a single gallon of kerosene (coal-oil). Burns 94% air and only 6% oil. Saves eyestrain, which all too often runs into expense for examination, treatment and glasses. So simple and safe a child can operate. No Full line of noise, odor or smoke; no SUPPLIES pressure to maintain.

HEAP LITTLE INDIANS TAKE BIG STAR NAMES

During the filming of Pickford-Lasky's "The Gay Desperado" on a location site near Tucson, Arizona, Leo Carrillo, the screen's best-loved bad man, was invited to visit the Papago Indian school. Imagine his surprise when he asked an eight-year old brave his name and heard: "Little Leo Carrillo, Sir." The actor's pride was punctured, however, when he made inquiries of one of the Franciscan friars and was told that nearly all the youngsters in the village had dropped their Indian names in favor of those of their favorite stars.

There are three Little Greta Garbos, two Little Marlene Dietrichs, three Little Buck Joneses, eight Little Clark Gables, six Little Leo Carrillos, and several small namesakes of both Nino Martini, the singing star of the film, and Ida Lupino, his lovely leading lady.

The Gay Desperado, which is released through United Artists, comes to the Regal Saturday night at 10:30 and Sunday and Monday.

FILM VERSION OF FAMOUS STORY TO BE SHOWN

"The President's Mystery," Republic's long heralded filmization of the Liberty Magazine story which was conceived in plot by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been booked for early showing at the Regal, according to the red letter announcement made by Manager L. B. Brown yesterday. This picture will be shown next Wednesday and Thursday.

The idea for the sensational film was told to Fulton Oursler editor of Liberty by the President, and written for that magazine by an internationally-famed group of authors that includes Rupert Hughes, S. S. Van Dine and others as noted. It remained for Republic to picture the rousing unusual story with Henry Wilcoxon, the powerful star of DeMille's spectacular Crusades and Cleopatra in the stellar role.

Concerning a great captain of industry who liquidates his fortune in an attempt to "get away from it all," the President's hero continues, in his experiences, with an attempt to restore prosperity to an impoverished community.

There is a charming love story in which lovely Betty Furness plays the heart interest, and such favorites as Sidney Blackmer and Evelyn Brent are also prominent in the cast.

Jim Hix, student in A. and M. College, visited his brother, W. T. Hix and O. N. Hix in this city over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Voss, Gene Rennert and Miss Thedra Mounce were Waco visitors Monday.

Miss Mildred Grant, student in 4-C College in Waco, spent the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. ents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Gough spent Thanksgiving Day in this city as guests of his parents, Mr. and Mr. Fred Gough.

Miss Sidney Gale Gibson visited friends and relatives at Trinity during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Velma Roe, who has been visiting her parents near Levita, returned to her school work in Dallas Sunday.

Charlie Brown of Abilene spent the week end in this city visiting his sister, Mrs. R. J. Brown.

J. O. Forrest, who has been in a Temple hospital for the past week, returned to his home at Ames Tuesday and is doing nicely.

Jack Hester, student in Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and Miss Phial Dean Copeland of Waco were Gatesville visitors Wednesday evening.

Mary Evelyn Eubanks Wins in County 4-H Centennial Contest

Mary Evelyn Eubanks wrote the winning story in the contest sponsored by the County Agents. She is awarded the official 4-H pin in recognition of her achievement. This is an additional indication of her consistent successful efforts as a 4-H Club member.

The contest ran from the 8th of August until the 29th of November. The eligible entrants were Coryell County boys and girls. The papers written show keen observation for they are good comprehensive accounts of their trip to the Centennial.

Below is a copy of the winning story written by Mary Evelyn Eubanks:

Trip to the Centennial

The boys and girls 4-H Club members of Coryell County had the opportunity of taking one of the most enjoyable trips that could be thought of, and that was the Centennial, Friday and Saturday, August 7th and 8th. I was thankful that I was one of the fortunate ones.

We were scheduled to leave Friday morning at 5 o'clock. We met at Mr. and Mrs. Guy Powell's home. Everyone carried a pillow, sheet, two towels and necessary clothing. The truck was there waiting for us to pick up our "ole kit bags" and crawl in. This we did very soon and by sunrise we were well on our way to Waco.

There was certainly a truck load of boys and girls although we weren't too crowded. There were fifty-three in all. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Powell, Miss Gibson, and Mrs. Milard Powell rode in the truck with us. The Future Farmer Class of Gatesville High School also took advantage of this Centennial trip, however, they went in the Gatesville School Bus, No. 5. I sincerely believe that everyone on the road could tell where we were going by the looks on our faces. Our "Canary Bird," Rebecca Clemons, lead us in many songs. Nearly everyone would wave at us and some tried to get us to buy watermelons, but we were too wise to spend our money in that way.

About 11 o'clock we arrived in Dallas and we were in Tent City in a very short while. Tent City is a tourist camp which is located near the Centennial grounds. Reservations had already been made for us, so we were shown immediately to our cabins. After washing our faces a bit, we went to the Dining Hall. There were two long tables in this hall and it took both tables to seat eighty-six of us. We were served a plate lunch with our choice of milk or orange juice. By the time we were through eating, I imagine the waitresses were tired of refilling bread plates and water pitchers for that hungry bunch.

The guides were at Tent City and ready to take us by that time. One guide took the 4-H Club girls, another the 4-H Club boys, and another the Future Farmer Boys. We saw many exhibits but the first was the Ford building. This was particularly interesting to the girls. We saw the Humble Oil Company's exhibits and miniature scenes of the pioneer days. Other exhibits were of railways, with tiny trains, how highways were built, where the oil fields were and many others. There was the Federal building, the fish aquarium, and other buildings where fine arts were displayed.

The Masonite home was the most beautiful home many of us girls had ever seen. The music by Art Kassel and his Kassel's of the air was very pretty. The Midget Village was one of the most interesting things of the day. One little midget told us to move back a little because we weren't giving them enough air, so of course we moved back. They put on a performance while we were there and the cutest thing was one little midget who imitated Mae West. She really played the part well, too.

We were due at Tent City at five-thirty and supper at six. This meal tasted good too, but we were real anxious to see the "Calvacade" that night. So back to the Centennial grounds we went, but when we got there the seats were all taken up for the first performance so we waited patiently for the second performance. This was the most wonderful sight of the day. After seeing the "Calvacade" those who wanted to rode around the grounds on the bue to see the many bright lights. At about 11:30 we returned to Tent City, dead tired, but excited because of the wonderous sights we had seen.

The next morning everyone was as hungry as a "Bear." If I may say so. After breakfast we packed what things we had and put them in the truck so we would be all set to go home when we returned from the Centennial grounds. That day we didn't have any guides and were "turned loose." However, we kept in small groups most of the day. The first building we visited was where the livestock was kept which was very interesting. If the Ford building wasn't visited on Friday it was visited on Saturday. If we didn't have time to stay long as we wanted to in some of the buildings on Friday, we returned to them on Saturday. Everyone was supposed to meet at the "Black Forest" for lunch at five minutes until twelve. We were served a delicious German meal. The waiters were so courteous that it made you think you were in Germany. After lunch there were still many interesting things to be seen so we saw as many as we had time and returned to Tent City fifteen until four.

With everyone in the truck, we bade Dallas "farewell" and started home. The boys were so nice that they let the girls sit on the shady side of the truck. We hadn't gone far until our "canary bird" started up again. We sang practically all the rest of the way home. This singing included nearly all of the songs we ever heard.

As we came into the City Limits of Gatesville, we sang "The Eyes of Texas." I know we nearly ran Mr. and Mrs. Guy Powell and Miss Gibson crazy with our hilarious laughter but they were such good sports that

Dear Editor and Staff:

How's everything in dear ole' Gatesville? This is a good little city, but I'll still take Gatesville. This is a grand little college with an excellent faculty. Our football team won the State Championship, losing only one game during the entire season. Wiggins and I played almost every minute of every game. Wiggins played left tackle and I played center.

Well, Mat, I'm not much on writing letters, so I'll close. Tell the gang hello and that I'll be seeing them Xmas. Best of luck to the News.

Yours truly,

Modern Gulliver Helps the Little People • • • -By Knott

One year ago regional headquarters of the Resettlement Administration were set up in Dallas. Since that time, loans have been made to 35,808 Texas farm families who were unable to obtain from any other source the finances needed to carry on farm operations. Many of these families have been forced to quit farming for lack of teams, tools and supplies, but as a result of Resettlement aid are now self supporting again. More than one million dollars of the ten million dollars loaned has been repaid, although the loans were made up to five years.

The next step is to aid landless farmers in becoming land owners, and tenant families are now being nominated as prospective purchasers of 588 farms, the land for which has been already optioned or purchased.

MEN OF MILLIONS BEHIND NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

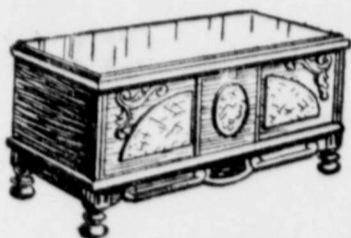

New York (Special)—The Board of Directors of the New York World's Fair Corporation, meeting at headquarters in the Empire State building, Manhattan, hear Grover Whalen, President, outline the progress being made toward the 1939 Fair as envisioned by a table model prepared by the Board of Design.

The directors' names form an imposing list. About the table, left to right, are: Louis W. Kaufmann, President, Chamber of Commerce of Staten Island; W. Franklyn Paris, United States Commissioner to the Paris Exposition; Bayard F. Pope, Chairman, Marine Midland Corporation; Matthew Woll, Vice President, American Federation of Labor; Timothy J. Sullivan, President of the Board of Aldermen of New York City; John R. Burton, President and Chairman, Na-

Some body said that life is one thing after another. Somebody also said that life is what you make it. We like to say that, but really, isn't life what your friends make it for you? Just another shallow thought to wonder about. Life is supposed to be the most complicated something in existence. Something to take on the chin.

Never knowing what is going to happen next, guessing, wondering, blundering—that's life. To lead a perfect existence—oh well, call it impossible. Those little and big things that make life complicated must be contented with. What are a few set backs? Nothing! If you don't take life too seriously.

Campus Lowdown

The Hornets met the Bulldogs in a game of the old hog rine. When that Turkey Day game ended,

The Bulldog growl was a meekly whine!

The Thanksgiving holidays, turkey, and visitors and McGregor are gone and we settle back to the same old grind. Buzz Colgin and Joe Baker ended their high school football careers in a blaze of glory. Baker made the first touchdown and Colgin made the winning tally. Overheard in the Economics class: "It's a good thing that I'm not married" to which a heckler retorted, "Yeah, a good thing for your husband."

How many studes start to carve their initials on deek and stop with a guilty look when they remember the old namesadage, "Fool's faces like fool's faces" always appear in public places?" The sparks really flew when Dave Culbersin encountered the Post gal, Jean Patillo and Mildred Gandy threw off their yoke Saturday night and two sad-eyed fellows returned to Austin and Houston much, much wiser. Regular sisters—Ruth Hamilton and Frances McCoy. Simile of the week—as tense as a pointer. Bobby Patterson is seeing quite a bit (too darn much) of Patsy Olsen, these days. After making a vicious block in the McGregor tangle, Fats Williams rose to his feet and growled, "There's plenty more where that came from," and we believe him. Ruth Hamilton is dreamy-eyed after seeing her Richard for the first time in three months. Looks alike: Danny McClellan and Charles Butterworth. (That dumb expression, you know.) Pauline Whigham went over with a bang at the danzaoura last bathnite. Orchids to J. R. Saunders' address to the Press Club. And then someone suggested that Joseph Satterfield write o the "Voice of Experience." Overheard—"Her contitution even forbids the right to bear arms." Jooch McDonald—King of the uckers. And then there's the lumb stude who thinks the French term, "a propos," is what a boy does when he asks the girl to marry him. Tommie Robinson, windy wizard, is going over big on the Baylor campus. Wonder what effect the publishers think this sentence printed in the front of every textbook, "Pupil must not write or mark on any page of this book will have? It usually reminds the students to do a little marking. "Well, hit made a little difference," said a carpenter holding up a mashed thumb. (Bet that wasn't all he said!) The new girl is Wanda Boylan from Lindsay Oklahoma and we don't know her phone number, but just give us time. Overheard in the cafeteria: "I take my coffee like I take my women." "and how's that," asked a bystander, "black?" To which the first retorted, "No, hot, you dope!" This is the ditty Jack Hearn is prayerfully crooning these days: Reuben, Reuben, I've been thinking What a swell world this would be, If all the girlies were transported Far, far, far beyond the northern sea. There are seven types of deeks in the study hall. A line of the old favorite, "June in January," goes like this: "The night is cold, the trees are bare" but Bruce Jones sings it like this: "The night is cold and so are you." All right, all right,—Bong! Speaks to Press Club Monday morning at the regular meeting of the Press Club, Mr. J. R. Saunders, sports commentator of the Coryell County News appeared before this organization and addressed the group on journalism. Mr. Saunders was one time editor of the Press Club and studied journalism in college. He covered the various phases of this field. He discussed not only the editorial side of journalism but also the mechanical side of this trade. Mr. Saunders' speech was encouraging and should be a great aid to the Press Club. Gatesville-McGregor Game The Gatesville Hornets came smashing through to close their 1936 season with a bang. They romped around the field until the Bulldogs were subdued by 12-7. The feature attraction of (Continued on page 6)

the Horne's attack was "Badger" Hinesly. His heaves were what put the Horne's on top of the heap. The Hornets looked like the "aerial circus" of S. M. U. Joe Baker and Buzz Colgin were also playing a fine game. This was the last game for many of the boys, and they closed their career with a blaze of glory. Joe Baker and Buzz Colgin, both seniors accounted for the Horne's pointer's. The game started with the McGregor Bulldogs receiving the kick-off. They marched right down the field by power plays until they got near the Horne goal line, then they tightened up and the ball went over to the Gatesville lads because of a fumble. The McGregor aggregation made threats at intervals during the game, but did not push over a touchdown until late in the second quarter. When a pass was completed for a touchdown. The game was one of the most exciting games ever seen on the Gatesville field. The Hornets outplayed and outfought the McGregor team in all departments.

And so we pay tribute to one of the best coached teams in the history of our school.

From our high school went Miss Halbrook, Miss Carll, Mr. Brooks, Mrs. Reesing, Miss Fore and Miss Durham.

All the meetings were well held as to whether or not to make twelve grades in school instead of eleven. If this is carried out, the twelfth grade will be put in the elementary school.

Sport Flashes from G. H. S.

Another season of football is over. The Hornets have hung up their suits on another season and a very good one at that. They ended up in the district with a 500 per cent record, three won and three lost. For the whole season they won five and lost four. A good record considering the opposition.

The toughest opposition was Mart. They came to the Hornets hive and with Saundig as their leader drove them out by 25-0. It was a better game than the score showed. The McGregor game was the climax to everything. The Bulldogs came to Gatesville with a large and slow team and a fair pass defense. The Hornets with a small and fast team, also a passer, met this large aggregation and showed them a brand of football that has not been shown by a Horne team in quite a while. The Hornets won the McGregor game but lost the Hamilton, but what do you think they are supernatural?

Our vote for the most valuable and most consistent player on the Horne squad, Joe Baker.

Nicknames

Does Anita Lowrey really resemble a Farmer's daughter or do they call her that because she's the Sweetheart of the F. F. A? Someone called Reginald Franks "Toots" the other day. And then we all know "Parky" Polk and "Hindy" Wallace. Why do they call John Rufus Colgin, "Buzz?" Danny Crist got his nickname, "Shirley" because of his curly locks.

Personals

Mildred Witcher visited in Valley Mills during the holidays.

Maurice Ewing, former assistant coach of this school, witnessed the Gatesville-McGregor game last Thursday.

Nelle Goodall visited in Austin last Thursday.

Patsy Olsey was a Chifton visitor over the week end.

Dale Britain and Hilma Gholke were Waco visitors last Sunday.

Jack Reesing spent last Friday and Saturday in Ft. Worth. Margaret Sheridan spent the week end in Ewing.

Nell Routh went to Waco last Sunday.

The Pep Squad

The pep squad put on their last stunt of the year last Thursday at the McGregor game.

They will be, however, with the boys Saturday night yelling as ever.

They will be with the basketball team several times in the gym.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club met Monday, November 30. The roll call was answered by each person giving the name of some great woman and telling briefly what she did.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was given. The program was entitled, "Ellen H. Richards," and was given as follows: "Recollection of Ellen H. Richards," by Gracie Nell Byars, "Ellen H. Richards of Vassar College," by Margaret Koch, "In memory of Ellen H. Richards," by Bertha Lillian Stewart, "Ellen H. Richards"

(radio circular) by Theo Bas-ham.

The Club adjourned to meet the following Monday, December 7.

Cotton (at dance): "Oome here, Mustard."

Gene: "Why do you call me Mustard?"

Cotton: "Because you are always on my dogs."

Danny Crist suggests that we call her the Atlas Girl because she has a hand painted map.

Tuesday Assembly

Mr. McLaughlin led the students as we sang "America" and Miss Halbrook accompanied on the piano. We were fortunate in having as our guest speaker, our State Representative from Coryell and Hamilton counties, Earl Huddleston. He gave a very interesting talk which everyone enjoyed. We hope that we will have him with us again.

G'ville Grammar School

Assembly

Mrs. J. P. Kendrick gave an interesting lecture on "The Last Supper" for the fifth, sixth and seventh grades in general assembly Tuesday. She told us some very interesting facts about the picture and the artist, Da Vinci. The students always enjoy the visits of Mrs. Kendrick, and this one was especially interesting. The program was the first observance of the National Picture Week, and the six Y class will present an art appreciation program Friday morning.

Purmela School News

Last Wednesday night, students of the Purmela High School presented a Thanksgiving program which was well prepared and to the enjoyment of all present.

The Community 4-H Club was reorganized on Friday night, Nov. 20. Fred Grubb was elected president; Cleo Huckabee, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Bell, secretary. The program committee are: chairman, Cleo Huckabee, members, A. R. Bertrand, Mrs. Quincy Adams, Opal Basham, Ometra Thetford and Mrs. Mary Huckabee. The pupils of Mrs. A. R. Pointer presented and operetta, "The Children of Old Mother Goose." The next 4-H Club meeting will be Dec. 11 and everyone is invited to attend.

Morris L. Webb with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Flatt, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Winslar, Austin Bertrand, Ercel Anderson, Falvey Weeks and Raymond Winslar carried the following students to Dallas where they attended the Centennial Exposition the 21 and 22 of November. Troy Comer, Cecil Earl Moore, W. T. Spencer, Francis Rodgers, Ray Anderson, Durward Thetford, Nelson Newton, Roscoe Smith, Burl Williams, Robert Newton, Kathleen Flatt, Betty Sue Thetford, Clara Blackstock, Loretta Flatt and Kid Spencer. All reported a very enjoyable as well as educational trip.

An "ocean wave" has recently been added to the playground and is proving quite with the students both big and little. The basketball court has recently been improved and teams are beginning practice. Other students are still interested in volleyball and playground ball so that every student can find something of interest to play.

A definite move has been made to improve the school library. Clara Blackstock has been appointed librarian and books have been collected and labeled. Students find this system makes for better use of the school library. Students of the sixth and seventh grades have set as their goal, "A reading certificate for every student." Several have already read ten or more books.

Students who made all A's the first month of school were: A. R. Pointer Jr., Edgar Davis, Helon Francis Grubb and Sybil Basham.

Students who made an average of B were: Loretta Flatt, Roscoe Smith, Mildred Mayberry, Betty Sue Thetford, Dooley Rogers, Burl Williams, Byrom Raby Fletcher, Kathleen Flatt, Anson Bertrand, Antha Rogers, Lehman Snider, Lowell Bell, Geraldene Ballard, Martha Jean Laxson, Peggy Moore, Charlotte Bertrand, Sybil Snider, Betty Pearl McCarver and Seth Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pointer and son, A. R. Jr., and Mrs. Mary Huckabee attended the Teacher's Association in Fort Worth during the Thanksgiving holidays.

GEORGE WILSON BRYANT, 70 BURIED HERE THURSDAY

Funeral services for George Wilson Bryant, age 70, were held at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning at Compton Funeral Home, Waco, with Rev. Tom B. Clark, pastor of the Central Christian Church of that city, officiating, assisted by Rev. Vernile Griffin and Rev. Karl Wozab. Interment in the city cemetery of this city at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Bryant has been an employ of the postal service in Waco for the past 17 years. He passed away at his home, 709 South Third Street, Wednesday at 6:30 a. m. Surviving him are, brother, Charles Lee Bryant, and two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Ewing, and Mrs. Jesse Gilreest of Waco. Pall bearers were chosen from the membership of the Men's Bible Class of the Central Christian church, Waco.

on August 1, 1936. There are thirteen girls who are members of the group. Six of these girls are planning to take their wood-gather ranks on December 13 at a district meeting of the Camp Fire Girls at Waco, Meridian and Gatesville in Waco Hall. Miss Hall is the guardian of this group and Mrs. Reesing is the sponsor.

First Grade

The first grade class taught by Miss Lockard has been studying "Baby Stuart." In connection with this study the girls are making doll clothes, and the boys are making the doll house and furniture.

Violet Moore and Othello McClendon are two new first grade pupils.

James McClean and B. T. Patterson have withdrawn from school.

Second Grade

Bertha Ortega, Betsy Ann Gatlin, and Earnest McClendon are new pupils in the 2X class.

Nellene Martin of the 2Y class has moved to Waxahachie.

Annis Olsen has returned to school after an absence of several days.

Magoline Hix has been absent several days.

Girl Scouts

The tenderfoot scouts brought fruit to school and prepared two Thanksgiving boxes for the shut-ins. The girls and Miss Holmes prepared the boxes and then took them to their friends.

Football

With Thanksgiving Day most football teams end their season but every year the actual playing season advances more and more.

Mart as the champion of District 35 B, by virtue of an easy win over Itasca, will meet Cameron, the winner of District 26 B, for the bi-district title tonight. The game will be played in Mart and will possibly attract the largest crowd of the season due to the intense rivalry between the two teams. Supporters of each district claim that their districts are the toughest in the state and both sides have ample claim of that statement. Many stars of the college gridirons have come from these two districts, proving that their fundamental training and playing has been above the average.

This battle tonight will also see the meeting of two coaches who formerly battled it out in the same district, and between them taking off most of the titles. Harry Chambless, of the Mart Panthers, will match his teaching against those of Carol Woods of Cameron, former mentor of the McGregor Bulldogs. The outcome is dubious. Cameron has not been scored on all year, and Mart has been touched for only two markers. Mart, however has the better defense record, so the game should be one of the most evenly matched of the season, and also one of the most exciting.

In the Southwestern Conference all eyes are turned towards the meeting of the Arkansas Razorbacks and Texas Longhorns, Saturday. The victory and conference championship has been half way conceded to the Hogs, but if Texas should stage an upset and win then the conference race will again be thrown into an uproar.

This year has been the most exciting one in history of the the Southwest Confereneec. The most colorful and thrill packed football in the nation has been played right here in Texas.

Take for instance the Golden Bears of Baylor. Their defeats of Texas U. and Rice Institute are enough to gain them some kind of an all time record. Scoring three touchdowns and three extra points in the last quarter they won over the Longhorns 21 to 18. Again, in the last quarter with only some six minutes to play, they passed to a touchdown and a few plays later kicked a field goal to defeat Rice. That is the colorful kind of football that the spectator pays money to see and gains recognition in the sport world.

Arkansas styled as the "passingest team in the nation," is an odds on favorite tomorrow. Texas, with a poor season's record and a certain amount of internal strife, could stage an upset but probably won't.

While on the subject of football let's hand out a few medals to that unsung hero of the gridiron, the scrub.

Many humorous remarks have been made about this forlorn object, a great many of them made by himself, but the stark fact remains that without him there could not be a football team.

To practice didigently every afternoon, to take all customary knocks and bruises, with the knowlege that there is little or no chance to actually get in a game or win a letter, takes a great deal of fortitude. Yet every team has these boys, who take everything without grumbling just for the sheer satisfaction of playing football. Every scrub nurses the secret hope that in the next game he will be called upon to show his stuff and will come through with flying colors. Yet at the same time he also knows that that hope is impossible and that on the day of the game he will be sitting on the sidelines and will continue to sit there during the game.

The Hornets this year have had a great many of those boys who have been faithful during the entire season. Some of them have gotten to play a few minutes of one or two games, but the majority have not. Out of these scrubs, who have labored long and heart breakingly, will come the team of next year and the year after and so on. Some will develop into good players, others will continue to sit on the bench during their entire stay in school. But all deserve equal recognition for all have done their best to give Gatesville High a good foitball team.

Basketball

Gatesville High swept the lists at the opening of the new McGregor gymnasium last night when both the boy's and girl's team took the Bulldog basketeers into camp by large scores.

The girls under the tutelage of Miss Grantham and Coach Schwarz, came through with the top heavy score of 49 to 4, with Whisenhunt and Koch leading the scorers.

The line-up for Gatesville was: Whisenhunt, Koch and Newbanks as forwards; Henson center; and Sellers and Apel as guards.

Subtitutes were Davis and F. Koch.

The boy's team coached by Earle Worley won hands down 40 to 15. The line-up included Turner and More, forwards; Gilbreth, center; White and King, guards. Subtitutes included the following: Jones, Perryman, Jefferies, Hinesly, Fore, L. Turner, Spence, Haines and Bell.

Only limited information has been obtained so far as to the prospects of the basketball season. The girl's team has won about seven or eight games so far, playing away from home and seem to have a good team.

The schedules have not been completed yet for the entire season, but basketball should attract the crowds this season.

THE IMPORTANCE OF AIR!

Requirement of food, water and air to sustain life.

Food . . 3 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 40 days without food

Water . . 4 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 12 days without water

Air . . 27 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 10 minutes without air

The air supply of a person is of first importance. Therefore it is a wise precaution to keep the air in the home during winter as pure as the warm oxygen-laden air of summer. A room that is poorly ventilated can be injurious to health. Inadequate fresh air and a lack of pure, warmed air throughout the home make it easy to "catch cold."

A simple method of providing a constant circulation of fresh air is found by keeping a window in each room slightly open. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated, provide a natural circulation of pure, warmed air from one room to another.

Never permit the air you breathe to become "stuffy" through lack of pure air circulation. Heat your entire house and provide fresh air ventilation for your health's sake. It's important to you and your family.
