'RODAYO' HERE IN ATHLETIC FIELD JUNE 4-5

It's come true! Gatesville is really to have a rodeo, ro-day-o in its own athletic field, on June 4-5, according to R. L. (Bob) Saunders, spokesman on this event for the City Council.

As yet, plans for the rodeo are embryonic, but more and more will be released to the public from time to time.

Mr. Saunders assures us that there will be absolutely a tip-top rodeo with plenty of prizes for the local Buck Jones, Tom Mix and others of the boots, spurs and big hat clan to look forward to.

Although as yet very indefinite, other attractions will be included that will make the show one to be long remembered.

This will be Gatesville's initial gesture to people of Coryell Co. and neighboring counties for their unstinted support of Gatesville, its people and its merchants, and these very same neighbors are going to be entertained to the "nth" degree according to Mr. Saunders.

CITY ELECTION PROVES DUD; 253 VOTES CAST

City election in 1937 was only a ripple on the political stream, as the complete ticket was re-elected "without an appreciable struggle." Only 253 votes were cast in both wards.

The results were as follows:

Alderman, Ward 1
	W. 1	W. 2	Total
Saunders	60	124	184
Jones	25	39	64
Alderman, Ward 2
	W. 1	W. 2	Total
Brown	59	138	197
Ward	19	25	44
Rutherford	1	3	4

City Treasurer
	W. 1	W. 2	Total
Cooper	85	166	251

So, we're back in the harness again looking forward, as we should, to a better (if possible) city.

Two WPA Jobs Started In City; Street Job Courthouse Project

Works Progress Administration is making progress in Gatesville this week with two jobs starting. Wednesday morning some 15 or more men started removing the old concrete sidewalks on the court house lawn, and removing considerable dirt, so that the new walks may be laid, and the lawn properly resodded and a number of other improvements made.

Tuesday, approximately 47 men started sweeping the streets, fencing off Main Street from the square to 8th street, and then moved on out Main street east.

According to Elland Lovejoy, City Secretary, the streets, Leon and Main, will first be cleaned, and then a "flux" oil will be applied which will seal the cracks and bond the layers of paving. Following this a "lack" coat will be applied which takes out the "waves," and the final or "seal coat" will be applied, finishing the job.

Engineer Hellon is now making a preliminary survey on a proposed storm sewer, which at this time is only problematical.

SYNOPSIS

Princess Olga of Sweden, who in reality is a stranded American showgirl posing as royalty to get a film contract, meets King Mandini, the Concocting King, on board the S.S. Avignon bound for America. King falls hard for the Princess but she has to keep up pretenses so has nothing to do with him. A group of international police officials en route to a New York crime convention also are on board. The captain summons them to his quarters when he is informed by a radiogram that Merko, a convicted runaway murderer and master of disguise, is on board.

CHAPTER III

"ACH, what stupidity! Unbelievable!" exclaimed Dr. Steindorf. "Where is the description? All they tell iss a murderer's name—the first thing he vill change."

"Probably Lorel can give us information," suggested Cragg.

"I am sorry, Messieurs," answered the Frenchman apologetically. "But I was not connected with the case. With your permission I will radio my office in Paris for Merko's description and Bertillon measurements."

As he spoke the door opened noiselessly and a Japanese, his yellow face a blank mask, entered the cabin.

"Gentlemen," chuckled Steindorf. "This is Mr. Kawati of the Imperial Japanese Secret Service. He arrives, as usual, when everything is over."

"Merko?" inquired Kawati, bowing stiffly. "I have already heard. He is the man who evaded arrest for months, disguised as a woman. Another time he was an Armenian, selling rugs. It is known he was an actor, and he speaks seven languages."

"Nobody need worry," remarked

Morevitch as he combed his beard. "The passengers need no worry because they do not know about Merko. He need not worry because we have no descriptor of him. And if we receive a description and cannot find him, he cannot be here—so even then we do not worry."

"But, Gentlemen," the Captain tried to change the painful subject. "I also have some good news for you. The beautiful and charming Princess Olga of Sweden is aboard and I know, as representatives of your countries, you will want to pay her your compliments."

"Princess Olga — of Sweden?" grunted Steindorf. "I do not know of a Princess Olga of Sweden."

Meantime, in his new cabin, which was numbered B-81, King had changed to afternoon clothes and was on the verge of going on deck when a fat white slug of a man barged in without knocking. This individual looked very soft but sinister. He was wearing a checkered sport coat and gray trousers, but looked in need of a bath.

"And how is my friend Mr. Mandini?" The newcomer emphasized the last word as he grinned slyly.

"Darcy, eh?" King was plainly disturbed. "What are you doing here?"

"As usual, going to New York on business. I heard you and your band in Paris. A great success these days, aren't you, my dear fellow?"

"So what?"

"When did you add the Mandini to your name, Joe?" Darcy's voice was silky. "You remember my little weakness, Joe. Anything that concerns a public character interests me." As he saw his enemy flinch he added, "Fact is, I'm rather short of funds. I've been going over the passenger list, looking for friends. And would you believe it, Joe, I find there are just three people in the entire ship's list who'll be glad to let me have a little assistance. You're one of them. You want to have a great reception in New York. It would be too bad, wouldn't it, if certain people were told you had a prison record in the United States...? Now, let me see—how much shall we say?"

King took a step toward Darcy, clenching his fist. Then he noticed Benton lounging in the doorway and relaxed.

"Show the gentleman out," he remarked crisply.

Benton caught Darcy gently under one arm, swung him round facing the deck and delivered a terrific kick in the appropriate place. The blackmailer fairly flew out of the cabin. Benton lounged outside and plunged ahead bravely. "What's the chances of a princess having cocktails tonight with a fellow like me?"

"Ve don't even know your name!"

"It's Mandini—King Mandini."

"Mandini?" She lifted her eyebrows. "So it vas you who sent us those lovely flowers?"

"I'll be honest, Princess," he stammered. "I didn't send them...! I pinched them. I... I mean took 'em."

"Ve knew you—pinched them," she smiled.

"Well, now that you know the truth, I suppose there's no chance for those cocktails."

"What's the chances of a Princess having cocktails tonight with a fellow like me?" asked King.

watched Darcy pick himself up. As he did so Inspector Lorel swung around a corner of the deck. Instantly the fat man forgot his recent rebuff and for several minutes engaged the Frenchman in animated conversation.

"What do I care?" demanded King when his friend reported what he had seen.

"But that's one of the mob of cops on board that he's talking to," protested Benton. "The bartender pointed out five of them to me. It ain't healthy—not with your pal about to spill your record to that French flatfoot. Better let me throw Darcy to the sharks."

"Let him spill it," snapped Mandini. "That's all finished—and I've got a receipt. There's only one way to handle those shakedown boys: show them they'll never get anywhere trying to push you around. The only thing I'm bothered about is how to turn the Princess into a democrat."

"Maybe this will help," said Benton solemnly as he removed a dainty handbag from his pocket and tossed it on the table. "I pinched it from the Princess a while ago while she was talking to those five cops on the promenade deck."

"I ought to break your neck," exploded his friend.

"I was trying to do you a favor," Benton was hurt. "Look—the Swede gave you the brus'. You needed a strong 'in' so I pinch her poke. Now you give it back to her. She's got to thank you, ain't she?"

"Yes—if I can dodge the cops, and if I can convince her I didn't steal it myself." Nevertheless he stuck the bag in his pocket and sauntered out in high good humor. He found the Princess still looking about the deck for her property which he presented to her with a deep bow.

"My bag!" cried the girl. "You've found my bag. How can I thank you?"

"That's easy." King gulped, then

"On the contrary, I think it would be very pleasant."

"One thing more'd make the whole day perfect," cried Mandini. "If only you'd like my concertina..."

"Now, I'll be honest with you." The Princess looked around cautiously then whispered, "I do like it. In fact, I wish I could play one."

"It takes a lotta hard work," her new friend replied. "You've got to make your fingers talk." He laid the recovered handbag on the edge of a nearby goldfish aquarium and started to demonstrate. In doing so he knocked the bag into the water.

King made a grab for it. So did a Japanese fighting fish in the tiny pool. The man managed to win the tussle but his fingers were bleeding when they emerged.

"So brave! You are not badly hurt?" cried Her Highness. She opened the bag and extracted a wet powder puff and a roll of soggy French banknotes at which she gazed ruefully.

"I'll just wring them out now... an' starch and iron them later," said King. He suite the action to the word, but in doing so tore the roll almost in half. "Ooops!" he said ruefully. "I almost doubled your money. I'll get you some more."

"It's all right—they're still good," she replied. Then, as she saw Lady Gertrude bearing down upon them with fire in her eye, she added: "You'd better go now!"

"We're not doing this for fun, my dear," said Lady Gertrude when she and her ward were alone. "You've got to eliminate that concertina-squeezer. If you don't you'll let something slip. Then where'll we be?"

"Maybe you're right at that," sulked the Princess.

"Of course I am. Now be a sensible girl and cut him off—cold!"

"Okay, Gertie," sighed the girl. "I'll put him on ice... Poor fellow." She glanced at King's retreat ing back. "I hope he freezes well."

7500 Feed Dealers Display Baby Chicks

So great have been the strides in poultry raising in recent years that even workers in the various phases of the industry are amazed at the results. Several years ago, Purina Mills, seeking to give visual evidence to poultry raisers of what modern feed will do for chicks, distributed two thousand small electric brooders to checkerboard feed dealers. Merchants handling Purina feeds and concentrates were urged to place in these brooders twenty or twenty-five chicks, and to keep them before the public as actual evidence of what good feed will do for a chick.

Displays Now Nation-Wide

The idea became popular in one season. In the succeeding years it has spread rapidly, so that today in almost any town, city, or village where a Purina dealer is located, the public is invited to see for themselves the profitable results of good feeding. These demonstrations have been an active factor in convincing people that good chicks, good management, and good feeding will bring in extra profits.

This season, seventy-five hundred Purina feed dealers all over the United States are displaying brooders filled with growing chicks. These chicks are being fed on startena, fortified with puratene. Above the brooders are charts showing average government standard weights for chicks at various ages during the first six weeks as compared with the startena fed chicks on display. The chick raising demonstrations now under way in Purina dealers' stores tell an interesting and profitable story to the modern poultry raiser. These 1937 chicks present an airtight case in favor of modern management, care, and feeding.

FROM THE COUNTY AGR'L AGENT
Choosing Children's Socks
"I have found by experience anklets with the top band knitted on them are more serviceable than hose with the band sewed on separately because runners start easily at the stitched seam rapidly ruining them." is a thought expressed by Mrs. Marvin Williamson, cooperator of the Good Samaritan Home Demonstration club, during a demonstration of children's clothing. All children's hosiery whether it be long, knee length, five-eighths length, half socks or anklets should be simple, durable, washable, absorbent, comfortable, and suitable.

Help Child to Dress Self
"A child who can manage his own dressing and undressing saves the parents much time and effort," is what cooperator of the Cooperator of the Bluebonnet H. D. Club, Mrs. Hubert Berry thinks. There are many busy mothers who agree heartily with her in this belief. In constructing the clothes these mothers provide helpful devices such as a few, uniform, large buttons where easily reached, and they avoid such hindering devices as hooks eyes, snaps, small buttons, worked or thread loops, garments which open in the back instead of in the front, many separate pieces, and bows to be tied at the neck.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brodie of New York arrived Tuesday for a short visit with her mother, Mrs. R. S. Farmer and to attend the Bradford-Franks nuptials Thursday morning. Immediately after the ceremony in company of Mrs. Farmer and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Bradford they left for a visit with the latter couple in Goldthwaite.

Little Master Jimmie Wardell, son of Mrs. Alene Wardell of Houston, formerly of this place, underwent an appendectomy operation Tuesday night in a Galveston hospital.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Some of our ritzy society debs think it quite a lark to be snapped slumming at the Automats. . . . The reason? . . . many people, mostly all "real" eat there . . . the management is justly proud of its clientele . . . but not of thrill seeking empty headed parasites . . . which unfortunately they can't keep out. . . . The other night in the Hotel Montclair Casino, Rudy Vallee delights the assemblage . . . which includes William Gaxton, Ethel Merman and Kitty Carlisle . . . with a preview rendition of "All Points West" . . . the new Rodgers and Hart musical masterpiece. . . . The song takes almost a full quarter hour and greatly impresses Ben Jacobson, MGM talent scout in the East. . . . So don't be surprised if the MGMers bring the score to the cinema. . . . There is a forlorn and dejected character hanging around the vicinity of the Winter Garden these days, wherein "The Show Is On." . . . The sad figure is none other than the mysterious "Mr. X" . . . collecting agent for the Harlem numbers racket. . . . Ever since the revue opening Christmas Night, the members of the ensemble, stagehands and others have been regular dime and quarter contributors to the numbers racket. . . . Seldom did anyone win, highest stakes being seven or eight dollars. . . . The chorus girls, several nights ago, decided there was no use feeding all these tributes to the Harlem gang. . . . Why not start a pool of their own? There are twenty-four chorus girls at a quarter each that makes $5.00 . . . Hazel Bofinger made collections, and one of the girls won . . .

The idea spread backstage so fast that last night the entire company participated in a monster pool . . . collections amounting to $18.75 from seventy-five players . . . winner Marion Murray, a chorus girl . . . Again—to repeat—there is a dejected figure hanging around the Winter Garden these days. . . . In the four years of its existence, the "Paradise" has employed, all told, almost a thousand different girls. . . . But, despite that large number . . . a girl named "Eve" has yet to appear in Paradise! . . . You'd never think of "Toy Fairs" as institutions of learning . . . but this scribe claims you can learn all manners of things from one . . . and this one happens to be the most talked of affair on the calendar for next week . . . the largest one in the world . . . five floors of the McAlpin Hotel will be filled with it . . . but the pity of it all is that it's not for kiddies . . . but for grown-ups . . . mostly buyers . . . from all parts of the world. . . . New Poultry Book Outlines Care and Feeding of Birds

All Phases of Poultry Raising Discussed By Experts.

Good chicks, good feed and good management. These are the three major factors in successful poultry raising, according to the new

Good breeding, modern feeding, and correct management result in one and a quarter pound birds at six weeks. Death losses are cut to a minimum.

"Chick and Pullet Book," recently released by Purina Mills. A thirty-page booklet, it covers practically every phase of poultry raising from "plp through production." In it are discussions of starting feeds and comparative results in chick growth at the end of six weeks; a baby chick feeding plan; the importance and profits resulting from feeding a good mash through the growing period; and an analysis of range rearing as compared to raising birds in confinement.

"Control Feeding" Discussed
A relatively new practice in poultry raising, "control feeding" is given prominence in this publication. The advisability of letting chicks and hens "pick and choose" their feed has long been questioned. Within the last few years an increasing number of poultrymen have been successfully raising their birds on control feeding programs. Greater uniformity of birds, better growth and development, and higher production are definite benefits gained.

Vitamin A Needed For Growth
As birds go through the growing period there is a constant need for vitamin A. Poultrymen know that the quicker birds make the jump from the starting period to the laying house, the quicker begin the profits. They also know that fast growth calls for plenty of vitamin A. Pullets that do not get vitamin A in sufficient amounts to meet their needs go into the laying house thin, scrawny, and "knotty." Later, unable to keep up under the strain of heavy egg production, they break down. This means red-ink entries in the poultry ledger. How to assure a ration containing a sufficient amount of vitamin A is explained in the Purina "Chick and Pullet Book."

Prevention Lowers Disease
One section is devoted to poultry diseases, with helpful hints as to means of prevention, and general treatment. Preventive sanitation and preventive management are listed as the two important phases of disease control. Keeping the houses and ground clean gives the most protection, of course. Preventive management includes intelligent effort to keep birds under conditions as natural as possible, thereby cutting down spread of disease among the flock.

Copies of the 1937 Chick and Pullet Book may be secured, free of charge, from feed merchants handling Purina checkerboard feeds.

MODERN DOG FOODS MADE WITH MANY INGREDIENTS

"The modern dog needs more than table scraps and a bone a day," says A. H. Leonard, head of the Dog Department of Purina Mills. In feeding dogs the most important thing to remember is that they require a ration that completely meets their needs.

Animal proteins from meat and milk are important ingredients in modern dog foods. Puratene, a rich vitamin A concentrate, is a valuable addition to dog foods. Vitamin A plays a most important part in building up resistance to disease and Puratene supplies an abundance of this vitamin.

Cereals in dog food must be carefully processed so that dogs can digest them easily. The dog's digestive tract is not built to take care of cereals in their natural state, yet they need the carbohydrates that cereals furnish. Cod liver oil is also a valuable ingredient in dog food since it supplies vitamin D.

Many ingredients included
"Most dog owners are amazed when they learn how many different ingredients are included in modern

Dogs get everything they need for maintenance of body condition, growth, vigor, and resistance to disease, from a single food.

TWO POPULAR COUPLES WED ON SAME DAY

O'NEAL-FRANKS

Miss Verona Estelline Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Franks of this city, became the bride of T. K. O'Neal Jr., son of T. K. O'Neal of Breckenridge in an impressive ceremony at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the First Baptist church of this city with Rev. Clarence A. Morton reading the vows before an altar bedecked with palms and ferns and sprays of Bridal wreaths arranged in cillum baskets. Tall white tapers burned in cathedral candelabra.

Pre-nuptial music was given by Mrs. Ola Mae Parks who accompanied Mrs. D. I. Glass when she sang "I Love You Truly" and played the wedding marches and "Melody of Love" during the ceremony.

Palms and fern were banked in profusion about the altar space and pedestal baskets filled with sprays of Bridal Wreath were placed against the green background.

Glass of this city sang "Because" accompanied at the piano by Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook who played the traditional "Lohengrin" wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party and the Mendelssohn march as the recessional. During the ceremony she played the lovely strains of "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "On Wings of Song" as pre-nuptial music.

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC GUIDE
JOE BROWN IN NEWEST COMEDY

Do you know that every act of your life is influenced by the planet under which you were born?

You didn't? Well, that is the claim advanced by astrologists, and there are millions of people who consult their charts before they even venture so far as the front porch in the morning for a breath of fresh air. This may be one of the days when they are warned to stay in bed!

The subject of astrology forms the hilarious background for "When's Your Birthday?" the rollicking David L. Lowe comedy which comes to the screen at the Regal Saturday night 10:30, also Sunday and Monday, with Joe Brown in the starring role. Brown is seen as a professional soothsayer in a Midway concession, after a short but disastrous career as a parttime prize fighter has brought him many black eyes and enough money to pay for a course in astrology.

The events of the story seem to bear out his faith in the subject, and the picture comes off a thrilling close when he ventures an amazing prophecy—and makes it stick! But this is not until many laughable situations have kept him jumping back and forth between the frying pan and the fire, with disaster always just around the corner.

Mrs. Jeff Bates underwent a major operation in a Waco hospital Saturday. She is reported to be doing nicely.

Virgil Quicksall, who is in the CCC Camp at Montrose, Colorado, has been rated as an assistant leader. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Quicksall of this city.

Miss Ruth Jones was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Boyer and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Boyer of near Pidcoke

Miss Juanita Strange spent the first part of this week in Dallas where she visited friends and relatives.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for unskilled laborer (men only) for filling the position of charman in the Custodial Service, Post Office Department, at Gatesville.

Persons employed as charmen are paid at the rate of 50 cents an hour for each hour of actual service performed. Applications must be on file with the Manager, Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, La., not later than April 21, 1937.

Competitors will be rated solely with reference to their physical ability.

The necessary forms may be obtained from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Post Office, Gatesville, Texas, or from the Manager, Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Firemen-Laborers, $1,260 a year

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for Fireman Laborer. A vacancy in this position, in the Custodial Service, Post Office Department, in Gatesville, and future vacancies in positions requiring similar qualifications, in the same locality and at approximately the same rate of pay, will be filled from this examination, unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion. The salary names above is subject to a deduction of 3 1/2 per cent toward a retirement annuity.

Duties: Under immediate supervision, to be individually responsible for the cleaning, heating and ventilating of a small public building, including the performance, without assistants, of all manual work incident to the duties of the position, to do minor repair work, and to perform related work as required.

Basis of Ratings: Competitors will not be required to report for a written examination, but will be rated on their experience and fitness, on a scale of 100, such ratings being based upon competitors sworn statements in their applications and upon corroborative evidence.

Qualifications

1. They must be citizens of the United States.
2. Experience: They must have had at least six months of experience in firing steam boilers (including locomotive engines but excuse of small home heating plants and logging, sawmill, or threshing machines.)

A separate list will be established of those eligibles who have had at least three months of experience in firing with gas. (See certification paragraph.)

Statements of Experience are Accepted Subject to Verification

3. Age: They must have reached their 20th but not their 55th birthday on the date of the close of receipt of applications. These age limits do not apply to persons preference because of military or naval service, except that such applicants must not have reached the retirement age.
4. Physical Ability. They must be in sound physical health. Remedial defects or curable diseases will not exclude a person from examination, but proof that such defects have been remedied, or the disease, if any, cured, must be received during the life of the eligible register before persons otherwise qualified may be considered for appointment under Civil Service rules.

Persons selected for appointment will be required to pass a physical examination given by a Federal medical officer. Failure to pass such examination will prevent appointment.

Applicants must file the following with the Manager, Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, La., not later than April 21, 1937.

1. Application Form 6 and Supplemental Form 2351, properly executed.
2. Preference Form 14 (blue) properly executed and accompanied by the documentary proof required therein, if veteran preference is claimed.
3. Proof of U. S. citizenship if applicant is foreign born.
4. An unmounted photograph

(not a proof or group) taken within two years, with the applicants name written thereon, attached to the application. Photograph will not be returned to applicants.

5. Nonpatrons of a post office who wish to be considered "local eligibles" within the meaning of the certification paragraph below, must furnish with their applications evidence showing that they reside nearer the office of examination than the office through which they receive their mail.

Certification. In filling vacancies in the Custodial Service, Post Office Department, certification will be made of local eligibles—that is, of bona fide patrons of the post office for which the examination is announced, and of nonpatrons who present with their applications satisfactory evidence showing that the office for which the examination is announced is nearer their homes than the office through which they receive their mail. No person, however, who lives within the city delivery zone of a first or second class post office may be considered as local to any other post office. Nonlocal eligibles will not be considered for appointment unless the register of local eligibles is exhausted.

Eligibles who have had at least three months of experience in firing with gas will be considered first. Other eligibles will not be certified unless the list of especially qualified eligibles is exhausted.

The department or office requesting certification of eligibles has the legal right to specify the sex desired. For the present vacancy the Post Office Department wishes men.

Fingerprints: Fingerprints will be taken of all persons appointed from this examination.

Application Forms: The necessary forms may be obtained from E. C. Farmer, at the local Post Office, or from the manager Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, Louisiana.

CURTIS WARD TAKES PARTNERSHIP IN TAILOR SHOP

Curtis Ward has taken over Graham's interest in the Graham and Hinesley Cleaning plant

Revival 1st Baptist Church to Start Sunday

The annual revival meeting of the First Baptist Church will open Sunday morning.

The preaching will be done by Dr. Charles Y. Dossey, Baptist Evangelist of noteworthy revival achievement. Dr. Dossey is a young man, graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary at Fort Worth.

Prior to entering the evangelistic field he held a number of pastorates, resigning from the First Baptist Church at McKinney to enter the field of evangelism which has carried him far over the state of Texas in the largest churches. Gatesville is unusually fortunate in securing his services. He is a preacher of unusual pulpit ability, and delivers a powerful gospel sermon at all times. He is regarded as one of the most successful evangelists among the Baptists people today.

The singing will be led by Gospel Singer Joe Trussell, of Brownwood. Dr. Trussell is known and loved by more people in Gatesville and Coryell County than any gospel singer who has sung in revival meetings here. This is the fifth time he has directed the music in revivals in the First Baptist Church. It is worth going across the county to hear Joe Trussell sing. The pianist for the meeting will be Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, regular church musician, who is always loved and appreciated as a gifted musician.

In addition to the above statement, the Pastor, Rev. Clarence A. Morton, stated that the Evangelistic party will not reach Gatesville until Monday, when they will appear for the first time in the Monday night services, and that the pastor will preach until the evangelists arrive.

There will be two services daily. Sunday morning at 10:50, and Sunday night at 7:30.

The week day services will last from 10 to 11 in the mornings, and start at 7:30 at night.

The general public is most cordially invited to attend this revival.

NAZARENE CHURCH HOLDS REVIVAL AT PEARL THIS WEEK

in this city and invites all his friends to visit him there.

Mr. Ward has been employed by some of the largest dry cleaning shops in this state and for the past six months has been attending a school in that line of work connected with Texas Tech. So, when you spill ice cream on your "Sunday dress or suit" just take it to Ward and Hinesley Tailor Shop and they will help you solve your problems.

Her

What Presidents Eat

Wide World Photos, Inc.

THE above is an authentic photograph of a corner of the supply room in the White House at Washington. The next time you stop in at your grocer's, think of the fact that Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt—or whoever bats for her if she's busy, which she invariably is—may be in a Washington grocery store buying exactly the same foods of the same brands as you to serve to her distinguished husband, to statesmen and ambassadors.

At any rate hysterics can often be avoided by means of canned foods according to an interview in the New York World-Telegram with the First Lady of the Land shortly after her husband was inaugurated President. The girl who has hysterics when her husband telephones that he is bringing an office mate home to dinner, she was quoted as saying, has a lot to learn. In a well-run household, Mrs. Roosevelt believes, there should be certain things in reserve—canned foods that can be rushed into service at a moment's notice if the dinner that was planned seems rather slim for company.

in the land. Its efficient housekeeper must be prepared to change her estimates of the amount of food that will be needed for any meal or on any day not by what is necessary for merely two or four but literally for dozens of people. One of the inalienable privileges of the President and his First Lady is that of rapid changes of mind.

Canned Foods the Answer

Canned foods provide the major part of the answer to this perplexing problem for some of the following reasons. Their food value is equal to that of home-cooked food and generally even greater because the canned food is more easy to digest on account of being more thoroughly cooked. A higher percentage of vitamins is retained in canned foods than in foods cooked at home by the ordinary methods. Perfect sterilization renders canned foods absolutely safe. The sterilization process destroys harmful organisms as no home cooking can do.

Then there are the aspects of convenience and economy. Canned foods are always ready to serve. For cold dishes they need only be mixed with other things, in salads or desserts, and placed attractively on a dish. When they are to be served hot, a brief heating is all that is necessary. There is no waste in canned foods. The vegetables and fruits have already been peeled and stoned or seeded. The fish has been boned and skinned and all unusable parts removed. Every bit of the canned food is usable.

Finally canned foods save time as well as labor. It is no wonder that Mrs. Roosevelt and all her predecessors have given them a permanent place on the White House shelves.

White House Well Provided

That is how the White House comes to be well provided with canned foods. There are tomatoes, pears, fruit salad, sardines, salmon, lobster, pork and beans, pineapple, tomato juice, mackerel, corned beef hash and sweet potatoes to be seen in the picture, and remember that it shows only five sections of the shelves. We suspect that Mrs. Roosevelt's—or her housekeeper's—shopping goes farther than that.

An emergency shelf of easily prepared foods is probably more necessary in the White House than in any other single dwelling

GROCERS WEEK

APRIL 5th to 10th

BY BETTY BARCLAY

Women who follow the recipes of the Food Primer should pay particular attention to the following Lima bean recipe. Almost all food elements are found in cooked dried Limas—and these beans are obtainable in cans the whole year 'round.

With a few cans on your emergency shelf you can prepare a tasty family dish or a surprise guest dish at a moment's notice.

Here are the recipes. Try them all and you will have three new favorites in your home.

Cream of Lima Soup

- 1 1/2 cups cooked, dried Limas
- 1/2 small onion, sliced
- 1 tablespoon fine minced parsley
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup top milk or thin cream

Rub Limas through a coarse sieve. Melt butter, add onion and cook 5 minutes; remove onion, add flour to remaining butter; stir until smooth, add salt and pepper, cream and pureed Limas. Bring to boiling point. A little whipped cream placed in bottom of each cup before pouring in soup is always an improvement to cream soup. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

Lima Salad

- 1 cup cooked, dried Limas
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1/2 cup diced, cooked beets
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- 1/4 cup French dressing
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Mix ingredients and chill before serving. Arrange on lettuce.

Limas with Sausage

- 1/2 pound sausage
- 1 medium-sized onion
- 1 cup cooked, dried Limas
- 1 cup tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon chili
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Fry onion and sausage until well done. Add other ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes.

J is for Jelly And Jam by the way, Prepare some this season Or you are the "J".

BY BETTY BARCLAY

The Jolly Jelly Jar certainly deserves mention in our Food Primer—if for no other reason than that it comes into use so often, and in so many varied ways.

Jellies or jams are, first of all, important slice-of-bread spreads both at mealtimes and for wholesome little "snatches" between regular meals. Too, they are rapidly becoming a "before bed" favorite, as their pure tastiness is sufficient to ward off hunger without causing sleeplessness. And surely nothing need be said about the perfection that certain kinds of jam and jelly preserves lend to regular meat courses.

Glass bottles are traditional for jams and jellies, whether homemade or not, not only because they protect the purity but because the colors give a delightful foretaste. Half the attraction of jellies and jams is the rich shade which perfect cooking gives them, appetizingly visible through the glass walls of the jar. That is why the storekeeper always has his shelves nearest his store entrance filled with these fruit spreads in glass jars, where the light can strike them and show them in their most appealing hues. But for those who like to try their skill at making their own colorful array on their pantry shelves, here are a few tried and true recipes for the "J" twins—Jelly and Jam:

Grape Jelly From Bottled Juice

- 3 cups (1 1/4 lbs.) sugar
 - 2 cups (1 lb.) grape juice
 - 1/2 bottle (1/2 cup) pectin
- Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 5 eight-ounce glasses.

Dried Fig Jam

- 3 cups (1 1/4 lbs.) prepared fruit
 - 5 cups (2 1/4 lbs.) sugar
 - 1 bottle pectin
- To prepare fruit, add 2 cups water and juice of 1 lemon to 1/2 pound stemmed stewing figs. Cover, let stand 4 hours or overnight. Drain, chop fine, mix with juice. Measure sugar into large kettle, add prepared fruit, filling up to the last cup with water if necessary. Mix well, bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Then remove kettle from fire and stir in pectin. Pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 9 glasses (6 fluid ounces each.)

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

The chief obstacles to a balanced budget lie in the pressure put upon representatives by officials and constituents back home for continued federal subsidies for public works and for unemployment, and in the fear of the administrator that chopping off these subsidies would wreck the party machine.

The recent protest of several governors, including Lehman of New York and Allred of Texas, against a proposed decrease in WPA grants to states is an example of the pressure which is and will be exerted to force continuance of federal subsidies. The New York and Texas delegations are among the most powerful in numbers and influence

In congress and undoubtedly can strongly influence the decisions of the President on such matters.

Since 1833, when the federal government assumed the care of the nation's unemployed, federal subsidies amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars have gone forth from Washington both as direct relief funds and as funds for public works. States and municipalities have been the beneficiaries, adding improvements while incurring little expenses on their own part. In most instances incumbent officials have shared most of the credit for bringing these improvements to their communities.

The national political machine of the President was built in a large part upon the relief and subsidy system instituted in 1933. With congress appropriating huge sums earmarked for expenditure in no certain locality, it became a simple matter to punish political opponents by withholding federal grants.

In spite of the unwillingness of the administration to decrease the expenditures which the people thought would be continued only so long as an emergency existed, and the pressure brought by state and local officials for a continuance of such projects, there is known to be a large and powerful bloc in congress opposed to the present fiscal policy. If encouragement is forthcoming from the people, who must realize that they are paying for improvements, this bloc can force a revision of the present unrestrained spending spree and a balancing of the budget.

In the two decades following the war, there has been much talk by competent authorities on military technique of the massacres to be wrought by airplanes in the next war. Vivid pictures of New York and London being wiped out in a night were wrought, and the horrors of shrapnel raining in thickly populated sectors portrayed.

Until the trouble started in Spain, the new machinations of war invented since 1918 had not been tried out on a large scale. But Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin have thrown samples of all modern instruments of war into the civil war there, and the result is that many of the dire forecasts about the annihilation of the human race by machines of war have been proved exaggerated if not false.

General Franco, supported by Germany and Italy, has been provided with hundred of planes of the most modern type. But he has failed to capture Madrid, is now in full retreat before the loyalist forces in spite of his huge superiority in air strength, and has not killed the population of Madrid nor even its besieged defenders with air bombs.

While Spain is the current headache for Europe's diplomats, chancelleries of the continent and the state department at Washington have one eye on the pending Japanese elections to choose a new diet or parliament.

The unspoken issue of the elections is whether the militaristic policies of the army-navy clique are to be continued or where a more pacific attitude will be pursued under the guidance of civil leaders.

When the old diet refused to sanction the huge expenditures for the army and navy, the Military leaders promptly forced its dissolution and the emperor ordered new elections. If the Japanese people are in reality opposed to the aggressive, expensive policy of the military leaders, they can return to power a majority of those in opposition to such policy.

The chief opposition to war in Japan comes from the industrialists, however, who are not in favor with the masses of the people. The extreme poverty of the masses has evoked criticism and hatred of the wealthy unequaled in any other country except Russia. It is this hatred which may swing the elections for the army-navy clique, which draws its personnel from the farms and the common people.

Thus it may be seen why China, Russia, Britain, and America await anxiously the verdict from the Japanese people. If they give the "go-ahead" sign to the military leaders, it will signify continued and increased aggression on the continent against China and will make a conflict against Russia almost inevitable in the future. War with Britain and the United States is not improbable if the Japanese militarists are allowed to continue their policies.

PIONEER MOODY MAN PASSES AWAY

William A. McCauley passed away at his family home at Whitson, six miles west of Moody, on March 26, at 10:30 p. m. He was sick only a few days after developing pneumonia.

Mr. McCauley was born at Holly Springs, Mississippi, on October 4, 1849. At the age of four years he moved with his parents to Pleasant Plains, Ark., where he lived until 1895. At this time he moved to Texas and located near Moody. Having lived in this vicinity practically all the time since. He has owned and operated a store at Whitson for the past 28 years.

He was converted and joined the Baptist Church at the age of sixteen and was made a deacon at the age of 27, which office he filled faithfully as long as he was permitted to attend services. He was a consecrated Christian and loved his church devotedly. He also served as Supt. of Sunday School in the various churches of which he was a member, and in the civic and social life of the community in which he lived, being looked on as a leader in any of these. There was never any questions as to his fellowship. He was very plain spoken, when it came to expressing himself on what he thought was right. The beautiful floral offerings and the large concourse of friends from different sections, which followed him to his last resting place Hamilton and all other friends showed the esteem in which this sainted father was held. He had befriended people in all walks of life both in temporal and spiritual matter. All these came to pay him tribute, even the colored people whom he had befriended.

Several hours before he passed away he talked to his family and friends for almost an hour, giving a very sweet dying testimony. All his life he had asked in his prayers to be handed down to his grave in peace with God and mankind. These prayers were answered as when he came to press his dying pillow he said, "I am at peace with God and man." He repeated some of his favorite scripture and songs, some of which were used at his funeral.

Deceased was married March 29, 1877 to Miss Ella White of Batesville, Ark., who preceded him in death June 15, 1936. To this union was born six children, the following four survive: Dr. E. R. McCauley of Moody; Mrs. Tim Nelson, Mrs. Nora McCauley, Whitson; and Mrs. Curtis Ritchie, Gatesville; seven grand children: Ray McCauley Oglesby; Mrs. Cecil Rutherford, Moody; Frank and Frances Nelson, Whitson; Billy Mac, Margaret and Jean Ritchie of Gatesville, also two great grandchildren, Earnest Joe McCauley, and Joyce Rutherford, Moody. He was a devoted and self sacrificing father and husband, always considering the welfare of his family, even till the last hours of his life here on earth.

BUSINESS FOLLOWS CONCRETE

CONCRETE HIGHWAYS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

Three reasons why concrete is the most economical pavement:

1. Long life and low upkeep — funds which would otherwise be spent for repairs may be used to complete your highway system.
2. Scientific investigation has proved that it costs motorists less to drive on concrete than on inferior surfaces. The saving is in gas, tires and car repairs.
3. Concrete builds business, promotes travel. A town on concrete is moved closer to all markets.

And in addition to these money-reasons concrete pavements give motorists relaxation... comfort... and swift travel with SAFETY!

"There's no gear lever in the floor of my car... I never bend, reach, pull. And I never need to push the clutch pedal. I drive with Selective Automatic Shift... a lift of the toe at the accelerator, just the flick of the finger at the steering wheel, and gears shift themselves!"

That's the new way to drive! Thousands are discovering it now as they start out on trial drives from Hudson and Terraplane dealers' all over the country. More than 115,000 Hudson and Terraplane owners have driven more than a billion miles without the hand shift lever... the new way to drive is here to stay!

Think what it means to drive with Selective Automatic Shift (an optional extra). Nothing new to learn... the same familiar gear positions are there. No levers in the front floor. Even the brake lever is up at the instrument panel, releasing at a finger touch. Nothing to stumble over!

IDARE YOU—

A Challenging Book By a Practical Business Man.

Not often does a two-listed, hard-hitting business man have the time or the inclination to write from his experiences such an inspirational book as "I Dare You." William H. Danforth, author of this challenging volume, has drawn from the wealth of his own experiences in writing this daring message.

Nationally Known

As founder of a large feed and cereal business, lecturer, church worker, author and world traveler, William H. Danforth chairman of the board of Ralston Purina Company, has dared to do many big jobs. As an employer he challenges the physical and mental best of every one of his thousands of employees. But his influence extends outside his business organization. In the field of education, and in church circles, William H. Danforth is known as the challenger who dares young people to bring out the best that is within them.

William H. Danforth, founder of the Ralston Purina Company, and author of "I Dare You".

Ranks Among Best Sellers

"I Dare You," at first printed privately for circulation among associates and friends, has today found its way into schools, churches, camps, and libraries all over the nation. So rapidly has the popularity of this little book grown that today it is ranked among the best sellers of the nation.

William H. Danforth in explaining why he wrote "I Dare You" says that as a business man he agrees that he should stick to business, but that he had the urge to share his philosophy with the few who are headed somewhere. "I Dare You" will be passed up by those who are afraid," says the author. "It will only bore the sophisticated, and amuse the sceptic. It will antagonize some. Many will not even know what it is about. It is written only for those who believe they can be bigger and more important than they are."
