We appreciate the able assistance rendered by the Hon. Harry W. Flentge, our District Attorney, C. E. Alvis, Jr., County Attorney and the efforts of the janitor, Mason Crawford, to look to our comfort.

3. We wish to commend the great majority of our citizens for their ready response to our summons and to express pride in a county where it was unnecessary for us to investigate a single unlawful killing.

Doolittle Does Lots With Rodeo At The Grove Wed. Thurs. 28-29

Austin Doolittle! That's enough—that is, if you're expecting something real rodeocially, because, none other than Austin Doolittle is opening his Eighth Annual Rodeo at The Grove, and as "Doc" Barnard, "calls the shots," for this rodeo, "The Shokus will be on."

Entries to this rodeo, so far have not been announced—they don't need to be, since everyone knows the riders will be there, and they of course, will include, John Henry, old timer from Copperas Cove, Clinton Boothe of Alvin, Red Yale, of Alvord, all pictured in action that is action in this issue of the News.

Just aside to those folks who have never seen a Doolittle Rodeo—why go to Ft. Worth, when you can go to The Grove? Those who have been, can't be kept away.

It's a place "Where Bronc Riders Meet and Compete," and in addition, the cow girls, and cowboys will be entertained in the evening (this year, no rodeo at night) by Vernon Hismith and his Dance Orchestra.

Clinton Boothe, raised on the costal plains of the South Texas range country. Here the cameraman snapped Clinton Boothe of Alvin, Texas, as he clings to his bucking bronc in an effort to complete his 10-second time. Boothe is one of the many outstanding cowboys who will meet and compete at The Grove this week. In 1934 Boothe was among the 10 highest ranking riders in the bucking bronco contest at Fort Worth.

ALVIS-GARNER HEAD AND EMPLOYEES GO TO MARKET

C. E. Alvis, Sr., owner-manager of Alvis-Garner Co., The Dependable Store, here, accompanied by Mrs. Kit Bridges and Mrs. Arthur Matthews, are visiting and buying in the wholesale markets of Dallas and Ft. Worth.

It is safe to state, that these three experienced buyers and sellers, will return to Gatesville, with everything necessary for the people of this trade territory, both in the ladies ready-to-wear, piece goods, novelties, and men's drygoods.

COPPERAS COVE SCHOOL SUBJECTS ARE ALL AFFILIATED

The Copperas Cove School has not lost its affiliation, and to the contrary has received additional affiliation since the close of school, Supt. J. C. Culwell announced on his return from Austin.

One and one-half units of affiliation in home economics were granted recently, making every course offered by the Copperas Cove high school fully affiliated. One unit in physics and one-half unit in economics also were granted this year.

With the election of O. B. McDaniels of Mart as principal and coach the faculty has been completed. McDaniels is a graduate of Southwestern University, and is now taking graduate work there.

Other members of the faculty are: Eunice Rader, Spanish and English; Jean Schwald, 7th and home ec.; Ila B. Hoover, 5th and 6th; Miss Humphries, 3rd and fourth, and Jewel Yarborough, 1st and 2nd: (The Copperas Cove Crony)

FRED SCHWARTZ WILL BE COACH OF NEW JR. HI TEAM

Fred Schwartz, line coach of the '36 Hornet Squad of Gatesville High, will assume the duties of coach of the New Junior High when it opens in September. This new division of Gatesville's public school system, which includes the 6, 7, and 8 grades, will have its own football team and play a separate schedule from that of the regular Hornet squad, or the 9, 10, and 11 grades, which will remain under the leadership of Earl Worley.

New equipment will be purchased for the Junior Hi squad and their schedule will probably consist of four home games and four out of town.

This move has been made in order that the younger boys may become better instructed in the fundamentals of football before attempting the more rigid competition of high school schedules. Coach Schwartz will have complete charge of the boys and will devote all his coaching time to them.

RAM AND BILLY SALE ATTRACTS SOUTHWEST

Coryell County's Second Annual Ram and Billy Sale promoted by County Agent Guy Powell, will be held at Brown's Gin Shed, August 2, according to information from the County Agent's office in the courthouse.

Letters of inquiry have been received from a number of Southwestern Sheep and goat men, relative to the the sale, and considerable local interest has been shown.

So far, the classes have not been worked out, but each grower is urged to bring in his best animals, and suitable ribbon prizes will be given. There will be no auction sale, but only a "private treaty," sale, which, as explained, to us, means individual sales and offers will be made.

Pen space will be furnished free, and an out-of-town judge will be here for the judging.

Further information will be given by the County Agent later, in regard to the show, which in 1936, showed a total of over 300 animals, and numbers of profitable sales were made by the growers.

CRIMINAL DOCKET OPEN; COURT IS GRINDING

Coryell County's July Term of District Court swung into action Monday and swiftly disposed of a number of cases, in the most rapid clearing of the docket in its history. Although, most of the cases were of a serious nature, no extended trials were necessary, and pleas of guilty were usual, with sentences being meted out by Judge R. B. Cross.

The cases disposed of so far are: The State of Texas vs. Tom McCard, child desertion; dismissed on motion of District Attorney Harry Flentge; State of Texas vs. Joe Farris, forgery, two cases; two years given in each case, to be served concurrently.

State of Texas vs. Tillman May forgery, given two years; Roy Manning, on a burglary charge, was given two years, but on a charge of felony theft, the case was dismissed.

The State of Texas vs. Bud Mayberry, charged with driving automobile on highway while intoxicated, was given 5 days in jail and fined $50.00.

Starting Tuesday the criminal docket will be the case, The State of Texas vs. Jack McGuire, charged with theft of sheep.

Since the last issue of the News in the damage suite, Ducille Wheat et al vs. D. B. Scott, the jury granted $4,000 damages, whereas $40,000 was prayed for by the plaintiff.

At a late hour Monday afternoon, the jury was on the case, The State of Texas vs. Dave L. Sharp, given two years on a charge of theft of cattle.

Twenty indictments were the total brought in by the Grand Jury when they dismissed for the last time Thursday. On their second session, some seventeen had been called to appear before them.

Coryell County News, Gatesville, Texas

Dear Sirs:

It has been such a pleasure to have had the Coryell County News to read. I have received a few copies and was so pleased. I am not sure who to thank, but presume it is the courtesy of the paper. I do so appreciate having it and thanks so much. It does keep me in track with Gatesville and Gatesville people and they are both very dear to my heart.

Of course, New York, is always such an interesting place to visit. I have seen most of the current Broadway productions and have enjoyed it.

I think I have received some very valuable knowledge that will help me in producing some interesting shows in Gatesville in the fall and winter. Some of the most interesting I have seen are, "Tovarich," "Having a Wonderful Time," and Beatrice Lillie in "The Show Is On."

Of course, I have visited most of the beaches around New York and they are lovely.

I have also been taking advantage of seeing the style shows and learning just what is new in dresses, suits, jewelry, shows and etc.

I have enjoyed it all very much but most enjoyable to me is I believe I have learned some things that will be of help to me with my work in Gatesville. Thanks again for the paper. Yours truly,

Frances Crist

We are always happy to hear from our readers. Mrs. Crist, who taught classes of Speech in the local schools last year, has been visiting her sister in Brooklyn, N. Y. this summer, and will return to this city in the fall to continue her work.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN

W. A. POAGE

We have closed another week with no very imposing record of constructive legislation, but with every appearance of having at least broken the log-jam that has been impeding all legislation ever since the so-called "court" bill was introduced months ago. The Senate on last Thursday, by a vote of 70 to 20, voted to recommit the bill with the understanding that it would be so worked over as to remove the controversial parts and to bring out a bill intended to speed up litigation in all Federal Courts, and permit the Attorney General to intervene in suits in which constitutionality of laws is challenged. I think most everyone can agree on these objectives and in fact they have already been approved by the House through the passage of the various "Sumners" bills which I have heretofore mentioned, and for which I have already voted. It is, of course, now too late in the session to expect any real completion of the legislative program and many important measures will have to go over till next term. Actually the items to be considered before adjournment will be decided on in conference between the President and the party leaders, but it is two evident that many measures will not receive action. It is still doubtful how soon Congress can adjourn but I hope it may do so before the first of September. I think it is possible that we may enact a permanent farm program and hope we can before adjournment, but I am told today that the Senate Committee on Agriculture has decided not to consider any bill. If this is true there will be no agricultural legislation.

There will probably be some kind of wage and hour legislation and it is likely that some parts but not all of the President's reorganization plan will go through. I doubt if the Housing Bill will come up and it does not look as if the Senate were going to act on the Neutrality legislation passed by the House, although I personally hope they will, and I also hope see a bill passed restricting war profits, but it seems doubtful whether it will be done or not.

On Thursday the Senate voted 79 to 19 to over-ride the President's veto on the bill extending the present rates of interest on farm loans. The House had already taken this action and the bill now becomes law and I believe will do much to enable thousands of farmers to retain ownership of their homes.

Friday the House passed a bill to establish a Cancer Research Institute in and effort to discover the cause and cure of this dread disease. I supported the measure and only hope that it may be the means of bringing relief to some of the hopeless thousands of victims of cancer.

The President, General Manager and Attorney of the Brazos District, together with a quorum of the Board of Directors, have been in Washington all week and we have all be trying to get the W.P.A. and the President to make available enough money to go ahead with the Possum Kingdom Dam. Both the President and Mr. Hopkins promised to build this dam nearly two years ago. Since that time they have turned the work over to the Army Engineers who insist on building a much more expensive structure than that planned by the district, but the W.P.A. will not advance enough money to build the kind of dam their engineers want and they will not let us build the kind the district wants. It has therefore, been the effort of the Texas Congressmen and Senators as well as the Brazos District Directors to get Mr. Hopkins to increase his allotment. To this end, we visited both Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Bell, Director of the Budget, but to date do not know the result of our visit, although I think that there is a clear cut obligation on the part of the government to go ahead.

SCHOOLS, SCOUTS GET NEWS FROM SUPT'S OFFICE

Another "warning" or "urge" was issued from the office of Supt. J. M. Witcher, that July 31, is the positive deadline on school transfers, if the transferred child wishes to get the state aid transferred too.

August 5, has also been designated as the next meeting of the Coryell County Board of Trustees, at which meeting, school problems relative to the coordinating of the school system of this county will be taken up.

Scout's Prep Hike

Tonight, some fifteen or more scouts will go with Price Graves and J. M. Witcher to Pideoke where they will enjoy the evening and learn to take care of themselves in a camping way, in preparation for the "long hike" which is scheduled to start on August 5.

We have been advised that Band Director D. W. Diserens has postponed his Band Camp until August 16 so that the scouts may make the "long hike," and incidentally, will be in Gatesville for the News-Merchant's Derby, which will be held Friday, August 13.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ASS'N FILES ARE BEING COMPLETED

Files for the new Retail Merchant's Association are rapidly being completed, according to Evan J. Smith, manager for the Association, who stated that 2,000 names are in the files and new ones were being added as rapidly as possible.

About August 1, according to Mr. Smith, the association will be in a position to render its services both to the merchants and citizens of this community. Some forty merchants have already signed the co-operative agreement for memberships, which will entitle them to written reports on creditors.

Affiliation will be made about the fifth of August with the Texas Retail Merchant's Association, according to Mr. Smith.

FAMILY REUNION

Due to lack of space the account of the Moore and Tippet family reunion will be held over until the Friday issue of the News. Such a delay is regrettable but due to the lengthiness of the article is unavoidable.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Gordon, crack western division air pilot, is in New York on a vacation when he is called back to Salt Lake City to fly a ship to San Francisco. He balks but changes his mind when he sees pretty Felice Rollins, society heiress, board the westbound plane. In Chicago, a gun-toting foreigner named Stephani attempts to stop Felice from continuing the trip. Jack rescues her. Arriving in Salt Lake City, Jack prepares to fly the ship to San Francisco. He wonders why Felice is so anxious to get to that city before a transcontinental train with her sister on board arrives there.

CHAPTER VI.

"WHO'S my co-pilot," inquired Jack. "That's darned important when the weather's bad." "Freddy Scott," answered the weather man.

"Little ole Freddie, huh? What a break! Come on. Let's talk to Elko."

In the weather report room they found Scott and Ann McKenna, the new stewardesses, in a tight embrace.

"Well! Little Freddy making hocus-pocus," shouted Jack.

"Come on in, it's all right." The co-pilot was not even slightly embarrassed.

"Yeah — it looked all right to me!"

"Want to try one?" Freddy grinned.

"Are you passing them around?" Jack looked at the pretty, dark-haired girl, a little taken aback.

"It's an old Spanish custom," she answered, blushing. "To kiss the bride, you know."

"Well for . . ." He grabbed her and kissed her heartily. "You two mugs! When was it?"

"It wasn't. It will be . . ." interposed Fred. "As soon as we get to San Francisco."

"Then I get another kiss—as long as you're only a bride-to-be. Hey, Pete—come kiss the bride!"

"Congratulations, Ann," laughed the weather man. "Nice work, Fred."

"He didn't do the work—I did," Ann began. She was interrupted by a voice over the radio.

"Reno to Salt Lake—ceiling 500 feet—visibility two miles—fair over the Sierra Hump—clear in Sacramento Valley . . ."

"That's good enough," said Jack. "We can climb through this stuff and stay above it till we get there."

"Yeah?" chimed in Freddy doubtfully. "I've seen clouds so thick Professor Picard couldn't out-climb 'em."

"You can always follow the railroad tracks," Pete called after them as they hurried out toward the plane.

But Jack was stopped in the waiting room by Stephani. "I want to talk to you," began the Count in a business-like manner.

"Make it snappy. I've got things to do."

"How would you like to earn $5,000," Stephani inquired softly after looking around to be sure they were alone.

"I'd love to. How many people do I have to kill?"

"Oh, no. Nothing like that." The nobleman hesitated, then hurried on. "I've seen the reports. The weather ahead is bad. Very well. If you should be forced down away from the railroad and couldn't get started again—say until tomorrow morning . . . It can't harm anyone. I'd naturally expect you to pick out a safe field—away from the railroad. The bad weather gives you a logical excuse . . ."

"Five thousand dollars is a lot of dough." Jack seemed to be considering it seriously. "And I could use it . . ."

"The answer is?" Stephani's black eyes were snapping.

"The answer is, you can take your $5,000, get it changed into nickels and grab rides on a roller coaster." Jack shook off Stephani's

"I'm sorry—I shouldn't have said that." She pressed his arm almost tenderly. "But can you do something about him—complain—have him held here? He'd do anything to keep me from getting there."

"Don't worry about him," laughed Jack. Then, as he noticed Stephani standing morosely at the door of the station, a bright idea struck him. "Wait a minute." He started toward the Count.

"Come on inside the station," he whispered, ignoring the latter's dirty look. "I've just got the latest dope on the weather—naturally I had to play straight in the office there."

"Yes . . ." Stephani followed him eagerly as he slipped into the washroom.

"I've got nothing to lose," continued the pilot, putting on a great air of conspiracy. "The gonna take you upon that offer."

"Well, now that's more sensible."

"Wait here a minute!" whispered Jack, starting as though he had heard a sound. Pretending to be alarmed he stepped out into the corridor, then quickly locked the door behind him. Humming a gay tune, he sauntered out to the plane.

"Stephani doesn't live here any more," he winked at Felice as he made his way forward to the cockpit. "He accidentally locked himself in the—"Really?" Her face lighted happily. "You don't know how relieved I am."

"Ten-thirty weather reports just came in—no change," said Freddy, who had been warming up the motors.

"All set," answered Jack, taking the controls. "Are all the passengers aboard?"

"Yep," answered Freddy as he peeked through the rear window. Jack gave her the gun and soon they had left the runway and were soaring toward the cloud-wrapped mountains. After they had levelled off Gordon pressed the button which summoned the stewardess.

"It's gonna be bumpy up ahead, s'ister," he said as she stuck her head in the door. "Better keep an eye on things."

"All right," she answered. "And, by the way—Mr. Stephani said to tell you he'd decided not to go by train after all—he'd much rather fly with you."

"Stephani!" Jack twisted around in his seat until he could see past Ann into the passenger compartment. The Count was in his regular seat, smiling mockingly. "How did he get aboard?"

"He just came running up at the last second. What's the matter?"

"Matter?" The tone was bitter. "Why nothing's the matter—everything's simply splendid!"

the cockpit. "He accidentally locked himself in the—in the Little Boy's Room."

"I want to protest against this plane taking off," he shouted at the clerk. "This man," He pointed at Jack, "is deliberately concealing the facts. The weather west is bad—so bad that trying to fly through it will needlessly endanger the lives of the passengers. Where is your manager, your superintendent?"

"I'm flying this ship, Mr. Stephani," Jack came over to the desk, trying to control his desire to sock the Russian. "We know what the weather is and it's good enough to take a shot at."

"It's suicide," yelled Stephani at the other passengers who had come in to find out the cause of the commotion.

"You don't have to go—the Company will refund the unused portion of your ticket." He turned and stamped out in fury.

"You were talking to Gregorie," Felice caught the pilot's arm as he started down the runway. "What did he say to you?"

"He's a . . ." Jack pressed his two thumb nails together expressively. "Offered me $5,000 to make a forced landing."

"Oh, you mustn't!" she gasped. "You don't dare!"

"Listen, lady—I've been pushing mail and passengers through since they gave up covered wagons—my record for trying to get there is perfect and I'm not gonna spoil it now."

Friday, the 13th may sound unlucky to superstitious persons, but not to the girl who's wearing a pair of sporty shorts. She will look gayer, feel gayer, and ride even better when she knows that she looks ultra-smart.

Not like the garb worn by feminine bicyclists in grandmother's day, these shorts are styled for action, and you're bound to win at least the approval of the onlookers, if you, too, select a pair of sport togs like these.

Calvacade starts in the days of the Aztecs with human sacrifice on top of the Mexico City pyramid in the shadow of an erupting volcano. Then comes the discovery of American by Columbus. The conquest of Mexico by Cortez, The Boston Massacre and the American Revolution culminating with the surrender of the British at Yorktown. Washington is inaugurated first President of the United States. Then comes the story of the fight for freedom in South America and in Mexico with Hidalgo, Morelos, Bolivar and San Martin fighting with their armies against oppression any tyranny. Theodore Roosevelt charges at the head of his troops and takes San Juan Hill while gatling guns mow down the Spanish soldiers. The gay nineties, with their horse drawn fire engines, high wheeled bicycles,ansom cabs, bustles and barouches lend a picturesque touch to the story of America's development following the settlement of the Western states. The grand finale with galloping cowboys, waving flags, fading out behind the unique and beautiful water screen, following the representation of the last year's peace conference called by President Roosevelt at Buenos Aires.

LATEST GARDNER MYSTERY COMING
SOON TO REGAL

"The Case of the Stuttering Bishop" is First National's latest murder mystery drama from the pen of Erle Stanley Gardner, whose success with the "whodunit" type of novel has been mounting since 1923, until now he ranks among best sellers. The picture is scheduled to open on Thursday and Friday at the Regal Theatre.

Donald Woods plays the part of Perry Mason, debonaire lawyer-detective, and Ann Dvorak his quick witted secretary, Della Street. They find themselves drawn into the baffling murder of Ronald C. Brownly, a millionaire oil man, by a Bishop who is anxious to see that justice is done in the matter of inheriting the oil man's wealth.

Six people are suspected of the plot and resultant murder to obtain the fortune of the oil man for a girl that poses as his granddaughter, played by Anne Nagle.

The Bishop is one of the suspected imposters by virtue of the fact that he stutters, and the unfolding of the story, the discovery of the imposters and the real murderers, suspense woven into each incident until the moment of its startling denouncement, makes "The Case of the Stuttering Bishop" one of the most thrilling mystery dramas of the year.

Edward McWade is the stuttering Bishop and others in the cast include Charles Wilson, Helen McKellar, Joseph Crehan, Linda Perry, Tom Kennedy, Craig Reynolds, Mira McKinney, Veda Ann Borg and Gordon Oliver.

have shown that they have proper regard for the sanctity of their oath and we feel that any other practice is a dangerous one and should be condemned.

5. We suggest that the citizen ship of this county urge our Representative and State Senator to introduce legislation making the laws regarding the sale barter, exchange and transportation of live stock more stringent and rigorous. We believe that the law should be enacted, requiring anyone transporting or in possession of live stock to have a duly authenticated bill of sale containing a full description of the livestock and the brand from whom said livestock was purchased. Said law further providing that anyone buying, selling, or transporting livestock would be guilty of a felony in the event they did not have a bill of sale containing a complete description of the livestock, and that it should also be compulsory for all parties buying live stock to keep a record of the seller, the brand, description, and number of the truck, time sold, etc. A proper law passed in accordance with the above suggestion would greatly aid the officers in the enforcement of the law and would also materially decrease the crime of theft of live stock.

6. We suggest that all live stock owners brand their stock with fire brands and that the peace officers rigorously enforce the present laws with reference to the requirement of bills of sale in livestock transactions.

7. The Commissioners' Court is to be congratulated on the recent improvements made in the Mens' Room at the Court house and the citizenship is urged to help preserve the present improved condition.

Wherefore, we the Grand Jury respectfully request that we be discharged.

UNDERFED PIGS MORE OPEN TO PARASITE INFECTIONS

Well-fed pigs are not so likely to become infected with internal parasites during the suckling period as those which are underfed, according to scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Young pigs pick up a part of their feed and there is always danger of their becoming infected with round worm and other parasites if they are allowed to run on dirty hog lots. This danger is increased when the sow does not supply enough milk for the needs of her entire litter. Hungry pigs are more likely to eat material infected with the eggs of parasitic worms than well-fed pigs.

Two sows, each with her litter of pigs, were allowed to run on a dirty hog lot. One of the sows provided adequate nourishment for her entire litter but the other did not. Pigs of each lot were slaughtered at similar intervals and examined for the presence of internal parasites. The pigs that were underfed were more seriously infected with parasites and also become infected at an earlier age than those that were well fed.

These findings further emphasize the needs of sanitary surroundings for young pigs as recommended by the Bureau of Animal Industry for the control of parasites of swine

WOODSON RECEIVES FINE RAMBOUILLET RAM

R. L. Woodson recently purchased a Rambouillet ram for his flock of registered sheep, and was today much pleased to have a letter describing this ram as a twin brother to a ram which sold this spring for $300.

P. T. Underwood of Denton, Texas, breeder of this ram, advises Mr. Woodson that the breeding of the ram is of the very best today. The University of Illinois made an effort to secure the brother of this ram for their own flock, but Mr. Underwood had previously sold him for $300.00 to the Diamond L. Ranch at Fort Worth. Mr. Woodson is to be congratulated on securing a ram with such excellent breeding.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. TO GIVE AWARDS FOR ROAD BEAUTY

The State Highway Department, through its Landscape Division, again proposes to make annual awards of handsomely designed emblems as a reward of merit to those service stations located on a State or Federal Highway of Texas and to the most attractive farm or ranch home located on a State or Federal highway.

It is the purpose of the contest to promote greater comfort and cleanliness along the highways of the state. This in turn should inspire every service station operator and home owner to likewise improve his premises in order to bring out the attractive features to the traveler.

MODERN GAS APPLIANCES SHOWN AT DALLAS EXHIBIT

Latest modern gas appliances and conveniences for Texas people are on display at an exhibit sponsored by the Lone Star Gas System at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition in Dallas. Featuring cooling appliances, general heating, water heating, refrigeration, air conditioning, and industrial uses of gas, the exhibit shows how the gas industry is bringing improved service to consumers.

Covering 16,000 square feet in a wing of the Varied Industries building, the area is air conditioned by gas and affords a cool place for relaxation for Exposition visitors. The exhibit houses a comfortable auditorium which has a seating capacity of 250. The stage is equipped with a model gas kitchen.

A daily feature is a free cooking demonstration given on the auditorium stage by Miss Albertine Berry, home economics director for the Lone Star Gas System. Miss Berry prepares a complete meal for a family. At the conclusion of each demonstration, visitors are chosen from the audience by a drawing and invited to dine with a company hostess at a dinner, food for which is prepared by Miss Berry at the cooking demonstrations. Each cooking demonstration begins at 4:30 p. m. daily and concludes at 6 o'clock when the diners are served in a private dining room. Near the auditorium is another model kitchen from which visiting housewives may secure suggestions for planning their own model kitchens.

In addition to sponsoring this exhibit, Lone Star System also furnishes as a hospitality center for women visitors at the Exposition the Pan American Hostess House, the Hall of Religion which was built for the Texas Centennial Exposition in 1936 by the Lone Star stockholders.

California grape growers and vintners plan a special building with an outdoor display of growing vines, together with a restaurant with wine at low prices, as their exhibit at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

WANDERERS TO PLAY IN GATESVILLE THURS. NIGHT

Fort Worth, July 27—Ocie Stockard and his melody making, rhythm swing "Wanderers," famous radio and recording artists heard daily over radio station KTAT, Fort Worth, member of the coast-to-coast Mutual Broadcasting System, will make an appearance in Gatesville Thursday night to play for a big dance.

"The Wanderers" are direct successors to the late Milton Brown and his famous "Musical Brownies" and have been acclaimed the Southwest's most popular, most versatile dance band.

Four of the members of this novel and musical aggregation were formerly with the original "Musical Brownies," including Maestro Ocie Stockard himself.

The recording of the band are universally popular. During the last three years they have made 150 records, most famous of which are "Four or Five Times," "St. Louis Blues," "Fan It," "Tired of the Same Thing," and "The One Rose." They also furnished the musical accompaniment for Jimmy Davis, popular hillbilly crooner, on his records. Proving their versatility, members of the "Wanderers" melody crew can double on two or more instruments. More than half a million Texans have danced to their music.

Accompanying Ocie Stockard and the "Wanderers" to Gatesville will be Harry Palmer, who plays the hottest trumpet in Texas. Another outstanding feature will be the famed fiddle duo, consisting of Johnny Borowski and Buck Buchanan.

Buchanan, 20-year-old violinist is also a composer of the new, popular love ballad, "Believe Me."

TEXAS WOMEN ARE OUT NUMBERED

Denton, July 26.—There are approximately one hundred thousand more men than women in Texas, according to the last population figures. The actual totals are 2,965,994 males as compared to 2,858,721 females. Another interesting tabulation shows that more than one million more Texans live on farms and in rural areas than in cities.

LOCAL BOYS AND GIRLS MAKE TOP GRADES AT SCHOOL

Stephenville—John Tarleton College students working part time-jobs make a better scholastic average than the student body as a whole, according to Dean J. Thomas Davis.

Mildred Brown, Roy Scott and Earl Scott of Gatesville were among those so characterized by Dean Davis. Students at Tarleton, they worked to earn part of their expenses.

Dean Davis, in a report to J. C. Kellam, Texas Director of the National Youth Administration, said that 143 students were employed part-time during Tarleton's last long session with funds provided by the NYA. Their scholastic average was half a letter higher than that of the entire student body.

Commenting on the NYA students, Dean Davis said: These students at Tarleton come in contact not only with a variety of work in the academic and secretarial lines, but also with the faculty members of the various divisions, including engineering, architecture, home economics, music, agriculture, teacher training, nursing, medicine, physical education, pre-law, journalism, and academic training. Since the work is so varied, the experience of these students is beneficially broadened.

Thirty-eight of the NYA students at Tarleton were assigned to clerical work, many of them assisting the department heads in office work. The school librarian was assigned five NYA workers, while 42 students worked at improving the college campus. Twenty-two others worked in the college cafeteria. Other NYA students were employed in various divisions of the college. All received experience and training under the supervision of responsible persons.

FORMULA FOR RELIEF OF COTTON INSECTS GIVEN

In an effort to combat cotton insects the following suggestions are given:

LEAF WORM:

The poisons recommended by the entomologists of A & M College as entirely safe to use are calcium arsenate or lead arsenate, the latter being so expensive as to be impractical so long as calcium arsenate can be obtained. Either may be dusted or sprayed. If dusted, from 5 to 8 pounds per acre of either should be applied, depending upon the size of the cotton. The best time for application is in the early morning when the dew is on the plants and when the air is usually quiet.

If to be applied as a spray, 3 pounds of either material should be mixed with 50 gallons of water and this mixture kept well agitated during the application.

BOLL WORM

Calcium arsenate as a dust when applied while the worms are young and before they reach the bolls has proven very satisfactory. From 5 to 6 pounds of calcium arsenate to the acre is enough for each dusting. Dusting gives best results if it is repeated every four days until the number of punctured squares is cut down to 10 per cent. Or, continue dusting until a good crop of bolls is set.

BOLL WEAVER

Calcium Arsenate Dust is the only satisfactory remedy for the boll weaver. The above are more efficient when applied early infestation and at the time of day or night when there is the least wind blowing. In all cases should a rain fall within 24 hours after application, a new application should be made.

The following is not recommended by the entomologists of A. and M. College but is now being used by some local farmers:

White Arsenic Formula

5 gallons water
6 pounds white Arsenic
1 can Lye

Boil this solution for thirty minutes. Stir continuously. Use 1 quart of solution to 50 gallons of water.

"White arsenic, a mixture of white arsenic and dry lime, or white arsenic boiled in water with sal soda or caustic soda, are almost certain to burn the cotton and the entomologists of A. and M. College strongly advise against their use."

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

Gov. Lehman Speaks.
New York's Mayoralty.

The groggy judicial reorganization bill received a knockout blow when New York's Democratic Governor, Herbert Lehman, urged Senator Robert Wagner to vote against it as contrary to the people's best interest. New York's Wagner is one of the sixteen uncommitted members of the Senate. His colleague Senator Royal Copeland, is one of the leaders of the opposition. Lehman, in a letter to Senator Wagner, pledged his continued support of the President's leadership, "in matters that are in the interest of the social well-being of our people," but stated that enactment of the court bill "would create a greatly dangerous precedent which could be availed of by future less well-intentioned administrations for the support of oppression or for the curtailment of the constitutional rights of our citizens. New appellations must be coined by the proponents of the judiciary bill to cast against Governor Lehman, for none of those hurled at the Senate opposition forces could apply to the New Yorker. Lehman served two terms as lieutenant governor while Roosevelt was chief executive of New York State and was elected governor with the backing of the retiring Roosevelt administration. He was consistently supporting new deal objectives and policies, and so closely has Lehman-sponsored legislation paralleled new deal legislation that his administration has been termed the "little new deal." Social security, labor and NRA legislation was passed through the New York Legislature after a bitter battle by Lehman. Last year, with the national administration uncertain of its strength in New York State, the Roosevelt-Farley team persuaded Lehman to seek the governorship for a third order to strengthen the national ticket. Lehman, desirous of returning to a profitable banking business in New York City (Lehman Brothers), consented to run and swept to victory, running behind the Roosevelt-Garner slate in his State, however. The Senate opposition forces have been termed "Tory," "reactionary," "defenders of the judicial oligarchy," and accused of lack of sympathy with the general aims of the administration and lack of personal loyalty of the President. While Connally, Burke, Clark, O'Mahoney, Wheeler and the other oppositionists loyally supported the administration for four long years and now find themselves branded as "reactionary" because of opposing one new deal measure, none of the allegations attributed to this group could apply to Governor Lehman. From one of the most reliable sources in Washington comes word that the quiet words of Texas' own Hatton W. Summers, eminent chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, in condemning the court bill killed it for this session in the House. Chairman Summers is said to be in close touch with the members of the Supreme Court and has promised three resignations (Mc Reynolds, Butler, Sutherland) when and if the judiciary bill is dropped by the administration. Franklin Roosevelt's most illustrious Democratic predecessor, Woodrow Wilson, wrecked his party and his most cherished plans for perpetual peace by stubbornly insisting that America join the League of Nations. A brave little group of Senators—a minority—filibustered the proposal out of the Senate. All Americans are in agreement that Wilson, truly a great President, was wrong about the League. ... Interest of national leaders in the New York City mayoralty contest attests to the fact more than local significance is attached to the outcome. Four years ago vimful little Fiorello H. LaGuardia slipped into the mayor's chair through a split in the Democratic ranks occasioned by the interference of James A. Farley in the race. Tammany Hall, prominent in the political turmoil of the Nations metropolis since 1789, nominated Mayor John P. O'Brien for re-election. Farley desiring an administration that would be responsive to Democratic National Headquarters and the Roosevelt administration, backed Joseph V. McKee, President of the Board of Aldermen. O'Brien and McKee split the Democratic vote and LaGuardia went into office on a Fusion ticket, largely composed of Republicans. LaGuardia, a progressive Re-

SPORTS AS SEEN

By John Frank Post, Jr.

Gatesville, after three or four lean years, is steadily marching back into its former place of prestige in District 27-B. Back in the years of Gatesville's golden area of football, 1928 to 1932, the Hornets and the McGregor Bulldogs were always fighting it out on Thanksgiving Day to determine the winner of this district, as usually both the teams had a clean slate until the Thanksgiving battle. McGregor always won, sometimes by a wide margin.

In 1931, with David Franks, Johnny Bradford, J. B. Martin, and Jessie Lee Wiggins as star players, the Hornets went to McGregor with high hopes of winning the championship. They had won all their games that season by large decisive scores, and were favored to win over McGregor. But McGregor, with Mansker and the Elms brothers leading the attack, scored three quick touchdowns in the first quarter on a long end run, a completed pass, and an intercepted pass. Gatesville then settled down and outplayed the Bulldogs the rest of the way. But to no avail. The Bulldogs hung on tenaciously and when their goal line was threatened they were almost invincible. Gatesville was able to push across one touchdown just before the game ended and the final score was 21-7. Gatesville has not come close to winning since that date, although the team of 1932 only lost two games.

After the 1932 season Coach Hines resigned and the school board obtained Maurice Ewing, who had just graduated from Baylor. The 1933 team was the worst in Gatesville's football history. They tied one game, 0-0 with the Lampasas badgers, but did not win a game the whole season. At the end of that campaign Gatesville had scored the grand total of 0 points. In 1934 they did no better. In 1935 Coach Worley was lured away from Honey Grove, where he had compiled a fine record. His first year at Honey Grove he had lost three games, his second year he had lost only two, and his third year, 1934, he lost one.

He put Gatesville back on the football map, by presenting a hard-fighting, never-say die team. The Hornets of 1935 beat both of their old rivals, Hamilton and McGregor. Gatesville's record at the end of Worley's first year the Hornets had won 5 and lost 5, which was 500 per cent improvement over the previous year. Last year the Hornets were favored to win the district but they did not have enough stuff to turn the trick. They finished with a record of five wins and four defeats, and after looking back over the 1933-34 record the Gatesville fans really had no kick coming.

This year Gatesville is not the favorite to capture the title, but their prospects are really better than they were a year ago. The Coaches won't promise anything but a fighting team, but we believe that Gatesville will finish the 1937 season up among the first three.

GATESVILLE BOYS RECEIVE MERIT AWARDS FROM JOHN TARLETON

Stephenville, July 22.—A. J. Spangler, director of the department of agriculture at John Tarleton College, announced today that certificates of merit for agricultural achievements have been awarded from Texas Area IV headquarters to 12 Gatesville boys.

Those receiving merit awards were: Joe Billy Farrar and Carl Schoenewolf for butchering; Walker Kink for pork production; Herschel Wilhelm, Carl Schoenewolf, Vernis D. Wolf, Edwin Bales, Lloyd Lipsey, Truman McCorkle, Robert J. Edwards, Ray Word, and R. M. Cummings for testing cows for butterfat production.

Since last June, almost 2000 certificates of merit have been issued from Area IV headquarters at John Tarleton College to Future Farmers of America in the area, according to Director Spangler, who is supervisor of Area IV.

"The certificates of merit are degree requirements in F.F.A.," Mr. Spangler explains. "In order to be a Future Farmer, a boy must earn one credit, and before he can be a Lone Star Farmer, he has to earn two more."

The degrees are awarded for excellence in 43 types of projects through which F.F.A. trains boys for agricultural leadership.

700 POLICE FOR FAIR

New York—Among the many safeguards to be provided by the New York World's Fair of 1939 in behalf of its millions of visitors and also of its 300 structures filled with almost priceless exhibits, there will be a special Fire Department with several stations on the ground manned by veteran fire fighters and equipped with latest types of motorized apparatus. They will have the exposition under ceaseless surveillance. A force of more than 700 stalwart, smartly uniformed special policeman will be recruited to patrol the grounds day and night.

World Comment—

publican, has supported the national administration almost as consistently as has Gov. Lehman but will be opposed by Farley in the campaign. Farley is planning to cope the governorship in 1938 and in line with this policy wants a friendly city administration in place of LaGuardia and his Fusionists. Grover A. Whalen, one of the best known businessmen of New York and head of the New York World's Fair which opens in 1938, has entered the Democratic primary with the backing of Farley and the Bronx, Queens and Richmond organizations, whose leaders represent the new deal element in city politics. Senator Royal S. Copeland, who is opposing the President on the Supreme Court reorganization plan, is the Tammany candidate against Whalen. Al Smith is backing Copeland.

The Republicans have failed to reach an agreement as to whom they will support. Independents in the G.O.P. city organization have pledged their allegiance to LaGuardia, but the regulars hesitate to back a progressive. No Republican is available who could beat LaGuardia in the Republican primary so the odds are that LaGuardia will be the Republican nominee while running as a Fusion candidate. If LaGuardia captures the control of New York City for four more years, he will be in a prominent position to seek the Republican nomination for President or capture one of New York's Senate posts in 1938 (Wagner) or 1940 (Copeland). Farley's chances of winning the governorship would be immaterially enhanced if Whalen defeats Copeland for the nomination and then beats LaGuardia, and correspondingly lessened if Copeland or LaGuardia were to win.

FATHER OF GEORGE VANDIVER PASSES AWAY IN AUSTIN

Relatives and friends here were notified Tuesday of the death of Mr. C. M. Vandiver, which occurred earlier in the morning, at the Old Confederate Home in Austin, where he had been for the past several months. Prior to that time he made his home here with his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Morris until the family removed to Corsicana, where they now live. Mr. Vandiver was 90 years old, 5 months and 3-days old, having been born in Lawrence county, Tennessee, February 17, 1847.

He came to Texas in 1875 where he lived the rest of his life spending most of his time in the Hackney community. He spent eighteen months in the noble service of is country, serving under General Firrest during the Civil War. In his later days he took great pride in relating stories of the war.

He joined the Methodist church at te age of forty and was faithful in attendance as long as his health permitted.

Mr. Vandiver was married to Miss Jane Winters in 1867 and to this union were born nine children. A son, Bill Vandiver, a daughter, Mrs. J. W. McKelvy ad an infant have already pssed on and his wife preceded him in death November 19, 1923. The surviving children are one son, George, Gatesville five daughters, Mrs. W. L. McAda, Staley; Mrs. W. O. Evetts, Waco; Mrs. High Davis, Oglesby; Mrs. A. E. Dowler, Ponca City, Okla.; Mrs. A. E. Morris, Corsicana. He is also survived by 39 grandchildren many great grandchildren and two great, great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at Blackfoot Cemetery, near Oglesby, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. W. C. Taylor, pastor of the Oglesby Methodist Church, with Lee's in charge of arrangements. Six grand-sons acted as pallbearers.—McGregor Mirror.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Strange sources furnished some of the names of Texas towns. Amarillo, which is the Spanish word for "yellow," is said to be named for the coloring of the walls of Palo Duro canyon. Three men put names into a hat and drew out the official title of "Aubrey," which was the name of one of their girl friends. The town of Blessing was given that name by John E. Pierce in appreciation of its foundng. He wanted to call it "Thank God" but the railroad objected. Sacul and Tesnus are "Lucas" and "Sunset" spelled in reverse, but no one knows who had the backward idea or why the towns were so named.
