The How and Why of the National Unemployment Census

A Mayor's committee has been locally to assist in handling the National Unemployment Census which begins as stated below in a release from John D. Biggers, Administrator, Census of Partial Employment, Unemployment, and Occupation, for the U. S. Department of Commerce. This committee includes Eiland Lovejoy, Chairman Mrs. Frank Kelso, Cohen Richardson, C. E. Baker and C. D. Blackburn.

Below is a number of questions which will clarify any problems relating to these forms.

A nation-wide census of all unemployed and partially unemployed persons in the United States will be taken between the dates of November 16 to 20, by act of Congress, and at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is the information you need to know about this plan.

- WHAT IS PURPOSE OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS?
To get an accurate count of the unemployed and partly unemployed.
- TO WHOM WILL CARDS BE SENT?
To every family in the United States.
- UNDER WHOSE AUSPICES IS THE CENSUS BEING TAKEN?
Congress has decreed, and the President has directed, that it be taken.
- IS THE CENSUS COMPULSORY?
No. But every unemployed or partly unemployed person is urgently requested to cooperate.
- HOW WILL THE CENSUS BE CONDUCTED?
Through the facilities of the Post Office Department. Report Cards will be delivered to every family. Cards are to be returned by mail to Washington for tabulation and analysis.
- WHEN WILL THE CENSUS BE TAKEN?
Cards will be delivered on November 16 and must be returned by MIDNIGHT NOVEMBER 20. They are already addressed and no postage is required.
- WHO SHOULD FILL AND RETURN CARDS?
Every person who is unemployed or partly unemployed who is able to work and wants work.
- WHAT AGE LIMITS APPLY?
There are no age limits except existing State regulations concerning workers' ages.
- SHOULD MORE THAN ONE UNEMPLOYED PERSON IN A FAMILY RETURN A CARD?
Yes. Every unemployed member of a family should fill out and return a card, if able to work and seeking work.
- WHERE MAY ADDITIONAL CARDS BE OBTAINED?
At any post office or from your postman.
- WHERE CAN INFORMATION BE SECURED IN FILLING OUT CARDS?
At your post office or from your postman.
- IS THIS CENSUS CONFINED TO AMERICAN CITIZENS?
No. All permanent residents of the United States are included.
- IS THE INFORMATION GIVEN ON THE CARDS TO BE CONSIDERED CONFIDENTIAL?
Yes. This information will be used for unemployment statistics only.
- SHOULD EVERY QUESTION OF THE CENSUS CARD BE ANSWERED?
Yes. To obtain the most accurate information possible, the President asks that each question be answered. Numbers 9 and 10 are particularly important. However, failure to answer some of the questions will not invalidate the card.
- WHO IS AN "UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
A person of either sex or any color who is not working and is able to work and seeking work.
- WHO IS A "PARTLY UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
A person of either sex or any color with part-time employment who is able to do more work and is looking for more work.
- ARE PERSONS ON EMERGENCY WORK PROJECTS INCLUDED?
Yes. They should register as unemployed. A specific question, Number 2c, is provided on the Report Card for all persons working on a W.P.A., N.Y.A., C.C.C., or other emergency work project which is supported by public funds.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The White House
Washington

TO EVERY WORKER:

If you are unemployed or partly unemployed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest, and accurate. If you give me the facts, I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it.

Coronation Ceremonies To Be Held At HS Gym Nov. 19th.

Gaiety and frivolity will rule on Friday night, Nov 19 at the local high school gym, when the Annual Carnival and Coronation will be held. Her Majesty Anita of the House of Lowrey, escorted by His Majesty C. H. Jr. of the House of Wallace, will be crowned Queen and King respectively.

The court of this Royal couple will be made up of representatives from each class, club and social organization in the school, as well as visiting and Dutchesses from the surrounding schools.

Although we do not have the details, more will be given later as preparations for the Coronation are made.

CAPT. JOHN BAILEY IS IN SINO-JAP WAR ZONE

Capt. John Bailey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Bailey of this city is now located at Ichang, China, near the scene of the present Sino-Jap conflict. Capt. Bailey is now Commanding Officer of a ship since he became an officer after graduation from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

In addition to his duties as Commanding Officer, Capt. Bailey is Acting United States Consul for this point in China, and most of this duty consists of getting out Missionaries.

According to the letter to his father, he is not in the war zone, and so far, there have not been any casualties on his ship, with the exception of one member of his crew which was drowned.

Capt. Bailey is making good, which is shown by the fact that he is in command of this ship, and is at Ft. Worth Tuesday.

G. H. S. TOOK PART IN NATL. EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAM

Gatesville Public Schools took part in American Education week in a fifteen minute program over station WACO Monday afternoon, November 8th, at 4:15 p.m. Deputy State Superintendent A. M. Tate introduced the program which consisted of a solo, "Little Ditch Mill", by Wanda Ruth Stephens, daughter of Mrs. H. K. Stephens, a reading, "Ma's Checkbook", by Joenita Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Jones, an educational talk, "Buying Education Service", by Mr. Ereell W. Brooks Superintendent of Gatesville Schools, and a saxophone solo by Miss Jaice Duerer accompanied by Miss Helen Odom.

In this district as a whole attention has been given this special week, and a series of radio talks and other numbers have constituted the programs.

TWO BUSINESSES MOVE IN BUILDING IN REAR OF GUARANTY

Due to the renting of the entire H. P. Sadler building to the Gatesville Dry Goods Company, the Saunders-Carlton Flower Shop and the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., have moved across the street in the building in the rear of the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, formerly occupied by the Gatesville Beauty Shop.

Besides their flowers, the rummage stock, has also been moved to the building by Mrs. Tom Corlton and Mrs. Bob Saunders.

Amateur Nite Tonite; Nineteen Acts; Capacity Crowd Expected for Sell-out

All eyes, all ears and all minds will be turned on the Hornet's Club Amateur nite, which will be held tonight in the City Auditorium, with 19 acts included for the price of admission which is infinitesimal, considering the extravaganza propensities which will be promulgated on the palpitating panorama of this populous province.

As we told you twice already, there are singing acts, dancing acts, dark acts, religious songs, popular songs, novelties, and even a whole band. It's going to be a gala night, one that will shame old Major Bowes, who himself originated the Amateur business, into a dismal background.

Coryell county's silver-tongued orator, in his own suave, vitriolic line of lingo will lead the laughs landing the leaders, lol with the lankards. He is none other than the Master of Ceremonies.

The deep dark secret of the entire evening will be the judges, who at this time still unannounced, as well as the individuals or groups on the program, which the promoters deemed better not to divulge.

There are two colored acts, both of which are of 1938 models and the colored folks will have a section reserved for them to see their stars in action.

Now, folks, if you want to miss the ENTERTAINMENT of the year, which is COUNTY-WIDE, just stay away from this. If you do come, you're going to get more real entertainment for your money than you have ever gotten for any part of a dollar you have ever spent.

We urge you not to miss this SHOW!

REV. BROOKS SASSE IS PASTOR OF MT. CALM

Rev. Brooks Sasse, (former student) in Baylor University and former pastor of Turnsville Baptist church has been called as full time pastor at Mt. Calm, where he will make his home.

During Rev. Sasse's pastorate at Turnsville that church for two years the church during that time went from a one quarter to a one half time pastorate the membership increasing 32 percent and the financial income of the church was proportionately increased due to the establishment of a church budget according to information we have.

Rev. Sasse will continue his work in the university going each morning from Mt. Calm to Waco.

RAIN AMOUNTS TO 1-12 DURING PAST PERIOD

1.12 was the rain reading for the past few days for Gatesville. So far as we can find, thruout the county the rain was general, but the amounts in the various sections has varied somewhat.

Just at this time, the rain will prove very helpful for grain and pastures. It may also help deer hunters, since the season opens Tuesday, November 16.

ARMAND DEMONSTATOR COMING TO LEAIRD'S MONDAY

According to Byrom Leaird Miss Bronson, Armand Demonstrator will be at Leaird's Department Store Monday morning demonstrating her cosmetics.

Miss Bronson is the only Armand demonstrator in the entire United States and as she can remain here only a short while Mr. Leaird will appreciate any advance appointments.

The Alaska fur-seal herd that in 1910 contained only 130,000 animals now has a total of 1,839,110 seals. The increase of 149,000 in the last year is said by the bureau of fisheries to indicate continued satisfactory growth of the herd.

The Russian chapel at Fort Ross, Calif., is a unique remnant of the meagre colonization south of Alaska. It was established in the year 1812.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD MEETS HERE WED. 17 AT 10 A. M.

Members of the Coryell County School Board will meet at the usual time and place on November 17, Wednesday, at which time they will take up problems related to the Gatesville schools.

Reports, two of them are due on transportation each year. The first is due now, according to the County Superintendent's office and should reach that office this week. The second is for the first five months and is a summary of attendance during those months. This should be ready and mailed in as soon as completed.

State Supervisor, A. M. Tate has advised he will not be in Coryell county this week.

Gives 3 to 5 Times as Much Light - - Without Glare

Opal glass diffusing bowl (common to all I. E. S. Lamps) conceals bulb, softens light and prevents glare. Opening at top gives indirect illumination, reducing shadows. Special white shade lining reflects more light than most shades. Wide shade spreads light evenly over broad area. You actually get 3 to 5 times as much light as from most ordinary lamps . . . yet the difference in operating cost is only a cent or two an evening.

CHAPTER I

SALLY knew that she sang and danced as never before. There was something about this country, this Western Pennsylvania, that got you. It was a sturdy country with sturdy people, who knew they were building toward a great nation. For this was 1859 and the United States of America was still young.

Here in Pennsylvania the Dutch and English and Irish farmers were wresting a new empire from the Alleghenies. They looked as if they were conscious of their strength; they radiated vitality.

Sally, fired a little by their spirit, danced and sang with greater verve and abandon. No matter if she was just a performer in her father's—proval, but in the man's eyes was a look of wonder and admiration.

It pleased her because he was, she could see, long of limb and broad and he had a noble head on his shoulders, and she smiled back, but the next instant she was alarmed.

A teamster, pulling up beside the buggy, almost upset it with his wagon. The young man turned, eyes flashing anger, and rose in the seat.

"Hey, Scanton!" he shouted. "Watch where you're goin'!"

The teamster, a lowering man with hard eyes, spat.

"D' you Cortlandts think you own the whole square?"

"No," said Sally's young man, "but you could 'a' asked me. I would 'a' pulled over."

the curtain across the window again, yanked it so violently that it fell across the stove—but Sally didn't notice that. She was confused by her emotions, by the way the young man in the buggy stirred her. And she did not notice, as her father recalled her to the platform, that the curtain began to smoke a little.

Outside again, the crowd had been whipped to an excited curiosity. With Mac, Sally went among them, distributing the bottles of oil.

"My daughter is a ministering angel," declared her father. "The oil is free. Just twenty-five cents for the bottle. You wouldn't expect us to give away the bottle too—would you now?"

Curious, the people took the bottles, uncorking them, sniffing the contents. Sally, passing the teamster, the one who had started the trouble a moment before, handed him one. Insolently, he gripped her wrist, held it.

"Thanks," he said, leering. "Ye're the best lookin' ministerin' angel I ever see."

She jerked away, hurried to the next rig, but was mortified to discover that it belonged to the young man with the smile. And again they stared, his smile quizzical. And though Sally knew she should hurry on, she lingered, fighting back her own smile. She was startled when the old lady said:

"Hand me a bottle, young woman, long's it's free."

Sally handed it up, but the young man intercepted it. "I'll take it grandma," he said. He uncorked it, sniffed it, grinned down at Sally. His eyes twinkled.

"Why," he said, "this is nothin' but rock oil—just plain Pennsylvania rock oil, lady."

Sally's eyes blazed. "You don't know what you're talkin' about!"

"Oh yes I do," said the hateful young man. "It seeps right through the ground around here. Just ordinary oil. Guess I oughta know."

"You oughta know!" she declared. "How would you know anything? Why you—you—How dare you—"

She probably couldn't have finished anyway; but just at that moment a shrill voice sounded over the square.

"Godalmighty!" it screamed. "The wagon! It's afire!"

Sally's curtain had caught.

Immediately following the scream, the wagon burst into flames. Sick with anxiety, Sally ran through the milling crowd to the platform, started through the door into the blazing wagon. The flames drove her back. But there were things in there. Her father and Mac—Mac was Indian no longer, but just excited Irishman now—were fighting the fire, but someone had to save those things—her best dress, her father's Sunday shirt—everything they owned in the world that meant anything to them was in there.

Frantic, she started again, reached the door, when arms caught her, lifted her. She looked up into the serious, concerned eyes of the man in the buggy. And even in that moment she felt that they were curiously protective arms. Yet she struggled.

"Let me go!" she screamed. "Let me go! I—Oh I hate you!"

Behind her the wagon blazed fiercely.

Sally, fired a little by their spirit, danced and sang with greater verve and abandon.

"Doctor" Watterson, he called himself—tawdry medicine show; no matter if Mac, their helper and general factotum, would presently appear disguised as an Indian and perform ridiculous contortions on the platform beside her to advertise the "famous," if entirely fake, "Indian Wizard Oil"—Sally felt all at once more important than ever before. She knew, in that moment, that she was beautiful, that her blue eyes sparkled, that her figure was the personification of grace as she danced. She sang:

"High, wide 'n' handsome,
 I'm ridin' wide 'n' high.
 Run, li'l horsie, run,
 Wish you was a bird so you could fly. . ."

The crowd, stirred by her mood, joined, for it was a familiar lyric. Beside her, Doc Watterson, burlesque of elegance in stovepipe hat, frock coat and carrying a stick, beamed. It looked like good business, here in Titusville.

Sally finished her dance and Doc began his spiel:

"This little girl with the golden voice and twinklin' toes is my daughter. Once a pale and sickly child, weak in the limbs—until she started to take Indian Wizard Oil!"

It was familiar to Sally. She stood smiling and looking over the crowd and then her eyes widened, her smile faltered a little. Looking squarely at her from where he sat in a buggy, a young man grinned at her. Beside him, an old lady looked at her with frank disap-

"Well pull over now!" It was at once a threat and a command. Sally's heart caught.

"Not an inch!" said the man in the buggy.

It might have developed and the people in the square sensed it, for they turned from the platform to watch the fight, but at that moment Mac made his entrance. It was indeed startling.

With a screeching warwhoop and bedecked with feathers and fringes, he sprang from the wagon behind the platform to the front of the stage and began what he thought was a savage dance. The astounded spectators, including the two principals in the argument watched him, while Doc began his spiel again.

Sally disappeared into the wagon. Her thoughts were on the smiling man in the buggy as she puttered about the stove, preparing dinner, for that was another of her duties. She had a few minutes before she must appear again on the platform. But she was curious. The young man in the buggy.

She pulled aside the curtain by the stove and looked out. The man in the buggy was watching Mac and listening to her father's florid oratory, but something diverted his attention and he looked her way. Again their eyes locked and a slow grin came over his face. It was a nice face, ruggedly handsome and a half-smile started at the corners of Sally's mouth. Then she remembered herself. It really wasn't right.

With a show of anger she yanked

"The Foster Mother of the Human Race"

"The cow is a most wonderful laboratory. She takes the grasses of the pasture, and the roughage of the field, and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the highest health of the human race, and which can be found nowhere else. Men have sought for centuries the fabled Fountain of Youth. The nearest approach to that fountain which has yet been discovered is the udder of the cow. Without her milk, children languish, the vigor of the adult declines, and the vitality of the human race runs low."—A tribute by Hon. Frank O. Lowden, Smississippi Farm, Illinois.

Y. W. A. Girl's Honor Recent Bride

Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Adult Assembly Room of the First Baptist Church named the time and place for a very lively affair in the form of a miscellaneous shower given for Mrs. Corrigan, the former, Miss Lois Welch.

Throughout the evening there was well planned entertainment, which consisted of not only suitable games and contests, but a delightful program. Doyle Singleton sang, "Our Yesterdays", and Miss Sarah Hinson, expression student presented a very appropriate reading entitled, "Three Stages of Matrimony". Yellow was chosen as the color scheme for the room, as it is the honoree's favorite color, and yellow chrysanthemums adorned the room.

Following a contest the group winner's prize proved to be the host of lovely gifts for Mrs. Corrigan.

On the table, which was laid with a lace cloth, were lovely green candelabras holding lighted pink candles; in the background were the yellow chrysanthemums.

On the refreshment plate, served by Miss Winola Sasse, was marshmallow custard, cake and mints. About 35 guests were present.

There will be church services at the Presbyterian Church Sunday Morning, Nov. 14, at 11: A. M. Rev. J. C. Byers will preach. The Communion service will be observed at this time and we urge all members to be present.

Sunday School at 9:45.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

Sunday School 9:45. Preaching Services at 10:55 in the Morning and 7:15 in the evening.

Dr. B. O. Herring will preach at both services. While a most cordial invitation is extended to friends and visitors, the members of the church are especially reminded of the services and urged to be present at both morning and evening hours.

Special Music: Duet Sunday Morning; Quartette Sunday Evening.

PREACHING SERVICES AT CARDEN OVER WEEK END

Regular preaching services of the Live Oak Church at Carden will be held this week end. Preaching services on Saturday night, Sunday morning, and Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. Paul Skinner of Waco. The night service on Saturday will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. Sunday school meets at 10: a. m. Sunday morning and the B. T. U. at 6:45 p. m. Friends are cordially invited to join the membership in all these services.

Earl Nesbitt, O. N. Hix and G. P. Schaub were business visitors to Ft. Worth Tuesday.

Rev. M. M. Chunn and Rev. J. H. Baldrige are attending Methodist Conference at Ft. Worth this week.

CANTONADO OF LAUGHS AT PALACE THIS SUNDAY

Eddie Cantor is the "headliner" at the Palace Theatre this week end in a vehicle entitled All Baba Goes To Town, with a supporting cast which includes Roland Young, June Lang, Tony Martin and Gypsy Rose Lee now known as Louise Brovick.

According to the billing: "Such glitter and flash... such a unique comedy idea... that your audiences will be banjoed as Eddie turns old Baghdad into a 1938 Gagdad... with a head-tax on harems, a tail-tax on camels and carpet tax under the sit-down strikers... in this extra-glorious top-per of all mirthmusicals... that intimates a new and the most important phrase of Eddie's great career!"

What more could be said about a picture than a Hollywood Press Agent, and that's what he said.

The Red Book, December issue, includes this as its "Picture of the Month".

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our husband and father, also do we thank Dr. Sutherland who was so faithful in attending him.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

One of the major problems of the Government today is that of the American merchant marine. Commendatory is the effort of President Roosevelt to untangle the state of affairs which has since the war lost this country its primacy as a sea carrier by the establishment of the maritime commission under the chairmanship of Joseph P. Kennedy.

The commission of Mr. Kennedy has advocated the immediate construction of twenty-six vessels and the administration is prepared to make the necessary funds available. But lack of vessels is not the substance of the entire problem.

As the automobile and steel industries were paralyzed for a few brief months early this year, so has the merchant marine been in a state of semi-paralysis since the early 1920's when for the first time the seamen were unionized.

Since that time, the infiltration of Communists so vigorously attacked by Senator Copeland in Congress, and of other radical elements has resulted in strikes, disorders, and general insubordination on the part of the seamen that have affected the efficiency of our merchant marine from top to bottom.

The problem now is not only to build more ships but to devise a form of unionism that will function with a minimum of discord. Union must be made responsible for their acts. They must be subjected to leadership that will have due regard for the public interest. And the unions must be willing to suppress the chronic agitators.

Its a known fact that a large percentage of the seamen now serving on American Vessels are of foreign birth—this in the face of an unemployed problem among American seamen. The explanation lies in the fact that the foreigners will serve at less pay than the American sailors.

Mr. Kennedy's commission is striving vigorously to remedy this situation. The licensing system which was devised attempts to exclude from employment on the ships flying the Stars and Stripes seamen who have been discharged for subversive activities. The unions are still largely controlled by radicals, who conducted the San Francisco and Atlantic Coast strikes last year which proved so costly to American shipping and to exporting firms.

Construction of new ships must necessarily accompany reform in the ranks of the seamen.

Hensler, Hord & Parks

North side Square Gatesville, Texas.

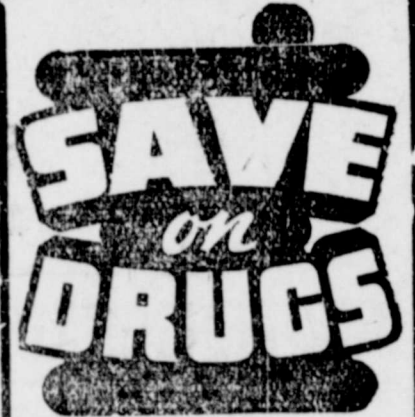

Authorization of twenty-six new ships, which will be built by the Government and leased to private carriers, can be but a start toward an ultimate goal, that of regaining the former status of supremacy for American merchant carriers.

Always try your home merchants first.

The problem of a deteriorated merchant marine is more acute and far-reaching to inland America as well as the coastal regions than one might ordinarily suppose. From the commercial standpoint, American industrial and commercial concerns are distinctly at a disadvantage by being dependent upon foreign ships to carry their merchandise to distant ports.

Not only must they pay the prices demanded but they must face the possibility of being deprived of method of transportation at the will of foreign powers.

World Comment—

Greater efficiency of foreign ships, particularly those of Japan Germany and England, has deprived this country of many former markets. Fast Japanese motor vessels are now carrying manufactured goods from the Nipponese ports to South America and completing the return trip to Japan by carrying Latin American products to American ports on their way home.

From a defence angle, the problem is equally as acute from America's standpoint. While this country does not expect to engage in any conflict on distant shores the present policies of the Roosevelt administration in regard to Japan and the European Fascist powers certainly do not preclude the possibility.

Naturally, our government would go to war to defend Alaska or Hawaii against Japan or Cuba from some European aggressor. To successfully defend these territories would entail not only the employment of the navy but also hundreds of transportation vessels which could supply a defending American army of occupation and the navy itself with such necessities as food, oil, clothing, medicines, and ammunition.

Thus the interest in the rebuilding of an American merchant marine is not an abstract one from any persons viewpoint. Let us watch the results of Mr. Kennedys labors.

Well, Jinx, a contemporary sports writer of a nearby settlement, finally broke loose and gave the Gatesville Hornets a break, and Gilbreath in particular.

He said in Tuesday's Times-Herald: "GILBREATH, THE end of the Gatesville Hornets, is said to be a real star. He is six feet tall, said to be a star pass receiver and brilliant defensive and offensive player."

A. and M.-Rice, TCU-Texas, these are the conference games. No. 1 guess, 10 to 18. Baylor; No. 2, 10 to 7. A. and M. and lastly, 18 to 19, T. C. U.

Since this is all written Wednesday, we can't tell you the results of the Hornet-Bulldog clash but you can put your score here: Hornets —, Bulldogs —. Anyway, your guess is as good as ours.

Play by play, and high-lights of the game will be in Tuesday's as usual.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR WILLIAM T. SPENCER

William Spencer passed away at his home at Flat, Texas Sunday Nov. 7, at 3:15 o'clock. "Uncle Bill" was well known and left many friends in Me-

Gregor as well as in Flat, having come to the Flat community two years ago.

Funeral Services were held for him at 3:00 p. m. Monday, and were conducted by Rev. Geo. Siler of Moody and Rev. Ollie Williams of Flat. Interment followed in the Flint Creek Cemetery. Active Pallbearers were: Lois Spencer, Chester Huddy, John Spencer, Elmer Spencer, Bill Wood and Cleo Norman.

Mr. Spencer was born in Mississippi, Feb. 12, 1867, but moved to Texas when very young and was one of McGregor's oldest pioneers.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Earl Neff of Houston; Mrs. Verna Wood and Mrs. Jesse Spencer of Flat, and one son Lawrence Spencer of Leon Junction. Also two brothers, Joe and George of Waco and one sister, Mrs. Ida Stewart of Ft. Worth; 16 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

FARM TRACTOR TIRES

Change over your present tractor to Goodyear All-Traction Tractor Tires — greatest of all pneumatics for tractors. You'll be dollars and dollars ahead because they make such big savings in fuel costs, repair bills and depreciation —that the farmer who does NOT buy them is paying out far more than their cost in money wasted.

OR — Similar tires for your car for muddy roads—and of course they're made by—

GROOVED ALLWEATHER TIRES

For trucks that travel city streets, paved highways, where extra mileage and easy rolling are more important than grip and traction. Especially recommended for front wheels or trucks and buses and all rolling wheels. Deep, slow wearing tread piles up miles—holds tire cost to minimum.
