Nov. 30 Last Day To Sign "Waiver" Cards At County Supt's. Office

Those teachers of the county who wish to sign "waiver" cards for the Teacher Retirement System, must do so, according to County Superintendent J. M. Witcher, before December 1.

If you plan to have the 5 percent deducted from your salary for teacher retirement, you do not have to sign the card.

Those who do sign the cards will not be on teachers retirement.

Here is a part of a letter from S. Mortimer Brown, Director and Executive Secretary of the Texas Teachers Retirement System:

"It is our opinion that your school is a common school district, and if so, your county superintendent will handle the matter of deductions, in accordance with the provisions of the law.

The amount to be deducted from the salaries of members of the Retirement System is 5 percent only, not one-fifth."

This is a copy of a letter to a teacher in Coryell county which was received by Superintendent J. M. Witcher.

BAPTIST WORKER'S CONFERENCE MET MONDAY

About one hundred people from over the entire Leon District were present at the First Baptist Church for the all day Worker's Conference, which was held Monday.

During the morning, talks were made by the different ministers over the district which included the district missionary Rev. V. M. Cloyd and Dr. B. O. Herring. A song service was led by Rev. Kenneth Hiner and a special number was presented by Mrs. D. I. Glass and Doyle Singleton.

Lunch, contributed and prepared by the ladies of the church, was had at the noon hour, in the abundance of food was enjoyed by all.

The conference was especially for the Buckners Orphans Home, and a very large offering was presented to the home. Due to the absence of Robert Cook Buckner, who was supposed to deliver a special message after lunch the crowd enjoyed a general discussion.

The Conference adjourned about 3:30 to meet January 18th at Osage.

Miss Dortha Dillashaw, student at 4-C College, arrived Wednesday to spend her holidays with her grandfather Harry Dillashaw.

In New York City received a downpour of nearly 10 inches of rainfall in 24 hours.

FUNERAL SERVICES TUESDAY FOR MRS. SAM J. MINGS

Mrs. Sam J. Mings, a native Texan, was born Nov. 16, 1866. On December 4, 1882 she was married to Sam J. Mings, and after a few months of wedlock, still in their youth, they moved to this city, where they have been popular citizens since. Mr. Mings who preceded his devoted wife in death several years, will be remembered as contractor for the laying of the cottonbelt railroad in this city.

For over seventy one years Mrs. Mings has lived a truly Christian life; it was fifty two years ago that she joined the First Baptist Church of this city, and for many years was an active church worker, being a member of the church choir, and also a Sunday School Teacher.

Mrs. Mings had been in bad health for some time; a daughter, Mrs. Gus Davidson of Pecan Grove, had taken her mother to visit another daughter, Mrs. Jule Turner in Edinburg. She died suddenly, about 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Turner.

Her body was brought to this city Tuesday morning; Services were held at The First Baptist Church at 10:30 o'clock, November 23, with Rev. C. A. Morton of Ballinger conducting the services. Pallbearers were: Louis Holmes, L. K. Thomson, J. M. Prewitt, Jno. P. Reasing, Joyce Ryan, J. O. Brown, and Byrom Leaird Jr. Interment followed in the Masonic Cemetery with Scott Funeral Directors in charge.

Mrs. Mings is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Gus Davidson of Pecan Grove, Mrs. Jule Turner of Edinburg, and a daughter, Loucille, in New York who was unable to attend the funeral; Also two sons, Tom Mings and Sam Mings. Mrs. Mings has ten grandchildren and one great grandchild.

PRE-XTMAS SHOPPERS THROUGH LEAIRD'S TOYLAND OPENING

Other merchants of Gatesville are also opening new stocks of gifts and toys for the waiting public, and by the time they read this, nearly every window in the city will have Christmas spirit, decorations and gifts for the public.

NEW BORN LASSIE CLAIMS TWELVE GRANDPARENTS

Blessed with one of the largest number of living grandparents on record, little Verda Rae Sykes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleburne Sykes, came into the world on Monday, October 25. The little lady weighs seven and three quarter pounds and has twelve grandparents, great grandparents, and great, great, grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sykes, 39 and 27 years of age, respectively, are grandparents on one side of the house. Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Ward, of Corpus Christi, 35 and 40 years of age respectively are the other immediate grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cowan of Robstown and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman of Alice are great-grandparents, while Mrs. M. E. Sykes of Killeen, Texas is another great-grandmother and a Mrs. Allison of Kentucky, is still another great grandmother.

But, as the line goes back, a great-great-grandmother is found in Mrs. S. E. Cowan of Kempner, Texas and yet another in Mrs. Fewell of Gatesville, five generations unbroken in four branches!

And if that is not a record the Record wants to know about it.

Mr. Skyes, the little girl's father, is a graduate of Robstown High School and is employed at the Hutshison Grocery. —Contributed.

"THE MEANEST MAN"

There is probably no place on earth better than a country newspaper office to learn how many kinds of people there are. Some get huffy if a statement is sent, others will not pay until they receive a statement. Some will pay without a statement, and others won't pay whether a statement is sent or not. Some think they owe more, and some say they don't owe so much. Some say they couldn't get along without the paper and others say it doesn't amount to much. But the meanest, scrubbiest in the list is the man who takes it and is shut off for non-payment and then spends all his time explaining how he used to "take the thing" but stopped it because it was "no count". —Highland (Wis.) Press.

England figures it costs from $600 to $950 a year to keep a prisoner.

Coryell County is at last going to get on the PAVEMENT!

Yes, Sir, only yesterday, or the 23rd, an Associated Press release from Austin reads like it!

Here it is; Highway improvement costing approximately $1,328,316 were announced today. Engineers tabulated bids on 15 projects and recommended what they considered best ones to the highway commission which in turn must receive approval of the bureau of public roads before the formal awards are made.

"Low bids on projects by counties included:

CORYELL: 13.8 miles of grading draining structures, flexible base and DOUBLE ASPHALT surface treatment on HIGHWAY 7 from GATESVILLE to McLennan county line, Gage Bros., Bishop, $93,661."

Also another release under the dateline of Nov. 22, in part, "A selected list calls for projects to cost $1,950,000. All will not be ready for bidding on December 17 but a majority will, it was announced. The list includes: Concrete paving on 14 miles of highway seven from Coryell county line to eight miles west of Waco.

Well, folks, at last this is no longer the "promised land", it is a reality. Or may be its election year.

Regardless, this section of the county is certainly going to be tickled to death to get this much needed improvement and it forebodes of farther improvements which are now certain to come since this auspicious start has been made.

Lights, Colors, Decorations, Preparations for Xmas

Workmen are preparing a summer-sunburned town, Gatesville, for the Christmas season.

Today (Wednesday) lights were being strung from the respective corners of the courthouse.

Others are getting cedar ready and cutting them for the awnings, light globes are being put up. There is a myriad of activity toward making Gatesville "The City Beautiful" during the Yuletide Season.

So far, we haven't any inside dope on the number of floats and other interesting attractions for the parade which is to be held at 10 a. m. Saturday, December 4, but don't expect any since most of this is going to be a "Winchell Flash" and you won't know anything about it until it happens.

We do have a tip, of a wide-awake stunt that's going to be a possible surprise by one merchant in the city, but then, you wouldn't want us to let YOU down, would you.

Anyway, if you want to see fun, color, sights and get Free candy and gifts too, be here by 10 a. m. December 4.

EXECUTION OF LIEN WAIVER BY LANDLORD

The following letter from the Washington office, dated October 25, 1936, is quoted for your information. We believe that the information contained in this letter should be made public to all producers in each county, by the quotation of its contents in local newspapers whenever possible.

"This acknowledges your letter of Oct. 16 advising that many landlords are refusing to execute the waiver and consent pledge contained in the loan agreement in cases where the landlord has received his rent or share of the cotton and has no lien to waive.

"This matter has been taken up informally with the Commodity Credit Corporation and we have been advised that the experience with past loans is convincing enough to require the landlord to execute the waiver even though in fact he has no lien. In some of the previous loans made by the Commodity Credit Corporation the landlord was not required to execute the waiver and consent clause of the agreement unless he actually had a lien on the cotton sought to be pledged by the tenant. It developed in a number of cases that the landlord in fact had a lien and as a consequence the Corporation experienced considerable difficulty in protecting its interests.

By requiring the landlord to execute and consent to pledge, additional protection is afforded and at the same time the landlord is in no way inconvenienced. It is assumed that the reason by the landlords for refusing to execute the waiver is that in doing so they feel they become obligated to participate in 1938 agricultural programs. This, as you know is not the case. The landlord becomes obligated in no way by signing the waiver and consent to pledge. Perhaps they also feel if the tenant signs the agreement and remains on the farm the landlord himself will become obligated to participate in 1938. This also is a misconception of the agreement. The borrowing tenant, however, does agree to participate in agricultural programs in operation in 1938 and in event he fails to fulfill the agreement he remains liable for the face amount of the note plus accrued interest and charges. In view of these considerations, it is difficult to see what objection landlords can otherwise have to signing the waiver and consent to pledge in order that the tenant may place his share of the cotton under the loan and it is believed that if these facts were generally understood, landlords would sign the waiver without question.

"You also advise that the unwillingness of landlords to indicate that they will cooperate in 1938 is causing tenants to leave the farm and as a consequence are being deprived of an opportunity to receive the cotton price adjustment payment and also are prevented from placing the cotton under loan, with respect to the loan a tenant is not prevented from placing his cotton under loan because his landlord refuses to cooperate in 1938. A tenant may place his share of cotton under loan even though he has not as yet found a place to farm in 1938. It is only required that he agree to participate in 1938 agricultural programs and in the event he does not he will not be entitled to the full benefit of the loan agreement, that is, he will remain liable for the face amount of the note plus accrued interest and charges.

"With respect to the cotton payment, the tenant becomes entitled to receive payment provided he submits proof of compliances with the 1938 agricultural adjustment program to formulated. It is immaterial whether he complies on the same farm operated in 1937 or another farm wherever located. It is easily understood how the landlord's refusal to cooperate in 1938 is forcing many tenants to leave the farms. However, we wonder if such landlords have given consideration to the probably effects of their refusal. In so refusing the landlord himself will be unable to receive the cotton price adjustment payment and will in many cases be unable to procure desirable tenants in 1938.

"Possibly landlords are refusing now for the reason that they wish first to understand the nature of the program formulated. While no accurate prediction can be made of the precise nature of the contemplated legislation, it may be assured that the program formulated under it will not be a radical departure from past programs. Congress convened on November 15 and soon thereafter will begin consideration of the 1938 agricultural adjustment programs cited in the legislation providing for cotton price adjustment payments."

THE HALIFAX TALKS

Naturally, we shall know the results of the visit of Viscount Halifax, lord president of the council, as Prime Minister Chamberlain's special emissary to Chancellor Hitler for some time if ever. But the significance of the effort of the British Government to effect a rapprochement with Germany is far reaching enough to deserve attention.

It is not my belief that Mr. Chamberlain would have sent Lord Halifax to Berlin if (1) he had not believed there was a possible basis for compromise with Germany and (2) he had not been prepared to make some concessions to Germany in the matter of colonies and raw materials.

If the news dispatches from London can be believed, Lord Halifax went to Berlin with a definite offer to cede back to Germany those African colonies now held by the British Empire. Aside from that, the Briton was empowered to discuss the newly formed Italian-German Anti-Communist pact and possible credits for Germany.

This news coincides with reports emanating from London for some months to the effect that Mr. Chamberlain and his Government were prepared to make one last effort to bring the Fascist states around to a peaceful policy. Apparently the prime minister and his foreign advisers, including Mr. Eden, the foreign secretary, realized that only by effecting a more equitable distribution of the World's raw materials and colonies could the Fascists of Italy and Nazis of Germany be brought to abandon their announced aims of national expansion.

If Great Britain is at last willing to give back to the German people the African territories taken during 1918, they are, in part at least, following a recommendation made in this column only a few weeks ago in the series of articles entitled, "Formula for Peace" in which it was stated by the writer that only by a reappportionment of the worlds territories could enduring peace be established.

The success of the Halifax talks will naturally hinge upon the extent of the Hitler demands for concessions by Britain and France—France has announced her willingness to follow Britains lead in the matter—in the matter of colonies, tariff reductions etc. Likewise Britain will demand satisfaction of certain problems before handing back to Germany East Africa, Southwest Africa, and probably Togoland and Cameroon, the latter two now mandated to France.

It is problematical whether Hitler would be satisfied only with the return of the former imperial colonies. Authoritative sources in contact with European diplomatic circles have believed for some time that the German demand for a return of the colonies was but a ruse to exact concessions from the former Allied powers. If such is the case, Herr Hitler will demand than Mr. Chamberlain is willing to concede.

What would Britain expect to gain from any transaction involving the surrender of her mandated territories in Africa? The answer is: Peace. Britain wants security against any German attack upon France in particular and upon Russia to a lesser degree, either one of which might involve the European nations in war.

Britain wants security on the European continent. She wants to avoid a condition like the condition of the present, in which Japan is gobbling up her vast investments in China, at all costs. Britain is, at last, willing to pay the price for peace, having seen what the last war cost and what rearming for the next one is doing to her internal finances and her social order.

As one who has been sympathetic with the German demand for a return of her colonies—not believing that future generations in Germany should be punished for the deeds of their fathers, however guilty or guiltless they may have been—and as one who is crusading for world peace, the writer hopes for permanent and lasting results from the Halifax talks that will materially contribute to the peace efforts of Mr. Chamberlain.

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

Well, paramount in sports today, is how the Hornet-Bulldog melee came out today, and you know by now anyway.

Secondly, is probably the Texas-Aggie game which was played at College Station, and you know that.

Now, the next thing that undoubtedly entered your mind, is "Who's all conference?" We say, "You say!" So fill in the little coupon below, and mail or bring to the News. We would like to run YOUR selection, instead of our own. All of those received will be compiled and the consensus of the sum total will be presented in his column—if we get them.

 How many games have you seen?

Regardless of the outcome of the Hornet's Thanksgiving game, win, lose or draw, Coach Worley and his 1937 Hornets have had a splendid season. Here's the record to date (Tues. 23):

Hornets	59	Moody	0
Hornets	12	M. E. Home	7
Hornets	27	Valley Mills	0
Hornets	53	Clifton	6
Hornets	12	Mart	20
Hornets	51	West	0
Hornets	33	Mt. Calm	18
Hornets	13	Hamilton	13

TOTALS
 Hornets 260 Opponents 46
 Getting statistical, dividing by 6, that's 43 1-3 touchdowns, say 43, because the Hornets converted just about 2 times. Figuring further, that's just about an average of 32½ points per game, which ain't bad, me lad, ain't bad.

What'd the opponents do? 46 divided by 6 is just about 7 2-3 points per game, say 7, and with the 46 divided by 8 games that's 5 plus points per game for the opponents.

That's one GOOD SEASON, we'd call it,—an average for the Hornets of 32½ points to the game to their opponents 5 2-3 points.

The drug store quarter backs are always busy every season, telling how they would have done it. Most of them, however, are the "paying customers", and really, their, which includes our opinion don't amount to much. But, even their and our opinions build gate receipts, and are to be respected on this account, if no other.

As the final whistles have blown on Hornet football, it's time, now to turn our eyes on that game of the "courts" basket ball, that is, unless, there's a post season game in the vicinity. We haven't heard of any yet.

THANKSGIVING PROGRAM AT PEABODY FRIDAY

Friday night, November 26, Peabody will present an Indian Pageant and Thanksgiving ceremony at 7:00. The Primary pupils will entertain first with Turkey and Pumpkin speeches. The pageant will start as the curtain rises on an Indian scene consisting of a wigwam, papoose in a cradle swing from a tree limb. The chief at work chipping flint arrowheads and the Squaw at her work of art.

The entire story will be read while it is acted out in pantomime style.

Some of the most interesting incidents are: Tableau campfire marriage of Hiawatha and Minnehaha, warriors on warpath, and war dance, coming of the white men capture of Caspt. John Smith; Pocahontas saves John Smith's life; Powhatan giving his consent to the marriage of Pocahontas to John Rolfe. Peace between Indian and White man is shown by passing the peace pipe around.

The last scene is the Thanksgiving Ceremony. All the Indians and white men will each contribute gifts of food for a feast.

Some of the songs that will be sung or played on the Mandolin are "Bu the Waters of Minatoka" a pagan love song "Red Wing"; "Little Waka Ma'd" "My Country 'Tis of Thee", and "Father We Thank Thee".

After this song the group will be permitted to eat the food that has been brought forward for the gifts offered as tokens of appreciation to God for this wonderful country in which we live.

Milk money... is HOME TOWN money

Steady circulation of milk money means steady business in a dairy community.

Milk money flows back into the community to the dairy farmers and to the men at the milk plant. It then circulates to the local storekeepers, the doctor, the dentist, and other home town people. It helps support schools, libraries, churches, hospitals, fire and police departments, and other home institutions.

It is Borden's job and Borden's privilege to contribute to this steady circulation of milk money by building new markets and bigger markets for milk and its products.

TYRONE POWER MAKES YESTERDAY'S PROPHECY THRILLING FACT

There is a far greater chance that the youngster elected "most likely to succeed" by his school mates will fulfill the prediction than there is of Miss Average-girl's "taking a trip and meeting a tall, handsome man," a desired event which her gypsy fortune-teller assures her will shortly happen.

Seers and forecasters of mysterious and exotic descriptions have always captured the imagination of everyone with their augurs based on magic spells, secret potions and crystal-gazing, with the result that he serious attention which is heir due is denied the simple school boy prophets in their annual yearbook forecasts.

Take for instance, the annual class publication of the Purcell High School in Cincinnati, Ohio. Each graduate pictured in its pages has his forecast for the future, a forecast based upon the keen perception and intimate knowledge of boys of his own age and tastes.

Thumb your way thru the A. B. C order until you arrive at the P's of a certain class and stop at the name "Power, Tyrone". Written without the aid of tea-leaves or mesmeric passes are the words of the editor-prophet of that class:

"Ty came to Purcell from Dayton Prep and in a short time became the favorite with students and teachers alike. Ty is a good student but his acting makes him the logical successor of John Barrymore."

Look at his latest role, in which he is co-starred with Loretta Young in the Twentieth Century-Fox comedy romance, "Second Honeymoon," opening Saturday at the Palace Theatre. No sorcerer with the most influential genius acquaintance could have outdone the high school oracle.

He approached Broadway producer Guthrie McClintic for passes to a Katherine Cornell play got the passes and a role as understudy besides. This was the beginning of the fortune that bore out the schoolboy's prophecy. He won other and increasingly important roles and finally was so impressive in a screen test that Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox production Chief, gave him a long-term contract.

In "Second Honeymoon" young Tyrone, is his newest screen role is an engaging fellow who finds himself in a novel situation with Loretta Young, as his former wife, and her second husband.

FARMER RETURNS AS RENTER AFTER 15 YEARS ABSENCE

Henry Struempler, after 15 years absence, returns to the Bruno Melburn farm as tenant, state he is surprised to see the big change that has taken place the past 15 years due to erosion. He states had the soil and water conservation practices now being put into effect been practiced 15 years ago, the gullies and thin spots now showing up on the farm would have been prevented. This example points out to Mr. Struempler as a tenant even though it is his first experience with conservation, practice, its necessity.

November 19, 1937
 I got into Washington Monday and found the usual wet, cold and dreary Washington winter weather, but things have been far from cold or quiet in the Capitol. It is true that no bills have been passed this week but there has been much discussion of many subjects both on and off the floor. The Senate has and still has a filibuster in progress intended to prevent the consideration of the Anti-Lynching Bill until an agriculture bill is brought in by the Committee, which should be next Monday. No legislation can be considered in either House until reported by a Committee and then in the House of Representatives any bill must get a favorable report from the Rules Committee giving it a 'rule' or an allocation of time for discussion.
 No farm bill has been reported by the Committee of either House as yet although the Senate Committee promised to have one out by Monday. There has been considerable criticism of the President by the Republicans for calling the session before these bills were ready. Some of the Democrats have, on the other hand, criticized the Agricultural Committees for not having bills ready. For my part, I do not feel like criticizing either. The President undoubtedly felt that by calling Congress he would expedite the framing of a farm bill and while the Agricultural Committees have been working long and hard to get together on a farm bill ever since we adjourned last August, I can hardly realize how difficult it is to agree on any measure that has to fit all sections of the nation and all branches of agriculture.

In fact we all know that the cotton farmers of one Texas County can't agree among themselves, and their interests are all about the same. Think then how hard it is to draw a bill that will suit the cotton farmers of the Old South and of California as well as of Texas and at the same time suit the potato farmers of Maine and the wheat farmers of the far West. And at the same time remember that unless we satisfy the industrial section of the nation, who can buy rather than sell agricultural products, we can't get enough votes in Congress to pass any farm bill.

When we stop to think of these things we must sympathize with the Committees in their efforts to work out a bill and we must better understand the reason for delay. No one wants delay. Everyone realizes that whatever is done should be done quickly but everyone must hope that we can pass a bill that will be more than a stop-gap. It should outline a sound long time policy. However, the present business recession makes it more difficult to secure the necessary money with which to finance such a program and makes me feel that it is all the more desirable that we turn from an impossible effort to support world price to a conservative program of soil conservation along with a pegged domestic price on our Cotton, guaranteeing our farmers a fair price on all cotton used in the United States but inviting no new taxes or subsidies.

However, I expect to support the farm bill whether it is just what I want or not. I realize that it is not at all likely that we will be able to get just what I think best or what anyone else thinks best. I know we are all going to have to make some concessions and I am ready to do my part. I am working on an allotment plan that I believe would get the greatest possible income for the South with a provision to encourage the family size farm and to keep the greatest possible number of people at work. I hope we will not overlook the fact in framing the bill that the government must consider the needs of the land owner and that we must make it profitable to keep the largest number of families on the farm and to use the largest amount of labor consistent with a maximum income to the South. Along with these provisions should go and I believe will go a change in the method of arriving at a base acreage. In the past we have penalized the man who diversified and rewarded the man who had planted all cotton. This was wrong. Whatever bill is passed I am convinced that this should and will be corrected.

King Wallace Crowns Queen Lowrey In Glamorous Setting Friday Nite

In regal splendor, fit for the King or queen in anybody's country, Queen Anita Lillian of the House of Lowrey was crowned Queen of Winter by his Majesty, King C. H. of the House of Wallace at the Court of Winter in the High school gym Friday evening last.

Staged on a beautiful setting on the stage, with its myriad of lights, colored by the ingenious use of colored cellophane, and climaxed by a throne, second to none; with pageantry and pomp comparable only to what "King" Edward and "Queen" Wally would get if they were crowned as heads of the British Empire, King Wallace and Queen Lowrey were crowned before an appreciative audience who were thrilled applauseless by the magnificence of the spectacle.

King Wallace, in his sleigh "driven" by Roland Wright, and heralded by Dorothy Chamlee, Gerry Davis, Gene Stinnett, June Marie Chamlee, Mary Jo Mulholland, and Margaret Holmes and closely guarded by the King's Guard, composed of Don Rhoades, Craig Davidson, Zack Fore, Robert Gilmore, Webster Bundrant and Thomas Richardson, was first, in import, of the evening taking his seat majestically on his throne.

Then the queen's procession, which included Crown Princess Mary Evelyn Eubanks, Crown Prince Harry Voss, Crown Bearer, Tommie Lee Carlton, Ma'd of Honor to her Royal Majesty, Princess Dorothy Nell of the House of Baker, Flower Girls, Mary Sue Brown and Rose Ella McCoy, and then, Her Royal Majesty, Queen Anita Lillian of the House of Lowrey, who had as her Train Bearers, Mary Ruth Franks and Ruth Powell.

Color was lent to the entire spectacle, was the colorful rainbow of the Choral Club, the girls in dresses, the combination of which was a riot of color, subdued, somewhat by the somber hues of the male members of the club, who laid the setting for the extravaganza by the singing "Winter Winds Bldy", which was followed by a double duet "Allah's Holiday" and a girl's chorus, "Forest Dance".

A new announcer for football games and the local "Lowell Thomas" of the High School was none other than Oran Baker, Prime Minister, who announced the notables.

Among those he announced were Representatives from high school clubs: Debate Club, Duchess Dorothy Johnson, Duke Wallace Daniel; FFA Sweetheart, Duchess Mildred Moore and Duke Raby Alford; Basketball, Duke Oley Beard, Football Sweetheart, Duchess Jane Thomson, Duke Burl Davis; Band, Duchess Ruth Woodson, Duke Marvin Franks; Junior Pep Squad, Duchess Virginia Bailey, Duke Duncan Kirkpatrick; Choral Club, Duchess Rosylene Anderson, Duke James Weaver; Home Economics, Duchess Treva Davis, Duke Joe Ned Brown; Pep Squad, Duchess Frances Brown, Duke Byron Gilbreath, Dramatic Club, Duchess Alma Louise Murray, Duke Bruce Jones; Press Club, Duchess Mary Ann Post, Duke Sidney Gregory.

Representatives from out-of-town, Copperas Cove High School; Duchess Joyce Butts, Duke Dewey Duncan; Evant High School, Duchess Dorothy Marie Kelley, Duke Dolan Chilton; Plainview High School, Duchess Dolly Moore, Duke Elmo King.

Grade, Princess Suzanne Sadler, Prince Charles Francis Caruth; Elementary School; Princess Pauline Martin, Prince Paul J. Ashby.

Following the parade of the celebrities, pageantry again took the forefront, and a presentation to the Kings Court, entitled "Winter Festivities" was presented to their Majesties, which including "Thanksgiving", "Christmas", "New Year", "Lincoln's Birthday", "Valentine" and "Washington's Birthday", which was ably presented by students of the elementary school. Outstanding in the "Winter Festivities" was "Time" who was evidently on his venerable old last legs, and "Cupid" represented by the versatile, and extremely temperamental star Miss Betty Bauman, who positively refused "to go on with the Show".

Closing the show, was the vocal trio which sang "The Wind at Night".

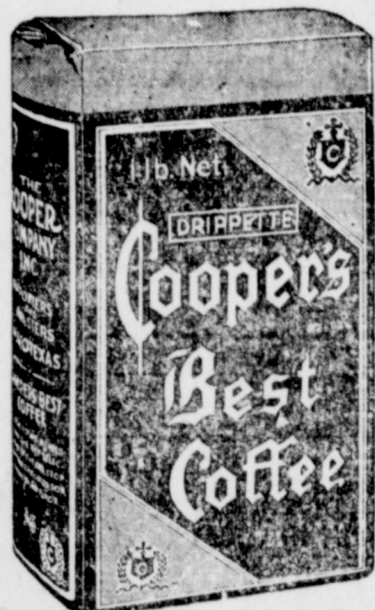

D. W. Dieren's outstanding high school band furnished the music for the occasion in a Stokowski manner, the feature being the long wended clarinet player who "carried the air" for about an hour-and-a-half without a squawk.

Credit, however, for staging the entire delightful evening's performance, goes to the director general Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook and her cohorts including Fred Schwarz and the other members of the faculty from the primary grades up.

A lengthy description would be entirely necessary to give adequately the beauty of the gowns worn by the principals the costumes of the entire cast, for that matter, and only Parisian designer could use the proper phrases to properly depict the fineness with which the costuming was done.

Preceding and after the Coronation, it was "Carnival Night" in the high school building, with many events and lots of fun for the customers.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

FELLER called up a lawyer and said as he was always fightin' with his wife, he guessed he'd get a divorce. He got an appointment with this lawyer for about 3 o'clock in the afternoon the week later, and when he got there he was shoved in an ante-room because the lawyer feller was pretty busy trying to separate another pair of gamecocks in a legal manner.

The feller listened fer about two hours to the scrappin' pair and the strain on his ears got so bad that he decided to walk out. 'Bout this time the lawyer walked out and spotted him on his way to the door and hollered, "Hey you, come back here, I got your case all ready. Your divorce is in the bag."

"Well," said the feller, "you can burn the bag up, becuz after listening to them two birds ajawing at each other, I've decided that they're all the same and one's as bad as 'nother."

For Chest Colds

Distressing cold in chest or throat, never safe to neglect, generally eases up when soothing, warming Musterole is applied.

Better than a mustard plaster, Musterole gets action because it's NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant"—stimulating, penetrating, and helpful in drawing out local congestion and pain.

Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists'. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Approved by Good Housekeeping.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

An example of the benefits of Soil Conservation measures when applied on a farm already so severely damaged by erosion as to be almost unprofitable to cultivate is found in the W. T. Hays farm in the Osage Community of the Gatesville Camp Area.

Numerous gullies, too deep to plow across, cut the 313 acres of cultivated land on this farm into small plots making it necessary to work countless short point rows in order to get sufficient acreage in crops. These active gullies not only destroyed the fertility of the soil but served as breeding places for obnoxious weeds and insects which spread over the adjoining cultivated patches.

When this farm was placed under agreement with the soil Conservation Service, the owner expressed a desire for additional pasture land in order to carry out a balanced farm program which included increased livestock production. 110 acres of the more severely eroded land was retired to pasture and sodded to Buffalo and Bermuda grass. All gullies in this area was plowed in and sodded with bermuda to permit mowing for weed control.

200 acres of the best land will be kept in cultivation. Erosion in this field will be controlled contour tillage, and crop rotation. The largest gully was shaped and sodded with Buffalo and will be utilized as an outlet for 19 terraces. The remaining gullies have been plowed in and double seed to allow tillage implements to cross.

Under the present conservation plan, this cooperator has 156 acres of excellent pasture land all of which may be mowed, and 200 acres of cultivated land well produced from erosion and supporting no soil-robbing gullies.

PURCHASING POWER OF CATTLE AFFECTED BY NUMBERS

Collebe Station—Cattle number and the purchasing power of cattle follows cycles varying from 14 to 16 years in length according to W. E. Morgan, economist of the Extension Service division of Texas A. and M. College.

When the purchasing power of cattle is high, production is stimulated, and the numbers increase, Morgan points out. On the other hand, when purchasing power is low, production is curtailed.

In 1920, there were about 49 million head of cattle in the U. S., Morgan says. In that year a steer was worth, in terms of what the ranchman could buy with the proceeds of the sale, 79 percent as much as it was in the years 1910 to 1914. In 1930, 10 years later, there was 38 million head of cattle in the country and a steer was worth 34 percent more in buying power than it was in 1910 to 1914.

ADVENTURE IS COMING IN THE AMERICAN BOY

Readers who like adventure and the lure of far places will find plenty to please them in coming issues of THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. They'll read, for instance, of seamen and Sabotage and San Francisco water-front trouble; of daring adventure in the world of pseudo-science, and of a feud aboard a plunging' rolling battleship.

They'll read, too, of excitement aboard a transport plane blaring over jungled Mexican mountains and stranger planes that are not bound to earth but swing through the noiselessness of space. Readers can follow a young ex Mountie as he searches for clues in the wild northlands, on the trail of city criminals.

A new feature in THE AMERICAN BOY is picture pages that tell stories. Pictures, for instance, that vividly show a day in the life of a coast guardsman, and how an Eskimo husky sled dog does his work. They transmit the thrill of battling a hundred pound, water-churning tarpon. Tips on how it's done are also given pictorially—ranging from how to run a broken field to how to be correct in a ball-room!

NOTE: Subscription prices of THE AMERICAN BOY will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00 Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

Lets Talk about Clothes

Denton, Nov. 23. While the world is busy being thankful for various things we women may as throw in a few "huzzas" for the hundreds of men and omen at home and abroad who create our styles for us.

Thanks, first of all for variety. No matter how often the seasons change, there is always something new on the fashion horizon. A new style of revival of an old one somehow makes womanhood blossom forth anew.

Those who have legs approaching the Marlene Dietrich calibre should hail stylists for this season's short skirts, and the dancing younger generation have already voiced their satisfaction with breifer modes.

Though some may find it a bit difficult to see anything for which to be thankful for in the way of millinery, we Pollyannas say that hats could be much crazier. And girls in Texas State College for Women find that if one desires to be dashing, stunning, attention-compelling in every way, nothing will achieve the desired effect more quickly than one of this year's chapeaux.

Perfectly sensible gratitude should be according to cloth manufacturers for the new synthetic materials they've given us this winter. Wool combined with silk so it doesn't scratch, rayon spun into smooth but heavy fabrics, uncrushable velvets, duveteen and others all help to make this a more comfortable season than ever before.

1620, a bleak year saw the landing of a small party on the wild coast of America. Their terrific struggle for a foothold in this new soil is known to every schoolboy. Then, after their first harvest—knowing that success, no matter how small, was theirs—the Pilgrims paused to give thanks!

1937

Again 317 years later, the nation commemorates that custom. Forgetting the confusion of the modern world, and calling their families and friends about them, Americans gather once more to enjoy the riches of their tables—and to give thanks for the blessings of this land!

WITH THE

Washington, D. C. The folks of the little Pennsylvania village of Gettysburg must have awakened on that July morning nearly 3 quarters of a century ago with much the same feeling of apprehension that political Washington feels today. There is going to be a battle here—the second round of the New Deal—Old Deal encounter; and in this round or rather this session of congress one side must win and one side must lose. The result will lay the course of the nation for many years to come.

President Roosevelt has served notice that he is determined to fight for the passage of many of the administration measures which were sidetracked or ignored in the smokescreen of the Supreme Court reform battle. That he is so determined indicates that he feels he has the backing of the majority of the voters. Especially the farm and the labor element.

No doubt the abrupt increase in the importance of the labor vote as a unit in the recent elections has influenced him. For the first time since the CIO-ALF split the administration is making a vigorous effort to bring about some sort of an agreement. From the administration point of view this breach must be healed before the congressional elections of 1938 lest the labor vote be divided at that time and part of it lost to the New Deal candidates.

It is probable too that any measures recommended to congress to lighten the tax burden will definitely favor the small businessman. Big business, it is safe to predict, will receive neither favor nor relief.

Exactly what the opposition will do it is impossible to say until congress convenes for the reason—and it is a source of the President's strength—that the opposition will not be unanimous. The congressman who may oppose bitterly this measure is forced by the law of nature of his constituency to support that.

Both the administration and the opposition will agree however, that something must be done to revive slumping business. Most reliable of the weekly indices show a definite downward trend to the lowest level in eighteen months.

Here again the President will have the advantage since the slump is ascribed in some degree to the fact that relief and WPA and government spending gener-

This guy, talkback of the McGregor Bulldogs, is one of the mainstays the hornets are going to face on Turkey Day.

He is one of the hardest hitting backs of this tough eleven which the Hornets of Gatesville high will face. He scales in at 163 lbs. and is touted as a punter, passer and runner. Unfortunately, for teams of this great, maybe, he is a sophomore, with we suppose, two more years to play.

Coaches Worley and Schwarz, at least Schwarz, stated Saturday would be ready to go with the starting whistle.

From Supt. T. H. Jenkins of McGregor Hi, comes this letter which is gloomy, or just publicity to put the Hornets off their stride. You can be the judge, but here's the letter.

"What had happened in other games this fall was forgotten as the Marlin and McGregor football teams waged a toe-to-toe battle that waged from one end of the gridiron to the other ending 13-7, Marlin. Rogas of Marlin scored when he wheel-

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

The time draweth nigh! The time is Thanksgiving, and the place is McGregor, the event is, HORNET-BULLDOG ANNUAL FOOTBALL GAME.

Always, a thriller!

That noise on the east side of the square, is the sound made from hardwood smashing against harder wood. They're bowling!

And what weather for bowling. This is liable to cause the organization of a Winter Bowling League, now that the boys (and girls) have bent their knees and elbows and are getting their eyes on the balls.

Although in the "city" where football is all the rage, basket ball is in the forefront in the rural school, and we are reading about so many games, tournaments, etc., that we've lost count who is really leading, both feminine and masculine.

These folks are going to have the jump on us city fellers who are fooling around with football, regardless of this, the coming basket ball season is going to give sport fans thruout the county plenty to see in fast, sporting action.

HORNET MENTOR

Here's Coach Earle Worley, popular Hornet Mentor who is scheduled to complete a successful season Thanksgiving by winning the closing fracas at Woods Field with McGregor's Bulldogs.

ed thru tackle in the second period for 35 yards and the first score of the game. Gatlin, of McGregor powered his way up the field on slashes off-tackle to within the three yard line where Pedigo took over the ball carrying duties to score for McGregor. A desperate pass in the last quarter closed the scoring for the day, with Marlin on the big end.

(Now here's the "gloom") McGregor was weakened by the early injury of Red Bradshaw. Kittrell, the man around whom Coach Mitchell has built his attack, was unable to get started because of an injury to his hip in the West game, which West won 24-14.

If coach Mitchell can get his backs in shape by Thanksgiving Day, the bulldogs will win over the Hornets."

The dope, so far, indicates nothing, the Hornets M. E. Home, 12-7, Mart beat McGregor, 13-7; M. E. Home held Mart to a scoreless tie. Also, the Hornets won over west, 51-0, and West took McGregor 25-14, so, who can dope a game like this.—it's anybody's.

Regardless of pre-game gloom or what, ladies and gentlemen, there's going to be a GAME Thanksgiving day in McGregor, and, what's more, just about all of Gatesville will be there, not to mention Coryell County. Even the Friday issue of the McGregor Mirror says this:

"Hundreds of Coryell county fans will follow the Hornets that day. You see the Gatesville team is made up of boys from Mound to Jonesboro and back to Arnett and all the home folks will be there to see them play".

The Mirror gets "gloomy" too: "McGregor is definitely the under dog but quite capable of taking care of itself in a ball game. For that reason plenty of McGregor fans will be out there at this renewal of the annual football classic of these parts.

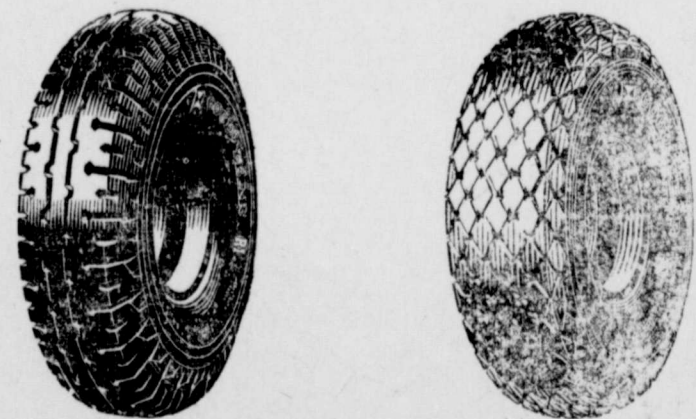

NUBBIN DAWSON

Here's the brains of the McGregor Hi team, none other than "Nubbin" Dawson, pass snatching quarterback of the Hornets Turkey Day tussle. He'll probably pull some fancy plays for the Hornets to unravel.

SYNOPSIS

Just before the discovery of oil at Titusville, Pa., in 1859 Sally Watterson comes to the town with her father's medicine show. When the medicine wagon catches fire, she is rescued by Peter Cortlandt, a young farmer. Cortlandt, who is drilling for oil on his property, falls in love with the beautiful Sally, and asks her to marry him.

CHAPTER IV

SALLY was radiant in Grandma Cortlandt's wedding gown. She stood beside Peter proudly, held his arm as if she meant never to release it. Next to her small figure he was tall and rugged, his face transfigured with his love and pride. Around them the wedding guests made merry on the broad Cortlandt lawn. Doc Watterson and Grandma danced gaily to the tunes played by the seemingly tireless musicians. In the middle of the crowd Mac, glad to be again the center of attraction as so often he had been with the medicine show, sang and danced.

Then Peter, seeing his chance, dragged Sally from the crowd. They raced across the lawn, through the meadow and up to the crest of the hill where he had asked her to go to the Lippincott dance. He kissed her tenderly.

Next to her small figure, Peter was tall and rugged, his face transfigured with his love and pride.

"It's goin' to be here, darlin'."

"What's goin' to be here, Peter?"
 "The house. The house I'm buildin' for you!"

She could only stare, her heart pounding. Her eyes became twin stars in which little tears of joy appeared and she could only say over and over again:

"Oh my dearest! My dearest!"
 Around them the old mountains rolled away to the horizon, patched with the green of the forests and the yellow grain fields, the beauty marred only by the ugly derrick that stood on the next rise, its drill pounding. For a moment it seemed to Sally that it was dangerous, that it was menacing, but she forgot it the next instant.

"I'll start it tomorrow," Peter was saying. "I'll get a gang of men up here and it'll be done in no time."

He lifted her, swung her round and round in his sturdy arms. He kissed her again and again, talking wildly. This was their hill, he was saying. Here they would live out their lives, bring up their children. . . .

"Yes, Peter," she said. "Yes. All our lives. . . . Oh Peter, I'm so happy! I'm so—"

At that moment the earth trembled. A dull explosion rocked the peaceful hills. Startled, they looked toward the derrick. It quavered, swayed, flew apart, as tons of pressure, suddenly released by Peter's drill, sent up an enormous geyser of oil.

They heard the excited yelling of the wedding guests, who had forgotten the wedding now in the deluge of oil that drenched them, drenched the countryside.

"It's a gusher!" Peter shouted. "I've struck it!"

"Peter!" she cried in fright. But what did she fear? She didn't know. She knew only that she was afraid as she watched that ugly fountain that meant, she knew, untold wealth. Then she understood her fear. Peter was not noticing her. This was their wedding day no longer. to him. He rushed down the hill and left her and she stood for a moment as the oil fell on her and marred the white beauty of her dress. And she feared that she would lose him to that great fountain of oil and in terror and sudden anger because of it, she hurried down the hill after him, seeking him in the throng.

She found him, but he was too ex-scarcely saw him now. "We've all we want now. We've a fortune."

"Yes," he said. "But we've an obligation too, we farmers. We've got to produce it for everybody. It means too much. Understand, honey?"

She didn't understand. She understood only that it seemed useless, that she was losing her husband in this struggle with nature and economics and the forces of the world. Her house seemed to symbolize it. It had been started, but abandoned. She often walked to the hill and looked at the foundation. The workers had joined the mad scramble for oil. Her hill! Her house! She looked out over the teeming derricks and shuddered. Would those derricks eat into her hill—their hill?

They might have, but Peter wouldn't allow that, even though he knew it would yield the biggest gusher of all. . . .

But a new menace rose against the farmers. The ponderous forces of Eastern financiers moved into the scene. Big capital, skeptical at first, was now interested. In Philadelphia, Walter Brennan, railroad czar and magnate, a man with a pleasant smile and murderously cold eyes, laid plans. With other financiers who pooled their interests with him, he saw a way to snatch control of the oil fields from the farmers.

"They need the railroads," he said pleasantly. "Now suppose we raise the rates. Oil's no good unless refined and if the rates are too high to take the oil to the refineries—why then. . . ." He spread his hands, laughed heartily. "Ever play freeze-out, gentlemen?"

It began to tell. The farmers couldn't make expenses with the exorbitant freight rates. They protested, but were ignored. The rates even went higher. In desperation, they called Brennan to Titusville for conference, delegated Peter to see him. But Brennan played his hand shrewdly. He avoided Peter.

Therefore, Peter decided to take bold measures. It was his birthday. At home, he scarcely noticed that Grandma and Sally went about in excitement, as if they had a secret. Which, indeed, they had. There were presents and cake. It would be gay, their birthday supper for him.

"I'm going to see Brennan today!" he said savagely. "I'm goin' to see him if I have to drag him out o' bed!"

"Yes, dear," Sally kissed him. "But you'll be here for supper, won't you?"

"Yes," he said. But he wasn't thinking of supper. He didn't even know it was his birthday. Everything was at stake in this interview. His future, Sally's, Pennsylvania's—perhaps the world's. Who knew?

Grimly, he set out for the show-down.

B.'s motto was always remember that its it is impossible to exaggerate the stupidity of the public.— John Golden Broadway producer is on the march again—having successfully launched Gertrude Lawrence in the Rachel Brothers comedy, 'Susan and God' at the Plymouth theatre, The famous impresario added impetus to a desultory season by announcing immediate production plans for a schedule of four plays for the fall and winter semesters.

Thus the producer of such hits as 'Lightin' Turn to the Right', 'Seventh Heaven', and 'When Ladies Meet' is once again in full managerial swing; not since 1927 has the living theatre been so vitally alive as it is at the present time, said John Golden in a recent interview. Broadway, which has gradually been coming back for the past three years has reached a new high in the number of hits and box-office grosses. The answer of course lies not only in giving theatre goers good plays but investing them with superlative cast. And this, fortunately, is precisely what managers have done to the enchantment of both audiences and themselves; 'Susan and God' barely a fortnight old, has already joined the list of undisputed hits; But the most discussed scene in the contemporary show- shops is doubtless the one where- in Betty Lawford takes a bath in full view of the audience; this colorful incident occurs in Max Gordon's production of "The Woman" the handiwork of Clare Boothe, and currently on display at the Ethel Barrymore theatre. Perhaps the dramatist, in fashion- ing her comedy, had the temerity to show a woman lolling in a tub only because the entire cast is made up of females, but whatever the reason it has set playgoers to talking. 'Personally, I enjoy my role very much', says Miss Lawford 'It's different and rather exhilarating; it has been an exciting experience for me, and I am truly grateful to be playing this much talked about role.' The Broadway parade.

ally have been curtailed and this curtailment was at the insistence of big business. Informed economic students point out that the simple cause of his slump has been the abrupt rise in prices without a correspond- ing increase in the purchasing power of the average family. The only possible remedy, the admin- istratinn will point out, is some form of wage hour bill to raise that purchasing power. And since increased wages will certainly mean increased prices it is equal- ly certain that there will be no modification of the axes designed to prevent big business from mak- ing increased profit out of those increased prices.
