JONESBORO GYM TO BE OPENED OFFICIALLY THURSDAY NITE

Jonesboro's new gym will be officially opened Thursday night, October 13, with the inaugurating ceremonies featuring speeches, various types of entertainment, and a review of the two Eagle basketball club, both boys and girls.

This gym is the fulfillment of the aspirations of several hard-working Jonesboro high school officials, and is a structure of which that community may well be proud. It is built of rock and wood, and according to Supt. P. T. Lemmons who has been instrumental in obtaining the building is "a pretty nice little gym".

The Jonesboro five is going to have to be built from the ground up, since Lemmons loses most of his last year's club, who were county finalists. Jonesboro fans should come and see the new faces that will form their '38 quintet.

T'VILLE TAKES FIRST FROM FLAT UNDER LIGHTS 32-0

Friday night, the first of 6-Man football was presented when two green teams met for the first game of 6-man football in Gatesville, Turnersville taking the long end of the score by a 32-0 count. Fans from Turnersville were very much there, but the Flat supporters were fairly scarce. The local fans were weak also.

Honors go to C. Jacques for making the first 6-man touchdown in Gatesville, and under the lights. Staring for Turnersville were Sutherland, Jacques, Walker and Huckabee.

Powell on the defense was outstanding for Flat, and Blackshear, and Halcomb turned in good games. Practically every man on both teams was used during the evening.

Standard field for 6-Man is 80x40, and the "chain" is 15 yards, instead of the 10 in regular football. Working of the teams is practically the same as in regular football.

Turnersville, although roundly beating Flat, had considerable trouble. Only one man on both teams had ever played in a football game before.

Officials were Hedgepeth, Pearl; Sharp, Pearl.

CHISELS SOFT PLASTER UNDER BARS AND SWINGS OUT

Royce Faubion chisled his way out of the Coryell County jail here yesterday afternoon about 2:45 while Sheriff Joe White was in Waco on other matters pertaining to his office.

"Red" White, the Sheriff's son was there at 2 p. m. and everything was in order. Escape was made by chiseling out soft plaster, that was supposed to have been cement, and pulling himself up under the bars. By means of a blanket tied to the bars, Faubion slid to the ground.

Bunk Hasty, another prisoner said late yesterday afternoon he heard some noises in the rear of the jail but paid no attention to it.

Sunday, Faubion had a visitor, but according to "Red" White prisoners in the jail are always wanting something, and they think nothing of them. It was evident that escaping plans were made with the last visitor, or is thought so.

Faubion was arrested in Brownwood last summer, charged with stealing mohair and transporting to Brownwood for resale. He was caught there by Sheriff White and the man who the mohair belonged to, and returned to jail here, where he has been held without bond until yesterday afternoon.

According to Sheriff White, he had previously been convicted on two charges of cattle theft and had served time in the penitentiary.

According to the oldsters hereabouts, this is the first jail break here in years, and is the first to go free from the new jail.

HOW MANY HERE?

According to the Dallas Dispatch-Journal 50,000 residents of Dallas are in the hands of loan sharks. This is about one-sixth of the city's entire population.

Austin has about one-third as many people as Dallas. It offers a particularly rich field to the loan shark because of the large number of salaried workers. Perhaps we have at least 16,000 loan shark victims in Austin. Who knows? Who is trying to find out?—Austin Times.

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

The Hornets did themselves proud holding VM to the score they did. Any squawks about the game are rom "cronic" beefers and should be ignored.

Six-man got it's send off Friday and Friday night, Pearl running away from Ireland 52 to 0, and under the lights, Turnersville had some difficulty in taking Flat 32 to 0.

The disappointment locally, was that the Flat-Turnersville game failed to draw any better. Six man is probably (selfishly or not) the best football salesman of which we know. It's going to do the job and, deserves the support of the entire citizenship of Gatesville. We were distinctly disappointed at the "gallery".

There is one excuse, the avalanche of football games during the week end.

In the Eagles Hornet game, we have NEVER seen any prettier plays than Kirk's 95 yard lope for a touchdown, or Lester's beautiful shoe string tackle, which, by the way, loped off six points VM might have gotten.

Now, the World's Serious is over, and it was the Yanks all the way, but not without plenty of hits for the Cubs, who could not bunch them, or knock them over the fence. Here's the four games, Yanks, first: 3-1, 6-3, 5-2, 8-3.

It's Clifton and Hornets Friday night of this week, and our chance to get back to the .500 per cent mark. The Hornet's will take this one.

Week-end SW Con. results: Baylor 9, Ark. 6; Texas 0, Okla. 13; Aggies, 0, Santa Clara 7; Rice 0, LSU. 3; TCU 28, Temple 6; SMU 0, Marquette?

Miss Nell Block, graduate of the University of Texas and of the Assembly's Training School for Lay Workers in Richmond, Virginia, will be one of the instructors in the Co-operative Leadership Training School to be held in Gatesville from October 23 to 28.

Miss Block, recently employed as Director of Religious Education in Central Texas Presbytery, devotes a large part of her time to the training of workers in the church thru school and classes such as this one. She has been of assistance in setting up this inter-church school and will be one of the three teachers.

"Ways of Teaching" is the title of the course Miss Block will teach. It is a class which should prove of genuine interest and value to all those who are either now active in some Sunday School either as teacher, department superintendent or general superintendent; or those who contemplate becoming a teacher in the future.

"There are many ways to teach the Christian religion," says Miss Block. "Our course will endeavor to evaluate these ways, and to see how each person may adopt and adapt these to himself and to his own class."

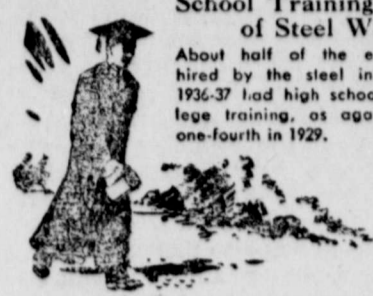

"So great is the responsibility resting on a man or woman charged with teaching God's way of living to a growing boy or girl, or to a mature adult, for that matter, that all of us should study more effectively to present the Bible truths, which of course is the object of all Sunday School teaching."

The Value to the teacher of the Christian religion of lecturing, of telling a story, of discussion, of How to plan for the class session, how to use the Bible, and how to use the quarterly or text, will be studied. How to appeal to the interests of the pupils one is teaching and how to guide their interests into worth while enterprises are major problems of the course.

There will be two classes in the school; one for Young People on "The World Mission of the Christian Religion" taught by Rev. Leslie Seymour pastor of the First Methodist Church; and one open to everyone, on Bible (the Old Testament) taught by Rev. Edward S. Bayless of the First Presbyterian Church.

The school will be held in the First Methodist Church. It is open, and should be of interest and profit to everyone regardless of church affiliation; and it is hoped that members of all the churches in Gatesville and the surrounding area will avail themselves of this opportunity.

• The lanky Longhorn is almost as extinct as the dodo on Texas ranges. Where once he reigned supreme, you'll find, now, a splendid type of beef animal.

The change didn't take place overnight; the rancher didn't announce a "new" steer every year or so. His process of improvement has been continuous, and it's still going on.

The same policy has guided the Humble Company in manufacturing motor fuels and motor oils for the Texas motorist. When it has an entirely new product, Humble announces it as such; otherwise, the search and research for improved quality never ceases—it is continuous from day to day.

This policy has resulted in a steady flow of improved Humble products, definitely second to none in quality, to Texas motorists; and it has made it unnecessary for the Humble Company to use exaggerated claims in its advertising.

We say, try Humble products; performance will convince you. The Texas motorist has said, "You're right!"

Hornets Drop First Cont. to Valley Mills

TWO BREAKS MEAN "PAY" FOR EAGLES: HORNETS NOT OUT PLAYED

.000 is the percentage and it should be! Gatesville Hi really has some Club. The score, 18-7, doesn't tell half of it. Leading at the half, 7-6, the Hornets had two bad breaks that made the final score for the Eagles.

Honors for the Hornets, go to Lester, for his shoe-string tackle of a touchdown VM'er, and the touchdown trek of Kirkpatrick who intercepted Heath's pass on the 5 yd. line and ran 95 yds for a touchdown.

Heath and J. Bond, were outstanding for VM.

Play by Play

Captain Bond of Valley Mills and Co-Captains Post and Morgan met in the center of the field with Referee Carpenter. Bond won the toss and elected to defend the south goal, while Gatesville decided to receive. Bond kicked to the Gatesville 10, where it was scooped up by Lester and returned to the 32 yard stripe. On a reverse over the left side of the line, Kirk picked up twelve yard and a first down. Lester picks up two over the middle while on the next play Robinson made only a yard. On an attempted off-tackle plunge, Kirk fails to gain, Everett smashing in from his end position to stop the play. Lester kicks to Valley Mills 30, where Goldman picks it up and is stopped after a short runback. Heath is nailed at the line for no gain by Perryman and McDonald. J. Bonds over left side of line picks up a scant yd. J. Bonds kicks out of bound on Gv. 18 yd. line.

Kirk circles left end for fifteen yards, then Jackson sweeps right end for seven more. On a fake reverse, Kirk is nailed for two yd. loss by Everetts. Jackson's pass to Kirk is high and incomplete. Lester kicks to own 45. Heath picked up four over center before Morgan nailed him. Heath passed to Bonds for 12 yds. and a first down. Post drug J. Bonds down for no gain on an attempted reverse around LE. Heath fails to gain thru line.

Heath passes to K. Bonds, who muffs the catch, the ball being almost intercepted by Lester. Heath sends a beautiful kick out of bounds on the Gv. 5 yd stripe. Kirk plows thru left side of line for a couple of yds. On a reverse, Kirk breaks thru left side of line or first down. Robinson crashes over center for 3 yards. Kirk picks up a couple over right tackle, but Jackson's third-down pass was dropped by Robinson. Lester kicks to own 20 when J. Bonds takes it on the dead run, evades a couple of Hornet tazes and crossed the goal line standing up for the first touchdown. Attempted conversion kick was wide. Score: Valley Mills 6, Gv. 0. Sub: McBride for Jones.

Bonds kicks to Lester who takes it on his 10 and brings it back up to the 18 Kirk picks up a yd. over the left side of the line. Sub: Blankenship for Weaver, Edwards for Schley and Foster for Jackson. Short pass from Kirk to Weaver nets a yard. Substitution: Jelks for Bray. Kirk's pass to Lester was incomplete. Lester, attempting to kick, fumbles, recovered by Valley Mills on Gatesville's 15 yd line. Heath smashes thru L side for 8 yds, then picked up another yd. thru C. Kirk makes a beautiful running interception of Heath's pass out into the left flat and gallops 95 yds. for TD. Robinson drives over C for extra point. Score: Gv. 7, V M 6. Sub: Byrom for Perryman. Morgan's first kick was called back and Valley Mills penalized five yds. for lining up illegally. Morgan kicks to Heath who picks it up on his 20 and returns to 40 yd. line. Heath, attempting to pass, loses one. downed by Post. Heath passes right down the middle to J. Bond for 5, J. Bonds was stopped for no gain when he attempted to go over. Heath kicks to Jackson on 20 and Jack returned it to the 25 before going down under a swarm of Eagle tacklers. Subs: Blackmon for Smith. Robinson was stopped for no gain when he attempted to go over the L side of line. Kirk's pass into the right flat zone was intercepted by Bond, who carried it back to the 12 before Post tackled him from behind. Heath picked up one thru the middle, and on the next play was downed by Edwards for no gain. Heath's pass to Bonds was incomplete. Heath's pass to Everett sailed over Everett's head and on over the goal line. Gatesville's ball on their own 20 yd. stripe. Kirk fails to gain around RE. Foster picks up one on a sweep around LE. Lester punts to his own 45, where it was killed by Morgan. Heath faking a sweeping end runs, turns and whips a long pass to Goldman on the opposite side of the field. Goldman was in the clear, but a courageous, diving tackle by Lester stopped him on Gv's. 25 yd line. Heath's pass to Everett was high and incomplete. Sub: Weaver for Byrom. J. Bond hit C for 2. Heath picked up a couple over right tackle, but on 4th down he failed to gain and ball went over.

Robinson picked up 1 at C. A VM player is thrown off the field and is penalized half the distance to the goal line for unnecessary roughness and unsportsmanlike conduct. Sub: Culberson for Lester. Kirk rushed badly and his pass to Post was short and incomplete. Foster sweeps LE for 3. Kirk's long pass to Culberson is knocked down as half ends. Gv. 7, VM. 6.

2nd Half

The Hornets chose to receive, and J. Bonds kicked to Lester, who took the ball on his own 18 and returned to 28 yd stripe. On a reverse over the L side of the line, three Eagles drift thru and downed Kirk for a 5 yd loss. Kirk plows thru C for 3. Lester punts from own 20 to V M 48. Bray sweeps RE for 1 before Lester hit him hard. Both men were injured on the play, and both had to be removed from the game. Foster replaces Lester. J. Bond, rushed by Post, passes wild, but play called back and Gatesville penalized 5 yds, for off side Heath passes over C to Bonds, who lateraled to Blackmon. Blackmon carried it to the 18 before Foster nailed him. However the play was called back, the official ruling that the lateral pass had been forward, and the ball was taken back to the scrimmage line. Heath's pass to Bond was knocked down by Robinson. Heath punts from 45 to 1 yd line, the ball being killed at that spot by Everett. Kirk kicks from behind goal line to his own 30, where Goldman took the ball and returned it three yds. before Post tackled Heath passes to Bonds, who, after taking a couple of steps, fumbled, and Robinson recovered for Gatesville. Robinson plows thru C for 2 yds. Foster fails to gain around LE. Robinson stopped for no gain. Kirk punts to the VM 45 yd line, where it is killed by Morgan. Heath's pass to Everett is short and incomplete. Heath passes to Bonds, completed for 12 yds. and 1st down Heath's pass is intercepted by Jackson, who returns from the 30 to the 46 yd line. Robinson picks up 3 thru C. Robinson fails to gain over the L side of line. Kirk kicks out of bounds on V M 30. Subs: Perryman for Weaver, Jones for McBride.

Heath passes to K. Bonds for 20 and a 1st down. Heath's pass was knocked down by Blankenship. Bonds dropped Heath's pass when he was hit hard by Morgan. Heath's pass to J. Bonds was complete for 5 yds. Heath kicks to Jackson who takes it on his 3 and returns to his 8. Robinson makes 1 thru C. Jackson momentarily fumbles, and lost 1. Kirk kicks from behind goal line to Jelks, who is tackled by Post on the 27 yd line. Heath whipped a long pass to Everett who took it over his shoulder on the 5 yd line and crossed the goal line standing up. Heath's attempted conversion kick was blocked by swarm of Hornet linesmen. V M 12, Gv. 7. Bond kicked to Kirk, who picked it up on his own 20 and returned to his 38. Kirk fails to gain over L side of line. Jackson's pass to Jones was high and incomplete. Kirk makes 2 thru L side as quarter ends. Score, Valley Mills 12, Hornets 7.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Though wanted by the police of all Europe, Pepe le Moko, notorious jewel thief, is safe as long as he remains in the mysterious native quarter, or Casbah, of Algiers, where his friends protect him. But Pepe meets and loves Gaby, tourist girl from Paris, and longs to escape from the Casbah. Inspector Slimane, sly Casbah detective whose assignment is to lure Pepe out of the native quarter, decides to use Gaby for his purpose. Posing as a friend of Pepe's, he encourages the love affair between Pepe and Gaby, thus filling Ines, Pepe's native sweetheart, with jealous rage. Gaby promises to return every day to see Pepe, until Slimane tells her that Pepe has been killed by the police. Gaby, overcome with grief, decides to sail immediately for Paris with her fiance, Giroux.

Chapter Six

Gaby, it seemed, had broken a promise after all. She had not come back to Pepe, and after waiting feverishly he had despatch-trap you into going there. But she will not be there. She is sailing on the Ville d'Oran.

Pepe waited to hear no more. Shoving L'Arbi out of his way, he unlocked a drawer of Carlos' cabinet, took out a wallet bulging with banknotes, and was gone, heedless of Ines' cries.

Slimane was outside the hotel, waiting with two detectives to arrest Pepe as soon as he should appear in response to the decoy message. They were astonished to see Ines rush up to them wild-eyed, her hair flying.

"He isn't coming — he's going to the boat," she gasped.

"So you're the one to betray him," said Slimane with quiet bitterness. "You couldn't wait to run to me. You call it love, but it means you'd kill him before you'd let him go free." He turned away from her and signaled his men to follow.

On the boat a merry party of tourists held forth in the cocktail lounge. That is, three of them were merry, and they took no notice of the fourth, humoring her whim. Gaby sat silently in a corner, saying nothing, hearing nothing.

A stealthy form appeared outside on the deck, and a face peered in through the window of ed Carlos to her hotel with a letter. Then Pepe, exhausted by emotional stress, had thrown himself on a bunk in Carlos' room and fallen into a deep slumber.

"Let me wait here until the boat leaves," pleaded Pepe.

"What time is it?" Pepe awakened with a start, rubbing his eyes. "Nine o'clock," Tania told him. "Is that all?"

"In the morning. You slept right through the night."

"Where's Carlos?"

"He hasn't come back. And I'm worried — plenty."

Pepe shrugged. "He can take care of himself."

L'Arbi, a Casbah character whom Pepe had always looked upon with distrust, came ringing into the room. Close at his heels was Ines.

"We've been looking for you everywhere," scolded the girl. "Why weren't you at home?"

"Because I'm here," retorted Pepe. "What do you want, L'Arbi?"

"Pepe, I'm ashamed of myself..." With an elaborate show of groveling and self-condemnation, L'Arbi went into his story. The police, it seemed, had captured Carlos. L'Arbi had seen him in his cell, and Carlos had given him Pepe's letter, which L'Arbi had delivered to the lady. And now he was bringing her message in reply. She wanted to see Pepe. He was to go to the hotel and wait for her at the rear entrance.

Pepe listened intently, with contemptuous disbelief.

"Tell me, L'Arbi, did they search Carlos?"

"Oh, yes."

"Then they took the five thousand francs?"

"Yes. I saw Inspector Louvain put it in the drawer of his desk. I saw him count it, too."

Pepe advanced a step, and his hand closed over the man's throat.

"Now I know you're lying," he grated. "Carlos had less than a hundred francs on him! Come on, out with it! What did you do with my letter?"

L'Arbi protested with feeble cries. "Do I have to kill you to get the truth?" Pepe shouted, choking him.

"I'll tell, Pepe," whimpered the informer. "Only let me go — I'll tell!"

Pepe released him, and L'Arbi gasped out his story.

"The police are waiting for you at the hotel. I told them I would the lounge. Pepe anxiously scanned the faces, one after another, from under the pulled-down brim of his hat. But the one he sought was not to be seen. Gaby, in her corner, was beyond the range of his eyes.

A hand fell gently on Pepe's shoulder. Turning quickly, he found Slimane, with the two detectives behind him, their hands in coatpockets that bulged significantly toward him. They walked him off the boat, and on the dock they handcuffed him. Ines, waiting there, rushed to Pepe.

"I did it, Pepe — I told them. Don't hate me! I was crazy because I love you! Forgive me!"

Pepe shrugged. "You did what your heart told you," he said gently. "So did I."

Slimane led him away, leaving Ines to sob out her anguished repentance alone.

As they came to the wharf gate the steamer whistle blew a terrific blast. She was getting ready to cast off.

"I ask only one thing," Pepe said to Slimane. "Let me wait here until it leaves." Slimane, after some hesitation, acceded to the request, and Pepe stood looking out through the iron bars of the gate, gazing at the boat as she started to leave the pier.

Suddenly he started, gripping the bars tensely. A familiar figure had appeared on the stern deck, gazing back toward him. He shouted wildly: "Gaby! Gaby!"

But as he cried out the whistle let go another blast, drowning out his voice. Gaby shuddered and put her hands to her ears. Then, after another sorrowful look toward Algiers, she was gone.

Pepe, forgetting everything but his mad longing, pushed open the gate and rushed along the pier toward the receding boat, wildly crying out her name. One of the detectives swiftly raised his gun and fired.

When they reached Pepe he was lying on the pier, gasping out his last strength. The bullet had found its mark.

"I'm sorry, Pepe," Slimane said brokenly. "He thought you were going to get free."

A calm, almost happy smile spread over Pepe's face. "I have," he whispered, and fell back, dead.

HOLLYWOOD

By
Chas. E. Patterson

Algiers is a grand, novel and original picture. I'm not out of adjectives, but you can use your own to describe this absorbing drama when you see it. A story written because the author really had something to tell, one feels. An outstanding picture because each actor gives flawless performances.

Actors seldom disappoint the audience if their roles are sincere, don't you think? The stars of "Algiers", Charles Boyer and Hedy La Marr, promise to become the standard by which other stars are measured. It used to be, "She out Garbo's Garbo"; or, "Greatest since Valentino".

I noticed for the first time the other day that Los Angeles has an ingenious way of preventing a heavier pedestrian traffic across Broadway, it's big street. The ladies apparel and the department store are on one side of the street with the men's shops and hardware stores on the other. If a lady has her mind set on paying one dollar for a pair of hose, she'll only have to shop two miles down one side of the street before she decides she'll buy that two dollar pair she saw back in the first block.

An unfortunate automobile accident is the reason why Connie Boswell one of the nation's greatest syncopaters, isn't able to enjoy rhythm's best expression, the dance. It took determination and courage for Miss Boswell to sing on to fame and fortune despite her invalidism. Our hats are off to you, Connie.

In Texas with "Remember the Alamo" never to be forgotten, the peon north of Austin still pays for Santa Anna's massacre. They are seldom accepted and in rebuttal, have become aloof and furtive. Compare their unhappy state with that of their class in Mexico. Colorful and carefree with the quaint custom of the siesta; Mexican fiestas beneath warm tropical skies. What toment it must be for the peon to endure the cold of the north.

Colorful bands from all sections of Texas will be on the State Fair Grounds continuously from October 8 to 23. Scores of Tex. towns and cities, having special days, will bring them along.

"THE COMMENTATOR" ALIAS EDITOR FRANK BALDWIN SPEAKS

"The Commentator", alias Frank Baldwin, Editor of the Waco News Tribune-Herald, was a most interesting speaker at the Wednesday last, meeting of the Gatesville Lions Club at their regular session.

We would give you the dope, but, what would be better than Mr. Baldwin's own words, as was in his "pillar" in the Times Herald one evening last week. Here's the way he said it:

"And we thought perhaps you would like to know some of that which we related to the Lions on the basis of figures supplied recently by Geoffrey Crowther, associate editor of the Economist London, which last week came to our attention.

Incidentally we came across this definition of dictator state: A dictator state is one where everything that is not forbidden is compulsory.

In our remarks we pointed out that characteristic of a democracy—seemingly endless lengths of time before something is accomplished for the good of an existing evil, and asked the question would we be happier were quicker speed to the solution of our problems offered us in exchange for the mere matter of individual freedom? To get things done quicker would we give up this freedom in exchange for security and progress, and is security and progress a sure thing under such an arrangement? To the first part of this question of course, our answer is no, as is also the answer of the Gatesville Lions. The answer to the second part of the question is found in a statistical comparison of Great Britain (a democracy) and Germany (a dictatorship) for the years 1929 and 1937. These years are selected because 1929 was the height of prosperity for Great Britain and 1929 was the last year of democracy in Germany. 1937 has been acclaimed by Hitler before his nazi congress as the zenith of his dictatorship, and 1937 was the coming out of the depression year for England. Here are some of the more important figures, showing increase or decrease, of economic activities in the two countries in 1937 as compared with 1929:

- Industrial Production: Ger. plus 16.9%; Eng. plus 22.7%
- Coal Output: Ger. plus 9.2%; Eng. minus 6.1%
- Electricity Generated: Ger. plus 49.0%; Eng. plus 122.5%
- Steel Production: Ger. plus 18.3%; Eng. plus 19.2%
- Automobile Production: Ger. plus 89.9%; Eng. plus 112.6%
- Employment: Ger. plus 3.0%; Eng. plus 12.4%

Reviewing these figures you will note that on the score of mere industrial achievement democracy can turn in a better record than nazi dictatorship. Mr. Crowther has offered figures on unemployment showing that Germany's total in 1929 was 1,892,000 but now decreased as of 1937 to 912,000. But that England's unemployment was 1,212,000 in 1929 and now upped as of 1937 to 1,413,000. On the face of these figures the democracy is far behind the dictatorship, but it should be recalled that Germany is "employing 1,500,000 men in its army, storm troops, youth movement and so forth which England does not do—employed men not employed in useful industry. Grant England only two-thirds of this figure (and rightly so, because England's population is but two-thirds that of Germany) and her unemployment figure would decrease to 773,000. A walloping result in favor of good old democratic government.

But this is not all. Between 1929 and 1937 the living conditions of England—this means the standards of existence which an Englishman has been able to purchase with his income—have increased 11 per cent.

IN GERMANY THEY HAVE DECREASED 2 PER CENT!

Heil! And we concluded by saying that whether you are a Roosevelt hater or a Roosevelt lover; whether you thought Tydings should have been elected in Maryland or O'Conner purged in New York; whether you were an O'Daniel pensioner or a rugged individualist; whether you were any or all of these things—you had to admit that, although patience was the essence or contentment under a democracy, after all is said and done a happier existence, including freedom, exists under that democracy, despite the seemingly long road to a solution of its problems."

ITALY CONTRACTS FOR PURCHASE OF TEXAS OIL

As a basis for a request for an increase in the allowable of the West Beaumont field in Jefferson County, Glenn H. McCarthy, Inc., presented to the Railroad Commission an opportunity to sell 261,000 barrels of oil to Italian firms in the next year.

Contracts for delivery of the oil have been signed by McCarthy Inc., but due to prior contracts held by other operators in the field granting the increase will have to await the ironing out of difficulties.

The Standard Oil and Fas Company controls more than 50 per cent of the field. Pan-American also has interests. The latter was not represented at the hearing hence it could not be determined whether Pan-American wanted to participate.

McCarthy said he was willing to produce all of the oil from his own leases, or share with other operators. The difficulty was that if Pan-American elects not to share in the contract, and all wells are ratably increased, there would be a substantial production in excess of domestic demand.—Austin Times.

WEARY OF POLITICS

It is an encouraging sign that more and more farmers and the farm organizations which speak for them, are apparently growing increasingly weary of political farm relief.

The collapse of half a dozen farm aid programs, including the last one has of course, helped cause this. Agriculture is coming to realize that government help, at best, is sporadic and uncertain—and that plans can be changed over night at the whim of Congress, or because of some change in the situation.

These farmers are as result, putting less faith in their own instruments of progress, such as the marketing cooperatives. And that in itself is one of the first signs on the agricultural horizon.

HOW BREASUS GROW

When the office of State Tax Commissioner was created the commissioner began work with the assistance of one stenographer. His duties then were substantially what they are now, with the exception that the intangible assets tax has been extended over more subjects. But now he lead a full fledged department spending some $65,000 a year.

The work of this department could be carried on by the Comptroller's department. The latter was intended by the framers of our Constitution to head the State tax collecting system. It could collect the intangible assets tax as it does many other special taxes. If the law providing for this tax were amended to include a permanent formula to be followed in levying the tax, one or two additional clerks in the Comptroller's office could handle this subject. The need for numerous auditors and other help grows out of the law's indefiniteness and the complicated basis of assessment adopted from time to time by the tax board.—Austin Times.

USING UP THE FEED CROP

Someone has described a well-managed industry as a sort of perpetual motion, in which the processes of production are continuous throughout the year. The factory which runs only a few months and stops its machinery closes its doors and lays off its labor for weeks or months at a time has to make higher profits for its operating time or go out of business. The farm which loafes between crop seasons is in the same boat of inefficiency.

With the exception of the subtropic portions of the Southwest, where marketable crops may be harvested the year around there is only one way of providing profitable use for the available farm labor and keeping the farm factory running twelve months in the year, and that is by keeping livestock and poultry in connection with crop production. Livestock and poultry are the "perpetual motion" of the farm. They sleep and use much that would be lost without them, while crops await the season. The only perpetual motion farm therefore is a balanced farm, where plants and animals work together in their natural relation, each supporting the other.

With a surplus of feed on hand above normal needs, a good many Southwestern farmers this year will have to decide the best use to make of it. There are plenty of pitfalls for anyone who undertakes a new enterprise without previous experience, and this is particularly true of "going into" the livestock or poultry business on a commercial scale right out of a cotton patch.

Notice that we said "going into," not "growing into" the business, for there is a vast difference. We Americans like to do things in a big way, and the temptation is great to start with a big herd of dairy cows, a large flock of sheep, a carload of beef cattle or hogs. Those who go in with a bang too often go out the same way, and then say the business is a failure.

With pastures and roughage and a small amount of grain, raising dairy cattle from calf-hood to milk-cow age carries about as little risk for the beginner as any livestock enterprise. W. R. Hancock of Erath county tells of wintering 29 head of grade Jersey heifers on pasture, about two bales of hay per head, and a light ration of oats and cottonseed cake. They cost him an average of $10.50 and sold when fresh at $35 to $50.

If pastures are available for summer and the operator intends to finish them the second fall and winter, beef calves may be wintered on cheap feed and pastures. It has been found that weight lost during winter on pastures alone costs a good deal more to gain it back than it would have cost to hold it by supplementing maintenance ration sufficiently to keep the animals gaining slightly.

If there is a great amount of grain to be sold the preference should go to fattening for slaughter, or feeding for heavy milk production or eggs. On the average farm, however, under average conditions, stock cattle or sheep are safer or the beginner than buying feeders and finishing them for the killing market. Bred ewes and heifers, fed and cared for through one winter, begin to pay off within a few months, and require less time and less technical knowledge of feeding than slaughter animals.

No conceivable farm legislation and no predictable set of circumstances promises to make cash-crop farming profitable again. Wise farmers are acting accordingly, to set up some combination of crop and livestock suitable to their particular circumstances, which will utilize their land and labor to a better advantage and greater profit.

"Perpetual motion" on the farm is more easily attainable than in the factory for life goes on with out artificial power. The natural cycle of plant and animal life is the answer—"God's plan," as an East Texas negro farmer calls it.

VETCH FOR WINTER PASTURE

On Saturday of last week George Williams, Elmo and Clovis King, G. E. Mangrem, Bruce Hollingsworth, Carl Cleveland Goodwin, John Apel and Twiford Schloeman, 4-H Club boys, purchased vetch and Italian rye grass seed to be mixed with oats and sown for winter pasture for their hogs. The seed was purchased cooperatively so that the vetch could be inoculated. In all cases vetch seed should be inoculated before it is sown.

Vetch is one of the few winter legumes which is adapted to this locality, and in addition, to its soil building qualities it makes an excellent winter pasture for livestock or roughage when cut for hay.

Plans are now being made by several adults to sow a mixture of vetch and oats this fall, the small grain being used as a "nurse crop".
