ERLE POWELL ELECTED PRES. OF T.C.U. C. OF C.

This, in addition to Everett E. Colborn's Madison Square Garden Stock, is going to put Gatesville's Rodeo and Frontier Celebration up with the select, the Cheyenne show, the Madison Square Garden show and the two other big Texas shows, The Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and the Houston Fat Stock Show.

Don't plan anything for these days, but to be in Gatesville for these dates. It's one of the better shows you just can't miss.

ERLE POWELL ELECTED PRES. OF T.C.U. C. OF C.

Erle Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Powell of this city, has been elected president of the newly formed Texas Christian University Chamber of Commerce. The chamber proposes to further the co-operation of students and business men in the interests of the university.

This is indeed a credit to him and to his parents, and his many Gatesville friends extend their congratulations for his receiving such an honor.

Erle was graduated from Gatesville High School in '36; after graduating, he entered TCU in Ft. Worth and is now a junior at that University.

REPS. FROM G'VILLE AND T'VILLE ATTEND PRESBYTERY AT GEO'TOWN

Teaching the Bible in the public schools, as provided in law by the state of Texas, was given formal approval of Central Texas Presbytery in session at Georgetown on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

This action of the Presbyterian body followed similar expressions of commendation and approval of other Presbyteries and of the higher church court, the Synod of Texas. It is in accord with approval given in recent months by other denominational bodies.

As explained to Presbytery, a law passed about two years ago by the Legislature provides that one unit of credit may be given for a course in Bible taught in the regular high school curriculum. The Bible course, of course, is to be non-sectarian. The Bible, according to the regulations handed down by the State Department of Education, is to be taught for its literary, historical, and moral values. The teacher is to be subject to the same qualifications as apply to teacher of other high school subjects.

Presbytery was told that many high schools in the state already offer such a course, and the ministers were urged to co-operate in every movement for placing the Bible in the curriculum of local high schools.

J. P. Kendrick, Ruling Elder, represented the Gatesville Church at Presbytery. John Hobin and Martin Clary were present, Ruling Elders representing the Unity Church, Turnersville. Edward S. Bayless, pastor of the Gatesville and Turnersville churches, attended a part of the session.

Central Texas Presbytery comprises 43 churches in the Waco-Austin area. Regular meetings, with all the ministers and ruling elders from each church, are held every six months. Rev. Warren R. Hall, Jr., of Fairfield, was elected moderator to serve until the next meeting of the court.

Mrs. Doc Rutherford and daughter, Miss Jeanne Burdette, attended a meeting in Waco Thursday. They spent Thursday night visiting friends and relatives in Mart.

Mrs. Vernon McCorkle is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mozelle Barkin, in Dallas.

NEW INDEX TO CURRENT MAGAZINE ARTICLES IN LIBRARY

Due to the fact that many students come to the City Library for articles and books on current affairs of the world, the library has just bought a periodical index called the "Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature" which indexes magazine articles.

The copy at the library will have indexes on articles from July 1935 to the present date, and will continue thru next year.

People having current or recent issues of magazines with which they are finished are urged to get or bring these to the library.

Among those wanted are American, America, Atlantic Monthly, Current History, Forum and Century, Good Housekeeping, Newsweek, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science, Review of Reviews, Reader's Digest, Scientific American, Scribner's and Time.

DISTRICT MEET IN WACO TAKES STUDENTS

Several from the county are attending the District Meet in Waco, Friday and Saturday but so far, we have the names of only a few, and these came to us from Mr. C. A. Barton of the high school.

The list includes T. Lee, Fish Culberson, Duncan Kirkpatrick, Hulon Thompson, Joe Reese Robinson, C. H. McGilvray and Floyd Deorsam.

Verdis McCarver was a Thursday visitor here from San Antonio.

One of the courses offered students at Pennsylvania State college is that of the art of ice cream making.

2 NITES OF DIFFERENT ENTERTAINMENT FEATURE FREE SHOW IN GYM: POPEYE HERE

You can go both nights! Yes, you can go both nights to the Refrigeration, Gas and Electric Show, which will be held at the high school gym April 20, and 21, Thursday and Friday of next week, and not miss a single service at any of the Revival Meetings.

The entertainment will start each night shortly after the services, at least, by 9:30.

Booked for the first night, will be the Rythm Boys, who have been heard over KTEM and WACO and play the sort of music you like—it's hillbilly, jazz, in fact, the entire routine, so everyone will have his likes appeased.

For the second night of the show, All Ritchie, better known as "Popeye" will be here to entertain you, with Lois, the Mystery Girl. This is a show, no one in Coryell county should miss.

Ritchie is THE ORIGINAL POPEYE, the man, we are told, that gave E. C. Segar the idea for his famous cartoon. Popeye, in the person of Al Ritchie is an advocate of clean living, safety and happiness. He is a strong man and former soldier of fortune.

There are Popeye imitators going the rounds of the country, but "Popeye doesn't have false teeth," Ritchie emphasized to the News Wednesday when he was here completing arrangements for his show.

Ritchie met Segar in his native town, Chester, Illinois, where his father was a carpenter more than 20 years ago. The young cartoonist then was exhibiting his ability in the signs along the main street.

In 1921 Ritchie inspired Segar

CORYELL COUNTY FOLKS WIN IN WACO DAIRY DAY SHOW

1939 Dairy Day for this district was held in Waco on Monday, April 10th. It will be remembered that this district day was held in Gatesville in 1938. In the judging contest Coryell County was well represented. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hollingsworth of Turnersville entered a pound of butter in the products exhibit, winning second place and being surpassed by the famous Middleton Dairy of Hillsboro.

The Hollingsworth butter was selected to be used in the dairy products judging contest also. J. C. Fox, Vocational Agriculture of Oglesby, was first place winner in the dairy products judging contest. In the dairy cattle judging contest, 4-H Club division, Carl Cleveland Goodwin of the Plainview 4-H Club was first place winner. A. B. Bennet of the same club tied for third place.

Leroy Windham of the Oglesby FFA Chapter was the first place winner in the FFA division.

Plans are under way now for a Coryell County Dairy Day to be held in the near future, where cattle and products are both exhibited.

Dr. and Mrs. Bill Riley and children of San Antonio were week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. U. Baize.

Emil Lee, student at Texas University, was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Young Lee.

Before the Sixteenth Century in England the only post delivery was by royal messenger.

DAVIS ANNUAL REUNION
PROVES GRAND SUCCESS

Saturday the 8th was the day of "thrills, chills, spills, etc." Borrowed of course but why should not that be said of our picnic? Another thing: we can boast of it what we claim to be state champions (we've been hearing so much about such all thru the previous months of this year). Ours for Co-yell Church community is a Grand Champion affair when it comes to the manner in which Mr. High Davis entertains his guests each year at this picnic and rodeo.

Then we had champions in beauties—girls, attractively attired in jodfurs, boots and big hats and cowboys in full dress if that is what you are supposed to say when they are wearing boots, spurs, chaps, and can handle the ropes when it comes to offering defenseless little goats trouble. In the goat-roping contest Loyce Davis did the fastest time at 12 seconds flat. Relay foot races were enjoyed by respective groups covering practically all ages there. Winners in their divisions were: Mrs. Allyne Davidson, Mrs. Tinsie Humes, Bertrand Davis, Bobbie Wright, Reba Joyce Humes. Tho in a final contest Madge Humes was champion girl runner and Rolin Johnson winner of the men and boys races.

The Tournament race was one of the most interesting we've ever witnessed. Bert and Loyce Davis tied for first place honors by catching two rings each, out of a possible four. Their time was 7.2 seconds for 100 yds. Miss Ruth Davis of Turnersville the only one of the fair sex whose feet skilled enough to compete with the men in this sport was the next in line for prizes, being very close to them in speed and accuracy. Bertran, Hupert and Billy Davis also Bill Shomell rode in this contest for their first time.

George Rufus and Earnest Vandiver and Cotton Davis hit the bull's eye in target practice. We don't have the score sheet on the outcome of the cigar race but all contestants were former hands at the game so it proved quite exciting.

Perhaps the most beautiful of all the phases of the events that fill the all-important day is the social side and the friendly visits indulged in by friends of years standing. The only times some of them have seen one another in all the fourteen years Mr. and Mrs. Davis have been entertaining with this noted reunion is on the dates of those days.

During the noon hour Mr. Davis, the very capable host, addressed his guests in a body at which time he beautifully touched on the solemnity of the occasion and revered the memory of those whom we miss from year to year. He expressed appreciation for his large crowd and invited each one back again for the years to come.

Mentioning the noon hour makes the writer know she has not mentioned the most important event, that of the delectable spread of good food. As on previous times, the host and hostess furnished hot pit barbecue, gravy and bread. Invited guests brought heavy laden baskets of eats, the most food that has ever been brought and the housewives were obviously at their best where their cooking and baking art was concerned.

Mr. Quenn served 1869 coffee and presented a few lucky people with pound packages of coffee. Though the long table was very crowded with food, room was made for a centerpiece in the form of a multicolored bouquet of cut flowers from the yard of Mrs. Jane Buford of Bay City, Texas. After the feast Mrs. Buford presented them to the host and hostess.

Accompanying Mrs. Buford the day was her husband, Mrs. Childress Buford. Some of the others attending from longer distances were Vert Buford, Mrs. S. Buford and son and aunt from Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Manning Davis of Sasakura, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Davis of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dr. and Mrs. John Davis of Seminole, Oklahoma; (Dr. Davis is a brother to Mr. High Davis). Other brothers to attend were Jess of Turnersville accompanied by his family; and Wess and family of near Oglesby.

Near-by towns and communities that were represented were Waco, McGregor, Gatesville, Oglesby, Turnersville, and others. The total present was 345 according to Mrs. Ruth Shomell who handled the register where each one's name was recorded.

Participated sports not heretofore mentioned were: horseback riding, kodaking, volley ball and softball in which men, women, boys and girls all took part. Mrs. Madge Davis proved to be a real ball-pitcher thru two games.

All in all it was another grand, enjoyable occasion!

WOMAN'S FORUM TO SPONSOR
FLOWER SHOW IN MARLIN
APRIL 22, 23

Members of the Woman's Forum are sponsoring a Flower Show, which will be held in Marlin, April 22 and 23. Coryell County will be represented in this show, and the club here is cooperating in every way possible; the Highway Department will carry the flowers to the show from here.

According to Mrs. Bill Wiegand, co-chairman of the arrangement committee, there will be a prize of $1.00 given to the school child who collects the largest variety or species of cactus. If the child cannot bring his collection to the Highway barn in Gatesville, he may bring them to town on the school bus and leave them at Mrs. Wiegand's home across from the school. There is no age limit on the contest, and all entries must be in by Wednesday, April 19. If he cannot get his collection to Gatesville any other way, he may drop the Highway Department a card and Mr. Hancock will call by his house and pick them up and bring them in for him.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Wiegand are Mrs. Lee Colwick, co-chairman, and Mesdames Kermit Jones, Rogef Miller, Rufus Brown, and J. H. Hamilton. The child may get in touch with any of these ladies if he needs any additional information.

Everyone is invited to attend this show.

COTTON AT THE GROCERY

Sugar is sweet in the South both for the customer and the merchant when it's packed in cotton sacks, according to the National Cotton Council of America and the Cotton Textile Institute, the organizations jointly sponsoring National Cotton Week.

The statisticians of the organizations have proved that every time a carload of sugar is packed in cotton bags, no less than 16,800 cotton containers are used. And what does this mean?

It means a days work for 43 cotton farmers, 32 cotton mill employees and eight cotton bag employees, a total of a day's work for 83 persons!

Last year, American retail merchants sold to you and me and other consumers more than four and one-half million tons of sugar, amounting to 120 thousand carloads. If every bit of that sugar had been packed in cotton bags, it would have meant a day's work for 9,960,000 people, or a third of a year's work for 100 thousand people.

This is for sugar alone. Flour, salt, feed and other staples packed in cotton bags would add tremendously to the total. These staples, too, regardless of their flavor, would be as sweet as sugar, in an economic way, to cotton farmers.

In the battle for increased markets, King Cotton has the right to ask that the southern seller and purchaser demand cotton wrapping, and cotton bagging and cotton containers wherever the use of such articles is feasible and practicable.

Without going into dry detail, it may be pointed out that staples are easier to handle in cotton bags, with less loss thru tearing; that cotton bags and their contents do not deteriorate easily, the cotton allowing "natural breathing," preventing caking, minimizing heating and sweating.

If consumers and merchants would voice a vigorous "No!" to staples packed in substitutes, King Cotton would not totter so noticeable on his throne.

Miss Bebe Jane McCowan was honoree at a party given last Friday evening by her mother at their home on Waco street; the occasion was the thirteenth birthday anniversary of Bebe Jane.

When the guests arrived, the gifts were opened and admired. During the evening various games were played, and at the conclusion, a refreshment plate, which consisted of ice cream, cookies, and candy, was passed.

Approximately 36 friends were present to assist the honoree in the celebration.

Outing and Easter Egg Hunt for Kindergarten.

Tuesday, April 4, Mrs. Davidson and her kindergarten group went to the Raby park for an outing after rhythm band lesson.

Each child took a piece of fruit and his drinking cup, and marched single file, with Kent Biffle leading, to the park.

Games were enjoyed and attention was given to nature study. On their walk back thru the park, many things of interest were noted. At the fountain and bird bath all halted for a rest and general story telling hour. Mrs. Davidson plans another such trip soon.

Thursday morning Kent Biffle announced to his little friends in the kindergarten that his mother had boiled a large number of eggs for them to color. Dye and brushes were provided and the children were happily engaged in coloring eggs. Many color combinations and original decorations were seen as the eggs were colored.

On Friday each child brought his Easter basket, and after rhythm band lesson, they enjoyed hunting the eggs they had colored the day before. After the hunt Mrs. Biffle passed candy eggs and a chocolate rabbit to all the children.

Those enjoying both the outing and the Easter egg hunt were: Kent Biffle, Tommie Ray Wallace, Bob Moss, Charles Dickie, Roger and Bob Miller, Bookie Robinson, Joe and Ray Payne, Jim Turk Brown, Walter Davidson, Virginia Doghty, Belva Jean Patterson, Joan Chambers, Patsy Ann Painter, Ann McClellan, and Fisher Brown.

Patsy Lyday, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boe Wright was a visitor to the kindergarten last week.

MANSFIELD TIRES

● Mansfield Tires are 3 Ways Safer because they are built three ways differently from other tires.

Mansfield Cord-Lock construction puts more tough cord fabric into the sidewall. Their wide, flat treads are made of Duro-mix rubber that wears longer in grinding service. Their high tensile piano wire beads are seven times stronger than actually needed.

Mansfield Tires equip thousands and thousands of cars and trucks in every part of the country today because wise motorists wanted Mansfields and bought Mansfields—they did not get them as equipment tires.

GATESVILLE BALL CLUB TAKE ON AGGIE FROSH TODA

The Gatesville High Baseball team journeys down to A. and M. today to take on the Aggie "Fish". The boys will be suited out in new uniforms of bright gold trimmed in black, with black caps and socks. In the preseason practice games the Hornets have looked great at times, and ragged at times; but they are at their best when the opposition is tough. They proved this by beating Belton W.O.W. last years Central Texas Class B Champions. We are expecting the Hornets to come back with a victory.

Those making the trip and the starting lineup are: coaches, Barton and Olsen; Richards, C; Otis McBroom, P; Trammel, 1st B.; H. S. Perryman, 2nd B; Bowman, 3rd B; Rutherford, S S; Bomar, L F;

CARROLL BROTHERS

W. B. McBroom, C F; White, R F; substitutes, Weaver, Wilkerson, Glenn Perryman; Pat Bone, Mgr.; Charles Campbell, bat-boy. Cecil Newton, the regular shortstop, is probably out for the season, with a sprained ankle; which causes Schoolboy Rutherford and Otis McBroom to have to alternate at shortstop and pitcher.

Odis McBroom, ace Hornet righthander, tossed the first three innings and was touched for two runs and five hits by the State. McBroom was then jerked by Manager Barton saving him for the A. and M. Frosh today.

Diminutive Pudgy Perryman tossed the last four innings and the State got him for three runs and six hits.

"DAWN PATROL"

Featuring Errol Flynn coming to the Regal Theatre Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. The Dawn Patrol, Warner Bros.' great aviation epic of the world war is the greatest airplane picture ever made. It is a picture of heroism and tragedy that were the daily portions of the brave young boys of the air who engaged in aerial combat over the western front during the early days of the world war, as one of the comparatively veteran flyers, Errol Flynn, has a role which fits him perfectly. All that dash and slam which are associated with his name are required in the many scenes depicting the thrilling dog fights and bombing raids in which he and his comrades take part.

He is also given an opportunity to display his unrevealed gifts for emotional acting in scenes which are extremely moving because of their powerful undercurrent of restrained yet strong, virile honest masculine emotion.

Specifically, it is the story of one squadron of the British Royal Flying Corps during several fateful months of 1915. Every true blooded American in Coryell county and thruout the entire world should not fail to see the "Dawn Patrol".

The past week has been a rather quiet one in the House, at least it has seemed quiet after the hectic session of the preceding week. We have had some rather bitter discussion in regard to the District of Columbia appropriation Bill which was passed yesterday. In spite of the fact that the Federal Government makes an outright gift of $5,000,000 to the cost of maintaining local government in the District, and in spite of the fact that taxes are only about one-half as much in Washington as in most cities of the United States, the local papers here keep up a continual abuse campaign against Congress for not giving them even greater gifts. Washington has received so much more from the Federal Government than any other city in the land that one would expect the people here to appreciate what was being done for them. They have never suffered a depression. They enjoy a tremendous steady payroll of Federal workers. They have available all of the beautiful parks and buildings constructed by the Federal Government. The pay a very low tax rate, but on every hand you hear the demand that the Federal Government should pay taxes on the Federal property. Yet to do this would be just the same as for the Government to pay local taxes on every post office in the country, and what town is not happy to have a new post office building even though our people know it is tax exempt.

Likewise, the people here insist that they should be allowed to vote in National election and to send Representatives and Senators to Congress, but they raise their hands in horror when you suggest that if they are to be given the privileges of Statehood the District should be given back to Maryland out of which it was taken. Personally, I believe that the seat of the Federal Government should be kept in a Federal District that is controlled by the Federal Government and which cannot control the Federal Government, but if we are to abolish that policy there is certainly no reason for creating a forty-ninth State with all of the benefits of Statehood and none of the obligations. The reason the people of the District don't want to be put back in Maryland is that that would stop the Federal contributions to their tax burdens and they would have to pay for the support of their local government just as our people in Texas have to pay.

Last Sunday afternoon we drove up to Gettysburg, about seventy-five miles northwest and just over the line in Pennsylvania. All around this little city of five or six thousand was fought the decisive battle of the Civil War nearly 76 years ago. Here General Pickett lead the most famous charge in American history. Here the 'high tide' of the Confederacy rolled up and over the stone wall on Cemetery Ridge only to roll back across a mile of open field and when General Lee finally turned his ragged gray troops toward the South there were more than 50,000 American boys dead and dying on this one field. I had been to Gettysburg before, but I never visit the spot without being profoundly impressed with the folly and tragedy of war. It makes me feel depressed to read today's papers which tell of the fall of one more small and helpless European nation under the ruthless ambition of the Dictators. One by one the helpless people — the nation unable to defend themselves — are being destroyed and mere size, wealth, and number of people is no protection.

It was, therefore, with mingled emotions that I, on yesterday, watched the "Army Day" Parade, which is an annual event here in Washington. In the midst of a hard cold rain our troops marched past the Capital then down Pennsylvania Ave., giving a striking exhibition that though America does not have a large military establishment that we have not neglected to equip our troops, with the very latest in the way of mechanical equipment. The guns, the tanks, and all the equipment looked so different from that to which we became accustomed twenty years ago, that one could not but feel a little more secure against the fate that has befallen China, Czechoslovakia, and today Albania. We all hope with all our hearts that America will never need to use these weapons, but if we should be forced to defend our land as so many other people have of late, then I know it will be a source of gratification to our people to know that our own American troops will be as well equipped as those of any nation—but God forbid that we should ever have this need.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Cosmo Topper, whose wife is suing him for divorce, is repeatedly embarrassed by his friend Marion Kerby, who is none other than the spirit of a departed young girl endowed with the power of materializing and dematerializing at will. Marion drags Topper to Paris where his wife has gone with her friend Mrs. Parkhurst, who for reasons of her own is anxious to see the divorce consummated. Topper, almost broke, is threatened with eviction from his little hotel room, but Marion takes him to the Casino and, making herself invisible, helps him win a fortune at roulette. Mrs. Topper, who is being courted by the fake Baron, enters his suite at the same hotel, ready to make up with her husband, but finds him in the arms of the French maid who has been frightened by Marion's dematerialized dog, Atlas. And the reconciliation is off.

Chapter Five

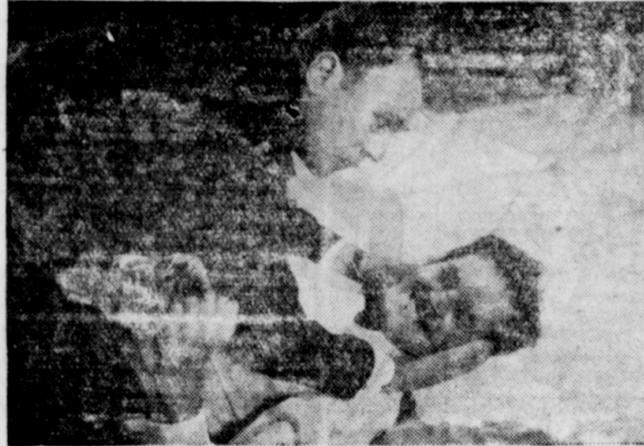

Later Topper, egged on by Marion, went out to the beach to find the place where his wife was romancing with the Baron, and to put a stop to all that nonsense. He found them engaged in soulful con-

... bored down upon the helpless Baron and rolled over his face, pushing his features ignominiously into the sand. No sooner had the juggernaut ridden him down than it stopped, turned back, and went over him again. Reinforcing Marion's attack came Atlas, who barked yelped and snapped about the Baron's head while the Baron yelled some more.

At last Atlas vanished as suddenly as he had appeared, and Mrs. Topper went off gaily to keep an appointment with her beau, leaving the trunkless, imprisoned Baron half buried in the sand to await what he was sure would be a watery grave under the rising surf.

In the hotel dining room that evening Topper, with a drink or two under his belt, was dancing with Marion and, for once, really enjoying himself. Seduced by the lights, the music and the lovely people, he closed his eyes, cheek close to Marion's cheek, and surrendered himself to the rhythm of the dance. How was he, with his eyes closed, to know that Marion would suddenly take it into her head to dematerialize, leaving him foolishly dancing with the thin air before the assemblage of hugely amused people, including his wife, Mrs. Parkhurst, and the inevitable Baron?

"Look!" snorted Mrs. Parkhurst. "There's your husband acting the verse, under a beach umbrella. "While you are here," the Baron was saying, "we must run over to Antibes. You have never been there, no?"

"Been there?" clucked Mrs. Topper. "I doubt if I can even say it!"

"You are so quaint — and so lovely," he caroled.

It was at this stark moment that Topper hove to and asked his wife for a word in private — "without," as he delicately put it, "the prying eyes of prying strangers."

The argument that ensued between Topper and the Baron resulted in great success for Topper — his success consisting in the fact that he ran away in time. In fact, he might have run for miles, had not Marion, a short distance down the beach, suddenly materialized under an umbrella and tripped him up as he passed.

"You're not much of a hero, are you, Toppie?"

"Oh, what's the use," mourned Topper. "Clara doesn't care for me any longer. I'm going to go back home."

"Oh no, you can't do that," admonished Marion, rising. "Just watch me — I'll fix that sand lizard." And she started toward Mrs. Topper and her swain, dematerializing as she went.

A few moments later, while the Baron, half buried in the sand, was reaching genuine heights of poetic discourse toward his lady-love, he suddenly felt a strange tugging sensation at his one article of apparel. He raised his head and watched unbelievably as his bathing trunks came off over his feet and disappeared.

"Oh, Madame!" he yelped reproachfully at Mrs. Topper. "My trunks! My trunks!"

"Your trunks?" repeated Mrs. T., even more dazedly than usual. "What's the matter with them?"

"Madame," said the Baron sternly. "I have a sense of humor, but this kind of joke I do not comprehend!"

"But, your majesty, I don't know what you're talking about!"

The little game of conversational hide-and-seek was interrupted by the rapid approach of a huge beach ball, nearly six feet in diameter, which, apparently self-propelled, fool. He's just doing that to embarrass you!"

When Topper had collected Marion again at their table, she began once more to twit him about his fear of the Baron. Topper desperately gulped down his glass of champagne, and then hers.

"Listen!" he growled. "No man is too big for me to punch in the nose if I feel like it! And I feel like it!" And a moment later he was standing menacingly before the Baron, threatening to punch him in the nose.

Calmly apologizing to the ladies, de Rossi stood up, grabbed Topper by the collar and held him off at arm's length while Topper flailed the air with terrific lefts and rights. Then the Baron drew his fist for the knockout punch.

When a most surprising phenomenon, something scarcely heard of in boxing circles, occurred. The Baron's coat was pulled back over his elbows by some invisible force, pinioning his arms, while Topper got in some snappy shadow-boxing and landed a harmless punch or two.

Presently they were rolling on the floor; but the Baron's nemesis still hampered him, interfered with his blows, and finally hoisted him up into the air in a complete somersault. It was then that the flying squadron of waiters, summoned by Monsieur Louis, arrived and hurriedly conveyed Mr. Topper to the street, depositing him on the sidewalk in a posture that made no concession to the conventions.

"I shall send your baggage wherever you wish," called Louis from in front of the beautiful plate glass doors, "but you shall never enter this hotel again!"

"Oh, ho! He's asking for it!" said a contralto voice at Topper's elbow. And turning, he observed some large pieces of fruit rising from a nearby vendor's cart, and saw said large pieces of fruit go sailing through the air in the direction of Louis' head and crash through the beautiful plate glass doors and windows. It really was a shame — especially when the gendarmes came charging 'round the corner.

Make Pastures Go Farther

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Farmers of the Southwest are adopting pasture rotation at a gratifying rate, but a great many still allow the livestock to range at will over one large enclosure. The results is good for neither the pasture nor the animals. Parts will be overgrazed, the most palatable grass, the areas nearer water and shade—while other parts grow rank and coarse, and when forced off the preferred grass by its shortage, the stock will find the neglected forage both less nutritious and even less palatable than if it had been grazed at the proper stage of growth.

Dividing the pastures and grazing them in rotation gives the palatable forage a chance to recover, make seed, and compete better with weeds. Restricting the animals temporarily to a smaller enclosure encourages the more even grazing of the whole pasture, so that new and more nutritious growth occurs.

It goes without saying that water and if possible, shade, must be accessible in each enclosure. Partition fences should be run with reference to the water supply and convenience of access, rather than rigidly conforming to equality of acreage in the different divisions or the shortest possible fence lines.

If permanent fences are not desired, the electric fence serves the purpose at a minimum of labor in building and in materials. One or two wires electrically energized is the popular form of temporary fence, and the necessary equipment is not expensive. Current from a wind generator will do as well as that from a high-line, and if high-line current is available it must be adequately safeguarded by standard methods of "stepping down" the current.

Both temporary and permanent pastures go farther when divided and grazed in rotation. The frequency of changing from one pasture to another is governed by conditions at the time, and each observing farmer knows better than anyone else can tell him when to transfer the stock. The condition of the pasture and the condition of the animals are a better guide than any arbitrary time limit that might be suggested.

Where sheep and cattle are both kept, rotation grazing is even more important than when only one kind of stock grazes the same pastures. Let the sheep follow the cattle, and they help to hold the weeds down, but there should be a period of rest for the pasture after sheep have grazed it, before cattle are returned to it. This means more than two pasture divisions, but the results will well repay the extra expense and trouble.

Hogs can run safely with cattle, but should not be run in the same pasture with sheep, especially when there are young lambs as an accident may lead to the hogs learning meat-eating habits. And everyone knows that playful mules are a constant threat to small animals, and should be kept in a separate pasture. We not only need more and better pastures in the Southwest, but we need to so fence them that we can get the most out of them. Along with permanent pasture improvement, Temporary summer pastures of sudan grass, and ample water facilities, fencing for rotation grazing is a part of an all-round grazing program.

Pastures are the foundation for successful livestock husbandry, and livestock are the key to a balanced and well distributed labor-load and farm income. The fellow who has more livestock than grass and feed is soon in trouble, but the fellow who has more grass than cattle is on the safe side. The ideal, of course, is to have enough livestock to utilize otherwise unsalable forage and to get the most out of it calls for good management of the grazing.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

Firestone LIFE PROTECTOR
the Tire within a Tire

This amazing new Firestone development makes a blowout as harmless as a slow leak.

Should a blowout occur the exclusive Firestone Safety-Valve holds sufficient air in the inner compartment to support the car until it is brought to a safe stop.
