As an added attraction at Gatesville's Rodeo and Frontier Celebration, "Parker Wilson and The Lightcrust Doughboys" of radio fame will be in Gatesville Saturday, June 3, according to information received yesterday from the managers of the big show here June 1, 2, and 3.

Of course, this aggregation of musicians needs no introduction here, since they have been playing for many years in the interest of Light Crust Flour, manufactured by the Burrus Mill & Elevator Co. of Fort Worth.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

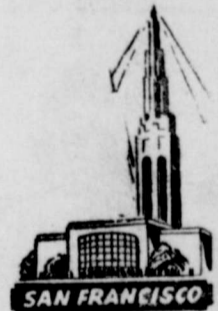

THERE was a woman with a little son that was named Carl, and Carl was always doing something that he hadn't ought to do. One thing was that he liked to hit a little girl right in the eye. He would be playing with Mary kinda gentle like and then he'd swing on her. He done that because his mother wouldn't let him play with boys for fear he'd get hurt, and he had to practice swinging on somebody. So his mother says to him, "Whenever you are tempted to hit Mary in the eye you ought to say, 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' and then maybe you'd stop."

"Say, Mom, I tried that, and Satan got behind me and how! He gave my elbow an awful shove, and Mary's eye was a fright after that!"

REFORMATORY BOYS KIDNAP GUARD AND ESCAPE: ALL ARE CAUGHT BY POSSE IN E. TEX. POTATO PATCH: RETURNED HERE

Three boys, inmates of the State Juvenile Training School here kidnapped C. L. Kirby, a guard, at the point of a gun and drove a stolen automobile to near Malakoff where they tied Mr. Kirby with barbed wire and drove north from there.

A posse of Marshall officers and Constable Felix Jones of Hallsville fired several shots into the air just before they captured the boys a short time later as the boys raced across a potato patch.

Five of them were taken at once and a sixth later in a thicket.

The boys from the local institution were Charles Ranel, 17, of Houston and Conroe, who was serving his 4th term for car theft; Raymond Maynard, 18, 1st term from Dallas, sent here for general delinquency; Earnie Hardie, 17, a two timer from San Antonio, who was sent here for car theft.

Charles Mangum, an ex-inmate from Houston came up in the stolen car, a '39 Hudson, with two other unknown boys and thru a friend in the training school, smuggled a gun to Ranel. Ranel held up Mr. Kirby, forced him to open the ward rooms of the dormitory, work up the boys that were to go with them, and forced others who woke up to lay still. Then, they locked each ward and the seven of them went out to the car. For some unknown reason, they all came back to the dormitory, and then left, getting as far as Malakoff before they tied Mr. Kirby up.

He was tied hand and foot with barbed wire and also to a tree. Before leaving him, they also gaged him. Mr. Kirby was uninjured.

Discovery of the escape was made at 2 a. m. Friday morning, when a boy from the power plant went to call a boy for the next shift at the plant, and, finding Mr.

Kirby not there, reported back to the power plant foreman.

While in the Marshall jail, the boys stripped the shoes and trousers off some drunks that had been put in that jail, and after Sheriff J. H. Brown and his deputies left for Gatesville with the boys, Marshall officers discovered this and overhauled them and took the clothing back.

Near Marlin, the boys also burglarized a farm house and took a pump shot gun, pistol and a .22 target. The pistol used to make the break from the training school was an old style U. S. Army 44 single action revolver.

They are now in the local jail, according to Sheriff Brown, our informant, charged with kidnapping, burglary and car theft.

After releasing Mr. Kirby the boys taking back roads were trailed by Constable Jones from Hallsville until they were caught near Marshall.

Following the registration at 9:30 a. m. Saturday morning, Old English teams, bearing the names of Dorchester, Yorkshire, Oxford, Northumberland, and Essex, will organize for the morning games. Umpires will take the names of well-known Englishmen as Little John and Friar Tuck.

As a closing feature of the day, high school seniors present and all the college students will attend the Robin Hood May Fete which it to be held east of Burt Residence Hall at 4:30 p. m. The climax of the May Fete program comes when the most popular girl in the College senior class has been crowned Queen of May. Robin Hood and his men will bear flowers and branches to the queen's court for decorations. King Richard then escorts the queen to Sherwood forest followed by a group of English villagers who will bring the Maypole to Sherwood. ## Traffic Safety Program Launched

Junior Chamber of Commerce Presents Its Manual to President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON—A new "Safety With Light" program, designed to abate night driving traffic hazards on America's "fatal" streets has been announced by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce through its President, Philip C. Ebeling. America's fatal streets are the main traffic thoroughfares which comprise but 10% of the total city street mileage but upon which occur more than 50% of all night traffic fatalities.

The first copy of the "Safety With Light" Manual was presented to President Roosevelt through his secretary, Stephen J. Early, by Mark S. Matthews, Vice-President of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Manual will now be distributed to the 500 member organizations of the Junior Chamber and the approximately 1,100 Senior Chambers of Commerce in the nation.

According to Mr. Matthews, the new manual is an outgrowth of the report of the National Resources Committee, appointed by the President in 1937, in which it was stated that at least 35% of all night traffic deaths could be prevented by provision of modern, adequate street illumination. Other surveys have shown that night illumination in most cities is less than one half the minimum required for safety.

"Until antiquated lighting facilities on most of our city streets are corrected and modernized, the ever increasing rate of urban night fatalities will continue," said Kenneth L. Dally, Chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. "This program, probably the most complete of its kind ever set up, is designed to point the way to correct these conditions. And it makes available, without charge, all material, including booklets, folders, car cards, films, etc., to our member organizations."

As a result of the manual, several hundred Senior Chambers of Commerce are expected to carry on local "Safety With Light" campaigns within the next two or three years, according to Mr. Ebeling, who added:

"The conditions of inadequate visibility might be accepted if the result were not inevitably the same—death; and if provision of adequate illumination in this modern day were not available, entirely practical, and so essential that to neglect or be without it is sheer negligence."

G. L. Derrick of the White Hall community, with Rev. Derrick officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only a few relatives and friends.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for Hamilton County, where they will make their home in the Pleasant Valley community.

Their many friends wish them much happiness and success.

Lowrey Home is Scene Of M. F. Luncheon

The lovely home of Mrs. M. W. Lowrey on College street was the scene of the Morris Federation meeting when they assembled for their anniversary luncheon Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The large table was centered with bowls of yellow dwarf snapdragons and California poppies.

Thruout the luncheon, the idea of a "prescription for spring fever" was carried out very cleverly. The first course was tomato cocktail, which was in bottles; these were labeled "to be taken before meal". Individual corsages of sweet peas and pansies were tied to each bottle. The main course consisted of pressed chicken, potatoes, asparagus tips on patty shells, peach salad, hot rolls, pickles, olives and iced tea. The dessert course consisted of pie a la mode and mints, which were in boxes tied with pink and white ribbon and labeled "to be taken after meal."

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Mrs. Eugene Alvis read a play, "The Prince of Court Painters."

Approximately thirty members were present for the delightful affair.

John Rufus Colgin Jr., student at A. & M. College was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Colgin.

Mrs. Baylor Faunt Le Roy of Ada, Oklahoma arrived Saturday afternoon for an extended visit with Mrs. Ellen Allen and Mrs. Lad Bone.

Paul Wiley, who is employed in Dallas, spent the week end with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Wiegand.

Jack Reesing, who is attending Baylor University, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Reesing.

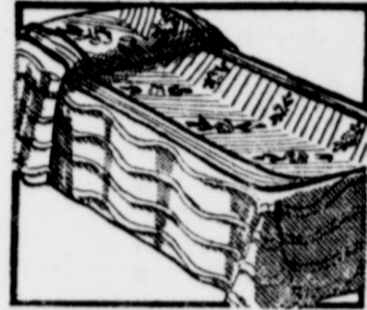

Misses Frankie Mae Blair and Rebekah Wilcox, and J. B. Martin, Cam McGilvray, Dr. and Mrs. Elworth Lowrey, Mrs. Jim Martin and Miss Estella McFarland spent Sunday afternoon at Lake Waco.

You're Lucky its Coming!
Myrna Loy, Robert Taylor
in
"LUCKY NIGHT"

MYRNA LOY AND ROBERT TAYLOR TOGETHER FOR FIRST TIME

Bringing a sensational new romantic-comedy team to the screen. "Lucky Night", co-starring Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor, is the outstanding attraction coming Saturday to the Palace Theatre.

Hitherto portraying straight dramatic roles in films such as "Camille," "Stand Up and Fight" and "The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor, in this film presents himself for light comedy honors opposite the merry Myrna Loy who has already achieved distinction as a comedienne in such mirthful entertainment as the "Thin Man" series "Labeled Lady" and "Double Wedding."

Taylor portrays the role of an out-of-luck playboy who meets Miss Loy on a park bench while both are looking for jobs. Myrna has fled from a fourth engagement to a man she didn't want to marry. The pair team forces, panhandle fifty cents, pryamid it into thousands by lucky playing, hit the night spots, get into tight spots and find, after their wild and "lucky night" that they've been married. Thereafter they face the serious business of life, leading to further hilarious complications, separation, and eventual reconciliation.

In the supporting cast is a picked list of funmakers, among whom are Joseph Alen, Henry O'Neill, Douglas Fowley, Bernard Nedell, Charles Lanes, Bernardene Hayes, Gladys Blake, Majorie Main, Edward Gargan, Irvin Bacon and Oscar O'Shea.

Twenty-four major settings have been included in the filming. These include the beautiful home of the runaway debutante, Central Park, numerous street scenes, a play palace, beer garden, police station, night clubs, gambling salons, a fashionable hotel and the paint store where Taylor finally finds a job.

Of further interest is the fact that the picture reunites one of the most successful producer-director combinations in motion pictures. Louis D. Lighton is the producer and Norman Taurog the director.

Answers To The Moth Question

By Katharine Fisher

Director of Good Housekeeping Institute

Here are our answers to the questions thousands of women have asked us about moths, and how to defeat them. They are answers which have been thoroughly checked for accuracy.

Q. Do flying moths eat holes in wools?
A. No, it is the larvae or little white worms that hatch out of the eggs laid by the flying moths that do the damage. The eggs hatch in a few days in comfortably warm places, so wools left undisturbed where moths can get at them may soon be damaged.

Q. How can winter clothing be protected from moth damage during the summer?

A. It can be mothproofed, or fumigated or sprayed with an insect spray, and stored where moths cannot possibly reach it. Or it may be stored in a cedar chest. Good laundering and dry cleaning leave wools free from moths. If they are stored at once where moths cannot reach them, they will be protected against damage.

Q. How is clothing mothproofed?

A. By spraying it with a mothproofing solution which makes it distasteful and inedible to moths. First brush the clothing well, then spray it very thoroughly. Do not overlook a spot, and don't forget seams and folds, the under surface of collars, under buttons, and in pockets. Every thread must be covered. Blankets, sweaters and other easily washable wools can be immersed (or rinsed) in a solution of a mothproofing compound available for that purpose. Mothproofed clothing need not be stored out of the reach of moths. It may hang in a closet or lie in a drawer or on a shelf.

Q. How are wools fumigated?

A. By the use of a fumigant. Fumigants are usually either paradichlorobenzene or naphthalene, and are sold as such or under brand names. They give off fumes that kill moths at all stages, provided the fumes are strong enough and the moths are exposed to the fumes long enough. This can only be done well if plenty of fumigant is used and if the fumes are inclosed in a space that is comfortably warm and practically air-tight.

Q. Can wools be protected well by fumigating them in dresser drawers?

A. Not unless they are sprinkled liberally with the fumigant and at once wrapped closely and sealed in strong paper to keep the fumes from escaping. Wrapped in this way they may also be laid on shelves.

Q. Can wools be fumigated in closets?

A. Yes, if the closet adjoins a room that is comfortably warm. Clean the closet, then sprinkle the fumigant on shelves and floor, using a pound of fumigant for a small closet 2' x 2' x 7' (28 cubic ft.) or 2 1/4 lbs. for a closet 3' x 3' x 7' (63 cubic ft.) and so on. Now hang up the clothing to be fumigated and seal the closet door with gummed paper or the tape used by fumigators. Leave the clothes there until they are needed again.

Q. Can clothes be fumigated by hanging a fumigant in a closet that is in use?

A. No, as the fumes escape when the door is opened and so become too weak to kill the moths.

Q. Will moths attack clothing and other wools that have been thoroughly fumigated?

A. Yes, fumigation does not mothproof wools. In fumigating any wools, therefore, they must be left stored where moths cannot get at them until they are going to be used again.

Q. How can insect sprays protect wools from moth damage?

A. These sprays kill the moths, or their eggs or larvae when they come in contact with them. The spraying, like the fumigation, must be done very thoroughly. They do not mothproof the wool; therefore the spraying must be repeated regularly if moths are about, or the wools, after being sprayed, must be stored at once where moths can't get at them.

THIRD MEETING, BASE BALL TEAMS CALLED FOR SAT.

Saturday, May 6, another meeting is called at the News office at 3:00 p. m. in an effort to get the Coryell County Baseball League in action.

Last Saturday, W. C. Thomason of White Hall, called in our office and stated White Hall wanted to enter the league. It is possible two teams might be organized here in Gatesville, which would bring the league up to five teams.

Already, Pidcoke, Blackfoot, Mound, and Jonesboro have teams and are ready to go. However, yesterday morning, one member of the Jonesboro team stated they had already taken a vacant place in the Hamilton County Base Ball League and would not be interested in entering the Coryell County League.

There may still be others who are interested in Coryell County's Base Ball League, and they are cordially invited to be in the News office Saturday at 3 p. m. for the meeting.

HANDLING SURPLUS FOODS

After some postponement, the heralded plan to distribute surplus food thru normal grocery channels will be tried experimentally in Rochester, N. Y., within a few weeks. Instead of doling food directly to jobless families on relief rolls, the Surplus Commodities Corporation will distribute it thru commercial wholesalers and retailer stores and markets.

Under this plan, which will be tested in two variations, WPA workers will receive food stamps for part of their wages or will be allowed to buy them. They can trade these stamps for food at corner grocery stores, just as if they were money, since the government will redeem them. But with each dollar in ordinary food stamps, the WPA client will receive 50c worth of another color.

JUST HUMANS

By GENE CARR

"Ya Waste Too Much Talk on Ya Man, Mrs. Sipp—I Wish I Had Him T'nag!"

These special stamps can be exchanged only for certain kinds of food—those of which a surplus currently exists.

Thus the families on relief rolls will receive an excess of food above what they have been getting, though the excess will be entirely in surplus commodities. Farmers, including grapefruit growers, will gain by having their unmarketable surpluses taken off their hands and used by consumers. Grocers and other dealers will benefit by a larger volume of business and by removing the threat of federal competition in food distribution.

This plan may be altered, or even abandoned, as a result of the tests to be made in Rochester. But the experiment will be worth making and will be watched with interest in many quarters. Any measure that promises better nutrition for the poor, reduction of farm surpluses and increase in the volume of trade is worth at least a fair trial.—Dallas News.

DRIVERS' LICENSE BILL

With the old drivers' licenses already expired, the Texas Legislature should lose no more time in providing for new ones. The Thornberry bill, which the House has passed by a large majority, takes an important step in advance of the old law by requiring examination of the driving ability of all applicants for licenses. Most holders of the old licenses obtained them without examination, as permitted by the first license law.

Under the blanket licensing formerly allowed many persons with impaired eyesight or hearing or other physical disabilities were given cards attesting to their driving ability. Others suffered disabilities after receiving their first licenses but nevertheless were allowed to renew them without examination. Only new applicants were tested on their physical abilities and their knowledge of driving and of traffic rules.

The cost of the license—50c for individual drivers with higher rates for commercial operators and chauffeurs—is low enough. No one can reasonably object to this or to the nature of the test. A driver's license not backed by an examination of the applicant means almost nothing. Only by examination of all applicants can licensing become an effective factor in reducing the state's high toll of traffic deaths.—Dallas News.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for indigestion.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to get rid of excess poisonous body waste. They are antiseptic to the urinary tract and tend to relieve irritation and the pain it causes. Many grateful people recommend Doan's. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Ask your neighbor!

FAMOUS NOVELIST IS DEVOTED FAMILY MAN

Dr. and Mrs. Cronin and Their Three Sons: Patrick, Andrew and Vincent.

DR. R. A. J. CRONIN, phenomenally successful novelist who turned from a career in medicine to writing, is married to a doctor, according to a sketch in the May issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine. They have three sons, Patrick, Andrew and Vincent.

Dr. Cronin's first novel, "Hatter's Castle," appeared in 1931 and was immediately successful. This was followed by "Three Loves," "Grand Canary," "The Stars Look Down" and "Lady with Carnations." In 1938, Cronin wrote "The Citadel," which was widely acclaimed by critics and was on the best-seller list for many months. His new novel, a dramatic story of the nursing profession entitled "Vigil in the Night" begins serially in the May issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Dr. Cronin and his family live in a beautiful old manse, Sullington Court, in Sussex, England, where in addition to writing, Cronin farms, raises ducks, plays golf and tennis and goes fishing. He also collects modern paintings and ancient Chinese art objects.

Dr. Cronin is a Scotsman with Irish blood and his wife is also Scotch. He spent his youth in Dumbarton and Glasgow, studied medicine and became an inspector in the Welsh mines. Here he had much personal experience with hardship and man's inhumanity to man. These unforgettable experiences are reflected in his novels. Cronin says that he will always remain a doctor at heart.

COOKING RANKS HIGH AS MASCULINE HOBBY

MORE and more men are openly admitting that they enjoy cooking and are going for it as a hobby, according to Leo Nejelski, one of the leading spirits in the restoration of man's primeval right to cook. "Not a week passes," Nejelski says, "that I don't discover among my acquaintances and friends, more and more men who enjoy cooking. Some make a fetish of complex and involved foods. Others go in for simple dishes. But there is one thing all of them have in common—and that is the deep and sincere enjoyment they derive from the preparation of food."

It is not necessary for a man to be able to cook any and everything to qualify as a cook, Nejelski continues in an article entitled, "Come On In, Men—Cooking's Fine," in the May issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine. Many a reputation has been founded on the repeated and masterful preparation of one dish.

LEO NEJELSKI

Nejelski contends that the man who cooks gets more pleasure from eating. He opposes the idea that eating should be indulged in from habit and declares that a man does not have to be a gourmet to pamper his sense of taste. "Eating can be fun," Nejelski says. "And it costs no more that way. Even a child enjoys his food more if he has some part in cooking and seasoning it."

The Farm Credit administration estimated that 35 per cent of all farms in the United States carried mortgages in 1938, the aggregate indebtedness amounting to $7,082,000,000.

TOPSEY H-D CLUB

The Topsey Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Vick McBride on Wednesday afternoon, April 26. Miss Eva Durham and Mrs. J. W. Krempin gave a short dialogue on "Clean Wholesome Milk is Health Insurance." Using cottage cheese in different ways to show that there are many ways for growing children to get the use of milk besides drinking it. One of the most useful ways of using cottage cheese is in a salad of the cheese and various kinds of fruits.

A quilt was quilted, and the club members answered roll call by telling how many cows their family milks.

Refreshments were served to fourteen members and the visitors Mrs. Allie Basham, Mrs. Efton

Carroll, and the H. D. Agent, Miss Sidney Gibson. Miss Gibson gave an interesting talk on the arrangement of your furniture in your room and hanging pictures.

A club social was planned for Saturday night, April 29 at the home of Mrs. Alfred Saegert.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Alfred Saegert on Wednesday.

An 11-ft. equestrian memorial figure in bronze, depicting the last meeting of Gens. Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, will be set up in Wyman Park, Baltimore, in 1940, J. Henry Ferguson left $100,000 for the statue.

JOAN BENNETT IS CHASED BY FREDRIC MARCH

Night, the air laden with the chill of death; a girl, wanted for murder, sits nervously in her roadster on the front end of a San Francisco ferry; a police car is driven onto the boat and two officers alight to peer into every car; without a moment's hesitation, the girl drives crazily into the water—and the darkness; the swirling fog silently covers the splash.

This is one of the first thrilling scenes in "Trade Winds" Walter Wagner's adventure romance opening at the Regal Theatre next Saturday with Fredric March and Joan Bennett in the starring roles. The girl who seizes this daring chance to escape is Miss Bennett herself, a few days later the San Francisco police are notified that she has pawned a ring in Honolulu.

Thus begins a chase that extends half way around the world, with March, debonair private detective

A New Petunia -- For Cutting

By BETTY BARCLAY

Something for nothing? After reading these four paragraphs, you will have to admit that for once you have an opportunity to get something decidedly new and attractive for as near nothing as a penny post card.

Only a few miles from where I am writing this story, on David Burpee's Fordhook Farms, near Philadelphia, they have developed a new Petunia that is outstanding for cut flower use—a Petunia named "Strawberry Festival" (pictured above) with a color half way between strawberry and old rose. Flowers grow 2 1/2 to 3 in. across, have artistically waved or ruffled edges, and a broad, deep, rich plum-colored throat so that they may be likened to a Gloxinia. As easy to grow as any Bedding Petunia; does well almost anywhere, in any ordinary garden soil and a sunny location. Makes a gorgeous showing in the garden. Its long stems 1 1/2 ft. or more in length, artistic flowers and attractive foliage all combine to make Strawberry Festival the finest and most desirable Petunia for cutting. Lest you think I am unduly excited over this 1939 Petunia model, may I say that while many of our favorite garden flowers have been in cultivation since before history began, the Petunia is a newcomer discovered in South America only one hundred and fifty years ago. The first flowers were small and of undesirable colors. Horticulturists increased the tiny flowers to giant seven inches across; developed deeply fringed or ruffled blooms; and grew flowers so fully double as to resemble immense fringed or lacinated Carnations. Petunias have been developed for large beds borders, edgings, pot culture and for trailing from hanging baskets—but this new Petunia is the first one that is outstanding for cut flower use. It will be one of the new flower sensations next season.

"Something for nothing!" I said. To each of you who wishes to be first in your locality with this flower, I shall gladly send a package of Strawberry Festival Petunia seed—as long as my supply lasts. There is no charge. Just drop a postal to Betty Barclay, 3160 Kensington Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania—and the seed will be mailed promptly.

AN EXTRA BATHROOM

If you are building or remodeling, remember that a downstairs lavatory or small extra bath is an investment that pays for itself many times in convenience and added livability.

Your architect will be glad to include one in the plans for your new home . . . for it's such a simple job to transform a big catch-all closet or seldom-used pantry into a smart new bathroom that you can easily have this added convenience in your present dwelling. And you need not worry about the "outlook" either—for with the new translucent glass blocks, which admit light but not sight, you can have an abundance of cheerful illumination without the slightest sacrifice of privacy.

THE SAFE DIET FOR GOOD HEALTH AND VITALITY

By RUTH J. COOPER, Consulting Home Economist
Breeder-Feeder Association

Good health depends upon proper nutrition. Proper nutrition depends first, upon the availability of the food supply. This takes us right back to the Breeder-Feeder Movement, or balanced farming program, which is the basis for Southwestern economic independence. Secondly, proper nutrition depends upon the proper use of these food products. Whether you are a producer or consumer, both of these phases of the problem are of vital importance. Good health and vitality are the direct results of proper nutrition.

But what is proper nutrition? Briefly the needs of the body are: (1) Calories for heat and energy, (2) Protein to build and repair the body tissue, (3) Minerals to regulate body processes, to build bones, blood, etc. (4) Vitamins to promote growth and protect health, and (5) Bulk to aid in elimination of body wastes. Proper nutrition means the selection of a diet which supplies all the daily needs of the body with a small reserve supply.

The Texas Extension Service working with other scientific specialists, set up a Texas Food Standard as a guide to proper nutrition for rural people. This standard has been broadened for use of urban families and is being suggested as the "Safe Diet" by nutritionists, dietitians, home economists and teaching groups throughout the Southwest. The following standard is a safe guide in evaluating the daily menu, and attaining proper nutrition thru an adequate balanced diet.

The Safe Diet:
Daily
1 quart of milk

1 egg
1 serving lean meat
1 serving potatoes or rice
1 serving green or yellow vegetables
1 serving other vegetables
1 serving citrus fruit or tomatoes
1 serving other fruit; dried, canned or fresh
1 serving whole grain products
Bread and butter at every meal
Some sweets
Cheese three times per week
Dried peas and beans three times per week
Liver once a week

Water daily; six to eight glasses
This "Safe Diet" has meat once a day and specifies liver once a week. More meat could be used with more safety because, of all the foods, meat offers the most in food elements, satisfying qualities, and palatability.

In our urge or need to economize, we have skimped too much on the meat. Had this not been the case, perhaps the results might have been different. We are told that the diets of the Southwest are dangerously inadequate, that only twenty-five percent of our people today are enjoying diets supplying a small reserve strength over and above the daily needs. Rural people can grow their own and need not lack for all the elements of a good diet—meat included.

Better dietary habits improve health; better health raises economic and social standards; the route to security and economic independence lies through both producing and consuming a "Safe Diet" on the farm as far as possible.

R. C. DYESS PRAISES WORK OF SCS ON HIS FARM

"Observing the results obtained from a complete soil conservation program installed on the Lonnie Flentge farm by the local CCC Camp has changed my viewpoint of the program," said Mr. R. C. Dyess, a farmer of the Schley community.

In 1935 a neighbor who had two ditches emptying water thru Mr. Dyess' farm, signed an agreement with the Soil Conservation Service. The plans called for one of these gullies to be healed up, and the other to be strip sodded and used as a drainage way for the water that both ditches had previously carried. Mr. Dyess thought that the concentration of all the water thru one channel would cause greater damage from erosion, and he declined to sign an agreement on his farm with the Soil Conservation Service.

"During the past three years," Mr. Dyess said, "I have observed that the strip sodded waterway handled the outside water so well that less damage resulted on my farm than before. Also, I have watched the terraces, strip crops, contour tillage and terrace outlet channel on my neighbor's farm and have become convinced that the practices recommended by the Soil Conservation Service are the best methods to follow in farming our lands to secure the most benefits from them and to conserve them for future generations."

CHAPTER III—SYNOPSIS

Kain faces Missouri mule-breeder unless Sweeney Bliss smelt town bank director succeeds in getting the British Army to continue its orders. In order to see Capt Brooks-Bowen the British Army purchasing agent Sweeney is forced to fly Kansas City with his pet mule Samson. Samson loses first prize in the show but Brooks-Bowen is intrigued with Sweeney and the rest of the Bliss family. Julie Sweeney's wife a woman with social ambitions and her sister Lola whose beauty has captivated the Britisher much to the disgust of Joel, Lola's hometown sweetheart.

CHAPTER IV

"Oh, Lola, you little minx," Julie gurgled, nudging her sister. "What do you mean?"

"You know what I mean. The Captain is fascinated with you."

"Don't be silly," Lola laughed but added, "do you really think so?"

But Julie and another problem. Captain Brooks-Bowen was wearing white tie and tails. Therefore Sweeney and Joel must dress.

"Now, honey, when you sell mules, you don't have to dress like one," Sweeney protested. "Besides, the stores are all closed."

The bell boy solved Julie's problem to Sweeney's disgust. They could rent dress suits at the Waiters' Supply House!

But Sweeney and Joel were uncomfortable in their rented dress suits as they entered the Muehlebach Hotel and checked their overcoats. "I feel like a Hereford cow with all this white front on me," Sweeney muttered. Just then Brooks-Bowen advanced to welcome them. He had changed to a dark business suit.

"Captain, it looks like you've double-crossed me," Sweeney said as he shook hands. "I would never have put on this Hereford suit if you hadn't set the precedent."

"I was afraid you might have left your tails at home," the Englishman smiled tactfully. Turning to the head waiter, he added: "The same table I had last night, please."

"I am sorry, sir, the headwaiter apologized. 'I had' to give that table to Mr. Porgie Rowe and his sister, Miss Allison Rowe."

"Say, is that Mr. Rowe that's president of the George Rowe Plow & Tractor Company?" Sweeney asked. He recognized Allison as the girl who had spoken to him and Samson earlier in the day.

Allison Rowe had also recognized Sweeney. "Look, Porgie," she said to her brother, "there's that mule man I told you about, over there at the table with Brooks-Bowen."

Porgie whirled around and stared. "A mule man with Brooks-Bowen?" he boomed. "Come on, sis, on your toes. I have to break this up if I am to close that deal with the British Army for tractors."

At Brooks-Bowen's suggestion, Porgie Rowe and Allison joined the party and dinner proceeded. Julie watched with the eye of a born matchmaker as Lola and Brooks-Bowen danced one dance after another. Joel scowled jealously but remained silent for fear of jeopardizing Sweeney's plans with the British attache.

Allison Rowe also watched as Brooks-Bowen and Lola danced. Noticing this interest Julie could not resist the temptation to remark that the two made a nice looking couple.

"Lovely," Allison agreed just a trifle too casually. "Have you known the Captain long?"

"Well, not so awfully long," Julie admitted "but we'll probably know him better. He and Mr. Bliss have business connections."

"Oh, really?" Porgie Rowe said. "I thought Mr. Bliss was in the mule business."

"I am," Sweeney declared. "But haven't you heard? Mules have become obsolete in the British

"I do," Johnny on the spot, you know.

"So do I, Sweeney," Julie cut in. "Oh, it would be wonderful."

Brooks-Bowen turned to Lola. "If you come to London, we'll dance at the Claridge."

"Whoa, now," Sweeney protested. "not so fast."

"Think it over," Brooks-Bowen urged as he departed.

"Oh, Sweeney! It would be wonderful," Julie said gleefully after Brooks-Bowen had gone. "Think of being in London—and with him to introduce you."

"Now, honey! Not so fast. You and me've got to have a pow-wow. There's

"Now, honey," Sweeney said. "When you sell mules, you don't have to dress like one."

Army," Porgie explained. "The Captain's in Kansas City to buy tractors—from me."

Sweeney was completely sunk. So this was the end of his efforts to help the Missouri mule breeders!

But later that evening in Sweeney's room, after the Rowes had departed, Sweeney brought up the subject again.

"Brother Rowe says you folks think mules are out of date," Sweeney ventured.

"Oh, not at all," Brooks-Bowen protested. "For frontier service in rough country the mule is indispensable. It's just that we have a very tight budget for transport and my superior in the War Office feels we should spend all the appropriation for tractors."

"Do you agree?"

"Well, frankly, no," the Englishman admitted. "We may need mule replacements before we need trucks or tractors."

"It's too bad for us mule men that you aren't the boss, Captain," Sweeney said glumly.

Brooks-Bowen sipped his highball thoughtfully. "Mr. Rowe is going to London as his own salesman. I'd like to see you Missouri farmers represented."

"You feel that if we sent a man there might be a chance?" Sweeney demanded with reawakened interest.

a lot to talk over," Sweeney protested.

Joel interrupted. "Guess I'll be going across the hall," he said. He turned to say good night to Lola.

"We won't look," Sweeney grinned. "Go ahead and kiss her good night."

Joel was embarrassed and uneasy. Peeking Lola on the cheek, he made a hasty and awkward exit.

After Lola had also gone to bed, Sweeney and Julie continued the discussion. "You've got to do it, Sweeney," Julie urged, "it's your duty."

"I sort of feel the same way about it, Julie," Sweeney was obviously troubled. "But I don't want to be away from you on Thanksgiving."

"You won't be. I'm going with you. I'm going to take the money father left Lola and me and invest it in Lola's future. Darling, didn't you see the way Brooks-Bowen looked at her?"

"No, I didn't—and you're not going to spend your capital on social climbing," Sweeney argued.

"Social climbing? Well, maybe I am. That's just another name for wanting your family to live better—to be more cultured. I'm not ashamed of it," Julie said defiantly. "It's a woman's way of helping after she doesn't have to do the wash and help with the plowing. And I've done that, too! Now we're going to London!"

Menus

Because they are light and delicate in flavor egg and cheese dishes are particularly suitable for springtime service. There are many ways of preparing these foods—alone, or in combination. Try some of these new stunts and see if the family doesn't respond.

POACHED EGGS IN RICE NESTS
1 cup raw rice
1 tsp. salt
1-3 cup butter.
1-3 cup flour
3 cups milk
1½ cups grated cheese
2-3 cup stuffed olives
Salt and pepper
8 eggs

Pour rice in strainer and rinse well under cold water before cooking. Add salt to about 3 quarts of water. When it boils rapidly add rice and cook until tender but not mushy. Drain in colander when done and pour boiling water over the rice to rinse out starchy water. Put the strainer of rice over the pan in which it was cooked and cover with a clean dry towel and then the lid of the pan. The rice will keep hot and fluffy this way for about 10 minutes. While rice is cooking make the sauce; melt the butter in a saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour until smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Add grated cheese and season to taste with salt and pepper. Add sliced olives last. Poach eggs. Make a nest of rice in each plate. Place a poached egg in each nest. Sprinkle salt and pepper over each egg and pour the sauce over all.

EGGS IN BREAD ROUNDS
4 slices bread
4tbsp. butter
4 eggs
Salt, pepper
Bacon

Cut slices of bread in large rounds. With a small cutter remove center, leaving 2½ inch rim. Brown one side of bread in butter in skillet. Turn. Drop egg in center of each round. Cook until eggs are set. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Garnish with bacon.

EGGS AND CHEESE SAUCE ON TOAST
Slowly melt one package American cheese in top of double boiler. Gradually add ½ cup milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne. Cut hard-cooked eggs in thick slices. Cut slices of toast in half, diagonally. Put slices of egg on the toast and pour a generous amount of sauce over each portion.

CHEESE CASSEROLE
12 slices day old bread
1-3 cup margarine
2 cups grated American cheese
3 cups milk
3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Paprika

Spread slices of bread with butter or margarine. Place a layer of 6 slices in a large, shallow greased baking dish and sprinkle heavily with grated cheese. Repeat process, making 2 layers. Combine beaten eggs with milk, salt and Worcestershire sauce and pour over bread and cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Place baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until set, 1¼ hours. Serve hot.

HUNGARIAN CASSEROLE
4 hard-cooked eggs
3 tbsp. softened butter
½ tsp. scraped onion
2 tps. minced parsley
1 tsp. prepared mustard
Salt pepper
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup dry crumbs

Halve eggs lengthwise. Remove yolks mash. Add 2 tablespoons butter, onion, parsley, mustard, salt and pepper. Fill egg whites with mixture. Place cut side up in a shallow casserole and cover with sour cream. Sprinkle with crumbs and dot with remaining butter. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

CREAMED EGGS
Cut 6 hard cooked eggs in half. Melt 4 tablespoons margarine over hot water. Blend in 4 tablespoons flour. ¾ teaspoon salt and few grains pepper. Add 2 cups milk gradually, cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add 1 cup chopped ripe olives; add eggs. Heat thoroughly. Serve on toast.

GLAZED DEVILED EGGS
(To be used as an appetizer or as a salad.)
1 dozen hard-cooked eggs
1 tsp. dry mustard
1-3 cup mayonnaise
½ cup finely chopped dill pickle
3 tbsp. vinegar
Salt and pepper
12 pimento strips
½ pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
¾ cup hot water.

Shell eggs and cut in half, lengthwise. Remove yolks and put thru sieve. Mix with mustard, mayonnaise and chopped pickle, 1 tablespoon of vinegar, salt and pepper. Refill whites. Garnish with pimento strips and chill. Dissolve lemon gelatin in hot water and stir in remaining vinegar and chill. When it begins to thicken pour a thin coating over the filling of each egg; try to keep it from spreading over onto the white. Chill until set.

CREAMED EGGS AND HAM
Hard boil 6 eggs. Halve lengthwise and combine with 1 cup cubed ham in a highly seasoned white sauce. Serve on toast strips.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

BUT IT'S JUST AS GOOD

YOU have had the experience, haven't you, of going into some stores and asking for an advertised brand of goods, only to have the clerk hand you another brand and inform you, "But it's just as good." Sometimes, to your regret, you bought the "just as good" item but sometimes you walked out of the store and searched until you found the merchandise you had asked for in the first place. When you got it you were satisfied.

You had confidence in the advertised goods, because you read in the honest pronouncements of the advertiser what you might expect his product to do for you. This gave you assurance. You bought because you had confidence.

But when that clerk palmed off something different on you, you had misgivings, you had doubts, you had fears, you had lack of confidence.

Maybe they were justified. Maybe they were not. It doesn't matter. The fact remains that advertising had invested the advertiser's goods with a confidence which made your buying a pleasant in place of a fearful duty.

Usually, but not always, these "just as good" goods are not as good—they are inferior and the merchant sells them because they carry more profit for him. He does his level best to get rid of them, because it is more to his advantage to do so than it is to yours.

Many stores pay their salesman a commission for selling unknown and unadvertised goods, because the salesman would not sell them without some special inducement.

It is much better for you as a consumer to put your reliance absolutely in advertised goods and in stores which advertise, and to patronize both exclusively.

When a man advertises his goods and tells frankly and publicly what they will do for you, he seeks your patronage on the basis of actual value.

It may be that some manufacturers or merchants can offer just as good value in unknown or unadvertised goods. But the chances are ten to one that they can't—because advertising not only increases the distribution of goods, but at the same time increases the production, so that advertised goods cost less to make; hence, gives more to the buyer.

In the long run you get more for your money when you buy advertised goods. You get more in actual value. And also get more in that intangible value, known as confidence.

And confidence is one of the chief satisfactions of life.

THE RAT—AN EXPENSIVE AND DANGEROUS PEST

The rat is not only the least useful but is perhaps one of the most dangerous and expensive of nature's parasitic animals living at man's expense. "Public Enemy No. 1" among animal pests, to employ a popular phrase, might be correctly applied to the rat, for he stands convicted of the crimes committed by those enemies of society of the more desperate type to which this epithet has been applied.

According to the most eminent authorities, rats kill large numbers of young domestic fowls and birds and steal almost anything edible. They are vandals which destroy valuable articles of merchandise. They even commit arson, causing fires by gnawing the insulation off electric wires under floors or in partition walls, and building nests of oily waste or other inflammable material. They are also instrumental in taking human life thru harboring parasites which transmit disease.

It is estimated that in any given community the rat population equals that of human inhabitants. Rats are very prolific, producing an average of five litters annually, of from six to nine rats each.

The cost of feeding a rat is generally estimated at one-half cent per day, or nearly $2 per annum. Assuming that the number of rats in the United States equals that of the human population, the cost of feeding these dangerous pests amounts to approximately $250,000,000 per annum. As the value of material destroyed or damaged by rats in addition to what they actually eat is estimated to be 10 times this amount, we find that the annual cost of maintaining our normal rat population reaches the staggering sum of $2,500,000,000.

Whether or not this fact is generally known and appreciated by the majority of people, the economic losses are shared by almost everybody the world over; and the hand of man has been raised in all lands against the rat and almost every known means has been employed to reduce his numbers or to exterminate him. Usually the interest in rat control of the average citizen becomes aroused only when he is either annoyed by the presence of rats or has sustained economic losses due to their depredations. This temporary interest expresses itself in the periodic drives and trapping and poisoning campaigns which are carried on from time to time. Generally, after the immediate danger has passed, such activities are concluded and no further efforts are made to exterminate the rat until conditions again become unbearable.

The economic losses resulting from the destruction of foodstuffs and other commodities by rats and the annoyance which their presence causes are in themselves of sufficient importance to focus the attention of the majority of the population on the need for remedial action. But when it is considered that, in addition, there is a grave public health problem involved, the importance and the magnitude of the task of permanent control instead of periodic reduction of the rat population that will confer the highest degree of health protection and reduction of economic losses.

The problem is on international as well as a national one, as it concerns the general public of all countries. It can be solved only by continued and persistent efforts in carrying out measures which are known to produce permanent results, so that freedom from rat life will be the normal state of affairs.

Rats are agents in disseminating certain epidemic diseases thru the medium of the parasites that infest them. Bubonic plague has been transmitted to many parts of the world in this manner. In recent years it has been demonstrated that typhus fever also is transmitted by this means. Rats are frequently infected with intestinal parasites, especially tape worm. Trichina is also found in rats, and these rodents are probably a factor in transmitting the infection among hogs, whence it may spread to man.

Rats may be controlled by rat-proofing buildings, by trapping, by fumigating, by poisoning, by starving, by annoying (cats and dogs).

Here are some good recipes for rat poison, using red squill (red squill should be obtained from the Biological Survey, A. & M. College, College Station, Texas). Always use 1 part of red squill to 16 parts of mixture.

- Rat poison No. 1:
16 lb mackerel
1 lb red squill
- Rat poison No. 2:
5 lb oat meal
1 lb wheat grey shorts
3 pts. peanut oil
Approx. 9 pts. water
1 lb red squill
- Rat poison No. 3:
8 lb bananas (sliced)
8 lb apples (grated)
1 lb red squill
- Rat poison No. 4:
16 lb hamburger (½ suet and ½ lean)
1 lb red squill

With a total population of some 130,000,000 there are in the United States 118,000,000 insurance policies of all types, 42,000,000 savings accounts and 144,000,000 family-owned homes.

The United States has a radio to every five persons against one to 17 in four other leading nations a telephone to each seven persons against one to each 35 in the other nations.
