CONTRACT LET TO THOMAS & RATLIFF ON 36 TRAINING SCHOOL TO J'BORO

WORK IS EXPECTED TO START SOMETIME IN JUNE

Information from County Judge Floyd Zeigler's office as well as a brief notation in the dailies is that contract has been let to Thomas & Ratliff for topping on Highway 36, from the State Juvenile Training School to Jonesboro. The approximate amount was given to be $48,000.

Although it is not definite, work on this job is expected to start sometime in June. Thomas & Ratliff are well known in this vicinity, since they were awarded another contract here some time ago, which has since been completed.

other contract here some time ago, which has since been completed.

PROSPECTS FOR 84 ARE BRIGHTER: PLANS TO AUSTIN

Prospects for topping on U. S. 84 (old Hwy. 7) are on the upgrade, and the first draft of plans for topping on this highway have already been sent to Austin, and include this work from Gatesville to the Mills county line.

Contracts are scheduled to be let on this job in time to complete it before the winter months, which usually means November, according to Judge Zeigler.

CONGRESSMAN POAGE ASKS FOR COTTON CHECKS

(Copy of letter today forwarded by Congressman W. R. Poage to Honorable Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, and Honorable William A. Julian, Treasurer of the United States.)

May 22, 1939
Honorable Henry A. Wallace
Secretary of Agriculture,
Department of Agriculture,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. Wallace:

May I call your attention to the very serious situation that exists at this time throughout the South as a result of the delay in paying the checks now due Southern cotton farmers. I am sure that you appreciate the fact that the planting season is practically over throughout a large part of our country and that many farmers must have these checks to enable them to make a crop this year.

In my own district, as in other large regions of the Southwest, we have just now had rains, in many cases being the first moisture sufficient for planting. In other cases these rains have been accompanied by storms which necessitate complete replanting. It is vital that our farmers receive whatever payments they are due at once.

If these checks are paid within the next week it will cost the Government nothing extra and will enable thousands of good people to make a crop to support themselves who will otherwise be forced to look to the Government for help as soon as the small amount of their check is eaten up. I hope that it will be possible for you to arrange for the immediate payment of the balance of these checks throughout the South at once.

I would not ask that any other section of our people be discriminated against, but I am sure that you will agree that the most pressing need for payment of these checks is at this time in the South, and that this emergency should receive prior consideration at the hands of the disbursing agencies. I am addressing a like communication to Hon. William A. Julian, Treasurer of the United States.

Your very sincerely,
W. R. Poage, M. C.

WOOL, MOHAIR AND "HEN" SHOWS, FEAT- URES OF RODEO

Just about the biggest week end in the history of Coryell County is in store for the week ending June 1, 2 and 3, when the premier will be the Rodeo and Frontier Celebration. BUT on the second day of the big show, there will be the Annual Wool and Mohair Show. In addition, there will be a Poultry Improvement Day at Gatesville.

Classes for both commercial wool and breeding wool have been arranged.

Also, in cooperation with local poultrymen, feedmen and growers, the poultry improvement day will be held. Discussions will be on problems that confront growers in the production of eggs, chicks, laying hens, turkeys, etc. Poultry authorities from various organizations will be here to aid with the show. Features will be production, care and management of eggs, the hatching and growing of baby chicks thru the broiler, fryer and pullet stage, as well as featuring the right types of cockerels and laying hens, both for breeding and commercial purposes.

Turkeys will be featured throughout the life of the bird, and the new type known as "baby beef" will be exhibited.

George P. McCarthy, Poultry Specialist will discuss at 2:00 p. m. the vital phases of the industry.

The entire show will be held at Brown's gin shed.

The H-D end of the show will deal with the utilization of wool, mohair and poultry products. This will include preparation of the products—eggs, fowl, lamb, mutton; and use of wool, feathers, and down for light warm cover.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET HERE MONDAY MORNING

The county superintendent's office announced Wednesday that there would be a meeting of the Coryell County school board in the courthouse Monday morning at 10 o'clock. During the meeting the different schools over the county will be classified and the bus routes established for the '39-'40 term.

ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FOUR GET DIPLOMAS, HONORS, SCHOLARSHIPS

It's "30" for the Class of 1939, in newspaper slang.

Tonight at the gym, with J. Manley Head, Senator from this district, delivering the address, one hundred and twenty-four boys and girls will have finished eleven years of their life's school work. After this, they will either find places in the business of the world or go on for further education and preparation.

Already, all of the program has been carried in the News with the exception of the Chorus under the direction of Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook, which will sing "Forest Dance," by Delibes. The chorus includes Sopranos: Frances Brown, Martha Jean Pattillo, Martha Ann

Reverend Edward S. Bayless, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will deliver the invocation, and Reverend C. M. Spalding of the First Baptist Church will deliver the Benediction.

Gladys Marie Phillips will render a piano solo, entitled "Ballade" by Chopin.

"With Highest Honor" is Martha Moore; "With High Honor" is Ernestine Chitwood; and "With Honor" are Frances Brown, Phebe Dunn, Margaret Haase, Ruth Hanna, Martha Jean Pattillo, John F. Post and Vera Taylor.

GORDON C. SINGLETON TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS AT FLAT

President Gordon C. Singleton of Mary Hardin-Baylor College will deliver the commencement address for Flat High School seniors May 30. Dr. Singleton, formerly of Macon, Ga., accepted the presidency of Mary Hardin-Baylor College in November, 1937 at the first public inauguration in the 94 years history of the college.

Dr. J. H. Hamilton and Walter O'Neal made a trip to Fort Worth Thursday.

Gorcery.

The newly organized gang besides playing during the parade, will be here, to play at McClellan's store after the parade and pass out those Bewley's Biscuits, Mmm-m! Mmm-m!

RODEO ADVERTISERS "ON TOUR" CONTINUE THRU MONDAY

After a brief parade by the Gatesville High School band, two cute little white mules hitched to a covered wagon, the Rodeo and Frontier Celebration sponsor, Miss Frankie Mae Blair, and W. T. Hix's sound equipment, and a few boyish riders Wednesday, the Rodeo Advertisers and Good-Will trips opened Thursday morning.

The trip yesterday took the advertisers to McGregor, Temple, Belton, Killeen, Copperas Cove and Lampasas.

Today, leaving at 10:00 a. m. a short parade will be made down Austin Avenue in Waco at 11 a. m.

Monday's pilgrimage will include Hamilton at 10 a. m., Hico, 11:30; Meridian, 2:00 p. m. Clifton, 3:00 and Valley Mills at 4:00. The party leaves Gatesville Monday at 9 a. m.

Everybody is to go and help put over the big show.

MEETING OF COUNTY BASE- BALL MANAGERS AT 2:00 P. M. SATURDAY

A final meeting of the county baseball league managers will be held in the News office Saturday at 2 p. m. During this assembly final preparations for the opening of the season will be made, the State's entrance and the umpiring situation will be discussed, and a few minor eligibility problems will be worked out. It is imperative that every manager in the county should attend, and if other community in the county wants to enter a club they should send a representative to this gathering.

Some of the managers over the county have neglected to send in their eligibility lists, and this should be done right away, as all conflicts will have to be worked out at the Saturday meeting. The league officials are expecting representatives from Blackfoot, Piddoke, Mound, Gatesville, Jonesboro, Turnersville, White Hall, Moshier, and the State Training School.

REP. WELDON BURNLEY GIVES OUTLINE OF LEGISLATION

As your representative, I am giving you a brief outline of the tax questions which have been considered by the 46th Legislature. As you know, we have had many controversial issues, none of which have been settled so far. Of course, the most important one is paying Social Security which also includes old age assistance.

As a candidate, I stated to the people on many occasions that I favored the paying of this obligation and during that same time I pledged faithfully that I would not support a sales tax. That, I believe, was the faithful promise of the present administration. At the beginning of the session it was reiterated in the first message to the legislature, thus a substitute tax measure known as a transaction tax was offered. After close observation and long study by the Legislature, an overwhelming majority learned that it was a very impractical suggestion as a means or raising Social Security revenue. Consequently, it was promptly side-tracked without being explained to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation to which this proposal was referred. Though the Committee invited a representative of the Chief Executive to present a full explanation of the measure then, the House by resolution did the same thing, until today that has never been explained before the Committee as to what effect it will have upon the taxpayers; how much money it will raise, and who will have to bear the heaviest part of the burden. That being the case, Mr. Petch, who is an ardent supporter of the sales tax, voluntarily introduced this measure, stating that he would not support it on the floor of the House, but would try to substitute a sales tax instead. That was the procedure of the tax measure we have for our consideration, which proposes a constitutional amendment embodying a sales tax. As you know, this was defeated in the House. Shortly after this the Senate passed a similar tax resolution known as S.J.R. 12, which carries almost the identical provisions of H.J.R. 16, which was introduced by Mr. Petch. Remembering my promises to the people and acting upon my judgment after close study, I voted against both of the tax proposals to be placed in the Constitution of this State. I felt this decision was in accordance with the views of the administration before the election and that is the real opinion now. I may have been criticized for not supporting this proposal of the present administration, but I cannot be criticised for breaking my promise which I would have had to do if I had given my support. It cannot be said that I have reversed my opinion to follow anyone. I shall always consider my promise as meaning more to me personally, than any political gain. If I come to realize that I have promised and have been mistaken in my views while making that promise. I will be glad to reconsider in the interest of the people, but I do not believe this is the case. Consequently, I shall stand firm upon my convictions, taking into consideration the taxpayers. As you no doubt remember on many occasions, I stated that I believed in economy, making the statement; "more economy and less taxation." For that reason I have continuously voted with the economy bloc in the House.

You may wonder what tax measure I am supporting, and for your information, I will advise that I have supported the income tax measure which is placed upon the net earnings of every individual, which, in effect, I think is one of the best bills introduced. As co-author of House Bill 340 which was considered by the House this week, I wish to explain that it is an omnibus tax bill levying a higher tax on the natural resources, which includes crude oil, natural gas and many other minerals. It is estimated to raise approximately twenty million dollars. I have an amendment to be offered on this bill in the event that the oil tax is reduced by the opposition, that will place one mill upon each one gallon of gasoline refined in this State, which is estimated to bring in nine million, six hundred thousand dollars ($9,600,000) annually. Of this amount the people of Texas will pay approximately one million and one half. Consequently, the rest of the world the other eight and one-half millions.

I would like to make it clear to the people that I may not have complied with all the requests of the present administration, but I have acted on all occasions in the interest and welfare of the people of Texas, taking into consideration those who must pay the tax as well as those who will receive the tax. Again, I am thinking of the social security of our youth which I think is the best investment we can make. I had rather be defeated in any election than have it said that in this Legislature I seek the fancies of those who speak the loudest, ever keeping in mind the interest of those who must pay for the mistake I might make. I have not and shall not make any attempt to elevate myself with the political gesture at the expense of the people whom I represent. My decisions are based upon the solemn promises I made when I took the oath of office, entering into a life of public duty. Whether or not you have agreed with me, I hope that it can be said that I made HONEST decisions and I will say again, I would rather you would know I am wrong, than not to know at all.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this method of expressing my sincere appreciation for the many kind deeds and words of sympathy extended me during the illness and death of my husband, M. J. McWilliams. Especially do I wish to thank each of you who sent floral offerings.

Early American Homes Vie With Modern For Favor In World's Fair Model City

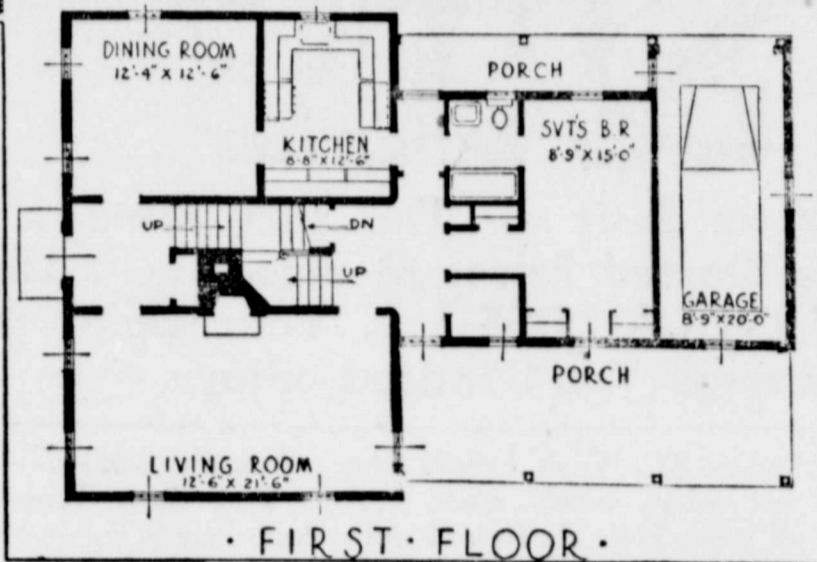

Town of Tomorrow, New York World's Fair—This model village of 15 homes, heralded as the most up-to-date community in the World, is expected by architects and builders to have far-reaching influence on home construction in the United States during the next few years.

Incorporated in the homes, which range in cost from $2,500 up, are ideas and products which undoubtedly will be widely applied to new and old homes all over the country.

Although these are the types of homes in which thousands of Americans will live in the years immediately ahead, modernism is not the dominant architectural motif. In the interiors, however, all are ultra-modern, for here the most modern equipment is used.

For example, the house pictured here—the Kelvin Home of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation—is early New England, a very popular style.

You'll whistle in amazement when you enter this old-fashioned house. Decorations are in the Colonial manner, but the air inside immediately gives you a hint of the modern nature of the interior. The house is completely air conditioned, but you can't see any radiators or registers. Both cooled and warmed air is introduced through new type light fixtures in the ceilings of each room. It is in the kitchen where a "traffic tie-up" of visitors is expected, for this is a kitchen which will make the eyes of any woman sparkle. It is completely electrical, and is a symphony of gleaming stainless steel and porcelain enamel. There are a Kelvinator electric stove and refrigerator, a dish washer, a modern sink, and plenty of cupboard and drawer space for enough equipment for two ordinary houses of this size.

Working surfaces of stainless steel stretch around the four walls.

Beneath these are all-steel compartments and drawers for equipment. Above are similar steel compartments with adjustable steel shelves.

Another example of modern efficiency is the laundry, also all electrical, and designed to make quick work of washing and ironing. The latest Kelvinator washer, ironer and water heater do the work.

The automobile has become a part of the modern home, and so a family car is a part of this house. Like the house, the car—a Nash—has a conditioned air system.

SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK IS DESIGNATED BY GOV.

In connection with the observance of "Texas Soil Conservation Week" proclaimed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel for the week beginning May 28, W. P. Hardy, conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service Camp T-26, located at Gatesville, announced today that 130 farmers in the work area have installed or are in the process of establishing complete soil and water conservation farming systems on 30,996 acres of land.

These farmers, Mr. Hardy said, have retired from cultivation approximately 1703 acres of land. Some of it was so badly eroded that it could not be profitably used for the production of clean-filled crops. Other acres retired were located on slopes too steep for safe cultivation, and some of the land was composed of soils too easily eroded by rainfall runoff to be left without a protective covering of vegetation.

As a result of this land retirement, pasture area on the 120 farms has been increased from 13,776 to 15,479 acres, thereby insuring erosion control and a more profitable utilization of the land.

Mr. Hardy also pointed out that 44 farmers have fenced out 442 acres of natural drains on their farms and sodded them to buffalo and burmuda grass. These pasture strips serve the three purposes of controlling erosion, producing pasturage for livestock, and providing a safe out let for field drainage water.

BUSY BEE CLUB

The Busy Bee Club met with Mrs. C. O. Russell in an all day meeting on May 16th. On account of a big rain that morning there were but a few arrived before noon but there was a fine attendance in the afternoon. There were nine members present, and three visitors. Visitors were Mesdames Joe Martin, G. C. Butch and Vernon Lipsey. We had one new member, Mrs. Joe Martin. Quilting was the work of the day. There are some who forgot their thimbles.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Hamilton in the afternoon on May 30th.

Mrs. Luther Martin gave an interesting talk on "Why do parents need special training".

W. H. BERRY PASSED AWAY LAST FRIDAY MORNING

William Houston Berry, 86, passed away Friday morning, May 19, 1939. For the past year he had made his home with his granddaughter, Mrs. Raymon Minton, and his son, Walter Berry, of this city.

He was born November 1, 1952 in Tennessee, and came to Texas with his parents at the age of eight years, settled in Bell County. Later on he moved to Coryell County near Pidcoke, where the rest of his life was spent with the exception of about ten years.

He was married to Mary Edna Hodges in March 1852, and to this union eight children were born, three of whom survive.

Mr. Berry in his quiet unassuming life was a devoted father and grandfather; kindness and loyalty reigned supreme with him to his family and fellowman.

He was laid to rest Saturday morning at ten o'clock in the McDowell cemetery near Belton with Elder Hershel Doss of the Primitive Baptist Church conducting the services.

He leaves to mourn his going one daughter, Mrs. G. J. Morton, Izora, Texas; two sons, George L. Berry, Amarillo, Texas, and Walter A. Berry of this city; a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were his grandsons, Rex Morton, Felix Morton, Marvel Morton, Walter C. Berry, Hubert Berry and Garlon Berry.

Macaroni Has Interesting Origin

Macaroni Ka-bobs—Appetizing Mounds of Macaroni, Topped With Hot Cheese Sauce And Sliced Olive And Served On Broiled Slices of Onions And Tomatoes

Price, flavor, and nutritive value are often considered when modern homemakers discuss foods, but one topic of food information, the early history, is neglected. Yet there is much of interest here. Let's look, for example, at the Macaroni family, including spaghetti and egg noodles—frequent table visitors during Lent.

While the Italians during the Middle Ages popularized macaroni and spaghetti and preserved the secret of modern macaroni making, this food in one of its many familiar forms was also used in the Orient for centuries. Marco Polo is given credit for introducing the idea of macaroni making to the Italians.

China claims that in an early age, a woman was making bread, which according to the custom of that period, was baked on hot stones. While she was mixing the dough under a tree, some leaves fell into the mixture. To remove them, she forced the dough through a sieve, and as the dough came through in strands, she thought of drying the strands in the sun instead of baking them. This, according to the Chinese, was the beginning of macaroni making.

At first, it was made by hand. Not considered a staple, it was sold in apothecary shops, being recommended chiefly for infants and invalids. The first mechanical process for making macaroni was perfected in 1800.

It was 1870 before large-scale production became established. It did not assume any appreciable commercial importance until 1900, and not until after the World War did it gain a sufficiently strong position to meet foreign competition. The growth of this industry during the past 20 years has been phenomenal. Today, the exports of Macaroni from America far exceed the imports.

Macaroni products are generally served with some highly flavored sauce, easily prepared in your home or readily available in prepared form at your neighborhood store. These commercial or prepared sauces, store easily and are a wise addition to your reserve shelf along with a good supply of the macaroni family.

For those who observe Lent and have the problem of finding meat substitutes during this period, the following suggestions will provide exciting adventures in cookery. Homemakers will also find them welcome throughout the year as appropriate dishes to add variety and pleasure to the daily meals.

Macaroni Ka-bobs

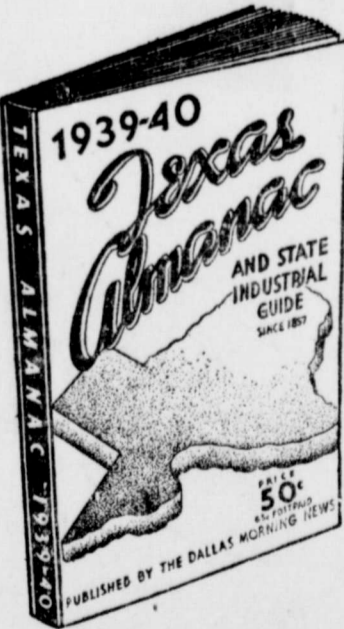

1/2 lb. Elbow macaroni 3 large tomatoes
2 eggs slightly beaten 4 lbs. butter
1 large sweet spanish onion 2 cups cheese sauce
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook the elbow macaroni in boiling salted water until tender and drain. Add one cup butter. Then arrange in well buttered baking cups. Pour over each cup 1 or 2 tbs. of the beaten egg mixture or divide the egg mixture equally between the macaroni cups. Place in moderate oven for about 15 minutes or just long enough for the egg mixture to cook. While the macaroni cups are baking, broil slices of tomato and onion using the remaining butter for topping on these. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Arrange broiled onion and tomato slices with macaroni mounds on each and serve at once with a hot mild cheese sauce. Garnish with slices of stuffed olive.

Spanish Noodle Casserole With Peas

1 8 oz. package of egg per diod noodles 3 tomatoes diced
4 tbs. butter 1 cup canned peas
1 medium onion sliced Salt and pepper to taste
1 medium green pepper diod

Cook the noodles in boiling salted water until tender, drain. Combine with a sauce made by cooking the other ingredients in the butter until tender. Place all in a casserole and bake 1/2 hour at 375°.

Martha Moore Honored With Dinner and Theatre Party
 Miss Martha Moore, Gatesville High School graduate and class valedictorian, was named honoree Thursday evening when Mrs. J. O. Brown entertained with a dinner and theatre party at her home on East Main street.
 Spring flowers were used as decorations thruout the house. Places were marked by cards in blue and silver, class colors. A mound of sweet peas and blue corn flowers with silver ribbons leading to each place formed the table decoration. At the conclusion of the dinner, the guests pulled the silver ribbons and found individual sweetpea corsages, which had made the centerpiece, as favors.
 After the dinner, the group enjoyed "The Ice Follies of 1939" at the Palace Theatre.
 Those sharing in the courtesy with the honoree were a group of seniors: Misses Martha Ann Powell, Gladys Marie Phillips, Lalla Rookh Martin, Ernestine Chitwood, Vera Taylor, Frances Brown, Martha Jean Pattillo, Ruth Hanna, and Mildred Gandy.

Pupils of Mrs. Parks Presented in Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Ola Mae Parks were presented in a recital last Tuesday evening, May 23. Included in the recital were piano solos, duets, readings, trios, and songs.

Those who took part were Henrietta Barsch, Allie Ruth Jones, Margaret Ann Brown, Helen Frances Grubb, E. C. Bauman Jr., Geo. Ricketts, Elizabeth Ann Ricketts, Dorothy Lee Hord, Betty Sue Ricketts, Ernestine Bauman, and Nancy Landers.

Baptist G.H.S. Seniors Honored Tuesday Eve

Among the compliments extended the '39 Seniors of G.H.S. was the delightful lawn party given in their honor by the other members and teachers of the Baptist Young People's Department Tuesday evening at the church.

Included in the evening's entertainment were games, directed by Miss Lois Coleman, and a musical program, furnished by Miss Gladys Marie Phillips, Miss Janice Duerer, and Joe Pat Buth.

A yellow color scheme was used in the refreshment service, and centering the beautifully decorated table on the lawn was a bowl of sweetpeas and Queen Anne's lace. Refreshments, consisting of cookies, sandwiches, and punch, were served to a large number of young people and the teachers.

Marie Meharg Has Recital

Miss Marie Meharg, pupil of Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, was presented in a recital Thursday evening, May 25. Following is the program as it was presented:

Sonata Phatetique, Beethoven, Allegro di Molto e conbrio, Adagio contabilla; Marie Meharg.

Reading, A Lesson in Arithmetic; Allie Ruth Jones.

To the Evening Star, Wagner; Charge of the Hussors, Spindler; Marie Meharg.

Solo, Shortnin' Bread, Wolfe; Joe Pat Buth.

Gondoliere, Nevin; Mountain Spring, Bohne; Marie Meharg.

Reading, Minnie at the Movies;

Yvonne Davis.
Fifth Noctorne, Teybache; Marie Meharg.
Song, The Girl in the Bonnet of Blue; Elizabeth Ann Ricketts, Nancy Landers, Ernestine Bauman, Nelda June Mann, Betty Sue Ricketts, and Dorothy Lee Hord.
Butterfly, Lavalee; Marie Meharg.

Patsy Ruth Lovejoy Entertains Friends

The Eiland Lovejoy home on College street was the scene of a delightfully appointed party Friday evening when Miss Patsy Ruth Lovejoy entertained a group of the younger set. Tables were arranged on the spacious lawn, where various games were played with much merriment and gaiety prevailing.

A sandwich plate and punch was served at the conclusion of the games, and was enjoyed by the following friends who were bidden to the home: Misses Grace Wiegand, Suzanne Sadler, Betty Jane Jones, Maxine Lovejoy, Mildred Kirkpatrick, Bebe Jane McCowan, Vivian McKelvey, Wanda Laxson, Janelle Richardson, Betty Ruth Henderson, Helon Johnson, Countice Jean Pruner, Katherine Ward, Nettie Jane Franks, and Messrs. Jack Pruner, Buddy Powell, Sam Powell, Bobby Shingle, Bobby Ward, Charles Francis Caruth, Tom Post Thomson, Seaborn Ashby, Robert Earl Ashby, Billy Clay McClellan, Jimmie Dick Thomas, Bryan Lee, Kenneth Wallace, Harry Straw, Moody Farquhar, and Bobby Lee Paxton.

Mrs. L. B. Brown, grandmother of the hostess, presented each guest with a pass to the theatre, where they found further entertainment.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Boyar and granddaughter of Hamilton were guests of Mr. Boyar's sister, Mrs. Jim Martin, Thursday.

Clovis King, who has been attending JTAC at Stephenville for the past term, returned to his home near Gatesville Thursday to spend the summer with his parents.

SPORT SCROLL

By POST

The annual county league race is just about to get under way, what with a final managers' meeting Saturday and the final "prep" games Sunday. This year's race promises to be a thriller, for it is being whispered around the circuit that Mound, who finished in the league lead but lost to the battling Jonesboro Eagles in the playoff, is not quite as strong as it was last year, while the Eagles have improved. It looks from this corner as if Jonesboro, Mound, Gatesville, Pidcoke, and Blackfoot will take the first division slots, all of these clubs having a good chance to cop the pennant. Jonesboro undoubtedly holds the favorite spot, for they have a well-balanced club that hustles all the way. Here's the way your correspondent picks them to finish: Jonesboro, Pidcoke, Mound, Gatesville, Blackfoot, White Hall, State (if entrance accepted), Turnersville.

Our fat-faced co-worker, Butter Schley, disagrees with us in placing Gatesville in the fourth position. We do not know much about the Gatesville club. We have looked over their eligibility list, and though they have some fine players, most of them are pretty well along in years. However, if they get their share of the breaks, they may surprise the rural fans and come up with a winner.

The curtain will be raised on the city softball race June 12, the inaugural games matching the CCC vs. Coca-Cola and Arnold vs. Firemen. A complete schedule will be given in the News sometime before the season opens.

Although there will be a slight charge for the games this year, league officials are confident that even greater crowds will attend the contests this year. Every team in the race has added strength, and it is a foregone conclusion that much better softball will be played.

Golfing interest is picking up here in Gatesville. D. W. Diserens has charge of the course this year, and is already preparing for the '39 season. Score cards have been printed, and the six holes are already in shape for play.

The greatest baseball attraction in Central Texas Sunday will be the Waco Don-Halliburton Cements game at Katy Park. The Dons have assembled a fine club, one of the best semi-pro out-fits in the state, while the Cementers are always tough. They have copped the rich first prize of the Houston Post tournament for the past two years, and have added the foremost pitcher of this state last year, Jim Parker, to their roster. This is the same Parker that pitched Alvin to the State Semi-Pro Championship at Waco last year. It is not known as to whether he will work against the Dons Sunday. Many fans from this city are apt to migrate to Waco for this battle.

Farmers here are busy planting their cotton over as the hail of last week ruined it all. The corn will come out and the gardens are ruined. The hail path was only one mile wide, but it was over 15 miles long; we know it went that far and may have gone further. It also beat all the fruit off here too.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Roberts and Virginia, of near Levita attended the program here Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Alford and Misses Mildred, Jessie Morene, Doris and Pauline Alford attended the picnic at Levita last Saturday.

Mrs. Jim Alford and Mildred spent Monday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roberts of near Levita.

Mrs. Bob Alford honored her daughter, Pauline, with a party last Tuesday night. A large crowd attended and reported a grand time.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thompson and children of near Gatesville attended the play here Friday night.

Mrs. Grady Vernon and baby daughter, Le Vellas, of Gatesville spent Thursday night and Friday with her cousin, Mrs. Jim Alford, and attended the picnic.

Miss Nettie McClure of Gatesville spent the week end with Mrs. W. T. Woodlock and attended the picnic here.

Mrs. George Wymer has been ill the past week. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CORYELL CO.
DON'T SAY I DIDN'T TELL YOU ABOUT THE

OUT-LET SALE

To be opened Saturday Morning, May 27th, in the PERRY BROS. OLD STAND East side of Square.

Years of experience in buying has not eliminated our buyers making mistakes in purchases. It is very easy to select the wrong style, the wrong color, the wrong size and some times the wrong quality. All buyers are subject to these mistakes, the buyers of Alvis-Garner Co. and Garner-Alvis Co. are not exceptions to this rule. With our several stores through out central Texas it has been our custom to have the managers go through their respective stocks, taking out every slow moving item, every slightly shelf-worn item, every off style or even slightly off style item, all broken sizes, off colors, excessive purchases, in fact they are instructed to clean stocks. This merchandise is assembled at one central point and prices put on it to move it quickly. The original cost, original selling price or its present value is not taken into consideration, JUST ONE THING is uppermost in the whole concentration and this is to sell, close out this merchandise. PRICES are put on it that will do it quickly.

The concentration point this season is Gatesville, the location is The Old Perry Bros. Stand, east side of the square. I have been placed in charge with instructions to put prices on this merchandise to move it quickly, the time limit is short, and You may depend on me putting selling prices on every item for quick selling. I will mark everything in plain figures, I will place it on counters. You can see for yourselves the great savings, I am sure that not one item will be shown that cannot be used to great advantage at the very low prices they will carry. Dresses may be re-styled, if slightly off style, shoes may be dyed if color is not as wanted, slight changes may be made in lots of things that will be worth while in reducing your budget on your needs. Many items are strictly new but are the results of excessive purchases or lack of out-let. This is a great opportunity to save.

I don't know what all will be in the stock yet. Merchandise has already begun to come in. From what I can gather now I am sure that there will be thousands of pairs of ladies, misses and childrens white and assorted oxfords, straps and ties, Men's white and sport oxfords, men's pants, shirts, Polo shirts, for boys, men and girls, lots of laces, embroidies, piece goods, notions, some silks, straw hats, ladies and men's undies, some six or eight hundred ladies dresses, silks, gingham and prints. You can buy these for so little in this sale that you will be surprised, I mean to put selling prices on them.

This store will have no connection whatever with Alvis-Garner Co's main store. Until the last item is sold, this is my store. Every sale will be final, no exchanges, no approvals, no returns, No refunds. Don't forget the place. Perry Bros old stand on east side square. Don't forget the date Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock, May 27. Make your dollar do the work of many in this CONCENTRATED OUT-LET SALE.

Tell your friends, phone your neighbors. You will be doing them a great service to do this.

PRAIRIE VIEW SERVICES
SUNDAY NIGHT

Regular worship is announced for the Prairie View Community Church Sunday night. Rev. Ed Bayless will preach. The children and young people will meet of instruction and Bible memory work thirty minutes before time for preaching.

At the evening hour of worship last Sunday organization of the Community Church was completed, with a large congregation present. A petition had been sent to Central Texas Presbytery requesting the organization of a Community Church under the auspices and according to the government of the Presbyterian Church. Accordingly, a commission of Presbytery was appointed to perfect the organization. Rev. John P.
Kidd of Austin, Rev. John Mueller of Belton, Rev. Ed Bayless of Coryell County, and Mr. John Hobin, Ruling Elder in the Turnersville church, were present for the event Sunday night.

Officers for the new church will be elected at close of worship Sunday night, and everyone is cordially invited to be present, whether members of the church or not.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"Nailed to the Cross" and "Equations in the Laboratory of God" are titles given the morning and evening sermon, respectively, to be preached by the pastor at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday.
Hours of worship are 11:00 a. m.
and 5:00 p. m.
The morning sermon will be a discussion of the often misunderstood passage in the second chapter of Colossians. What was "nailed to the cross?" What twentieth century significance does the matter have? Taking Colossians 2:13, 14 as a text, the pastor will seek to present these and kindred matters.

The evening sermon has as its background the story in Exodus 17, and is to be a discussion of the relation between prayer and personal effort.

Through-the-week activities of the church include the Woman's Auxiliary "Birthday Party" to be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock; meeting of the Juniors Wed. afternoon at 3:30, at the church; and mid-week worship,
Wednesday at 7:45.

THIS COMMISSIONERS COURT TAKES STEP FORWARD

The Dallam County Commissioners Court is due congratulations for the publication of the bills paid and approved each month in the local newspaper. The statement is printed in tabulated form, shows to whom each check is issued, what it was for, upon what fund it was drawn and the amount. It takes up a small space costing about $10 in an average county seat paper.

The statement has proved of great interest and satisfaction to both local and non-resident taxpayers. Many letters of praise for this initiative have been received.
The report lays the cards face up on the table. It definitely removes county officials from the spot so far as suspicious gossip mongers, political "outs" and the ever-present busy-body are concerned, because everyone is apprised of what is spent for and to whom. It definitely shows the commissioners court's willingness to let the public know what is happening.

The workings about court-house or governmental unit of any kind is too much of a mystery to most citizens. Publication of this statement, provided by law but generally ignored by county officials because no penalty is imposed, puts the record in black and white where everyone can see it. The cost is virtually nothing.

When every governmental unit of Texas adopts a similar practice economical government will be a reality, the taxpayer will be pleased and every office holder will have cleared his skirts of any possible charge of unfairness and dishonesty. It seems to be cheap insurance for both citizen and conscientious public official. Congratulations to John B. Honts and his commissioners court in Dallam County.—John L. McCarty in Amarillo News-Globe.

MISS GRANTHAM'S NAME WAS OMITTED IN FACULTY
LIST; OUR MISTAKE

In Tuesday's issue of the News
we published a list of the teachers for the local school system, and, in doing so, we omitted the name of Miss Lois Grantham.

We did not do this intentionally, and we are sorry that it happened.

Miss Grantham has proved to be an excellent teacher in this school for the past few years that she has taught, and she WILL be on the school faculty here next year.

C. T. Humphries, superintendent of Flat school, announces that the coveted Reader's Digest Award for Scholastic Achievement has been won by Kelley Fay Donaldson, validictorian of the class of 1939, Flat High school.

He will receive an engrossed parchment certificate upon graduation.

The Reader's Digest confers this annual award as encouragement to young men and women throughout the nation who, by their scholastic achievement, give promise of growing into leadership in their communities.

COUNCIL AT NTSTC
PRESIDENT OF FORUM
COUNCIL AT N.T.T.C.

Miss Belva McCoy, sophomore student in North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, has been elected by popular vote as president of the Forum Council, which is the highest honor in the school.

Miss McCoy, who is majoring in Music, is a member of the Music Club; Phoreff Sorority; Mary Arden Club, a social club; Gammadion Society, high scholarship society; and is a member of the House Presidents Club, sponsored by the Forum Council.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McCoy of Gatesville.

THREE ACT COMEDY PLAY TO BE PRESENTED AT COUNTY LINE SAT. NIGHT

Saturday night, May 27, the outsiders of the County Line community will present a three act comedy play entitled, "Dude Ranch".
This play has a cast of experienced characters, so you may look forward to a nite of splendid entertainment. There will be no admission charge and the entire public is cordially invited.

NEWSBOY'S PARKING LOT
OPENED FOR RODEO 1/2
BLOCK, POST OFFICE

Cloyce Brazzil and Jame Bradley, two enterprising carrier boys for the News, will operate a parking lot about a half block east of the Post Office.

Look at these boys ad. They tell the story, they'll look after your car, and check you in and out, for a small charge.

It is on the former location of

FINAL PREP GAMES TO BE PLAYED AT MOUND, PID-
COKE AND BLACKFOOT

The final practice games of the county baseball league will take place at Mound, where the home club will take on the champion Jonesboro Eagles; at Pidcoke, where the 'Cokers will meet the hustling White Hall nine; and at Blackfoot, where the up-and-coming Indians will do battle with the newly entered Turnersville club.

The regular season will open June 4, and a complete schedule will appear in the June 2 issue of the News.

The Jonesboro-Mound fray will probably draw more fans than the other games. These two clubs are bitter rivals, and both always have good clubs. Even though it is just a practice game both outfits will be shooting the works to win. Bob Weaver will probably pitch again for the Eagles, while Father Wha-ley is almost sure to draw the Mound hurling assignment.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Jonesboro at Mound.
Turnersville at Blackfoot
White Hall at Pidcoke.

WESTERN AUTO ASSO. STORE
REMODELS ON THIRD ANNIVERSARY

According to W. T. Hix, owner and manager of the Western Auto Store at Gatesville, Texas, they are remodeling the store throughout.

Mr. Frank Gray, representing the Western Auto Supply Company, is here for one week rearranging stock, making new fixtures and displays, in order to make more room for new lines of merchandise which the company is now adding to their large stock.

This being Mr. Hix's third anniversary, he wishes to take this opportunity to thank his many customers and friends for the nice business that has been given him in the past and assures each and everyone he will continue to give the same good service and merchandise on a money-back guarantee and will at all times strive to keep the most up-to-date merchandise in his store for your selection.

You are cordially invited to vis-

Another week has passed and we can not see that we are much closer to adjournment than we were. The House passed the Rivers and Harbors Bill on Wednesday (May 17th). This bill provides the necessary appropriations for the improvement and maintenance of our navigable rivers and harbors for next year. It was amended before passage so as to strike out several of the largest projects, notably the Tombigee and the Columbia River projects. On Friday (May 19th) the House passed the Appropriation Bills for

Chapter One

The man who was playing host at the bar in Saratoga waved his hand in the air with a vague, mellifluous gesture of good fellowship. "Give the... give the gentlemen another drink, Gus." His companions, a couple of touts whom he had picked up at the track for company, winked at each other and reached for their free libations. Jim Mason, a strange admixture of shabby, greasy unrespectability and innate dignity, lifted his glass toward them with tipsy courtesy. "Here's to you, gentlemen. Nothing like good liquor to warm the soul and promote the spirit of genuine hos-hospitality." "How do you like that bum?" snickered one of the touts when Mason has ambled away. "That bum you guys were playing for laughs," interposed the bartender sourly, "is all that's left of Big Jim Mason. You see that picture on the wall over there? That's Bluebolt, the greatest horse that ever lived. The races he didn't win in his time weren't worth running. Well, it was Jim Mason who owned Bluebolt, and lunged for the sill, and clambered inside, assisted by a pair of hands heaving him in by the shoulders. When Mason had recovered his breath, he looked up from the vantage point where he sat on the straw-covered floor between two rows of stalls, and surveyed his benefactor by the dim illumination which a nearby safety lantern afforded. A half-grown boy of about fifteen, with a head of uncut hair framing an eager, guileless face, confronted him. The boy wore a jockey cap, a nondescript sweater, a faded pair of riding breeches and boots. "You'll catch pneumonia if you don't get those clothes off and dry 'em," observed the boy calmly. While they both wrung out Mason's soppy garments and hung them up to dry, the lad introduced himself as Goldie Smith, a former jockey who had been hired to transport horses. A week ago he had been a first string rider, but had been fired for riding an honest race and winning when he had been instructed by his crooked employer to lose. "I hate a crook with a horse," he finished bitterly. Mason was impressed by the boy's manifest sincerity. "I knew a boy like you once. A kid who lived, ate and slept horses... He who made Johnny Downs the greatest jockey that ever booted a winner home. "What, that bum?" One of the touts gave a little shudder. "It gives you the creeps to think that drunk was once a big shot." The bartender plied his rag on the damp surface of the bar. "That's the race racket, Bud. A millionaire today and a bum tomorrow!" ... The train slowed to a screeching, grinding stop by the water tank just outside the city of Saratoga. A blurred figure, made doubly obscure by the midnight blackness and the driving sheets of rain, stepped out from under the high-stilted tank, past the comfortable-looking Pullman cars, and stopped at the first of four horse express cars which were carrying racing steeds south to Pimlico. It was Jim Mason, drenched to the bone by the downpour, and lugging a soggy old suitcase that contained all his worldly possessions. The train, her tanks replenished, gave a low toot and started moving on. Mason, first walking, then trotting alongside, banged desperately on one car after another. As the train gathered speed, forcing him to break into a sprint, a door slid open and a small form loomed dimly in the doorway. Mason tossed his suitcase in through the opening, made a wild was one of the greatest riders who ever lived... Once in a generation a great combination is formed—a great rider, a great horse, and a lucky owner—and it sweeps everything before it. Bluebolt and Johnny Downs were that kind of a combination. At the mention of Johnny Downs, Goldie's eyes popped. To him the fame of that great jockey was a sacred legend. And here he was traveling in a box car with Johnny Downs' employer, the one-time owner of Bluebolt—Jim Mason! "But the owner didn't amount to much," pursued Mason. "He fumbled the important things—a wine-woman-and-song guy. And after Johnny and Bluebolt were killed together, trying to win a crooked race that he never should have let them enter, he stopped being a part-time drunk and got good and drunk—and stayed that way for fifteen years!" As he finished his recital Mason sat down on the straw, clutching his blanket around him. His eyelids drooped again, and this time remained closed. "I'm tired, son," he whispered. "Tired. You'll never know how tired!" And in another moment he was stretched out on the floor, asleep—while Goldie quietly, gently spread another blanket over him. The train rolled on in the blackness amid the drumming rain. (To be continued)

the Departments of State, Justice, and Commerce, also for the Judiciary. The items and amounts in these bills are very largely controlled by the Appropriations Committee and it is impossible for individual members of the House to amend the bills as is done in the State Legislature. There was, however, quite a flare-back in connection with the President's statement about Argentine beef when a Republican member offered an amendment prohibiting the expenditure of any of the funds appropriated for agricultural products "not produced in the United States". Of course, he intended to prohibit the purchase of products GROWN IN the United States, and would have secured lots of support for such an amendment, but in view of his wording the motion was voted down. I, of course, voted against this motion as written, but I am sure that most people will agree with me that the United States Government should not spend government money in the purchase of foreign grown agricultural products as long as they can be produced in the United States. Nor should this policy be confined to beef. Everyone in Texas knows that there is no better beef than that grown right here at home, but we have not always realized that if we could stop the importation of foreign fats and oils that we would open up a demand for more cottonseed oil than the South can produce, and that cotton seed could very well take the place of cotton lint in our Southern economy. I have, therefore, joined in the effort that is being made to make the importation of foreign oils more difficult. The cotton farmer should at least be given the American market for oils, and if we could add but two cents per pound to the value of our cottonseed, it would mean $2.00 per bale, or an equivalent of four cents per pound added to the value of lint cotton. The Agricultural Appropriation Bill has been sent back to the House by the Senate. The Senate has put a number of amendments in the bill including an appropriation of $225,000,000 for the payment of subsidies to the farmers. However, we realize that we have a hard fight to hold these amendments in the House, and the result is doubtful. The House must vote on all the amendments that the Senate has passed as all provisions of any bill must be accepted by both houses. Oftentimes people wonder why the Senate is more ready to deal liberally with the farmer than is the House. The answer is simple.—Membership in the Senate is based on the number of states. Most of the states are vitally interested in agriculture. Many states have a small population, but they each have two votes in the Senate just the same as New York. In the House, on the other hand, membership is based on population.—The states with the largest population have the largest number of representatives. These heavily populated states are general industrial states and the representatives are not interested in agriculture. Mr. Norris of Temple, General Manager of the Brazos River District, together with Mr. R. J. Potts of Waco, have been here this past week working on the Whitney Dam project, which was just recommended by the Army Engineers. Their report must now go to other government agencies and receive their approval, and finally the approval of the President before it can be considered by Congress. I only hope it may be possible to get it approved by all of these people in time to reach Congress this year. Honorable Bennie Green, Mayor pro-tem of Waco has been here and he and I have been trying to get some new WPA employment for Central Texas. We both realize the suffering that is taking place. We are trying to convince the officials here in Washington that Texas should have just as much for our needy people as Pennsylvania gets for her needy people. Myrrh mingled with gall, the drink refused by Jesus Christ prior to his crucifixion probably had narcotic properties, while the drink he later took was plain sour wine, the national drink of the country.

ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF GUN IS FATAL TO CURTIS CHESTER DAVIS
Curtis Chester Davis, 32, was mortally wounded by the accidental discharge of a 16-gauge shotgun at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, May 13, near Ireland. Mr. Davis had been hunting along the Ireland-Hamilton road in his small truck, when it is supposed that in placing the shotgun in the cab, it discharged, causing almost instant death. There was none with Mr. Davis at the time of the incident, but at the inquest held by Justice Lawrence W. Koen and his assistants, the verdict was accidental death. Funeral services were held at Ireland Sunday, May 14, at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon with Rev. Steve Melton, pastor of the Ireland Church of Christ, conducting. Burial was made in the Ireland cemetery. Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Reacie Richardson; Gus Davis, his father; Mrs. Iva Smith, his mother; Otis Smith, half brother; Mrs. Joe Faubion, half sisters; Claud, O. K. Bronson, Carl and Bole Davis, uncles; Mrs. Clyde Mohler and Mrs. Roy Chamlee, aunts; and Mrs. Jeff Davis, grandmother.

Miss Mae Florence Culp of Coryell City, president of the graduating nurses of Methodist Hospital, Dallas, received her nurses' pin from Miss Jannett Hughes, director of nurses, at the commencement exercises Sunday night at the Munger Place Methodist Church. Diplomas and pins were presented to thirteen nurses. In Monday's issue of the Dallas Morning News on the front page of the second section, Miss Culp was pictured as she received her pin. C.C.N. It is reported that of the 191 regular airline stops in the United States, the WPA has improved 169 of them or more than 88 per cent.

Summertime BRINGS UP THE QUESTION OF Kitchen Comfort

Modern Gas Range is Cooler

Cooler because the oven of modern gas range is heavily insulated, keeping heat in the oven, out of your kitchen. Accurate oven heat control, too, eliminates the need for opening oven door to watch progress of cooking, thus eliminating uncomfortable blasts of heat.

Cooler because you need no longer use the oven for broiling. Separate, smokeless broilers are available on many of the new models. Especially designed for easy operation, they use less heat to contribute to a more comfortable kitchen.

Cooler because most of top burner cooking can now be done with low-heat on the new simmer burners. They keep food gently boiling with minimum heat to prevent excess steam and vapors.

Why go through another summer in a hot, uncomfortable kitchen when a modern gas range offers so much in easier, better cooked meals in a cooler kitchen? See these new ranges at your favorite store.

RAIN HAS NO EFFECT ON SCS WORK

The exhibit prepared by the Soil Conservation Committee of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce and shown at the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Abilene consisted of pictures taken of farms under agreement with the local Soil Conservation Service and CCC Camp. These pictures show the methods of erosion control that are used on the cooperating farms to give the farmer a complete erosion control program which includes terracing, strip cropping and crop rotation, contour tillage pasture improvement, and protection of waterways and terrace outlets.

After the recent rain of 3.61 inches, members of the technical staff of the local Soil Conservation Service made an inspection trip of the camp area to note the effect of this rain on the cooperating farms. On all the farms where strip cropping was used in combination with terracing, they observed practically clear water running off the cultivated fields out of sodded terrace outlets into well sodded waterways. Between the terraces that were planted to close growing crops such as oats and wheat, there was very little runoff, which seemed to indicate that most of the rain had soaked into the soil. Many farmers on the farms inspected stated that they had made observations ever since the complete soil erosion program was put into effect on their farms.

The exhibit was made of pictures which were taken of farms owned by J. M. Blankenship, Wallace Rabbe, H. W. Rabbe, W. L. Rabbe, Dr. C. R. Bailey, John Taylor, Lena Edwards, and Price Graves.

SPEED STARS MAKE FINAL TUNE-UP FOR INDIANAPOLIS

When 33 of the world's finest drivers line up for the start of the Indianapolis Race the morning of May 30th, this quintet of speed aces will be rated among the most formidable contenders for the big cash purses. A year of engineering refinement and sizeable cash fortunes have been spent on their cars. Like every Indianapolis winner for the last 19 years, they ride on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. TOP, Rex Mayes, (left) the speed artist from Glendale, California, puts the finishing touches on his motor. Lou Meyer, (right) the only three-time Indianapolis winner, makes adjustments on the motor that he, himself, has built with watch-like precision. BELOW, (left) Babe Sapp makes a few last minute changes in his Italian Alfa-Romeo car. Stapp has led the race 9 of the last 11 years until mechanical trouble forced him to the pit. Floyd Roberts, (center) last year's winner, established a new record, averaging 117.2 miles per hour for the 500 miles, Jimmy Snyder (right) the Flying Chicago Milkman, will drive a car almost identical in design to the one being used by Rex Mayes. In 1937 Snyder established a lap record of 130.4 miles per hour for the 2 1/2-mile distance.

SACRAMENTO HAS GOLDEN CENTENNIAL FOR VISITORS

Sacramento and the fifteen other counties of California's Golden Empire are making a romantic and colorful contribution to California's Fiesta year. This is the Sacramento Golden Empire Centennial, celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Sacramento by General John A. Sutter, which brought the first civilization to interior California.

Replete with thrills and spectacles, the gala Centennial will start May 1 when historic Sutter's Fort, established in 1839 and now restored to its original condition, will be opened. The Fort will be inhabited by characters representing Sutter, James Marshall, discoverer of gold, Kit Carson, Brete Harte, General John C. Fremont, Mark Twain and other pioneer figures who will live in the Fort under the same conditions as in the early days.

The picturesque mining towns which sprang up following Marshall's epochal gold discovery, which altered the course of a democracy, will be revived with construction of "Roaring Camp", a typical Mother Lode mining village of the gold rush days.

"Roaring Camp" opened May 12. The Centennial is being conducted under civic sponsorship. It is designed to afford the visitors from all sections of the nation an opportunity to view the celebrated pioneer landmarks, emplaced upon the pages of history, in an environment of the dramatic days of old, while enroute to and from the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco.

Another feature of the Centennial which will revive the colorful frontier days of the West, will be a thrilling World's Championship Cowboy Contest and Rodeo, May 5, 6, and 7, in which the nation's outstanding arena stars will compete for new laurels and $5,400 in awards.

Other major events scheduled during the colorful Centennial include: Swiss Day, honoring the memory of Sutter, May 30; Chinese Pageant, June 16, 17, 18; Historical Parade, August 9; Re-enactment of Sutter Landing on the bank of the American River, Aug. 12; Historical Spectacle, depicting the colorful history of the Golden Empire, with a cast of 3,500 persons, August 9-12.

The other 15 counties of Northern California, cooperating with Sacramento in the Centennial are: Alpine, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, El Dorado, Glenn, Nevada,

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

GYPS

I STOOD for an hour watching a pitch man coining money. He was selling a useless gadget worth a dime at the ten cent store.

By clothing it with mystery and high-power sales talk he sold this gadget like hot cakes—at a dollar. And the crowd pressed around for more.

I thought it must be wonderful to have a business like that — if only it would last, if only the customers would come back for more. But I knew they wouldn't.

Two days later I passed the doorway where the pitch man had been operating but he had decamped. Where was he? In some other city, probably miles away, going through the same tricks.

These pitch men, almost without exception, die broke. Inspired salesmen, really with a talent for persuading people that amounts to genius, they nevertheless fill pauper's graves, and spend their old ages in cheap rooming-houses.

What's the trouble with them? It isn't hard to find: They do not give value. They depend upon talk to replace quality, tricks to do away with honesty. They lose as every dishonest man must.

Charles Roth

You have never seen an advertisement of one of these gyps. You never will. There are two reasons why.

One is that no reputable newspaper will accept their advertising, because a newspaper takes its obligation to its readers so seriously that it investigates advertisers and rejects those that do not give honest value.

The second reason is that advertising is an investment, and not a gamble. And these pitch men are gamblers.

The man who advertises says in effect to you: "I am operating a business in your service. I will offer goods you want. My prices will be reasonable. I have become a definite part of this community. My money is invested here. Here I intend to remain, a part of your community life. I sell good goods, and in my advertising I tell the truth about them."

Because you have been "gypped" by buying wild cat brands and by patronizing itinerant peddlers and door-to-door solicitors without a responsible place in the community, you now buy advertised goods from merchants who advertise.

This is the course which is followed by the shrewdest buyers. It is the course they have discovered which pays them the best.

It will also pay you best.
