Betts Speaks at Ex-Service Meet

George C. Betts, Veteran's State Service Officer, of Austin, Texas, and William Claypool, a representative of that office, who is stationed in the Veterans' Bureau in Waco, will also be here to assist Mr. Betts in this meeting. A special invitation is extended to all veterans and Legionnaires of Coryell County to attend this meeting.

The purpose of this meeting is to enlighten World War veterans and their dependents on what government benefits they are entitled to receive under the present Veterans' Law and to inform them of the bills that were passed during the last session of Congress. The passing of these bills has made it possible for many widows and children of deceased World War Veterans to be eligible for pensions. This type of meeting on several occasions has proven to be very beneficial to their rights to government benefits through lack of information.

Buddies, it will be of interest to you and to your families to attend this meeting, we are also going to discuss any other business that might be of interest to our Ex-Service Men's Association. Don't forget the time and place, December 12, in City Hall, at 7:00 p. m. and after the meeting we may have a pleasant surprise for you.

MRS. ELIZABETH PANCAKE IS LICENSED OPERATOR

Mrs. Pancake has owned the Elizabeth Beauty Salon for some months, and will retain her operators who have been with her for some time, Mrs. Jud Graves and Miss Ruby Lee Wilkerson. The shop is located in the rear of Hair & Coward Barber Shop, and of course, Mrs. Pancake invites her friends to call on her in a personal and also a business way.

IT'LL BE FROM WHISTLE TO WHISTLE: SIXTY FULL MINUTES OF OLYMPIC FOOTBALL AT MCGREGOR TONITE

GAME HAS NATIONAL RECOGNITION IN PRESS

Regardless of how you think of it, this Gatesville-McGregor Annual Football Game has made the headlines, nationally. It's McGregor's fault.

The proclamation, making today, November 24th, as that town's

PROCLAMATION

THAT WHEREAS, the citizens of McGregor are desirous proclaiming a day of Thanksgiving separate and apart from those days of Thanksgiving heretofore proclaimed by Abraham Lincoln, Franklin Delano Roosevelt and W. Lee O'Daniel, and

WHEREAS, it has been deemed more expedient to McGregor citizens to set aside Friday, November 24, 1939 as their special day of Thanksgiving, thus suspending all business activities for the day.

NOW, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as a private citizen of the United States, and by special authority conferred on me as Mayor of the City of McGregor by the charter of said city, I hereby Declare and Proclaim Friday, Nov. 24, 1939, to be a gay day of Thanksgiving for the citizens of McGregor and hereby admonish them to observe said day by offering thanks for all blessings and benefits which have been bestowed upon them by virtue of their being members of a nation of free people.

GIVEN under my hand and official seal at McGregor, Texas, this the 15th day of November, 1939.

G. W. SEARCY
Mayor.

Thanksgiving Day, has put this game on record as one of National importance, and we don't mean perhaps. "Newsweek" one of the better nationally circulated magazines carried a "plug" for the game due to the fact that it was to be played on McGregor's Thanksgiving Day, the only town in the world celebrating the 24th. Also, Thursday, it was broadcast that "McGregor meets it's No. 1 Rival", over the TQN. Another important milling concern had it on their program also.

One party, Willis M. Jones now of Alice, Texas has come 315 miles not expressly for this game, but incidentally, and a special trip was made to get him up here.

That's the build-up. Now, for the teams. This is any body's game, and will be, from the first whistle to the last. Both clubs are reported to be in tip-top shape, the fans are "hopped" up, the weather broadcast and newspapers are reported "Generally Fair".

Superintendent Jenkins says there will be plenty of seats and tickets can be bought from the local Pep Squad before you go to the game, in fact, everything is ready, the teams are ready, the fans are ready, the seats ready, the color (by school bands) is ready, everything, even the officials, who will be Alexander, Russell and Taylor.

Personally, we don't see anything else but to "get started", and we're expecting a great day between two of the best teams in the Class A Conference of Central Texas, and, by the way, here is the probable starting of the two teams:

Hornets	Pos.	Bulldogs
Whigham	LE	Muegge
Wittie	LT	Janes, A.

Oglesbians Attend More Checks Are Road Conference In AAA Office

At the hearing of the State Highway Commission in Austin, Monday, which was headed by County Judge Floyd Zeigler, and Representative Weldon Burney, Oglesby citizens who made the trip in the interest of the "Feeder Highway" from Oglesby to Neff Park, were Commissioner Harry Johnson, Tom Rucker, Cecil Graham, M. V. Dalton, F. A. Morris, Sr., F. A. Morris Jr., G. A. Morris, Supt. C. D. Boyer and George I. Green.

Judge Zeigler also appeared before the commission in the interest of Highway 36, and commitments were not made on either proposition.

Mrs. Roy Chamlee and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flentge were Waco visitors Thursday afternoon.

Four hundred twenty-seven checks, aggregating $39,500.00 have been received in the local AAA office according to J. B. Roach.

There are still about 4500 checks due, and the total amount still due Coryell Counties amounts to some $375,000.00.

PURMELA SCHOOL NEWS

One of the most enjoyable entertainments of the season was the amateur contests of last week sponsored by the Purmela Ex-Students. Exceptional talent entered from all parts of the county and winners were Doyle Taylor of Flat, the Ene Quartet from Levita, and Peck Tharp's Comedians from Pearl. It was indeed a pleasure to have these and all other entries in our community and hope that they can all return soon. After the contest Dubie's Mascots of The Grove presented entertainment to the taste and delight of everyone present. This group of entertainers won the hearts of everyone present with their ever-changing moods of music and songs. We hope they will pass our way again soon.

The regular meeting of the 4-square club Friday night was well attended. The school and community combined presented a most enjoyable program bearing on the Thanksgiving theme. If there was one who came in an unthankful mood, he found that he was an entirely changed person upon leaving. The community love and feeling of everlasting loyalty to its school was felt by everyone present and the closing song, Count Your Many Blessings, was sung from the hearts of everyone present. Rev. Robert Studer brought the Thanksgiving thoughts.

The Ex-Students of Purmela have just finished lighting and chalking a basket ball and volley ball court. This is a very much needed improvement and one that will be enjoyed by every person in the community. Levita will visit us for games on Tuesday night, Nov. 21 and Mound on Tuesday night of next week, Nov. 28. Other games will follow.

The NYA project under the supervision of Principal C. O. Huckabee is making rapid progress. They have already graveled the drive to the bus shed, built, lighted and chalked the basket ball court, installed a sand pile and swings on the primary and intermediate play grounds, and are now at work on transplanting shrubbery and trees, building an outside rock water fountain and building walks around the school building and to adjoining buildings. This project upon completion will make our plant one of the best in physical improvement in the county and at a nominal cost to the school and community.

The next regular meeting of the Ex-Students will be Thursday, Nov. 23 and the 4-square club meets on Dec. 15. Mrs. C. O. Huckabee and Mrs. Ocee Warden have charge of the 4 square program.

Tom L. Robinson Jr. and Ted Brazzil, both Coryell county boys and regulars on the football squad at Independence, Kansas where they are attending school, starred last Friday as the Independence team crushed the Iola Red Devils 24-6.

During the past few years quite a number of the College's outstanding athletes have come from Coryell County.

Both Robinson and Brazzil were members of the GHS Hornet squad several years ago.

As we go to press, the Oglesby Tigers and the six-man squad from Turnersville are battling it out on the Oglesby field in a contest that is highly important to both teams.

Griffin, a Tiger regular has been out with injuries since the game with Flat last Friday and may not be able to play in this contest. If this be the case, the Mighty McKelvin may have trouble for the nimble-legged Griffin has been one of his main running-mates on his smashing drives to the goal.

The brilliant running of Huckabee, Turnersville halfback, captured most of our attention when we saw the Turnersville squad in action, so much in fact that we almost over looked the heads-up ball that the other members of the squad has been playing. Walker at quarterback has developed a wonderful pivot and can hop thru a hole in the opposing line with the grace of a ballet dancer. Brasher punts well and Jacques, Bates and Humes in most cases can block like a brick wall.

Now for a look at the Oglesby Tigers. Coach Shults has developed a wonderful ball team, a team that revolves around McKelvin in the backfield and Clearman at center and a team that combines brawn with brains to down their opponents. Though they enter the game with Turnersville as slightly the underdog, we predict a real scrap from start to finish and the team that gets the breaks is the team that is likely to win.

Though this is not official, we suppose Copperas Cove will rest Friday since Flat has forfeited to them and Ireland will probably take on the Dragons from Pearl.

William Ake Powell co-captain of the Flat Yellowjackets was selected as the teams most outstanding player by popular vote of the other members of the Yellowjacket squad and by Coach Harry Morhmann. Powell plays halfback for the Jackets, is a good ball carrier, excellent punter and an accurate passer. We heartily uphold the Jacket's choice.

Down at Waco last Tuesday afternoon the Working Boys six-man football team who call themselves "The Dirty Half-Dozen" beat a team from Nally 43 to 12. We are still wondering why we can't put the finishing touches on our own six-man season by matching one of our leading teams against the Working Boys or some other out-of-county team. Why not?

Here's something just a little bit out of the ordinary in the sporting world. A team who call themselves The Arkansas Boll Weevils have never won a game and never expect to. They play simply for the fun there is in it.

The last time we ran the percentage column for the six-man teams of the county, we neglected to give Turnersville credit for the game they won on a forfeit from the Flat Yellowjackets. Copperas Cove also merits another mark in the win column since their game this week was forfeited by the cellar-dwelling Yellowjackets.

Down Baylor way the Bears are going through their workouts in preparation for their big game with SMU at Dallas Saturday. James Witt and big Jack Wilson are recovering from minor injuries received in the Baylor-Centenary game last Saturday and are expected to start against the Mustangs.

Football fans are waiting feverishly for the annual Turkey Day tussle between the Gatesville Hornets and the McGregor Bulldogs, which is scheduled to start at 7:30 Friday night at McGregor. Don't miss it.

TWO BIG S.W. GAMES TO BE PLAYED THIS WEEK END

This week end, play in the SW Football Conference narrows down to two games involving only four teams, with Texas A. and M., Texas and Arkansas all idle in preparation for Thanksgiving games on the 30th. The two games on Saturday's schedule, however, promise plenty of excitement for Conference followers, as they bring together old rivals who never fail to give the spectators a thrilling show: Southern Methodist meets Baylor in Dallas; and Texas Christian engages Rice in Fort Worth.

Both games will be broadcast over Texas radio stations by the Humble Oil and Refining Company beginning at 1:50 p. m.

The Dallas game, between SMU and Baylor will be handled by Kern Tips, assisted by Hal Thompson. It can be heard over stations WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Fort Worth WACO, Waco; KPRC, Houston; WOAI, San Antonio.

Humble's broadcast of the game between TCU and Rice will be handled by Cy Leland, assisted by Eddie Dunn. For this game tune in KFJZ, Fort Worth; KXYZ, Houston; KABC, San Antonio; KTEM, Temple; KRBC, Abilene; KNOW, Austin; KFDM, Beaumont; KBST, Big Springs; KRIS, Corpus Christi; KGKL, San Angelo; KGKB Tyler; or KRGV, Weslaco.

New Lone Star Champions!

This squad of husky gridders gave North Texas Teachers College her third undisputed Lone Star Conference football championship Saturday afternoon on Eagle Field when Coach Jack Sisco's charges turned back the East Texas Lions 16-13 in the annual Homecoming Day battle which marked the completion of the Eagles' 1939 gridiron campaign. Previous Lone Star titles were won by Denton in '32 and '36 and the season of '35 found North Texas, East Texas, and Stephen F. Austin sharing a three way deadlock for the crown. All other Lone Star campaigns, the seasons of '33, '37 and '38 have been won by East Texas.

When Coach Sisco opens training camp activities next fall, fifty of the fifty-seven men on his squad will be back in harness for action in '40. Only seven gridders will be taken by the graduation toll; however, all seven of these men are lettermen and members of the North Texas starting line-up this season. Eagle gridders who played their last contest Saturday for the Green and White are Capt. Leon Vineyard, Cecil Phillips, DeVere Walker, I. T. James, Walter Parker Crillon Payne, and Johnnie Riola.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR H. E. DANIELS HELD WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Henry E. Daniels, age 40, who died at 10:45 a. m. Tuesday at his home in this city, were held Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, conducted by the Rev. C. M. Spalding, assisted by the Rev. Dick Derrick of White Hall. Interment was in the City Cemetery.

Henry Daniels was born August 19, 1899 in this county in the Straw's Mill community, and he had made his home in Gatesville about 25 years. He joined the Baptist Church in this city in April, 1923.

Mr. Daniels had been ill about three weeks; he had been in a Waco hospital, but was conveyed to his home here last Saturday. He had been a cripple for five years.

County Wide Girls' 4-H Meeting
Saturday, November 18

Last Saturday afternoon fifty-three Coryell County 4-H girls met at the Court House in Gatesville and studied home made gifts. Guests from College Station at the meeting were Miss Zetha D. McInnis, District Agent; Miss Onah Jacks, State 4-H Girls' leader; Miss Sadie Hatfield, Extension Landscape specialist.

Lois Hopson, 4-H Girls from Flat showed how to make a woven belt of yarn. The Home Demonstration Agent showed knot-tied belts of fishing line; crocheted, tufted, and hooked rugs; laundry bag; towel; bath mat; toy dog of inner tube; toy cat pattern to be made of inner tube also; jointed tap dancer, stick horse; game equipment included home made dominoes with spots burned on them, quoit goal post made of broom handle section set in heavy wooden block, board with cut out eye, nose, mouth holes to throw bean bags through; tray; a gift from the kitchen was represented by a fruit cake steamed in a pressure cooker.

Girls and sponsors attending this meeting were: Coryell City 4-H clubs, Flat, Harmon, Jonesboro, Mountain, Pearl, Plainview, Slater, The Grove, Turnersville.

Following is recipe for cooking fruit cakes by pressure cooker method:

The process of cooking steamed breads and fruit cake in a pressure cooker, is shorter than the process of baking in an oven, by one and a half to two hours. Time saving is an important element in every housewife's program. Furthermore, the additional use of a pressure cooker in the various process of cooking, makes the purchase of such piece of equipment a better investment. The recipe and directions for preparing fruit cake are as follows:

Recipe, English Fruit Cake:
(Page 521, Boston Cooking School Cook Book).

- 1 lb butter
- 1 lb light brown sugar
- 9 eggs
- 1 lb flour
- 2 tsp. mace
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. soda
- 2 tbs. milk
- 3 lbs. currants
- 2 lbs raisins, seeded and chopped.
- 1/2 lb almonds, blanched and chopped.
- 1 lb citron, thinly sliced and cut in strips.

Method of Mixing

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, and beat thoroughly. Separate yolks from whites of eggs beat yolks until thick and lemon colored, whites until stiff and dry and add the first mixture, then add milk, fruit, nuts and flour, mixed and sifted with mace, cinnamon and soda. Grease the tins, fill the tins 3/4 full, put tops on tightly. Place in pressure cooker, and pour boiling water half way up the can; place top on cooker, but do not fasten; keep at the boiling point for 55 minutes, after that, fasten the top on the cooker, raise the pressure to 15 lbs. for 15 minutes; this dries out the crust and insures baking to center of can. Let the cake cool before removing them from the cans. Remove the tops while cooling. This recipe makes nearly 8 lbs.

Fruit cakes prepared in this manner, are ready to eat when cool, and it is not necessary to take them thru the ripening process used for cakes baked in an oven. Fruit cakes should not be iced, but should be wrapped in oil paper and placed in an airtight tin container. Fruit cakes should not be served with heavy dessert, or following a heavy meal—a slice of fruit cake topped with a tablespoon of whipped cream and a cherry makes a complete dessert.

Long before the arrival of the Pilgrims in the New World, the turkey was the national bird. It was bred extensively as a medium of exchange by the Aztecs, who also wove colorful garments from the feathers.

A pound of tea makes 150 to 200 cups, depending on the strength desired.

COTTON CHECKS ARE COMING!

Some of the 1939 compliance checks have already come and others are expected from time to time.

For the past few years we have extended credit courtesies to those who found it more convenient to buy their needs and pay on receipt of these checks, some four hundred families availed themselves of this courtesy last Fall and we have been urged to again extend this courtesy.

With the assurance from the department that the checks would not be delayed as late as last year, we are again extending this plan of purchase to those who desire it.

Purchases are made on a purely cash basis as will be explained to those making application.

Our stock is large and complete, purchased before any advances, savings are being passed to our customers.

F.S.A. WILL HELP FARMERS AVOID FORECLOSURE

Opportunity to get their land and chattel indebtedness in condition to begin their 1940 work free from danger or foreclosure will be offered county farmers at the meeting of the Coryell County Farm Debt Adjustment Committee to be held at 10:00 a. m. Friday Morning, November 24th at Farm Security Administration Office.

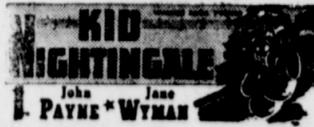

"The Committee has been quite successful in working out voluntary agreements between farmers and their creditors permitting the farmers to continue to farm and eventually pay their debts," said George C. Moore, Farm Security Administration Supervisor. "This is done by the committee determining an orderly repayment schedule which the farmer can meet and which takes advantage of time extensions re-amortizations, scale-downs of principal and interest, and reductions in interest rate granted by creditors."

"The Committee considers every case on its own merits and its services are free and confidential," he said. "Farmers needing its help should go to the Coryell County FSA office, or to one of the committeemen, or they might appear at the meeting."

Members of the committee are: George Fritz, J. Frank Blair, C. H. McGilvray.

Harley Mitchell and George Coxwell, officials of the Temple YMCA, were here Thursday extending invitations to attend their boxing show Tuesday night of next week.

THE COMPARTIVE THREATS OF COMMUNISM AND NAZISM

Western civilization is destroying itself in a debilitating war at a time when it should be united in a solid bloc against Russian Communism. For the signing of a non-aggression pact between Germany and Russia has removed, for the present at least, the one effective barrier against the infiltration of Communistic doctrine into central and western Europe.

Britain and France stand to lose as heavily by the increase in Russia's strategic and diplomatic position arising from the partition of Poland and the concessions granted by the Baltic states as does Germany. If Germany fails to Communism out of the misery and wreckage of a prolonged war—and this eventuality is by no means impossible or improbable—the Communist domain will be extended to the Atlantic and will include some 250,000,000 people.

Thus the allies find themselves in the incongruous and highly difficult position of fighting Germany and yet admittedly vitally interested in the preservation of the German state and of German culture.

This explains why the allied leaders, and particularly Mr. Chamberlain, have emphasized that they are not waging a war against the German people but against their rulers. This situation likewise provides the explanation for the generous peace terms (outlined in a preceding column) which the allies are prepared to make with a new German government.

Hitlerism must be destroyed and in this respect it may be noted that the Fuehrer forfeited the support of powerful and influential elements in Britain and elsewhere who might have been able to modify the allied determination to destroy completely Nazism by aligning himself with the Communists. But Germany must be preserved as a political and cultural entity of sufficient size and strength to stand with the allies as a bulwark against Communism.

The new Germany which may be envisioned as arising from the re-establishment of order on the continent will be Germany of new spirit, devoted to the ideals of the Christian Church as opposed to the neo-paganism of the Nazi cultists, living under a new governmental order which recognizes the inherent and inalienable right of the individual and of minorities, laboring in collaboration with the Western states in pursuance of spiritual, political, economic, scientific and cultural renaissance.

Only by recognizing the right of Germany to live on a basis of equality with the older states of the West, by granting her access to needed raw materials, to living space for her peoples, can the institutions upon which Western civilization is predicated be preserved in Germany.

Any other attitude on the part of the allied powers would quickly deliver Germany into the hands of the Communists. This would be a deathblow for Western civilization—and the United States is necessarily interested in the maintenance of the culture whence emanated our own culture and institutions.

Communism is far more repugnant to the Western mind than Nazism, conceding that all of the deprecations uttered and written about Hitler's theories are true. Nazism represents a modification of Western cultural institutions on a basis compatible with and acceptable to the Western mind to a certain extent represents the destruction of these institutions and the substitution of theories primarily Asiatic in their conception, technique and application.

Whereas the Church has been attack and ministers imprisoned in Germany, the Church has been destroyed and its ministers slain in Russia. While in Germany private property has been taxed to support the state, the Russian Communists have confiscated private property, ostensibly for the good of the proletariat but in actuality for the enrichment of the rapacious clique which constitutes the Communist Party.

In Germany imprisonment is the more common penalty for opposition to the regime. In Russia over 1,500,000 people have been ruthlessly purged within less than a decade—purged before firing squads.

In a speech last week in Moscow, Foreign Minister Molotov pointed out the divisions which now exist among the nations of the world. Since the Soviet revolution, he said two worlds have arisen.

"They are the old world of capitalism embracing all capitalist countries and the colonies and semi-colonies under their control, and the new world of Socialism brought into being by the Soviet system in our country," he said.

"Capitalism, senile and decaying, is already looking backward on its past and is approaching its end."

This column is not a defender of Nazism. But it bases its reasoning on a conception of comparative values which for years has been apparent to thinking people the world over—a conception of the inherent and potential dangers of Nazism and Communism which was first recognized in Britain, later in France, and which was responsible for the reluctance of the British ruling class to provoke a showdown with Germany and which similarly prevented the conclusion of mutual assistance treaties between Russia, Britain and France.

Whether the allies can destroy Hitler without likewise destroying the German people and the German nation is a question which no man can answer. Their success in achieving this objective depends in large part upon the intelligence and wisdom and common sense of the German people.

Upon them will rest the fate of civilization when the crucial decision between West and East must be made.

GARDENS IN JARS AND BARRELS

Some time ago (as all stories go), a gardener got an empty barrel and got his hired hand to bore it full of three inch holes. It was quite a job cutting through those hard oak staves but that wasn't all. He had to bore small holes in the bottom of the barrel for drainage down through the center.

The next thing was to set the barrel, open end up, on four bricks, like feet, then, while the gardener held the excelsior filled coil in place down the middle of the barrel, his helper filled the barrel with the potting soil which had been saved for something else—an equal mixture of garden soil and leaf mold and sand.

The holes in the side of the barrel should be scattered, about one foot apart all around from top to bottom, and in each one of them the gardener set a plant of ever-bearing strawberry. After a few weeks of watering from the top of the barrel the plants began to look very pretty. The plants got bushier and were soon filled with flowers and their fruit.

It was an odd idea, but would be a practical one where space was limited and the effect would be very good if petunias or nasturtiums or maybe some tomato plants were put in the holes. The same plan may be carried out by using a wooden tub or a barrel sawed in half. There is also a pottery strawberry jar and would be very nice for pansies—Mrs. M. C. Terry, correspondent.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

All Paris thrills to the rumor that Rene Martin, young millionaire, is in love with chorus girl Jeanette Dupont, though actually they have never met. Martin goes to see Jeanette in her dressing room to squelch the rumor, but instead falls in love with her without revealing his identity. Meanwhile the producer of the show, Jacques Thibaud, makes her a star in the hope that Martin will invest in the production and save it from ruin. He forces Jeanette to promise to bring Martin to dine with him at a prominent restaurant in the presence of Thibaud's creditors, so as to convince them that Martin is backing the show. She agrees.

Chapter Five

Jeanette and Miki were sitting on the floor, dolefully examining photographs of men whom they might get to impersonate Rene Martin. It looked hopeless, they were bound to admit.

An ebullient knock sounded on the door, and their journalist friend Paul Duval (Rene Martin to every one else) presented himself.

"Jeanette," cried Miki, flushed with inspiration. "Why not let him must talk to you. You know those gold shares of mine?"

"Oh—oh, yes. Shall I ring you up in the morning? Lovely having seen you again."

When the Countess had turned out of earshot, Jeanette turned questioning to Martin. "She called you Rene. What does it mean?"

"Well, you see, she really isn't a Countess. She's a pal of mine on the stage. I gave her fifty francs to put on an act, so as to impress my friends."

They were joined at the table by Miki and Thibaud, to whom Jeanette introduced Martin.

"It's a great pleasure to meet you, Mr. Martin," began Thibaud, losing no time in approaching the point. "I've heard a lot about your financial skill and generosity. I suppose a man like yourself finds it difficult at times to know what to do with your money next."

"Oh, I don't know. There's always a million wanted here and a million wanted there."

"Don't overdo it," Jeanette whispered, nudging him feverishly. But the situation was so deliciously funny for Martin's guest. He went on talking about his fabulous wealth—about his estates in the country, to which he had not only the three of them, but the entire cast of the show as well. They could do a little rehearsing there, and also a bit of shooting—grouse, snipe, eagles, anything.

Jeanette sprang to her feet. "I feel faint — terribly faint!"

act as Rene Martin? Could you pretend to be Rene Martin?" she asked him.

"What, me pretend to be old bald Martin? I'd love to. What would I have to do?"

They explained the situation to him. Thibaud insisted on dining in public with Martin for the benefit of his creditors. But Martin was out of town, or something.

Their friend was more than willing to impersonate Martin, but Jeanette was doubtful of his ability to carry it off. Obviously he knew nothing of the social world.

"But all he has to do is talk yachts and things," protected Miki. And he'll have to smoke a cigar."

"But I don't like cigars," Rene demurred.

"Of course you don't. You're not a millionaire. But all millionaires smoke cigars."

"Oh, do they? Then I must smoke a cigar. Here, let me practise a bit at being a millionaire. How's this?" He struck an attitude, sticking a pencil in his mouth to represent a cigar.

"Jenkins," he commanded imperiously, "get the Rolls and the Bentley, and wash the yacht. I'm going to bed!"

"Terrible!" was Jeanette's verdict. "We'd better forget the whole thing."

"Oh, let me do it," he pleaded.

"No."

"Fine—that's settled. I'll call for you at eleven." He was gone.

Shortly after eleven Jeanette and Rene entered the resplendent Jardin du Bois, where Martin was a regular habitue. "There's no need to be nervous," Jeanette instructed him. "Just act as though you're used to this sort of thing."

"Excuse me, sir," said the head-waiter, "but the Countess Delavigne would like to have a word with you. She's over there."

While Rene was floundering for an excuse, the Countess, fat, many-aimed and lyrically effusive, bore down on Martin.

"Rene, my dear, how are you? I

Thibaud drank in every word, and loved it. But Miki and Jeanette, listening aghast, grew hot and cold by turns. He was betraying them—making a mockery of the whole thing. Chateau in the country—grouse, snipe, eagles indeed!

Thibaud observed his three creditors dining at a nearby table, and excused himself to pay his respects to them. While he received their admiring congratulations, and their assurances that their continued credit was at his disposal (for they recognized the man with him as Rene Martin), the two girls berated Martin for overplaying his part.

But when Thibaud rejoined them Martin, nothing abashed, began talking about putting some of his money into the show. Jacques was coy about it—it would be difficult to arrange.

"Oh, but Rene," interposed Jeanette quickly, "you made that promise to your mother on her deathbed that you would never have anything to do with the theatre."

"Oh yes, but she recovered—didn't I tell you? Now, Mr. Thibaud, couldn't I invest a small sum?"

"Er—how much?" inquired Jacques cautiously.

Jeanette sprang to her feet. "I feel faint—terribly faint. Would you mind taking me out in the air a minute, Rene?"

Alone with him in the garden, Jeanette flared at Martin. "I suppose you think you're funny. Poor old Jacques hasn't a sou to put the show on, and you make him think you're going to back him."

"You look marvelous when you're angry," he grinned. "You must get angry a lot."

"Sitting there and amusing yourself at our expense! I ask you here to help me, and what do you do? You sit there and laugh and make fun. I'm absolutely furious with you. I'm going home—alone!"

On last Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock at a called conference meeting of the First Baptist Church of Gatesville there was a very large attendance of the members and friends of the Baptist Church. The meeting was called for the purpose of hearing a report from the Board of Deacons concerning the condemnation by the architect of the old church building, and to launch and consider future plans of the church. It was unanimously voted by the church to tear down the old building, that had been condemned as unsafe, at once, and that the church immediately proceed with plans for the construction of a new building.

EYE OPENERS--by Bob Crosby

HORACE GREELEY

WAS NOT FIRST TO SAY "GO WEST YOUNG MAN," THE PHRASE WAS FIRST WRITTEN BY JOHN SOULE, IN THE TERRE HAUTE, IND., "EXPRESS"

BOB CROSBY

85 YEARS AGO AMELIA BLOOMER PREDICTED WOMEN WOULD WEAR PANTS. "BLOOMERS" WERE HER ATTEMPT TO REFORM AMERICAN WOMEN'S DRESS AT THAT TIME.

ENOUGH GAS IS USED IN A SINGLE MONTH AT THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR TO COOK A MEAL ON MODERN GAS RANGES FOR MORE THAN 24,000,000 PERSONS!

On a bet with a friend, John Soule of the Terre Haute, Indiana, "Express" wrote an editorial in his paper in which he credited Greeley with advising young men to "Go West." When Greeley saw the editorial he told his friends that such advice expressed his views, even though he had not written the article.

The same versatile fuel—gas—used for cooking by some 16,000,000 American housewives, is found at more than 400 locations throughout the New York World's Fair grounds. And 2½ times as much is used as at any previous exposition! Besides the "mass" uses, such as cooking, etc., it works glassware, incubates Dr. Couney's babies, plays the role of fire in the Lagoon of Nations' fountain display, makes the mist for Victoria Falls—even incinerates every used Fair ticket!
