District Golden Gloves Tournament Here Monday Night Feb. 5

Court Completes Two Cases

First, the civil case, Roy Evetts vs. J. T. Davis et al, suit for damages, was decided for J. T. Davis et al, according to District Clerk Carl McClendon.

In the suit, The State of Texas vs. Joe Hix, charged with incest, jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Monday's work will open with The State of Texas vs. Nelson Cox, charged with D. W. I.

Majorettes Invited To Music Convention

Inviting the five majorettes from Gatesville to the Texas Music Educators Association convention, which is being held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in Mineral Wells, C. R. Hackney sent the following telegram to the local high school: "GLAD TO USE THEM. YOU CAN GIVE NAMES AND FEES AT THE CLINIC."

The majorettes, Misses June Marie Chamlee, Gene Stinnett, Adeline Powell, Mary Margaret Holmes, and Sara Frances Graham, will compete and demonstrate before the band directors. Miss Virginia Nutt of Chicago is in charge of baton twirling.

D. W. Diserens, director of the Gatesville Band, and E. W. Brooks superintendent, accompanied the majorettes.

"FINS" FOR THE FINNS

Well, we got another "piece of lettuce" for Finland, and that's one piece of lettuce, where it's going that won't need to be refrigerated.

Anyway, this $1.00 came from "Annonymous Insurance Agent," and that's the way he said put it in.

Now, folks, it doesn't take a dollar, dimes, nickles or pennies, we'll send them in for you, that is, if you want to give them.

FORD TRACTOR COMPANY AT SCOTT'S MULE BARN

Luther Scott and Claude Byrom are Gatesville's newest business combination, operating the Ford Tractor Company, which will be located at Scott's Mule Barn.

On Wednesday of next week, these men will give a free demonstration of this new Ford tractor at the Dr. Leslie Sadler farm some 4 or more miles west of Gatesville on the highway U. S. 84.

All folks of this vicinity are urged to be present and see this new tractor in operation.

IT'S HAPPENED AGAIN! BOY BORN TO MRS. HUBERT MORSE

There's another "pap" in the Coryell County News!

Thursday morning at 12:10 o'clock, Charles Hubert Morse, Jr., was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Morse and that makes "another" for the News.

This big boy "netted" six pounds, too, and has already taken charge of the Morse home, and is ordering a couple of grandmothers around like no body's business.

In a few months, we'll have a "crying contest" in the "back-end" with the principals, Little Mat and Little Hubert.

Mama and baby are doing nicely—Hubert, Sr's. sleepy and tired.

NEWLIN'S HELPY-SELFY LAUNDRY ON E. MAIN

From N. Lutterloh to E. Main, is the move made by Newlin's Helpy Selfy Laundry.

Just drive out E. Main to Torbett town and the laundry is in the building formerly occupied by Mrs. Annez Torbett. You can wash 'em or they will.

February 2nd, commonly called Groundhog Day or Candlemas, has been celebrated in the civilized world for 2000 years. Our American version of the day probably originated in the Scottish proverb, "If Candlemas is fair and clear, there'll be two winters in the year," or the rural version, "February second day, have half your corn and half your hay."

FOR SENATOR

LOU HATTER

Lou Hatter of Gatesville has announced his candidacy for the State Senate. Mr. Hatter is well known over the entire district, having been employed as a consultant for Coryell, Bell, Hamilton, and Erath counties and for the Cities of Temple, Belton, Dublin, and Rogers during the past ten years, according to information we have.

He is a native of Moody, and was graduated from Meridian College and Baylor University.

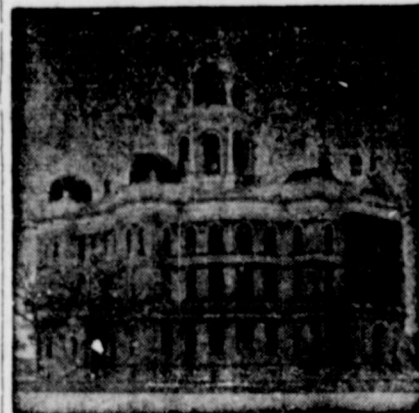

At the age of 18 he enlisted as a naval aviator and served during the World War.

Mr. Hatter is married and has one child.

At some future date a full statement of his platform will appear in the News.

This is the crop of "announcers" this time, and still, there'll probably be more along later. Look 'em over, folks, "weigh 'em and wee 'em."

4-H PIG CLUB ORCHESTRA TO BROADCAST

The 4-H Pig Club Orchestra which accompanied the Pig Club group to Iowa last summer will broadcast Saturday over station KTEM at Temple. These boys, Johnnie Apel, Roland Koch, Harold Koch, Lavern Dyson, and A. B. Bennett attracted much attention on the northern tour. These boys will sing and play at 11:00 Saturday, February 3rd.

Polls and Taxes Above '38 Mark

Tax Assessor-Collector Dave H. Culberson is the authority for the information that there'll be some 3900 voters this year as compared around 3730 last year. Candidates, this means more cards.

Also, this means more interest in the 1940 question of "Who's Going to Win?" than probably ever before. Folks, it's a GOOD sign. This is going to be a BIG year when bigger decisions are going to be made.

Incidentally, Mr. Culberson stated the County Taxes were well ahead of previous years, also indicating folks are in better shape than heretofore.

JOHN L. MOORE IS AT T-P STATION ON W. LEON

John L. Moore has moved his vulcanizing shop to the Texas-Pacific Service Station across from Black's on West Leon.

Mr. Moore, in addition to doing vulcanizing, and handling and repairing batteries, will handle G-J Tires, T-P products, and do washing and greasing also.

PREWITT AND HUNTER TAKE OVER GULF STATION

W. A. Prewitt and Orville Hunter have it all now. They've taken over the Gulf Service Station formerly operated by A. H. (Red) McCoy on W. Leon, across from Barnes Lumber Co.

Mr. Prewitt will be in the mechanical department for the most part in the rear of the building, and Mr. Hunter will be in the service station. These men, lubricate, repair, gas, oil, and do almost anything for your car. They will handle new and used tires.

"Photogs" Busy And 8th, Last Date

They're coming in in droves—those snow pictures, and there's still time, since the contest closes February 8 at noon.

This gives you just about a week to get your pix in, and in the meantime, we'll put a bunch of them in the window, with no names, and give you something to shoot at.

Anyway, there's fun in it, and we'll see who is better, or luckier, or knows most about this "snap-pin" business.

Nobody's barred, except employees of the News. Come on in.

CARS BADLY DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT TUESDAY NIGHT

Both automobiles, one driven by Harold Chamlee and the other by L. C. Perryman, Jr., were badly damaged in an accident which occurred by Spud Brown's store on east Main street early Tuesday night. Mr. Perryman was making a "U" turn and Mr. Chamlee ran into the side of his car.

The occupants of the cars received minor injuries, but no one was injured seriously.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Chapman of in sewing as the girls during her this city Sunday.

Jack Wollard is confined to his home on account of illness.

ENTRIES WILL BE TAKEN UNTIL ABOUT 6:00 P. M. MONDAY

Gatesville's Second Annual District Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament, which this year is sponsored by the Gatesville Lions Club, will open Monday night at the City Hall, activities beginning at 8 o'clock.

Drawing and matching will take place in the afternoon and evening, just prior to the opening performance.

Tickets are available from any drug store, newspaper office or member of the Lions Club. All proceeds over actual expenses will go to charity.

ENTRIES COMING IN, BUT SLOW; WAS SAME IN 1939

Yes, they're a wee might slow, those entries, but, interest, by publicity has been worked up in some 30 or more communities since the "publicity" department of the Lions has sent out series to some 30 or more Central Texas newspapers.

A large delegation of spectators are expected from Temple, also, some from Rogers, and other points. Harry Blanding, Sports Editor of the Temple Daily Telegram will cover the event for his newspaper, and Editor Walter Humphrey of the same "sheet" will be very much in, since he is Chairman of the Central Texas Amateur Athletic Association of Temple. We haven't heard from the "Bard of Central Texas", Mr. Jim Tucker, Sports Editor of The Waco News-Tribune — Times-Herald, but an unusually cordial invitation has been extended "his nibbs" to be here, along with his sidekick, Oscar Larnee.

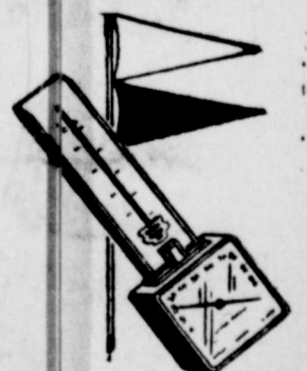

But, this sub-head says "Entries" and here's the entries, or probable entries.

Archie Register, Hamilton; Norman Basham, Pidecke; Froggie Moore, Temple; P. G. Dunn, Mt. Calm; Jack Baker, Temple; Cotton Brisbin, Temple; R. M. Doherty, Mt. Calm; James DaBerry, Groesbeck; Franklin Mills, Waco; G. B. Dolan, Temple; Edison Lenoir, Mt. Calm; Bill McClurg, Temple; Orville Hinton, Mt. Calm; Bill Steddams, Mt. Calm; Dick Jackson, Temple; Dale Weaver; Tom Morris, Temple.

Then, there are others who haven't come in but who have made inquiries, and these include both local and out of town boys. Folks, you're going to have some great times when the first gong sounds these three nights, Monday Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Bertha Lillian Stewart is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart. Miss Stewart is a junior student at the University of Texas.

OUR STRAINED RELATIONS WITH JAPAN

Tense relations between the U. S. and Japan resulting from the abrogation of the 1911 trade treaty by the State Department and from discriminations against American nationals and interests in China by the Japanese army presage new developments in the Asiatic area of far-reaching consequences.

By flagrant violations of American and European rights in the parts of China now controlled by her army, Japan has incurred the ill-will of the states which supply her with more than 85 per cent of the war essentials she must have to continue her expansion program in Asia. Her dependence upon the U. S. for war materials has been accentuated by the European war, which has tied up many of her sources of supply in Britain and France.

Now the Japanese are threatened with the loss of American war supplies, which accounted for 56 per cent of all the war materials Japan imported from the outside world in 1938—a typical year for the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Japan's dependence upon the U. S. as a source of war materials will be seen from the fact that in 1938 this country shipped Japan most of her oil (65 per cent) and metal working machinery (67 per cent), almost all her copper (90 per cent), most of her aircraft (76 per cent) and automobiles and parts (64 per cent), most of her scrap iron and steel (90 per cent).

Termination of the commercial treaty between the two states does not in itself deprive Japan of access to these essential war supplies. But there is sentiment in the country and in Congress for an embargo on the shipment of all war materials to Japan. Senator Pittman has embodied this proposal in a bill which he will introduce in the Senate during this session.

An arms embargo against Japan would, at the very least, seriously handicap her campaign in China, where the forces of Chiang Kai-shek are manifesting renewed determination to continue to fight until the enemy is expelled. The embargo might even result in the paralysis of her domestic industrial machine.

But Japan has more to concern her than the possibility, however imminent it may be, of an American arms embargo. Now that the commercial treaty is dead, this country is free to boycott Japanese silk, cease purchasing Japanese gold, and raise tariffs against Japanese goods at a time when the Japanese economy is strained to the breaking point.

Last year sales of raw silk meant 83 million dollars to Japan, roughly two-thirds of her total sales to the U. S. We are Japan's best customer, taking about 20 per cent of her exports.

Secretary Hull has informed the Japanese that trade between the two countries will continue as usual on a day-by-day basis, thus leaving this Government free to terminate all commercial relations with the Nipponese when and if it wishes.

Obviously, President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull have maneuvered the wily Orientals into a position where, as directors of our foreign policy, they can at least exact fair treatment for American rights in China, or, as an alternative, deal a death blow to the Japanese campaign in China.

This country stands to lose heavily—although not on a comparable basis with the Japanese—if trade between the two states is terminated. Since 1911, our exports to Japan have increased from 44 millions annually to 240 millions. Exports of raw cotton to Japan amounted to 52 million dollars last year—an item of prime importance to the south and south west. American investments in China are worth 132 millions—all at the mercy of the Mikado's war lords. Furthermore, we have large investments in Japan and sell Japan twice as much as she buys from us.

What is the case of the U. S. for terminating most-favored-nation treaty relations with Japan and for holding the embargo threat over the unhappy heads of her war element like the sword of Damocles?

American grievance against the Japanese army in China have been numerous and serious. On December 31, 1938, our Government sent a formal note to Japan citing a long list of grievances. The communication has never been answered. Many of these grievances center around abuse of trade monopolies in conquered areas and destruction of American property.

Resentment of U. S. officials at repeated violations of American rights in China has in no sense been mollified by fear of the eventual consequences of Japanese control over China—the objective of the 31 month war waged by the Japanese army.

Secretary of State Hull exacted a "voluntary" embargo on the exportation of airplanes and airplane parts to Japan as an expression of this Government's disapproval of Japan's course in China.

This attitude on the part of Administration leaders has tended to becloud the paramount issue between the two governments—disregard of American rights in China. For if an arms embargo is instituted, it will be in response to Japan's failure to respect American rights and property in China and not as an expression of this Government's disapproval of the attack on China.

Washington is extending aid to China in every feasible manner—by credits, by purchase of her silver, by refusing to invoke the neutrality act which would deprive the Chinese of needed American trucks, farm machinery, gasoline and airplanes. But to rupture commercial relations with Japan solely out of sympathy for China—that would be the height of folly and would never be supported by the American people.

Whether President Roosevelt's proclivity for mixing in foreign affairs—for casting the weight of the United States in the balance his better judgement of the interests of this country, no one can safely predict.

But this is apparent: that the Administration should move cautiously in dealing with Japan, which is governed not by civilian leaders but by jingoistic militarists.

To forfeit our relations with Japan—to destroy American trade with the Japanese and likewise American investments in China—would deprive this Government of an effective voice in future Asiatic affairs.

Such action would hurt the cause of Chinese freedom more than this cause would be helped, for in China, as in Europe, the power and influence of the United States may, at the proper time, be the one factor which can bring about a cessation of hostilities and the substitution of an equitable peace.

EYE OPENERS--by Bob Crosby

Looming out of the fog, a large passenger liner crashed into the American destroyer U.S.S. Shaw. The bow was severed completely, just forward of the bridge. Water tight doors aft were closed instantly and the rear half of the destroyer steamed safely to port with twelve seamen.

Although America can boast the world's largest supply of natural gas in addition to facilities for manufacturing gas on a large scale, the consumption of this ultra-modern fuel by more than 16,000,000 families throughout the United States for cooking, water heating, refrigeration and house heating represents less than 2% of the family budget.

A. R. Corn, Pastor

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. George Summey, D. D., of Austin will preach at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. The pastor will speak at the vesper (five o'clock) hour, bringing to a close a series of messages on "The World Church at Work."

Dr. Summey, now teaching in the Department of Theology in the Austin Seminary, has been prominent in the affairs of the Church for more than half a century. In his own denomination, he served as Moderator of the General Assembly, highest office of the Presbyterian Church; served for twenty-five years as pastor of one of the large churches in New Orleans; and has taken a leading part in the shaping the policies and program of the entire Church. For the past twelve years he has been professor in Austin Seminary.

Dr. Summey represented his church in the Federal Council of Church of Christ in America for a number of years, and has been a strong advocate of that body. He is also a representative to the Western Section of the Alliance to the Reformed Churches.

Those who were present at Dr. Summey's visit more than a year ago will recognize his return as a distinctive privilege. Morning worship begins at 11:00 a. m.

UNITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Arrangements have been made for Dr. George Summey, Professor of Theology in the Presbyterian Seminary at Austin and prominent leader of the Church for many years, to preach in Unity Presbyterian Church, Turnersville, on Sunday night. Worship begins at 7:00 o'clock.

Hours of worship are: Sunday School, 10 o'clock. Mrs. John Hobin, superintendent.

Morning worship, 11 o'clock, sermon by the pastor. Special offering to be received for Foreign Missions.

Evening worship, 7 p. m. Sermon by Dr. Summey of Austin.

REV. SUMMEY TO PREACH AT MEN'S DOWNTOWN BIBLE CLASS

Elsewhere in the paper announcement is made of the visit Sunday of the Rev. George Summey, D. D., of Austin to speak in two churches in the county.

The Men's Downtown Bible Class, which meets every Sunday morning at the Palace Theatre, is happy to announce that Dr. Summey has agreed to speak at the Sunday morning meeting of the class.

Cordial invitation is given to every man in town to be present.

Wednesday Club Meeting With Mrs. Zeigler

Three tables were attractively arranged in the home of Mrs. Floyd Zeigler on Pidcock street when she entertained members and additional guests of the Wednesday Contract Club on the appointed afternoon.

A series of contract games terminated with Mrs. Billy Thomson holding high score, Mrs. Doyle Morgan second high, and Mrs. Crawford Scott low. After the presentation of the awards, the hostess passed delicious individual cherry pies, topped with whipped cream, and coffee.

Attending were: Mesdames Jim Brown, Rosser Sanders, Crawford Scott, Bill Nesbitt, Billy Thomson, Wade Sadler, Doyle Morgan, Eugene Alvis, Elworth Lowrey, John Thomas Brown, Sherrill Kendrick and Miss Grace Richards.

Owl Club Meeting At Beerwinkle Home

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beerwinkle were host and hostess to members of the Owl Club when they entertained at their home on Bridge street Tuesday evening. Candy hearts, featuring the Valentine theme, centered the tables.

After the games of 84, the hostess served a refreshment course which consisted of individual pies, topped with whipped cream and cherries, cashew nuts, olives, and coffee.

Twenty-four guests shared the courtesy.

Baptist Men's S. S. Class Entertained

As a result of a contest held recently between the two sides of Cyril Hudson's class of the First Baptist Sunday School, the winning side was complimented at an informal venison barbecue given at the Church Tuesday evening by the losing side. The two leaders were Joe Walker and Floyd Zeigler.

The supper, which was attended by approximately 50 men, was served cafeteria style. During the supper an informal program was given, and Hazen Ament preached the Sermon.

H. K. Jackson furnished the venison for the affair.

Officers of Woman's Forum Elected

At the meeting of the Woman's Forum, which was held last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eugene Alvis, the following officers were elected.

President, Mrs. Francis Powell, (Re-election).
Vice-Pres., Mrs. Lee Colwick.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. W. Brooks.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Jim McClellan.
Treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Hamilton.
Parliamentarian, Mrs. R. Thomas.
Critic, Mrs. C. H. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Entertain Club

Complimenting members of their bridge club, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Jackson entertained at their home Monday evening of this week. The Valentine motif was featured in the decorations and other appointments.

Winners of the high score prize were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ward; consolation prize was awarded Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jones.

The guest personnel included: Messrs. and Mesdames Francis Caruth, R. W. Ward, Lou Hatter, Troy Jones, and Howard Franks.

At the conclusion of a series of bridge games the hostess served a delectable salad plate.

Methodist Missionary Society Circles to Meet Tuesday

The Mary Sue Brown Circle of the Methodist WMS will meet with Mrs. D. K. Porter, hostess, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at which time Mrs. J. C. Porter will be leader.

Members of the Bell Bennett Circle will meet with Mrs. E. G. Beerwinkle, assisted by Mrs. C. A. Cockrell as co-hostess. Mrs. Clay Stinnett will be the leader.

Both circle will start the study of Dr. Mott's new book, "Methodists United for Action."

MEN LIKE BEANS

Says Dorothy Greig

PROBABLY every woman at some time or other has thought out loud, "Now what can we have that's simple and quick?" and had that ever helpful male suggest, "How about beans?"

Pork Chops baked on top of pork and beans are appetizing on a cold night.

Men, as we all know, like pork and beans. They like them served just as they come from the can and they like them with other things, too. Pork and beans, brown and flavorful are superbly satisfying to hungry appetites.

One of our favorite pork and bean dishes is this baked pork chop casserole. Along with it are served sliced tomatoes, celery hearts and fresh crusty rolls. Followed by a simple dessert it makes a good meal indeed.

Hungry Man's Casserole

5 - 6 pork chops
2 cans pork and beans (16-oz. size)
Salt and pepper

Pan Sauce

1 tablespoon of fat and drippings in the pan
3-4 tablespoons of ketchup
2 tablespoons of water

Brown the pork chops on both sides in a skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Put two cans of pork and beans in a casserole dish, arrange the browned pork chops on top of the beans. Then pour all except one tablespoon of fat from pork chops out of skillet. Add ketchup and water and heat with fat to boiling point. Pour the pan sauce over the pork chops and bake in a moderate (375° F.) oven for 50-60 minutes.

Turnersville to Play Cranfills Gap

Next Saturday night in the Turnersville gym the basketball teams of that school will pit themselves against the cage talent of Cranfills Gap. Nothing is known as to the strength of the visiting team but the Turnersville cagers have excellent squads and are expected to win both games. In a recent McLennan County tournament the Turnersville girls showed up amazingly well and were barely beat by the Crawford Lassies for the championship. The Turnersville team has defeated the Crawford crew several times this season.

Buffaloes Trample Hornets 28 to 27; Hornettes Win 27 to 29

BRASHER SPARKS MATES TO THRILLING VICTORY OVER HORNETS

An inspired crew of Turnersville Buffaloes sparked by Virgil Brasher, brilliant long shot artist matched their basketball ability against the Gatesville Hornets in the Turnersville gym Wednesday night and came out on the big end of a 28 to 27 count.

The game was a thriller from start to finish with the lead constantly changing from one team to the other. Jacques, husky Turnersville center started the Buffaloes on the road to victory in the first minute of play by tossing in a field goal and Rosy Ward followed suit by ringing up one for the Hornets. From then on it was a regular "dog fight" with neither team gaining more than a five point lead at any time during the game. The first quarter ended 9 to 9 at the end of the half they pulled up to a 27-27 deadlock. As the game advanced into the final period, the Hornets were out in front by a scant two point margin which they managed to maintain until the waning minutes of the game when a flurry of field goals and gratis shots brought the spectators to their feet and put the Buffaloes in the lead by one point which they managed to keep.

With less than two minutes to play the Hornets made desperate tries for one basket but were unsuccessful and the Buffaloes were victorious by a score of 28 to 27.

Brasher tallied 11 points to capture the scoring honors while Ward and Scheonewolf paced the Hornets with 8 points each.

In the initial game of the evening the Hornettes barely eked out a thrilling 29 to 27 victory over the Turnersville sextette. After the first few minutes of play the score was 8 to 10 in favor of the local team but Weaver hit the basket on a long field goal and the first quarter ended in a 10-10 deadlock. In the second stanza Moore and Rutherford began to hit the basket and pulled up at the half with a comfortable 15-23 lead.

In the last two quarters the Turnersville squad led by Weaver and Cathy at the Forward positions and greatly assisted by the excellent performances turned in by the Turnersville guards, Cude, Williams and Humes, started a whirlwind rally that soon brought them within two points of the locals lead. Shortly before the final whistle a Turnersville forward evaded her guard and dropped in a crisp shot to tie the score 27-27. A lucky substitution by Schwarz, Gatesville coach, saved the day for the Hornettes as the new forward managed to ring up a field goal and give the Hornettes the victory.

High scoring honors went to Weaver flashy Turnersville forward who tallied 15 points and turned in an excellent floor game for the losers. Moore paced the locals with 11 points. Cude for the Turnersville team starred on the defense and Lester was outstanding for the Hornettes.

Baylor Bears Play T. C. U.

Waco, Tex., Feb. 1 (Spl.) The Baylor Bears hope to improve their place in the southwest conference basketball standings at Fort Worth Saturday night when they go up against the TCU Horned Frogs.

Coach Ralph Wolf's charges had no rest this week following their tilt with the Texas Aggies and put in a busy week polishing up their offensive tactics to throw at the Horned Frogs who have failed to show any scoring power in their loop games.

The Bruins' defensive play was up to par in the Aggie game, but the Bears had trouble finding the basket on most of their shots and the Bear mentor brought in several new offensive formations to be used in the TCU battle.

Saturday night's game will be the last conference game for the Bears before meeting the Texas Longhorns in Austin Feb. 10 and will give the Baylor five a whole week to get ready for their all-important tilt with the powerful Texas quintet.

Rutherford Trains For G. G. Tourney

Francis (Schoolboy) Rutherford dandy local pugilist started training for the comeback trail by knocking the ears off of his sparring partner in the City Hall training quarters last night. With hardly no time to get in shape for the bouts which start here next Tuesday night Rutherford states that he will endeavor to go the three full rounds against his opponent with only two nights training. In doing this the Schoolboy will probably use the Tunney technique rather than the Jack Dempsey style and spectators may get a glimpse of the "back-peddle" made famous by whalloping Bob Pastor. Anyway, its going to be a grand show and Rutherford is only one of the many young hopefuls who will see action in the Lions Club Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament.

The Baylor Bears will be out to improve their standing in the Southwest Conference basketball chase Saturday night when they invade Fort Worth for a tilt with the TCU Horned Frogs.

Turnersville Teams Lose to Gatesville

Tuesday afternoon the Turnersville Buffaloes played a visit to Gatesville and went back home defeated by the Hornets 37-29. Schenewolf, the fast rising Gatesville star, tied with Pete Koch, hustling Hornet forward, both scoring nine points. Brasher shot some beautiful long shots to lead for the visitors with nine points.

In the Hornettes game the golden sextette easily annihilated the Turnersville Buffaloes by the score of 26-13. Curry played another good game at forward and made eight points.

The defensive work of the guards was especially outstanding.

Lester played a great game at her center position guard. This girl is due to make Gatesville High a great player in her other two years here. Apel is evry effective and sticks to her man. Black and Mueller can really tak those balls off the backboard. Humes for the visitors made five points.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS FRIDAY, FEB. 2, 1940

While most of the week has been consumed in debate on the Appropriation Bill for the support of the Post Office and Treasury Departments, this measure has occasioned very little interest or feeling as compared with two other matters that were sandwiched into the regular debate on the appropriation bill as "special orders". Consideration of the appropriation bill has not been completed, but it has gone far enough to show very plainly that there will be little disposition to increase any of the figures suggested by the committee, and the committee figures are quite a bit lower than in the past. In other words, it seems clear that the House, at least, is now determined to hold the expenses of government to the lowest possible figure. I am in hearty sympathy with this policy of economy and want to see our government keep the public debt within the present debt limit of 45 billion dollars. Ultimately, all of this money must be repaid or we will all go broke trying to pay the interest. On the other hand, this interest can be much more easily paid if our people have a Denton, Texas—Further proof that glamour has it all over brawn is NTSTC coed Betty Fladger, who took the first place cup over a field of masculine contenders in the after dinner speech competition at the recent Baylor speech meet. With her dissertation on "The Scientific Approach to Glamour", Miss Fladger charmed her judges to a unanimous decision, making her the first woman speaker to take top flight honors in the event in the history of the meet.

Pictured with Miss Fladger are her victorious teammates, who captured for the Denton Teachers College more first places than were awarded any other school at the Baylor competition, outstanding forensic meet of the state. The victor's spoils, including four trophies and eight individuals medals are lined up in front of the speakers.

CHAPTER I
The rain fell in torrents, driven almost horizontal by the terrific velocity of the wind, which kept up a continuous howling in the rigging of the battered trading schooner.

The mate, a huge man who had faced death many times at the helm of South Sea trading boats, watched the two native sailors struggle to hold the schooner on its wind-swept course and his face darkened with worry. The ship quivered and shook with the terrific impact of the typhoon.

Clutching desperately at the schooner's lee rail, the Chinese cook edged his way cautiously toward the mate.

"Is he coming up?" the big man bellowed above the roar of the storm.

The Chiraman's face was impassive but his voice was sad. "Captain—him sick—again," he shouted. "Velly sick."

"Sick, is he? Why that slobberin' excuse for a man's not sick; he's blind drunk!"

In his cabin the mate's rage regarded the sloshing glass of whisky in his trembling hand. Shakily he gulped it down. As if in answer to the mate's unheard accusation the drunken man suddenly snouted: "I'm drunk. What of it? I got a right to be drunk. I'm the captain!"

"Sure you have, Pop." The answer came soothingly from a calm, competent little girl of about ten years. Obviously this was no new experience for her to see her father helplessly drunk. "But you ought to be up top side," she continued. "You could help—"

A sharp lurch of the schooner threw the skipper sideways into his bunk but he managed to hang on to the bottle of whisky.

"No. It's raining up there." The captain's voice was sharp. He pressed his hand to his forehead. "I can't stand rain. You know that, Dea. Your old Pop can't stand rain. Your mother went away in the rain." He fumbled in his pocket and produced a worn leather pouch. "But pretty soon we'll go where there's no more rain." He spilled a double handful of huge black pearls out on to the table. "We've got our pile, Dea. Where we're going it will never rain again."

Suddenly his mood changed and he crossed to the port hole and wrenched it open. The driving rain dashed into his face. "Stop! Stop raining!" the Captain shouted insanely. "Stop blowing! Stop!" His mood changed abruptly. "Hand me a drink, Dea," he whimpered. "Wet inside—wet outside. That'll balance it." His eyes suddenly focused on his daughter. "DEA!" he screamed.

The little girl continued to pour the contents of the bottle into the spittoon. The Captain lurched forward, lost his balance and collapsed in his berth. Dea surveyed him calmly. She lifted a dangling arm and shifted his body so that he rested comfortably. From a locker she took a coil of rope and with the skill of long experience proceeded to lash her father securely to the bed. Satisfied with her work, she curled up on the floor beside the bunk and almost instantly fell asleep.

The mate breathed heavily and continued to glare. "The ship's gone, you're gone and I'm gone—and you're sorry! What are your orders, sir?"

The Captain glanced about at the wreckage and shrugged futilely. "Abandon ship, I guess."

"That'll be dandy," the mate answered sarcastically. "Mac is dead underneath the fallen mast. Five of the crew have been washed overboard. Sig and four hands took a chance with a life boat—and it capsizeed them to the sharks. The other lifeboat was smashed to splinters. I'll abandon ship if you can find me one to abandon."

The mate stared at Dea for a moment. He bent over and picked her up in his arms. "Come on, kid. There's a chance for you. You're going out on the rubber life raft. It will only hold one and that one's you."

Dea screamed and fought to free herself. "I won't go without Pop—I won't. Put me down. He can't get along without me."

The big man paid no attention. Calmly and expertly he lashed her to the rubber life raft. The Captain reappeared from the cabin. He was carrying a pouch containing the black pearls. As Dea clung to him he tied the sack securely around the little girl's neck.

"Daddy, I'm afraid—I want you with me," the little girl sobbed.

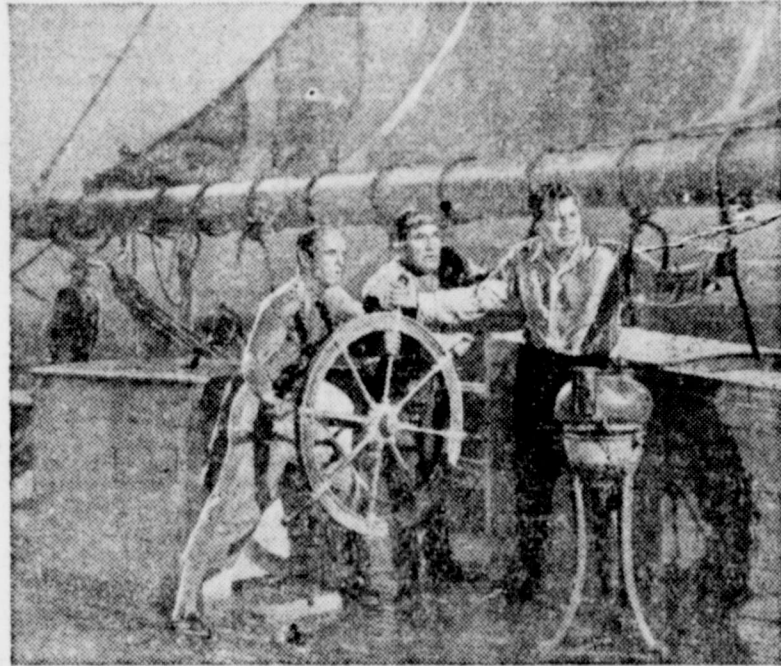

"You must not be afraid, baby. Here are those black marbles for you to play with some day." He held her close for a moment and kissed her tenderly, then turned away resolutely. "Mr. Miller—a hand here, please." The two men lifted the raft and the child carefully over the side. "Goodbye, Mr. Miller," Dea sobbed. "Goodbye, daddy. I'm sorry I emptied all of your bottles."

Tears streamed down the Captain's drawn face. "Don't be sorry, Dea. I'm never going to be afraid of the rain ever again."

The wind drifted the light raft quickly away from the laboring wreck. Silently the two men watched. As the raft became a speck on the dark horizon a huge wave swept over the stern. When it passed both men were gone.

Half-way around the world, shipman Johnny Potter prepared for his entrance examinations at the U. S. Naval Academy, little dreaming that a typhoon then raging in the South Seas would ultimately change the entire course of his life.

The ship quivered and shook with the terrific impact of the typhoon.

Water sloshing about her awakened Dea. For a moment she could not understand. Then the full gravity of the situation struck her. Frantically she turned to her father and started tearing at the ropes. "Pop! Get up! Get up! Pop, we're sinking!" she screamed.

The Captain stirred and blinked. "What?" he muttered.

"Hurry! Help me! Look at the water in the cabin. We're sinking!"

The realization of the seriousness of their plight drove some of the drink from the Captain's brain. Fumblingly, he helped Dea loosen his bonds and stumbled after her up the companionway to the deck.

One glance at the havoc the typhoon had wrought completely sobered the Captain. The mainmast had cracked at the deck line and the rigging, dragging in the sea, held the schooner's rail under the pounding waves. Two native sailors chopped frantically to free the boat of the wreckage. At the wheel the huge mate struggled weakly to hold the schooner steady in the teeth of the storm. He glared angrily at the Captain as he and Dea approached.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Miller," the Captain said, "deeply sorry."

The steel industry in 1937 manufactured for petroleum producers and pipeline operators more than 1,250,000 gross tons of tubular goods. This output provided an estimated 79,440,399 man-hours of labor, or enough to keep 39,300 steel workers employed the equivalent of 52 full weeks.

POAGE LETTER—

reasonable national debt. I don't think we can have an adequate national income without a reasonable farm income. I am convinced that all national income, in the final analysis, dependent on farm income, and the stimulus I have studied convince me that for every dollar of farm income the nation produces it will have seven dollars of national income. Therefore, if we are to expect a national income large enough to enable our people to pay the taxes necessary to support our present national debt and ordinary governmental expenses, we MUST increase rather than decrease farm income. This seems to be just as vital to the welfare of the cities as to the country, but as I have so often pointed out, lots of the Northern Congressmen don't see it this way, and I realize that we will have lots of difficulty in getting a reasonable sum for soil conservation and parity payments past the House. With a larger percentage of it's members from Agricultural States, the Senate is more likely to look favorably on appropriations for farm aid. The Agricultural Appropriation Bill will likely be before the House next week, and I know that we will be faced with a fight that is vital to the welfare of our people. I shall support an appropriation large enough to care for both the parity and the soil conservation payments.

Day before yesterday, we had a fight over a bill which the President had vetoed to Congress. This bill would have paid to the State of Ohio out of the Federal Treasury all of the sums that would have been paid by the Federal Government in October, 1938 for Social Security aid had the State of Ohio then been complying with Federal requirements. As a matter of fact, Ohio had refused to comply with Federal regulations and after the Social Security Board notified them that it was going to cut off all payments to the State if it did not comply, the State refused to appear at the hearing which the Social Security board... then out off... month... Federal... and... payments... we were... as not to... Ohio, but... for money... had but did not... failure to comply with... requirements. As I see it, this case is another good example of the need for a 100 per cent Federally paid and controlled old age assistance plan as I am urging. Only in that way can we expect to avoid frequent repetitions of this sort of thing in other States.

Of course, the Ohio Representatives all urged the passage of the bill over the President's veto because they naturally wanted to help their own State. The Republicans all joined with the Ohio delegation in an effort to embarrass the Democratic Administration. With the help of some Democrats who wanted to vindicate the committee that had previously recommended this payment, they got 171 votes, but not enough to pass the bill. I voted against the bill and to uphold the President and the Administration.

Probably the most important action of the week was the action of the House in authorizing the extension of the Dies Committee for another year. This committee has, as I am sure you know, focused attention on the un-American activities of a number of groups and "isms". It has gone a long way toward checking some of the most dangerous developments that have threatened our American form of government and way of life. It has shown that we must protect America at home as well as from abroad. An overwhelming majority of the House has always supported its work, but a small group has been very active and very bitter in trying to destroy the committee and its work. I realize that neither this nor any other committee can alone do all the work that needs to be done in this field. But I believe that the committee has been of great value and has set in motion public sentiment that will go a long way toward fostering real Americanism. I believe that the continuation of the committee will serve a valuable purpose in preventing the development of un-American groups and activities. I, therefore, voted for the continuation of the committee.

In seven year—1931 to 1938—the homicide rate among the policyholders of a large insurance company dropper 7 per 100,000 to 4.4 per 100,000. The latter figure is 37 per cent lower than the figure for 1931 and 36 lower than the average for the two decades immediately preceding 1938.

AN APPRECIATED VALENTINE

Loin lamb chops just "go" on the menu of the luncheon or dinner party for St. Valentine's Day. And when they are broiled to a turn and arranged as shown in the accompanying photograph, they are sure to make a hit with the guests at your party.

The garnishes suggested here are simple but effective. Peach halves are topped with hearts cut from canned cranberry jelly. The hot baking powder biscuits are cut in heart shape to further emphasize the Valentine motif.

And broiling lamb chops is simple, too, if you do it the modern way. Here are the easy steps: Turn heat high; place chops on broiler rack and slide broiler pan into position so that there is about three inches between the top surface of the chops and the heat; when the chops are nicely browned, season with salt and pepper and turn; continue broiling until second side browns, about fifteen minutes in all. Arrange on platter and serve at once.

If there is a regular late comer among your invited guests, wait until you see her turn the corner before the chops are put in to broil. Better to keep your guests waiting for broiled lamb chops than for late guests.

Friendship

Mrs. S. L. Powell, Corsp.

We are all very thankful for the sunshine and warmer weather after the severe cold spell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Powell and Mrs. Sam Powell visited Mrs. Carrie Mohler, who is ill, in the Aaron Mohler home at Turnover Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Dorsey of Turnover visited in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lee Powell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Walker of Gatesville were Sunday visitors in the Leroy McCutchen home.

Mrs. Lucy Cummings and R. D. of Leon Junction spent Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cummings.

This community was made sad last Tuesday when the Death Angel came into the home of Jeff Powell and took away the wife and mother. Mrs. Powell had a stroke about one o'clock Tuesday afternoon and passed away at six. She was 70 years old. She lived a devoted Christian life and was a member of the Little Flock Primitive Baptist Church.

She leaves to mourn her going: her husband, Jeff Powell; ten children, Mrs. Oris Gough of New Mexico, Mrs. Leslie Bailey of Abilene, Mrs. Bud Truss of Newland, Joseph and Howard Powell of Temple, Andrew Powell of Plainview, Ingraham Powell and Mrs. Virgie Shults of this community, and Misses Stella and Valera of the parental home; one brother, Roll Dixon of the Mound; one sister, Mrs. Felix Jones of Fort Worth and a number of grandchildren; and a host of friends. The children with their families were all present for the funeral.

She was laid to rest in the Hubbard Cemetery Wednesday afternoon. To the loved ones, weep not for she has only gone home to be with Jesus and the loved ones who have gone before. This community extends its deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Miss Ida May Sherwood spent the week end in the A. W. Tennonson home at Turnover.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wiegand and baby spent Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, at Pidcoke.

James Perry Gentry of Leon Junction visited in the Cummings home Sunday.

Mrs. Annie Holt and Dub spent Sunday afternoon in the Jeff Powell home.

Winifred Franklin and Francis Lee Powell spent Friday night in the Ingraham Powell home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cummings visited in Leon Junction Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham Powell and family spent Sunday in the Josh Logan home at Turnover.

Sixty citizens, enthusiastic good roads boosters, Chamber of Commerce officials and county officials from seven counties met in the District Court room in the Coryell County courthouse Wednesday afternoon to continue to formulate plans begun at a meeting held in Cleburne January 15 by the North and South Airline Highway organization. This group has been organized for the purpose of securing one of the proposed five national highways thru this section of the country. The highway begins at Winnipeg, Canada and continues through Oklahoma, Texas and probably thru Mexico and Central America and on into South America.

The Architectural Plans committee of the First Baptist Church visited many churches and other public buildings in neighboring towns and communities in search of information that would cause them to meet every need of their home people in the new building. Many architects were considered and many found capable, but the committee after much study recommended to the General Committee Birch D. Easterwood and Son of Waco.

Hester Bros., better known by their many friends as Hank and Joe, recently purchased the cafe formerly operated by Lonnie Wharton and wife. This business is located on the south side of the square and near the courthouse. The new managers saw fit to change the name of the cafe to "Courthouse Cafe".

Sport talk: Local fans who have been raving to see the local Hornets and the Pearl Club play in a game of basketball will have an opportunity to witness this game in the County Meet that is scheduled to start here Tuesday. There will be two County Meets this year, one for the schools who think they have a chance to win the county and enter the District; the other one is for the County Championship, who will be presented a trophy. Any team in the county may enter either of these Meets, but no team will be allowed to enter both of them.

Society: Complimenting the Faculty Club members and several guests, Messrs. C. L. Thompson, Doyle Baldrige and Maurice Ewing were hosts on Monday nite at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson.
