8,000 FANS SEE GATESVILLE BOXER LOSE IN FINALS BY T.K.O., IN 3RD ROUND

MOST SUCCESSFUL OF TWO TEAMS FROM GATESVILLE

Eight thousand people from every part of Texas gathered in the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum Monday night at the State Golden Gloves Tournament, saw R. E. (Cotton) Brisbin, Rogers boy, representing the Gatesville District drop the coveted Championship by a Technical Knock-Out in the latter part of the third round, in the Finals, to Don Livingston, representing the Amarillo District. This was the Featherweight division.

Don Livingston, was an Oklahoma battler last year, went to the semifinals in the Chicago Tournament last year, and out-weighted Brisbin 4 pounds, as announced at the ringside. Livingston is probably one of the "best bets" for a good showing for the Texas Team in Chicago.

Brisbin stayed in and pitched leather, but could not stand the terrific pace, and the terrific lefts of the Amarillo boy. Brisbin acquitted himself well, winning two bouts, and drawing a default into the finals.

Last year, Gatesville won no fights, and ended up with 1 point in the team standing. This 1940 team came out with 6 fights won, and 4 points up to the semi-finals. This may not be entirely correct, since we haven't seen the final team standing.

Altogether there were 160 boxers entered in the tournament representing 20 districts, and the Gatesville District came out better than some 5 or 6 districts. Districts represented were Ft. Worth, Austin, Dallas, Houston, Abilene, Stephenville, Wichita Falls, Beaumont, San Antonio, Tyler, Midland, Lubbock, Brownwood, Amarillo, Munday, Follett and Gatesville.

Also, in the semi-finals, Dick Jackson, representing the Gatesville District received the only KO, when Andy Eagleton, caught him on one ear, paralyzing him for a few minutes. This lucky punch won the fight for Eagleton who was "taking plenty" from Jackson, and who it is said had things going just about his way. No other boys from the Gatesville team lost by knockouts, but by very close decisions, which by the way, could have been called either way.

Four districts had no boys in the semi-finals and they were Childress, Abilene, Brownwood and Follett.

Eleven districts had boys in the Finals, and they were, Gatesville, Fort Worth, Stephenville, Austin, Dallas, Houston, Beaumont, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Tyler and Amarillo.

Bigger towns than Gatesville didn't have any representatives. All these towns were San Antonio, San Angelo, Munday, Midland, Galveston, Childress, Abilene, Brownwood and Follett.

SCS Election Here March 9th

March 9 has been set by the State Soil Conservation Board for an election to be held in Coryell and Hamilton Counties for the purpose of creating Hamilton-Coryell Soil Conservation District No. 506.

Interest in this district is the reason it was included in the first election called for the approximately 100 sections of the state that have asked for these districts.

Robert W. Brown of Gatesville has been appointed Polling Superintendent, to assist in holding the election in this District.

Guy Powell for Coryell and T. D. Craddock of Hamilton have committees at work to acquaint the land owners with the provisions of the law and benefits that they might obtain by the District.

Mrs. J. B. Young of Moody spent Tuesday with friends and relatives in this city.

Scott Heckles Prexy Steals Banquet Show

That's exactly what happened at the nonpariel Chamber of Commerce Banquet which was held in the high school gym Tuesday evening of this week.

Lynn Landrum, proved he was Texas' leading columnist and besides reading some of his "fan mail" delivered a sterling address which convinced the nearly 300 present that he is certainly not out of place as the writer of "Thinking Out Loud" for one of Texas' greatest newspapers, The Dallas Morning News.

Mr. Landrum stated, and it was certainly sincere, that he had rather people would disagree with him, because if everyone agreed with him "all of us might be wrong" and that would be worse. If you missed Lynn Landrum—well you really missed something.

Added entertainers came in "two beautiful shapes", two gorgeous blondes, the Roedrick Twins, who didn't need their good looks to thoroly convince the audience they were entertainers of the first water. Appearing first in "cow-girl" costumes, they played, sang and yodeled themselves into the good graces of the listeners, and when they did come out in those stunning Hawaiian costumes with lei around their necks and over their shoulders, they brought the "Dole Islanders" to the USA. They don't need any posies from us—they had everything.

A menu of tomato juice cocktail, baked ham with cinnamon apples, scolloped potatoes, green beans, fresh vegetable salad, rolls, cherry tarts with whipped cream, and coffee, delivered in rhythm in a new "galley-slave" system, caused a ripple of comment, not to mention a number of wise-cracks.

Diserens' Swingeros, finally blew themselves out—they really did do lots of it, and, everyone enjoyed their playing especially that ——— Polka, and Scatterbrain. Only two finishing touches are needed, a baton twirler (preferably feminine) and a torch singer. He'll probably have them next trip.

R. E. POWELL HARDWARE IS HIJACKED OF $56: MAN AND MONEY RECOVERED

G. C. 'Grover' McANELLY ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

G. C. (Grover) McAnelly of Hamilton county has placed his announcement for State Representative of the 94th District with the News.

This district comprises Hamilton and Coryell counties, and Mr. McAnelly has this word for the voters of this section.

"I would like to state to the voters of Coryell county, I was born near Jonesboro in Hamilton county and have lived the last thirty years in the west part of Hamilton county.

My father was an early settler of Hamilton county. His name was Esquire W. B. McAnelly.

In asking people of this district for their vote, I will give some of my business experience. I have lived on a farm all my life and have farmed and handled cattle and sheep. I was elected County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1 in Hamilton and served six years, after which I did not run for the fourth term. Also, I have served as Grand Juror for several times, having dealings with the people and the laws of the state.

I have always felt like the Legislature needed me with my business experience.

In asking the people to vote for me, I feel like my business experience qualifies me for the place.

Hoping you all will investigate my record, and after you have done so and fell like I am the man for the place, I would appreciate your vote and influence.

Yours very truly,
G. C. (Grover) McAnelly
Candidate for Representative,
94th District.
(Political Adv. 1tp)

Mrs. Kenneth Adams has been ill at her home in this city the past two weeks.

R. L. Alton of Moody visited friends in Gatesville Wednesday.

About 12:15 a man who gave his name as Cecil Miller is alleged to have rifled the cash drawer at R. E. Powell hardware store of $56 and escaped in a brown Plymouth coupe which was parked at a side entrance.

Immediately, Chief of Police Frank Farquhar was called and took out after the man, and, after firing two shots, one of them striking a fender and the other went in the turtle-back of the car, the man was stopped. He was either unarmed or had disposed of his firearms.

All of the money was recovered, and the man was taken to the Sheriff's office where he was fingerprinted and is being held. The car had a Fort Worth license, number A62-596, but the man is said to have stated Fort Worth was not his home.

Two accomplices are thought to have been working with him, as employees of the store stated one of the men, a young man, called him to wait on him, and said that he wanted a knife, going to the knife case in the front of the store.

The alleged robber came in behind the counter, it is said, opened the cash drawer and grabbed a role of bills. R. L. (Bob) Saunders, whose desk is in the rear of the store, saw him, and yelled at him. The man rushed out the side entrance, got in the car and speeded out of town. He was overhauled by the Chief of Police about half way to Jonesboro. Cliff Rankin was driving for Farquhar.

Late Thursday, the accomplices, if any, had not been picked up.

This our FIRST edition on Texas made newsprint.

Since this paper is not yet being sold in quantity lots, and it is sold to us more for advertising and publicity purposes, we were not allowed only a small part.

First, it was supplied to the dailies, and then, the newspapers in the smaller towns were asked to take small quantities, enough for about one issue.

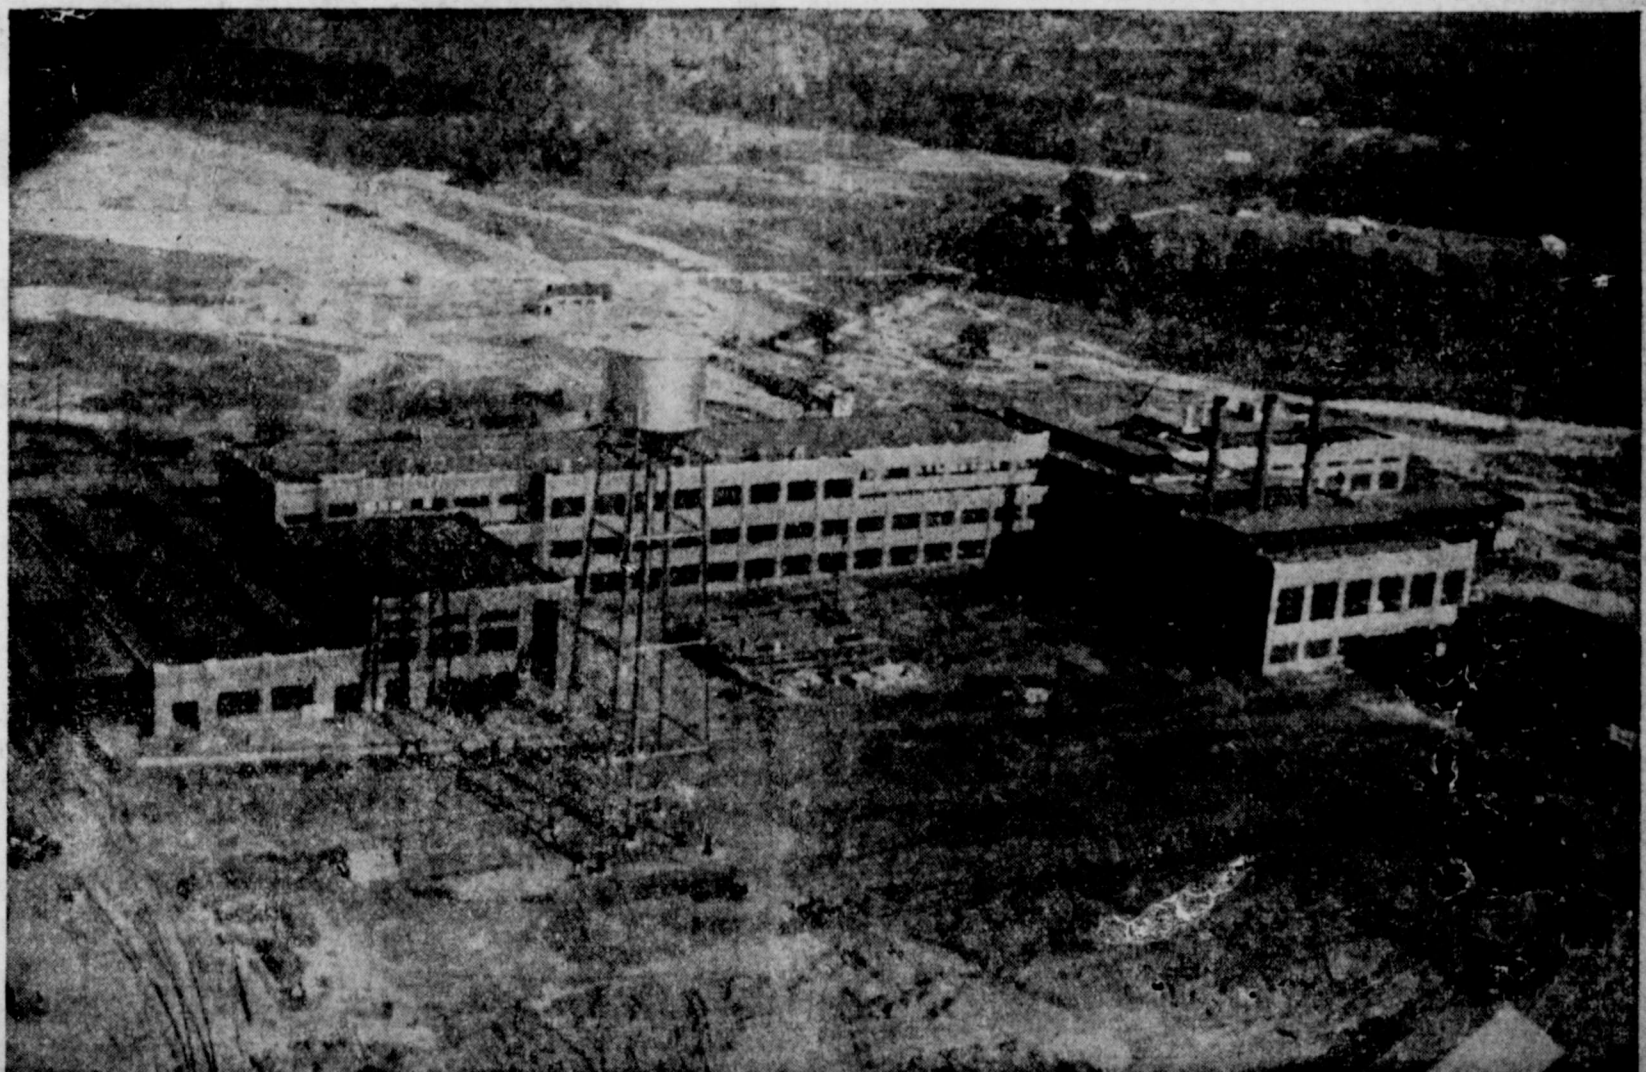

Our other newsprint comes mainly from Canada, and we formerly got some of it from Finland, that is, before the war started.

WE WANT YOU TO FEEL AT HOME
wherever good beer is sold

The Brewing Industry realizes that decent, respectable people prefer to patronize decent, inviting places.

And we agree with them.

That is why we are taking action—in cooperation with law enforcement authorities—to "clean-up or close-up" beer retail establishments that disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

To do this we have instituted a new self-regulation plan now in operation in a few states and being extended as rapidly as possible.

We think you will be interested in knowing something about this program. May we tell you about it in an interesting free booklet?

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was conferred unto us by them that hear him?" Heb. 2:3.

Salvation must be sustained by feeding on the bread of life. "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation." Isa. 12:2.

A. R. Corn, Pastor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO FARMERS

A bulletin entitled "Texas Handbook, 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program" will soon be available for every farmer in Coryell County. When these bulletins are distributed it is requested that each farmer study the regulations, as presented.

Following is a list of the soil-depleting crops which will aid farmers in arranging their crops to meet compliance for the 1940 program: (1) Corn planted for any purpose, except roasting ears or popcorn in home gardens for use on the farm. (2) Grain sorghums planted for any purpose. (3) Cotton which reaches the stage of growth at which bolls are first formed. (4) Peanuts harvested for nuts or dug for hay. (5) Broomcorn planted for any purpose. (6) Annual truck and vegetable crops for any purpose, except when grown in home gardens for use on the farm. (7) Wheat planted (or regarded as planted) for any purpose on a wheat allotment farm. (8) Wheat (on a non-wheat-allotment farm), oats, barley, rye, or mixtures of these crops harvested for grain.

(Nine) Wheat on a non-wheat-allotment farm, oats, barley, rye, or mixtures of these crops (including designated mixtures containing wheat on any farm) harvested for hay, except (a) when such crops are used as nurse crops for legumes or perennial grasses which are seeded in a workman-like manner and the nurse crop is cut for hay not later than the bloom stage, or (b) when such crops are grown in a mixture containing at least 25 per cent by weight of winter legumes.

Ten, Sudan grass, or millet harvested for grain or seed.

Sweet sorghums when harvested for grain, seed or syrup.

Farmers who over plant their general allotments will not be permitted to plow up corn, grain sorghums, wheat or broomcorn to get into compliance, as the planting of these crops makes them soil-depleting.

It is to be remembered that grain sorghums can not be plowed under as a green manure crop in 1940 as under previous programs.

Farmers who have over planted their cotton allotments may destroy the excess acreage of cotton prior to its reaching the bolting stage.

Farmers who have overplanted their general allotments may plow up small grain excluding wheat, or they may plow up cotton prior to its reaching the bolting stage to get within their general allotments.

Following is a list of crops which may be turned under, or "left on land that is subject to erosion", by which the soil-building allowance could be earned: Sudan grass, cane, millet, oats, barley, beans or peas. The rate of pay for turning under these crops is 75c per acre, not to exceed the soil-building allowance. However, if these green manure crops are turned under or left on the ground in commercial orchards the rate of pay is $1.50 per acre not to exceed the soil-building allowance.

This year for the first time a farm plan sheet will be put into operation. It is anticipated that through the various community committees, the county committee, and office personnel that each farmer will have an opportunity to work out a definite plan whereby he could earn the maximum benefits available under the 1940 program. Educational meetings will be held in the various communities and at that time dates will be set for future meetings at which time farm plan sheets will be worked out with the farmers of the respective community.

General allotments are expected to be approved by the state office within the next few weeks. Information available at the County AAA office at this time will enable farmers to obtain their tentative general allotments prior to their being mailed to the producers.

Poage Gets Approval On C. Cove WPA Job

from Congressman W. R. Poage approval is practically certain, lacking only the President's signature, for the WPA project for the Copperas Cove Independent School District for the construction of a new school building.

Mr. Poage's letter continues: "Of course, the President is not in Washington, but his mail is sent to him by air each day that he may sign all necessary orders, and it is expected that we will have his signature on the approval by the end of this week."

"You are, however, safe in advertising interested parties that inasmuch as all of the various divisions of the WPA have passed favorably upon this application that there is nothing except the formal signature necessary, and they should arrange themselves to contact the San Antonio office to secure an early work order."

W. R. Poage, Congressman

IN MEMORY OF MISS TOMMIE ADAMS

Funeral services were held for Miss Tommie Adams, 21, of Moody at The Grove School auditorium Saturday at 4 p. m. with the Rev. Whitefield of Moody and the Rev. Williams of The Grove conducting. Burial was in Flint Creek Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Mr. Teague, Mr. Glass, Mr. Clearman, Mr. Townline, Mr. Tilly, and Mr. Nelson.

Tommie was born September 21, 1918 at The Grove, Texas, where she resided until two years ago when she moved to Moody with her parents, where she resided until she died February 16, 1940.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Adams of Moody; four sisters, Joyce Adams, Mrs. Rex Morris of Moody, Mrs. Monk Clearman of Denton, Mrs. Burris Clawson of The Grove; one brother, R. T. Adams of Moody; her grandparents, Mrs. Ammie Flipkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brazzil, all of The Grove; and a host of relatives and friends.

There is a new angel in Heaven today; to Tommie a new home has been given. The Death Angel came and took her away to be with her Father in Heaven. She sleeps in the greatest peace of all, in lasting, eternal, sweet peace. And when we too have answered death's call, we pray we can leave the surcrease she left, when she said "I am ready to go," and journeyed into that land. A golden chariot took her. We know, lead by the touch of His hand. And when we have trudged our last weary mile, may we have courage, we pray. To meet death as Tommie did with a smile, and be with her again some day.—Written by a Friend.

Hornets Clash With Rosebud Cagers In District Meet Today

The Gatesville High School Hornets, Class A Champions of Coryell county will enter the District meet at Waco Friday where they are scheduled to meet a strong quintet from Rosebud in their first clash for district honors.

Competition among the teams this year is due to be unusually tough with teams from Waco, Rosebud, Dawson, Gatesville, Corsicana, Itasca, Valley Mills, Doney, Ben Hur and West competing.

The Hornets earned the right to enter the District Meet by defeating the Evant Elks in the first two games of a three game championship series but they are due to run into trouble at Waco Friday. Starting at 2:00 Friday afternoon the Hornets play Rosebud and should they come out victorious in this game they will meet the winner of the West-Corsicana game.

A large delegation of Coryell County basketball fans are expected to follow the Hornets to Waco for their initial clash of the tournament.

the championship running they will probably concentrate mostly on track, softball and other sports in preparation for the County Meet.

R. E. (Cotton) Brisbin of Rogers and winner of the featherweight boxing championship in the Gatesville Golden Gloves Tournament was the only boxer in this district to reach the finals in the State tournament at Fort Worth Monday night.

Approximately 8000 fans saw the Gatesville boy wade out of his corner into a slugging contest with Don Livingston of Amarillo and finally lose in the third round by a TKO. Brisbin won his first two fights at the State meet and his semi-final bout with Joe Diaz of Galveston was forfeited thus automatically placing him in the Championship running. Brisbin was a willing but inexperienced fighter and Livingston was a veteran of the ring having advanced to the semi-finals in the National Tournament at Chicago last year.

Alvin Lueck, Brownlow Miller, Dick Jackson, Jack Baker and Geo. Blaylock, representatives of the Gatesville District all lost close decisions and Preacher Jones of Baylor won his first fight but lost his second to Bill Sheilds of Abilene.

SHERMAN BARNES

Sherman Barnes, six foot three senior guard of the Baylor Bears is expected to see a lot of service Saturday night when the Bruins tangle with the Texas Longhorns in a Southwest Conference basketball tilt in Waco.

Barnes is a two year letterman and will probably draw the task of covering Bobby Moers, flashy Longhorn point-getter.

Flat

Harry M. Mohrmann

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Richardson and son, Jack, of Gatesville were visitors in the W. E. Holcomb home Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. McHenry Seal of Waco filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church here Sunday. Due to the weather the crowds were off a bit. Rev. Seal was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Humphries.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clawson entertained several guests at dinner in their thome here Saturday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Humphries and Gilda, Mr. and Mrs. O. Clawson and son, Jim, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohrmann Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Watkins and Miss Jewell Witcher went to Waco Saturday on a business and pleasure trip.

The local school students are about to get busy on county meet work and are looking forward toward making a name for themselves in March. The one act play entry will be directed by Mr. W. Brumalaw, the choral singing will be under the direction of Miss Erine Carroll and debate will be directed by Harry Mohrmann. The school will also be strongly represented in the various athletic events.

The Flat High School basketball team recently closed one of its most successful seasons in years and the following boys lettered: Marion Holcomb, Captain, William Ake Powell, Wesley Ingram, Wade Young, Travis Harper, C. J. Powell, and Joice Williams, and Buddy Copeland and Clifford Earl Poe was team manager.

Funeral services for Dave Bell, who died Friday at his home at Cold Springs near here, were held from the Flat Baptist Church with Rev. Ollie Williams, pastor of the Cold Springs Church officiating.

Mr. Bell lived in this community for many years and will be greatly missed by his many friends. He was a member of the Cold Springs Baptist Church, having been converted in 1905. Interment was in Hubbard cemetery. Pall bearers were Arch Tippit, Jack Palmer, Dan Cross, Irvin Mensch, Jess Owen and J. F. Clawson.

The Rev. Hogg and family have been sick with the flu, but all are recovering and doing nicely. Rev. Hogg is the local Methodist pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blankenship and baby of Turnersville Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blankenship, and Miss Katie Carroll of Gatesville Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Carroll of Ewing, and Mrs. Jim Whigham were Sunday visitors in the Will Carroll home. Miss Jewell Witcher, primary teacher in the local school, went to Denton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Witcher, Sunday where they visited Miss Mildred Witcher, who is a student in North Texas State Teachers College.

This week end the Gatesville High School Hornettes, Class-A Basketball Champions of Coryell County will be hosts to teams from Jonesboro, Lampasas and other teams in and near Gatesville in a Tournament which will decide the winner of this district. The team that comes out of this tournament undefeated will represent this district in the State meet that will be held some time in the near future.

Starting today at 2:00 P. M. the Gatesville High school Hornets will play Rosebud in their first try for district honors. The Hornets have a nice team, having won the county championship from the Evant Elks in second gear but should they beat Rosebud it is likely that they will go down before the winner of the Corsicana and West game. The Meet is being held in the Baylor University gym, Waco.

HARRY HINES OUT FOR GOVERNOR

HARRY HINES

Austin, Feb. 21—Tossing his hat into the ring with an announcement as a candidate for Governor of Texas, Harry Hines, member of the Texas Highway Commission for the past five years, last night raised the curtain on the 1940 gubernatorial contest.

Hines, announcing that he would later issue a platform and discuss every issue pertinent to the campaign in full detail, put himself on record on several burning issues.

He pledged himself: (1) Against the sales tax, which he termed a tax on poverty and opposed to his understanding of the meaning of Democracy. (2) In favor of fulfillment of the social security program, including payment of adequate old age pensions, and aid to dependent children, needy blind, the State's part of the teacher's retirement program. (3) The raising of the additional money needed to pay these obligations by cooperative effort with the legislators, spreading the cost without "dealing a death blow to any one group."

Hines indicated he will be a conservative candidate, and declared he will not try to "out promise the promisers," and promised to be a "doer instead of a promiser."

"At no time need you expect Harry Hines to play upon ignorance or emotion in an effort to bait voters," he said. "If sound basic fundamentals of government as envisioned by our forefathers based on honesty, integrity and want then it is an insult to their intelligence to promise them impractical, unsound, vote getting bait."

REPORT GIVEN ON PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Gatesville Public Library has been established in the last few years as a benefit to the general public. The library was begun on donations from different people about the county. At present the library contains approximately two thousand, three hundred and twelve books. An average of thirty-five books are checked out a day. Books may be checked out from one to two weeks free of charge.

Donations of books are appreciated at any time; so if you have some books that are of no use to you, why not donate them to the Gatesville Public Library? The library is open to people in the city and rural districts. More interest in the library would be greatly appreciated because the library is to furnish reading material to the people of this county.

GERMAN ECONOMIC STRESS Part III

As a final commentary in the series on Germany and her war economy, I should like to include an article penned by United Press writers on the German food shortage. The article provides an illuminating insight into the food problem which confronts unfortunate German housewives today.

It reads: The coldest weather in 10 years has heightened the German food shortage. Practically all fruits but winter apples have vanished from the markets; only the hardiest root vegetables are left and fish and fowls are being dispensed on a system resembling a number-calling lottery.

The average German housewife has had but six eggs for her family since Christmas. Farmers cannot dig potatoes from the ground, because they would freeze. The freezing of rivers and canals has thrown and added burden onto the already overworked railways. A large part of the fresh vegetables reaching the market have been frozen.

She takes a shopping net or an old leather brief case because the grocer may not have any paper bags for the vegetables. At the grocery, if she is lucky, she has a choice of potatoes, frozen carrots, turnips and kohlrabi.

The potato supply is short so she can buy only five pounds instead of the usual 10. Probably, her grocer has had no cabbage for two weeks so she must make the rounds of several stores in hope of finding a head of two.

The only fruit is the nondescript autumn and winter apple, which fortunately tastes better than it looks. Or, if the grocer has been fortunate at the wholesale market, he may have a crate of apples. The housewife has seen only an occasional orange and lemon in her neighborhood store for the past six weeks.

Lettuce, radishes, green beans, peas and spinach disappeared with warm weather. There are canned vegetables and fruits on the counters but the grocer is not allowed to sell them. Canned goods are reserved for the army and hospitals.

The housewife needs no ration card at the grocer's but must have one at the butcher shop. For each member of her family she is allowed 500 grams of meat weekly—a little over a pound. She probably takes one-third of it in sausage. In weighing out meat—usually beef or pork; sometimes veal and mutton—the butcher counts the bone. He keeps a container of bones near the scales and often picks out a bone or two to bring the portion to the requested weight.

At the dairy shop, the housewife picks up the week's supply of fats—little more than a quarter pound of butter and approximately the same amounts of margarine, bacon, lard and cheese. She takes home a quart of skimmed milk—just half the amount she was allowed to buy last week—in a bottle she has brought. She has to be careful that it does not splash out. The dairyman is out of bottle caps. If she has any children or is an expectant mother, she may have a limited amount of whole milk.

At the delicatessen shop, she draws the weekly ration of sugar, slightly more than half a pound per person, also a little marmalade, barley coffee, rolled oats or barley flakes. If rice, soup beans or noodles are being released for sale that week, she takes a little of each.

Finally, at the baker's she gets a little white or brown bread and a little flour. She finds that she seldom uses up all her bread tickets.

On the way home she stops at the fish and fowl market to see whether her turn has come. Once or twice a month the number allotted to her will be called out. If she is not on hand that day her goose or fish will be sold to someone else.

CHAPTER 7 SYNOPSIS

Johnny Potter, Annapolis man kicked out of the Navy, is shanghaied by his friend, Skipper Joe who has outfitted a submarine for pearl fishing. The two fight with a native chief and are forced to flee. When the oil supply runs low, they find a haven on an uncharted island. Johnny is picked up by the island's lone inhabitant a beautiful white girl, Dea, who was shipwrecked ten years before. In her strange savage way, Dea falls in love with Johnny, who attempts to escape but is stopped by Dea's pet and powerful chimpanzee, Koko.

CHAPTER VII

JOHNNY had no idea of the whereabouts on the island of Joe and the crew of the submarine but he strode forward purposefully nevertheless. He had traveled only a few score yards, however, before a heavy body hurled itself upon him in a football-like tackle and Johnny found himself looking up into the grinning, chattering face of Koko. "Hey! Lay off," Johnny wailed.

"Koko and I do it all the time." "I spent a summer in Vermont once, when I was a kid," Johnny went on. "We'd fish at night for trout. All you had to do was drop in your hook and out they came." He was silent for a moment. "Gee, that was a long time ago," he added wistfully. "A fellow had plans then."

They both stared into the fire in silence. Dea broke it. "Johnny, there's one thing I don't understand," Johnny looked at her. "Why did you leave the Navy?"

Johnny's eyes were somber. "I lost a book—a little book no bigger than your hand. But it was a code book, Dea. You know what that means?" Grimly he quoted the words he could not forget: "Gross negligence in the line of duty—that's what the court martial said."

"You must have loved the Navy an awful lot," Dea said softly.

with simple directness. After a moment of silence she added, "I think we better stay here."

She dropped her head on his shoulder and snuggled close to him. For a moment her nearness and loveliness held Johnny spellbound. Then he gently pushed her away and got to his feet. She looked up at him in hurt bewilderment.

"What's the matter? Don't you like me, Johnny?" Johnny stared down at her, groping mentally for a way to end this embarrassing situation.

"Yeah—yeah, sure I like you," he mumbled. "Ah, what's the use," he muttered in despair. "You wouldn't understand." He turned quickly and stumbled away into the jungle.

Dea started to follow him and then stopped herself. Slowly the tears welled up in her eyes. It seemed a long time later when she found her way back to the house in the tree-tops. Johnny was not there. She was still crying softly when she fell asleep.

For a long time Johnny tramped through the moon-lit jungle. When at last he halted to rest, a dark figure silently ambled out of the shadows and joined him. Koko was still on the job!

Johnny shrugged hopelessly. At last he tried talking to the chimp. "Don't you see, Koko? This set-up's no good for Dea," he explained.

Koko stared at him. Johnny went on. "You're just a dumb animal and can't understand. But pretty soon I'm going to kick off—I'm going to die. A doctor in Malulu told me. And then she would be worse off than ever." Johnny got to his feet. "Let me go back to the beach, Koko. When we're ready to sail, I'll come back and get her—and you, too."

Johnny extended his hand to the chimp. The animal stared for a moment and then slowly extended her own paw. The two shook hands gravely and Koko turned and led the way into the jungle. Johnny followed.

Dawn was in the east when Koko cautiously led the way to a clump of rocks overlooking the beach and the sea. As Johnny joined the chimp, the flickering lights of campfires could be seen along the shore.

Once again the strangely assorted pair shook hands. "Thanks, pal," Johnny said. "I can make it by myself." Then Johnny dropped to the beach and strode toward the fires.

Koko turned back into the jungle. Half-way to the tree-hut the chimp was met by a very worried Dea. "Johnny? Where's Johnny?" she demanded.

Koko hid her in her arms. "Where is he? Where did you leave him?" Dea insisted.

Koko squealed and chattered. "You took him back to the beach? What did you do that for?" Dea was furious. "Now maybe we'll never get him back again."

She turned and started swiftly for the beach where Joe and his men were encamped.

Johnny stared at her in surprise. "You're a funny kid. You really know what goes on inside a person, don't you?"

From the corner of his eye he saw Dea approaching.

"You stay here, eh, Johnny?" she asked.

"Dea, can't you understand? I've got to get back to my friends."

"Pop always said that if a man could stop drinking for ninety-six hours he was cured."

"Your Pop was kidding, Dea; just kidding you."

"Pop never lied. You'll see what will happen—in four days."

"In other words, I'm a prisoner, eh?"

Dea shrugged. "Wait until you've given it a trial."

That evening, in the flickering light of the pale moon, Dea took Johnny fish spearing. Together, armed with long spear-poles, they searched the shallow pools among the rocks. Dea taught Johnny how to stalk and spear the big fellows.

Later they sat around a fire which Koko tended and broiled and ate the fish.

"It's a long time since I did this," Johnny said in a reminiscent mood.

Johnny looked at her. "How do you figure that?"

"Pop only started drinking after Mom died. He couldn't find anything else to take her place either."

Johnny stared at her in surprise. "You're a funny kid. You really know what goes on inside a person, don't you?"

Dea's voice changed. "Johnny, your friends are building a sail boat. Soon they will go away."

Why, they will leave without me. Take me to them now." He arose but Dea halted him.

"Johnny, wait. Let them go. You stay here."

"Are you crazy. I can't do that."

"Please, Johnny. I didn't know how lonely I was until you came."

Johnny looked sharply at the girl. "Who said anything about leaving you? You'll go right along with us."

"And we'll still be together?" Dea's voice was eager.

Johnny dodged the direct issue. "Oh, you'll find plenty of other playmates."

"But I like you, Johnny," she said

The House has just passed the Naval Appropriations Bill. Much to the surprise of everybody, there was very little contest and the debate was not nearly so heated as it was on the same subject last year. The total appropriation contained in the bill was nearly a billion dollars—$963,772,872. This is $111,000,000 less than the amount recommended by the Budget bureau, but is $50,000,000 more than was appropriated last year. It will therefore, been seen that while the House did not see fit to go as far as the most enthusiastic "big navy" advocates would like to see us go, it did go a long way. I think that the attitude of the House can be described as rather reasonable—as providing adequately for all reasonable needs of the Navy and at the same time as giving consideration to the cost. I want our country to maintain a first class navy on both oceans—able to protect our shores against any attack. I believe most Americans want this protection.

There is, however, one factor that many people overlook in the building of naval vessels. It takes not only money but shipyards to build a fleet. The United States has eight battleships now under way. This bill provides appropriations for two more battleships, making a total of ten battleships that will be under construction. In addition, we will have nine cruisers and two aircraft carriers under construction, in addition to a great number of smaller craft. I understand that we do not have the shipyards of the tremendous size required for the construction of a capital ship to handle any additional battleships until some of the vessels now under construction are completed.

That we may realize how rapidly the American Navy is growing, we should remember that we have at this time but 15 battleships. Since the sinking of the Royal Oak, the British Navy has no more battleships that we do. Of these the Navy has recommended modernization and overhauling of 8. The youngest of these 15 ships is 16 years old. The oldest 27 years. It will thus be seen that when these 10 battleships we are now constructing are completed that we will have almost double the effectiveness of our capitol ships. This must be done in order to give us complete protection on each coast.

It should also be understood that the appropriation made by Congress in any one year does not cover the entire cost of any one capitol ship. The appropriations each year simply provide money to keep the work going. It takes from four to six years to complete a great battleship. One session of Congress appropriates money to begin construction. Other sessions make appropriations to keep the work going.

Not only does this bill provide for the continuation of construction of new vessels, it carries appropriations for repair and modernization of existing vessels, for the construction and improvement of naval bases, docks, yards, etc. It includes the appropriations for the Naval Air Corps and for the Marine Corps, as well as such establishments as the Naval Academy at Annapolis, the Naval Observatory from which you get the correct time, and finally the pay, subsistence, transportation and supplies for the personnel of the Navy. I think you will be interested in knowing that at present the enlisted personnel of the United States Navy is 145,000 men. This bill will provide for an additional 5,000 men to be recruited into service by January 1, 1941.

The sharpest debate in connection with the bill centered around an item of $3,000,000 for the improvement of the harbor of Guam. The work involved the removal of a number of coral beds so as to allow airplanes to land safely, and the erection of a breakwater across the entrance of the harbor to prevent swells coming in from the open sea. The Naval Affairs Committee stated that this work was absolutely essential if American commercial fliers are to continue to make a stop at Guam, which is the only port open to American ships between Wake and Philippines, a distance of over 3,000 miles. It seems to be ridiculous for us to refuse to improve our own harbor so our own ships and airplanes can use it to our best advantage simply because Japan is supposed to object. The improvements provide for involved absolutely no military structures whatsoever, but some Democrats and practically every Republican in the House voted for an amendment to strike out the appropriation for this work, on the ground that they feared that it might offend Japan. I don't think that we should do anything that could be construed as an unfriendly act toward any nation, but I can't agree that we are obligated to refuse to develop our own harbors and expose our own ships and airplanes to unnecessary hazards just because Japan would be glad if we turned Guam back to the natives so that she (Japan) could take it over and close its harbor to all the rest of the world as she has done with all of the other islands in that part of the world. The amendment was carried by a Teller Vote of 123 to 114. I voted against the amendment, and for the bill when it came up for final passage.
