Pearl To Clash With Copperas Cove Crew Friday

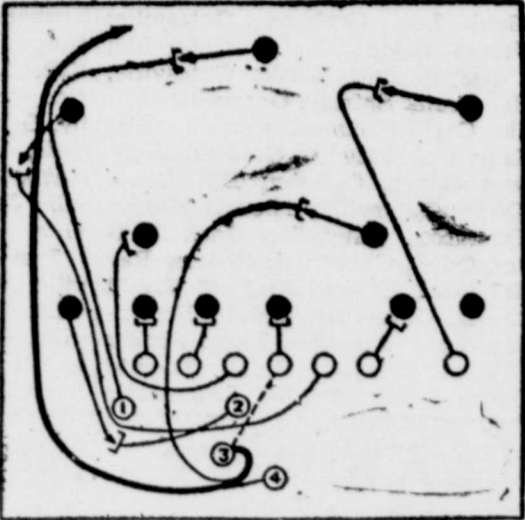

Coach Peck Tharp's Pearl Dragons will be pitted against the strong Copperas Cove team at Copperas Cove Friday afternoon of this week as the six-man football season gets well underway. Sorely crippled after battling the Oglesby Tigers last Friday the Dragons will be below par and the Cove team is favored to win by a comfortable margin.

Moseley of Pearl who made the all-district selection last year will likely direct the Dragons efforts and Fabian and Miller will spark the Copperas Cove aggregation. Pearl has won one game this year and lost one while Copperas Cove is still undefeated after two starts.

TOUCH-DOWN TACTICS

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE
by Major R. R. Neyland
Head Football Coach

This is the second in a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

IN the last game of the 1939 season with Auburn, Johnnie Butler ran 40 yards to score the only touch-down, enabling Tennessee to finish the season unbeaten and untied.

The play on which the above score was made is a fake pass and run.

The ball is snapped to No. 3, who spins, hands the ball to No. 4, continues his spin through the line-side tackle, blocks the defensive center. No. 4 sweeps wide to the left, faking a pass. The No. 2 back picks off the right end. The No. 1 back goes down deep as if for a pass and blocks the safety man. The weak side end also goes down as if for a pass, blocking defensive left half. Other blocks are as shown in diagram. Meanwhile, No. 4 sweeps wide for the open field, taking advantage of the excellent downfield blocking possibilities inherent in this type of play.

It'll be "do or die" for the Gatesville High School Hornets here Friday night when they face the Clifton Cubs, doped to be one of the strongest teams in the Class-A loop. To date the Hornets have played only two conference games, tying the West Trojans 0-0 in the opener and defeating the Valley Mills Eagles 6-0 last Friday night, and this week's game will prove whether or not they have a chance at the district championship.

Hornet stock soared to a new high following their victory over the Valley Mills eleven Friday night and the locals have settled down to double-tough assignments in an attempt to improve their style before tying into the Cubs.

The Clifton team is expected to take the field against the Hornets in the best of fighting trim and have already proved their staying ability by holding the powerful McGregor Bulldogs scoreless at Clifton Friday night. Whitley, a 193 pound end and Orbeck, 138 pound quarter is said to have ran the Bulldogs ragged and the Hornets will probably have to try every trick in the bag and then some before they are able to check the invaders.

Baring injuries in scrimmage the Hornets will be in top shape for the invasion Friday night and though we're not predicting the winner, we do predict a battle from start to finish and a game that all pigskin fans will want to see. According to reports, advance ticket sales have been heavy and the local stadium is expected to be packed almost to capacity for Friday night's game.

Here's the probably Starting lineup for both teams:

Clifton		Gatesville
Townley	C	Anderson
Whitley	LE	King
Ludwig	RE	Gribble
Gohlke	LT	Oldham
Zander	RT	Bone
Handley	RG	Sydow
Humphries	LG	White
Orbeck	QB	Crow
Holden	RH	Fry
Nelson	LH	Davis
Stringfellow	FB	Sexton

The Cubs will have an advantage in weight as their starting lineup will average close to 165 pounds while the Hornets on an average, will scale close to 155.

Humble Oil Co. To Broadcast Five Games Saturday

For the second consecutive Saturday, the Humble Oil and Refining Company will broadcast five football games featuring Southwest Conference teams on Saturday afternoon and evening. The Texas Aggies open their conference season by clashing with the TCU Horned Frogs at College Station and this game will be broadcasted starting at 2:30 p. m. over the following stations, KPRC, WOAI, WFEE-WBAP.

The Texas Arkansas game will be broadcast from Little Rock at 2:30 p. m., The Rice-Tulane game will be broadcast from New Orleans, starting at 1:50 p. m.; the SMU-Auburn game will be broadcast from the Cotton Bowl in Dallas starting at 2:20 p. m. over station KRLD. The Baylor-Villanova game will be played in San Antonio and the Humble broadcast of this game will begin at 7:50 p. m.

Pidcoke-Purmela Six-Man Football Game Postponed

We have been asked to announce through the sport columns of the News that the six-man football game between Purmela and Pidcoke which was scheduled to take place Friday afternoon at Pidcoke has been postponed.

No reason was stated for the delay but according to our informant, the game will be played Thursday, October 24.

Flat to Meet Irish Of Ireland, Friday

Jubilant after upsetting the Turnersville Buffaloes by a score of 62-0 at Turnersville last week end, the Flat Yellowjackets will invade the camp of the Irish of Ireland next Friday afternoon and attempt to add another victory to their credit. Soundly beaten by Copperas Cove last Friday the Irish will attempt a comeback and the Jackets are likely to run into trouble.

Taylor, Williams and Thomas will form the spearhead of the Jackets' attack while Lemmer will endeavor to lead his mates to victory for the Irish.

Turnersville To Play Pottsville

Probably the closest six-man contest of the week will be unreeled on the Pottsville gridiron Friday afternoon when the Pottsville team plays host to the Turnersville Buffaloes. With both teams fighting to keep out of the lower bracket the game is likely to prove exciting as well as interesting and will not doubt attract a large number of fans in the Pottsville section.

Pottsville is playing its first season in the Coryell county league.

Oglesby to Play Lometa Friday

Still undefeated in two starts the highly touted Oglesby Tigers are scheduled to meet the Lometa half-dozen Friday afternoon, in a game the Tigers are heavily doped to win. Judging by early season exhibitions, the Tigers are one of the county's strongest aggregations while Lometa has had rough going most all the way this season.

We have received no information as to where this game will be played.

Anna May Perryman And Eric F. Wiegand Wed

The wedding of Miss Anna May Perryman and Eric Francis Wiegand took place Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at Standley Chapel with the Rev. Ira Grantham officiating at the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a soldier blue frock with wine accessories. Her corsage was of white chrysanthemums.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to San Antonio, the Rio Grande Valley, Old Mexico and other points of interest, Mrs. Wiegand was wearing a green light weight wool ensemble with black accessories.

Mrs. Wiegand, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayne Perryman of the Harmon community, is a 1938 graduate of Gatesville High School. Mr. Wiegand was graduated from Plainview High School and has been employed by the A. & P. Store over a year. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wiegand of the Plainview community.

The couple will make their home in Gatesville.

Only members of the immediate families and an uncle of the bridegroom, Eric J. Wiggins of Fort Worth, witnessed the ceremony.

Wednesday Contract Club Entertained

Beautiful roses decorated the reception rooms of the Charles Powell home on south Lutterloh avenue Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Powell entertained members and additional guests of her Contract Club.

Participating in the games were, Mesdames Eugene Alvis, Kermit Jones, Doyle Morgan, Billy McMordie, Crawford Scott, Johnnie Washburn, Billy Nesbitt, Jack Odell, Rosser Sanders, Floyd Zeigler, Elmo White, Bill Dennis, Russell Davis, Francis Caruth, Pete McIver and George Wise of St. Louis, Mo.

After prizes had been awarded Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Washburn, who held high and second high scores, respectively, the hostess served a delectable dessert course and coffee.

Glenda Marie Dyer Honored With Party

Littie Glenda Marie Dyer was named honoree at a party given in the Raby Park Friday, October 11, at 4 p. m. by her mother in celebration of her second birthday.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served to the following little friends who shared the courtesy with the celebrant: Helen and Cynthia Carroll, Lavetta Nell Davidson, Sammie Joe Williams, Francis Brown, Bobby Dean Clary, Charlene Martin, Janice Mann, Reta Hinson, Glenda Ann Kiger, Inez Clemons, John Waddill Morse, Billie Woodson, James Buford Clemons, Sammie Ray Chambers, Bobbie Horace Dyer and Arthur Crownover.

Mrs. Stinnett Hostess To Woman's Forum

"The Patriarchal Family Among Hebrews, Greeks and Romans" was the subject of the program for the Woman's Forum when it met Monday at the home of Mrs. Clay Stinnett, club hostess. In connection with this Mrs. J. H. Hamilton discussed "The Pre-Christian Era" and Mrs. Byron Leaird Jr. "The Christian Era".

Mrs. Lee Colwick's topic for discussion was "How to Prepare a Talk".

The next regular meeting of the study club will be with Mrs. E. W. Brooks on Monday, October 28.

Pearl White S. S. Class Has No-Host Barbecue

Members of the Pearl White Sunday School class of the Methodist Church entertained with a no-host barbecue in the church basement Monday evening.

After the supper, which consisted of barbecued beef, potato salad, pickles, potato chips, cookies, fruit and coffee, had been enjoyed, the group played various games.

Sharing the affair were the following: Messrs. and Mesdames R. D. Foster, Guy Powell, R. M. Ealy, C. S. Russell, Elmo Washburn, Charlie Mounce, Julius Henderson, J. B. Roach, Francis Powell, and Miss Minnie Pearl Wilson, Miss Ann Jacobs, Mrs. Pearl White, J. B. Martin, and Rev. S. L. Culwell.

Officers of the class are: J. B. Roach, president; Mrs. R. M. Ealy, vice-president; and Mrs. Francis Powell, secretary.

Local Girls Elected To Aggette Club

Misses Frances Brown, Marjorie Hall, Marguerite Kelso, Nerine King, and Leone Mann, all of Gatesville have been elected to membership in the Aggette Club at John Tarleton College.

The Aggette Club is one of the most unusual Clubs at Tarleton in that it includes athletic, social and social service activities. It is sponsored by Miss Laura Fellman, associate professor of Physical Education for Women.

Included in the club's plan for the year are basket ball games, golf tournaments, a banquet, a dance, and the donation of baskets to the poor at Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sims Celebrate 2nd Anniversary

In celebration of their second wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sims entertained with an informal party at their home on east Bridge Wednesday evening, October 16, at 8 o'clock. Decorating the reception suite throughout were bowls and vases of roses.

Games of "bunco" furnished diversion during the evening, and winning high score prizes were Jack Barneburg and J. B. James, and low score winners were Miss Katherine Townlin and W. T. Hix.

An appetizing salad plate was passed to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jacks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barneburg, Miss Ann Hill, Miss Lois King, Miss Katherine Townlin of Moody, Clayton Franks, J. B. James, Bill Dube of The Grove, and W. T. Hix.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HAVE LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

Plans are now complete for the Coryell County Leadership Training School, which begins in the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday, according to J. Sherrill Kendrick, dean of the school.

While being held in Gatesville, as the most central location, this school is designed to aid leaders and other members throughout the county. Especially are those responsible for the school anxious to have friends from Turnersville, and, if possible, take work for credit.

Friends of other denominations are cordially invited, and may take work for full credit is desired.

Besides Mr. Kendrick, leadership of the school includes Mr. Frank Kelso, chairman of the board of administration; Mrs. R. W. Ward, chairman of publicity and advance registration; and as faculty members, Miss Elizabeth Glasscock of Houston, Miss Lillian Richter of Taylor, and Edward S. Bayless.

Classes will meet simultaneously from seven to nine each night, so that each person attending must choose one class and attend that one through the school. The school will meet Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week; and Monday thru Wednesday nights of the following week. A laboratory school for boys and girls ages 6, 7, and 8 will meet each afternoon at 2:30, to be taught by Miss Glasscock and observed by teachers and parents taking her course.

The three classes to be offered are as follows:

"Guiding Children in Christian Growth" This is for teachers and parents of children under 12 years of age and will be taught by Miss Glasscock, recognized authority on this age group who, at the request of her church's educational headquarters, has just completed writing a quarter's unit of Sunday School lessons for this department.

"Building a Total Youth Program." This is designed for young people and for teachers and workers with all in the age range between 12 and 24. Miss Richter is to teach this course.

"Jesus and His Teachings". This is a study of the life of Christ as recorded in the four gospels and will be taught by Mr. Bayless.

CITIZEN OF CORYELL CHURCH COMMUNITY HONORED

Mrs. Emma Kirkland Boyd was born October 10, 1860 in Woodruff county, Arkansas, and came to Texas November 11, 1863. She moved to Coryell county February 2, 1864. This was in the days of her early bridehood, and she was at this time Mrs. Felix Boyd. Her husband had lived in the Coryell Church community until his death 12 years ago.

Mrs. Boyd has resided on the same farm in this community sixty-six years. Lovingly known as "Aunt Em", Mrs. Boyd is the mother of a large family and could rightfully be called the mother of Coryell community.

The family home was the scene of the celebration honoring Aunt Em's 80th birthday, October 10, 1940.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Boyd's daughters, Mrs. Charity Simmons, Mrs. Eva Ratton and Miss Minnie Boyd. Miss Lois Simmons, the oldest grandchild, registered the names of over one hundred guests who called in the afternoon between two o'clock and nightfall.

The guests were ushered to the dining room, where four of her granddaughters served iced punch and cakes. The cakes bore a number "80". The table was laid with a beautiful lace cloth. Serving were, Misses Laurene, Willie Mae, Tommie and Johnnie Boyd.

The honoree received several gifts, more than one hundred in number. Each gift was most acceptable and are being truly appreciated by not only this dear mother but by her children.

The entire acquaintances of Mrs. Emma Boyd wish for her many more happy birthdays. One of the special guests attending this lovely affair was her only living sister, Mrs. J. W. Boyd of Gatesville. Mrs. Boyd of Coryell spends much time in Gatesville with her sister and family.

Among others present were: Mrs. John Miller and Charlie, Mrs. A. W. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Foster, Mrs. Knox Lovejoy, Mrs. E. L. Adkins, and Miss Lois Simmons, Mrs. Eric Sharp, Mrs. Kit Carson, Mrs. S. P. Jackson and Miss Gladys, Mrs. Ernest Jackson, Barbara and Herman, Mrs. Price Edwards, all of Gatesville; Mrs. C. C. Etchison, Mrs. Clint Tubbs of Osage; Mrs. W. C. Walker, Jerry, Francis Ann and Billy Lou, Mrs. Charity Simmons, Mrs. Steve Anderson, Mrs. Jimmie Lee Talley, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Mrs. Sam Thomason, Mrs. Loy Fulp and Dixie Carol, Mrs. Hugh Anderson, Mrs. Bob Walker, Mrs. John Kincer and Miss Jessie of Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Boyd and John W. of Dallas; Miss Anna Stripling, Mrs. J. W. Crain and Ruby, Mrs. Jeff Perry, of Hamilton; Mrs. Ira Todd and Lona Jean of Ovalo; Mrs. Jewell Lasseter, Bessie Ann and Kermit of Riesel; Mrs. Claud Hilton, Mrs. Claud Knight, Mrs. Tilman Hall, Misses Juanita and Faye, Mrs. High Davis, Mrs. Loyce Davis and Darla Sue, Mrs. Curt Bennett and James, Mrs. Charlie Davis, Mrs. Leslie Burton, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Owen Shirley, Mrs. Winford, Mrs. W. A. Putman, Mrs. W. C. Layne, Mrs. Jim Candle, Mrs. Walter Witte, Mrs. Marvin Rucker, Mrs. Alex Baker, Mrs. Luther Ward, Mrs. Martin Dalton, Mrs. J. B. Foster, Mrs. Buster Montgomery and John Burtram, Mrs. Mat Gill, Mrs. W. A. McMullin, of Oglesby.

Mrs. Fred Boyd, Fred Boyd, Wayne and Johnnie of Pecan Grove; Mrs. A. L. Lee and Mrs. J. C. Keltner of McGregor; Mrs. A. L. Kirkland and Mrs. T. A. Kirkland, of Mt. Calm; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Edwards, Mrs. P. A. McGregor of Waco; Clemons and Robert, Miss Lona Kerby, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Davis, Mrs. Stella Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shomell, Mrs. Ed Gauer and Bobby Helton, Mrs. J. W. Roe, Mrs. Tom Boyd, Felix, Tommie and Jack, Claud, Howard, Misses Minnie, Laurene and Willie Mae Boyd, of Coryell Church community.

Contributed by Mrs. W. C. Shomell.

Miss Willie Mat Claxton left Thursday morning for a 2 weeks' trip to Stanton and Brownsville, Tennessee, where she will visit relatives and friends.

Give Your Rugs This 5-Point Test..

1. For SIZE

Do they really FIT, make your rooms seem larger, better balanced? Decorators advise a size that leaves from 6 to 12 inches of floor space all around the room.

2. For COLOR

Do your rugs set the color "cue" for your rooms, with live, vibrant tones, giving new zest to other furnishings? Or are they dull, lifeless, contributing little to room beauty.

3. For STYLE

Are your rugs in harmony with your other furnishings? Today's correct rugs accent room style, whether it be restrained 18th Century, simple Early American or sophisticated Modern.

4. For USE

For economy, less expensive weaves should be in little seen and used rooms, finer qualities where they will be frequently seen and walked on, such as in the living room.

5. For PRICE

For full rug value, you must have not only good wearing qualities, but correct SIZE, COLOR, STYLE and USE to point up all the beauty of your other furnishings.

Lift Up THINE Eyes

IN the five generations since 1740, we Americans have performed the heroic task of clearing, populating, farming, industrializing and civilizing a country larger than England, France, Germany, Spain and Italy put together.

Because we have looked always forward and upward, and have worked hard, we have achieved the highest standard of living in the world.

One of the most potent of all the forces that have created this living standard is advertising, which inspires us to want always the new and better things and ways of life.

Of late years it has been the fashion among our radical reformers to attack advertising as an economic waste.

How silly, in view of the magnificent service it has rendered us! Let's encourage it and use it for an ever brighter future.

Pilot's Persiflage: Or, Air Chatter

By ASN 6201081

"A public service feature of the Coryell County News in cooperation with the Air Corps."

Engine: Right-hand engine is one in which, when looking from the output shaft end toward the engine, the shaft is seen to rotate clockwise. Left-hand engine is one in which, when so viewed, the shaft is seen to rotate anti-clockwise.

Empennage: The tail surfaces of an airplane.

Factor of Safety: In airplanes a certain condition of loading is assumed and the members designed to withstand the desired number of times this loading. The common factor of safety for airplanes is 7.

Fairing: An addition, or tail, added to a piece to give it a streamline cross section.

Fairlead: A tube through which wire are led, to give them a certain direction.

Falling Leaf: A descent in which the machine, by stalling performs an alternating forward and backward, or right and left motion, after the manner of a falling leaf.

Ferrule: A wrapping or binding, generally of wire or metal sheeting.

Finesse Ratio: The ratio of the depth (chord) of a body measured in the direction of the wind to the span (spread) measured across the wind.

Fins: Small planes on aircraft to promote stability; for example vertical tail fins, horizontal tail fins, skid fins, etc.

Flight Path: A path of the center of gravity of an aircraft with reference to the air.

Flipper: See Elevator.

Float: That portion of a landing gear of an aircraft which provides buoyancy when it is resting on the surface of the water.

Flying Boat: An airplane whose body is a combined fuselage and boat-full.

Flying Position: The position of an airplane on the ground which approximates its position in horizontal flight.

Fuselage: A long streamlined body, serving as the main structural unit of a machine.

Fusiform: Stream-line.

Gap: The distance between the projections on the vertical axis of the entering edges of an upper and lower wing of a biplane.

Glide: To descend without power.

Glider: A form of aircraft similar to an airplane, but without any power plant.

Gliding Angle: Eee "Angle".

Guy: A rope, wire, chain, or rod attached to an object to guide or steady it, such as guys to wings, tail, or landing gear.

Hangar: A shelter for airplanes, seaplanes and balloons.

Head resistance: The total resistance to motion through the air of all parts of an aircraft not a part of the main lifting surface. Sometimes termed "parasite resistance".

Helicopter: A form of aircraft whose support in the air is derived from the vertical thrusts of large propellers.

Horns: The projects on either side of a control surface which provides leverage for the action of the control cable. Also called "turks" or "posts".

Hydroplane: See Seaplane.
Hydroplane: A submerged surface acting in exactly the same manner as an aerofoil in motion. The skimmer is a fast waterboat having planes, projecting from its bottom, designed to lift the boat above the surface of the water when the propeller works at high speed. Common usage misnames skimmers as hydroplanes.

Hygrometer: An instrument for measuring the humidity of the atmosphere.

Inclinometer: An instrument for measuring the angle made by the axis of an aircraft with the horizontal.

"Joy-stick": The control lever.

Keel Plaine Area: The total effective area of an aircraft which acts to prevent skidding or side slipping.

King post: A bracing strut, attached by guy wires or other braces to the surface which it helps to support.

Kite: A form of aircraft without other propelling means than the towline pull, whose support is derived from the force of the wind moving past its surface.

Kite Balloon: An elongated type of captive balloon having tail cups to keep it headed into the wind and deriving increased lift due to its axis being inclined to the wind.

Lamination: The process of gluing and bolting layers of wood together to give additional strength and to prevent splitting and warping.

Landing gear: The under structure of an aircraft designed to carry the load when resting on or running on the surface of the land or water.

Lateral Stability: See Stability, lateral.

Leading Edge: See Edge.

Leeway: The angular deviation from a course over the earth, due to cross currents of wind.

Length: The greatest dimension of an airplane in a fore and aft direction.

Lift: The component of the forces due to the air pressure of an aerofoil, resolved perpendicular to the flight path in a vertical plane.

Lift Bracing: See Stay.

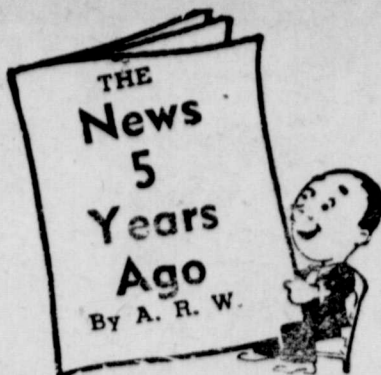

Lift-drag Ratio: The ratio of the forces of the lift to that of the drag of an aerofoil or airplane; a measure of efficiency. Commonly expressed L-D.

Lifting Capacity: See Capacity, lifting.

Load, Light, or Dead: Comprises the structure and essential accessories of an airplane complete in order for flight, including water in radiators, instruments, tanks, gasses and armor, but not those items included under Useful Load.

Useful: Comprises fuel and oil, crew, armament and accessories, as specified in individual contracts.

Full: Sum of Light and Useful loads.

Jimmie Allen

"The SKY PARADE"

Serialized by Wallace West from the Paramount Picture of the same name

SYNOPSIS

After the war, Scotty Allen, Speed Robertson and Casey Cameron, flying pals in France, form an air circus to barnstorm the county fairs. Jerry Croft, pretty parachute jumper, and Flash Lewis, mechanic, attach themselves to the troupe. Casey deserts the gang to fly for Gat Billings, a gangster. The others are backed in an air line by Tommy Wade, a friend. The air line prospers but Scotty killed attempting a transatlantic flight. Jerry takes over the care of Jimmie, Scotty's son, and watches him grow to manhood. Jimmie is learning to fly under Speed's tutelage. Speed and Flash have developed an automatic pilot invention, and decide to use it in a test flight to Washington. Meanwhile, Billings and Casey have conspired to steal the plane and invention in Las Vegas for a foreign power.

CHAPTER IX

THE sun was setting as Speed's plane came down with a rush and landed alongside the shack.

"That's the last time anybody ever gets me off the ground... too dangerous," groaned the airless Flash as he backed out of the cabin. As he spoke, Gat ran forward and walloped him over the head with the butt of his automatic. The gangster was dragging his victim out of sight when Speed jumped out of the plane and found himself confronted by Casey. Taken off guard, he nevertheless managed to connect a haymaker with his enemy's jaw which knocked him twenty feet. Upon which Gat left his other labor and shot the pilot neatly through the shoulder.

"Take care of them," the gangster said carelessly to Scarface as he slipped his gun back into its shoulder holster and reached for a cigarette.

When the NCX-9 hove in sight the Las Vegas field was wrapped in shadows.

"This is going to be good," chuckled Gat as he ground out his cigarette in the grass. "Keep out of sight until they leave the plane and go easy on the pilot. We need him."

"Speed-Speed," called Jerry as she and the other passengers alighted. "What kind of service is this. Where are you?"

"Wonder if anything's wrong," said the pilot. "There's their plane. Let's look inside the shack. Jimmie, stay here and watch the ship."

"Say, brother, wait for me," called one of the reporters. "If anything's gone wrong that's where I got to be."

"Jerry!" groaned Casey as he watched them advance unsuspectingly. "I didn't know she..."

"Shut up!" snapped Gat.

"You can't..." began Casey, then said no more as the gangster jabbed him in the side with his gun.

The reporters entered first. Gat tapped one of them over the head. Casey did the same for another and Scarface finished off the cameraman. Not a sound resulted from this attack.

"Get the skirt," ordered Gat as Jerry peered into the dark room.

Scarface grabbed her but before he could clap a hand over her mouth the girl screamed wildly. The pilot, who had been close behind her, whirled to dash back to the plane but the Baron tripped him neatly and Casey promptly sat on him—hard.

Jimmie, who had been trying to figure out what was going on as he stared from the window of the NCX-9, understood it all when he saw the pilot stagger out of the shack, Gat's automatic tightly pressed against his ribs.

The boy looked around for a hiding place, then, for want of a better haven, dived into the washroom and closed the door after him.

"In there with you and no funny business," he heard the gangster saying a moment later.

"Get going," Casey's voice cut in a moment later.

"I won't fly this ship!" shouted the pilot desperately.

"Don't talk that way," sneered Casey. "What good are you dead?"

"All right. Now you demonstrate it if you know what's good for you." "Okay." He manipulated the necessary levers but neglected to level off. That meant the plane would go on climbing indefinitely.

"Now come out into the cabin," directed Casey. "Gat wants you."

They found the gangster poring over a set of maps.

"Take a look at these," he said.

"We're headed for Mexico. Get me."

"But what part of Mexico?" The pilot was stalling. "Is there a landing field? What's the altitude? This is a pretty big ship to land in thin air. What are the conditions of..."

Speed jumped out of the plane only to be walloped over the head with the butt of Gat's automatic.

The pilot looked around helplessly. Then, as his eyes fell on the radio sending microphone and he realized that he might be able to call for help, he appeared to surrender.

"You're right," he grumbled. "I'll fly her."

"How about Scarface and the Baron?" Casey asked.

"They're getting out in the car as soon as the others are tied up," was Gat's terse answer. "Okay, pilot. Give her the gun."

Back in the shack Speed recovered consciousness just in time to hear the NCX-9 roar away. He tried to move but found himself tightly bound. He twisted around painfully and saw Jerry staring at him above her gag. She also was trussed tightly. No help there. Weak, from loss of blood, the pilot finally managed to roll over and look around. On the floor he caught sight of a broken flashlight bulb which the cameraman had dropped. Groaning with agony he started crawling toward the splinters of glass. Maybe he could rub the rope which bound his wrists against them and get free. Bright lights flickered before his eyes and every moment he seemed in danger of fainting, but he kept doggedly wriggling across the floor.

Meanwhile the NCX-9 was steadily climbing. When it reached 4,000 feet Casey turned to the pilot and asked crisply:

"Does that automatic pilot really work?"

"Do you think we're kidding?" answered his prisoner.

As he kept talking, the washroom door opened stealthily and Jimmie stuck his head out. The backs of the two crooks were toward him, but he caught the pilot's eye and winked broadly. Then he crept forward and threw himself down behind Gat in the old schoolboy trick of "push-over."

"Are you sure there's a field?" the pilot was droning on. "Any obstacles, wires, or things like that?" Suddenly he gave Gat a push. The gangster fell backward over Jimmie and somersaulted into the washroom. As the boy slammed and locked the door, the pilot made a dash for his cabin. Casey fired wild but the pilot reached the radio, pulled the microphone toward him and shouted:

"S.O.S. Glendale. S.O.S. Special flight. Headed Mexico."

Once more Casey fired and this time his aim was truer. The pilot collapsed across the instrument panel, a bullet through his heart.

The commotion must have upset Gat for he began shooting through the washroom door. As he did so Casey dropped his gun and clapped a hand to his chest.

"Gat!" he groaned. "Who are you shooting at?"

The gangster stopped firing and began to try to break the door down.

Casey leaned against the back of a seat. He would have fallen had not Jimmie sprung forward and eased him to the floor.

"The plane is all yours, kid," whispered the renegade flyer as he fought for breath. "And there's no one to fly it!"

ON THE BATTLEFRONT

REPS: Chunky Representative George Bender of Ohio doesn't know whether to be sore or to laugh.

As G. O. P. chairman of Cuyahoga county, which includes Cleveland, he received a number of requests for the much-publicized "Willkie kits," a compact got up by the Willkie clubs containing material to organize one of these clubs. Bender wrote to the national committee headquarters in Chicago, directed by Executive Director John Hamilton, for a supply.

Much to Bender's surprise he was advised that if he sent a check he would receive the 100 kits he wanted. Bender sent the check and a few days later a large box arrived—containing 100 kits, huge contraptions that sail through the air with the greatest of ease and with the names of Willkie and McNary so placed as to be easily seen from the ground.

Note—The Willkie kit contains a folder about the nominee, a pledge, a long sheet for signatures of those desiring to form a club, and pieces of peppy campaign literature.

DEMS: To those who followed the last turbulent night of the Democratic convention, Francis W. Durbin will be remembered as the rollicking speaker who nominated Bascom Timmons, veteran Washington newspaperman, for vice president. A leading Lima, Ohio, lawyer, Durbin is a candidate for congress.

After Senator Charles McNary's acceptance speech, Durbin wrote him, "Congratulations on your speech. It was the best New Deal speech I've heard in a long time. You are a grand fellow and I'm sorry to see you in such bad company."

A few days ago Durbin received the following telegram from McNary: "Thanks for your kind letter. When you come to Washington shall be delighted to see you."

DUTCH EAST INDIES

One reason President Roosevelt and his naval advisers are not greatly perturbed about Japan's signing a formal alliance with Hitler and Mussolini is a confidential survey U. S. naval experts have made of the Japanese navy.

This reveals that Japanese warships have on hand only enough oil for about 2½ months of warfare.

Japan gets its oil chiefly from California and the Dutch East Indies, having almost no supplies of its own. That, of course, is one reason she covets the Dutch East Indies. However, naval surveys also show that the capture of these islands will not be as easy as might be expected.

For the Dutch islands of Java and Sumatra have been preparing for the threat of Japanese invasion for two years. About 20 Dutch submarines are stationed in these waters, plus about 300 bombing planes, many of them purchased in the United States. Finally, the islands are well fortified with carefully concealed big guns.

Result is that military experts believe the Dutch could hold out against Japanese naval invaders for about four months. And during this time, Japan's oil supply, if embargoed by the United States, might become exhausted.

This may be one reason why the Japanese have made haste slowly in their contemplated plans for invasion of the Dutch East Indies. They did not want to move until they were sure first that Britain was in a desperate position in its fight with Hitler; and second, that the United States was worried about Europe and did not want to get its fleet preoccupied in the Pacific.

ARMY SPECULATORS

The army has changed its method of acquiring land for new government plants. Hereafter the negotiations will be carried on in a "goldfish bowl."

Real estate speculators long have been a sore spot in army plans for plant and airport sites by snapping up options and kiting the price of desired property.

So hard-hitting Assistant War Secretary Robert Patterson has instituted a new procedure whereby the army, after making the necessary confidential surveys, will announce publicly that on a given date representatives will appear to buy or lease a specified amount of land. Patterson believes that if property owners know that the government is in the market, they will not give options to profiteering speculators.

Note—Tried out in Union Center, Ind., where 13,000 acres are being acquired for an ammunition loading plant to employ 6,000 people, the new "goldfish bowl" method proved successful.

AIRPLANES FOR WHISKY

If you speak about "all aid to Britain short of war," don't overlook the American consumption of Scotch whisky. It is an actual fact that U. S. imports of whisky from

BRACKETED

By BRACK CURRY

Culminating a series of similar events, the ten year agreement among Japan, Italy and Germany proves conclusively that American foreign policy is in a shambles.

The tri-partite agreement was the axis answer to the destroyer-base deal between the U. S. and Britain, and was directed against this country. For the first time in 117 years, the United States is confronted by a hostile alliance of old-world powers.

Not since 1823, when President Monroe, through an agreement with Prime Minister Canning of England, enunciated the historic Monroe Doctrine, has an alignment of European powers been directed against this country.

At that time, a combine consisting of Prussia, Austria, France and Russia—commonly known as the Holy Alliance—sought to reimpose the sovereignty of Spain in the New World, chiefly over the parts of South American and Central America which had achieved their independence through revolutions in the first two decades of the nineteenth century.

What we must realize now is that this country is isolated in the world without friends, excepting beleaguered Britain, whose future existence is by no means assured.

What about South America? you might ask. Will we not always have the support of our neighbors to the south?

The answer to this is that our friendship with the Latin Americas is one built upon economic dependence and common strategic interests. Once the United States were projected into a position of inferiority rather than domination our Latin "friends" would bolt for the other side with the speed of Texas jackrabbits.

Few of the Latin American republics actually have republican forms of government to correspond with the government of the United States. Most of them are dictatorships founded upon economic oligarchies rather than upon ideology as in Europe.

It is almost incomprehensible that a nation with the potential power and prestige which the United States possess should stumble into a morass of diplomatic defets which easily could leave it isolated in a hostile world.

For years this column has contended that this government should cease antagonizing the Japanese in East Asia. We consider this plain, common sense. The need for such a policy is the more impelling now that the supremacy of Britain is threatened by forces inimical to the interests of this country.

Japan has never threatened American interests in the Western Hemisphere. American property rights in China and in other parts of East Asia are negligible, actually insignificant in comparison to the cost of an Asiatic war with Japan.

Britain during the first nine months of the war exceeded the U. S. exports of military aircraft to Britain. Here are the figures: We sold England $23,231,000 worth of planes. England sold us $26,209,000 worth of whisky. In fact, whisky is the largest single item of our imports from Great Britain.

Britain needs our help today—all the help that we can extend. It is imperative that she receive American aid as quickly as possible and in as large quantities as possible. Certainly provoking trouble in the Far East with Japan is neither the best nor the cheapest way to help the British.

But It's True

IT IS STILL TECHNICALLY AGAINST THE LAW FOR A CITIZEN OF LIBERIA TO SHAVE !!

BERT MORGAN OF ABILENE, TEXAS, HAS NO LEGS, NO RIGHT ARM, NO EARDRUMS AND NO TONGUE...YET HE WALKS, HEARS, TALKS, AND WRITES WITH AN ARTIFICIAL HAND. HIS SUPPLEMENTARY EQUIPMENT WEIGHS 50 POUNDS!

THE OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE VOTED TO DECLARE WAR ON THE STATE OF ARKANSAS IN 1921!

THE DOG WHICH SAID "HOW DO YOU DO?" BOBBY, A FEATURE OF JOURNAL'S MUSEUM, NEW YORK CITY, 1887... (Thanks to G. Patten—Creator of 'The Hoopster')

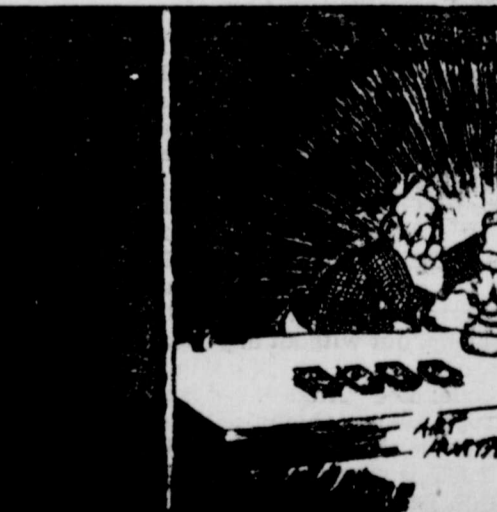

Mr. Morgan was born without a tongue or eardrums. He was struck by a train while walking across a track near his home, and as a result his one arm and his legs were amputated. He has a rubber tongue—the only thing of its kind in the world. Oklahoma actually declared war on Arkansas as a result of disagreements over trade between citizens of the two states. Arkansas never took the measure seriously, and no shots were fired. But, because no truce was ever effected, the war is still technically on.
