CONGRESSMAN POAGE ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

To My Friends, the People of the Eleventh Congressional District: It has been my pleasure to work with the people of Central Texas for many years. You have been fine and kind to me. I sincerely feel that I have been privileged to represent the finest group of people in America. In turn, I have tried to give the type of representation that our district deserves. Being human, I am sure that I have made mistakes, but where I have, I have tried to profit by, the experience and to thereby render better service in the future.

The position of a Congressman is not easy these days. But no one should desire or seek an easy place while this nation is under attack. The war-time responsibility of this position weighs heavy on every Member, but on the other hand, the opportunities for real service are equally great. I am sufficiently egotistical to believe that my years of legislative experience place me in a position where I can in the troublous months to come be of real service to our district, our State and our Nation. I have, therefore, already filed my name with the proper election officials, and I now make formal announcement of my candidacy for reelection to the Congress of the United States.

I have never told the people that I could or would secure the adoption of all my views or ideas on public issues. No man ever had any such power in the American Congress, and no man should have it in a Democracy. Legislation is (Continued on page 4)

525 Copies, News "Join Army" This Issue; B. N. U.

The News is "with the armed services."

And, this edition, gratis, five hundred and twenty-five copies of the News go to the officers of the Tank Destroyer School, the 893rd Tank Destroyer Battalion, the 753rd Tank Battalion, the 634th Tank Destroyer Battalion, the 703rd Tank Destroyer Battalion, the Provisional Truck Company and the MP Company.

That, ladies and gentlemen, is over and above our regular subscription list, which makes the circulation of this issue something sort of "super-colossal-gigantic-enormous" and even momentous.

Just thought you might like to know it! And, it's doubtful if we can keep this up. Please page our advertisers!

Second Oldest Business Man Sells And Quits Business

N. Pederson, Tailor!
Do you know how long you've known that—that is, how long Mr. Pederson has been "N. Pederson, Tailor!"

Well, we know you don't, but it's been 47 (FORTY SEVEN) years, and that's a long time.

Mr. Pederson sold his business to Wesley Ford, who in turn, sold it to Peyton Morgan, who has taken over the business under the name of Peyton's Tailor Shop, and Mr. Pete has retired.

Mr. Pederson up until he retired, only played "second-fiddle" to the dean of Gatesville business men, R. E. Powell. There just isn't any telling how long Mr. Powell has been here, and seems he's going to stay.

Mr. Pederson hit town from Waco, February 1, 1896, and has been pressin' them, cleanin' them, altering them and selling new ones for 47 years, and probably to the 57 varieties of people.

Mr. Pederson said yesterday he didn't know he did have so many friends in Gatesville and Coryell county, and we don't see why not. Anybody that can stay in business for 47 years is bound to have friends, and bound to be someone who deserves friendship. That, alone is testimonial enough to Mr. Pederson, and we think nothing else need be added.

Two For One! Law Says No! Who's Who Is . . . ?

It happened Saturday afternoon at the office of County Clerk A. W. Ellis.

A soldier came in with his girl, and as is always the case in procuring marriage licenses, timidly asked for one. Everything was fine, and the necessary paper was duly and constitutionally issued.

Twenty minutes later another soldier came in, sans dame, but with similar ideas.

The Clerk's force were stumped, and painfully informed the disappointed suitor he was 20 minutes late.

Another case of "Too late and too little."

Lieutenant Commander John Bailey of Washington, D. C., is visiting his father, Dr. Ralph Bailey, and his brother, Dr. Clyde Bailey.

Add These Numbers to List of Men In Camp Hood: 818, 703 and 634th

They don't talk, when it comes to numbers, but Coryell county's population (military) is steadily increasing, and yesterday two more "outfits" moved in partly, if not entirely. They are the 634th Tank Destroyer Battalion, and the 703rd Tank Destroyer Battalion. The 818th Tank Destroyer Battalion came in some time last week via truck.

The last two outfits are stationed near Wolf creek, out on the Killen road, near the locale of the 818th.

High water, the Leon, slowed up the arrival Monday of the troops, and it was necessary for men to go ahead and check the tracks near Leon Junction, as the water was over the tracks. She's still out here, and Little river, Belton and Temple had better watch out.

If we knew, we'd not be allowed to tell how many men arrived, or what the total complement of Camp Hood today is, but you can rest assured, they're getting thicker than hops.

"Time Draweth Nigh" For You To Announce!

If you're itching to run, or just itching, you'd better start scratching your name on an application blank for the office controlled by the "pepul."

Time's already up for state and national office. That was June 1.

If you're not out for such big money, you can still say to the voters in Coryell county, but you'd better do it by June 13, Saturday next, or it won't do any good. That's the final date.

Boy Loans Pants To Girl At Party! 's Fact

At a party last week, and in Gatesville, trouble brewed. Real trouble!

Two young swains, both maybe potential Sir Walter Raleighs, out-Raleighed Raleigh and loaned a pair of their best pants to a damsel in distress.

No, there was absolutely nothing out of order about the entire procedure, with minor exceptions. Gatesville had not lost its reputation, and the pants in question were not lost.

There comes a time in a young lady's life when there must be some changes made, and this was one of them. The young Sir Walter Raleigh's mama knew these things will happen, and brought spares, i. e., the loan.

The partiers were Joe Kermit Jones, Mat Jones, Jr., and Alice Ann McClendon.

Vice-Consul Is Here On Visit From Chile

George Henry Adams, vice-consul of the United States of America, from Antofagasta, Chile, is here on a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Adams, of Purlmela.

Mr. Adams is on a 60 day leave of absence, after which he will return to Chile. Mr. Adams left his post in South America on May 15, traveling by air to New York City, where he arrived two and one-half days later on May 18.

He spent a week in New York and another in Illinois before coming to his home here.

This is Mr. Adams' first trip home or a return to the United States in 12 years, all of his time having been spent in Central and South America as a member of the American Foreign Service.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY
By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

THE TEXAS COWBOY AND HIS FASHIONS

The glorified dude which, ordinarily, the modern western moving picture presents to the American public as the typical Texas cowboy of the 1870's and '80's, is not necessarily a historically-accurate representation, of course; but one old-timer, realizing that no one particular group is ever entirely free of the foibles common to mankind in general, wrote long ago that the cowboy "has his flights of fancy as clearly defined as the most fashionable French belle."

This observant old-timer was W. S. James, a native Texan, who in 1899 published a chatty little book entitled "Cow-Boy Life in Texas; or, 29 Years a Maverick," which is one of the best sources of old-time ranch customs to be found in the University of Texas Library's voluminous Texas collection.

"Those who think the cowboy is not stylish, simply let them hunt him up, study his character, note his fancy," he wrote; "and while it is true that like poor Yorick of old, he is 'a fellow of infinite jest, of most peculiar fancy,' still he is stylish after a fashion of his own."

War and Hard Times

Mr. James's earliest recollections were of the Civil War period, when fashions among his friends in the West weren't what he considered elegant. As a matter of fact, goods being for more scarce and dear than before or afterwards, cowboys wore clothes of home-spun cloth, home-made shoes or boots, and even home-made hats—"the favorite hat material being straw. Rye straw was the best." When someone was lucky enough to own a Mexican hat as he put it, "then he was sailing."

But it wasn't long before things changed down on the ranch with the post-war cattle boom, and the cowboy began to deck himself out a bit. Long belled spurs came into vogue, and buckskin gloves with long gauntlets. This was the time, too, when saddle pockets became general among riders, who, using a new saddle invented by "an old fellow who lived on the Llano river" rode with their legs crooked up high as in a military saddle today.

Around '78 the era of the Stetson ten-gallon hat began. This famous hat—Mr. James called it a "ten-ounce" hat—caught on fast among ranchmen—or, as he says, "took the cake." And with it came a new and far more comfortable saddle from California in which, as today, the rider sat with his legs stretched almost straight and which had stirrups that rested under the instep instead of the toes.

The Ranch Wardrobe

It was about this time, too, that the rage for expensive clothes struck the Texas ranch. By the '90's, Mr. James wrote, it was evident that "extravagance was one of the cowboy's failings." His clothes were of the very best: "Hat, five to ten dollars; coat and vest, from eight to twenty dollars; overshirt, from three to five dollars, and everything else to match." "He will wear good, substantial clothing, even if he has to buy it on credit," he added, and he usually has plenty of that.

As far as the cowboy outfit goes, there is one item which has always puzzled furriners," and still does today—the high boot heel sloping up from under the foot. It was a puzzle even to Mr. James long ago: the reason for it was a complete mystery to him, unless, as he wrote, "it was the same motive that prompts the girls to wear the opera heel in order to make a small track, thus leaving the impression that a number ten was only a six."

"This," he generously conceded, however, "I am only guessing at and will leave it open for the reader to draw to."

Thieves Make It Habit To To Loot Evant Man

For the second time within two weeks, tires were stolen from J. W. Burney of Evant. The last time, May 31, the thieves made their way through the orchard and entered the garage; took two complete wheels from his car. Sheriffs White of Hamilton and Brown of Gatesville were called, but they found on clues which were definite enough to lead to an arrest. The loss is estimated at $53.00.

Bay City, Texas, June 2, 1942

Mr. Mat Jones, Gatesville, Texas.

Dear Mr. Jones:

Enclosed you will find money for a subscription for the County News. I certainly miss reading it, and more especially since I left Jonesboro and am now making Bay City my home.

I graduated from Jonesboro High on May 4. I miss all my friends there, especially those I played ball with.

Having two more years to play, I hope to get lined up here, or in some school another year.

I am playing softball now. We have a good team.

Since coming to Bay City I have secured a good job and enjoy the work. And, by the way, I saw Fred Post, Jr., two weeks ago.

There are quite a few Gatesville people here.

Did you ever see and talk to Mr. Lemons of Jonesboro? He was a grand coach. Give my regards to everyone.

I'll be expecting the paper soon.

Respectfully,
Ronald T. Drake.

POAGE ANNOUNCES

and should be a matter of composing the differences of opinion of various sections and interests so as to secure a system of laws which will reflect the composite will and knowledge of the entire nation.

At this time there can, of course, be no hesitation in our all out support of the war effort. Before Pearl Harbor, there were honest differences of opinion in our country as to the best course to pursue. I had at all times opposed any form of appeasement and had urged that that our country should take every possible step to prepare for the attack which seemed to me to be so imminent. I was one of the Representatives who had voted for every one of the pieces of legislation for the preparation of our defenses.

Since the Japanese attack, every loyal American has done his best to place our country and our Allies in a position where we will be able to deliver the decisive offensive blow that is necessary to save this world from brigands and cutthroats. As a Member of Congress, the prosecution of the war to a successful termination shall remain my first objective. To this end, I know that every citizen of the Eleventh District is willing to cheerfully make any needed sacrifice. As your Representative, I shall not hesitate to call on you for needed sacrifices, but I shall continue to oppose the silly and injurious regulations of some of the agencies that cannot promote the war effort but which needlessly destroy the ability of our people to support themselves.

I am advised that I am to have no opponent. For this I am grateful, although it makes me even more mindful than ever of the high duty I owe you, the people, who have thus honored and trusted me. There will be many cases where I am unable to do all that you want done, but I shall be on the job working at all times with you to preserve Democracy at home and abroad.

Gratefully and humbly, I am
Yours for Victory,
W. R. POAGE,
Congressman, 11th Texas District.

Lieutenant Jongeward remarked: "When I get out, I'm going back in business, and it's going to be a weekly or semi-weekly newspaper."

If there are any new members of the "ex-press" in the Tank Destroyer School, or in any of the enlisted personnel in Coryell county, we'd be glad to see them, yes, take them to the annual convention of the Texas Press Association in Waco the 11th, 12th and 13th.

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for June

The above map of the country shows the War Bond Quota by states for the month of June totalling $800,000,000. Everybody every pay day is expected to invest at least ten per cent of his income in War Bonds to aid in financing America's offensive against the Axis powers. The ultimate quota for the nation will be on a basis of one billion dollars per month effective in July. This sum is necessary to provide for all-out production of planes, guns, ships and munitions adequate to arm our fighting men with the tools necessary to win the war.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Frank Burdon, reporter in the Little Scottish town of Baikie, writes a blistering story about the Provost, William Gow, when he sees Gow brutally turn away Mrs. Hegarty, poor Irish widow who has come to him for help when her little dog Patsy was taken away for non-payment of license fee. Gow's pretty and open-minded daughter, Victoria, sides with Burdon until an election meeting addressed by her politically ambitious father is broken up by a demonstration of the townspeople aroused by Burdon's story. Gow demands a retraction from the defiant youth, threatens to "break" him. Finally Victoria persuades Burdon to agree to sign a retraction if Gow will restore Patsy to Mrs. Hegarty.

Chapter Four

Back in the town Mrs. Hegarty, the center of a crowd of curious onlookers and sympathizers, was orating passionately, while a couple of hirelings of the law made ready to move off with the ice cream stand that was her means of livelihood.

"There he lies," she wailed, "as if he was in his coffin."

"Oh, it is that," chimed in the ice cream woman. "And they're doing in the wee dog tonight!" Burdon turned to Victoria, angrily shaking under her nose a strip of metal he was holding in his hand, which he had extracted from one of the "stamp-your-own-name" penny slots at the amusement pier. "If your father thinks he's going to get away with this he's made the biggest mistake of his life!" "Don't you wag that thing at me," she flared.

"The deal's off," he countered shortly, and turned away, leaving the metal strip in her hand. She glared after him for a moment, then unconsciously looked down at the thing he had handed her. The letters he had punched on the strip read: "VICTORIA I LOVE YOU."

Poor Patsy's hours were numbered, and Constable McKellar was giving the unwitting cause of Baikie's stirring days his last feeding this side of whatever canine Paradise might await him. Patsy ate with relish and a fine contempt for over-hanging fate.

"The condemned man," observed McKellar, watching him philosophically, "ate a hearty meal."

There was a noise at the door, and Mrs. Hegarty entered. "It's me-self," she announced, bustling into the room; "I've come to say good-bye."

"You didn't say you were leaving us."

"Goodbye to Patsy, ye omadon!" She knelt down, took her beloved pet in her arms, and began to weep, caressing him tenderly.

"Don't take on, Honoria," muttered McKellar. "It canna be helped. There he lies," she wailed, "as if he was in his coffin!"

"I'm real sorry, Honoria," said the constable, "but ye ken how half the ills we do in this world are at the bidding of other folk."

"Aye, that's the truth," said Mrs. Hegarty, drying her eyes. After she had composed herself, she insisted on taking McKellar out and buying him a drink, "for his kindness."

Against his misgivings, the officer left Patsy in his box, locked up his lodgings, and accompanied her to the pub for "only a wee'un, mind."

More than an hour later they were still leaning against the bar, McKellar having drunk many a libation to "the dear departed spirit" of Patsy. They were still there when a police sergeant and another constable came in and bundled off the rather unsteady McKellar to do his delayed duty in getting Patsy off to the veterinarian for his execution. But Mrs. Hegarty stayed behind, and presently was joined by Burdon.

"Is he all right, your honor?" she whispered excitedly.

"Whst!" he hushed her.

And, winking at each other, they lifted a mug of beer in mutual joyous salute.

Provost Gow's table was bright and merry with good food, sound wines and gay conversation on the most important night of his career. For tonight he was entertaining Lork Skerryvore at a dinner party — Lord Skerryvore, the powerful political leader who would decide whether Gow would be accepted as the official candidate of the party.

The excellent dinner over, and the men left to themselves, Gow and Skirving maneuvered his lordship into a corner, primed him with port and cigars, and awaited his pronouncement.

"Well, Gow," boomed the rather testy old fellow presently, "about your adoption as official candidate..."

"I thought that was all settled," interposed Horace quickly.

"Yes, I'd hoped it was, but — er — tell me — what's all this about a dog?"

"Why, I don't understand," temporized the provost.

"Mmm," spluttered Lord Skerryvore, "I've heard things..."

Horace laughed deprecatingly. "Oh, you mean — Oh, that! Ha, ha, that was just a storm in a teacup! A woman refused to pay her dog license and some young lads made a joke about it. The exurbance of youth, you know."

They were so occupied with their discussion that they seemed not to hear a hunting horn that sounded faintly in the distance.

"I understand," Lord Skerryvore resumed, apparently reassured, "that you're very highly respected in this neighborhood, Mr. Gow. Very popular, too." The horn sounded again, somewhat nearer. "You know," persisted Skerryvore, "popularity's a tender plant. The tactless handling of a situation might be the end of us."

"I told your lordship," Gow protested, "the whole childish affair is finished and done with!"

His voice was almost drowned out at the end by repeated blasts of the hunting horn, now almost outside the door. And, as if in answer, there broke out a deafening, swelling chorus of canine barks and yaps, in every key and in all degrees of vociferousness. A veritable dog riot seemed to have broken loose on the Provost's doorstep.

"What the devil is that row?" cried Lord Skerryvore.

Frozen desserts will be very refreshing during hot days, and the following recipes are selected because they require no sugar:

Peppermint Mousse

2 large sticks peppermint candy, 1-2 pt. whipping cream, 1-4 lb. Pecans.

Beat the two 10-cent size sticks of peppermint candy into small pieces, using a strong bag to hold them. Mix with whipped cream and chopped pecans and freeze.

Butter Pecan Ice Cream

Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, 1-2 tsp. vanilla, 2

tblsp. melted butter, 1-2 cup water, 1 cup heavy whipped cream, 1-2 cup chopped pecans.

Blend whipped cream and butter, add water and vanilla, fold in cream and nuts. Freeze from two to four hours, stirring twice during freezing.

Ice Cream

Dissolve 16 marshmallows in 1 cup of milk, in a double boiler, add a pinch of salt. Add vanilla and 1 cup of whipping cream. Nuts and fruits may be added if desired. Freeze.

Maple Parfait

Three-fourths cup of maple syrup, 1 pt. cream, 3 egg whites. Boil syrup until it spins a thread. Pour into beaten whites, fold in whipped cream, and freeze.

Bride's Delight

1 dozen almond or coconut macaroons, 1 pt. bottle red cherries, 1 pt. cream.

Crush macaroons and pour the cherry juice over them. Whip cream and fold in chopped cherries and crushed macaroons. Freeze.

A Recipe Using Honey o

4 to six eggs, 1 qt. milk, 6 table-spoons honey, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Heat the milk, honey, and salt in a double boiler. Beat the eggs lightly and mix in some of the hot milk. Pour back into double boiler, and stir constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Remove at once from fire and set in a bowl of cold water. Add the orange rind. When cool, freeze.

Save Food

"I keep my pledge card on my kitchen wall," Mrs. John Graham told the members of the Grove Home Demonstration Club. She explained that the card she referred to was her Victory Demonstartor's Pledge card, and she told of one simple instance when the presence of the card caused her to make a small food saving. She started to throw away some leftover salmon one evening after supper when she noticed the statement on the can reading, "I will take care of everything I use—food," and right then she changed her mind and put the salmon up to be used in the following day's lunch. The amount was small but sufficient for the menu, and the small saving meant a great impression of the importance of thrift with food supplies in her home.

Correct Working Heights In the Kitchen

During a recent Pidcoke Home Demonstration Club meeting Mrs. Bill Smith agreed with the assertion that women need their kitchen table tops and stove surfaces the correct height from the floor and that this height varies with the individual. In her own kitchen she has experienced an aching back from working with a stove that demanded her to stoop over it because it was too low for her height. She placed bricks on the floor under the stove legs and raised the stove working surface high enough for her to stand straight while working at it, and since making the adjustment, her backache has been cured.

Activities of 4-H Club Girls

Since school is out the Coryell county 4-H club girls are having more time to devote to their various demonstrations. In anticipation of their annual county-wide encampment they are completing their respective goals to attend it. Recent reports from all parts of the county indicate good 4-H club work is going on.

May Belle Perkins Hamon, 4-H club poultry demonstrator, is helping care for 350 chickens and 152 turkeys.

Maxine Smith is raising tomatoes and planning to can some.

Vella Mae Cooper from Evant has been canning berries, and says that isn't all she is going to can.

Patsy Allison from Osage says that she has a beautiful yard. She reports that she has ferns, forget-me-nots, elephants ear, oleander, gardenias, petunias and begonias.

Viola Hopson from Flat 4-H club has also been working on her yard. She has cleaned off the yard, planted flowers, and helped put up the porch swing.

Jack Lipsey and Henry Lengefield of Camp Wolters spent the weekend here with friends and relatives.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McGilvary and daughters were Mr. and Mrs. Burl McGilvary of Dallas and A. L. Freeman of Crockett. Mrs. Freeman and baby, who have been visiting here, returned to their home in Crockett.

Joe Baker left yesterday to visit his brother, Charles, in Ft. Sill, Okla., before going to Kansas City, where he will enlist in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Pfc Preston Jones of Fort Sam Houston spent the weekend with his wife and other relatives.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Aerial Camera for use on Scout and Observation and Reconnaissance planes is essential to both the Army and Navy air forces in planning battle formations and in obtaining information on enemy fortifications and movements. They look something like a cannon, and cost about $3,400 apiece.

The aerial cameraman can plot wide territories in bold relief so that Army or Navy Intelligence can make accurate measurements of enemy territory. We need many of these cameras so necessary to the air arms of the Army and Navy. You can help buy them with your purchases of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day, and help your county go over its War Bond Quota.

Vacuum Cleaner

Your electric vacuum cleaner speeds up housecleaning and helps prolong the life of rugs, draperies and upholstered furniture. It will serve you better and last longer if you follow these suggestions:

Empty dust bag every time cleaner is used. Dirt in the bag reduces power of suction.

Keep brushes free from lint and hair. Replace brushes if tufts become worn.

Avoid running cleaner over pins, nails, coins or other metal objects. Pick them up by hand.

Clean brushes, wipe off other attachments after using.

FOX FLASHES

By PFC Joseph I. Fox

The War Bond drive is in full bloom in the Battalion. "C55 Company alone is well over the $1100 a month mark, which is deducted at the request of the men. This speaks well for a single company. The Battalion as a whole has passed the 85 per cent mark. CITIZENS CAN DO LIKEWISE.

The Case of the Canary Swallowing the Cat

"Twas in a nerby town at a carnival when two soldiers were walking by a shooting gallery. The barker gave them his sales talk, and after hesitating a bit one of the boys picked up a rifle, hefted it, paid a quarter to the operator of the stand and started shooting. He was a very poor shot, as he knocked out only five out of the fifteen objects on the shelf. His pal started in to shoot and he fared as well. They shot at the ducks and rabbits for a full half hour and were rapidly getting worse if that were possible. Disgustedly they laid down the weapons and started to walk off. "Wait a minute," shouted the barker, "Surely you're not finished. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you four dollars if you knock off the ducks, and all you have to pay me is fifty cents for the string." Both of the boys shot and together they scored twelve hits. They again started to walk away and again were stopped by the operator of the stand. Feverishly he said: "This time if either one of you can knock off a string for which you pay me one dollar, I'll give you a ten dollar bill. Only one of you can shoot, however." The boys hesitated, and looking at each other, went to the stand. One of them asked: "This won't cost us more than a dollar, will it?" "No," said the man, laughing. The soldier picked up the rifle and put down 50 cents and his pal put down the other fifty cents. Taking a solid aim, he proceeded to knock down the fifteen objects on the line. The boy who did not shoot went over to the counter, picked up the ten started to walk off, saying: "A nice evening's work, wasn't it?" Both agreed and turned to the stand to show the infuriated operator expert rifleman marksmanship medals and then they walked away.

It looks like 75 per cent of "A" Company is "sweating out" officers training.

Who is the blonde that has bachelor Paul "I'll never marry" Campbell talking about hitching?

From all indications, the tune "Johnny Doughboy Found a Rose in Ireland" should be changed to "Texas."

Softball standings

"C" .....	8	0
"B" .....	6	1
"A" .....	6	3
Rec. ....	5	3
Hq. ....	5	9
Medics .....	1	8

The last two games were forfeited.

Sports

The season closing fast brings the two outstanding teams at grips with each other. C and D, both helped by a forfeit, are due to clash Tuesday and Wednesday in a single game each day. A win for "C" in the first game would enable a play-off against the first half victor, "B." The teams are all pepped up and the fireworks will fly on each close decision.

"A" Company is still in third place and Reconnaissance receiving a couple of forfeits from the Medics, is locked in fourth place with Headquarters and Medics forfeiting the remainder of their scheduled games.

Sgt. Swayna and Corp. Fairfield of "A" Company participated in that field meet with the Middies. Fairfield is an amateur boxer and was in the Golden Gloves of his Mid-West state.

Teddy Walos, an all star athlete, played semi-pro basketball for Niagara, the home of "Weeping Waters."

Pfc Ullery is expecting his bride-to-be here soon. Luck to you, boy.

An effort is being made to run more buses to town, as it is well demonstrated that buses are too few and far between. Eventually a bus line may run to McGregor and Waco also.

A recent War Department order is the Tank Destroyer commands wear the white circle-blue, white and red bars inclosed shoulder patch.

Sgt. Ralph J. Anslow is well represented in the Canadian army—two in the Royal Canadian Tanks Corps, one each in the famed RCAAF and the R. C. Field Artillery.

"Little" Sammy Lillibridge has all his weapons ready for a marital jump-off.

Corporals Southern and M. Pritts have been adopted by an entire nursing staff in Waco.

If you think a man can't get lost in Gatesville, ask Corp Jagoda.

A certain red-head in "C" Company was given a speech about repentance, and was on the verge of taking the water pledge—but something happened—what?

Famous Last Words

"Save the Butt for Me."

The first sergeants of all companies except A and C, are again requested to appoint a reporter for their respective companies. Anything pertaining to the welfare and happiness of his company.

Believe It or Not Dept.

Who were the two soldiers who hastily ran into the court house last Saturday and applied for marriage licenses to marry the same girl? What fools we mortals be.

John Fichette is still wondering who "borrowed" his first trumpet parts for five tunes he had scheduled for the weekly broadcast last weekend. They have been returned, thank you.

Did you know that Sgt. Bednarzyk of "A" Company was post heavyweight champion at Fort Meade?

John Scassaletti is working up a heart beat over one of Ater's fairest.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The power of the greatest Navy in the world, our own two-ocean fleet, rests in large measure on its backbone—the Battleships of the Line. They displace approximately 35,000 tons and cost up to $70,000,000. We have something like a score of these huge ships in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Eight huge battleships are under construction and more are contemplated. To finance these modern goliaths of the sea it is necessary for every American everywhere to buy more and more War Bonds. We can do it if everybody does his share. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day to help your county go over its Bond Quota.
