High Fatality List Expected For Labor Day Period

—69—

On Friday, September 4, at 6 p.m. the dash will start—a frantic race to have fun during summer's final, long week-end holiday. Normalcy won't return before midnight Monday, Sept. 7th.

During these 78 hours, a large percentage of Texas' three-and-a-quarter million passenger cars will flood the state's streets and highways. Accidents, according to the Texas Safety Association, will inflict heavy losses in life, limb and property if history continues to repeat itself in traffic.

Drownings, too, will take their share of lives, as will plane crashes boats and other holiday activities.

What will people do wrong?

They will drive too great a distance in too little time, get impatient with other motorists, and make things tough for themselves by combining drinking and driving.

And, of course, they will drive too fast for conditions.

Many who will miss the traffic slaughter will drop their guards when taking part in other past-times that go to make holiday pleasant (if it is safe).

Swimmers, for example: too many will go in water alone, some will swim after dark, and some will take chances in waters that are unfamiliar to them.

To help a few Texans avoid many of these mishaps, the Texas Safety Association has prepared a list of do's and don'ts that are designed to increase the degree of safety for anyone—they are:

IN TRAFFIC —

1. Don't try to drive too far — 400 miles a day should be the limit and a lot less than that after work ing an eight-hour day.

2. Do cut your speed at least 10 miles an hour after dark. You'll be surprised how much more relaxed you'll be.

3. Don't drive if you drink.

4. Don't get burned up at other drivers. Good drivers keep cool behind the wheel.

5. Don't exceed the speed limit.

WHILE SWIMMING —

1. Never swim alone, even at a public beach. When children swim an adult should be present.

2. Don't swim till exhausted — rest often.

3. Do enter water gradually, and wait an hour after eating.

ANYWHERE —

US FORCES, KOREA (AHTNC) Army Chief Warrant Officer William E. Pope Jr., whose wife, Bettie, lives at 305 N. First St., Copperas Cove, Tex., recently arrived in Korea and is now a member of the Korea Military Advisory Gp. Pope, son of Mrs. Bessie B. Pope, Castle Hayne, N.C., entered the Army in 1934 and was last stationed at Fort Hood, Tex.

The 44-year-old officer was graduated from Central High School, Fayetteville, N.C., in 1949 and attended the University of Georgia, Augusta.

Whether laughter is helpful depends on the size of the driver whose fender you just smashed.

JOE DEAN McCUTCHEON

Joe Dean McCutcheon, 22, drowned in Lake Belton about 10:15 p.m., August 19, 1959, after jumping from a boat that was on fire. He lived at Holland, and was employed as a civil service worker with the Post Engineers at Ft. Hood.

New Two-Way Wheat Variety

New Dual wheat will make a two-way profit for farmers who seed it this fall. It will provide lush green grazing this season and early in the spring when pastures have given up for the year. And next summer, Dual will turn out yields of wheat that are just as high as regular varieties farmers now are growing.

Dual's big advantage is resistance to the pesky Hessian fly. Other wheats can't be seeded until late September or October when the fly no longer is a menace. Dual goes into the ground any time from Mid-August on. It makes a fast start and is ready to stretch the grazing season in both fall and spring.

This Indiana-developed soft red winter wheat is pushing rye out of the fall grain picture in many areas. It is slightly later than rye and provides forage at the time it is needed most. Feeding value compares quite favorably with that of rye.

The quality is excellent and good for milling. A beardless, white-chaffed variety, Dual is a better yielder than winter oats and it does especially well in heavy soils. It also has the advantage of being winter hardy and more resistant to disease and insects than either barley or oats.

Dual provides as much as 3 tons of forage per acre as pasture in addition to yielding from 20 to 30 bushels of grain. It is reported by Massey-Ferguson Research that when wheat is harvested for silage instead of grain, it frequently produces from 7 to 8 tons of forage.

He was born June 26, 1937 in Gatesville and his father was C. L. McCutcheon and his mother was the former Miss Opal A. Keener. He was married to the former Miss Dimple Gill January 1, 1959, and was a member of the Methodist Church. He formerly lived near Flat but had lived in Holland since his marriage.

Services were held August 23, 1959 at 2 p.m., at Scotts Funeral home with Revs. Wallace, Sidney Roberts and Dwain Green conducting the services and interment was in Restland Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Joe Dean McCutcheon, Holland; a brother, Carl Frederick McCutcheon, Pharr; a sister, Mrs. J. W. Ingram, Killeen; a nephew, Joel W. Ingram Jr., Killeen; his grandparents, X Frank McCutcheon and X M. A. Keener, all of Gatesville.

Pallbearers were S. O. Stiles, Otha Galloway, F. E. Campbell, Winfred Cummings, Bernie Brazzil and Barney Tippit.

Honorary pallbearers were B. B. Botkin, James L. Watson, Earl Whittenberg, A. F. Colvard and Wade Young.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

On your next backyard cook-out, don't make your weenie skewer from an oleander branch. Even if your host offers you one peeled and sharpened, tell him politely but firmly: "Thanks, but no thanks."

The things are poisonous—leaves, limbs, flowers, bark and roots.

When a group of hunters suddenly sickened after broiling steaks over an open fire, a doctor detected symptoms of digitalis poisoning. All disclaimed any connection with digitalis, a powerful heart stimulant.

But when the medico learned that oleander limbs had been used to skewer the steaks, he had his answer: oleander branches contain a poison which acts like an overdose of digitalis.

Chances are many of your backyard shrubs and flowers actually are masking powerful poisons be-

DESIGN FOR HAPPINESS

A delightful story is gaining currency and should be widely heard. It's about a storekeeper who, in traditional fashion, says 'thank you' to a lady customer as he takes her money for her purchase, and she surprises him by saying: "Thank you! You've done me as big a favor as I have you. I wanted this item more than I wanted the money I paid for it. We both profit."

That is the way of all free enterprise, for every purchase and sale is a voluntary exchange for which the customer is as grateful as the merchant.

It is not so when government steps into the picture. When we shell out for taxes, for instance, the government does not thank us, nor do we feel happy about the transaction. Instead of thanking us, government is likely to ask for more, and we have to pay whether we like it or not. Nor are we thanked by those who, through the 'bounty' of the welfare state, are recipients of our taxes.

Voluntary, free enterprise is designed to make people happy. It supplies what we want, and doing has created the

Miss Dixie Dianne Harrell is Bride of David Lloyd Jones Saturday 28th

Miss Dixie Diane Harrell became the bride of David Lloyd Jones Friday evening in Calvary Baptist Church in Waco. Rev. E. O. Harrell uncle of the bride and pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Odessa performed the ceremony assisted by Dr. Gerald T. Smith, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church.

The skirt was fashioned with appliqued swiss embroidery medallions sprinkled with sequins and a cascade of back poufs above a chapel train. The sabrina neckline was outlined in the matching swiss embroidery and sequins. A crown of seed pearls and sequins held her silk illusion veil and she carried orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Jeck Saffle of Fort Worth was matron of honor. Miss Anita Harrell was her sister's maid of honor. Misses Dorothy Jean Jones, cousin of the bride, and Miss Martha Elaine Shipp were bridesmaids. They wore aqua-marine silk organza dresses fashioned with bouffant skirts scattered with lace motifs held an by rhinestones. The softly draped surplus bodice ended in a molded lact midriff dotted with rhinestones. Graceful panels of matching satin fell from a bustle back. They carried a crescent of rubrum lillies with better times ribbon forming a background.

Vickie Goss, flower girl & cousin of the bride, was dressed as a miniature bride. Her dress was identical to the bride's and was fashioned by her mother.

Ms. E.W. Jones, Jr. was his son's best man. Other attendants were Mr. Charlie Powel, Gatesville, Mr. Wade sadler of Gatesville. Ushers rhinestones. Graceful panels of were Mr. James Mead of Lubbock and Mr. Kirby Harrell of Waco, brother of the bride.

The bride's table was covered with net over satin and edged with wide nylon net lace. A net drape, also edged with lace was caught up at each corner with wedding bells and bows. The table was centered with an arrangement of white flowers and a three tiered wedding cake and punch was served from silver appointments.

Another table was covered with net in the brides color and held the bride's book and wedding picture.

The couple will resume their studies in Baylor University this fall where the groom will be a senior and the bride a junior.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will be living in Waco.

Make Sure You Pick The Right Bull

Be a good "match-maker" when you pick a bull to mate with your dairy cows. The fastest way to improve a herd is to select a bull with the ability to correct the weak points of each cow. If you have a cow with a poor udder, match her with a bull that has the proven ability to sire daughters with good udders. A cow low in butterfat production should be mated with a bull whose daughters have a high percentage of butterfat.

Now that frozen semen techniques have been perfected, picking a bull is almost like visiting the supermarket. There's a wide selection available from most artificial breeding organizations.

From studies of several programs, Massey-Ferguson researchers point out that it pays a dairyman to take a little time to study cows in the herd for weak points and then make a careful selection of bulls. Good records are essential for this program—DHIA owner-sample or weigh-a-day-a-month will show which cows are making money.

Just because one particular bull has become popular doesn't mean that's the bull you should use on every cow in your herd. The qualities of that bull may not be what you need to insure that your heifers are better than their dams. Instead, use your records and those of your breeding association to select the best bull for each cow.

Artificial breeding organizations have much information available on their bulls—HIR and DHIA records, official type classification of the bull's daughters and photographs. If you tie these pieces of information together, you shouldn't have much trouble finding the right bull for any particular cow.

If you are using young bulls that haven't yet been proven, choose one from a family that has demonstrated the strength to overcome the weakness of a particular cow. Chances are the calves will grow up to be better producers and will last longer than the majority of the cows in your present herd.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S ☆ REPORT ☆

One of the most hotly contested provisions of the new Housing Act now being considered by the Congress is the proposal to lend money to colleges to help build badly needed college classrooms.

Following their policy of "no new starts," the Administration has opposed the move. This proposal would only provide funds on a loan basis to be paid back with interest.

The proposal to help build more college classrooms is a vital one. We in America are learning the lesson in the school of hard knocks about education. The rise of Sputnik in 1957 gave warning of the rise in education and technical knowhow which put this Russian satellite into orbit. We are coming to realize that to help our people stay healthy, stay abreast of the times—and to stay alive, we must provide more and better education for our young people.

More of our young people are realizing that what they don't know will hurt them. And the clamor for entrance into colleges is overflowing many colleges. Next year, 3 1/2 million students will be enrolled in America's colleges and universities. By 1965 that figure will have leaped to 4,600,000 and by 1970 the enrollment will be over six million. And, in many states we need to do more. In some states, only 18 percent of the college age young people are actually in school. In other states, such as California, the percentage is as high as 60. The percentage in Texas is 31 1/2.

We have been giving our young

APPREHENSION — With a tear in his eye and an ache in his heart, little Rickey Garnett realizes as he registers for nursery school in El Paso that summer's end is near. people some encouragement along this line but we need to do more.

We know right now that the experts who six years ago estimated the number of college students who would be in school next year fell short by more than a million.

Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover just returned from a visit to Russia. He said that what frightened him most about the Communists was not their arms system, but their educational system. And Dr. Edwin Teller, the father of the H-Bomb, has said recently that unless we step up our educational activities, Russia will be ahead of us in science by 1969.

Our schools, particularly our colleges and universities, are like the old woman in the shoe we sang about in nursery rhymes. They have so many students they don't know what to do. And many more are on the way.

This situation is no nursery rhyme — it is a stern, real fact. We must meet this challenge in education so our young people will be able to meet the challenge of the modern world.

THE CASE OF
AFTER THE GAME

Eighteenth of a series.

By Donald J. Sobol

"The boat shed is about a quarter mile from the fraternity house. Somebody lured Riley out there for the money he was carrying, but hit him too hard. The boy might never recover consciousness," said Inspector Winters.

"Didn't the interne at the emergency ward say that Riley had been drinking?" asked Haledjian.

"Yes," replied the inspector. "The fraternity held a victory party after the State-Aggie game. Liquor is forbidden, but everyone knew about Riley's jug."

"He kept a gallon of gin in his room. During the party he got an empty quart bottle of soda, filled it with gin, and spiked everyone's punch. A tonic, he called it."

"After Riley had made three trips to his room to fill the soda bottle, he began to get slightly tipsy. He apparently drank as much as he gave away. After the fourth filling, at midnight, he commenced bragging about the money he had in his wallet."

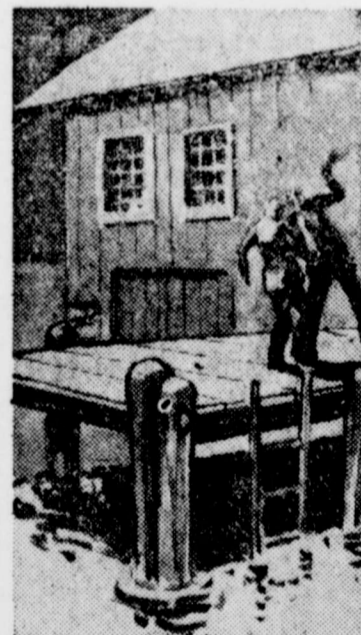

"State was the short ender at 5 to 11. Riley told about winning several hundred dollars."

"Who was the last person to speak with him?"

"Three of the brothers saw him talking briefly with Curt Hammond, the fraternity president, at ten minutes after one. I questioned Hammond. He said that he advised Riley to quiet down. Riley retorted that he was going to his room to refill the bottle, and Hammond could drop dead if he didn't like it."

"Riley went out of the parlor and that was the last anyone saw him till he was found in the boat shed this morning. The party by then had got pretty wild. Anyone could have slipped away without being missed."

"Even the president," said Haledjian.

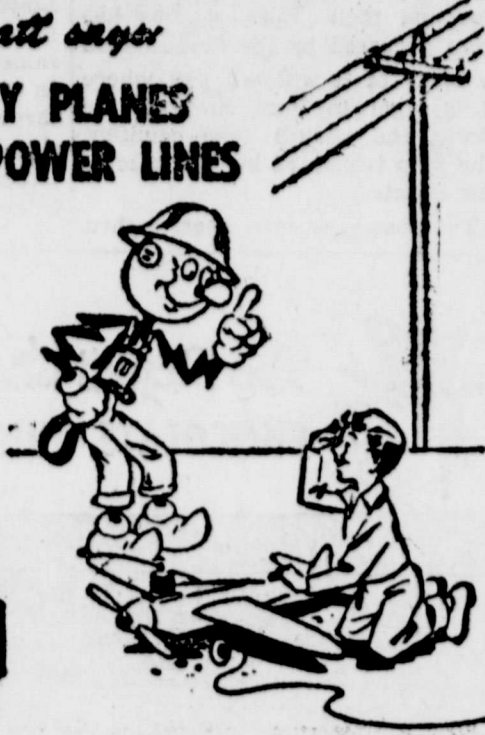

Somebody lured Riley out there for the money he was carrying.

WHY DIDN'T HALEDJIAN BELIEVE HAMMOND'S STORY?

Hammond had undoubtedly told Riley to meet him at the boat shed during the conversation before Riley's disappearance. By then Riley had already made his fourth trip to the jug, and would not have gone to "refill the bottle" again. Even a "slightly tipsy" man would know the fullness of a quart jug a fifth quart from a gallon.

LET'S FACE IT!

Let's face it! The time has come to stop emulating the ostrich and take our heads out of the sand. We are losing our markets for American products both at home and abroad.

Take steel, our most basic product, as Exhibit A. Foreign competition against our American Steel industry — increasing since mid-1937 regardless of the rise or fall of domestic steel production — has been more intense than ever during 1939. Imports of steel mill products topped exports by more than 77 per cent the first five months of this year — to be specific — imports were 1,501,792 net tons against exports of 850,747 net tons.

This was the first such sustained reversal of the traditional trend on record.

As this is being written, the steel mills which were closed down by a strike at midnight July 14 by the leaders of the United Steelworkers of America, are still closed. Each week of the strike is costing the striking steelworkers $65 million in lost wages — costing the country 2 million net tons of steel production. This time the union just was not granted its demands on the steel companies. Such capitulation would increase the already alarming adverse balance of foreign trade in steel, throw many steelworkers ultimately out of jobs and contribute to further inflation with further resultant shrinkage of the purchasing power of the American dollar.

HERE'S HOW...
 MAKE A MODEL TRAIN TABLE

A 9 by 11-foot table is a convenient display board for model trains, tracks, and other equipment. A shelf provides storage space for extra pieces and items to be repaired.

The framework is made of 2 by 2-inch lumber. Cut the legs 26 1/2 inches long. Cut four pieces 10 1/4 inches long for the top portion of the frame — one piece for each end and one piece for each section framing the ends of the center opening. Assemble these pieces so that the lengths of the other pieces can be measured. As the pieces are cut, fasten them in place.

The top is made of 1 by 12-inch lumber. The shelf boards are cut out around the legs for a flush fit with the frame. A hinged leaf for easier access to the open center is made of three edge-glued 1 by 12's. Cleats are fastened to the boards for additional support. Attach the leaf with 3-inch recessed hinges. Set all exposed nails, and round all sharp edges.

Dove Shooting Begins Sept. 1 In North Zone

AUSTIN, August 25 — Season opens for North Texas dove hunters Tuesday, Sept. 1, with perhaps one of the best crops in years, according to the assistant secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The new 1959-60 hunting and fishing licenses is now on sale according to the announcement. They will be effective Sept. 1, and all persons who hunt outside their own counties are required to have a new license. Fishing licenses also expire August 31, and a new license is necessary for fishing outside the home county, or with any kind of winding device. Persons over 65 years of age are

- 11-7 Lackland AFB H
- 11-14 Bolling AFB, Va. H
- 11-21 Memphis Naval Sta. H
- 11-28 Brooke AMC H
- 12-5 Hamilton AFB H

not required to have a license. Exemption cards are available at the regional offices or by writing to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin. Such cards are issued as a courtesy, and are not required.

A map showing the Texas counties and their open seasons has been prepared by the Commission. A study of it will tell you where it is legal to hunt in both the North and South zone counties. The map is printed in this issue of the Courier.

The season is open Sept. 1 thru

Oct 20 in the North Zone, and Oct 1 through Nov. 19 in the south Zone. There is an exception in the Lower Valley counties where the mourning doves may be shot at the same time as white-winged doves. In that area the season will close three days earlier.

The whitewing season is for the alternate days of Sept. 11-13-15, from 2 p. m. until sunset.

The big change is to an ELECTRIC range

...because it's CLEANER

You, too, can have a cleaner kitchen with less work when you cook electrically. Electric heat is as clean as electric light, so your cooking utensils stay new-penny bright with a minimum of care. And because the electric oven heats without combustion, there's no draft of air into and out of the oven, carrying grease-laden vapors into your kitchen. Right now is the time to change to a clean-cooking electric range. See your local electric appliance dealer about it soon!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A constant query from readers of this column is as follows: "Why is it that my small business must pay out so much in taxes. Where does the money go?"

It is perhaps, in answer to that question, well to ponder the situation in Nepal.

No one should be embarrassed if they have never heard of Nepal, because lots of people have never heard of it. Actually, it is a small little country of some 8 1/2 million people between India and Himalaya mountains with rich forests and farms.

But now the fact that many people have not heard of this little land does not mean too much, because the International Cooperation Administration, the current name for the foreign give away set up has heard of it.

In fact, the ICA has something like 50 people working in Nepal. Half of them are in the Grade 4 or better salary grade. In fact these fifty people are drawing down from foreign give away administration funds anywhere from $6,000 to $18,700 per year, largely tax exempt.

Now there are all kinds of "experts" on the payroll including such functionaries as home economic advisors, community development advisors, health education advisors. In fact, it appears that there are just lots of Americans sitting around on big tax free salaries all day long advising the people of Nepal on practically everything. Whether or not the people of Nepal want advice is another matter.

And in the event the people of Nepal get worn out from the tempting to so much advice from so many "experts" from America, they presumably can relax occasionally as the foreign give away administration also maintains a recreation supervisor.

Now here is one nation where it appears that whatever they get out of the give away deal, most of it is merely advice.

According to data available, over the past ten years ICA has allocated to this little country around $10 million, or some where around a million dollars per year.

Now the salaries for this corps of advisors, plus other fringe benefits thrown in, must run well over a half million dollars per year, so little free goods goes to Nepal.

But the cost of giving advice is what hurts in this instance.

It would perhaps be far cheaper to give every resident of Nepal a few addressed and stamped envelopes every year and let them write to Washington whenever they want any advice.

Then the American advisors could be brought home, perhaps find jobs in private industry, pay taxes on their salaries.

On the second thought, it is possible that American private business has all the advisors they need, and those the foreign give away program sent to Nepal are surplus advisors something like surplus U. S. corn.

But it still is hard to imagine what 8 1/2 million people of Nepal do with over a half million dollars worth of free American advice every year. Perhaps some of these advisors should be brought home to advise the American taxpayer why he should foot the bill for giving out with such free advice. That would be, undoubtedly, a most fascinating venture.
