GETTING THINGS DONE

National Newspaper Week, being celebrated October 8 to 14 is dedicated to greater public recognition of the important functions of newspapers in the everyday lives of Americans.

The theme for the week is "Newspapers Get Things Done," providing an opportunity for editors to point to accomplishments for people, communities, and the nation.

Newspapers inform, entertain, educate, and act as the public's "proxies" wherever public business is transacted. They are a constructive force for the growth and development of their communities. They stimulate progressive action; they encourage good citizenship; they back efforts for better schools, better teachers, and quality education; they act as a watchdog in keeping government in line.

Today's newspapers help with health and safety education and in raising funds for worthwhile purposes. In addition, they give generous support to their communities' spiritual and cultural needs and activities, and help stimulate the economy by moving merchandise for stores and services and ideas.

These are only a few of the many facets of public service. Yes, it is true that newspapers

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

During World War 1 there was a popular song entitled "How You Gonna Keep them on the Farm After They've Seen Gay Paree?"

But the problem now is how to keep the nation's big cities from being further crowded by a constant inflow of unskilled and untrained labor from the smaller cities, towns and rural areas of the nation.

***

Alarmed over the increasing unrest and rioting in their bailiwicks, many big city mayors, as well as legislators whose constituents reside in the metropolises take the position that greater chunks of Federal money into the big cities will solve the problem.

***

Yet despite the millions that have been poured into the War on Poverty, firemen are still shot while seeking to stem fires set by arsonists, small business operations in the big cities are being looted and burned out of existence.

***

If it is true, and this perhaps has yet to be proved, that big city riots are due to unemployment, then the only gleam of common sense toward the problem has been advanced by Congressman Joe Evins, Tennessee, chairman of the House Small Business Committee.

© National Federation of Independent Business

His proposal is that special tax credits be given to the establishment of employment providing businesses in the rural areas, with the provision that such new establishment not replace either by location, or employment structure, any existing business operations by the same company.

***

There is a two-edged approach involved here. One is to encourage decentralization of the nation's business and employment and in affect, spread the available work around the country. Tied in with this is the factor of encouraging new businesses to start, thus creating more jobs. The other factor is that if work is available in the hinterlands, there would not be the constant migration to the crowded big cities in a fruitless search for job opportunities.

***

How far this proposal gets in Washington will be interesting to observe for it runs contrary to the long stand popular vogue, that any problem can be solved if enough billions are voted in tax money.

***

Congressman Evins' proposal does not call for the expenditure of one cent. Rather, in essence, it is a plan to let new enterprises get started by the device of permitting for a period of time the money that would go to taxes being used to supply jobs.

In other words, it is a plan to develop more geese to maturity to lay the golden eggs instead of letting the tax collector wring the necks of the goslings.

THE SAFETY SENTRY

Fire Safety In The Home

Fire is still a major cause of death and injury in the home, in addition to destroying millions of dollars of property each year.

A majority of fires in the home can be prevented, according to Sentry Insurance. Here are several tips to protect your family and your property:

- Heating equipment, including furnace, chimney and flues, should be cleaned and overhauled by a professional yearly. Portable heaters should be maintained and placed away from combustible materials when in use.
  - Electrical appliances and wiring must be kept in top condition. Never run extension cords under rugs or across halls. Use fuses of approved, adequate rating.
  - Matches and flammable liquids must be stored out of the reach of children. Never use these liquids for cleaning clothes, and be sure they are in marked containers.
  - Rubbish should not be allowed to accumulate—spontaneous combustion or accidental ignition can result.
  - Your fireplace should be completely "out" before you retire for the night. Empty ash trays in a separate metal container, not in trash cans.
  - Place fire extinguishers in key areas in the home—one in the kitchen, one in the garage, and one upstairs.
- You and every member of your family should be thoroughly familiar with escape routes—two from each room—which can be followed in the dark. Call fire department before attempting to put out the fire yourself.

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK
SEPTEMBER 30-OCTOBER 7

Members of 4-H Clubs from all fifty states will be recognized during the observance of National 4-H Club Week, September 30-October 7.

"In Texas, approximately 100,000 4-H'ers from rural and urban areas will pause to take stock of their many accomplishments," says Floyd Lynch, State 4-H Club Leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "They are combining the best of learning and fun through more than 125 projects and activities guided by some 18,000 volunteer adult leaders," Lynch said.

One of the primary aims of 4-H Club work is to provide opportunities to help boys and girls develop into useful responsible citizens. This aim is accomplished through leadership challenges that are available in all local 4-H Clubs such as serving as a club officer, committee work, delegate to county, district and state councils as well as other activities.

Those who excel in project work receive recognition and awards at the local and county level. Some compete for educational trips to the State 4-H Roundup, National 4-H Club Congress, district and state leadership training camps and many other rewarding events.

4-H activity offers a wide range of interest areas. Projects ranging from traditional clothing, livestock, foods and field crops to horticulture, child care, safety, small engines, electricity, horses and many others. Work on projects can be adapted to any home situation. New programs and activities are being developed continually to meet changing times and interests. Leadership and cooperation with others are encouraged through group activities such as community

The school years are critical ones for your child's eyesight. Homework is hard work for young eyes. Improper light can lead to eyestrain, hindering concentration and productive study. To make sure your child's study area is properly lighted, see that the light source is shaded from the eyes and that the light is distributed evenly over the work surface. A good table lamp with a 150-watt bulb and diffusing bowl should do the job, providing the lamp is of the correct height and properly positioned. Then, there's that once a month when a girl could use a good old-fashioned medicine.

Maybe you feel just plain bad then. Or maybe a little lonely and sad, like you could use a pair of arms around you.

Well, we have just the thing for this once a month time. Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets. They're made with gentle, natural ingredients, including one that works to help relax tightened muscles that give you cramps. Plus a little iron that a girl could use at a time like this. And, you don't run any chance of the kind of unpleasant side effects you could get from some of the newer drugs.

With an old-fashioned problem like this, couldn't you take an old-fashioned medicine.

OCTOBER 29 EVERYONE CAN SET THE TIME BACK

Just because it is still dark when the alarm goes off and the days are getting shorter, don't think Daylight Saving Time is about to end in Texas.

Several newspapers and radio stations report calls from their readers and listeners who mistakenly think Central Standard Time returns Oct. 1.

Not so. In Texas, as in 44 other states, the hour lost when Central Daylight Time came in will not be regained until 2 a. m. CDT Oct. 29 when it suddenly will become 1 a. m. CST.

That's the time set by the law that was passed by Congress and approved by the last Texas Legislature.

COVE BETTERED BY SAN SABA

The passing of Phil Letbetter led San Saba to a 35-6 victory over Copperas Cove Friday night giving the Armadillos a 3-1 mark for the year.

Letbetter threw touchdown passes of 15, 68 and 26 yards to Bill Watkins, Buster Carmouche and Dick Little for the Dillos first three scores. Little booted three extra points for the night, and Letbetter passed to Keith Shahan for two more.

San Saba's final two touchdowns came on a 14-yard run by Joe Miller and a two-yard plunge by Frankie Miller.

Copperas Cove's tally came in the first period after the Bulldogs got possession on the Dillo 23 after a fake punt failed. Jerry Beaty scored from the one.

Cove is now 0-4 for the season.

Research in tree improvement by the Texas Forest Service has produced a strain of pine trees that shows growth far in excess of the average trees. A plantation of ordinary trees grew 108 cubic feet in 10 years. In contrast, one planted with the selected strain grew 131 cubic feet in the same period, a difference of 17 per cent in growth. Economic Fine-Tuning

The "new economics" is face-to-face with a "classical test case" of its validity. The issue, seems to me to be: Can the "new economics" support the claim that we may be able to avoid periods of deep economic recession.

The current trend of leading indicators is disappointing: For example, the slump in the building industry, new car sales, industrial production, new orders for durable goods, and a significant trimming of planned capital spending programs. Washington is worried. There is no question of that.

This is why I believe the President acted so quickly in requesting restoration of the 7% investment tax credit, and this reinstatement of the tax credit may be only the first step in what could become a series of attempts to rescue a faltering economy. The Federal Reserve Board is now believed to be considering a cut in the discount rate, currently at 4.5%.

The President's request for a 5% surcharge on income taxes is "dead" unless the economy responds to other stimuli with a degree of bounce which at present, appears to me unlikely. In the past five years economists have scored some major achievements in learning to manipulate the national economy to diminish the extremes in the business cycle. During this period, Keynesian economic theory has been taken out of the classroom and given an opportunity to be judged on the basis of practical application.

While the evidence indicates that we may have learned to avoid the really wide fluctuations in the economy, I question whether we have developed our knowledge of both proportion and timing to the extent which will permit the literal "fine-tuning" of a complex $800 billion economy.

The answer, I think, should be forthcoming in the not too distant future. We have before us right now a classical "test case." The majority of indicators are trending downward. But two—total employment and personal income—appear almost obstinate in their refusal to join the trend. Both of these indicators, somewhat paradoxically, continue in an uptrend.

Historically, this nation has never gone into a recessionary phase while these two indicators were still trending upward. Obviously, either one—or both—can change. And quickly. Nevertheless, the persistent increase in both areas is confusing to those economists who have insisted that we are headed into a recession.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE

At the time of this writing, we have finished three full weeks of school. When you read this, many of you will have received a form stating that your children are not doing as well in school as they might be expected to do. This will come as no surprise to many of you, but for some it will be quite surprising and disturbing.

Let me take this opportunity to explain our purpose in sending these notices. We feel that if a child is doing unsatisfactory work at this time, the parents should be informed so that appropriate measures can be taken to raise the grades to passing level by report card time.

There may be a number of reasons why a student would be failing some of his work at this time. Children get out of the habit of studying during the summer mon-

Wine When You Dine

Someone once said, "Wine is a bride who brings a great dowry to the man who woos her persistently and gently." It's certainly been my experience that wine can make a good meal better, and a better one superb.

Wine whets the appetite and excites the palate. And yet many hostesses shy away from the wine question because the wide variety, labels, vintages, years are puzzlements.

Know this, there are no set rules. There are some customs, however: Good, red meat seems to call for a robust red wine; delicate fish or poultry dishes are enhanced by a light white wine. But, if you happen to like the reverse, that's your privilege!

Getting to know about wine is a taste-and-tell thing. Once you've found one you like, serve it to your guests. My particular favorites are (Red) Chateau Neuf de Pape and (White) California Sauternes.

One problem when you serve wine is how to accommodate the non-drinker. Be a considerate hostess and have substitutes. I always have a chilled pitcher of Pepsi-Cola and another of ice water. Both should be served over ice cubes and it's perfectly all right to pour them into wine goblets.

Don't be intimidated by wine snobs at the table. Rattling off a bunch of high faultin' foreign names doesn't mean a thing. Know what you like—and stick by it.

CONNALLY SAYS OCTOBER P-TA MEMBERSHIP MONTH

Governor John Connally has proclaimed October P-TA Membership Enrollment Month in Texas and has called on the citizens of the state to assist the organization with its current program, "Developing Our Neighborhoods."

The Governor noted that since the founding of the Texas branch of P-TA in 1909, its aim "remains to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community."

More than 720 thousand Texans in preschools, elementary, junior high and high schools last year formed the membership of more than 2,700 P-TA's across the state. Texas P-TA is the second largest state branch, after California.

With children returning to school in the fall, September and October are the busiest membership enrollment months for most P-TA's. Serving as state president of the association is Mrs. L. L. Ledger of Copperas Cove.
