Hostesses at the meeting will be Mrs. Hord Randalls and Mrs. Marvin Marshall. A covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon. All members have been requested to take a covered dish to the church if they can or cannot attend.

It Happened Here or Near

By E. E. DAWSON

This is an interlude. "Inter" means between. Don't ask me what "lude" means. I met a fellow named Lude one day and what he did for me is not nice to remember. This "interlude" has nothing to do with that distasteful bully. "Inter" in the present instance seems to indicate the shuffling between Hico and Stephenville Hospitals.

Now that I am in the hospital, happened on this wise: Last Saturday afternoon, standing on a ledge under our upstairs window in our shack, I unfolded my rule to take the measurement of the final piece of trim, and as I tilted my head to look up to the place to be measured, my old head turned dizzy and instead of stopping at the proper stance, just kept on going backward. I did a nice piece of gymnastics and made a grab for something to hold to and prevent a ten-foot fall. But the only thing my sky hooks got hold of was damp, cool atmosphere that was prevalent last Saturday. It all happened in a fraction of a second, for if I remember my prep physics falling bodies travel sixteen feet the first second, and this distance was less than that. I hit the ground and also another ladder that lay on the ground. The ladder was unhooked. The fallen sustained a broken hip, a bruised arm, an injured hand. Otherwise no serious damage except to his dignity.

I howled for wife and she heard my voice and raced everywhere except where I lay helpless. But persistent soul that she is, she finally located me, giggled and inquired, "Why the undignified pose?" Well, she brought me a blanket to cover her spouse and then hurried to the telephone and soon had Wayne Rutledge and Moody Smith and the ambulance there. And Wayne, like all the rest of my acquaintances who never take me seriously, inquired, "Say, don't you know this is no ski range?" They loaded me in the buzz wagon in a fraction of a minute and sped away to the hospital, and before I got my bearings a sweet young technician administered me, "now take a long deep breath, exhale it and be right still." And do you know it was only minutes until there was a picture of a part of my innards, the pocket knife I was toting and fifty-one cents in coin. Oh yes, and the broken bone.

Dr. Hedges and Dr. Jim Terrell are going to nail me back together.

BILLIE STREATER

Our hearts were made sad when we learned of the passing of Uncle Billie Streater of the Lanham community, who passed away about 2 p. m. Sunday at the Clifton Hospital, following a paralytic stroke he suffered last Sunday week. Funeral services were held at the Bob Riley Funeral Chapel in Hamilton Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Minister W. P. Dennis, pastor of the Reagan St. Church of Christ officiating. Burial was at Hamilton.

Mr. Streater had been a member of the Church of Christ since 1935. He was married in early manhood to Miss Sallie Oglesby of Lanham. One son, Carlton, was born to them. They also raised another foster son, Robert, who was loved and cherished as their own child and has always worn the Streater name. Robert was a patient at a Glen Rose hospital, recuperating from a recent heart attack and was brought to the funeral home to view the remains prior to the funeral.

Mr. Streater is survived by his wife, the two sons mentioned above and eight grandchildren, and several sisters and a host of other relatives and friends who mourn his passing. One granddaughter, Mrs. Leon New was unable to attend the funeral services, as she was in California with her soldier husband.

We extend deepest sympathy to those bereaved in his passing.

Words fail us if we try to describe the rapture brought about during the Easter week end, by the wonderful rain, which was indeed a blessing from our dear Lord and master. May we in turn give God the praise and show our appreciation to him and our fellow man by the life we live.

As the old saying goes, "Time changes everything." Last week when we wrote our news letter the air was full of sand and our crops in a dying condition as well as grasslands. This week everything has taken on new life and some of the grain is heading fast. One could hardly realize such a change so quick.

What a surprise we had this morning, Tuesday, when we went to our mail box and found a beautiful birthday card from our bosses, Buck and Bette Meador, News Review Staff. It was simply beautiful.

and the message it bore was very touching. Thanks a million dear friends and we want you to know we surely appreciate your thoughtfulness. But to us Buck and Bette are tops. They are the likeable kind of folks who make friends wherever they go.

Mrs. Frank Driver has returned home from Texas City where she went to be with her son, Raymond, who underwent surgery last week on his left arm. He had lost use of his fingers on this hand and physicians thought the muscle of the arm was dead, but instead they found a gristle growth around the bone. This was removed and he is regaining the use of his fingers.

We are very sorry to report that Harold Lackey, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lackey, is a patient in a Dallas hospital, due to a nerve condition. It will be remembered he lost the sight of an eye last year in an accident at school, and is thought this may have brought on his present condition, and are glad to report that and physicians thought the muscle ailment can be corrected with minor treatment. Harold is a very likeable child and is loved by all who know him and the many friends of he and his parents are deeply concerned in his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don spent last Sunday visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Sellers of Hamilton, and to be with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blakley and Lera Jane were in Glen Rose last Sunday week to help celebrate the birthday of his brother-in-law, Luther Jameson.

Highway employees are again doing some surveying and other preparations prior to building a farm-to-market road from Fairy to the Bosque County line near Cranfills Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison of Dublin visited Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison.

The writer attended an all-day singing at Liberty near Gatesville Sunday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sumerford and their grandson, Hugh Wayne Sumerford of Midland, from Hamilton. A barbecue lunch with all the necessary good eats to complete a wonderful meal was served under a nearby tabernacle at the noon hour. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed a wonderful song service. Grain in that section didn't appear to be hurt badly by the recent freeze and they, too, had received good rains. Bluebonnets were blooming in profusion around the church and along the roadside.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil (Red) Blakley were honored with a miscellaneous belated wedding shower last Friday night at the school gym. Mrs. H. C. Beck, Mrs. J. T. Jackson, Mrs. Marvin Porterfield and Mrs. Bill Lackey were hostesses. The gift table was centered by an Easter lily pot plant and the serving table was decorated with a beautiful bouquet of fresh cut flowers consisting of pink and white carnations and fernery in a vase bearing an Easter sunrise design. ### Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new coaster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week—but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Dad and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURELSON Congressman 17th District

A story is going around of the three Russians in a labor prison in Siberia.

It seems they finally found themselves in a place where they dared to converse. The first one asked the second why he was sent to prison. He replied that he was supposed to have been sympathetic to Malenkov. The second then asked the first why he was there. He answered that he was supposed to have been plotting against Malenkov. The first and second then asked the third what he was in for. He replied that he was Malenkov.

It is said that a person never misses what he has never become accustomed to having. In the last decades, people of this country have gotten used to a great many things, and it has changed our economic status. We all have new interests, new culture, new hopes, new social consciousness, as well as new wants. We are no longer satisfied with the bare necessities of life.

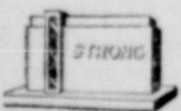

Mr. Walter C. Ayers, addressing an association of national advertisers at Hot Springs, Ark., said: "They have escaped to the promised land—a land filled with wonderful things to enhance life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. A land overflowing with travel, power steering and brakes, air conditioning, color television, boats, dishwashers, picture windows, movie cameras, clothes dryers, contour sheets, electric blankets, and thousands of other marvelous contributions to comfort, convenience, sport and good living." Mr. Ayers said that we should break away from our historical patterns and practices, and that we should commence advertising and selling. He said salesmanship is needed to put more dynamic action into what may become a lagging economy if we do no more about it than we are doing at present.

This brings to mind a report made by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, in cooperation with the Governor's Economic Advisory Commission of Texas. The report says the reason manufacturing concerns have been moved to Texas during the past five years and are expected to continue to do so in the future is because of the availability of raw materials, good climate, high per capita income, and a large labor force. These were some of the reasons given in the report influencing the bringing of new factories to Texas.

It certainly should keep us constantly reminded that an adequate water supply for commercial use is the essential item missing in the picture.

We are wondering when someone will bring out an after-shave lotion with the fragrance of money to make the men more attractive to the ladies.

Austin, April 12.—Easter bunny brought the golden egg! That, in an egg-shell, describes developments in the Capital City over the week end.

House members returned to Austin from the Easter holiday to discover that members of the revenue and taxation committee who remained on the job, had brought out a compromise tax bill. It promised $43,000,000 in new money.

Chairman Stanton Stone and House Speaker Jim Lindsey regard it as their number-one project for the week.

Although the committee side-tracked Gov. Allan Shivers' single-shot bills and adopted Chairman Stone's omnibus bill, Governor Shivers said it was a workable basis for providing what is needed.

Actually the bill gives Governor Shivers more than half of his announced desires. He praised the committee and asked that the balance of his "program" be restored somewhere along the way.

Approved by the committee was the one-cent per pack tax increase on cigarettes, asked by the governor. Also included was a one-cent per gallon gasoline tax, which was half what the governor suggested.

An increase in beer operators license fee was injected into the bill as a concession to strong House sentiment to include beer in the new-money scheme. A fourth tax item was diesel fuel at 15 cents per gallon.

Under the proposed levies, $25,000,000 would be added to highway improvements annually, and $20,000,000 would go into the general fund.

House Speaker Jim Lindsey took a strong stand for the compromise plan. Governor Shivers complimented him for the progress made over the long week end.

Waiting for nearly $60,000,000 in new money, before it can reach the governor, is the $1,900,000 biennial appropriation now in conference committee.

Governor Shivers regretfully left the scene of action. He went with Mrs. Shivers to Chicago where she will receive treatment for an ear ailment. She had a mastoid operation last year.

Before leaving Texas, the governor stated that he felt the current 120-day session, due to end May 15, might run two weeks beyond the four-month mark. Legislators, now drawing $25 per day, draw no pay after 120 days, unless a new session is called. Shivers has expressed his dislike for special sessions.

Charges Pile Up

Charges continued to mount against Bascom Giles, former commissioner of the general land office. Latest were four felony theft charges placed against Giles by District Attorney Les Proctor of Travis County. It brought the total charges to date to $1,056,688.

Also charged on four felony theft counts was J. Paul Little, Crystal City attorney.

Giles and Little were each accused separately of theft from the state in four veterans land transactions last year in Zavala County. The total amount involved was $377,344.

Byrd Cattle Company refunded $25,068 to the state on one land deal. Meanwhile, a Travis County grand jury continued its investigation of veterans land deals.

Giles' trial in the first of the felony indictments against him, to be heard in San Antonio District Court, was postponed until May 22. His attorney told the court that Giles was too busy with new charges and new civil suits to go to trial.

Land Program's Future

Despite a "no" vote by Attorney General John Bea Shepperd, the veterans land program may be extended to veterans of World War I and Korea.

Other members of the land board—Governor Shivers and Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder—will urge the legislature to offer the people a constitutional amendment on the question.

Shepperd said that while he favored the philosophy of veterans land benefits, he would withhold his approval of any new program until the legislature enacts "clear and strict regulations" to its administration.

Meanwhile, veterans organizations were to decide whether to ask the program's continuation. A hearing is set for April 18 on Sen. George Moffett's bill designed to add another $100,000,000 to the veterans land program via a constitutional amendment.

SHORT SNORTS Navigation was taken out of the Trinity River Authority bill by the House. Unemployment compensation benefits will be increased from $20 to $25 under a bill passed by the Senate. A bill to permit the state to fix minimum prices on natural gas has failed so far to get House approval. Water conservation groups won a round when the Senate decided to let the people vote on a $100,000,000 bond issue next September. The House is debating a counter bond bill. Final action sent to the governor a bill to put "Section 1303-B" trust companies stocks under state securities control. Also passed was one of the major corrective insurance bills dealing with fire and casualty companies. Both houses have approved an increase in drivers' license fees to $2 (every two years), effective Sept. 1. It will permit the hiring of 200 additional highway patrolmen. A bill to prohibit the carrying of pistols in automobiles was withdrawn after a swarm of protests by motorists. Pensions of $100 per month for teachers, after 10 years of service, are called for in a proposed constitutional amendment passed by the Senate. Passed by both Houses and awaiting concurrence in amendments was a bill to ban objectionable comic books. The House has refused to consider a bill calling for removal from office of elected public officials who refuse to give testimony when their agencies are being investigated.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

FORE! "Fore!" yelled Glen Glibb as he sized up the fairway in front of him. "Better wait," cautioned another member of his foursome. "Those people aren't out of range yet."

"Well, they're too slow," growled Glen. "I'll just crack one over their heads—that'll speed 'em up a little."

There was a resounding crack as Glen drove, and the golf ball shot out low and hard along the right side of the fairway. As the players watched, admiring the fine shot, the ball began to curve to the left, hooking toward the two men and two women in the fairway. "Fore," Glen yelled frantically, and one of the women moved desperately to one side, ducking her head. The ball struck her on the arm.

In all of his conduct which might result in harm to another player, or to a caddy, the golfer must exercise reasonable and ordinary care, according to the circumstances. It is well known that driven balls do not always travel in the straight course intended, but the player must reasonably foresee the likelihood of injury to others from his driven ball and use the care necessary to prevent such injury.

One duty of a golfer is to give timely warning of an intended drive if the other player is not aware of such intention, but in some cases a mere warning is not enough. The golfer is not necessarily an insurer of the safety of others with reference to the balls he drives, nor is he guilty of negligence merely because the ball deflects from its intended course, but he must have in mind the possibilities of dangers to others.

In the case above, Glen was at fault. The players were obviously in a danger zone, and the mere shouted warning was not sufficient to protect them, especially since their backs were to Glen, and they were proceeding ahead of him, in a place where, under the rules of the game, they had a right to be.

On the golf course, remember, use just ordinary care to see that other players are protected. Be sure they know when you are going to drive, if they are in a danger zone, and don't deliberately drive into the people ahead of you.

OUT OF SEASON TREE

By Bertha R. Hudelson

DICK MYERS sat looking out the office window of the Myers Elevator and Grain Company when he saw Ed Brady and Jim Farrand drive into the yard, each with a truck load of corn.

Dick was proud of his grain business. The tall elevator, with the little office huddled at its base, could be seen for miles across the rich prairie land, and these two buildings stood alone except for a ramshackle house across the railroad tracks. Here Cal Henderson, who had once worked for him, lived with his sad but loyal wife. Cal was a notorious drunkard, an alleged thief, a worthless man without a friend and what could be worse, Dick often wondered.

But he wasn't wondering about Ed and Jim. He knew they were laughing at the ten foot Christmas tree standing on the flat roof of the elevator. No one realized better than he that March was not the time for this out-of-season tree to swing its branches gaily during the daytime, and to send its multicolored rays through the darkness of the night.

Jim began—"Sure getting your money out of that tree, aren't you?" and he guffawed loud and long.

"Oh, he's only ten months ahead of time," Ed chimed in and roared with laughter, too.

Jim shook his head dolefully. "Sure hope he's not as crazy as that tree looks flipping around in the spring wind. Let's take it down," and he started toward the door.

"Oh, no you don't!" yelled Dick, roughly shoving Jim aside to stand by the door with arms wide-spread.

Jim stared in amazement. "Dick you ought to get the thing down. Folks are beginning to think this about you," and Jim whirled a finger around his forehead.

And just then Cal stepped into the room—not a stoop-shouldered, defeated Cal, but a new man with a strange look of eagerness in his eyes and such satisfaction on his face that it shone as brightly as the roof of the office.

Jim and Ed started to leave as one man, but Dick's sharp order—"Wait! I want Cal to tell you about the tree," caused them to change their minds.

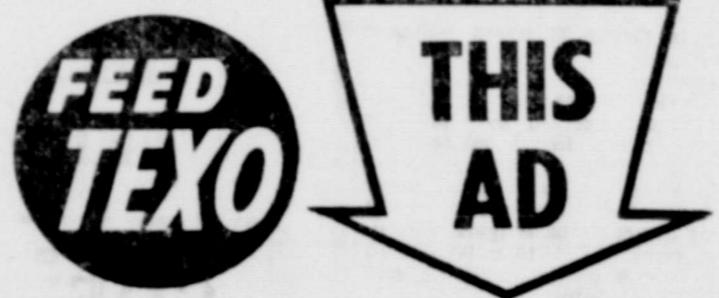

"Sure! I'll be glad to," Cal grinned and motioned toward the elevator. "The tree and Mary and Dick did it," he told them quietly. "When Dick first hired me, I was about ready for Skid Row, wasn't I?" He looked toward Dick who nodded.

"In fact," he continued, "in three weeks I skidded right out of the job into bed. That's what drink finally did for me. Then is when Mary said I had to break my habit, or else! Doc Burns told me the same thing. Mary fed me right but I thought I'd go nuts. And then one night eight days before Christmas I saw Dick's tree. It was so wonderful, all lighted," Cal jerked a clean rag from his pocket and swished it across his eyes. "That I felt like a little boy again when everything was all right. I thought with the help of Mary and the tree I can be OK again!" But Christmas came and went and I wasn't. Wanting to drink kept gnawing and chewing at me until I—You take on from here, Dick."

"He sent Mary over to ask if I'd leave the tree up awhile longer and told me why. At first I thought, 'He's crazy to ask it and I'm crazy if I do it!' But who was I to keep a fellow from finding salvation? And so I promised that I'd leave it up until he told me he was cured. I wasn't going to break that promise if you, he glared at Jim and Ed, and all of Smith Prairie turned against me. I—"

"Well, I'll be darned!" was all that Ed could say, and Jim wanted to know if they could breeze the news around.

"Ask Cal," Dick told him. "It's his story. Come on! Let's weigh your corn."

High Grade Cattle, Calves Open Steady

The accent was again on "quality" in the cattle trade at Fort Worth on this week's opening session. Higher grades moved rather readily at generally steady prices, while the less attractive kinds were on the weak side.

Packers took a bearish stand on most cattle on the early rounds, but salesmen were able to get largely steady prices for fed steers, yearlings and heifers. Cows were weak, and packers complain that many of the cows are either off grain pasture or clover or other lush growth and are washy and low in yield and grade, a seasonal development.

Probably the most significant point in the condition of these cows is that it indicates that movement from the Eastern third of Texas, as well as East Texas bordering states is somewhat earlier than usual this year in some cases.

High grade slaughter and high grade stocker calves sell readily at firm prices in the $18 to $22 field, while most slaughter kinds except a few fancy heavies check in at $21.50 down. Medium and lower grades were steady to weak. "Green" calves and yearlings are a problem for the slaughter buyers right now, they say. Bulls steady.

Fat Cattle Top $23.50 to $23.75. Good and choice fed steers and yearlings topped at $23.50 and $23.75 at Fort Worth Monday, a load of experimentally fed steers from the Spur Station brought in by Paul Marion at $23.50, and two loads of fed steers from a commercial feeder drew $23.75, both these sales were above any made here last week when $23 was the practical top. Fat cows $11 to $13.50, a few $14. Loads of cows at $13.50 from both East and West Texas in the yards Monday as Naud Burnett, Greenville, had a load at $13.50 and a load from Mill Iron Ranches, Wellington, at that figure. Canners and cutters $7 to $11. Bulls $10 to $14.50, a few higher. Good and choice slaughter and stocker calves $18 to $21.50, a few to $22. Plainer kinds $10 to $17.

Heavy Old Crop Lambs Weaker. Monday's trade in the sheep barns at Fort Worth saw Spring lambs and yearlings or older sheep sell steady. However, old crop shorn lambs were still under some pressure and no better than barely steady with last week's low close at best.

Packers are still bearish about heavyweight old crop lambs and when weights get around 100 pounds or more on these, the price is definitely lower again.

Some inquiry for breeding ewes developed on the heels of some rain in the sheep country but few desirable aged or desirable quality ewes were included in the runs. Some rather aged kind from $6 to $8, and better kinds quotable well over that.

Feeder lamb trade was again very quiet, most stocker or feeder finished lambs selling for slaughter. Fat milk lambs topped at $23 and old crop shorn lambs $18 down. Slaughter ewes $5 to $6 old bucks around $4. Medium grade yearlings drew $15, some heavyweights might bring more. Old mutton scarce.

Hog Prices Better, Top $18.50 Here. Hog prices were on the mend at Fort Worth Monday with top hogs at $18.25 to $18.50, and some around 250-pound hogs able to get the extreme top. Salesmen were again striving to make meat type hogs bring the premium they deserve and were getting some cooperation again from most of the buyers.

Some were steady at $14 to $16. Less desirable butcher hogs of off weights, fat back or cold blooded types, etc., sold from $17 to $18.

TEXAS SMALL CROP PROSPECTS

Dry weather, record freezes and blowing winds in the past few weeks have done their bit in adding to the burdens of Texas farmers this year. Many crops not actually destroyed were severely set back, meaning million of dollars lost in time, labor, seed and crop value.

The peach crop will be almost a complete failure in Texas as well as nine other early southern states. The freezes which took the peach crop also caused extensive damage to early season vegetables in the state.

Most late spring potatoes in Central and Northeast Texas were frozen to the ground and harvest will be delayed two to three weeks. Early acreage watermelons of the Lower Valley and Fairburn areas were not damaged by the cold but have suffered some damage from high winds. Considerable acreage in South and Central Texas was lost but not late enough to prevent replanting. The real problem was whether or not enough moisture would be available for re-seeding.

Also in South Texas, low temperatures delayed maturity of early-spring tomatoes and high winds whipped vines and started the fruit. The real tomato loss was in Eastern and Northeast Texas. Most tomatoes at Yoakum and nearby sections were killed. In the Jacksonville area, limited acreage which had been set was killed and considerable damage was suffered by plants in cold frames. Replanting will depend on the availability of plants.

A few cantaloups were lost in the Winter Garden area but no damage to this crop occurred in other South Texas producing sections. Strong winds have whipped vines in these areas, however. The freezes caused heavy loss of cantaloupe acreage in Central Texas but replanting was still possible.

Most onions in the southern area survived the killer northers and no serious delay in maturity is expected in the advanced irrigated fields. However, yield prospects on non-irrigated onions at Raymondville and along the Coastal Bend were reduced.

One of the most significant major crop losses was in cotton in areas from Corpus Christi along the Coastal Bend and as far north as San Antonio. Wherever young cotton was up in the field, it was killed. Seed loss alone will probably amount to more than $2 million.
