Valuable time is lost when we do not have this information, and consequently, a few issues of the paper may be missed during the transaction.

The News Review has approximately 1700 names on the subscription list and therefore it is impossible to remember where everyone lives. So, please, next time you move or change address, submit both new and old address.

County Residents Reluctant To Signing of Hospital Petition

Reliable reports from the County seat this week are that the proposed County Hospital plan has hit a snag.

The plan to tax the residents of the county approximately 35 percent more each year for the purpose of building and equipping a $200,000.00 county hospital, has proved very unpopular so far.

Reports are that enough qualified voter's signatures were not obtained on the petition to be presented at the regular meeting of Commissioners Court last week.

However, word has been received that as soon as sufficient signatures are obtained, a special session of the court will be called.

After that, it will be the people's choice as to whether or not they want to pay for a hospital to serve the town of Hamilton.

IN PAST FEW WEEKS—

Many New and Renewal Subscriptions

Perhaps we should start a regular feature of news and views from our subscribers, as it seems time goes so fast and we neglect reporting our renewal and new subscriptions. In the shuffle we often lose or misplace the nice letters from our readers and we do appreciate them and the nice comments, along with the subs.

Mrs. J. M. Anderson of San Angelo writes "I see my time has just about run out for the Hico paper—As I don't want to miss a copy please find enclosed a check for the paper for another year. Sure enjoy the paper so much."

Mrs. J. W. Bolton of Houston also sent in her subscription with the comment, "don't want to miss a copy"

And from Campbell, California, comes a nice letter of congratulations from an ex-Hicoite, Weldon Houston. He said, in part, "I don't know of anything that is more relaxing than to come home from work and find the old home paper just waiting to tell me what is happening in Hico. Although I have been away for 13 years, Hico still has an almost sacred place in my heart. When I see the paper, my thoughts go back to the days when we would go fishing and hunting and swimming together. Although I can't be there, you can keep me well informed through the Hico News. So will you please renew my subscription for another year." Thank you Weldon for the nice remarks, and come to see us some time.

Back when the present management took over the operations of the News Review in January, we acquired a new subscriber in Mrs. L. A. Kinser of Fort Worth. Recently she wrote the following: "Enclosed you will find two dollars for the home town paper. When time comes for it to be out I just can't resist not subscribing again. My dad (Mr. Eck Bell) was doing pretty good the last time I heard from him and my brother, Alvin, had just gotten back to Italy." We thank you, too, Mrs. Kinser.

"I have received your notice of which comes to us here at Tyler, the expiration of the News Review. Please bill us for one year on our regular advertising statement, and continue thereafter as it comes due each year as we do not want to miss an issue of your very fine newspaper," stated Mr. Millard Oates, Special Agent for Gulf States Telephone Company. He continued, "Having been closely associated with Roland Holford, and the News Review for many many years, I am looking forward to meeting both of you on my next trip to Hico in the near future." Thank you for your kind words, and we, too, are looking forward to your next visit in Hico.

Other new and renewal subscriptions received since our last writing are listed below, and are hereby gratefully acknowledged.

Postal Receipts Gain Over Last Year

A considerable increase in receipts at the local post office were reflected in a report from R. E. Jackson, postmaster, this week.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, were $15,640.44, as compared to $14,955.95 in 1954. This is an increase of $684.49.

Mr. Jackson stated that these figures are the highest since he took over the postmaster duties 13 years ago.

"As we all know, postal receipts of the local office reflects the economic trend of the community," Mr. Jackson said.

Play-Off Starts Sunday to Determine B.V. League Winner

By LEON LEWIS

Well, Dublin, Iredell and Granbury were winners in the last game of the season Sunday. So the big play-off games we have all been looking forward to, get underway Sunday, July 17, with Hico at Dublin, and Iredell at Granbury. These games are for the best 3 out of 5, with two clubs being eliminated. The remaining two will then go into the final play-off to determine who is the pennant winner.

Joe Stasey and Hico has won three out of the last six pennants, but the clubs this season have all got fast teams, and the way I see it, it will be a toss-up to guess the winner. They all come out with their best in these play-off games.

Don't fail to see them. Remember Sunday it's at Dublin and Granbury when the umpires will announce play ball promptly at 2:30 for the first game of the play-off.

Don't fail to be there, and don't be surprised at either club if they pull a rabbit out of the hat.

Mrs. Golightly Will Serve on Committee to Select 'Woman of Year'

Mrs. John Golightly of Hico has been asked to serve on a committee to select the recipient of the first annual "Woman of the Year" Award to be presented at the 1955 State Fair of Texas.

Mrs. Golightly is president of the Association of Home Demonstration Clubs in Texas.

The selection committee for the "Woman of the Year" is made up of prominent officials of 15 of the most influential women's organizations in Texas.

The State Fair award will be inaugurated on Women's Day, Oct. 19, at the Fair. The honor will be given for constructive achievement of national importance.

The "Woman of the Year" will be chosen by a committee of officers from the largest women's organizations in Texas. Mrs. J. Woodall Rodgers of Dallas, representing the Women's Department of the State Fair, is chairman of the selection committee.

Steering Committees Being Selected to Work With Group

The first of a series of meetings, purpose of which are to select steering committee members from the various towns and communities along the Upper Bosque Watershed, was held Wednesday night at Clairette.

Duties of the steering committee now being selected will be to inform and educate the people in various communities on the purpose of a project such as the one proposed for this area.

Marion Porter and Walter Spauln of the Soil Conservation Service in Stephenville met with the people of the Clairette community Wednesday night, and presented to them the plans and benefits of such a program. They showed a film on a watershed program in a northern state, entitled "Valley of Still Waters," which held a remarkable resemblance to the problems that the people along the Bosque have with overflowing. The film is a part of a program designed to create more interest in watershed projects.

Most of the film was on the treatment of the land, and applying of soil conservation measures such as terracing, contour farming, cover crops and diversion dams, to slow the run-off waters from heavy rains, and therefore prevent the erosion and washing of fertile farm bottom lands.

Mr. Porter used the Greens Creek Watershed program as an example, and pointed out that it was set up under the old Pilot Program. The Pilot program was a government experiment, and any new projects pertaining to watershed will be entirely different. He pointed out that one of the reasons that Greens Creek was selected for this particular program was that the farmers in that area had been previously practicing soil conservation measures for a number of years.

Good sound measures and practices under the Conservation Service are the roots of any such program which will be formed. The farmer has to make the first move, and agree to put in as many conservation measures as required.

The officials of the Upper Bosque Watershed, headed by Henry Clark, met in Stephenville three weeks ago and made plans for the education of the people, pertaining to the program. T. A. Randall of Hico is a director in the organization.

Two men and their wives of the Clairette community were elected at this meeting Wednesday to represent that section on a steering committee. Their duties will be to get the information to the farmers in that area and to see that they are informed on the progress of the plan. Elected to serve in this capacity were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Pruett and Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Sterling.

Mr. Porter also stated that the Upper Bosque program was one of 80 that had been sent in for approval. Seventeen have already been approved. He also commented that due to the extensive damage of the recent flood on the Bosque, the local project has a good chance of getting priority over some of the programs already approved.

Dates and places for other similar meetings will be announced later.

Those from Hico who attended the Clairette meeting were Odie Petsick, J. B. Woodard, T. A. Randall, M. I. Knudson, Richmond Herrington, Bernell Jernigan, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Conda Salmon, and E. V. Meador.

Henry Loudermilk Opens Jewelry Store In Hico

Henry Loudermilk is announcing this week the opening of a watch repair and jewelry shop, Loudermilk Jewelry, in the building formerly occupied by Roberts Jewelry.

Mr. and Mrs. Loudermilk moved to Hico, with their family, in 1948 from De Leon, and have been engaged in the cafe business five years of that time.

In a display advertisement in another section of the paper they express their thanks to everyone for the past patronage, and invite everyone in to inspect their line of watches, watch bands and costume jewelry.

It Happened Here or Near

By E. E. DAWSON

Mrs. Bettie Temple Worrell is a real old-timer, now in her nineties. She was born in Smith County, and then while she was quite young the family got western fever and moved to Comanche county. That was in the raw days when the county really earned its name, "Comanche." The Comanche Indians raided the settlement where the Temple family lived and an aunt of Mrs. Worrell was killed. That caused the family to move back to Bell county and settle to the east of Belton.

Her father was a Ranger Captain and put in a good portion of his life in Indian warfare. In the 1870's the Santa Fe railroad built its line north from Galveston and when it got to a few miles east of Belton in 1880 that independent city got a bit cocky and refused to offer any bonus for the road to build into it. The Santa Fe just started a new town all its own. Mrs. Worrell's father, J. A. Temple, she says, donated the land for the station and yards, and the town was named for him.

FAIRY

By Mrs. Eunice Massengale

It seems that summer has really arrived here, as we have had extremely high temperatures both day and night all this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ercy Parks received a message Monday morning from Odessa informing them of the death of a son-in-law, Presley McKinley, who had passed away very suddenly of a heart attack. He is the husband of the former Miss Juanita Parks, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parks. Mr. and Mrs. Parks were unable to attend the funeral services. Our sympathy is extended to the family in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Seilheimer and family of Fort Worth spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison. Mr. Seilheimer also visited one of his sisters, who lives at Priddy, and was hospitalized due to a heart ailment.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ryan of Greensboro, N. C. visited a while Saturday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Cox. They came here from Lorenzo, where they had been visiting with relatives since the death of his half-brother, Will Greer, who passed away recently. They were en route to Tennessee for a visit with some of their children and families. We would surely like to have seen them as seems we've missed them each time on the few visits they have made here. Charlie resided in this community back in the early years of this century and was one among our bunch of young folks at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Anderson of Stephenville attended church here at the Church of Christ Sunday night. They were accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Elsie Wetteman of Wyoming, who is visiting with the Andersons.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Pack of Stephenville visited Sunday with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Parks and Audie.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Little and daughter Marie, of Oklahoma City visited from Thursday until Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Brittle Little.

Mary McKandless of Fort Worth has been visiting since last Tuesday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alga Duncan and Archie. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McKandless.

The writer and her sister, Mrs. Glays Cox were in Gatesville last Friday afternoon to purchase some started pullets. We found the highway from Jonesboro to Gatesville very rough and dusty and returned by way of the 932 farm to market road leading from Purnela west of Gatesville to Hamilton by way of Ireland and Aleman. The Jonesboro to Gatesville highway has since been closed to traffic of Evant, but the 932 road is much with instructions to detour by way nearer for those living north of this highway. The Jonesboro, Gatesville highway has been under re-construction for the past several months.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison and Darrel of Dublin visited for a few minutes last Friday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family. They were on their return home from Waco where Mrs. Allison received a physical check up at the Dr. Hipp Clinic. She has been suffering of a spine muscle ailment for the past several months. She was ordered to bed for four days and is to report for further observation this Thursday.

We are glad to report that Herman Sills is still working on the cemetery. He has a portion of it burned off. Let us urge all who can to help what we can by looking after our family plots, when it is convenient to do so. Mrs. Emma Ogle handed us $2.00 last Saturday for the upkeep of the cemetery. We thank her for this donation and assure her it will be used to the best advantage. Audie Parks has served as secretary and treasurer of the cemetery association since the death of his father, the late M. E. Parks, who also served for many years. They never complained or tried to shirk their services, which we do appreciate so much and we just hope that in the near future Audie will be able to continue with this service as in the past. Any donations sent to Audie or members of the committee will be taken care of and used to the best advantage. Members of the committee are J. T. Abel, Frank Bonner, and the writer, all of Hico Route 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don and the writer spent Sunday in Dublin visiting in the home of our sister and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison and Darrel. The visit was in honor of Mrs. Sellers' birthday which was Saturday, July 9, and was a surprise visit for the Allison since knowipg Mrs. Allison was not able to be up, we prepared lunch and carried along. All enjoyed a feast of good eats at noon and cold watermelon in the afternoon. We were joined by Mr.

and Mrs. Wayne Pittman in the afternoon. Not knowing of our plans to come they had made plans to have lunch with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Pittman near Dublin. Mrs. Sellers received several nice presents.

Another birthday for July which we failed to mention last week was that of our late husband, Jesse A. Massengale, whose birthdate was July 8. We did not forget on that day but did fail to mention it in last weeks news.

We received some news items last week which were turned in too late for last weeks news. However we are sending them in this week. We mail the news each Tuesday morning by 11:15. We thank each for your news items and will see that they are included with the news letter if received by the above mentioned time of mailing.

We were sorry to learn that the former Loyd Hines Motor Company was destroyed by fire late last Friday afternoon. The fire was thought to have been caused by defective wiring. Several new tractors and used cars were destroyed.

Audie Parks is employed at present at H. & B. Food Store in Hico.

We are very sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Mazro Goyne of Waco, who passed away Monday following a long illness. She is the former Miss Lizzie McNeill of Fairy and has many friends here who will be sorry to learn of her passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Luckie of Weatherford spent Sunday in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goyne and Lynda. Mrs. Luckie is the former Rilla Loden, who was a former member of the Fairy school faculty.

Mrs. W. E. Goyne and Lynda spent Sunday night in Fort Worth with their daughter and sister, Miss Wilma Grace Goyne.

Audie Clark and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, and Miss Margie Jones of Pasadena, who is visiting friends and relatives here, visited Sunday in Fort Worth with the Clark's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Abel. Mrs. Clark, who had been visiting with her daughter and husband the past week returned home with them.

Neither Rain Nor Hail ... Nor Broken Boxes!

Red Fowler, local R.F.D. mailman, got an English car—with a right-hand drive so he can stuff mailboxes from behind the wheel.

"It's great!" Red reports. "But it would work a lot better if all box holders would follow regulations. A mailbox should be 40 inches high, on the right of the road... within reaching distance from a car window. If one is knocked down, the owner should make repairs pronto."

Come to think of it, Red is pretty good about his obligations—delivering packages, supplying stamps, cashing money orders—saving us trips to the Post Office. Let's fix up those boxes so he can get his chores done fast.

From where I sit, obligations always work both ways. For instance, I figure that I'm obliged to respect your right to enjoy your favorite beverage—be it coffee, tea, beer, buttermilk or whatever. Why? Because I'd expect you to do the same for me. The Golden Rule should be followed "to the letter" by everyone.

"As It Looks From Here" OMAR BURISON Congressman 17th District

The automobile and steel industry are seemingly pretty liberal with the consumer's money. They have agreed to substantial wage increases which will be passed on to the purchasers of automobiles or anything made of steel.

Of course, it can be said that if the price is too high, don't buy it. This, however, is not exactly the circumstance in which people of this country find themselves.

The automobile is now a necessity, and a great part of our standard of living is based on products made of steel.

Since World War II, the steel companies have granted nine wage increases, all of which have been passed on to the purchasers of steel products. This, of course, includes automobiles, but the automobile industry itself had added to it. This has nothing at all to do with the merits of a wage increase for workers in the steel and automobile plants. The point is that seemingly the steel and automobile industry have been fairly happy to grant the increases.

From all indications, the same thing happened in the case of new wage agreements in the automobile industry. A great show was made in the arguments and the final announcement of agreement was made just near the point of strike deadline. It is wondered by a great many people if the larger automobile manufacturers may not be setting the stage to make it more difficult for their smaller competitors to stay in business.

This situation reaches into the issues now before Congress regarding an increase of the Minimum Wage Law. No one should be deceived into believing that all the big manufacturing businesses are opposed to an increase of wages and fringe benefits.

There is now a tug of war on between manufacturers of the North and East and the more recent manufacturing concerns in the South and West. This is particularly true in textiles. A considerable number of manufacturers have moved to areas where labor conditions are more favorable to them, and new manufacturing concerns have preferred to locate their businesses under these conditions.

The bigger manufacturers are not too adverse to upping the cost of operation in order to put the squeeze on their smaller competitors. They can also afford the increased cost by reason of tax deductions.

As an indication of this situation, corporate income for the first three months of 1955 has risen 16 per cent. Stockholders' income is up 8 per cent. This is well and good and everyone is pleased that business has shown this upswing. At the same time, increased cost makes it pretty hard on the little man. For instance, the average worker's income for the same period has risen 7 per cent, but his take-home pay is only 1 per cent more during the same period.

If he must pay more money for the necessities of life by cost increases, wage increases may not mean so much to him.

During the same period, food

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

Every outward sign of courtroom confidence is being exhibited by Raymond Giles.

His trial on charges of taking $6,800 from the state, in connection with a Kinney County land deal, got under way July 5. Almost the entire week was spent in selecting jurors.

More than 50 witnesses were subpoenaed by the state before the trial began, but Giles' attorneys refused to show their hands by issuing early subpoenas.

Testimony is expected to consume the greater part of two weeks.

Giles, who originated the $100,000,000 veterans land program, and administered it until Jan. 1 of this year, appears to be as cool and confident as any man in the room.

Among those representing him is his son, Rogan. Others are former state senator Clint Small Sr., Clint Small Jr., and Polk Shelton. All are Austin attorneys.

Representing the state is Les Procter, district attorney of Travis County, and his two assistants, John Allen and Bob Smith.

Procter sought, but did not receive, funds from the legislature to hire extra staff members for the veterans land program cases.

Representatives from the Attorney General's office sat as spectators as the trial got under way. Procter ducked questions as to why they were not participating.

Brady land dealer E. R. Sheffield, indicted jointly with Giles, in the Kinney County deal, awaits trial after Giles. Trials are yet to come, too, in scores of other cases stemming from the sweeping inquiries into the land program, which began last November.

Parr Trial Starts Monday. A judge's attack of asthma gave South Texas political boss George Parr a breathing spell last week. But Parr faces additional difficulties in a federal income tax evasion case set for July 18 in Austin.

Parr's trial on a conspiracy charge in District Judge John R. Fuchs' court in New Braunfels was indefinitely postponed when the 69-year-old jurist was severely stricken with asthma.

Parr, along with 11 others, is under indictment for misappropriation of Benavides Independent School District funds in Duval County.

Desegregation Policy Set. It's "hands off" for the State Board of Education, in racial integration of local school districts.

School districts will get their state aid money whether they are segregated or not. Although offering the assistance of its staff in solving desegregation problems, the board made it clear that no suggestion or direction will be given as to what each processors' profits have risen 17 per cent, while the farmer's income is down 6 per cent. In addition, the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar is down 6 per cent.

Better wages, the prevention of strikes, the increase of corporate business profits are all well and good, if there are no victims in the process.

"When we talk we repeat what we already know; when we listen, we often learn something."

school district should do to comply with the U. S. Supreme Court ruling which ended public school segregation.

UT To Open Doors. University of Texas regents took three momentous steps at their July meeting.

1. They voted immediate admission of all qualified students to all divisions of the graduate school. 2. They voted to admit Negro undergraduate students, beginning with the September, 1956 term, in the main university; and at the Texas Western College branch in El Paso, this September. Admission to all other branches will be in September of 1956.

3. They also voted to set up restrictions on all admissions, based on examinations and scholastic requirements, effective in 1956. UT regents also refused to reconsider their earlier rule which banned from the campus automobiles owned by freshmen and sophomore students.

Interscholastic League. Texas public schools which admit Negroes will not be barred from Interscholastic League activities next year.

This ruling, made last week by the league's executive committee, resulted from a petition from the El Paso system regarding its status. El Paso plans to desegregate next fall.

Interscholastic League's constitution, framed before the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling against school segregation, limits membership to "any public white school."

Insurance Rates Lowered. Large industrial plants in Texas were promised lower fire insurance rates when the Insurance Commission adopted a new rating plan "for highly protected risks."

Praising the recently enacted insurance code, the commission said it is "one of the best in the nation" and every loophole in Texas insurance laws "has been closed."

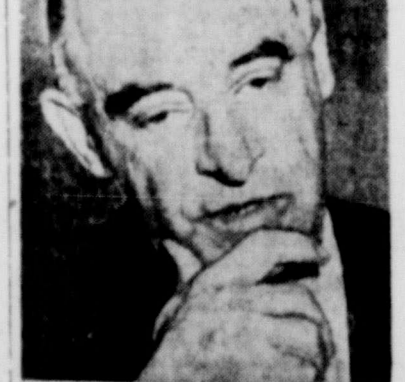

Daniel Still Hedging. U. S. Sen. Price Daniel, in Austin for a few days of visiting, dodged questions about his future political plans.

He declared he had neither "warmed up nor cooled off" in regard to a possible race for the Texas governorship. His decision, he said, cannot be made until after the first of the year.

Short Shorts. Gov. Allan Shivers is on a month's vacation with his family at Woodville. . . . Texas business activity reached a new peak in May—177 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. . . . Forty-seven full-time city and county health units now are in operation. They cover 57 counties with 62 per cent of the state's population. . . . Allen Mooney of Woodville was appointed by Governor Shivers as district attorney for the 88th judicial district.

Greenthumb entered a hardware store to buy a garden hoe and was struck in the mouth by a golf club being used by Ben Blogun, another customer at the store's invitation. The store had to pay Greenthumb a large amount of damages because Greenthumb had been implicitly invited into the store for the business of making a purchase; the store failed to use ordinary reasonable care and to warn Greenthumb of the danger.

Fortunately, not everyone who falls down the front steps gets up and rushes off to sue his host. However, it pays to remember that failure to use reasonable care to make your home safe against accidents could result in the loss of the savings of a lifetime.

HOME ACCIDENTS

"Good ol' Gus" Slack bustled around the house making the ice tea and setting out the cold watermelon. "Well, everything's ready," he told his wife, "and it's about time for our friends to get here."

As they sat there waiting for their guests Gus puffed with pride. "We are certainly lucky to have so many friends, a nice home, two fine children and money in the bank."

"Good ol' Gus" didn't know that the next day 13 law suits would be filed by his friends who would be hurt that night falling on the floors his wife had so carefully waxed that day, tripping over throw rugs, stretching their necks on his clothesline, plowing a furrow with their noses in the pile of gravel in his unlighted front yard, burning their hair off their heads on defective wiring, slipping vertebrae when the porch rail on which they were leaning gave away or being half-blinded by firecrackers thrown down the stairs by son Ronald, bitten by Rover, and having their legs bruised and broken by getting tangled up in Rover's leash.

Of course, such a case never really happened but law suits have been filed involving each of the above situations. The genial host is sometimes surprised to find that his guests' gratitude is expressed by filing law suits against him for injuries received in his home.

The law is usually more strict about accidents befalling tradesmen and others who enter your premises in the line of duty so to speak—postmen, laundrymen, meter-readers, delivery boys and the like—than it is in the case of those who enter your home for purely social reasons.

But this does not mean that a homeowner is absolved of all responsibility for injury to his guests. If he knows a dangerous condition exists, he has a duty to correct it and can be held liable for accidents which might happen if he doesn't. For example, in one case a rotted tree branch fell to the sidewalk, injuring a passerby. The court held that the owner was responsible because he knew of the defective condition and should have remedied it.

Businesses as well as homes can suffer serious losses from accident. A case which happened several years ago will illustrate this point.

Greenthumb entered a hardware store to buy a garden hoe and was struck in the mouth by a golf club being used by Ben Blogun, another customer at the store's invitation. The store had to pay Greenthumb a large amount of damages because Greenthumb had been implicitly invited into the store for the business of making a purchase; the store failed to use ordinary reasonable care and to warn Greenthumb of the danger.

Fortunately, not everyone who falls down the front steps gets up and rushes off to sue his host. However, it pays to remember that failure to use reasonable care to make your home safe against accidents could result in the loss of the savings of a lifetime.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. R. LAWRENCE

The dairyman who weighs each cow's milk each day or once a week and feeds the cow according to her production is the one who usually can ride through hard times.

Too, he knows which cows are making him money and which ones are not. This is one big advantage the dairyman has over most other livestock growers.

For a number of years, J. A. Ferguson, out on Route 3 Hico, between Fairy and Hico, has been in the dairy business producing Grade A milk. He weighs the milk from each cow each day and feeds her according to her production. He has been quite successful in his dairy operations and I believe he will continue to do so as long as he knows what his cows are producing and which ones are making him money. A cow that won't produce more than 5,000 pounds of milk during one ten-month lactation is not apt to make a profit. This can be found out only by weighing the milk.

John Williams is another dairyman on Route 3 Hico, who has been in the dairy business quite some time. This year John is constructing a trench silo and plans to feed silage to his dairy herd. Silage is one of the other essentials of successful dairying.

John is milking a herd of Holsteins and believe you me these cattle can consume monstrous amounts of silage and roughage. John plans to put up about 200 tons this year.

Bill Chumney, down on highway 281 below Hamilton, is making a trench silo too. Bill is having a little trouble digging due to rock but he will build up the sides if need be and make quite a bit of the trench above ground. This is one advantage the silo, trench silo, has. It can be built above ground as well as below and make a good silo for feed.

Bill has what is called a pipe line system in his barn. Milk goes directly from the cow to the can and saves much labor and time in the milking operations.

Henry Reich, over behind Shive, has a fine flock of turkeys that are eating their heads off. You know, when turkeys reach a certain age they get awful long-legged and lankey and eat like a horse. This is about the stage Henry's turkeys are at, but with the oats he threshed out the other day I believe he'll have enough feed to make it. Too, he has a good crop of corn and grain sorghums to help out. Anyway, Henry's turkeys should make him some money this fall (if the price is right).

George Thetford over the other side of Carlton got hold of some new kind of fertilizer this year that is put on the seed just before planting. He treated his cottonseed with it and also left a block that he did not treat.

The treated cotton is about twice the size of the untreated. Don't know too much about this but do know that you can sure tell a difference in where it was used and where it wasn't.

A week or so ago I mailed all the applications turned in to me for fish and I'm sorry but I won't be able to order any more.

It is a little late to apply for them. A total of 97 tanks are to be stocked and this amounts to 97 1/2 acres of water. Someone is going to have some good fishin' for the next few years.

New cottons with special finishes that give them a crisp surface, should not be put through the wringer. Wringer pressure causes wrinkles on "Plasticized" or "Taffetized" cottons that can never be removed. Fabrics with a pressed-on designed should be handled quickly, and limited to two minutes in cool water.

CARD OF THANKS

Damage from Silverfish may increase during hot weather. Silverfish thrive on vegetable foods having a high starch or sugar content and are very fond of moist wheat flour. They feed upon silt in paper, book bindings, wall paper and starchy insulation materials, causing much damage.

Thin fabrics such as rayon, curtains and starched clothing may be severely damaged by these insects. Five per cent DDT or two per cent chlordane household sprays will control silverfish. If dusts are preferred, use five per cent DDT or chlordane. Thorough application is important for control. Apply the insecticides to surfaces over which the insects crawl. But a word of caution: Do not use sprays around open flames.

Garden fresh vegetables are in plentiful supply now. Eaten raw in salads or cooked just right, they add color, food value and flavor to meals. Everyone needs at least three different kinds daily to furnish vitamins, minerals and needed bulk. Include one green or yellow vegetable, a potato, and one other kind in your daily menu plan. Overcooking vegetables will spoil the color, texture and flavor. It also results in some loss of food value.

These suggestions might be kept in mind when cooking vegetables. Use as little water as possible, cook in skins if possible. Add vegetables to boiling water then reduce heat, cook only until tender, serve immediately, and use liquid in some way.

Awning paint is recommended for summer fiber rugs. This waterproof paint wears well, sinks into the fibers without giving them a "painted look" and dries with a dull surface. Housewives also report that paint helps fiber rugs wear longer. Some stores stock a special paint for fiber rugs. Applying the paint is easy. Place several layers of newspapers underneath the rug. Select a stiff brush, fill with paint, then wipe off excess on the inside lip of the can. Brush the paint over the rug—covering about a foot at a time. Brush well into all the crevices and holes of the fiber and allow rug to dry thoroughly before using.

PINK BOLLWORM RESEARCH

Cotton cultural practices, a vital factor in the control of the Pink Bollworm, are being improved through research by Texas and U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists.

Texas has been experimenting to determine under what conditions the pink bollworm can and cannot survive the winter in stalks or trash left in cotton fields. The highest rate of insect kill was achieved from:

1. Fall plowing to bury infested cotton bolls and trash in the warm humid areas of southern Texas.
2. Allowing stalks to stand over-winter and be plowed under in the spring in colder northern Texas. (This method has not yet received full approval of all entomologists, due to the varying climatic conditions).

Records on the percentage of kill by early plowing under of the stalks showed a survival of only .04 per cent in Port Lavaca fields. The rate was higher, 1.35 per cent, at Waco.

In the colder regions allowing stalks to stand through the winter and then plowed under in the spring proved effective under ideal weather conditions. Prolonged cold resulted in a pink bollworm survival of only .01 at Lubbock, .01 at Vernon, and .03 at Chickasha, Okla.

Generally, spring plowing-under of infested trash and bolls was less effective than fall plowing in all locations. Test plots at Waco and Mount Pleasant were studied where bolls and trash were allowed to remain on the surface of the ground. This method resulted in nearly 22 per cent of pink bollworm survival.

The pink bollworm is the worst of all cotton insect pests. It is found in all cotton producing areas of Texas and in parts of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

This research is only one phase of an intensive program through the cotton belt aimed at developing effective ways of controlling the pest. Rigid federal and state quarantine and control programs have only slowed its spread. Complete eradication is still a remote possibility.

Angus calf sale July 8 at Fort Worth were anything but timid.

Top two loads of Hereford calves sold at $24 and $24.25, the higher figure for a load from Turner Greenwade, Clifton, and the $24 figure bought a load from Herman Carr of Weatherford.

A week later in the face of a stronger feeder market the Angus calves did even better. Top lots of feeder calves sold at $25, the highest prices in well over a year at Fort Worth.

R. E. Pratt ranch at Sulphur Springs and the H. D. Ranch at Alford. (Those fancy calves from Sulphur Springs in Hopkins County had a lot of folks looking at them and many people unfamiliar with the giant strides East Texas cattlemen are making in improvement of quality were flabbergasted. The same surprise was noted in some of the Hereford calves, especially one lot from Eastern Oklahoma that nearly copped a championship.)

Lambs Open Weak to 50 Cents Lower Monday.

Slaughter Spring lambs of good to choice kinds sold at $18 to $22.50 at Fort Worth Monday. Medium and lower grades sold from $10 to $17, a few culs under $10. Feeder Spring lambs sold from $13 to $15. These prices were 50 cents under last week's close, with spots off more.

Yearling lambs and older sheep sold steady. Fat yearling lambs cashed at $14 to $15, and the medium and lower grades sold from $8 to $12. Old ewes $4 to $5. Old bucks around $3.50 to $4. Old wethers $7 to $10.50, and two-year-old muttons $12 down.

Blue Tongue Reported in West Texas Sheep.

The San Angelo Standard Times reported last week some outbreaks of blue tongue reported in some West Texas areas, and some cases in the Fort Stockton area. Vaccination can be a help in controlling this malady if done in time, and losses can be severe in some cases.

Midsummer Cattle Movement Resumes Heavy Proportions.

Searing summer sun that scorched pastures and threatened some promising crops over much of the Southwest started the cattle and calves rolling to market this week in normal heavy seasonal numbers.

Prices on grassy cattle and calves weakened all down the line with 50 cent declines general and some sales fully $1 per hundred off.

Despite the weaker fed cattle market across the Corn Belt, the small number of fed steers and yearlings that arrived at Fort Worth sold steady to strong, and some supplementally fed grass steers were a bit higher. A shipment of Montague County fed grassers sold at $21.25 and several loads of their mates sold earlier had brought only $21.

Comparative prices at Fort Worth Monday: Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $19.00-22.50; medium and plainer kinds $11.00-18.00. Fat cows $10.00-13.00; canners and cutters $6.00-10.00; bulls $10.00-14.00. Slaughter calves $10.00-19.00; stocker steer calves $21.50 down; steer yearlings $19.50 down; stocker cows $8.00-12.00.

Lots of Feed in Making; Low Hog Prices Seen.

Butcher hogs topped at $18.50 to $18.75 at Fort Worth Monday, a gain of 25 cents over last week's close. Sows at $11 to $16 were steady to strong.

On nationally circulated agricultural tip-sheet that originates in Washington says some observers are fearing a $12.00 top on hogs next winter when the big crop in the making goes to town. It quotes others as saying something like $15.00 hogs is in prospect.

While that $12.00 figure looks too bearish, it is a fact that if the weather is kind for the rest of the crop season the feed grain production, especially corn and grain sorghums, is going to be tremendous.

Some forecasters say if the crop makes, next winter could bring $1 to $1.25 corn, with more "free corn" available from acreage planted outside quotas.

At any rate it looks like a big year for feeding livestock and poultry coming up in the next 12 months and that the feeder will have to couple good management with good judgment to make it a really big profitable year.

Feeder Calf Buyers Showed Little Fear!

Along this line it is noteworthy that feeder calf buyers at the Hereford calf sale June 30, and the Most folks take a vacation in the summertime. But not I. This is my extra-busy season.

During hot weather, I have to work harder than ever, keeping folks cool with fans, evaporative coolers and air conditioners. Most families have more washing and ironing to do. And they rely on me to furnish the extra refrigeration, extra ice cubes and cold drinks that hot weather calls for.

Naturally this extra work is reflected in the wages you pay me. But the difference is small compared to the comfort I provide. I'm still your lowest-cost servant and the more you use me the less I cost you per hour.

Thirteen Steps to Alcoholism

(Ed Note: This is the first of a two-part feature on alcoholism, which was submitted to us for publication).

Once you start down the road to alcoholism it grows progressively harder to stop. This fact has been known almost from the beginning of time, but only in recent years has medical science given study to finding out the WHY. They have concluded that excessive drinking indicates more than a WEAK WILL, it indicates a sick personality. It is a disease. From the research at Yale has been broken down into 13 merges a pattern of drinking that steps, as a base average. Some of you may recognize the pattern. If it is past Step 3 we advise you to urge the person to contact one of the A-A groups.

1. You have begun to drink. You find that liquor, taken in moderation, can serve a friendly social purpose. You have a cocktail now and then, or a few beers, or a bit of wine. Once in a while you take too much, but in the morning you can't stand the sight of liquor; and after the hangover you are perfectly all right.

The odds are very great that you never will go past this step. They are still greater if you stick to beer or other beverages of low alcoholic content. Otherwise you move, almost imperceptibly, to the next step.

2. You start having "Blackouts". You are getting more or less drunk with some regularity. You are one of a crowd that likes to drink quite a bit, particularly on week ends. You enjoy this, but you feel you can stop any time you want to.

Then one night you put away your usual "party quota". Next day you find you recall nothing after a certain point in the evening. A period of your life simply is gone for good.

This is not "passing out" or drinking until you fall asleep or lose consciousness. It is a kind of amnesia, or loss of memory. If you are cautious, it doesn't happen again. If it does happen again—watch out.

3. You find liquor means more to you than to others. About the time you start having "blackouts" or a little later, you change from sipping drinks to gulping them. You want that "kick" more than you use to. You also start "sneaking" drinks; during a party you take one or two extra when no one is looking, or even before the party you have a couple to be sure you will enjoy yourself.

At this point you still can stop drinking if you really want to. But if you do not stop (or at least slow down and stay slowed down for keeps) your chances of becoming an alcoholic are very high.

DANGER LINE

4. You consistently drink more than you mean to. After your first "blackout" you find that almost every time you take a drink you drink more than you had planned. You go into a bar at 5:30, after work for a couple of quick ones—you are still there at closing time. Or, you go to a party firmly resolved to behave yourself—and you wind up drunk without knowing how it happened. You still are not driven to drink. You control whether you will drink tomorrow or two years from now. But you cannot control the amount you will drink on a given occasion.

Along with "loss of control" goes the first effect of drinking on your everyday conduct. This is extravagant behavior in money matters. You start buying things you don't need, and paying too much for them. You tip right and left. You run up bills, you pick up checks in restaurants. You don't know it, but you are showing that liquor has helped you overcome a feeling of inferiority.

5. You start excusing yourself for drinking. Unless you understand your loss of control, you will have begun building up excuses for it. In spite of appearances, you tell yourself, you really can handle liquor. But, you've had a hard day; or it's your best friend's birthday; or the weather has gotten you down. There's always a reason why you drink too much.

The fact is that, at least unconsciously, you now feel guilty about drinking. You have begun to erect a structure of alibis, excuses and falsehoods that will grow steadily if not checked.

6. You start taking "eye-openers." You begin taking a drink the first thing in the morning to get you started for the day. You take it not for pleasure or socialability but as a kind of medicine. You tell yourself you NEED it. You are feeling depressed, a bit shaky, and very possibly guilty for the heavy drinking of the night before. The drink eases your conscious. It lifts your ego. And, though you don't know it, it helps strengthen the process of self-deceit which is making you more and more dependent on alcohol.

(To Be Concluded)

EVERY time there is a drastic change in automobile styling someone is bound to ask the question, "Well, what can they do to cars next?"

There's always an answer to the question. They can make them longer, narrower, shorter, wider, or higher. They can also experiment with the arrangement of chrome, the grill, bumpers and head and tail lights.

The 1955 accent is on color and lots of it. You can't save money over last year's prices, but you can get more colors and more car for the price.

Maybe I am old fashioned, in one respect, but I don't approve of one thing auto manufacturers are doing. It's great to offer various models and all the colors of the rainbow in car styling but why keep up a continual race to see who can put the most horsepower into engines—and then offer optional equipment that will even add to that horsepower?

Our highways—and our laws—restrict the speed at which a vehicle may travel safely, so what is the future in developing an automobile that will "cruise" at 80 or 90 mph (and has a speedometer reading up to 120 mph)? Where can you drive so fast. The tragic answer is that potential killers can and often do get away with terrific speeds on roads hardly safe above 50. That is, they get away with it until the man with the scythe (or the law, if they're lucky) catches up with them.

We live in the age of speed, it's true, but we should confine our speed demons to the airplanes and the seaways where at least it's comparatively safe and there is not near so much traffic.
