

Texas Joins 34 Other States Today In Collecting Sales Tax

NOTE: The following de- information is being re- from "The Texas Observ- weekly newspaper publish- Austin. It is the most com- and detailed information by this newspaper, and the new sales tax law

Friday, September Texas consumers must pay a tax of two cents on the dol- when they buy such things as radios, TV sets, pans, dishes, knives and kitchen appliances from and refrigerators to cof- lights, gas and electri- garden tools, hand tools of kinds, paint, supplies and used in auto repairs and repairs and improvements, baby furniture and supplies, (except religious ones), cards, paintings, newspapers, shoes, clothes (except outer garments priced $10 and less, personal accessories like and wallets, soft drinks, restaurant meals, including all drinks, ice, candy.

Fruit juices, drugs and medi- cines bought without a doctor's prescription, hearing aids, shaving supplies, grooming and beau- ty supplies, soaps, writing paper, pencils, artists' supplies, musical instruments, window coolers, fans and air conditioners, heaters, sewing machines, vacuum clean- ers, brooms, bicycles, sports equipment, boats and boat mo- tors, cameras, photographic sup- plies, commercial pictures, camp- ing supplies, clocks and watches, jewelry, pets, flowers, luggage and caskets.

Roughly 180,000 Texas retail- ers must obtain permits to do business from the Comptroller and file quarterly returns on the sales taxes they collect. The Comptroller, Robert Calvert, has locked in his staff to write the necessary forms and regulations.

Calvert confirms that the new "limited sales, excise, and use tax" does not fall on services or real estate, but solely on tangible personal property, which the law defines as "personal property which may be seen, weighed, measured, felt, or touched, or which is in any other manner perceptible to the senses."

The basic rate of tax is one penny per 50 cents of the retail sales price, that is, two percent. "The tax hereby imposed shall be collected by the retailer from the consumer," states the law.

The use of tokens or stamps in collecting the tax is prohibited and retailers are forbidden to tell their customers in any way that the tax will not be added to the retail price or will be absorbed or refunded by the retailer.

This is the sales tax on "each retail sale":

One to 24 cents, no tax; 25 to 74 cents, one cent; 75 cents to $1.24, two cents; $1.25 to $1.74, three cents; $1.75 to $2.24, four cents; and another penny tax "for each additional fifty cents of purchase, or fraction thereof."

Utilities are given special permission in the law to bill their customers "in one lump sum cov- ering the utility sales price plus the tax." Every other retailer is required by the law to give ev- ery customer a receipt for sales or use taxes paid.

Citizens may include the amount of sales tax they pay in itemized deductions on their federal income tax forms, just as they may now include, in their itemized deductions, state gaso- line sales taxes. This is the only way they can reduce their fed- eral income tax on account of the state sales tax.

"We have been having all-day conferences ever since the thing was passed," Calvert told the Ob- server. "They worked on it eight months and gave us a week. But we are going to do the best job we can."

He said "everyone that sells anything" retail must have a permit from his office to do so, including wholesalers if they sell to the public. His office is now preparing a mail-out, including forms and a short summary of the law, to those 160,000 persons now registered with him under the old chain store tax. He be- lieves another 20,000 or more per- sons will need to come forward to his office and apply for per- mits to sell goods retail. "If they don't, they can't sell," he said.

Calvert is certain his office will not prescribe a single form for receipts to customers. We'll hold that any type receipt will suffice—cash register, shop tick- et, or regular invoice." But he confirmed that the law requires "some kind of receipt for every sale."

Exemptions are specified for some kinds of consumer goods, some kinds of business and ag- ricultural purchases, some ele- ments in sale prices, and some kinds of buyers.

Consumer exemptions:

"Food products for human con- sumption" are exempt. However, this does not mean all food.

Specified as exempt are cereal, milk, oleomargarine, meat, pool-try, fish, eggs, vegetables, fruit, spice, sugar, coffee, tea and co- coa products.

Specified as not exempt are water, including mineral bottled water, carbonated water, and carbonated and noncarbonated packaged soft drinks and diluted juices where sold in liquid, frozen, or dry-mix forms; and ice and candy. In other words, soft drinks, fruit juices, ice, and can- dy will be taxed.

Restaurant meals are also taxed. So also are school meals "served by public or private schools, school districts, student organizations, or Parent-Teach- er Associations pursuant to an agreement with the proper school authorities, to the students or teachers of an elementary or sec- ondary school during the regular school day." It appears from this language that meals served to college students will be taxed.

Medical preparations are ex- cluded from the food exemption entirely. Then "drugs and medi- cines when prescribed by a licensed physician" are exempted. This means that things like aspi- rin, first-aid kits, and prepara- tions against colds will be tax- ed if one buys them without a doctor's prescription. Exempted by name are "braces, spectacles, hearing aids, and orthopedic and dental prosthetic appliances."

A number of products are ex- empt on grounds they lead to the production of food. These include "any form of animal life" feed, seeds, plants, and fertiliz- er. Farm machinery and equip- ment is exempt if it is used to produce food, feed, or other ag- ricultural products.

All leasing and renting is ex- empt from the tax.

An exemption entitled "work clothes" applies to "outer wear- ing apparel" which sells for $10 or less retail. A point is made that this exemption does not ap- ply to clothing accessories.

Exempted as already taxed are motor vehicles, trailers, cigar- ettes, cigars and tobacco pro-you have wondered why we published any more infor- mation about the sales tax which goes into effect Friday, then read again.

Frankly, we don't know any- thing about the new tax than you and a person can't very well know on a matter that he doesn't know anything about.

There are so many differences of opinion on what is taxable and what is not that we barely know what we are supposed to collect on our own business.

Story elsewhere in this issue tells about the most complete information of any received, and suggests that merchants and individuals alike read the story in entirety. The information is not official, but most of its contents came from the man who makes the rulings on doubtful cases.

We won't have nearly as much to do with the tax as some other- wise merchants, especially grocery- stores. They have a real problem determining what to tax and what not. For instance, people are supposed to be buying many items with their groceries which are not edible and are taxable. All household supplies are subject to tax and when the checker in- terprets your bill he will charge these items from your food purchases. Majority of things bought will be exempt, but there are some things which will be taxed, such as cold drinks, fruit juices, etc.

What is the best way for a mer- chant to collect the tax is to charge extra for anything on the tax list for the first month or two, or until a ruling is re- ceived on what is actual taxable and what is not.

The buying public can be of tremendous help to merchants by cooperating with them, and not charging them for the extra charge. If they didn't pass the bill—they only collect the fee for the

TRUMAN E. ROBERTS

First Grid Game of Season Tonight at Local Stadium

In one of the earliest games on record, the Hico Tigers will take the field tonight, Friday, in their first test of the year, taking on Gatesville Training School in the inaugural game.

Kick-off time is 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

Hico, in a re-building program, will be slight favorites to win the contest. However, Coaches Jack Barnett and David Anderson ex- pect a hard game from the visi- tors.

One other injury in the Tiger camp this week trimmed the squad still further. Lloyd Hyles, sophomore-to-be, received a bro- ken collar bone in drills Monday and is out for the season. The other two members of the team on the doubtful list for the first contest are Harold Hathcock and Alan Solsbery. Hathcock, senior letterman, probably won't play, but Barnett stated at mid-week that Solsbery would probably be available for limited duty. He had a sprained wrist, and Hathcock has been hobbled nearly two weeks with a bad ankle.

The squad is rounding into shape about as expected, with several boys showing up good in drills.

Season tickets will be available at the gate Friday night, and carry a $2.00 discount in price.

Some 300 Hico students will trek back to school Tuesday morn- ing for the beginning of the 1961-62 term, and everything is in readiness for the fall opening.

Activities will officially get un- derway tonight, Friday, when the local football team takes the field for the first game of the season in a premature start.

Four new faces will be among the teaching staff. New members of the faculty are Mrs. W. B. Hill, Mrs. Marilyn Johanson, Jimmie Ramage and David Anderson. Mrs. Hill will be seventh grade teach- er, Mr. Ramage will teach the fifth grade, Mrs. Johanson is the new homemaking teacher, and Mr. Anderson is assistant coach.

Other faculty members are: Mrs. R. E. Jackson, first grade; Mrs. Avo Rutledge, second grade; Mrs. O. C. Cook, third grade; Mrs. Bernel Jerngan, fourth grade.

Robert McCutcheon and David Anderson will divide time as sixth grade home room teacher.

Frank Bonner, eighth grade and elementary principal.

High school faculty members are: O. C. Cook, superintendent, Mrs. Louise Angell, Mrs. Lucille Brum- met, Jack Barnett, Harold Walk- er, Robert McCutcheon, and Mrs. Johanson.

Civic Club Will Resume Weekly Meetings Wednesday

Hico Civic Club members agreed this week to resume regular weekly meetings in- stead of the twice-monthly ses- sions which have been observ- ed during the summer months.

The new schedule calls for the first meeting next Wed- nesday, Sept. 6.

Preliminary Work Completed On New Baseball Park

Construction of a baseball park for Little and Pony League has begun. About 235 loads of dirt have been placed on the lot west and adjacent to Hico Stadium, and has been leveled and laid out for the new field.

Work on back stop, bases, right field wall is due to start this week. Lighting has not been secured to date, but is hoped that this can be accomplished in the near fu- ture. It is also being planned to plant bermuda grass on the com- plete field the first part of Sep- tember if seed can be secured.

Some temporary seating has been donated, but bleachers will be built as soon as possible.

Needed at this time is one-inch mesh wire for the backstop, a few 2x4's for bracing and lots of vol- unteer workers.

Anyone wishing to donate either labor, materials or money for this project may contact E. A. Willingham or James Cryer.

When completed this field will be used for little league, pony league, playground for school, adult softball games, if desired, also a practice field for the football team, thus saving wear and tear on the regular athletic field. Thus a year-round activity area for the entire community in the making.

H. W. (BILL) ALLEN

Final Rites Held Friday at Hamilton for Judge Allen

Funeral services for H. W. (Bill) Allen, judge of the 52nd Judicial District, were held at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Hamilton. Judge Al- len died at 7 a.m. Aug. 23 in a Dallas hospital after serving less than eight months of the four- year term as judge to which he was elected last year. He was 53.

Judge Allen's legal career in- cluded 11 years as district at- torney of the 32nd District, comprised of Bosque, Coryell, Comanche and Hamilton counties. He was elected district judge in 1960 to succeed R. B. Cross of Gatesville, who re- tired January 1.

Judge Allen was a native and lifelong resident of Hamilton. His father, the late Silas R. Allen, practiced law in Hamilton 50 years and Judge Allen became his father's law partner after obtaining his law degree from the Uni- versity of Texas.

First appointed district attor- ney by Gov. James V. Allred, he was elected to the office five times before retiring Jan. 1, 1949 to return to private practice.

He was elected county attorney of Hamilton County in 1956, re- signing to run for judge.

Active in state politics, Judge Allen was a past president of the district bar association and a member of the state bar. He was a Mason, a Shriner, a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and the First Baptist Church.

Carlton School to Start 1961-62 Term Tuesday

(Carlton school news written by Supt. A. J. Barron)

The Carlton Board of Education adopted the following calendar for the 1961-62 school year.

School to open Sept. 5 (this is the first time in recorded history that Carlton has not had school on Labor Day).

The following holidays will be observed: Nov. 23 and 24; Dec. 25 through 29, and Jan. 1.

Last day of school is May 18 if time has not been lost due to bad weather or illness.

A. J. Barron, Superintendent of School, announced that the teachers will meet at 9 a.m. on Sept. 1 for their first faculty meeting and workshop. This could hardly be called a get-acquainted meeting because Mr. E. D. Reeves, coach, is the only new faculty member. He is already well known in Carlton.

At this meeting new programs will be discussed and revised, incorporating new ideals which teachers bring back from summer school. Nearly fifty per cent of Carlton faculty attended summer school.

Mr. Bill Traweck will teach Vocational Agriculture this year. He is not new to Carlton; we just let him rest a year.

The Carlton community is looking forward to another successful school year.

CARLTON SCHOOL HAS NEW BUS GARAGE

Mr. Wayne Chapman donated the gravel, and County Commissioner Fred Rainwater directed the moving of the material for the new school bus garage. About 100 loads of gravel were dumped in the garage, in front of the garage, and on the road leading from the gas pump on the school ground. In asking Mr. Chapman for the gravel, Supt. Barron stated that Wayne said "If it is for the school and you can find anything suitable on the place, take all that is needed."

The following men made up Commissioner Rainwater's crew: Mr. J. C. Needham, grader; Mr. Andy Hutton, loader; and Mr. Artie Oxley, Mr. Cecil Luckie, and Mr. Chock Little, truck drivers. It is not necessary to say how hard these men worked, when it is stated that they moved over one hundred truck loads in one-half day with three trucks.

Since Mr. Needham could not get the grader in the bus garage Supt. Barron has over 20 loads to level with a rake if he cannot find a tractor with a blade. The big thing that Carlton is thankful for is that their buses are out of the mud on the school ground, and on much of the school bus routes in Comanche and Erath Counties. All of the routes in Hamilton County are gravelled.

CARLTON SCHOOL WARNED FOR SUPERINTENDENT TEACHING FOUR CLASSES

On April 24, 1961, Supt. A. J. Barron received a letter from Dr. W. R. Goodson, Director of School Accreditation, which stated that Carlton was in violation of Principle VIII, Standard 12, of the Principles and Standards for Accrediting Elementary and Secondary Schools. This principle states that "Since the superintendent of schools is authorized by the Minimum Foundation Program Act for administrative duties, he must not teach more than three classes." According to Supt. Barron, this is the first year that the Texas Education Agency has questioned this practice.

It has been a standard practice to allow 60 minute periods for science, bookkeeping, vocational agriculture, and vocational home-making; and allowing 50 minutes for the other classes. Principle X states that "Each teacher has a daily or weekly teaching plan with definite provisions for flexibility," but also states that "Each secondary school class should have a minimum of 55 minutes net time for instruction." The 1961-62 school year, Supt. Barron states, will include seven periods of 55 minutes with 2 minutes between classes. Dr. Goodson's letter further states "It will, therefore be necessary that we recommend that school be warned for violation of these accreditation standards when the State Commission on School Accreditation meets." School Accreditation meeting for the year is given for the school to make corrections, according to Supt. Barron, necessary changes were made within two weeks after Dr. Goodson's letter arrived.

Governor Warns of Rising Sales Tax If Spending is Not Curtailed

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

Austin, Aug. 30.—Gov. Price Daniel, pointing to the record of most other states that have a general sales tax, warns Texans that without concerted efforts to shave state spending the Texas tax could grow to three or four per cent in the future.

More than that, he said, unless there is "prudent economy and reorganization of state funds and services," a state income tax might become law.

To make his point, Governor Daniel reported that two-thirds of the 34 states that have general sales taxes have increased the rate to three per cent or more, and there are now four states charging a four per cent sales tax.

He again made clear his dislike for the two per cent Texas tax, but added:

"So much for the good and bad will result from the new tax bill. On September 1 it will be the law of our state, and as long as the law is in effect, it behooves all of us, whether we like it or not, to cooperate in its enforcement. This I shall do, and I believe every good citizen will do likewise."

Meanwhile State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is being swamped with questions about the new tax. After checking with other states which have pioneered in this field, he has become reconciled to the likelihood that confusion will reign for some time to come. A spokesman for his office pointed out that "California and Illinois got a sales tax in 1933 and they're still issuing rulings."

The Texas Research League has noted that the tax bill exempts sales of animals ordinarily eaten by humans. Also feed for such animals. Exempt too are seeds and plants edible by humans and raised for sale, fungicides and insecticides for such plants, and fertilizer used on lands where such food is grown.

But the researchers say this exemption would not apply to tropical fish, grass, seed and fertilizer for lawns and rose bushes.

More Work For Next Session.

Governor Daniel has found several more items to be submitted to the next special session of the Legislature. He plans to call the lawmakers back to Austin again before the end of the year.

Daniel's expanding package now includes maintenance funds for farm roads, loan shark control, municipal annexation, tourist attraction, lobbyist controls, adding banks to the abandoned property seizure law, improved law enforcement measures, and action on juvenile crime.

"As long as Texas continues to grow," he said "there will be more problems to solve, but there are some which should not be delayed. It will be my aim to meet the most urgent of these later this year or in January of next year."

Governor Daniel vetoed the second year appropriation of $15,000,000 for the construction of new farm to market roads, in an effort to free these funds for maintenance. The $15,000,000 for this purpose for the first year of the new biennium was not affected.

A law passed in 1949 provides for the use of this yearly amount for new construction. But the Governor insists "It is just as important to maintain our vast and important 33,000 miles of farm road system as it is to build new roads. Maintenance costs, now amounting to $18,000,000 annually are taken from the basic intrastate highway fund which is the poorest of all department programs."

Blue Law Confusion

Under the new Texas "Blue Law" shopping for certain items on Saturday or Sunday may prove a chore.

The law that started out as a device to hit the discount houses operating on Sunday was changed to include Saturday as an alternate because the lawmakers felt a straight Sunday closing law might appear discriminatory to some religious groups who observe the Sabbath on other days.

Included in the list of items merchants are not allowed to sell on one of the two weekend days are lawn mowers, toys, motor vehicles, clothing, furniture, kitchen utensils, air conditioners, home appliances, jewelry, cameras, radios, and television sets.

The law has teeth—a fine of $100 is provided for the first conviction, going up to $500 and six months in jail for subsequent convictions.

Labor Day Traffic Dangerous

Governor Daniel has called for an all-out effort to make this Labor Day weekend the safest ever recorded in Texas.

He has issued a special appeal to sheriffs and police chiefs across the state to join with the Texas Department of Public Safety in a special emphasis program designed to remove law violators from the highways.

Statistics indicate most fatal accidents involve at least one violation of the law, with excessive speed and driving while drinking the leading causative factors.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS Director, earlier announced that some 150 extra patrolmen from the department's other uniformed services will join the regular Highway Patrol force for the three-day holiday during which, it

Next week we will welcome the Hico school bus when it will travel through this area picking up the school girls and boys for the 1961-62 term. Even though we will not have a child in Hico school this year we want to be interested in our girls and boys around here. Still many of the teachers that taught in Hico school the past 12 years will be there to teach again this year. Being a room mother several years at the school brought me closer to several of these teachers during the past 12 years. I learned to love them very much and will say good luck to them this term. The three Clairette boys that finished Hico school last spring plan to enter Tarleton State College this fall. We wish them luck.

Most everyone who are most don't fall clothes and see you want to wear a sun- fine, but just remember the Tigers play their game this week.

WASH DAY

Out a ways old black wash pot where the was boiled. Lots of the wind threw us a curve from the wrong direc- tending the smoke all over it was possible we caught ater to use in the wash pot, we all took turns drawing from the other tubs, but it from a faucet—it was by and chain from the well. winter this was sure a cold We sorted the clothes in 3 one white, one colored, and daddy's work clothes. The clothes were rubbed on the board and boiled in the pot dye soap had been cut into shavings (Mamma always made this soap) then lifted from the pot with an old broom stick. The colored ones were rubbed, rinsed, blued and starched.

When we got a tub of rinsed ones away we went to hang them on the line—in the back yard, in the front yard, on all fences and many times spread on the grass. By the time the last piece was hung up my aching back had had it, but you know that mamma had just gotten started, she took the suds water, scrubbed all the porches, dining room and kitchen and by that time the clothes had begun to dry so she had us bring them in and we started ironing. Each of us did our own clothes and mamma did the sheets and daddy's things. Maybe all of this is the way I get so tired just thinking about washday, but I'd do it all again to have a home like ours.

The Road of Success -

By DONALD HUGHES

When a man sets a goal for himself and achieves that goal, then it could be said that he is successful. The road of success might be compared with the road of life, that is, it has joys as well as its sorrows.

If we were to stand at the top of some high mountain, we might see the mythical road of success. This road could be compared with the tortuous backwoods roads of days gone by. We see that there are ruts and forks in the road as well as hills to climb before a traveler will reach his destination. At a second glance, we might see just such a man as he trudges towards his goal.

As we watch him, he stumbles in a rut in the road. It is here that he gains confidence from the encouragement of friends and neighbors. They bolster his spirits, so he rises, and perhaps with a little more determination, journeys on.

As he continues on his journey he appears to be daydreaming and takes the wrong fork in the road. When he discovers his mistake, his hopes and dreams disappear and he returns to reality. Upon returning to reality, he is confident that he has learned his lesson and in the future will be more watchful.

Back on the right road now, he comes to a river that he must cross before climbing the hills and reaching his destination. He must be wary here for the water is swift and treacherous and he might easily be engulfed in his own frustration and self-pity. However, he is fortified with knowledge he has gained from his past experiences and successfully crosses over into the hill country.

He is in the hill country and on the last leg of his journey. He begins to climb and can see his goal at the top of one such hill. It seems so close and yet so far away. He is tired now, if only he can steady himself so that he might reach it. As he reaches the top and his goal, he is exhausted.

but he is also filled with elation of having achieved his goal. His success if life depends on where he will stop. He can stop here, contented and satisfied, or he can set new goals and journey on to achieve them.

Profit & Range Conservation

By LESLIE R. HEREFORD Range Conservationist

From their own information and calculations 92 ranchers in nine different meetings in seven Soil Conservation Districts in Central Texas, determined that some ranches engaged in general ranching operations returned $3.80 per acre while others in the same area returned only 90c per acre. What was the difference in these ranches?

The answer is rather simple. Since both were located in the same general area with the same kind of country and similar soils, it was the management.

What was the difference in management? One was properly grazed, with approximately 50 per cent of the total annual growth left on the land at the end of the grazing season. The other was heavily grazed with little of the total annual growth remaining.

What is the advantage of leaving 50 per cent of the grass on the ground? Agricultural research has shown that range plants do best where less than 50 per cent of the annual growth is grazed each year. On heavily stocked ranches the tall high producing plants are gradually killed out because the livestock graze more than 50 per cent of the plants. These high producing plants are replaced by low quality plants that can survive the heavy grazing.

On the heavily grazed ranches the 90c per acre represented true returns if the rancher owned his livestock and did the labor on the ranch. The interest on investment in fences, barns, livestock shade and water facilities, winter feed bills, taxes on land and livestock, replacement of breeding herds, costs on operating a pickup, shearing and bagging and livestock association fees were deducted from the gross returns. The same list of expenses were deducted from the gross returns from the properly grazed ranch and the result was $3.80 per acre.

If interest on investments in fences, livestock water facilities and sheds and taxes on land were not deducted, the return on the heavily grazed ranch was $2.30 per acre and $5.25 per acre on the properly grazed ranch.

Information from these 92 ranchers indicated that the feed bills averaged four times as much on the heavily grazed ranches as compared with properly grazed ranches.

Anyone interested in ranching operations would automatically ask why there is so much difference. The answer again is simple. The heavily grazed ranch has been managed this way so long that the only grasses present are low producing plants such as buffalo grass, curly mesquite, three-awns (needle grass) and annual weeds and grasses. The better grasses that may be present have been grazed so short that they can produce only a fraction of their potential. The properly grazed ranch has a good stand of side-oats grama, little bluestem and Indian grass which has been grazed moderately for a number of years. It should be remembered that these ranches have approximately the same potential production because they are the same kind of country with similar soils. What has caused the difference in production? The main difference is the number of livestock used on the ranches. The average of the nine meetings indicated that where heavy grazing was practiced, a 1,000 acre ranch has 147 animal units, while the properly grazed ranch has 82 animal units. The ranching sections on these seven districts contain over 2 million acres of rangeland, and ranchers agree that conservation ranching does pay.

ducts, motor fuels, alcoholic beverages, water, and telephone and telegraph service.

Freight charges are exempted from the sales tax if the common carrier buys the property and ships it under a bill of lading to a point outside the state.

"Gas and electricity" are exempt, but only for business and farming purposes. The language exempts them "when used in industrial, manufacturing, mining, agricultural, dairy, or poultry operations or pumping water for irrigation or for electrical purposes."

The tax will not apply to cash discounts, labor installation costs any federal retail sales tax, finance, carrying or service charges or interest, charges for transportation after sale, storage and use for the purpose of transporting the property outside the state.

Here is how the sales tax is set up:

The basic idea is a tax of two percent of the retail sales price of tangible personal property sold in Texas for consumption, use, or storage. Goods sold for resale or for incorporation into products to be marketed later are not taxed; neither are services or real estate.

If a contractor or a repairman repairs personal property or improves real estate for a lump-sum price, he is considered the consumer of any tangible personal property he uses in the work and pays the sales tax on it.

The law places the burden of proving that a given sale is not subject to the sales tax directly upon the seller.

It presumes "that all gross receipts are subject to the tax until the contrary is established. The burden of proving that a sale of tangible personal property is not a sale at retail is upon the person who makes the sale" unless he takes from his buyer a certificate that the property was bought to resell, lease, or rent it.

Evidently to make sure nobody gets through the law's close-woven net of definitions and requirements, another tax is also imposed—a "use tax"—on the storage, use, or other consumption of purchased tangible personal property at the rate of two percent. This tax falls on the buyer, not the seller, and the buyer's liability "is not extinguished until the tax has been paid to this state."

The retailer keeps back one per cent of the taxes otherwise due from him as his fee for collecting them. If he pre-pays his tax based on an estimate for the quarter, he gets another two per cent of the total; most retailers will try to do this considering the size of the incentive. If the retailer is late getting his tax money in, he forfeits all payment for collecting.

A retailer who fails to report or to pay the tax must pay additionally up to 10 per cent of the amount due; if there is fraud or intent to evade, the penalty is 25 per cent. The Comptroller may sue for unpaid taxes. Retailers and buyers are required to keep records on the taxes for not less than three years "in such form as the Comptroller may reasonably require."
