An ingenious new one-man parachute boat for emergency use on single-seater fighter planes is being tested by American armed forces. Ralph Douglas had it inflated in less than 10 seconds in a demonstration of the new life-saver. It's attached to the pilot's seat.

Rev. C. C. Dollar Writes The Star Of His Work In Alabama Town

The following letter written by Rev. C. C. Dollar, former pastor of the Congregational Church here will be of interest to his many friends of Friona and community. He tells of his work in Alabama and of conditions there which compare interestingly with present conditions in this locality. The letter reads:

10 Collins St. Lanett, Ala. Mr. J. W. White, Friona Star. Dear "Uncle John," I am always thinking of you Texas people, although I haven't been writing to you much. I have been keeping up with the news by reading the Friona Star. It is like getting a letter from someone there once each week, with all the news and "gossip." We learn from your "little papah" about the Reeves going to Indiana, about the young men leaving for military service, about the business trips to Amarillo, about the changes in the school faculty, about Mr. Welch having soy beans to sell, about the weather, etc., and we appreciate the visits of the Star very much. I have been especially enjoying the "Chants of the Chanticleer," see if this old rooster can't be induced to chant lots each week. You see, to anyone far away from "home," every little item of news is welcome. Where is Roy this summer? Does he still help you print? Tell him "hello" for both of us. Also Orma. Bill is with the Sea Bees isn't he? It seems that quite a bunch of the young married men who were in Friona when we left, are now in the service. Not many married men have come from this Chattanooga Valley area, there are so many young single men to draw the quota from. But over in Georgia, lots of married men are being called. None of my four brothers have had to go. From what I see in the paper, the church is moving along nicely. I'm glad of that. I wish Mr. Smith well in his new work there. I suppose he is back from his stay in Colorado by now. If Chester Brown is still there, give him my greetings and best wishes. I was with him a week in Oklahoma last summer, and I ked him. We have had a vacation church school this summer, and a revival. We added 17 to our church roll. That makes a total of 390 members on the roll; but I don't know where half of them are. Certainly I never see them at church. Our church is a large building, with ten Sunday School rooms; but we have 13 classes, so we are three rooms short. We plan to put three more rooms under the church at some early date, if we can get the materials. I am enjoying our new work all right, although it keeps me awfully busy. But frankly, Florence isn't tickled to death here. She says she likes Friona much, much better. I make it a point to like whatever place I am in. But I can truthfully say I liked the Panhandle country mighty well, after I got accustomed to the flat country. We live very near the Chattanooga here, and less than half a mile from Georgia. We live only five miles from my parents and 28 miles from Florence's parents. This is less than ten miles from where I was born; so you see I am just about where I was 38 years ago. We have had a pretty nice garden this summer, and have done lots of canning. I'll bet you have things yet that "Aunt Flo" canned. She was a thrifty soul. God bless her memory. Crops are unusually good around here. I have never seen so much pretty corn before in these parts. There was a heavy crop of blackberries. Florence and I picked nine gallons in four hours one day. We'd like to share them with you if we were near enough. There is a bumper crop of figs, too. They are my favorite fruit. The mills here are running 24 hours a day and people are kept busy. Most of my members work in the cotton mills and dye plants. The biggest dye plant in the South is here at Lanett. How are you feeling these days? I hope you are as pert as when I last saw you—able to dance a jig! Give my regards to the fellows who stop by the Star office to "chew the rag," such as F. W. Reeve, John Silver-tooth, George McLean, Jerry (Continued on Page 4)

J. T. GREEN IN INDIA
The following letter is from J. T. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Green, of this city. The letter is written from somewhere in India, and reads as follows:

India, July 19, 1942
Dear Mother and Dad,
I wonder if you are getting any of my letters and if so, why I can't get any from home. There is not a doubt in my mind that you have written, but can't help wondering how everything is at home, and most of all, whether you are worrying yourselves to death. Really, there is no use to be so anxious—believe that. I am getting a collection of souvenirs and also taking a lot of pictures for proof of the weird tales I will tell when I get back. Did someone say that it never rains here? Well, I have seen enough to know that it can. It has certainly proven that it not only can rain, but it can flood things. Oh, yes! I am also keeping a sort of diary. Dates of main events, etc. Hope to be able to give a good account of my time. Ha! Since the raise in pay I may increase the allotment, but if I can't, guess I can put it in the Gov't's saving plan, and, by the way, there should be $10.00 a month coming home since May 1st. Are you getting it? You can keep it for me. Put in the bank or use if you need it, just as you think best. Well dear Souls, keep your chins up, and write as often as you can and I will do the same. Incidentally, you are the only ones I have been writing. Tell all the kids to write to me too.
Lovingly yours,

Dear Mr. White:
Well, I sure did enjoy the Friona Star while I could get it, but I am leaving here soon and I hope all the boys can stay at home as long as they can, for they have got some blue days in front of them. Well, I sure did enjoy the Star while I was getting it, and will let you know when we reach our destination. We have got our rations for the trip and are ready to go. Thanks a million for what you have done for our boys. I will try to get a Jap for the Star.

Pvt. Albert Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Davis, of northwest of town, spent a few days here last week visiting his parents.
Pvt. Davis, who enlisted in the Air Service about six months ago, has been in an air field in Florida for the past several weeks and is being transferred to Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.
This was his first visit at home since his enlistment, and his commanding officer told him if he wanted to visit his home he should do it now, for it will probably be a long time before he (Continued on Page 4)

By the death of W. H. Warren, which occurred at his home here Friday, August 7, Friona has lost another of its prominent pioneer business men.

William Henry Warren was born in Livingston County, Mo., September 26, 1864, and died at his home in Friona on August 7, 1942, at the age of 77 years, 10 months and 11 days.

In 1890 he married Miss Ida Hill, to which union two children were born—a daughter, Winnie, who is now Mrs. J. C. Wilkinson of this city, and a son, Seldon F. Warren, who lives on his farm a few miles west of Friona. He also has 6 grandchildren, all of whom survive him.

While he lived at Trenton, Mo., he was engaged in the livery stable business and dealt largely in horses and mules, and when his large barn with its immense store of feed and many head of mules and horses was destroyed by fire, Mr. Warren decided to move to Texas where he thought his health would be better. He settled first at Hereford but came to Friona in 1915 and made his home here from that time.

The pioneer business man's first enterprise in Friona was as a grain dealer and in the early part of 1916 he formed a partnership with the late George T. Courtright, to found the Santa Fe Grain Co. On the 27th of January of that year they let the contract for Friona's first grain elevator, which was completed during the next few months of 1916.

After a few years he disposed of his interest in the grain business to R. G. Cline, and for a few years devoted his attention to general farming and cattle raising and again dealing to a limited extent in mules and horses. During this time he built the building on the corner of Sixth and Main Street now occupied by the City Drug Store, and became associated with his son-in-law, J. C. Wilkinson in the implement business.

After the Wilkinson Implement Company sold out to Buchanan and Rosson, Mr. Warren served for two or three years as tax collector for the Friona Independent School District.

Mr. Warren's was the first name placed on the Friona Star's subscription list when the paper was founded and he had read the paper ever since.

His faith in Friona and its future and its people has always been evidenced by his willingness to invest his funds in Friona property and Friona business, and he has always contributed generously to all worthy civic enterprises. During the past two or three years, while his health has been failing, he has devoted his business talents to buying and selling mules and horses, in which business he continued so long as his physical ability and energy permitted him to be about. Many times he has said to the writer—"I may not know so much about other lines of business, but I do know mules and I like them." By his passing Friona has lost one of its most substantial citizens.

Funeral services were held in the local Congregational Church, (Continued on Page 4)

Hopper Hatch Continues High

Reports from farmers are still coming in regarding the hatching of the second crop of grass hoppers.

Elmer Euler reports that "jillions" of the young hoppers have hatched out east of Friona. G. B. Buske reports a lot of hoppers around Friona and H. C. Burge reports a good hatch east of Bovina.

Everything is ready at the poison bait mixing station to give prompt and immediate service provided farmers want the material to poison the young hoppers.

Uncle Andy Wentworth Has 90th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Landrum last week received a copy of the Warren, Minn., newspaper which contained a story about a pioneer citizen of Friona, who has just celebrated his ninetieth birthday.

That pioneer citizen was none other than A. N. (Uncle Andy) Wentworth, who accompanied his daughter and grandson from Creco, Ia., to Warren, Minn., where another daughter, Mrs. Charlie Holmgren, resides. At the Warren City Park, relatives and friends gathered to spread a bountiful birthday dinner in honor of "Andy."

He said the cake had 90 candles and he can hardly believe that four score and ten years have passed since he arrived in this old world.

Mrs. Buel Sanders of Friona, a daughter of the Holmgrens and a granddaughter of "Uncle Andy" together with her two sons, were among the relatives who attended the dinner.

"Uncle Andy's" Friona friends join with those of Creco and Warren in wishing him the happiest of years to follow. Though they be few, may they be the very happiest ones.

Reeve and Brown At Convention

F. W. Reeve and Rev. Chester C. Brown returned home Tuesday night from San Angelo, where they attended the Republican State Convention as delegates from Parmer County.

They state that the attendance was much larger than is customary at an off-year convention, and that the delegates were all enthusiastic and the proceedings passed off quietly and harmoniously.

Mr. Reeve was a member of the important Resolutions Committee and wrote much of the report of the committee.

Children will register in the high school on September 4 and 5 and in the elementary school on Monday, September 7 and all children must present their book card and report card. The buses will run on Monday; assembly will be held in the grade school at 9:45, then the children will go to their rooms and be given further instructions. The buses then will return home about 1 o'clock war time. In order to make it easier on those children who live about 20 miles from school, classes will begin at 10 o'clock and end at 5 o'clock war time.

All children entering school for the first time must be six years of age on or before the first day of September of this year. In no case are children admitted to school who become six years of age after the first of September. It will be advisable for the mother to present the child to the teacher the first day in order for the first grade teacher to get all the information she will need for her records. If the child has a birth certificate, the mother should bring it along. This however, is not mandatory. All six-year-old children entering school for the first time should be taken to the family physician for a thorough medical examination before entering. A child is entitled to enter school under the best possible conditions to do successful work in school. If he has physical defects that can be remedied; such as diseased tonsils, defective vision, defective hearing, or other curable defects that may be revealed by medical examination, they should be remedied before he enters school.

All children who have not been vaccinated for small pox should have it done. This will have to be done before he enters college. There has never in the nation as far as I know a school where the Friona schools been any regulations on this, other than appealing to the parent's good judgment.

The Friona Schools are organized on the twelve-grade plan, with eight grades in the elementary school and four in the high school. The first eight grades will be housed in the elementary building and the last four grades in the high school. Some schools in the country were retarded in installing the twelve grade system, and as a result they have advanced their children a grade in order to get the twelve grade system started. We shall continue the twelve grade system as it now is without advancing anyone.

Athletics will, through necessity, be curtailed some this year, but football will be carried on in the usual manner so long and as far as possible. Intramural and other sports will be intensified. We must build strong bodies in a time of stress like this.

Both high school and grade school curriculum will be enriched in keeping with our war program. One teacher has been added to the grade school faculty in order to help out in a crowded condition in the fifth and sixth grades.

We urgently request the cooperation and patience of all concerned. We are passing through trying times, and in all probability this is going to be the most difficult year Friona has ever experienced. Let us all work for our school and children. I feel that in the time to (Continued on Page 4)

Allens Buy Two Sections Near Here

J. V. Allen and son of Lubbock were business visitors here Tuesday, when they closed the deal for two sections of land near the Syndicate Hotel. They made the purchase from C. E. Wells of Missouri.

The younger Mr. Allen will take immediate possession of the cultivated portion of the land and begin at once to prepare it for sowing to wheat. He will take charge of the pasture land on January 1, 1943. The deal was handled by a Mr. Lewelling of Lubbock.

While in Friona the Allens favored the Star office with a short visit, and promised to come again.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

By W. W. REID

With tire and gas rationing keeping the modern "family buggy" in the garage, and with the war itself focussing people's attention on the spiritual needs of individuals and of nations, authorities interested in the promotion of adult Bible and study classes in America's churches are looking forward to great increases in enrollment and attendance at such classes this coming fall and winter. "Not only will the American father send his boy out to Sunday School when Rally Day arrives on Sunday, September 13, and not only will mother iron her daughter's frock on Saturday night for the next day's class," says one church school leader, "but father and mother will themselves be going to church school from which they have been absent too many years."

Advices reaching the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church from private sources in occupied China indicate that Japanese authorities are reorganizing the Christian church in the Chinese provinces under their control as they have reorganized them in Japan. JUDGE E. C. NELSON
Candidate for Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals
Saturday, Aug. 22nd

DOES TRAINING COUNT?

If not, why have schools and colleges? Judge Nelson has had the best literary and legal training our country affords.

DOES EXPERIENCE COUNT?

Should a Chief Justice have had some actual experience as a practicing lawyer? Should he have had some experience before the Court he seeks to preside over? Judge Nelson has had years of experience, both as a practicing lawyer and as a trial judge.

SHOULD REPRESENTATION BE EQUAL?

The Lubbock area already has one of the judges of this Court; and the Vernon area has one. Isn't it fair for the northern part of the district to continue to have a representative on the Court?

WHO SHOULD CHOOSE THE CHIEF JUSTICE?

The people? Or a group of Lubbock lawyers? Judge Nelson did not ask any group whether he might run for the office; and he has not sought any endorsements. If elected, he will be under no obligations to any such group. He will be able to chart the course of the law fairly for all. Is that what you want? If so, VOTE FOR JUDGE E. C. NELSON.

It is reported also that there has been a great influx of Japanese teachers into North China.

"Peace is not an unconditional gift of God—it is a product of righteousness," said the United Lutheran Church of America in a recent message to all its churches and members. "Righteousness and good will are God's first goals. Peace is their flower and fruit. If enduring peace is to come to mankind it can come only to men and through men who are wholly dedicated, through faith in Christ, and by the power of his Holy Spirit, to righteousness and goodwill. This faith and power, bearing fruit in righteousness and goodwill, are the only real bases of a just and lasting peace. Therefore, all Christians are challenged to cultivate in their lives the gifts of God's grace, through God's word and sacraments, that may become more effective exemplars and evangelists of that righteousness and good will which alone can produce a just and lasting peace."

The Chungking (West China) committee of the Church Committee for China Relief, supported by gifts from American churches, has voted to grant $33,735 (Chinese currency) to the Syracuse-in-China Hospital for the building of an operating and obstetrics room in a dugout in the side of one of Chungking's mountains for emergency use during air raids. This hospital is manned by Chinese doctors and nurses, and the Rev. C. Bertram Rappe is acting superintendent. It has been more frequently bombed than any other hospital in Free China but it continues to carry on its services to hundreds of civilians.

Three sentences carved on the monument to Booker T. Washington, on the campus of Tuskegee Institute, are being quoted by many ministers as especially worthy of study in these days of war, hate and misunderstanding: "There is on sense of security for any of us except in the highest intelligence and development of all." "I will let no man drag me so low as to make me hate him." "We shall prosper in proportion as we learn to dignify and glorify labor and put brains and skill into the common occupations of life."

FARM NEWS

from YOUR COUNTY AGENT FOR FREEDOM

TEXAS EXTENSION SERVICE

By Garlon A. Harper
County Agent

There have always been a lot of reasons why poultry should receive attention on our farms. Today there is even more reason for us to consider that poultry and eggs make up a big part of our farm production. Poultry ranks fourth in total income produced on Texas farms in 1941. The only crops or livestock which exceed poultry were cotton, beef cattle and dairying. Eggs, like milk, are one of the most complete foods consumed by men. Today's methods of drying eggs make them a product which is easy to keep on storage without refrigeration and make them easy to transport to places where needed by our armies and our allies.

The first thing to consider in poultry is large production. Of course, there is still a place for the small farm flock but with today's high prices every farm should have from 75 to 500 laying hens. Good production means better care of hens and better handling of the eggs before marketing as well as a means of demanding a better market through mass handling by dealers.

A sufficient amount of the first moneys coming into the Treasury for the use and benefit of the General Revenue Fund not otherwise heretofore obligated to the payment of bonds and interest, a sufficient amount to pay the interest becoming due and the bonds maturing during such fiscal year. From said fund, the Treasurer shall pay the interest on said bonds as it comes due, to the credit of the Available School Fund; and shall pay off said bonds as they become due and deposit the amounts so paid to the credit of the permanent School Fund. The power hereby granted to issue bonds is expressly limited to the amount stated and to five (5) years from and after the adoption of this grant by the people."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at an election to be held on the third day of November, 1942, at which election all voters favoring such proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing the investment of not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund in bonds of the State of Texas to be issued for the construction of a State office building or buildings and providing for the repayment of the said sum of money to the

In spite of good egg prices which farmers and poultrymen are receiving now they are losing a good margin of profit by improper handling of eggs before they reach the produce house. At some egg breaking plants the losses from bad eggs run as high as five per cent. This loss is, of course, passed back to the producer by lower prices which means a loss of $3,000 per day to Texas poultrymen. Good eggs can be produced in warm weather only by killing or selling all male birds, keeping clean nests, gathering eggs two to three times a day, and by keeping the eggs cool until marketed. None of these items require much trouble or cash. It is simply a matter of care and attention. If you are going to take the time to produce eggs then take enough time and make your poultry routine adequate to produce the type of eggs which must be produced to be good. That boy who is now in the army and who may be your son, your brother, your nephew, or maybe your neighbor's boy needs good eggs to eat. He has plenty of bad eggs to fight.

Permanent School Fund." Those voters opposing said Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing the investment of not more than Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund in bonds of the State of Texas to be issued for the construction of a State office building or buildings and providing for the repayment of the said sum of money to the Permanent School Fund."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any fund in the Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

H. J. R. No. 24
A JOINT RESOLUTION proposing an Amendment to Article V of the Constitution of Texas by providing that the Legislature shall have the power by local or general law, in counties having a population in excess of two hundred thousand (200,000) inhabitants to create other courts having exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters; fixing the time for an election therefor; prescribing the form of ballot; providing for a proclamation of such election and the advertisement thereof; and making an appropriation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. Article V of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 22-a and reading as follows:

"Section 22-a. The Legislature shall have the power, by local or general law (without the necessity of advertising any such local law), in counties having a population in excess of two hundred thousand (200,000) inhabitants according to the then last Federal Census, to create other courts having either exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1942, at which time all voters favoring such proposed Amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the following:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution, providing that the Legislature may in certain counties create other courts having either exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters."

Those voters opposed to such Amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the following:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution, providing that the Legislature may in certain counties create other courts having either exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have it published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

DRYING CORN

By Elsie Cunningham Home Demonstration Agent When one talks about food this time of year, corn is sure to come into the conversation. Americans who don't like corn are few and far between. Whether it is white or yellow, grows on long ear or short, is served on the cob or off, corn is a favorite food with most people.

Right now there's fresh corn straight from the fields. But before long and all too soon, the season will have passed, so if you want corn later you must do something about it now.

Canning and freezing and drying are good ways to preserve corn. Most housewives are well acquainted with canning methods and I'll not discuss putting corn in the freezer locker this time. If you need information about canning or freezing just drop me a card.

Now that war has brought a shortage of canning equipment, the old art of drying food is coming to the fore and adding science to it. This method can be used by every homemaker in Farmer County in her Food for Freedom program.

There are 2 ways to dry corn—by controlled heat or by the sun. You need special equipment for drying by controlled heat. If you don't have it you may dry by the sun even though it does take longer.

Any good table corn, picked when it's just right to eat, is right for drying. Work quickly corn should never be allowed to stand around after it is taken from the field.

First, husk the corn, and remove any blemishes it may have. You don't have to silk it because the silks separate easily from the kernels when they're dried. Steam the corn until the milk is "set"—this will require about 10 minutes.

You'll find a pressure cooker ideal for steaming corn, but if you don't have one any steamer, large kettle, or deep container that has a tight cover will do. Steam the corn in a wire basket or colander set above the boiling water level.

When through steaming or boiling the corn, drain it, cool it and cut it from the cob. Then, spread it on your drying trays about 1-2 to 3-4 inches deep and dry the corn at 130 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit if you have controlled heat. Stir it while it's drying to separate the kernels. When it's thoroughly dry, it should be hard, brittle, and semi-transparent—and the kernels break clearly when you crush them.

As soon as it's really dry, seal the corn in moisture-proof containers. Then store it in a cool, dark, dry place. And examine it once in awhile. If there's any sign of moisture, reheat the corn and reseal in the containers.

Now about equipment. Controlled heat gives the best results for drying. You can control heat in the oven of your stove, above the stove with an oil heater, or by the use of light bulbs. (You can get full instructions at my office if you are interested in drying by controlled heat.)

You can dry a small lot of corn by sun quite successfully on wire trays or screens, or slat trays covered with thin cloth which let air circulate under the corn as well as over it. Or spread the corn on clean boards, heavy paper or clean cloth held in place by jacks.

Corn happens to be particularly easy to dry and does not require any fancy equipment, in fact, it dries quite satisfactorily in a flour sack. Put a small amount—about a quart in a flour sack, fasten the ends securely, pin it over the clothes line—1 pint in each end of the sack. Give it a shake two or three times each day as you pass. Be sure to take in at night or whenever it looks like rain. I would not recommend that you try this nonchalant method with fruits though.

Dried corn is quite a delicacy and "believe it or not" it's hard to get and expensive. Recently, I was sauntering around in a specialty food store which sells only fancy foods and found dried corn sold in that store at 75c per pound. Let's be exclusive in 1942 and have some home dried corn.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Farm Security Loans Open For Needy Families

Authority to immediately resume receiving applications from low-income and needy farm families in Deaf Smith County for loans with which to carry on their farm and home operations was received here yesterday by Bernard C. Drinkard, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration.

The information that loan funds for the FSA's supervised lending program for the current fiscal year are immediately available was received from Jesse B. Gilmer, Regional Director, with headquarters at Amarillo, Texas.

The Farm Security lending program, it was learned, will continue its policy of making small "Food for Freedom" loans to farm owners, tenants and part-time farmers. These loans are designed to assist families to produce food for home consumption. Production of food for sale will continue to be of secondary importance.

Food for Freedom loans are limited to $500 for each family. Borrowers may use the funds for the purchase of dairy animals, feed, seed, small farming and gardening implements, canning supplies, repairs for livestock and poultry housing facilities, food storage space, medical and dental care and so forth.

In addition to the small Food for Freedom loans fall crops and gardens and other immediate needs, the Farm Security Administration, according to Mr. Drinkard, will continue making its regular rural rehabilitation loans and community and cooperative service loans.

Farm Owners, tenants and part-time farmers in Deaf Smith County who need to borrow funds for fall and winter operations or to meet their farm and home needs next spring should make application to Mr. Drinkard, with offices in the Court House at Hereford.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

I hear lots of people complaining about the intense heat; but personally, I have not found it so bad here thus far. And I also hear other people say, when someone says something about the heat: "You don't know what hot weather is." The people who say such as those who have been in Central or East Texas, or some of the Central States.

I can realize that they are telling the truth about the matter, for I spent over 40 years in one of the Central States, and I know that the heat we experience here on these high plains is as nothing when compared to mid-summer heat there.

Even in the daytime here, it is not so intensely hot, even out in the blazing sun; for almost any day this heat from the sun is tempered by cooling prairie breezes; then when the sun has set, the breeze really becomes refreshing and cooling so that there is scarcely a night but one needs some cover on his bed in order to not get too cool during the night. And do we sleep? Yes, verily.

But taking it for granted that it is HOT here, as those of our people who have never experienced the summer heat of the lower altitudes seem to think it is, there is really little need of anyone suffering greatly from the heat. Proper foods, proper drinks and proper clothing will do a lot toward alleviating the heat suffering.

Then, the manner of eating has much to do with it, even though you may feel it absolutely necessary to eat heavy food, you can still modify its heating qualities by not eating so much at a time but eat often, for you know that a lot of fuel thrown into a furnace will make much more heat than just a small amount will, even though it is in the same furnace, and so it is with the fuel you put into your body.

Then there is another way to modify this heat, and that is by eating cold or frozen food, since the heat contained in hot food serves to add more heat to your body. Then why not try a noon-day or evening meal of cold or sliced meat or cheese? If you will read T. J. Crawford's ad in this issue of the Star, I feel sure you will find that he is telling about such wholesome and appetizing lunches and that he has the materials for preparing them. This custom also frees the housewife or whoever does the cooking of the necessity of smothering in a hot kitchen while preparing the hot lunches and the family fare even better during the hot weather than when the members heat themselves unnecessarily with steaming foods.

Then for those who do not require the heavier and heating food on account of a lighter occupation, there are the delicious salads which can be prepared from fresh, crisp, leafy vegetables, that are both appetizing and nourishing and far less heating. These Mr. Crawford has mentioned in his advertisement, and tip-top service on his part will accompany these excellent, and wholesome articles. Why not try lessening your body heat by feeding yourself with the proper foods and in the proper manner. Serve your foods with ICED-tea or coffee.

And it is not only in your foods that you can alleviate the summer sweater, for this can be done also by occasionally treating yourself to some sort of delicious and refreshing cold drink, or ice cream, and you will find that The City Drug Store, in its advertisement this week, is offering you the best in this line that can be secured in any town or city. J. R. can serve you with any of these delicious cold drinks that any person should need and his ice cream is as pure and wholesome as can be found in the land. And he does not ask you to remain at his store while you eat your cream, but will serve it to you in neat, clean containers so that you can carry it home with you and serve it to the entire family.

Then there is another way in which you can help yourself whip "Old Man Heat," and that is by having your clothing clean and freshly pressed. This may sound like an exaggeration to many people but it is a proven fact that well cleaned and neatly pressed clothes are cooler than clothing that is in need of laundering.

And that reminds me that Rev. Houlett's Helpy-Self Laundry ad in this week's issue of the Star is calling your attention to this fact.

I am not particularly boosting for the above named merchants, but having got to cogitating along the line of "keeping cool" and learning that their ads are also along this line, I find it convenient to bolster my own arguments with the sentiments expressed in their advertisements.

Neither can I say that I have arrived at the above mentioned suggestions about "keeping cool" from my own personal experiences but hearing so many of the expressions that I mentioned along in the first paragraph of this effusion, which started my cogitations along the line, and the further fact that I read some suggestions in some paper or magazine, I have used them as a verification of my own ideas.

I am also of the opinion that the summer sweater is so bad but that it can be made better; and we can ease ourselves of this heat oppression it occurs to me that it is our duty to do so while we are where we can do something to help ourselves, for more of us will not be able to do anything about the heat after we have left this world.

And I am not going to take anything back that I have said about "living in the past," and they can accuse me of it all they please and I have found out that I am not the only one who is guilty, to a greater or lesser extent, of engaging in this pleasant pastime, and some of them are not old men either—that is, they are not so very old. One of these was my good friend, Alex Boatman who told me about visiting the place where he lived some 20 years ago, and how it brought to mind many pleasant experiences and how he recognized some of his former neighbors and some he did not and how some recognized him while others did not but nevertheless it was a pleasant experience for him, and I will venture the assumption that there are many, many more people, even right here at Friona who do more or less of this "living in the past" and that they get much pleasure from it. Yes, verily, there are some of those things in the past which will sometimes intrude themselves on my memory that are not pleasant and which cause my ears to burn and my face to get red. And there are also some of those past experiences that cause my scalp to contract to the extent that my hair begins to rise on end. I hope none of my friends have anything like that to mar the pleasant experience of "living in the past."

I allus argy that a man Who does about the best he can Is plenty good enough to suit This lower mundane institute. No matter of his daily walk Is subject for his neighbor's talk. And critic, minds of every whim Jest all git up and go for him. —Author Unknown.

Talcum Powder Suggested As Heart Remedy

Atlantic City, N. J.—A new source of man power for the war effort may be tapped by an operation that successfully uses talcum powder to put new blood into sick hearts and gets helpless heart disease patients back to health and useful work.

The operation was announced by Dr. Samuel A. Thompson and Dr. Milton J. Raisbeck of New York Medical College, at the meeting here of the American Medical Association.

The talcum powder, two teaspoons of it, is put into the space between the heart muscle and its outer envelope, called the pericardium, in an operation so simple, Dr. Thompson said that any surgeon can perform it in 20 to 25 minutes.

Apparently, Permanent Within a few hours after the operation the patients are free of the torturing pain of angina pectoris and within six months are back at work. The improvement is apparently permanent. The first patient given the new operation has remained well for three years and seven months.

Marked improvement followed the operation in eight of the first 14 patients and moderate improvement in two more. The four who died would never have been operated on in the light of present knowledge, Dr. Thompson said, as their heart condition was too bad for them to stand the operation.

All these first 14 patients were so helpless and tortured by the pain of their trouble that they were "sitting waiting to die," although they were still under 50 years of age and one was in his thirties. When the operation is used on patients who have not yet reached this hopeless last stage of heart trouble, the results will be even better, Dr. Thompson believes.

The patients who can be helped by the new operation are those whose hearts are being starved for blood and oxygen because the arteries supplying the heart muscle is either plugged by blood clots (coronary thrombosis) or so hardened or pinched by spasm that no blood can get through. The lack of blood supply is what causes the pain of the angina.

The talcum powder remedies this condition by causing a "tremendous" inflammation. First result of this is dilation of the blood vessels and greatly increased supply of blood to the heart muscle. This immediately relieves the angina pain. The lasting improvement comes because after the inflammation the sac surrounding the heart muscle with no space in between. In this heart sac are half-a-dozen arteries which following the inflammation, start growing into the heart muscle, bringing it new blood to keep it nourished for its job of pumping blood to the rest of the body.

Studies in animals before the operating on patients showed that only talcum powder would cause this permanent and beneficial adhesion between the heart and the pericardium.
