it is, I suppose I am about the last. At any rate, I really appreciate the home town paper—every issue of it—and I have missed very few. This is an anti-aircraft battery, located near a bomber plant. We have been here for six months. I suppose the position is permanent—for the guns—but not for the personnel. Thanks again, and,
Yours truly,

Dear Mr. White:
I thought I would let you know that I am in the Navy now, and would like to know if I am eligible to receive the Friona Star. I like the Navy fine and I am learning a lot of new things. I hope to come home in twelve weeks. Oh! Yeah! You should see this streamlined hair cut they give us. It's really a dilly. We're having lots of fun keeping the spirit of Texas high, for all the boys in this barracks are from Oklahoma except me, and I'm from Friona and all the rest of Texas as you all know. Please send the Star.
John W. Renner, A. S.

And this one is from one of our sailor boys, of the Navy: United States Navy Dec. 20, 1942

Dear Mr. White:
I hope you will accept my apologies for not writing before. I have enjoyed the Friona paper very much and I thank you sincerely. I have been transferred again. I am now at Little Creek, Va. I am in the Maintenance Div. I do overhaul work on the Diesel engines that are in small boats, such as landing barges, etc. I like the work very much. I don't know how long I will be stationed here. I have put in for a ten-day Christmas leave but do not know whether I will get it or not. This is just a new base and it is not quite completed yet. There is a rumor of transferring this base further south. Well, I guess this is all for now. I will express my thanks for the paper again, and also hope that this letter finds you in good health. I also wish you a very Merry Christmas.
Yours truly,
K. R. Durstine, MOMM 2-c Little Creek, Va.

New London, Conn.

Dear Mr. White:
It has been very nice to receive the Star for the past four months. I appreciate it very much. Tuesday, Dec. 22, is the date set for the September C. R. C. class to graduate. After our graduation we will be sent to our stations. I have asked for the eighth Naval District, but there is no assurance that we get the district that we ask for. Please send my copy of the Star to Lockney, Tex., until I can let you know where I will be stationed. It has been a practice of the Coast Guard to give the C. R. C.'s a ten-day leave after graduation. I am hoping they continue that practice with our class. We have had our first real cold weather this week. Wednesday night it went two degrees below zero. We have also had about ten inches of snow. Several of our ships, known as "eighty-three footers" were out during the cold weather this week. They came in covered with at least three inches of ice from stem to stern. These little ships are specially built for STALINGRAD STREET STRUGGLES—Firing Tommy guns, Red army men dislodge Nazis from houses of a settlement on the outskirts of Stalingrad. In the see-saw struggle for the city, the Reds are reported to have taken a terrible toll of the invaders.

PERSONALS

J. H. Hinds, who is employed in the U. S. Civil Service at Lubbock, spent Christmas with his family. Mr. Hinds expressed himself as well pleased with his job and the work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Durstine are now located at 1708-B, Ave. N, Lubbock. They were in Friona Wednesday forenoon to see their son off to his navy post.

Bill Cogdill who spent a part of last week with his parents near Lone Wolf, Okla., returned home Monday.

Marvin Whaley favored the Star office with a short visit Tuesday afternoon, to renew his subscription to the Star. Mr. Whaley stated that his son, Watson, who was inducted into the army three months ago, is still in a base hospital at Oklahoma City, suffering from a pulmonary ailment. One lung is reported as seriously affected.

Jim Roy Roden, who is attending college at Lubbock, spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roden. Jim Roy is taking a pre-medical course at Texas Tech and plans to attend medical college at Dallas next year.

Miss Jacquelyn Wilkison, who is attending college at Lubbock, spent the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkison, and her many Friona friends.

Paul Renner and family, who live near Amarillo while Paul is employed at the Pan-Tex Ordnance plant, spent Christmas with relatives here.

Claude Blackburn has leased the farm recently vacated by R. J. Durstine, southeast of town, and plans to move to it within the next few days.

W. C. Norwood, another of the Star's staunch friends, was a Star office visitor Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Norwood spent Christmas with their son and family at Lubbock.

Mrs. Carl Darnell, who formerly lived here, but now lives at Dallas, and who had been visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Rasberry, who live several miles northwest of Friona for several days, returned to her home at Dallas on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. C. J. Price, who is one of the teachers in the schools at Vernon, arrived here the early part of last week and spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Goodwine, and her brother and sisters. She departed for her home Monday.

Jack Rasberry, who is working at Duncan Air Field, San Antonio, came home Christmas and remained until Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Rasberry, and other relatives and friends.

The 50th anniversary of the death of Tennyson was observed at the University of Texas this fall with a display of the library's collection of original manuscripts, proof copies and first editions of the famous poet's works.

War On Paralysis A Big Part of The Home Front Battle

Organizing to wage war on the home front against the dread disease, infantile paralysis, is a Texas-wide effort which will culminate January 30th, in the celebration of President Roosevelt's 61st birthday. The celebration this year will extend to every County in the State, according to W. L. Clayton, Houston, President Roosevelt's deputy Federal Farm Loan Administrator, who has established offices in the Cotton Exchange Building, Dallas, for the purposes of conducting the fund raising campaign. Again, George Waverly Briggs, Dallas banker, as vice chairman, will direct the campaign.

On the staff of the Texas State Committee for the celebration of the President's birthday, in addition to Clayton and Briggs, is Mrs. George H. Pittman, vice chairman, in charge of women's activities; W. Marion Newman, secretary; John E. Owens, treasurer and Frank N. Watson, director of publicity. State offices have been established at 221 Cotton Exchange Building.

Already polio (infantile paralysis) is striking in numerous localities throughout the Southwest and drastic steps are now being taken and will continue to be taken to prevent further spread of the crippling and maiming disease. Funds raised in Texas will be divided between the authorized polio agencies within the State and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. As in previous years, the campaign and celebration is extended to every state, territory and possession of the Nation.

LOCALS

H. Clay Davis, one of the Star's good farmer friends, favored the Star office with a few minutes highly appreciated visit, Wednesday afternoon.

George McLean reports that he has been eating bear steak at his house this week. The bear meat was presented to him by his grandson, Kenneth Houlette, one of whose friends bagged the bear while on a hunting trip in Colorado.

Mrs. C. J. Price, who is one of the teachers in the schools at Vernon, arrived here the early part of last week and spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Goodwine, and her brother and sisters. She departed for her home Monday.

Jack Rasberry, who is working at Duncan Air Field, San Antonio, came home Christmas and remained until Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Rasberry, and other relatives and friends.

Homecoming Banquet Highlight Of Holiday Season For Friona Folk

Miss Hand Bride Of Reeford Shirley

Miss Irene Hand and Reeford Shirley were married Wednesday, Dec. 23, in a quiet wedding ceremony at Farwell. They were accompanied by their brothers, John Hand and Jack Shirley. Irene has lived in our community since a little girl of about three years old, and is loved by everyone.

We join their many friends in the very best wishes for their happiness together. They will make their home in Hereford where Mr. Shirley is employed.

Miss Wilkison Hostess At Holiday Breakfast

Miss Jacquelyn Wilkison was hostess at a pre-Christmas breakfast held in her home Wednesday, Dec. 23.

The guests were Misses June and Shirley Maurer, Doris Ann and Carolyn Lange, Lydia Marie Spring, Virginia Guyer, Ruth Reeve, Eunice Mae Weir, Jean Crawford and Nancy Shackelford.

PARMERTON CLUB

Mrs. C. A. Turner was hostess to the Parmerton Club and families on Dec. 18 at her home.

After a brief program in which Mrs. Wilmot Crow gave the meaning of Christmas, Betty Jean Turner sang a Christmas song, and Sandra Brock read two or three "brain-teasers" were played and gifts drawn.

Refreshments of popcorn, peanuts and apples were served to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wickard, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis White, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Cobb and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Turner.

Visitors were Manuel Davis, Patsy Cobb, Thomas Cobb, Betty Turner and Joy Crow.

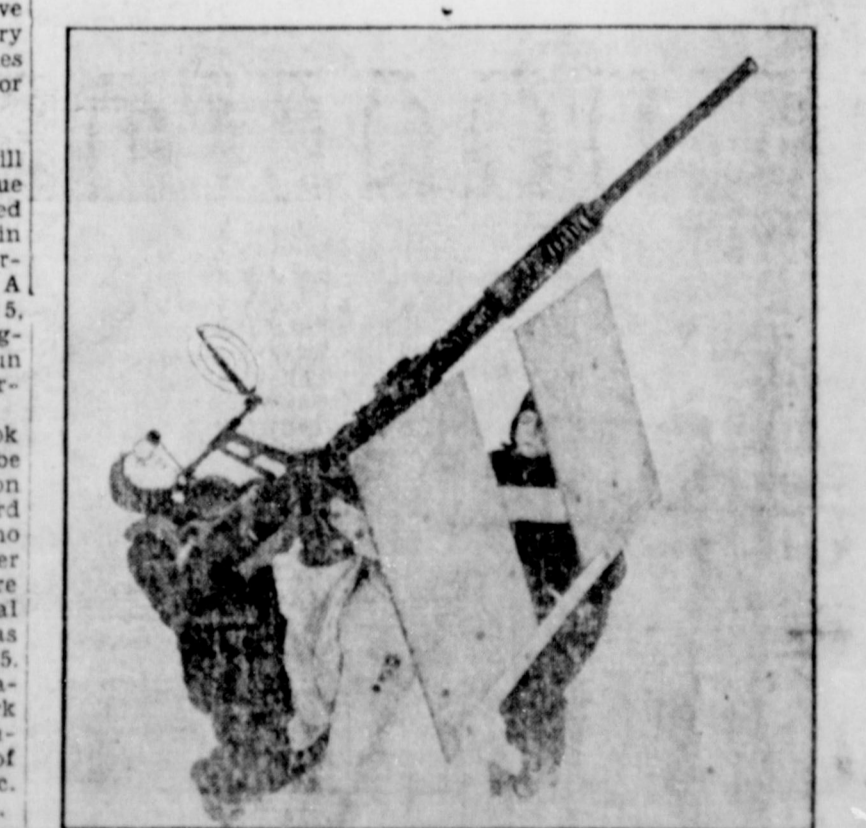

Mrs. G. H. Brock, Reporter.

WEATHER AT FRIONA

The mild balmy weather which prevailed here during the greater part of last week and throughout Christmas Day came to an end when the wind changed to the north Saturday and the temperature began descending rapidly.

This condition prevailed with a light flurry of snow Saturday night and a cold biting wind during Sunday and Monday, with the mercury registering eleven degrees above zero a little before sunup Monday morning. Late Monday afternoon it became decidedly warmer and by Tuesday mild, clear weather again prevailed and still holds this Wednesday forenoon. However the sun has been shining each day.

All of the local churches held Christmas tree programs and treats Thursday evening, and the Methodist young people, accompanied by their pastor, Rev. J. W. Price, got in a truck and drove over town caroling for our people, following the Christmas programs.

SHE KEEPS SKY CLEAR—Miss Mildred Blackney, North Weymouth, Mass., has proven that she can handle an anti-aircraft gun, as a Civil Service woman guard at the city's U. S. Naval Air Station. She'll greet suspicious planes with plenty of hot lead.

Twelve newly commissioned SPARS in foreground, officers in the bow Coast Guard cutter, receive a novel tribute when more than 100 members of their sister organization spell out the name of the new reserve. The word SPAR is taken from letters of the Coast Guard motto "Semper Paratus—Always Ready."

Point rationing which will begin some time after the first of the year will not replace straight coupon rationing of sugar, gasoline and coffee, it was emphasized this week by district OPA managers, who state that a new war rationing book will be issued sometime after the first of the year. The new book will be used to secure goods under a new "point" system, with rationed items to include dried foods, canned fruits and vegetables and other items as they become scarce, according to radio speeches made Sunday night by Food Director Claude Office of War Information.

Coupon Values Vary
There are three chief differences between point rationing and coupon rationing which is in effect for sugar and coffee. The first important difference is that under straight coupon rationing one coupon entitles the consumer to buy a specific amount of a single commodity—one sugar coupon, for instance, entitling him to buy three pounds of sugar—while in point rationing, one set of coupons covers a whole group of commodities. For instance, a week's meat ration coupons would enable a person to choose his rations between pork, beef, lamb or mutton.

The second difference is that coupons in point rationing are of different denominations. Those to be spent in one week, for example, will include a one-point coupon, a two-point coupon, a five-point coupon and an eight-point coupon.

The third chief difference is that the various items will have different point values. For example, tenderloin steak, being relatively scarce, might have a high point value and require a larger number of coupons, while hamburger, being available in greater quantities, would have a lower value. Thus, in exchange for one ration coupon worth eight points, the housewife might be able to obtain one pound of tenderloin steak or four pounds of hamburger. Those point values serve only for illustration as point values have not yet been set and will vary from time to time as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

Must Have Book 1
War Ration Book Two will contain four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. Each page will contain 24 stamps, lettered and numbered, the letters running from A to Z. The numbers will be 8, 5, 2 or 1. The number will designate the value of the stamp in points and will indicate the period in which it may be used.

Possession of War Ration Book One (The Sugar Book) will be necessary to obtain War Ration Book Two. Local ration board officials urge that everyone who has not already done so register promptly for book one to insure getting book two. The final date for obtaining book one was recently postponed to Jan. 15. Weather conditions, transportation problems and heavy work loads at local board offices contributed to the difficulty of completing registration by Dec. 15, the deadline originally set.

In spite of many changes which have taken place in Friona within the last year, 40 homecomers and home folk met Monday night for an evening of fellowship and fun at the annual homecoming banquet.

The table was a large V decorated with patriotic colors. A hearty welcome was extended to all present by Gertrude Short and an equally enthusiastic response was given by Jacquelyn Wilkison. Many of those present witnessed their first black out, when for a few minutes all lights were turned out and Ruth Reeve read "Until I Come Back." This was followed by Nancy Shackelford singing "When The Lights Come On Again." Each one present was then instructed by Mrs. Herschel Johnson, the toastmistress, to light his match (previously provided him) symbolic of the lively spirit, courage and determination of the folks here on the home front "to keep the home fires burning." June Maurer and Jean Crawford played a flute duet. Doris Ann Lange played a piano solo which was followed by group singing led by Lora Mae McFarland.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Smiley Fuiks was elected chairman of the homecoming committee for next year. During the evening, Carl Maurer took moving pictures which he has agreed to show at the banquet next year. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing and visiting.

G. B. Hinds Returns From Nebraska Trip

G. B. Hinds, who has spent the past three months visiting with his sons and other relatives in various states, returned home from Davenport, Neb., this week.

Mr. Hinds is glad to be once more in the Texas Panhandle and said the weather in Nebraska before he left was of the sub-zero type and that it was very hard for one to keep warm. He plans to move soon into the house he recently purchased from S. H. Halle.

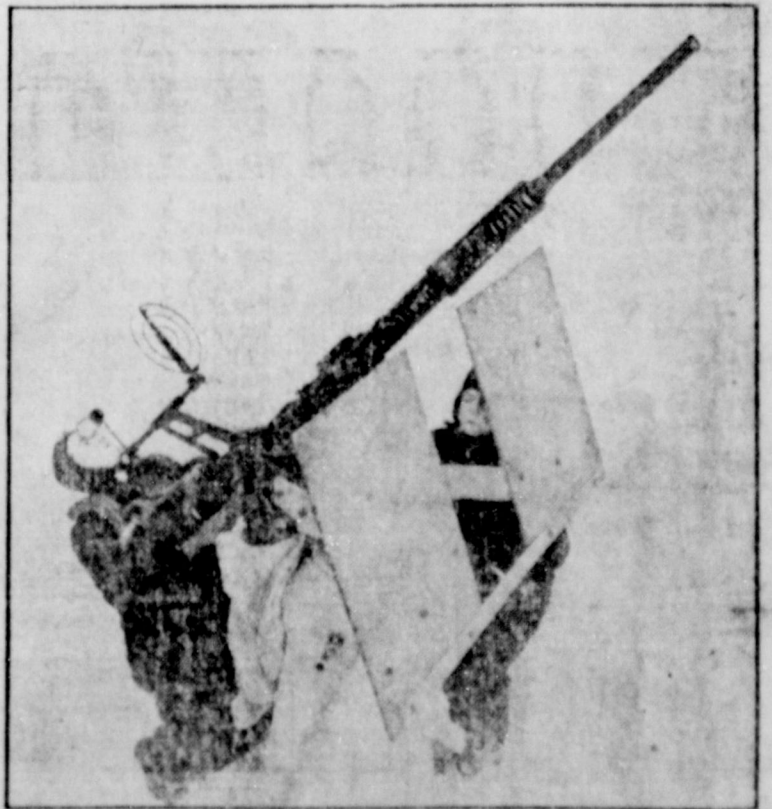

SPENT WEEKEND IN OKLAHOMA

Mr. and Mrs. David Moseley and Mrs. W. M. Moody returned home Monday from Elk City, Okla., where they spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. J. W. Hutton, who is ill in the Musick hospital at Elk City. Little hope is held at for this time for Mrs. Hutton's recovery.

A heavy snow struck Elk City Sunday a. m. and by noon all highway traffic was stopped as highways were blocked with snow. The Highway Patrol warned all tourists to stay off highways. Mr. and Mrs. Moseley and Mrs. Moody were snowbound in Elk City for more than 24 hours before they could start toward home.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

We are today entering the threshold of another year, the conditions and forecast of which were never before known or even anticipated by the world or any part thereof, and the outcome of which and the results thereof no man may even presume to guess.

Will it be a world condition that shall have been planned by a few fame-crazed political schemers that shall be riveted upon the people solely for the glorification of its authors, without regard to the wishes or dislikes of the masses who shall serve it, or will the Great God of the Universe be taken in consideration and His will be considered as supreme?

May PEACE HEALTH and HAPPINESS Be Yours Throughout the Coming Year 1943 Southwestern PUBLIC SERVICE Company is well with His world; but if the former plan be adopted then the seed of another more destructive and horror-inflicting war will be sown to germinate and be harvested by future generations.

If it be true that such a group of planners are now at work on such plans, it is assumed that their work is being done in utter secrecy and if such an assumption is correct, is it likely that the will of the masses of the peoples of the world are being taken into consideration or that these said plans are likely to be so fraught with good for these same people, that there shall be no question arise as to their approval and ready adoption?

From the very fact that this said planning is being performed in secret, I cannot conceive that it is being done with good intent for the said masses of the people unless it is being done on the assumption that is reported to have been expressed by one of our national leaders in such matters that "The people are too damned dumb to know what they want."

Am I becoming a pessimist? I hardly think so. But so many things have gone awry with this poor old world during the past decade or so, and most of them have been the results of somebody's political aggrandizement, that I find it extremely hard sometimes to keep my optimistic tendencies to the front.

Yes, another Christmas season has passed into history, and while there were many things missing that would have added to the Yuletide joy for many of us, there was still enough of good left for us to form a sort of sad, sweet, quiet joy in our hearts that will cause this Christmas of 1942 to hold a firm footing in our minds and hearts.

Personally I am one of that number and while some of my once trusted associates have not proven to be what I once considered them to be, there is still an assurance that I am surrounded by a host of really true friends, and their expressions of such by means of gifts, Christmas cards and other Christmas messages, have verified this fact to my satisfaction.

Lieut. Cutter Praises Athletics For Building Up Fighting Spirit

DISTRESSING as it may seem to timid mothers and unconstructed professors, the violent type of athletics, with the utterances of the Navy's Lieut. Slade Cutter, now assume a place of major pre-fight importance.

Lieutenant Cutter... Field Goals to Fighting.

The lieutenant knows whereof he speaks, for he kicked a field goal for the Middies in 1934 that beat Army 3 to 0, a particular job the Annapolis task force had been unable to do in the previous 13 years.

boasting, but I sincerely feel that I am while expressing these personal experiences, at the same time expressing the experiences and feelings of a very VERY large majority of my fellow men.

But I want to mention at least one of my Christmas gifts, as I deem it almost if not quite, unique. It was in the form of a monograph record, and contained two readings by one of my young lady friends who is an excellent reader.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gunn entertained with a Christmas dinner Friday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lawrence, Neida Guy and Melba Gay, Jerry Kennan of Hereford, Mrs. Roy Landers of Olton, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul, Larry Carroll and Walter Lynn, J. B. Little, E. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Loyal Disciples Seek Real Truth Beneath Surface

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 10 Text: John 3:1-16

THE story of the interview between Jesus and Nicodemus is one that we would not have had except for John's Gospel. Nicodemus was a Pharisee and a ruler of the Jews. Both facts are important, for the one suggests his strictness as a religious man and the other his place and importance in the community.

Jesus evidently sensed the elements of questioning and reluctance that were still in the mind of Nicodemus, and he recognized that in spite of his sincerity, his religious conceptions were somewhat formal, because immediately he started Nicodemus with the statement that "except one be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God." Nicodemus was frankly puzzled. We speak of the new birth today and we understand fairly well what it means, but it was decidedly a new conception to Nicodemus. He had probably grown up in a conventionally religious way. He was probably content to follow that way without considering very much the redemptive power of religion and the need of its application in transforming lives.

We are reminded also of how little position and prestige count for in the actualities of the soul. The loyal, sincere disciple, whose mind and heart are open to the divine influences, may come nearer to truth and its regenerating and enlightening power than an earnest and highly intelligent formalist who never gets beneath the surface.

cooks must learn to use materials not needed at the front. Pottery, earthenware, and glass need more careful handling than metals, the specialist cautions. First you'll need a sudden changes in temperature. If you put extremely cold food in these utensils, have the dish cold first. Or, if you put in hot food, heat the dish first with warm water. Here's another caution. Never put empty pottery, earthenware, or glass utensils over a flame. Be sure the dish contains liquid, fat, or some moist food before it is set over heat. Glass made for the purpose can cook over high heat, but not earthenware or pottery. The safe rule with these is "Simmer and serve". Homemakers who are afraid their metal spoons may chip or crack these dishes, can use wooden spoons for stirring and beating foods in these containers. Be careful about temperature in dishwashing, too, Mrs. Clayton suggests. Wash pottery, earthenware, and glass, like china, with warm soap suds and a hot water rinse. Dry them with a soft towel.

Farmer John SEES THINGS

In the midst of global turmoil, the world has been treated the past week to the finest uplifting programs that the artist and Christ-inspired minds can devise. There has been some, but comparatively little effort to slant this Christmas war effort. There has been more propaganda designed to head the public thinking to the idea that the hope of saving the world rests on Washington. But these cheap twists of the Christmas spirit have been drowned in talks on the air, in public gatherings and between friends; also in the written word and in a million acts of kindness, generosity and good will. The world has been rebaptized at the Kingdom of Heaven.

Washington, London, Berlin and other governments of the world have but little to do with establishing true democracy. If we believe in Christianity we must believe it is the individual's job to do his own planning. Our forefathers squared themselves to carry their own loads amid scenes of reverent and religious influences. They would no more have thought of asking their government for a dole or for special privileges than to have asked the British Redcoats for help. The warning of the old patriot, Thomas Jefferson, as regards farm regimentation was expressed in, "Were we directed by Washington when to sow and when to reap we should soon want bread." The grand old men and women who made America great had a year-round Christmas song in their hearts. They never lost sight of the truth that their greatest gift to humanity was a realization and an assumption of their individual responsibility. They looked on the Star of Bethlehem as the guiding light to democracy.

Dictatorial, socialistic and government regimentation ideas have had a positive slap and a drastic setback in a real and practical revival of the American spirit and a re-awakening of the individual responsibility. Christianity and true democracy go hand in hand.

From bureaucratic sources comes the hysterical cry that farmers must be further regimented. They are to be penalized if they fail to reach the quota or the kind of production as mapped out for them by their Great White Father. It looks like straight-jacket, rigid Washington farming is just about here. And, in order to be fair and logical, any farmer must grant that what we are stepping into is the reasonable followup of the New Deal planning. Surely it is just as reasonable to penalize for not producing enough as it is to penalize for producing too much.

In almost the same breath with agricultural planning from Washington comes the plea for and the attempt to justify these national rationing and bureaucratic price-fixing and policies. This was a frantic cry for the support of the people. For, after all, the people have not spoken or voiced their approval of Socialism.

Regardless of whether the bureaucrat program is wise, or just simple, the people should, and I think generally will tolerate the regulating. Regardless of whe-

New Varieties

Four varieties proposed for distribution in the State of Texas are proving quite satisfactory in their milling and baking properties. A new rust resisting soft wheat developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture is being increased in various sections of the North Central and Southern parts of the soft wheat area of Texas for increase in the fall of 1943. This particular soft wheat is showing high resistance to leaf rust that is present in some abundance in the wheat areas below the Caprock. The new Comanche variety of wheat, released for distribution to farmers in the hard wheat areas in the fall of 1942, has been universally acclaimed as an excellent quality hard red winter wheat variety. Its good quality along with its good agronomic characters should prove it to be a very satisfactory wheat for Texas. A proposed new strain for distribution that is now known only as No. 26984 is a high quality early maturing wheat that should help tremendously in replacing large acreages of the poor quality Early Blackhull variety. The No. 26984 is fully as early as Early Blackhull, is a high yielding wheat, of good test weight, and good stiff straw. Still another proposed new variety that is now known as goodas No. 303 is a good yielding, stiff strawed, high test weight, leaf rust resisting wheat that could prove to be very satisfactory for the Panhandle-Plains country. The 303 variety is also proving to be very excellent in milling and baking properties. The State of Texas should enjoy the continuance of its high quality reputation in wheat and flour production with the release of these varieties by the State Agricultural Stations and the United States Department of Agriculture. Such varieties that have proved to be good on the farm, in the mill, and at the bakery will continue to be grown for many years even with the advent of the newer types.

Good Moisture

The sub-soil moisture in Texas wheat fields is in most all instances very good with as much as 40 to 60 inches of moist ground under the surface. The more or less dry surface of the wheat fields in early December have been alleviated in most areas, and the moisture condition is very satisfactory at the present time. Reports on crop conditions would indicate that the Texas sub-soil moisture situation is the best, taken as a whole, of any of our Southwestern states. There are areas in the other hard red winter wheat producing states that are lacking in good sub-soil moisture depth; however the Texas wheat crop is almost uniformly underlain by good moisture. Although the sub-soil moisture penetration is not as deep as a year ago, there is in most all cases sufficient sub-soil moisture for all normal requirements for the next wheat crop. Average rainfall from here on to harvest will guarantee ample moisture for the 1943 crop.

Smaller Volunteer Acreage

The present acreage of volunteer wheat is estimated at 10 to 15 per cent of the total acreage in wheat. This figure compares with the estimated 35 per cent of a year ago. It will be recalled that the volunteer wheat from the past season did ex-

There was a large crowd present at the Christmas Eve night. Old Santa was mighty good to all the children and everyone had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Jones and children of New Mexico, came over and spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Crow and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jones.

L. M. Crow spent Christmas with his mother and nine brothers and sisters at Abernathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Veasey and children spent Christmas day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, near Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Garrett and children spent Christmas in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Price of Black.

Mrs. Pearl Hand and son, John, and Mrs. Reeford Shirley visited in the Jim Mears home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pittman and family ate Christmas dinner at the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Price, of Friona.

Mr. and Mrs. Bits Holt and little girls, of Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Van B. Boston of Stratford were guests in the C. A. Guinn home during Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Sparkman and daughter, Lilly, and Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Robason and family, Mrs. Pearl Hand and John, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley, Laverne Garrett and Clarence Veasey were among those who visited with the Boston's in the C. A. Guinn home Sunday.

Hurd Whitefield spent part of the Christmas holidays visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jones and son spent the holidays with kinfolks at Abernathy.

Miss Ann Cobb visited in the Barker home Christmas eve.

Mr. and Mrs. St Walker are visiting in the Claude Miller home during the holidays. We hear they have just recently married, and we extend our very best wishes to them. St also grew up in our community, but has lived elsewhere during the past few years.

Miss Marjorie Bracken, who teaches at Midway, is spending Christmas with her parents.

ceptionally well and that of the present crop could progress satisfactorily with the sub-soil moisture that is present. Volunteer acreages usually do not produce well, but with the good moisture conditions could mature a good crop. With the ideal conditions that we have at the present time, Texas may witness a second year in succession that volunteer wheat will come through to the satisfaction of the producer. It is estimated that the acreage of wheat is about 5 per cent over the allotted seeded acreage of 3,726,325 acres for the State. The 5 per cent extra acreage is due to the volunteer wheat that still remains. Some of the volunteer will be plowed up before harvest, but at least 5 to 10 per cent will be left for harvest.
