FIGHT ON WEST TEXAS A. & M.

CHARGE ST. LOUIS MEN LEADERS IN BASEBALL SCANDAL

GENERAL MANAGER OF MAGNOLIA CO. HEADS FINANCE CORPORATION

DALLAS, March 26.—A. C. Eble, general manager of the Magnolia Petroleum company, has been appointed commercial representative of the foreign trade financing corporation in the eleventh federal reserve district, he announced today.

The purpose of the corporation is to create a market for American products abroad. The demand for American products in foreign markets is now restricted for want of facilities for extending long term credits, according to organizers of the corporation, and it is their purpose to supply such facilities. The corporation is planning to have a subscribed capital of $100,000,000, with a surplus of $5,000,000.

THREE ARE KILLED IN A TORNADO SATURDAY

Town of Rushmore, Minn., Is Levelled According To Meager Reports—All Wires Are Down.

WORTHINGTON, MINN., March 26.—A tornado following according to rain swept west and northwest of here between 8:30 and 1 p. m. today killing Dave Anderson, his son and another person at Reading, eight miles northwest of the Rock Island road, and practically leveling Rushmore, eight miles west of the Omaha road, according to meager details received here. All wires are down.

SIX PERSONS INJURED BY TORNADO IN IOWA

FONDA, IOWA, March 26.—Six persons were injured and considerable property damage done here by a tornado which swept over Pocahontas county at eight o'clock tonight. Buildings of the county fair grounds with the exception of the grand stands were destroyed.

Storm Warning for Prohibition Agents; Permits Are Stolen

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A storm warning for all federal prohibition agents was hung out today due to the theft in New York this week of 500 blank permits to purchase liquor from bonded warehouses. The agents were told to look out for a deluge of forged orders. The stolen permits numbered from 118,501 to 119,000. Officials expected they would show up with numbers changed.

FIVE DETECTIVES IN CHICAGO SUSPENDED

Charged With Hiding Behind Telephone Poles While Comrade Was Murdered.

CHICAGO, March 26.—Five officers were suspended from the detective force tonight after witnesses had accused them of hiding behind telephone poles and refusing to arrest the assassins of their comrade, Patrick O'Neil, who was fatally shot Wednesday, while trying to arrest "Tommy" O'Connor, an alleged gunman, who is charged with slaying at least three men.

While the search for O'Connor was being extended today to all parts of the country, Charles Fitzmorris, chief of police, concluded his inquiry into the events leading up to the death of O'Neil. According to witnesses, the six officers from the detective bureau surrounded the house in which O'Connor was supposed to be hiding while being sought for murder.

Neighbors told of being aroused by several shots and of finding five of the detectives hiding behind telephone poles. "Faddy" O'Neil has been shot, and was quoted as having said, "and we are afraid to go into the dark until reinforcements arrive."

Meanwhile, according to witnesses, the dying officer was heard to cry "Joe" three times. Detective Sergeant Joe Corran, O'Neil's comrade heard the cries and began to step, but no one went to the assistance of the wounded man, according to witnesses, until the arrival of a police wagon, loaded with patrolmen.

According to the testimony, O'Neil lay for more than 15 minutes without any effort being made to rescue him, while there was no effort made to pursue the fleeing gunman.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY MEETS HIS FORMER SUPERIOR OFFICER

Secretary of the Navy Denby greeting Major Renato Titton of the Marine Corps, a patient at the Naval hospital in Washington. Major Titton was Secretary Denby's commanding officer when the latter was serving as sergeant in the Marine Corps at Paris Island, E. C. during the war.

FEW BILLS REMAIN ON GOVERNOR'S DESK

Only Six Important Measures Passed By Legislature Yet To Be Considered.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 26.—The 154 bills that were before Governor Neff for his signature at the beginning of the week have dwindled down to a small number with only six real important measures among them. Beside these there is also a number of bills of minor importance.

The six important measures resting with the governor are the Dudley anti-alien land ownership bill, commonly called the anti-Japanese bill; the minimum wage bill, revising the present law; the University expansion bill, appropriating $1,250,000 to buy land; joining the present university campus; the bill appropriating $2,000,000 to supplement the available school funds for the next two years; and the bill establishing the West Texas A. & M. college with an appropriation of $50,000 for purchasing the site.

The governor has by law, until Friday, April 2, to take action on these measures. If not vetoed or approved by that time they will automatically become laws. However, it is understood that the governor will sign bills or veto them before this time expires.

MEXICO SUPPRESSES HER SECRET SERVICE SYSTEM IN THE U. S.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 26.—That the Mexican secret service system formerly operated in the United States through the various consuls stationed in this country has been completely suppressed and abandoned since President Obregon was inaugurated was told to the Austin press this morning by Eduardo Ruiz, consul general at San Francisco, California. Senor Ruiz conferred with Governor Neff as the special envoy of President Obregon in regard to bettering conditions of Mexican laborers in Texas. He was accompanied by his brother, Enrique Ruiz, consul at San Antonio.

Mr. Ruiz told Governor Neff that President Obregon suppressed the consul select service immediately after taking office and that he now depended on the co-operation of the United States secret service in carrying out work of that nature.

It is the plan of Mr. Ruiz to organize the Mexicans living in Texas by counties for bettering their laboring conditions. He proposes to have the means of each county elect a commission of twelve members to have charge of the laboring conditions in that particular county and lay before the proper authorities any complaints or requests the Mexicans have to make. In turn if the matters are of more importance the commissions will take them up through their consuls.

Governor Neff gave his hearty approval to the plan and told Mr. Ruiz to tell President Obregon that he would co-operate in a shooting on Main street in carrying out his plan.

GOVERNOR IS URGED TO RECALL RANGERS NOW AT EAGLE PASS

EAGLE PASS, TEXAS, March 26.—Governor Neff was urged to remove Texas rangers from Eagle Pass in a telegram sent the executive today by local citizens. The message, was sent following a shooting on Main street in the heart of the business district, which in the opinion of local citizens should have been avoided.

The telegram sent the governor read as follows:

"We respectfully request that you have rangers removed from Eagle Pass at once and that no others be sent unless asked for. We consider them disturbing and dangerous element."

The message was signed by Sam Swartz, mayor, and J. D. Beck, president of the chamber of commerce.

PETER YANNES KILLED AT FORT WORTH HOME

Wife Who Was Cut About Throat And Breast Admits She Did The Shooting.

FORT WORTH, March 26.—Peter Yannes was shot to death at his home today. His throat also was slashed. Mrs. Marie Yannes, his wife, was charged with the killing.

Mrs. Yannes was cut about the throat and breast. She admitted the shooting, but declared Yannes shot his own throat. The couple, who had a divorce suit pending, met in court today when she was postponed. They met again soon afterward at their home, where they apparently struggled until Yannes was shot.

NO LONGER IS ASSISTANT TO SECRETARY OF WAR

WASHINGTON, March 26.—William R. Williams today concluded his work as assistant secretary of war and left for his home at Richmond, Virginia. Colonel J. M. Wainwright will take the oath as assistant secretary of war Monday.

BERLIN INCLUDED IN THE COMMUNIST UPRISING PROGRAM

REPORT EVIDENCE OF PLOT TO DYNAMITE PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

UNEMPLOYED MEN SEEK TO TAKE OVER FACTORIES Unable To Locate Explosives And The Public Is Warned To Beware Of Attempts.

By United Press.

BERLIN, March 26.—Plans to include Berlin within the scope of the communist uprising were discovered here today.

The police reported they had obtained evidence of a plot to dynamite public buildings, newspaper plants and monuments. They were unable to locate the main hiding place of the explosives and issued a warning to the public to beware of the attempts.

A thousand unemployed men sought to seize several factories on the outskirts but were quickly dispersed by the police.

The Berlin communist newspaper, Roter Stern, has been ordered suppressed.

Reports received here early today indicated that the government forces were rapidly controlling the situation in the main industrial district.

The police were said to have regained complete possession of Eisleben, Hettstedt and Mannfeld after heavy fighting. The communist leaders in Eisleben sought to negotiate a truce after their defeat but the police refused to treat with them until they had agreed to hand over all loot and to attempt to induce the communists throughout that district to surrender.

PRISONER TESTIFIES IN MURDER HEARING

Relates Conversation Of Fellow Prisoners Regarding Killing Of Miss Barton.

KANSAS CITY, MO., March 26.—J. R. Walker, a prisoner in the penitentiary at Jefferson City, testified here today at the preliminary hearing of Fred Roberts, charged with murder in connection with the death of Miss Florence Barton, Walker and Roberts were fellow prisoners in the Buchanan county jail at St. Joseph, Missouri, and while there, Walker testified, Roberts told him of driving the car in which the bandit rode who shot Miss Barton.

Speaking of Roberts, Walker said: "He said he was in the car when the trouble happened; that the other man was driving the car and he was in the back seat. He said he regretted the affair very much."

In a conversation held in the St. Joseph penitentiary, Roberts said, "What do you mean by rocks?" inquired the justice.

"Diamonds," Walker replied. "He said when the man in the coupe (Miss Barton's fiancé) drew a gun, the other man shot him and he was killed."

Walker was not allowed to name the "other man."

CROWN FORCES STAGE VIGOROUS REPRISALS FOR RECENT AMBUSH

By Associated Press.

WESTPORT, COUNTY MAYO, IRELAND, March 26.—Pandemonium prevailed here early today when crown forces engaged in reprisals for a recent ambush. There was continuous gunfire in various parts of the town for several hours. Houses and shops were wrecked with bombs and furniture and other effects were burned.

BOMB ATTACK MADE ON LORRIES OF AIR FORCES

DUBLIN, March 26.—A bomb attack was made this afternoon upon two lorries belonging to the air forces. Two of the air force contingents and several civilians were wounded, the latter by bomb splinters.

The attack occurred at 3 p. m. The two lorries were drawn up on O'Connell street in the heart of Dublin. A number of the soldiers had entered stores to make purchases. Those who remained in the lorries were suddenly surrounded by armed civilians, who threw two bombs and opened fire from their revolvers.

The wounded air force men were Privates Brown and Hayhem.

THREE MILLS AT CARDIN OKLAHOMA ARE BURNED

MIAMI, OKLA., March 26.—Three mills at Cardin, Okla., eight miles northeast of here, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early this morning. Their total valuation was $125,000. The Bethel mill, owned by the Bethel Lead and Miller-Worley mining mills No. 1 and 2, valued at $80,000, were destroyed.

The other two were drawn up on O'Connell street in the heart of Dublin. A number of the soldiers had entered stores to make purchases. Those who remained in the lorries were suddenly surrounded by armed civilians, who threw two bombs and opened fire from their revolvers.

The wounded air force men were Privates Brown and Hayhem.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR COMING WEEK

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are: Generally fair, but showers Wednesday and Thursday; much cooler first part of week with frost likely in interior.

MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE TAKE MATTER UP WITH GOV. NEFF; CLAIM LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

AUSTIN, March 26.—Legislators who opposed the West Texas A. & M. bill have by no means given up the fight on the measure. Just because the bill was passed in the last few minutes of the legislative session it has not ceased them to cease activities against the bill. In fact, this has been the basis of their counter attack.

Governor Neff said during the week that he had received a number of letters from representatives who opposed the bill pointing a detail in passing of the bill that they claim makes it void and unconstitutional.

At 12 o'clock noon, on March 12, the day the legislature adjourned, the A. & M. bill was on the calendar, together with several other equally important measures. To have these bills from dying on the calendar the house clock was turned back several times and when the house adjourned, although the house clock showed 12 o'clock it was really 3:25 p. m. The opposition to the bill now claimed as this measure was passed after the hour for sine die adjournment that is, after the session had closed, and the names of the representatives who are waging the final stand against the bill.

DECLINE TO GIVE UP HOPE FOR SAFETY OF NAVY BALLOON CREW

PENSACOLA, FLA., March 26.—Officials at the naval air station here declined tonight to give up hope for the safety of Chief Quartermaster G. R. Wilkenson and his four companions, who have been missing since March 22, when they left here on a free balloon hop. Search of all areas to which the wind might have blown their craft has been made by dirigibles, seaplanes and eagle boats without success.

Failure to find the balloon or the basket is taken by officials as an indication that the balloon either drifted ashore at some uninhabited and infrequently visited spot, or that the men and their craft were picked up by some fishing boat which refused to put back to port with them. The search is being continued and officials say they will not abandon hope for three weeks, the duration of the usual fishing cruise.

CONDITION OF CONEY BUT LITTLE CHANGED

Conscious and Resting Easily in Early Night Report From His Bedside.

NATCHEZ, MISS., March 26.—Early tonight the condition of Lieutenant W. D. Coney showed but little change. He is still conscious and resting easily. He has made no further statement as to the nature of his injuries. His mother is due to arrive here tonight.

At 8:30 o'clock tonight Doctor H. T. Chamberlain and J. S. Ullman issued the following bulletin regarding Lieutenant Coney's condition:

"Mr. Coney spent a fairly comfortable night. His condition is practically unchanged. Temperature 100; pulse 88; respiration 20."

At the request of the Natchez chapter of War Mothers, special prayers for the recovery of the transcontinental flyer will be offered at all local churches Easter Sunday morning.

The mother and brother of the injured flyer, who are on their way here, are being kept posted as to his condition through the local chapter of the American Legion.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER FOR FASHION PARADES PREDICTED FOR EAST

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Anything but favorable weather for the annual Easter fashion parades was forecast today by the weather bureau. An unexpected storm of marked intensity with its tail swinging low over southern Colorado caused a revision of preliminary forecasts of fair weather tomorrow. The storm is sweeping eastward and pressure was high today off the Atlantic coast and high wind rising rapidly in the northwest.

Elsewhere the weather was acting badly, with showers and thunder storms in New York state, the Great Lakes region and lower Mississippi valley. There were light rains and snow in the north and west.

In Montana and North Dakota, the temperature dropped below zero.

Everywhere east of the Mississippi river there were promises of unsettled weather and showers over Sunday. Some sections may escape, but there was no comfort on the map in California where there were storm warnings.

Only Florida, from which the winter vacation throngs are scurrying home, showed "fair tonight and Sunday."

RECOVER NINE BODIES OF THE ELEVEN ALLEGED MURDERS IN GEORGIA NEGRO PEONAGE CASE

ATLANTA, March 26.—Disclosures that will surpass developments already made in the alleged Jasper county peonage case were promised tonight by authorities, following discovery today of five negroes burned near the home of John Williams, a prominent Jasper county farmer, and the recovery of the body of another negro in the Yellow River.

With the six bodies unearthed yesterday and the discovery of Clyde Manning, who was taken to the scene to substantiate his alleged confession that he had killed four of the negroes and aided in the death of a fifth, the direction of Williams. A total of nine of the eleven negroes said to have been killed have been found.

Under the protection of a posse of fifteen men and the guidance of the negro, a number of men searched for the bodies today near Williams' home and in the Yellow river where the Jackson company of national guard was held ready to go to the scene in case of opposition.

Williams is held in the Fulton county jail here, having been arrested after Manning's alleged confession. He today denied his guilt and declared that an old family feud had resulted in a "frame up" to cause his arrest.

POSSE OF FIVE HUNDRED SEARCHES FOR NEGRO WHO ATTACKS WHITE WOMAN

PEACEMONT, March 26.—A posse of five hundred at Leesville, La., 100 miles north of here, is searching for a negro who is accused of attacking a white woman at Rosepine, La. early this morning and leaving her by the roadside beaten to unconsciousness. She was found an hour after the crime by railroad section men and rushed to Leesville hospital. It is not believed she will recover.

RESTAURANT PROPRIETOR BEATEN BY BANDITS WHO TAKE $5,300 IN MONEY

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 26.—Five bandits today held up John Tarrant, restaurant proprietor, and after beating him severely, took $5,300 which he had obtained from a bank to cash shipyard pay checks and escaped.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Senate today passed a bill to provide for the relief of the families of the fallen soldiers of the Civil War.

COUNCIL FAILS TO AGREE WITH DENVER ABOUT OHIO PAVING

RAILROAD UNWILLING TO PAY FULL SHARE FOR WORK NORTH OF SIXTH.

MAKES OFFER OF $2500 CONTRIBUTION TO FUND

Councilmen Hint At Possibility Of Another Crossing—Disagreement Will Delay Paving.

An apparent impasse was reached Saturday afternoon on the question of paving Ohio avenue's north end, when the city council, in adjourned session, failed to come to any agreement with representatives of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad.

Judge J. H. Barwise, Jr. for the Denver, offered to contribute $1,000 to help in defraying the paving expense, and later raised this amount to $2,500, but he indicated that the railroad would contest any effort to put it on the same basis as other property owners owning Ohio frontage; the fact that the Denver would contribute $2,500 from any save a small part of the paving, Judge Barwise contended, would make it unjust to assess the railroad for approximately $5,000, the amount levied against it.

Mayor Cline's view, which was occurred in by members of the council, was that the railroad should pay its full share of the expense of paving from Sixth street to the Fourth street viaduct; the mayor agreed that the cost of paving north of the viaduct could not properly be assessed against the road, which has no team tracks on that part of Ohio.

The failure to agree as to the north end of Ohio also has the effect of further delaying the paving of the south end, where the railroad is charged with about $2,700 worth of paving for truckage property that fronts on the street. Judge Barwise expressed a willingness to meet that charge, apparently in the belief that the council would be good to him on the north end question; when no agreement on the north end was reached, the offer for the south end's work was withdrawn until Monday night, when the matter will be taken up again in regular session of the council.

The expense of paving along the railroad's frontage between Fourth and Front streets will be cared for by subscriptions from property owners all along Ohio, who have raised a $12,000 fund to secure the paving and to prevent Indiana from charging with the railroad the advantage that the county's road would give that thoroughfare were Ohio to remain unpaved.

Judge Barwise, General Manager Clarity and the road's local attorney, T. R. Boone, each addressed the council on various phases of the paving situation. The council was reminded that the Denver has already spent, or agreed to spend, about $3,000 for paving here, in addition to an expenditure of $12,000 in the last six months for terminal and yard improvements. Declaring that the paving from Sixth to Fourth would benefit the railroad for a distance of only about 10 feet, Judge Barwise made what he said he honestly thought was a downright generous offer, to donate $1,000 to the Ohio to share the fund. When the mayor and councilmen failed to appear exactly overwhelmed by this offer, the railroad men offered to increase the amount to $2,500. Assuring the officials that the council didn't want to be arbitrary and that it didn't want to do anything that would delay the paving, Mayor Cline said the offer didn't satisfy the city.

"We are convinced," he said, "that the paving will benefit the railroad to the extent of the amount expended from Sixth to the viaduct. North of the viaduct, I'm willing to concede that the city couldn't show that the railroad would be benefitted; but between the viaduct and Sixth, we cannot accept anything less than the railroad's full share of the expense. If $2,500 will cover that expense, all right; other wise, we think you ought to agree to pay whatever the expense amounts to."

During the discussion, it developed that the city has some plans, very indefinite as yet, for still another crossing of the Denver tracks between the Fourth street viaduct and the river. Judge Barwise said that if the city could show that a public necessity existed, it could undoubtedly get the crossing, but he doubted if such a showing could be made.

It was agreed to let the whole matter go over until Monday night. The Brook avenue paving, in which an agreement is reported having, also went over.

FOARD COUNTY TRACT IS SOLD FOR $97,000

Stehlik & Baber Announce Plans For New Addition On Seymour Road.

Stehlik & Baber announce that H. Garner has purchased, through their offices a 925-acre tract of land in Foard county for a consideration of $27,000. The men from whom the land was bought are J. E. Ward and B. G. Ramey. Stehlik & Baber are about to place on the market the Hund tract, located on the Seymour road, about one mile beyond the city limits. This tract of land lies on both sides of the Seymour road, which is on the program for paving. It is described as a beautiful piece of ground and one that will make ideal sites for country homes. The plan is to cut the property up into ten, twenty and forty acre tracts and sell on easy terms. The price at which the land is to sell was not learned.

ASKS ADMINISTRATOR TO GIVE ACCOUNTING OF ASSETS OF ESTATE

Citing W. C. Wither, administrator of the estate of Lucy O'Neil Saunders, to appear and make a strict accounting of the assets and to show the condition of the estate, asking the court to require a bond equal to twice the value of the estate and further asking the court to set aside its orders and decrees, heretofore made approving "pretended reports" and accounting of the estate, John O'Neil filed a petition in probate court Saturday.

The petitioner states that he is the brother of the deceased and the uncle of Frances Anne Saunders, the heir to the estate in question. He states that Mrs. Saunders died in January, 1919, and that the court appointed W. C. Wither as administrator of the estate requiring him to make bond of $20,000.

The intervenor contends that the bond is insufficient inasmuch as the law requires an administrator of an estate to perfect amount to double the amount of the value of the estate and states that at the time of the appointment that the estate in question had a value of over $100,000.

As charged in the petition, Mr. O'Neil represents that during the time that Mr. Wither has been administrator of the estate that he has received a total of some $140,000 and that the expenditures have been about $130,000.

A talk by Judge A. H. Britton on the subject, "Some Concrete and Concrete Observations on the Ancient Arabic Shrine," or words to that effect, featured the Saturday luncheon of the local Shriner. The speaker explained in detail how he came to select such a subject, and what it meant, and by the time he was through with his explanation, it was time to stop.

Regarder Fritz announced that the Temple was considering a visit to Vernon, on the same scale as the recent Electra visit, and that it would be a memorable occasion.

Charles Nolen was chairman of the meeting. Dr. J. S. Fletcher was designated as chairman for next Saturday.

FINNISH CO-OPERATIVES TO DEAL DIRECTLY WITH RUSSIAN CO-OPERATIVES

HELSINGFORS, March 26.—Finnish co-operative organizations have launched a movement to deal directly with the Russian co-operatives, which according to Petrograd advices today, probably soon will be permitted to function with the sanction of the soviet authorities.

A Petrograd dispatch quotes Nikolai Lenin, the soviet premier, as saying: "It is the cooperation movement which will best establish a new economic circulation. We must maintain it for general distribution of products during the transition from capitalism to socialism. We have not utilized this apparatus. That is partly our fault and partly owing to the war situation when the soviet revolutionists, Mensheviks were controlling it. Now that we have succeeded in our defense, we must not bind the hands of our adversaries." The Finnish government is not yet ready to grant unrestricted trade and each deal must go through the state council. All through Finland where foreign trade representatives long have been waiting a chance to enter soviet Russia, however, deals are reported to be made. The government plans to develop the ice-free harbor of Hangö and handle commerce with Petrograd over the Viborg railway.

SAYS CONSUMERS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PRESENT COAL SITUATION

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Consumers and not the railroads, the operators or the miners, are responsible for present depression in the bituminous coal industry, Dr. George Otis Smith, director, and F. G. Tryon, coal statistician of the geological survey, declared in a statement issued here tonight.

A policy of "buy only as needed" is being pursued, dangerously, by bituminous users, the statement says. Empty coal bins will result, it was said, should a sudden industrial upturn develop, as in such an event the mines would be unable to produce and the railroad unable to carry sufficient coal. Lack of demand was the cause of the general shutdown in the industry and has resulted in a veritable army of unemployed, it was said. Regarding the attitude of the consumers, the statement said that the general business depression was not their only consideration, but that prices were deemed excessive and many consumers, it was said, are waiting for a drop.

"The operator, however," said the statement, "reports that the price has gone down as far as it possibly can; that with skilled labor wage advances the cost of coal has so increased that a return to pre-war prices is impossible."

REPORT ON CONDITION OF CLEARING HOUSE BANKS

NEW YORK, March 26.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $7,661,946 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $4,251,010 from last week. The statement follows:

Table with columns for various bank categories and their respective reserve amounts. Includes rows for Loans, discounts, etc.; Cash in own vaults; Reserve in own vaults; Reserve in depositaries; X-Net demand deposits; Time deposits; Circulation; X-United States deposits; Aggregate reserve; Excess reserve.

CHARGE ASSISTANT PAYMASTER OF NAVY EMBEZZLES $22,000

BOSTON, March 26.—The disappearance a week ago of Ensign Joseph J. Lynn, assistant paymaster of the scout cruiser Chester was followed today by the discovery that he had left a shortage of $22,000 in naval funds.

A naval board of inquiry opened today to look into the disappearance of Lynn, who rose from the ranks, enlisting from a common sailor in 1902, to the position of assistant paymaster in 1918. OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO POSSIBILITIES OF TRADE WITH THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE

By Associated Press. HELSINGFORS, March 26.—Extremely conflicting views are expressed by Americans both here and in Stockholm, who long have been watching the Russian situation at close range, regarding the possibility of any extensive trade at present with soviet Russia.

Among some of these observers the view is expressed that there are huge possibilities in Russian trade. Others take the contrary view. It is pointed out by many Americans of the latter opinion, including representatives of large banks and general importing and agricultural machinery concerns, that the sale of goods by Russia to the Swedish banks, has rolled up a comparatively large credit balance for the latter country. This balance is being used to purchase food, agricultural machinery and transportation equipment. When this balance is exhausted, however, these Americans declare they can see only oil and lumber, with possibly some leather and platinum, as commodities which will be available for export from Russia for several years to come.

DELEGATION OF SOUTHERN TARIFF ASSOCIATION WILL BE GIVEN SPECIAL HEARING

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Representatives of the Southern Tariff Association will be given a special hearing by the house ways and means committee April 20 to present claims for protection desired on products of the south. John H. Kirby, president of the association, has called a meeting of the managers of fifty-seven industries affiliated with it to be held in Washington April 18 and 19, for a preliminary conference on the arguments to be given to the committee in favor of including the southern products in the new general tariff bill now being drafted.

A series of meetings will be held through the south prior to the Washington conference. President Kirby announced, to arouse sentiment on the subject, the first of which will be called at Jacksonville, Florida, early in April under the chairmanship of Governor Lee M. Russell of Mississippi.

ERWIN R. BERGDOLL CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

KANSAS CITY, March 26.—Handcuffed to a military guard and dressed in the olive he declined to wear during the war, Erwin R. Bergdoll, Philadelphia millionaire, convicted of draft service, appeared before Judge John O. Pollock today in federal court of Kansas City, where habeas corpus proceedings have been instituted seeking his release from the military prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Pollock announced that he would take the matter at issue in today's hearing—the admission of evidence to show Bergdoll had received notice to report for military service—under advisement.

FORMAL CONFIRMATION OF DENVER SALE POSTPONED

DENVER, COLO., March 26.—Formal confirmation of the sale of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad to the Western Pacific railroad company for $3,000,000 to satisfy a judgment of the Equitable Trust Company of New York today was put over until 10 o'clock next Monday morning. Postponement of confirmation followed preliminary conferences in which Federal Judge Robert E. Lewis denied an application by the stockholders for an order permitting them to file $100,000 in bonds in place of cash as evidence of their intention to bid $10,000,000 for the property.

RUDELPH GANE CONDUCTOR ST. LOUIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—Rudolph Ganz, the pianist, has been selected conductor of the St. Louis symphony orchestra for a term of three years. It was announced today. He accepted the position. It was added, Mr. Ganz succeeds Max Zach, who died recently.

JUDGE DISMISSES SUIT TO CLOSE GAMBLING INLAND

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 26.—The suit of citizens of Jefferson parish to close the alleged gambling inland on Metairie Ridge, known as "Ballards" for one year under the abatement act, was dismissed by Judge Prentiss in Gretna district court, who held there was no cause for action.

SHREVEPORT STUDENT DROWNS WHILE BATHING IN BAYOU

SHREVEPORT, March 25.—Jerre Davidson, 14, student of Centenary college of Shreveport, floated into a hole thirty feet deep while bathing in a bayou yesterday afternoon and was drowned. Another of the same age was with Davidson but was unable to swim and could not render assistance.

POSTPONE HEARING IN CASE OF FORMER ARMY CAPTAIN

NEW YORK, March 26.—Today's hearing in removal proceedings against Robert Rosenbluth, a former army captain, charged with having caused the killing of Major Alexander P. Cronk, died at Camp Lewis, Washington, on October 25, 1918, was postponed until next Tuesday.

First Baptist Church. Sunday school 10:00 a. m. "The Great Commission" is the very interesting and inspiring title of our lesson to be studied. Golden text: "I am with you always even unto the end of the world." Matt. 28:20. Time: Resurrection day and 40 days following. Place: Jerusalem. To carry out the great commission: (1) It presupposes disciples—that is learners in a school of Christ. This was the most common designation of the immediate followers of our Lord. (2) It is addressed to living disciples. (3) It provides for cosmopolitan disciples. "Make disciples of all nations." We must not be provincial in our program. Our scope must embrace the world. (4) It authorizes enlisted disciples. "Baptizing them in the name of the father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit." First to Christ, then to the path of duty. Baptism is an act of obedience, in which the believer makes his oath of allegiance. (5) It builds up intelligent disciples. You cannot have efficiency without information. (6) It urges obedient disciples. "Obeying the commandments which I have commanded you." (7) It insured guided disciples. "I have sent the Master with you to teach you." (8) It insured persevering disciples. "We are to work with the Master, not alone for a day or a year but 'even unto the end of the world.' What a vast and glorious program! Our Sunday school is having a steady growth both in numbers and the sort of men and women. Our efficient corps of officers and teachers. We extend to you a very earnest and sincere invitation to become a member of our school. Morning service 11:00 a. m. This service will be unique, educational, pleasant, sometimes a little of the best of worshipful. The first 30 minutes of the service will be given to special music by Mr. R. Vaughn Ray and his large chorus choir. Following this will be a play, "The Immigrants." At the conclusion of the play the primary department will sing. The service will be closed by a message from the pastor. You will miss a rare treat if you do not attend this service. Evening service 7:30 p. m. Subject, "Eternal Punishment." We extend to you a hearty invitation to worship with us.—W. C. ASHFORD, associate pastor and school superintendent of the Sunday school.

YOUNG RUSSIAN WHO COMES TO MAKE HOME PREFERS "REDS" TO POLES; HAS ENOUGH OF WAR

The bolsheviks treated us kindly. The Poles were mean to us; if we had to stay in Poland I would rather have the bolsheviks for our masters than the Poles," said Joe Septovitch, aged ten, who arrived with his mother and younger brother, Max, from Poland a few days ago to live in America with his father, Max Septovitch. Mr. Septovitch is a shoemaker here.

Mr. Septovitch located his family from whom he had received no word for more than five years, through the Jewish Relief society. He sent the money to bring them to Wichita Falls. They sailed from Danzig on the steamship Litovania and landed in America at Boston.

Joe is a bright little fellow, and hopes to make a good American citizen. He has seen enough of war and wishes to make his home in America. He lived with his mother and brother at Czelow, near Warsaw, and has seen the town change military masters about half a dozen times in the last five years. First, it was in

RED CROSS WORKER SENTENCED TO PRISON BY RUSSIAN SOVIET

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Captain Emmitt Kilpatrick of Uniontown, Pa., Red Cross worker in south Russia, captured by the bolshevik forces last fall, is reported to have been sentenced to 20 years imprisonment at hard labor by a soviet tribunal in Moscow. Red Cross headquarters here has ordered an investigation.

Captain Kilpatrick, while on leave of absence, got far forward with the forces of General Wrangel and was captured when soviet armies started a general advance. It has been definitely established that he was taken to Moscow and imprisoned there, though there was no previous report that he had been formally tried.

The reports said Kilpatrick was tried in retaliation for alleged condemnation of Russian communists in the United States.

COMMUNISTS CHARGE GERMANS DELIBERATELY FORCE REVOLUTION TO MISLEAD THE ALLIED NATIONS

BERLIN, March 26.—Charges that the German government deliberately forced the present revolution were made by the communists here today. Through their spokesmen they declared the Ebert regime had two main objects in view—crushing of the workers preparatory to throwing the entire reparations burden upon them and demonstrating to the extent that retention of arms is necessary to overcome proletarian outbursts.

The government countered with the charge that the communists sought to instigate a revolution at a time the authorities were engaged with the Poles and the reparations question, hoping it would spread throughout Germany and enable them to overthrow the present administration.

The opposing forces outlined their versions of the present situation as follows:

By HERR SEVERING
Prussian Minister of the Interior.

We are fully prepared for this move by the communists themselves. For a long time they had warned us through public announcements, mass meetings and their press.

The action was undertaken after the Silesian plebiscite when the government was having trouble with the Poles in addition to the reparations question, in hopes that it would be occupied to prevent spread of the uprisings throughout Germany, with consequent fall of the present administration.

We also were informed that great quantities of dynamite and munitions were being smuggled from central Germany into other parts of the country preparatory to a general uprising.

It was to prevent this and restore the authority of the state that we decided to dispatch our safety police into the affected district.

Reports of the formation of a "red army" have been greatly exaggerated. We are convinced that we will be able to crush the uprisings by tomorrow.

By DR. FRITZ SACHS
Member of the Executive Committee of the Communist Labor Party.

The government's action in central Germany is only an introductory measure to the final plan to crush the resistance of the workers with the purpose of throwing the entire burden of the reparations upon them.

The fight was not provoked by the communists, nor was it commanded by Moscow. It was caused by the government dispatching strong forces of police into the industrial districts to break up the revolutionary committee's action which the workers had elected instead of the shop stewards.

These committees have conducted the only successful strike in Germany recently—those in Mansfeld and Leuna—and the bourgeoisie therefore considers them the backbone of the revolutionary movement and a direct attack against them. This explains the spontaneous uprising of the entire proletariat.

The unbreakable resistance of the Bavarian government and police to disarmament impelled the German government to create new incidents which are intended to prove to the extent that armament of those reactionary is necessary to put down workers' uprisings.

The recovery of ruined and impoverished Germany can be accomplished only by replacing the present dictatorship of Stines and other war profiteers and grafters of the officer caste with a dictatorship of the productive proletariat.

OFFER CO-OPERATION IN SETTling IMMIGRANTS ON SMALL FARMS OF COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Commissioner General Husband of the Immigration bureau has received from banks, business firms, railroads, chambers of commerce and individuals all over the country, offers to co-operate in the immigration service proposal to settle immigrants on small farms.

F. W. Gallatin, national commander of the American Legion, was among those who asked for further information.

Representatives of the labor, interior and agriculture departments and the farm loan board will meet soon to adopt more definite plans for co-ordinating of governmental agencies to provide farm lands for immigrants, it was said today.

Among the offers of aid received were letters from individuals in Louisiana, who want settlers, Charleston, S. C., asked that settlers be sent to that locality, and the city of Bristol, Virginia, offered land to be used for settlement.

Just received the first spring chicken of the season. All kinds of live and dressed milk-fed poultry. Cracked eggs 15 cents per dozen. White Produce Co., 192 Pecan-st.; phone 5576. 215 Ste.

Says Enforcement Will Be Difficult Under Beer Ruling

By PAUL R. MELLON
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Visions of Broadway with her filled sanitarians at every other door and beer selling drug stores in between were conjured up today when William H. Anderson, dry leader of New York state, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, attacked the ruling of former Attorney General Palmer.

Habitues of the gay White Way saw brilliant carriages there transformed into hospitals for the infirm and thirty; theaters and moving picture shows crowded off the street by soda fountains with a foot rail and something before the counter.

"There is not a doubt but that fake drug stores will be started to sell beer," Anderson said. "If the breweries are allowed to manufacture intoxicating beer for 'legged' medicinal purposes, they will make more than they can sell under the medicinal regulations and dispose of it to those who want it."

Further, while the physicians of the country generally are honest and conscientious, there have not been lacking alleged physicians who have never made good in the practice of medicine, but whose licenses are still valid, who have gotten rich selling prescriptions for whiskey. These and others will unquestionably furnish dishonest prescriptions for beer.

"It is obvious that the beer leak in the dyke will make it far more difficult to keep the country dry."

"For years it was the custom for breweries to furnish workers with free beer. A job in a brewery to work for an hour or two a day may become in certain quarters the most prized possession in the labor field."

"Many breweries will be able to get

Germany Is Making Strong Bids for Her Lost Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Evidence of efforts by Germany to regain her lost foreign trade was given in official dispatches today showing what was declared to be a definite program by German business interests to outbid other foreign exporters in the Spanish market.

German traders in the Spanish market were said to be well informed concerning American prices and were quoting their stocks at figures just low enough to obtain the business.

YOUNG LEEDS ARRIVES AT BEDSIDE OF MOTHER

ATHENS, March 25.—William B. Leeds Jr., 17 year old son of Princess Anastasia of Greece, formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York, arrived here today by airplane from France to join his mother, who recently underwent a serious operation.

Young Leeds landed in Cherbourg from the steamer Emperor Sunday last and motored to Caen, where the airplane was waiting him.

Ribbons Come Into Greater Vogue

No woman can pay too much attention to Ribbons, for there are so many irresistible little aids to modishness that they can be made into right now. Sashes come first, of course. Then there are daring trims for evening gowns; all sorts of bows for trimming hats; strikingly original neckwear, and last, but not least, the fashionable handbags of ribbon which so many smartly clad women are carrying.

Taffeta Frocks

—Are So Springlike

Lattices are not confined to rose arbors this season. One finds them trimming adorable Frocks of Taffeta. Fashioned of bands of self-material or narrow velvet ribbon, they are arranged to form alluring openwork effects. Other trimming features which mark the new Taffeta Frocks as out of the ordinary are quaint puffs, garlands of taffeta flowers, clever side flares and basque bodices.

The Coat Dress Is Growing More Popular Daily

The Coat Dress is generally becoming, so naturally it finds favor with youthful miss and matron alike. This Spring it has more interesting variations than ever. Tricotine and Twill Cord versions, of this mode with front fastenings, for instance, open over modish foundation slips of lustrous satin or clinging silk crepes. Frills of ribbon add a feminine touch at the tailored necklines and bright spots of color are introduced in embroideries or stitching.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS ARE MOBILIZING FOR THE COMING SESSION

HOPE TO BE ABLE TO MEET EXPECTATIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

AN ALMOST TERRIFYING SITUATION IS PRESENTED

Poor Record in Recent Session of Congress And the Party Chiefs Are Apprehensive.

By MARK SULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and the Wichita Daily Times. (Copyright 1921, by N. Y. Evening Post.) WASHINGTON, March 26.—The republican leaders are mobilizing to get things done at the coming session of congress and they need to. They know that the expectations which the country has of them are enormous, to some of the more cautious republican leaders the country's expectations are almost terrifying. The country almost expects the new administration to make miracles.

The expectations are largely inherent in the situation but all agree they are based on the promises and implications of promises, which the republicans made during the campaign last summer. As one of the republican leaders expressed it after he had spent several days studying the government's financial situation, "We have promised to solve the insoluble."

Not only are the republican leaders apprehensive about the things the country expects them to do in the coming session. In addition they are uncomfortable because of having made a poor record in the recent session. To be sure, so far as the recent session is concerned, the republicans have an alibi which they rely on rather too much in the fact that they did not control the presidency. While they controlled the house and the senate, the democratic president was able to veto anything they did.

Can't Blame Vetoes. But the serious faults of the recent session were not of a character that can be blamed on President Wilson's vetoes. It is true some of these vetoes were unjustifiable. After an immigration bill had been passed in the senate by a majority of thirty to one and had been passed in the house by a vote of seven to one it was discouraging to have all that work go for nothing because the president allowed the bill to lie on his desk and thereby in effect vetoed it. But the sufficient answer to this is that the republican house and senate ought to have passed the bill before the last ten days of the session. If they had done that they would then have had time to re-pass the bill over the president's veto.

Moreover, there were serious defects in the work of the recent session which had nothing whatever to do with Mr. Wilson's vetoes. The recent session did not even pass all the appropriation bills which Mr. Harding had begged them to pass in order to have the ground clear for the new regime.

Unredeemable Dilatoriness. The truth is that in the recent session there was unpardonable dilatoriness. Having their majority of 21 the republicans are now getting ready to achieve compactness and speed. They have reorganized their steering committee. This is not an official committee of the senate, but really a committee of the republican party. It will be responsible for the programme. It will fix the order in which legislation shall come up, and it will be responsible for the speed with which legislation is pushed through.

The chairman of the committee is to be Lodge of Massachusetts. Since Lodge is also chairman of the republican caucus and in addition chairman of the extremely important foreign relations committee, it is obvious that the senior senator from Massachusetts is going to

RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK GOVERNMENT IS ENJOYING A "PAPER PRESTIGE," SAYS AN EX-RUSSIAN POLITICIAN

By EDWIN HULLINGER, United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS, March 26.—The bolshevik government in Russia is enjoying a "paper prestige," according to Nicholas Tchakovsky, ex-Russian politician and formerly a resident of Kansas. Tchakovsky today declared private dispatches confined Secretary Hoover's America in refusing to trade with the bolsheviks. He said that Russia will find it physically impossible to exchange goods with other nations and justified America in refusing to trade with the bolsheviks. Recent treaty successes, providing for resumption of trade are mere "paper victories," he declared.

Tchakovsky named the following obstacles to bolshevik trade: No food surplus. Lack of incentive for heavy planting. Crippling of factories. Mineral resources inaccessible because of transportation failure.

Keen Interest in America. The aged statesman showed a keen interest in American affairs and surprising familiarity with events there. His eyes brightened when he learned that I was from Kansas. "Would you happen to know anything about my old farm near Independence, Kansas," he asked. I told him I could of conditions in that part of the country.

LAWYERS NOT TO BRING SUITS FOR INDEBTEDNESS WITH PRICE OF RICE $1.00

SHREVEPORT, March 26.—Rev. Claud L. Jones, pastor of a local church, who has just returned from a visit to Jennings, La., said that lawyers of Jefferson Davis parish, including Jennings, have formed an agreement not to assist in any suits brought for indebtedness during the present period of stringency, during which rice is down to $1 a sack, below cost of production.

RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK GOVERNMENT IS ENJOYING A "PAPER PRESTIGE," SAYS AN EX-RUSSIAN POLITICIAN

There's a rich oil well right in the front yard. Tchakovsky told of his life on the farm, of the hardships he had endured there and of the events since his residence in Kansas. "I left there in 1900," he said, "and when I got back to Russia began dabbling in politics." Was Governor North Russia. He was governor of Northern Russia before the bolsheviks swept into power. "Despite the temporary flush of international political prestige designed with the signing of seven trade agreements," he said, "Russia gained little. She has neither food nor raw products to export in living up to the agreements."

Peasants aren't planting any larger crops than they can consume for domestic use themselves. Why? Because the bolsheviks confiscate the crop as soon as it is harvested. The present grain and flax acreage is less than 40 per cent of the normal output. Manufactured articles are hardly 25 per cent of the 1914 output.

The present grain and flax acreage is less than 40 per cent of the normal output. Manufactured articles are hardly 25 per cent of the 1914 output.

WE WALKED in the Valley of the Mountain, Senator Paul and I. We walked with peaceful content. The sky was clearest blue against the dark green of the fir-topped hills on either side and even the brightness of the sun, was light and airy as it flashed and drifted by on the ocean laden breeze that barely stirred. Senator Paul said: "The sun brings the sweetness. The breeze from the ocean beyond the hills tempers the sun during the day, while at night it comes heavy laden with salt mist until it touches the higher land of the foot hills. Then the mist falls and their dew give the berries the vigor and the tonic that we call flavor."

"Only in England is there climate like this and England lacks the rich sunshine that helps nature distill the most perfect of her flavorings." As we walked we turned off the paved highway, all lined with tree-buried white cottages and brown bungalows. We were in the berry fields. Our feet sunk deep in the loose soil that was black yet so light it was pulverized and granular. Senator Paul said: "This is the stored food that the bush must have if it is to produce the perfect cell of the best berry—food accumulated through many centuries of the decay of generations of berry leaves and vines and vegetation."

But Nature in her lavish building of this soil from the berries that went before did not always perfectly distribute the food values. So the United States Government has placed here an agricultural experiment station that determines the practical chemical facts that enable us always to raise the perfect berry. Knowing these facts we feed fertilizers to the soil each year that the berry may have the food that it needs to be at its best. This is not a berry patch into which we have come. There is no wild riot and tangle of vines. Before us are the fresh clean rows of raspberry canes, marshalled in orderly ranks of yellow-browns and greens. Over to the right are the trellises on which stretch with equal order the long blackberry vines. It is not one of Nature's undisciplined mobs—it is the trained and mobilized army of thoroughbred berries. Senator Paul continued: "By selection, by breeding and by care we have developed the thing which you call clams and now we have the thoroughbred berry that is just as superior to the ordinary stock as the stall fed steer is superior to the wild range animal."

"This was always a berry land. The Indians came here for their berries back to the beginning of their traditions. "But to secure the perfect berry of today took years of care. For a variety like the Evergreen Blackberry we took the wild stock and by a process of always selecting the best secured the thoroughbred of today. A variety like the Cuthbert Red Raspberry came from elsewhere. But it was a puny, indifferent berry when it came, all seeds and fibre. The climate and the soil gave it a new life and it developed new flavor cells. By selecting the best and always the finest we developed our new variety of today." As he talked I lifted the outflung mantle of green leaves and selected here and there the most perfect of the Cuthbert Raspberries—rich and red and so ripe that they almost fell into my hand. Senator Paul said: "The berry is the delicate flower of the fruit kingdom. It must have light, heat and air to develop fully; and it also must have sufficient moisture to create its full delicacy. "The tiny cells fill with perfumes and with the sugars and the acids that we call flavors, but they can only fill to their utmost when they come to complete ripeness bathed with dew and showered with sunshine. "The berry picked before fully ripe to go to a distant market is incomplete and immature in every cell. "There is only one perfect moment when the complete berry, ripe and rich and fragrant, is Nature's most delicate fruit." The women of the valley, blue ginghamed and happy-eyed, talked cheerily back and forth as they walked along the trim rows, thrusting the leaves aside that they might select the full ripe fruit below. They traveled the rows every day, selecting each berry when ripe and ready and dropping it into the little fibre wood cup that they carry—the one touch of the human hand in the journey of Paul's berries to you. All that afternoon we wandered along the roads and into the fields and with the cool of the evening we turned our feet to follow the stream of berries now pouring forth in many kinds of conveyances into the paved highways—the highways that reach everywhere that the berries may not be jolted and bruised. We turned our steps along the short way that leads to Paul's kitchens among the berry fields in the valley of the mountain. For the berry season is at its height and night work must be done that there may not be an hour's delay.

MADE IN THE U.S.A. NASHVILLE, TENN., March 26.—Rev. E. F. Cook, president of the Seagriff Bible and Training school, Kansas City, Mo., and Rev. H. A. Boax, president of the Southern Methodist university of Dallas, Texas, have been appointed associate directors of the general Christian education movement of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, and will establish headquarters in Kansas City and Dallas. The appointments became necessary on account of the large proportions the movement is assuming. Dr. J. H. Reynolds, director general, said.

MADE IN THE U.S.A. In this favored valley the berries were bigger, richer and more abundant. And so through the last summer, the men caught the great salmon in Puget Sound and the women, while the men and the children gathered the berries. THE LOG OF THE SUNSET TRAIL. The Mountain in Its Beauty and the valley in its Fertility. The first white settlers were attracted by the quality of the soil. The men who had found here developed soil today is the premier berry district of America.

Once off the vine the building and filling of the little cells stop. For a few short hours the richness of ripeness holds the berry structure in suspense. But where here is no longer growth there must be disintegration. Paul's problem is to preserve the berry in a film of sugar before there can be any breaking down of the cells or turning of delicate flavorings into heavy acids. That is the secret of Paul's Jams. The most highly developed berries in the world ripened on the vine to full perfection of color and flavor and then that color and flavor preserved for you. The preserving is by mixing the fresh fine fruit with granulated sugar and bringing it to exactly the right temperature to spread the films of sweetness that will lock up every atom of flavor. And there in the great white kitchen we watched the simple process of making the true jam. Watched the keen-eyed girls inspect the fruit they emptied from the little cups—the great copper kettles—the pouring of white granulated sugar—the white-clad chefs with their great thermometers—the stream of fruit as it poured from the kettles into the copper jacketed water coolers—the steady flow through the copper pipes into the glass jars, endlessly marching by, fresh from the live steam and endlessly each receiving with automatic precision its exact content—the progress of these jars to where they were hermetically sealed and then sterilized. And as we watched there came to me the conviction that Paul's Jam is not only a wonderful table delicacy—but its production is an institution built out of the loving care and pride of a far Western community. That is what it is—the perfect product of a community. Paul's Jam belongs to the people who make it—1800 berry growers who went to live in the Valley of the Mountain because they loved the glad outdoors and saw there the chance to live the real life—1800 men and women who take pride in the fact that they raise the best berries—1800 men and women who carry that pride over into their ownership in the organization that gathers and preserves those berries for you. Leading the 1800 in the maintenance of their standards is Senator W. H. PAULHAMUS ("PAUL")—a pioneer of the farmers, who tills his acres with the others, but who led the organization in building the kitchen in the berry fields that all the aroma and bouquet of the Puyallup berries might be preserved for you in Paul's Jams.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS ARE MOBILIZING FOR THE COMING SESSION

Whether Lodge, even with the comfortably majority of 21 behind him, will develop the personal qualities of leadership necessary remains to be seen. Lodge was never out to be a boss in the sense that Aldrich was or Cannon was. His personality does not include the kind of ruthless driving power that makes a dictator. Lodge will be the trading, conciliating type of leader. He will go with the waves, rather than try to master them. Normally Lodge ought to be able to exert strong assistance from Senator Penrose, who as chairman of the finance committee should have much to do with leading his party in the taxation and tariff fight. But Penrose is an obviously sick man. Lodge undoubtedly will have, of course, a good deal of aid from President Harding. This aid can hardly be over estimated, for the circumstances are such and Mr. Harding's adaptation of himself to the circumstances is such that he has a strong hold. That hold will to a degree be a steadily diminishing quantity in proportion as the offices of the republicans cease to be under obligations to the president for patronage. Curiously enough President Harding, with all his talent for harmony, has already made about the only bad start he could conceivably have made. Among all the issues which he might have chosen as the first to put his personal shoulder behind, some whim of fate led him to choose the Columbia treaty. Some of the republican senators whom President Harding has formally and ingratiously asked as a favor to him to vote for this treaty have formally refused, and when it comes up in April there will be something approaching a serious split in the republican strength.

NEW GOLF COURSE OF LOCAL CLUB HAS MANY ATTRACTIONS

WILL BE ONE OF SPORTIEST IN SOUTHWEST WHEN COMPLET-ED, PLAYERS BELIEVE.

HOPE TO BE USING IT
IN NEXT 30 OR 45 DAYS

Improvements Will Combine Scenic Beauty With Things That Call For Real Golf.

One of the sportiest golf courses in the southwest is being rapidly evolved out of the additional acreage acquired not long ago by the Wichita Falls Golf club, and within 30 to 45 days members will be playing an 18-hole round that will have few rivals.

Work on the new course, which extends southward well across Holiday creek, is progressing steadily, and has been brought near enough completion to give an indication of what it will be when finished.

Not only for its sporting opportunities, but for its scenic beauty, the course will be one of unusual attractiveness. Holiday creek, the pean grove and other natural elements are being cleverly combined into a links that will have far more scenic beauty than a casual observer would have believed possible in this section.

The sportiness of the course may be judged from the fact that there are four water hazards along Holiday creek, and that several of the holes are so located, among the trees and rough ground, that only sharp playing can keep one out of the troubles that cause golfers to come home in a bad humor.

Eventually, this has already been stated in The Times, the pretty country south of Holiday creek will be the site of a new and commodious club house, but such a building will not be erected very soon. For the present the members will content themselves with an exceptionally attractive course and the old club house.

It is hoped to open the new nine holes early in May.

SHERIFF FRED SMITH RETURNS WITHOUT MAN

Sheriff Fred Smith, who went to St.
Paul, Minn., to bring back Harvey Low, wanted here on a charge of perjury, returned from the north Saturday morning without his prisoner. The sheriff stated that the man was seriously ill with pneumonia and grave doubts as to his recovery were expressed by physicians. The sheriff stated that he found warmer weather there last Monday than was experienced here in Texas. "But give me Texas," was Mr. Smith's closing remark.

PICTURE SHOW MEN ENTER PLEA OF GUILTY TO CHARGE

H. D. Hoard and Ed Hart, who were arrested last Sunday by Texas Rangers McCormick and Gonzales on charges of operating a moving picture show in violation of the Sunday law, pleaded guilty to the charge in the county court of law Saturday afternoon. Judge Guy Rogers entered a fine of $25 and costs. The small fine was imposed due to the absence of the state's witnesses who had been supported, but were out of the city on official business.

RECEIVES FEES BANNED NEARLY FOUR YEARS AGO

George Hawkins, ex-sheriff, received

WAYNE SOMERVILLE HELPED PROSECUTE AT BRECKENRIDGE

Wayne Somerville, assistant district attorney, returned from Breckenridge Saturday afternoon where he assisted the state in the prosecution against Herman Borders, who was charged with theft of horses. Borders and Henry Cagle were arrested in this county by Texas Ranger Gonzales, and Mr. Somerville took the state-sisted Claud McCaleb, the district attorney, in the prosecution. The jury found the man guilty and assessed his punishment at five years confinement in the state penitentiary. The case was one of the first tried in the newly created 8th district court. Mr. Somerville made the opening argument to the jury.

JURY AWARDS JUDGMENT TO PLAINTIFF FOR $185

A jury in the 8th district court Saturday afternoon rendered a judgment of $185 to the plaintiff in the case of Dee and Bellport vs. the Nash Automobile and Truck company. The jury was out but a short while before they returned a verdict.

The plaintiff sued the defendant for the recovery of the price paid for an automobile, which they alleged had been represented to them as a car, good as new and one that had not been driven over 100 miles. They charged that they drove the car to the oil fields and that they had to be towed in because the engine refused to function.
The defendant replied to the charge that the automobile was not their property, but that of one of the salesmen, and further alleged that the plaintiff drove the car to the fields and permitted it to stand in the mud and water for several days, which they contended was the cause of the engine not functioning properly.

RANGERS RETURN FROM DUTY AT NEWCASTLE

Texas Rangers McCormick and Gonzales returned from Newcastle Saturday, where they had been summoned by orders from their company commander last Tuesday. They stated that there had been some trouble between the whites and Mexicans employed in the construction of the railroad between Newcastle and Graham.
Threats had been made, they said, to chase the Mexicans out of the country. Only three arrests were made and all trouble had subsided before their departure.
Ireland's streams are well supplied with salmon.

ARE TOLD BY FRANK KELL THEY MUST HELP IN CURBING OF RADICALISM.

ELECTION OF COMMANDER DELAYED FOR FOUR WEEKS

Nearly 200 New Members Obtained And Post Votes To Continue Drive For A Month.

The country is looking to you, members of the American legion, for its protection against radicalism and anarchy, and your fellowship, your Americanism and your regard for the law will wipe out those elements, as the enemies to be wiped out. Frank Kell told members of the Pat Carrigan post of the American legion Saturday night. The occasion was a banquet marking the closing membership contest that has been in progress for several weeks, and that resulted in adding nearly 200 members to the post.

It was voted to at once inaugurate a new membership drive, to continue four weeks, and to elect a commander of a post commander to succeed J. B. Hatchitt, resigned, until that time. Frank Kell, Dr. Joe Davis of Munday, Mayor W. C. Cline of Howard, Judge A. H. Carrigan, "Ma" Burdick, J. B. Hatchitt and T. H. Ferguson of Houston addressed the meeting, their remarks covering a wide range of territory as to the principles and work of the legion. Music was furnished by the Palace theater orchestra, and by Prof. Frank Loew.

Dr. T. J. Strong presided as chairman at the meeting. He and E. G. Bartell, a former enlisted man, were nominated as candidates for post commander, before it was decided to delay the election.

Announcement was made that the Swiss Bell Ringers, an internationally known musical act, will appear here April 21 for the benefit of the Pat Carrigan post.

Judge and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, parents of the young officer for whom the post was named, were present and were introduced to the legion.

Dr. Davis, the first speaker, brought a message from state headquarters on the work that the legion is doing in Texas and throughout the nation.

Mayor Cline, who was late on account of having had to attend a birthday supper for himself, complimented the legion upon its work and activities here.

J. G. L. Howard told the ex-service men that it was their duty to have places in the public life of the community, state and nation, and to make Wichita Falls the best town in Texas for young men.

Judge Carrigan spoke of the work that the legion could do in checking and combating radical tendencies of the present day.

"Ma" Burdick's talk was a brief one, and homely, but not the least enjoyed of the evening. He said that the organization of a women's auxiliary branch here.

Mr. Kell told the legionnaires that the training and discipline they had seen in the army had fitted them to serve equally well in civil life, and he spoke of the need for curbing the anarchistic tendencies of the day to help in this, he said, was a special duty for ex-service men.

J. B. Hatchitt, former commander of the post, in a brief speech deprecated the apparent desire of some ex-service men to talk "bonus" when the wounded and disabled were not being cared for. He paid a special tribute to the civilians "behind the lines" during the war.

Commander Ferguson of the legion's post at Houston told of the work and influence of the organization there.

Knights Templar Easter Service to be held at Presbyterian church.

By error Friday's Times said that the Knight's Templar Easter services would be held at the First Christian church. The First Presbyterian church was meant.

Sir Knights in uniform will meet at the Masonic hall at 2:45 and will march to the church where they will hear the Easter sermon by Rev. N. F. Grafton.

There were 201 hangers in Riggs' store window.

There were just 201 clothes hangers in the window at Riggs' store when the count was made Saturday. J. R. Lacey, 1413 Seventeenth street, guessed the exact number it was announced Saturday night.

This number represents the total suit sales at Riggs' store during the first eight days of the sale recently conducted, which is a record for the breaker for Wichita Falls. At least Mr. Riggs is very much pleased with the splendid business with which he was favored and considers it one of the most successful sales that he has ever conducted in this city.

United Press Operator Goes With Oil Company.

F. A. Carrier, United Press leased wire operator at the Wichita Daily Times, has resigned this position to become a salesman for the Boardman company. He takes up his new duties Monday.

Mr. Carrier has been connected with the Times in the capacity of telegrapher for two years or more. He was formally operator for the Associated Press, but gave up that position to enter the oil game, later returning to the United Press. He will cover all the Wichita trade territory for the oil company, specializing in the sale of Vaseline lubricants.

HOUSE AND CONTENTS AT 1909 8TH STREET TOTAL LOSS BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the residence and contents at 1909 Eighth street at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The house was owned by D. R. King, a grocerman residing at 1407 Ninth street, and was occupied by Jay R. Heffron, member of the firm of Heffron & Duff.

Mr. Heffron was out of the city on a business trip to Kansas City and his wife was down town shopping. It was said by neighbors she could not be located and was not aware of the fire. It was said that the house was elegantly furnished, all of which is a total loss. It was not known whether any insurance was carried on the furnishings and clothing. Loss of the furnishings was estimated at $1,500.

Mr. King stated that it would take $5,500 to replace the house but that he carried only $4,000 insurance. He did not know of the fire until called by a representative of The Times.

Several neighbors expressed the opinion that the fire was caused by a short in the electric wiring. A neighbor across the street noticed the fire when the lights in his house flickered several times. Neighbors stated that the house was wrapped in flames when first noticed.

Therefore, we, the undersigned governors of the south and of the cotton producing states do hereby endorse and commend the national organized effort now being made by the Cotton Consumers League of America, looking toward a greater consumption of cotton fabrics, cotton wearing apparel of every kind, character and description, as a step in the right direction. We call upon all our people to join hands in this special movement and urge upon them the necessity of starting in the home where such a movement should originate, toward wearing and consuming more cotton.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 25.—Urging the co-operation all in movement for a greater consumption of cotton fabrics, a proclamation has been issued signed by the governors of six states and addressed to "all the people of the southland and the nation."

The proclamation issued through the Cotton Consumers League of America, J. Meador Caldwell, director of Fort Worth, is signed by the following chief executives of six many states:

Pat M. Neff, governor of Texas; A. A. Taylor, governor of Tennessee; Thomas C. Melles, governor of Arkansas; Arhur M. Hyde, governor of Missouri; Lee M. Russell, governor of Mississippi; and J. E. A. Robertson, governor of Oklahoma.

The progress, growth and development of the cotton producing states is largely dependent upon "King Cotton." From field to factory millions of our people are affected by the cotton industry. With millions of bales of cotton carried over from last season's crop and another big crop coming on, something really constructive must be done toward a greater consumption, as one of the means of alleviating a grievous situation which now exists and confronts us.

Forty newboys were entertained Saturday evening at the restaurant at 329 Ohio street by the owner, who was a newboy once upon a time himself. After the dinner the boys scrambled over each other hunting for Easter eggs which had been hidden earlier in the evening. Rev. Knickerbocker addressed the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Warren of 2302 Tenth have returned home after a few days visit to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Judge W. N. Bonner returned Saturday from a trip to Tulsa.

J. A. Gardner left for Fort Worth Saturday on a business trip.

Fred T. Couper, Tom B. Smock, A. G. Deatherage and Dr. A. O. Scharrif will leave today for Paris, Texas, to attend the district meeting of Rotary clubs.

The condition of Tom Bergin, who has been confined to his home with the smallpox for the past week, is improving rapidly, but several days must elapse before he returns to duty.

The meeting of the building committee of the Y. W. C. A., which was to have been held Saturday, was postponed to April 2. The architect who was to have brought the plans which he would be unable to reach here before that time.

Mayor Cline will leave today for Shreveport to attend a meeting of the directors of the oil and gas association.

The theft of six horse collars, owned by J. B. Warren, 191 Burnett, from the barn in the rear of his residence was the only loss reported to the police Friday night. The collars were said to have been valued at $18 each.

Messrs. J. M. McFall and Julian McFall returned Saturday from Fort Worth where they went to attend a meeting of the Texas Automotive Dealers Association.

The T. E. L. Sunday school class of the First Baptist church will hold its regular weekly meeting next Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Elsie Hammond, 1624 Tenth street. All members are urged to be present, for important plans relative to the banquet to be tendered the husbands of the ladies in the class will be discussed. This banquet is to be held some time in April.

Two Other Cases Are Continued Until a Later Term Of The Aspermont Court.

ASPERMONT, TEXAS, March 25.—Two other cases against E. J. Cochran, sentenced to two years' imprisonment last night for alleged life insurance fraud growing out of the "empty grave" case, today were continued until a later term of court. Attorneys for Cochran announced they would appeal from last night's verdict.

The two indictments which remain against Cochran involve charges of swindling two fraternal societies out of about $5,000. Cochran, who is alleged to have simulated death, and framed a substitute "burial" of his body two years ago, was sentenced on a charge of defrauding Dallas insurance company out of $5,000.

TO GIVE PREFERENCE TO EX-SERVICE MEN IN THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Promise that he would observe the spirit as well as the letter of the law, giving preference to former service men in the postal service, was given by Postmaster General Hays, to a committee of the American Legion.

The committee, consisting of Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, and John Markey of Frederick, Md., laid before the postmaster general several specific cases of alleged discrimination against former service men. Mr. Hays promised to have the cases investigated immediately and assured the committee he was in full sympathy with the law directing officials of the postal service to consider time spent by employes in the military service of their postal records.

ELLIOTT IS PLACED UNDER $1,000 BOND ON FEDERAL CHARGE

MRS. MURPHY TELLS STORY OF LIFE WITH MAN AT PRELIMINARY HEARING.

SAYS HE THREATENED HER LIFE AFTER WRITING LETTER

Man Contends That Woman Threatened Him if He Didn't Run Away With Her.

Arthur Floyd Elliott was placed under $1,000 bond by United States Commissioner Lantz following a preliminary hearing Saturday afternoon on the charge of violation of the Mann slavery act. At the hearing the woman, Mrs. Emma Murphy, told of the alleged threats made against her when she at one occasion endeavored to send a letter to her husband and relatives in Louisiana. Mrs. Murphy was placed under a recognizance bond.

"I learned to like Mr. Elliott shortly after I had met him in St. Louis," the woman told on the stand, "and I still like him. I met him in St. Louis, where I lived. He lived near where my husband and three children lived at 1224 Ogilvie street.

"When the Elliotts started to come to Wichita Falls, Mrs. Elliott came after me. He wanted me to come along to take care of his children. I deserted my husband and my oldest children, who are twins.

"Our improper relations began in St. Louis before we came down here and continued after we got here. Mrs. Elliott knew of our improper relations, being in the same room on several occasions.

"Elliott and his wife watched me all the time after we came down here, and I could never get out of the restaurant in North Wichita. I wrote a letter once to tell my people and my husband where I was and gave it to a man to mail. It was handed back to Elliott, and after he and his wife read it they tore it up. Elliott then came up stairs to the room and took out a knife and threatened to take my life because I wrote.

"He never paid me a cent for working for him, and I was not allowed to talk to any of the customers when they came in.

"One time not so very long ago Elliott wanted to put his wife in the place so that he could live with me, and I told him then that if he wanted to throw anybody out he should throw me out.

"My husband does not know where I am and he has nothing to do with it. If he will take me back I am willing to go back to him and my other two children."

The defendant said that at one time Mrs. Murphy came to him while he was lying in bed and told him that if he would not run away with her that she would kill him. He contends that the woman is jealous and that she has made these statements on this account.

He told on the witness stand that he did not entice or persuade her to come to Wichita Falls, but that she had come to him and his wife and begged them to take her with them. He said that he met Mrs. Murphy in a picture show with her mother and that he went to see her several times and took her out automobile riding while his wife was in the hospital.

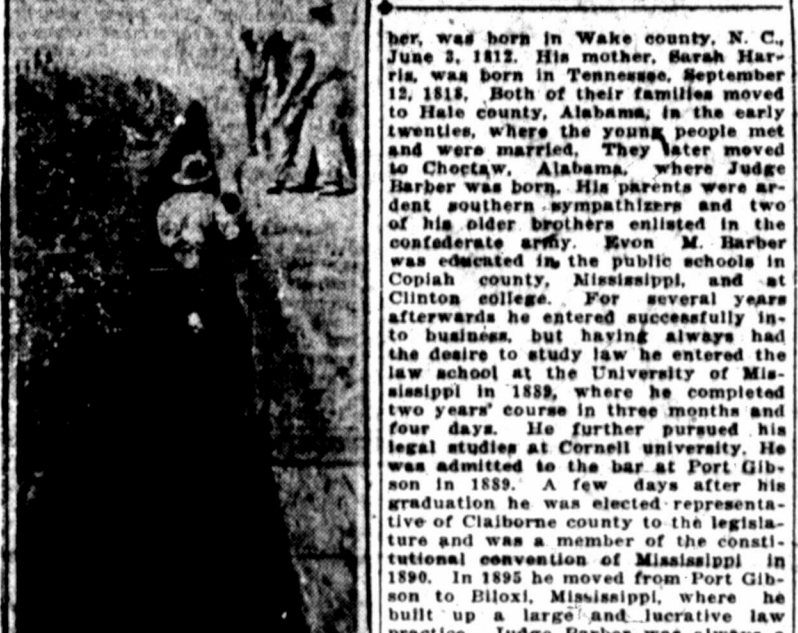

He said that Mrs. Murphy came to Texas on a pass that had been issued to his sister-in-law.

When asked on cross examination whether he had requested Mrs. Murphy not to write any letters, he said: "When we came here first she told me that if she ever tried to write back home that I should take her because she did not want her people to know where she was."

A statement made by the wife of the defendant was to the effect that she was aware of the improper relations that existed between Elliott and Mrs. Murphy. She said that the woman had become infatuated with her husband, but denied any watch was kept over her in order not to allow her to communicate with her outside world.

Mrs. Elliott immediately after the hearing set about to perfect bond for her husband. Bond was made at a late hour Saturday evening.

DITCHES DUG WHILE YOU WAIT BY THE CITY'S NEW EQUIPMENT

The accompanying pictures show the city's new ditch digger at work on Elizabeth street. The ditcher was acquired a few weeks ago and was promptly put to work by the water department in laying the pipe which is being put down in various sections of the city. The ditcher, which cost about $14,000, is expected to pay for itself within a few months by reason of the saving it effects. As soon as a number of comparatively small ditching jobs are completed, it will be used to construct a big ditch from the plant to the western part of the city, to accommodate a new main for that section. The lower picture shows pipe being laid in a section of ditch cut by the machine.

ACTIVE CAREER OF JUDGE BARBER ENDS

Local Jurist Who Died Friday Night Was Prominent in State Affairs of Mississippi.

Arrangements for the funeral of Judge E. M. Barber, who died Friday night, had not been completed Saturday night, word being awaited from his son, who is in Denver.

The following sketch of Judge Barber has been furnished the Times:

Judge Eyon Marlon Barber was born in Choctaw county, Alabama, February 24, 1848; died March 25, 1921, at Wichita Falls, Texas. Judge Barber comes from Scotch ancestry; his paternal and maternal great-grandfathers having come to this country from Scotland, and both of them were officers in the American revolutionary army. His father, Washington Barwhere he was engaged in his profession and the oil business. Soon after his coming to Wichita Falls he and his good wife united with the First Baptist church, and until the hour of his death both of them have been loyal and faithful members. A little more than a year ago the pastor called the attention of the membership to the religious need of the southeast section of this city, where the Walnut Street mission is located. Judge Barber and his wife volunteered to take charge of this mission, and they were elected superintendents of the Sunday school at that place. From that date on until the time of his death he and his wife went to the mission every Sunday, and the Sunday school has grown until they have more than a hundred children. He was a liberal giver and litter, and while he had only been a member of this church for a few years, because of his faithful and loyal service, he was elected deacon at the beginning of this church year.

He is held in universal esteem by his pastor and all the members of the church. In the practice of law Judge Barber was successful in many cases, and a divorce case but what he succeeded in reconciling the estranged parties, with only one exception. He was a man who loved his church, and not in three years has he missed a prayer service unless he was unable to attend. We can say too much for his faithful and devoted wife, who was his co-partner in all of his religious activities; companion in the home; his help-meet in business; and his good angel that led him in all his moral and spiritual ideals and aspirations.

The hearts of all the members of his church and his business associates go out to her and the boy in this hour of bereavement.

Judge Barber will probably be buried somewhere in Mississippi. His body is at Merkle-Lunn's awaiting the hearing of the son from the state. Barber is at Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Darringer's, 905 Broad street.

O. L. POWERS, Pastor.

was born in Wake county, N. C., June 2, 1812. His mother, Sarah Harria, was born in Tennessee, September 12, 1815. Both of their families moved to Hale county, Alabama, in the early twenties, where the young people met and were married. They later moved to Choctaw, Alabama, where Judge Barber was born. His parents were ardent southern sympathizers and two of his older brothers enlisted in the confederate army. Eyon M. Barber was educated in the public schools in Choctaw county, Mississippi, and at Clinton college. For several years afterwards he entered successfully into business, but having always had the desire to study law he entered the law school at the University of Mississippi in 1839, where he completed a two years' course in three months and four days. He further pursued his legal studies at Cornell university. He was admitted to the bar at Port Gibson in 1842. A few days after his graduation he was elected representative of Claiborne county to the legislature and was a member of the constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1845. In 1846 he moved from Port Gibson to Biloxi, Mississippi, where he built up a large and lucrative law practice. Judge Barber was always a consistent and ardent democrat and in 1852 Judge Stone of Mississippi appointed him one of the four delegates from Mississippi to the Nicaragua canal convention in 1859. He represented the Bi-metallic leagues of Mississippi in the national association which met at Indianapolis.

In the same year he represented the Mississippi democratic clubs of the national association at Indianapolis, in 1860. He was elected presidential elector from the sixth congressional district of Mississippi. In the legislature and everywhere Judge Barber stood for all of those things that meant industrial, agricultural and educational development in this state. He was an ardent advocate of the elective judiciary movement and also of the constitutional prohibition. He was a Mason, Odd Fellow and Knight of Pythias.

Leaving Mississippi, he went to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he practiced law for five years. He moved to Wichita Falls about three years ago.

CHARGED WITH TAKING WOMAN FROM THIS CITY ACROSS THE STATE LINE

Sam Devol waived examining trial before U. S. Commissioner J. A. Lantz Saturday afternoon on a charge of having taken a woman from this city to Terrel, Oklahoma. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of having violated the Mann act and his bond was set at $500.

The woman, it is reported, made a statement to the effect that prior to the time they went into Oklahoma that they had been living together here as man and wife.

BRECKENRIDGE BANK HAS LARGE AMOUNTS IN NOTE PAYING POWER IS REPORT

BRECKENRIDGE, March 26.—The Guaranty State Bank of Breckenridge closed its doors at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, after posting a notice that it was in the hands of the state insurance and banking department. Suspension of the institution caused little apparent interest. It was stated unofficially that the bank held large amounts in notes, paying power of which had been curtailed by recent reductions in the price of crude oils.

WOMEN OBJECT TO PAYING POLL TAX

County Assessor Irvin Deaton is Progressing Rapidly in Work of Assessments.

Women register complaints every day because they are assessed for a poll tax along with their husbands when Tax Collector Irvin Deaton calls to get the rendition of property. Many women state that they do not care to vote, will not vote and therefore do not intend to pay a poll tax.

The law however is clear on this subject and states that when a property rendition is made that instead of entering one poll tax, two poll taxes should be entered on the sheet where the man is married.

Mr. Deaton also finds that in some instances after checking up each day that they get two renditions on the same property. This he says comes about by seeing the wife and then the husband or vice versa. He believes that it will be a great help to himself and his deputies if the man and wife will confide in each other when either of them make a rendition.

The work of assessing is progressing rapidly and to date all of the city north of Seventh street; all south of Seventh street and all east and south of the railroad tracks have been assessed. All of the business district has been covered with the exception of the block bounded by Eighth street, Indiana avenue, Ninth street and Scott avenue.

The following office buildings in the business district have not been visited either: City National Bank of Commerce building, First National Bank building and the Bob Waggoner building.

Reports from the districts outside of the city are to the effect that the deputies are progressing nicely with their work.

The End of Lent

FRIDAY WAS FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF THE SIGLER NO. 1 WELL

VERNON DECIDED WHETHER TO USE WHISTLES OR DISH-WASHING CREPE.

"I TOLD YOU SO" CITIZENS HOLD REGULAR REHEARSALS

Benfire Budgeted For Dumping Large Accumulation Of Worthless Certificates.

VERNON, TEXAS, March 26.—The city of Vernon was confronted with a perplexing problem this week. Friday, March 25, marked the first anniversary of the blowing in of Sigler well No. 1, and the city fathers were undecided whether to foot the whistles or drape a bit of crepe from the windows of local oil concerns. Whistles were justified on the basis of at least temporary prosperity which the boom brought to the town and the consequent development of the field, but a wee bit of crepe might easily indicate the blasted efforts to make further lucky strikes.

Vernon is prosperous today, is flourishing under the stimulus of an excellent and productive farming area with its hundreds of acres of rich and well cultivated soil, but a town, after all, has something of a heart of its own. It is a big community organ, to be sure, but it can feel disappointment just as keenly as can the human vital, and if having thousands of persons come into your midst, pay fabulous prices for real estate and old, worn-out stuff that has lain around for years, and then suddenly make tracks for new fields just when it looked as though the community could retire for life—if all those things are not disappointment in a big, vivid way, then Adam was a watch maker.

So Vernon celebrated Friday by not celebrating at all. Had the matter been put to a vote on the part of the citizens, it is quite certain that numbers of them would have favored a huge bonfire in the public square of oil certificates that had become a bit musty on bookcase shelves. A goodly number, however, who believe in the efficacy of "bunches," would have put their thumbs in the armpits of their vests and told you to "just wait and see."

The Vernon field is not played out in a practical sense at all. In fact, it has never had a chance. Sigler number 1 has been pumping 80 barrels a day steadily since its inception, but thus far it has shared the center of the stage alone. Drilling difficulties have in nearly every instance ruined the other holes and caused them to come to grief. At the same time, there are a number of excellent bets being put down at the present, and under the management of competent concerns and crews, so all hope is not fled. Thus folks in Willbarger are keeping their fingers crossed and it is rumored there has been an unusual run on rabbit "foots" this season. The "I told you so" hold regular rehearsals, and in the event that a real pool is struck, there will be much nodding of heads and wagging of forefingers on every corner in town. March 25 last may have been observed in a sane and sane manner, but all possibilities have not been exhausted that the next anniversary of the day may witness a far greater manifestation of exuberance on the part of those who "believed all the time it was there."

GRAHAM BUILDING ACTIVITY CONTINUES

Number Of Structures Nearing Completion And Others Well Under Way.

GRAHAM, TEXAS, March 26.—Building activity in Graham is going right along without a hitch. The Claiborne-Flaher one-story brick building on west Fourth street is now in its final stage of completion, the City garage already having moved in. Work on the structure, which covers a space of 12x120 feet was started several weeks ago and has been completed in record time. The People's Co-operative store will occupy space in the building. The finishing touches are now being put to the spacious warehouse of the Waples-Platter Grocery company, located on Cherry street. The building will probably be completed in a few days and supplies moved in.

The Petrolia Supply company's warehouse on north Elm street, near the depot, also is in its final stages of completion. The Petrolia Supply company is a Wichita Falls concern and will handle a general line of oil well supplies. Work on the building was started several weeks ago.

The Morrison hotel, which is being erected by the Pascoas Hotel company, is going up rapidly. The building is located on north Oak street.

The Johnson building, a two-story brick structure, located on the west side of the square, is expected to be completed within the next few days.

The first step for the foundation of the Lauck-Gallagher two-story brick building was turned yesterday on the east side of the square on the site formerly occupied by McCoad's grocery store. The building will cover a space 26x150 feet, and will cost about $20,000 when completed.

the square. Work of laying brick on the north side of the building was started yesterday morning and today the wall is half way up.

PAY $13,451.88 FOR CHICKENS AND EGGS

This Amount Has Gone To Farmers Marketing At Seymour January 1 to March 15.

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, March 26.—G. C. McGowan, farm demonstration agent for Baylor county who is taking great interest in general diversification, reports some very interesting figures just obtained in connection with the poultry business in this section. Statistics gathered by him show that in the 75 days from January 1 to March 15 three of the leading poultry firms in Seymour paid Baylor county farmers $12,451.88 for chickens and eggs, while these figures do not include purchases made by grocery firms, etc., which have been considerable. Mr. McGowan asserts that the farmer is actually beginning to live at home and that the trend is strong along truck and gardening, home poultry and the things which tend to make the farmer thrifty.

AN INVESTIGATION NEEDED.

The railroads of the country are sick. They were turned over from the government in none too healthy condition. Congress prescribed the Each-Cummins act and the L. C. C. gave them a big dose of rate raising but instead of improving the patient has grown worse. The patient believes that too much pay for too little work is one of the principal causes of the malady. This and that remedy is being offered to improve the patient. Senator Albert J. Cummins, joint author of the transportation act of 1920 believes that the time has come for a new diagnosis of the case. Senator Cummins plans to ask the new congress for a sweeping investigation of the railroad situation. He believes the cost of operating the railroads is too high and feels that congress, the public, the shippers and those who travel are entitled to know the cause. He declares that the high cost of operating the railroads may be due to "mismanagement, or to inefficiency, or it may be due to the excessive costs of materials and supplies, or to unreasonable compensation paid those from presidents down, whose labor operates these railroads." A congressional investigation is needed to establish the cause.

Public sentiment will support Senator Cummins in his demand for a thorough investigation of the whole railroad problem. It may be necessary, in order to save the railroads from insolvency and to keep them functioning efficiently, to adopt some new plan of handling them. But before the medicine is changed there certainly ought to be a very thorough examination and diagnosis of the whole problem.

THE EASIEST WAY.

The action of the railroads in attempting to reduce the wages of its maintenance of way workers rather than the wages of the powerful brotherhoods was prompted doubtless by the feeling that it would be much less difficult to put reductions in effect upon the weakly organized workers rather than upon those strongly organized. The action of the roads is likely to impress the members of the strong brotherhoods with the value of their organizations.

The Denton Record-Chronicle discusses what it calls the injustice of reducing the wages of the poorest paid of the railway workers first. It says: "While we believe that wage reductions in some branches of railroad work are essential, we regret to see some of the roads making their first attempts in that direction at the expense of the men who always have been the poorest paid and who, indeed, are not paid too much now—the so-called 'snipes' whose daily wage is only $2.50 now and used to be from $1.75 to $1.25 a day 'and board yourself.' As we have remarked before, one of the things that can be placed to the credit of the federal railroad administration is that it recognized the need for a living wage among those men and among the underpaid clerical and station help, all of whom had suffered for the benefit of the compactly organized workers whose pay was even then relatively high, and while some reductions may be impossible to put reductions in effect upon those who, before the raise, got wages that were ridiculously insufficient."

HELPING CIRCULATE HENRY FORD'S PAPER.

Nothing that Henry Ford could have done to increase the demand for his Dearborn Independent will be as effective as the action of the authorities of Toledo, Chicago and a number of other cities in forbidding the sale of this publication on the streets or from street news-stands. This action won't stop its sale. It will rather advertise the publication and create a demand for it from quarters where it is not now known. It will also excite a sympathy for the publication that does not now exist. Let the public believe that any person or institution is being discriminated against or unfairly dealt with and at once public sympathy is aroused.

A very large majority have no interest in Mr. Ford's campaign against "The International Jew" and in fact don't know what it's all about. The attempt to suppress the sale of the paper will naturally excite some curiosity toward the subject.

A PROPER DECLARATION.

County Auditor Murphy has done right in declaring that he would not accept a supplementary salary from the chamber of commerce, if it were offered him. To have permitted the suggestion that the chamber of commerce might be willing to supplement his salary as auditor in order to hold him in the position to have questions answered would have placed Mr. Murphy in a false light and he has taken the only method possible in correcting it.

As tax paying citizens there would have been many who would have opposed the county auditor receiving salary for his services to the county from any other employer than the county. There doubtless would have been many contributors to the chamber of commerce who would have opposed the appropriation of the funds of that organization to supplement the salary of a county official.

or more well qualified citizens are ready to take the place at the salary offered. Mr. Murphy resigns. It would be setting bad precedent, to say the least, for any county official to supplement his salary for his official work by accepting pay from any private source.

JUST FOLKS

Kindness and the City. He played the friend one happy morning when A stranger chanced to pass along his way. The mood was on him to be kind that day. And what he did seemed oh, so trifling then; A cheerful word—the easiest gift of men— A helping hand for which there is no pay. But all it means no words can ever say. Both these he gave and went his way again. Then he forgot the stranger and his need. Not knew that he had helped his city's fame; He could not guess that thousands shared his deed. Yet at the mention of his city's name One man there is who rises to declare: "The finest man I've ever met lives there."

WHY?

In Easier So Called! (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheelers Syndicate, Inc.)

The name "Easter," which is in use only among English and German-speaking peoples, is derived, strange as it may seem, from the name of a pagan goddess of the heathen Saxons—a deity variously known as Ostara, Ostere or Eastre. She was the personification of the spring, of the morning, of the east where the sun rises, and it is from her name that we get the word "east" as applied to one of the cardinal points of the compass. The month of April was dedicated to this goddess, being called Easter-month among the Saxons and Angles, and is still known in Germany as Ostermonat. Her worship was a popular one in northern Germany and was carried to England by the Saxons, still surviving in some occasional ceremonies in connection with the approach of spring. Nations whose language is not derived from the Teutonic cling to the Semitic word which comes in turn from the Aramaic peach, to pass by, translated into English as "Passover." Thus the Spanish call Easter "Pasqua," the French speak of "Paques," and the Italian word is "Pasqua"; terms reminding us of the fact that the Christian Easter is the successor to the Hebrew Passover, though the English word carries us back to festivals in honor of a pagan deity.

NOBLE WELL ATTRACTS GREATEST ATTENTION IN WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, TEXAS, March 26.—With the drilling difficulties encountered in the Pyramid well, oil excitement in Vernon has calmed down considerably with no particular hole demanding more than the usual share of attention. However, the Noble well, which only recently is under way again after having been abandoned at 2,400 feet, has been provided some excellent gas showing, but nothing more than of a merely promising nature. Triangle Oil company, No. 1, Wharton, is in a most promising location between Sigler No. 1 and the Pyramid. The hole is now down 1,500 feet and there have been no difficulties so far. A careful test is being conducted at every depth by drillers, and every care will be taken to assure that no pay sand is overlooked. H. & F. Oil company, in Wharton 27, J. Pointvent survey, is another well in a promising location. The hole is now down over 1,000 feet, and expert drilling services have been secured. An effort will be made to test out at 1,400 feet the strata expected to be encountered there. Acton Oil company, (Goss No. 1, is again being drilled and the depth is now more than 2,100 feet. Owners expect to sink this hole to 4,500 feet if necessary, and will endeavor to make the first real deep test in the county. The Pyramid, which proved a flash in the pan, will be drilled at an angle starting at 1,500 feet, but work will

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE OF MAJOR GENERAL WOOD SUEDE BY CHICAGO HOTEL

CHICAGO, March 26.—The campaign committee for Major General Leonard Wood was sued for $12,465.45 for rent and other expenses by the Congress hotel today. The bill against the committee covers the months of April, May and June, 1920, when the committee's headquarters for the Wood republican presidential nomination campaign was located at the hotel. Members of the committee named in the suit include William Cooper Procter, A. A. Sprague, J. J. McDraw and Fred Stanley. Items named in the hotel's sworn bill of expenses include $10,000 for parlours where headquarters was maintained. Among the items included in the charges were $1,345 for meals. Other items covered broken chairs, laundry bills, shoe shines and room rents. Colonel Procter, one of the defendants, was chairman of the committee, and this week sued Major Sprague, another defendant for $10,000 alleged to be due on joint notes signed to cover funds secured for the campaign.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have read the endorsements of Mr. Robert J. Goodfellow, given by leading citizens of Coleman county.

During the period when he was serving in the capacities of Constable, City Marshal and Sheriff in Coleman county, I was practicing law in that county, and had personal and intimate knowledge of Mr. Goodfellow's services in the capacities mentioned. I unreservedly endorse all that is said by the citizens referred to as to Mr. Goodfellow's efficiency as a peace officer.

Respectfully,
C. H. JENKINS.

January 27, 1921.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have read the endorsements of Mr. Robert Goodfellow, given by the leading citizens of Coleman county, Texas.

I was born in Coleman county and lived there about 45 years and have known Mr. Goodfellow about 30 years, during the time he was Sheriff, Constable and City Marshal of Coleman county, and I was intimately associated with him most every day as I was clerk of the district court of said county 10 years during said time.

I take pleasure in recommending Mr. Robert Goodfellow to the general public and business world as being worthy, capable, energetic, and is an upright honest citizen and is well qualified to do any kind of detective work.

I take pleasure, like the other Coleman citizens, to give him my endorsement in any undertaking that he takes up.

Respectfully,
JNO. D. MANN,
Sheriff Clerk Comptroller's Department.

SAN ANGELO, TEXAS

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify I have known Robert Goodfellow, former Sheriff of Coleman county, officially and personally, 25 years.

During all that time I have found him to be an excellent officer and a man of worth, honest and upright, and while Sheriff of Coleman county, Texas, was of valuable assistance to the citizens of Tom Green county in his official work; he certainly made life a misery for the criminals. His detective ability is one of wonder.

I heartily endorse to our people as to any undertaking along the lines mentioned.

Very respectfully,
C. E. DUBOIS,
District Judge 51st Judicial District.

Eddie Collins Wiolds A Mean Willow as Sox Beat Spudders 9 to 5

The Spudders yesterday accepted the dust of the Chicago White Sox for the second time in succession: in a tussle from which Salm's charges emerged on the short end of a score of 9 to 5. The game was far better played than Friday's and both sides showed flashes of real baseball. Neither Abe Bowman nor Frank Hudspeth were able to stop the Sox onslaught and the locals were outflung by eighteen safe things to ten. Four errors also aided the visitors in piling the lead that the Spudders fought vainly to overcome.

The mauling of Eddie Collins and George Bischoff were the outstanding features of the game. Eddie showed the local fans several of the reasons why he today reigns supreme among the guardians of the keystone sack. He toed the platter five times yesterday and banged out just that many safeties, two of which were two-put wallops. In the field he accepted eight chances in his own inimitable manner and his all around work gave the fans something to talk about.

Bischoff Pounded Ball

From a local standpoint, Bischoff's work with the willow was particularly pleasing. Out for four times in the game he garnered three safeties, one of which cleared the left field barrier. The clout was the longest that has been registered at Athletic Park this season as it disappeared from view much nearer center field than the left field foul line.

Abe Bowman essayed to stop the American Leaguers, and got along in great shape until the fifth. An error and a quartet of safe drives in this chapter put the Sox in the lead. He rattled in favor of Hudspeth in the sixth. Frank's shoots were made to order for his opponents and they put the game on ice while he was on the mound.

Gleason selected Mulrennan to do the twirling for his crew and he dished out only four hits in six innings. Three of these came in the third chapter, however, and gave the Spudders a two-run lead which they held for two innings only. Morris tried to tie the Sox and was nipped for a half a dozen safeties, four of which came in the seventh canto and netted a brace of counters.

Collins' single and Sheely's double in the opening session were wasted as two men were out at the time and Tanner threw Mostil out with the runners on second and third. Mulrennan was in great form in this session and the first three Spudders to face him popped up easy flies.

Fast Double Plays. Ebert singled for the visitors in the second but was the first victim in a fast double killing that was started by Tanner and completed by Clark and Comstock on Schalk's bouncers. Once again the Spudders were retired in one, two, three order.

After the Sox had gone out in order in the third, the Spudders broke the ice with a couple of markers. They got away to a bad start when Thrash tried to knock out the Sox in the fourth, but Bischoff followed with his first safe blow of the day, a hard drive to left field. Things looked rather dubious when Abe took the bat and he was nipped, but Bischoff followed with a clout over Mostil's dome that cleared the bag and put him on second. Miller grounded to Sheely.

The visitors reduced the margin to one run in the next chapter. Collins opened with a screaming double to left and scored on Mostil's drive to left. Bowman intercepted the throw and the plate and Mostil was finally run down between first and second. Tanner, Clark and Comstock all having a finger in the play.

Clark's single in the fourth was thrown away when he was caught at third on Comstock's drive at Johnson after he hadgered a second on McEwene's pretty sacrifice.

Six Field Day as Fifth. The fifth proved the undoing of Bowman and the way the hits bounced off the Sox bats was cautious. Schalk's best was a line drive to McDonald that almost carried him into left field, but he clung to the apple just the same. Abe then started to hit the Sox and passed Mulrennan. Hooper's slashing double to right put him on third and he scored a moment later on Johnson's sacrifice fly. Mulrennan and Bischoff allowed Mac's peg to get away from him and Hooper romped home. Collins followed with his third safe blow at this juncture and Sheely drew a pass. Mostil's single scored Collins from second. Mulligan's double to right sent Sheely across and Mostil romped home when McEwene heaved the ball from right field over Bischoff's head. Ebert grounded to Bowman for the final out.

Bischoff's excursion bang in the sixth kept the locals in the running, but the visitors got that run back in the seventh off Hudspeth on Collins' double and Mostil's single.

McDonald Hates Rally. The seventh also netted the home boys a brace of tallies off Mr. Morris. Both Comstock and Thrash had been retired before the run-getting began and there's no telling when it might have ended and McDonald kept his head up while running the bases. Bischoff started the fireworks with his third safe drive and reached third when Hudspeth pulled the unexpected surprise of a double into right field. Collins came through with a vicious poke to right and scored both runners, while he sent to second on Hooper's peg to the plate. Buddy Tanner kept the apple rolling by socking one to left, but Tex overran third despite Ray Kitchen's admonitions at the third base coaching line and ran into an easy out, Hooper to Sheely to Mulligan.

The visitors started another procession across the plate in the eighth, but halted after counting twice. Morris' drive almost took a leg off Hudspeth and he reached first unopposed. Hooper skied to Miller and Johnson watched four wide ones go by Collins' fifth successive bingle scored Morris and Johnson on third. Sheely slammed one at Tanner, who forced Collins at second, but Clark's hurried throw sent to the clubhouse and Johnson's killer Sheely pulling up at second. Mostil flew out to Thrash.

The Sox came within an ace of scoring again in the ninth, but a runner was cut off at the plate and prevented any damage. Comstock gave the fans a ray of hope by leading off in the last chapter with a safety, but his sacrifice was helpless and he was left stranded at first.

RAPP WILL PLAY THIRD BASE FOR THE GIANTS FROM MON ON

The New York Giants paid $15,000 to the St. Paul club for Joe "Goldie" Rapp. And if training camp reports prove anything, they got him at a bargain.

McGraw intends to play this new recruit at third, displacing Frisch to second. Rapp has a fine pair of hands and handles himself like a big leaguer. He was one of the stars of the American association last season, hitting over .300. He was farmed out by the then world's champion Cincinnati Reds last spring, and through an oversight struck out last time to the player. Pat Moran was in the market for the youngster, whom he regarded very highly, when McGraw finally closed for Goldie's services.

Rapp is a big fellow, rather modest and unassuming despite his sudden leap into baseball's spotlight. McGraw does not hesitate to say he is the best prospect he has seen in many a season.

The new Giant was with the Los Angeles club in 1914, and before being sent to the St. Paul team by the Reds last year, had played with St. Joseph, Peoria, Richmond and Beaumont. Rapp served in the army during the year ing the game necessarily they will be broken, but to have them broken so openly as at present, were like the reason as well as the remedy?

Golfers and Rules Appear To Be Strangers; Are Last Matters to Receive Notice

The rules of golf can be had for the asking.

The most important ones are easy to digest, but there is a little attention given to acquiring a general knowledge of them by golfers as in locating a ball driven into the middle of a pond.

A million people more or less are playing the game, yet it is doubtful if one in 10 has any real conception of when the rules are shattered.

Years ago golfers took a certain pride in knowing the rules, but the education of the present generation of nubile welders has been sadly neglected. There is less attention given the rules of golf today than ever before.

The condition will not improve unless some movement is started by individual clubs or associations to realize just how the rules are applied when a quaffer in the proper way to play the game. If this is not done then a few justly inflicted penalties which the referees need this year will start the rule diggers thinking, and place the rule book in the place it should be in the golfing world.

Need the Rule Book. One who knows the rules, or at least some of them, has but to be an onlooker in open tournaments to realize just how the rules are applied when a quaffer in the proper way to play the game. If this is not done then a few justly inflicted penalties which the referees need this year will start the rule diggers thinking, and place the rule book in the place it should be in the golfing world.

The new City is known as "league" and objection being dubbed "Dutch" according to the getting the wrong league by that time on Friday in the City League, the schedule of the City League season will be the same time, thus a post-season set ship of the city.

Manager Moran, who pulled stakes for the Cincinnati Reds at their Texas training camp last night, declares he will never again go to that place for the training of his club. The season was a bad one financially, reports say.

"Nothing But the Best in Everything"

The SPOTLIGHT by Grandland Rice

(Copyright 1920 New York Tribune Inc.)

THE TWO SIDES OF WAR.
All wars are planned by older men in council rooms apart. Who plan for greater ornament And map the battle chart.

Out along the shattered fields Where golden dreams are gray. How very young their faces are Where all the dead men lay.

Gray haired and solemn, in their pride, The elders cast their vote For this or that, or something else, That sounds the warlike note.

But where their nightless eyes stare out Beyond their own vanished joys, I've noticed nearly all the dead Were hardly more than boys.

TY COBB'S RECORD as an attacking pitcher will never be approached, so far as this generation of fan survivors count.

As a batter, base runner and gett'er his superiority is as wide as the diameter of the new sun some telescopic scout has just discovered, located and measured.

But it is a debatable question as to whether Cobb will ever play in many games or establish as many base hits as Hans Wagner put under his Pittsburgh belt before he finally ceased firing.

To reach Wagner's mark Cobb will have to play in 700 more ball games and make 550 more base hits.

This means that Cobb, starting his seventeenth campaign, will be forced to play five more years.

The wonder is that he has survived seventeen seasons when one considers the terrific pace he has held over the long run. Cobb is now thirty-five years old. Cobb is now thirty-five years old. Cobb is now thirty-five years old.

It isn't an impossible task. But at least it is not an even bet.

DOES IT PAY? Opposing pitchers, through their fit spring and summer, may consider whether or not it pays to pass "Habe" Ruth so often.

Last season Ruth scored 104 runs outside of his four-base blows, and many of these came from the multitude of passes that were crowded upon him. His free passes won about as many ball games as his home runs did, proving that the free pass still was no part of a safe way out.

Ruth was passed 145 times last year. But many pitchers who refused to pass him saved ball games by fanning the slugger, who is in no sense invulnerable to a fast, sharp-breaking curve.

NO SUCCESSORS. Between the years 1900 and 1914 Walter J. Travis and Jerome D. Travers held, between them, a mastery of the putter that no amateur in golf has ever approached since.

They were marvels without a successor. Francis Ouimet is a very fine putter, but not up to the Travis-Travers standard, when this pair were in the thick of tournament play.

Day in and out, the best amateur putter now in golf is Bill Fownes, of Pittsburgh, captain of the American team.

Ouimet, at times, may break out with more brilliancy on the green than Fownes can show, but the latter is a trifle steadier.

The putter did more to lift Ted Ray to championship heights at Inverness last summer than any other two clubs he carried in the bag. As a rule, it is the good putter who does most of the collecting.

Whatever the courts may do with the blacklisted White Sox, there are extremely few citizens of this broad republic now clamoring to exchange places with them down the rest of the road. "The world may be upside down, but a fairly clean name still counts for a trifle."

OSMASTOCK. "Specks" Comstock is being "hooked" by the Sox. He is going to play for them and he received $10,000. While his experience is not what you would expect, he has looked better than he has in a long time. He has not given a "put" not have to be told once. He'll be a star in the Sox.

By Harold Johnson. (Chicago Evening American). White Sox... Neither Kid Gleason nor Eddie Collins are 'putting out anything' on the recent turn of events in the case of their former mates who were re-elected yesterday.

Real Opposition Today. The Sox should have some real opposition on their hands when they cross bats with the Spudders at 2 o'clock today.

Like Wichita Falls. Every member of the troupe has nothing but praise for our fair city. It seems like a paradise in comparison with Waukegan, they claim, and Kid Gleason is so pleased with his present surroundings that he is going to hold the club over for an extra day to work out at Athletic park.

Comstock at First. "Specks" Comstock has been pleading with Buddy Tanner all week to let him go in and cover the initial corner and he received his chance yesterday.

FORMER SPUDDERS TO APPEAR HERE NEXT WEEK WITH PIRATES

Mokan, Eberhard and Zinn Will Show How They Act in Big League Uniforms.

When George Gibson's Pittsburgh Pirates drop into Wichita Falls for a game of games on April 2 and 3, local fans will have the opportunity of seeing not only the Pirates but also the former Spudders.

While Eberhard and Mokan have been on the Pirates since the opening of the training season this year, Jimmy Zinn has been with the Buccaneers since early in September.

Zinn pitched in six games while with the Buccaneers last fall, two of which were complete games, resulting in one victory over St. Louis and one defeat at the hands of New York at the Polo grounds.

Of the three, Mokan has probably made the best showing at Hot Springs. Mokan has been hitting the ball with a merrily club, getting two and three hits daily.

Then there's George Lee, a former star at Lehigh University and a rattling good catcher, who was present yesterday with the Goofs.

Take this galaxy of talent and fill them with the fighting spirit that always pervades a camp in which "Kid" Gleason is director-general and you'll find a club that will be a factor in the 1921 pennant hunt from the first ball next month.

New York Stocks—Grain and Provisions—Cotton—Livestock

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Avaling themselves of the night attending on the floor of the stock exchange, leaders for the long and short accounts today resumed their conflicting operations, with highly irregular net results.

Some of the oil motors and allied issues experienced further selling pressure while a number of related shares were firm to strong. Houston oils was the most conspicuous feature of these erratic movements, exceeding Thursday's big rise by 1/2 points. American Woolen also made further response to improved trade conditions.

Shipping advanced variously, also leading metals and the mail order stocks. Sears Roebuck sustained another decline of 1/2 points to 56 1/2—the low record for a number of years.

Rails and the more substantial steel and equipment moved within relatively restricted limits, but copper advanced under latest advices which stress the extreme protracted depression in that industry.

Trading in bonds was perfunctory, but steady as to tone, although hierarchy again suffered a reactionary trend. The weekly statement of the clearing house banks was interesting for the large contraction in actual loans and discounts, showing a decrease of about $5,000,000, considerably more than twice the previous week expansion.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, March 26.—Beneficial rains in the winter wheat belt over the holiday and lack of outside support caused wheat prices to tumble after a preceding sharply on short covering and on buying by houses with seaboard connections. At the finish wheat was 1 cent higher to 1 cent lower; corn was off 1/2 to 1 cent; oats 1 cent down and provisions 1/2 points lower.

Wheat started lower on scattered selling, but rallied on an outside bid for the Greek order for 1,300,000 bushels was placed over the holiday and that the sheeps' indications of 2,000,000 bushels more being sold abroad.

The market soon became a bearish one on report of cold weather over the entire grain belt, and extremely low prices in the southwest.

The south was after oats in fair volume. Country offerings were small. Provisions were easy with a light trade.

BOMB EXPLOSION IN THE THEATER AT MILAN ONE OF SERIES OF LATE OUTRAGES

ROME, March 26.—All indications point to the bomb explosion in the Diana theatre in Milan, in which 31 persons were killed and 100 others injured, as having been one of a series of terrorist outrages carried out throughout Italy by anarchists.

The police believe this to have been proven by the explosion of three bombs on the railway lines between Bologna and Milan and one on the Adriatic line near Fano, together with two dynamite explosions on the Geona-Turin line and one under a railway bridge near Vicenza. The arrest of many anarchists has led the police to think they have captured the ring leaders.

SPRING ROUND-UP THIS YEAR INCLUDES MANY NEW FEATURES

"FOG HORN" ARRIVES AND ASSUMES CHARGE OF PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN.

RECORD BREAKING NUMBER OF ENTRIES EXPECTED

Events of April 26, 29 and 30 Will Bring Many New Contestants Here, Clancy Says.

"Fog Horn Clancy," who handled the publicity for the Round-Up here last May arrived in the city Saturday and will begin at once to acquaint the populace of the southwest with the details of the big round-up which will be staged here April 28-29-30.

"Glad to be back in a real city again," is the way Clancy put it, "and take it from me that the third annual round-up will, in the vernacular of the circus press agent, be 'bigger, better, grander and more exciting' than ever."

Tom L. Burnett, financial backer and manager of the round-up, has supplied me with an adequate special fund for advertising the round-up and there is nothing to prevent it from being one of the best advertised events ever staged in the southwest and the city will come in for much favorable publicity in connection with the round-up.

"Bryan Roach, who is assisting Mr. Burnett in the management of the round-up, announces that there will be many new features added to the program this year and that there will

Any Person Seen in Mexico With Arms May Be Shot Down

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, March 26.—Warning that any person found in Mexican soil with firearms will be "shot on sight by federal troops who are seeking guerrillas," and an order closing the border to American hunters, was issued in Matamoros, opposite Brownsville today.

The order and warning was signed by General Lopez, commander of the Matamoros garrison, following a conference with General Arnulfo R. Gomez.

The communication said troops had been thrown into the Matamoros district to hunt down "Cardenas' ten man revolution."

It was further stated that the order to "shoot down all armed men found" is the way Clancy put it, "and take it from me that the third annual round-up will, in the vernacular of the circus press agent, be 'bigger, better, grander and more exciting' than ever."

DENY APPLICATION FOR STAY OF CONFIRMATION OF SALE OF THE DENVER

DENVER, March 26.—Application for a stay of confirmation of the sale of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad to the Western Pacific railroad company was denied by Judge Robert E. Lewis today in United States district court.

The judge also denied application of stockholders for permission to file a bond of $100,000 in lieu of cash as a guarantee of good faith in asking a stay of confirmation.

Confirmation of the sale of the road, at auction last November for $3,000,000 to satisfy a judgment of bondholders was not given. A further hearing on confirmation was to be held this afternoon.

The stockholders were given until March 25 to make their deposit which was made a requirement of reopening of bids for purchase of the road.

CONVICTED OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT ON DAUGHTER

FORT DODGE, IOWA, March 26.—Allen Eredren, a teamster 40 years old, was sentenced to Fort Madison for a term not to exceed twenty years today by Judge R. M. Wright after Eredren had pleaded guilty to criminal assault on his fifteen year old daughter, Gertrude, who lives with her mother in Des Moines. The daughter came to visit her father several days ago. Eredren was arrested yesterday and was on his way to the penitentiary in less than twenty-four hours after the arrest.

WOULD LEGALIZE MARRIAGE OF LATE KING ALEXANDER

ATHENS, March 26.—The government will ask the national assembly to legalize the marriage of the late King Alexander and Madame Aspasia Manos, who yesterday gave birth to a daughter, in order to establish the right of the child to inherit the late king's fortune, it was announced today.

A Personal Message to some friends we want to make

I WISH I knew the best way to make the acquaintance and get the attention of a certain desirable group of people in this country whose friendship we earnestly desire.

It seems to me if they knew what Jordan owners know about the Jordan car they would soon become desirable members of the Jordan family group.

It is easy to describe the type of individual I have in mind, but I will have to rely upon this message to seek them out in their homes and get their attention for a few brief moments.

The type is truly American. They constitute the best citizenship of this country, living normally, thinking intelligently, and standing for ideals backed by common sense.

A Fine Appreciation

They are the people who appreciate a good investment. They have learned that it's not what you pay, but what you get for what you pay.

They buy a motor car upon the basis of valuable service rendered.

They do not speed because the car can be driven fast—they have too much respect for the law and other people on the road.

They do not abuse an automobile simply because it will stand abuse. They will treat the Jordan fairly and protect its good name.

They appreciate beauty in a car—economy of operation—and above everything else they want long time service with freedom from the little worries of the day.

They demand a car which will last a long time, travel as fast or as slow as they care to go, and commands the respect of people who know what an automobile should be.

Jordan Inspires Confidence

If these desirable people knew what I know about the painstaking efforts of Jordan men

CANDIDATES BUSY IN MUNICIPAL RACE AS ELECTION NEARS

SOME ASPIRANTS MAKING HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS FOR SUP-PORT OF VOTERS.

PUBLIC INTEREST ISN'T EXACTLY FEVERISH YET

Absence Of Any Reply to J. B. Marlow's Recent Attack Causes
Some Comment.

With the city election only ten days distant, and contests being waged for each of the three aldermanic places to be filled, public interest in municipal politics is not yet at a stage that could be described as feverish, and if any great concern is felt over the races, it is not manifesting itself in the ways that attract general attention.

This does not mean, however, that all of the candidates are idle. Some of them are working very consistently, even to the point of making a house-to-house canvass; such a thing is unprecedented in city elections here, but is no doubt prompted by the fact that this year, for the first time in a local municipal contest, the women folks will have a vote coming.

The failure of the so-called administration forces to make any reply to the statement by J. B. Marlow, published in The Times of last Sunday, has caused some comment. Mr. Marlow in his printed statement criticized the conduct of the city's affairs, during the past year, on several counts, but failed to elicit any reply whatsoever.

Reports that the opposition to W. G. Bralley, fire and police commissioner, might be "thinned to a stand" have apparently proven groundless; such reports were in persistent circulation in the earlier days of the campaign. It now appears that all three of the other announced candidates for place No. 1—George Hodgins, R. L. Yates and W. L. Smith, will stick to the finish.

From 1,500 to 1,600 voters are qualified to participate in the election, including the women voters. While this is no larger than the number of qualified voters in 1920, the vote on April 5, is expected to be much larger than that of last year.

4 SCHOOL TRUSTEES WILL BE CHOSEN AT ELECTION SATURDAY

Four members of the school board are to be elected by voters of the school district next Saturday. It is probable that only four names will go on the ballot, as there has been no indication of any contest.

The name of W. M. Priddy is the only new one to appear, he being scheduled to make the place of J. L. Jackson who has asked to be excused from service as trustee. Present trustees whose names appear for re-election are W. W. Brown, W. T. Willis and M. O. McDowell.

RECORD BREAKING WHEAT CROP IS DUE IN WICHITA COUNTY

UNUSUALLY LARGE ACREAGE IS PLANTED AND PRESENT CON-DITION SATISFACTORY.

MILLION BUSHEL YIELD OR LARGER IS EXPECTED

Good Season Already in Ground, and
Bumper Crop.

Present prospects for a wheat harvest of at least a million bushels in Wichita county are seen by local grain men, who take a very optimistic view of the crop outlook.

While it is about two months yet to harvest time, there is already sufficient moisture in the ground to practically insure a fair crop, and with favorable weather during the next 60 days, a new high record will be established, it is believed here.

Fields of luxuriant green are to be perceived on every side in the country at the present time, and the present condition of wheat is considered 100 per cent. Wichita county's acreage has increased 10 to 15 per cent over 1920, and an even larger increase is indicated in other sections of Northwest Texas, where, with cotton acreage cut about half in two, farmers have turned their land and labor to a crop that can be eaten.

"Texas wheat acreage is the largest in history," said Frank Kell Saturday, "on the plains and in the country south of the plains, wheat is being planted on land never before used for it, and in the old wheat belts the acreage is up to any former showing."

NATHAN ADAMS, WELL KNOWN DALLAS BANKER WILL SPEAK TUESDAY

Another big open house meeting for the University club for the luncheon has been arranged by C. R. Kleinman, chairman program committee, for the luncheon next Tuesday noon, March 29, at the Kemp hotel. Nathan Adams, vice president of the American Exchange National bank, of Dallas, and one of the south's foremost bankers, will be the principal speaker, his subject being "The Business Outlook."

C. W. Reid, vice president of City National Bank of Commerce, will be chairman of the day. Prof. Frank Loew and orchestra will furnish the music. The University club extends a cordial invitation to other clubs and all business and professional men in Wichita Falls to attend this luncheon.

Charge Stillman Has Cornered the Witness Market

NEW YORK, March 26.—James A. Stillman, president of the National City Bank here, has practically "cornered the witness market" in his divorce suit against Mrs. "Pip" Potter Stillman, it was learned here today.

The multimillionaire banker, through his attorneys and operatives, was careful to "line up" practically all of the persons who might have even the remotest knowledge of the case before his wife was aware that he contemplated seeking a decree, according to persons conversant with both sides of the sensational scandal.

"When the defense sought to interrogate possible witnesses, particularly the Stillman servants, it was found that most of them already had been pledged to testify for Stillman and were consequently so close mouthed that it was impossible to determine what evidence they were expected to give," one of these persons, who had been a close friend to Stillman and Mrs. Stillman, told the United Press today.

The informant cited as an example the case of Miss Hazel Armstrong, former nurse of the Stillman children. She was with Mrs. Stillman in Canada, in the Canadian summer camp where the foreman was Fred Beauvais, French Canadian charged by Stillman with being the father of two-year-old Guy Stillman, youngest of Mrs. Stillman's four children. The defense sought her on the Pacific coast as a witness, only to find that she had already promised to testify for Stillman. It was learned today that the defense was again seeking her. She has disappeared from Brooklyn, where she was found, and interviewed exclusively by the United Press.

Similar to Stokes Case.
Friends of Mrs. Stillman sought to draw an analogy between this situation and the Stokes divorce case in which W. E. D. Stokes apparently also "cornered the witness market." In the Stokes case the defense brought out that many of the former servants had been on the millionaire hotel proprietor's pay roll after they had left his employ and up to the time they took the witness chair.

It was also pointed out that, as in the Stokes trial, much of the testimony introduced in behalf of Stillman will be "back stairs" variety because of the preponderance of the servants among the witnesses.

Reports of possible settlement outside of court were revived today owing to the apparent inability of either of the principals to obtain a divorce, on account of the equity provision that declares a litigant must come into court "with clean hands." This would leave the legitimacy of Guy Stillman, the sole issue.

Justice Morchauer intimated today that, owing to the careful study he wished to make of the documents in the case, he might delay his decision on Mrs. Stillman's recent motion for an increase of alimony to $10,000 a month and counsel fees to $75,000. He had been expected to hand down the decision in White Plains on Monday, but it was indicated that it might be a week later before he took this action.

BEYOND TICK BRACKET FOR FIFTEEN TEXAS COUNTIES

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, March 26.—Tick gradation will be extended to fifteen additional counties on April 15, Chairman Boog-Scott of the Texas Livestock sanitary commission announced today. The counties are: Angelina, Bandera, Guadalupe, Jasper, Kerr, Nacogdoches, Newton, Orange, Polk, Real, Sabine, San Augustine, San Jacinto and Tyler.

THEIR RETURN CAR AS THEY HAD A BETTER ONE

CHICAGO, March 26.—P. J. Murray's automobile, which was stolen three weeks ago, was brought to the front of his home last night by two men who rang the door bell and tossed a bunch of keys at his wife when she answered the door bell. In the car was a note saying: "Much obliged—we have a better car now."

VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN AND AUTHOR DIES SATURDAY

CHICAGO, March 26.—Colonel M. A. Aldrich, a veteran newspaper editor and author, died at his home here today. He was one of the founders of the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Journal and later managing editor of the Boston Globe, Detroit Evening News, St. Louis Star and other papers. His best known book was a "History of the United States Marines."

EXPLAINS WHY KATY PROPOSED WAGE CUT

Whitehead Tells Men There Has Been Big Decrease in Cost of Living.

The Katy's reasons for proposing a 10 to 40 per cent wage reduction for unskilled laborers on its lines, which proposal was submitted to representatives of the men at Denison Friday, are set forth in a statement by C. N. Whitehead, operating head of the Katy.

In fixing the amount of the proposed revised wage scale Mr. Whitehead said the railroad had taken into consideration, as the Transportation Act prescribes, the following:

The scale of wages paid for similar kinds of work in other industries. The relation between wages and the cost of living.

The hazards of the employment. The training and skill required. The degree of responsibility. The character and regularity of the employment.

Inequalities of increase in wages or of treatment, the result of previous wage orders or adjustments.

In Mr. Whitehead's statement he said: "We have made a very thorough and very careful investigation and have found that the present rates are substantially more than the rates now prevailing in other industries on the same work which compete with us for labor. We have found that there has been a very substantial decrease in the cost of living, and that the new rates we propose bear a reasonable relation to the present cost of living. We do not, however, base the extent of our proposed reduction on the extent of the decline in living costs, for it is our view that the uniform country-wide hourly rates established by the railroad administration and increased uniformly by decision No. 3 of the labor board were not based on the conditions existing in our region with respect to rates paid in other industries or to the high cost of living, but were fixed too high in the beginning, and therefore always have been and are now much higher than is justified by going rates of living costs in our territory. It is also a fact that because of the influence of railroad wages on wages in other industries, present wages rates impose a burden on industries upon which the railroad must depend for traffic, in addition to the burden they directly impose on the railroad and are therefore productive of unemployment."

Mr. Whitehead gave the following reasons as a necessity for a reduction of pay rolls:

We have reduced our force and working time below the practical minimum, and the property is not being normally maintained. Prices of materials and supplies have substantially declined. We are using every possible scheme and device to reduce operating costs. Still there is a deficit. Further reductions in expenses are impossible without reducing wages. Freight and passenger rates cannot be increased. In fact, there is an insistent demand from shippers for rate reductions in the hope of stimulating business. Already the cattle rates have been reduced. The railroad has no resources other than its revenues, which recently have greatly declined and still are diminishing. We must so adjust our expenses to income that we shall be able, first, to employ sufficient number of men and expend sufficient material to normally maintain the property for safe and efficient operation; and second, to earn sufficient net income to pay our taxes, interest and rents. There is no way to meet this situation except through reductions in wages. We are depending on our men to secure greater economy through increased efficiency, and to accept such reductions of wages as are justified.

Said to be 30 per cent cut. It was said by the railroad officials that the rate of pay proposed in the reductions, if accepted, would mean that the employes would draw from 70 to 100 per cent more money than they were receiving for the same class of work at the beginning of 1918.

W. F. WEEKS TO SPEAK AT KIWANIS CLUB LUNCH AT KEMP HOTEL MONDAY

A membership of 102 has been attained by the Kiwanis club, recently organized here, giving it rank among the largest clubs in the city. Musical acts from the Wichita theater program will be a prominent feature of Monday's noon luncheon program, with Babe Hooper and his overseas quartet as the principal entertainers. J. A. Bobo will be chairman for the meeting, and the attendance prize will be a flash-light donated by Tom Wynn.

W. F. Weeks will be the speaker of the day, and an announcement says that "something good and peppery" may be expected.

FIRST COMMANDER OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HERE STILL ACTIVE IN SERVICE

DR. R. C. SMITH

Dr. R. C. Smith holds the distinction of having been the first commander of the Wichita Falls Commandery No. 59, Knights Templar, which will be the host to the Grand Commander of Texas April 12, 20 and 21. He was chosen commander of the Wichita Falls Commandery upon its institution here in 1912. He received the commandery degree from the Cisco Commandery about 20 years ago.

Dr. Smith is a member of the entertainment committee for the Grand Commandery meeting. He has a wide acquaintance among Masons and Knights Templar in north Texas.

He received the entered apprentice degree and the fellowcraft degree in the old Fort Griffin lodge in 1886. This was one of the first Masonic lodges in west Texas. Shortly after receiving these two degrees at Fort Griffin Dr. Smith suffered an illness and before he was ready for the Master Mason's degree the charter of the Fort Griffin lodge was removed to Throckmorton and Dr. Smith did not become a Master Mason until he resided at Cisco in 1892. Shortly afterwards he was made a Royal Arch Mason and became a member of the Knight Templar.

Upon his arrival to R.F. Yocum way in 1911 he transferred his Masonic membership here and was one of the petitioners for the institution of the Wichita Falls Commandery of Knights Templar. He is a member of the Dallas Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons. He also received the Shrine degree at Dallas when the latter was instituted here when the latter was instituted.

Dr. Smith is well beloved by his Masonic brothers and is known as a sincere and earnest worker in the several Masonic bodies. He was chairman of the building committee which had charge of the building of the Masonic building in Wichita Falls. He is a past high priest of Wichita Falls Chapter 202 R. A. M. and a past commander of Wichita Falls Commandery No. 59 Knights Templar.

NEARLY 60,000 PEOPLE ATTEND MOVIE HERE EACH WEEK AND ITS SOME JOB TO PROVIDE FOR THEM

By H. F. JOHNSON.

How many people do you think attend a moving picture show in this city during a week?

What kind of pictures draw the largest crowds here, and what stars are the most popular?

How many feet of movie film do you suppose are run through projection machines in this city's theaters in a week?

How much money is spent by the public in obtaining the amusements offered at the various playhouses of Wichita Falls?

If any layman in the city can answer these questions correctly, let him step forward and receive the concrete auto tire.

According to records of the five exclusive motion picture houses for the week ending Saturday, March 19, there were more paid admissions to the various shows than there are individuals in the city. During that week, which was devoid of any special feature pictures, nearly 57,000 persons paid admission to the theaters, and this was far from setting a high mark. The last census report gives Wichita Falls a population of 48,073.

Figuring on this basis, and using 33 cents as an average price for a ticket, these 57,000 movie fans expended something like $19,950 in six days time, merely on moving pictures alone, and the figures for the two week period would be about $39,900. If added to this already ample total, would boost the amounts several more digits in the mathematical alphabet.

So much for the financial side of the situation. Here are some more figures.

Miles of Film.

An average week's bill, with four theaters showing three features and five or six shorts weekly, one theater showing two features and four "shorts," one showing five features and six or seven "shorts," and one showing merely two "shorts" means that the movie operators grind about 150,000 feet of film through their machines for the six days. This means that if the films were glued end to end, they would reach for over 23 miles, or about from Wichita Falls to Elberta.

These films are valued by their producers and owners at $40 per thousand feet, that is, should one thousand feet of film be destroyed it would cost $40 to make a replacement. This brings the value of the films handled in Wichita Falls in a week's time up to the sum of $6,000.

How these myriad pictures, features, shorts and so on are brought to the city on time, shown in the scheduled theaters, and then shipped on to some other place in one of the most interesting chapters in the movie man's book, and how it is all done has been explained by H. S. Ford, manager of the Dye, Ford and Rodgers enterprises in this city.

Dallas is the film metropolis of this section of the country, for every producer of moving pictures on the map has a branch exchange office on "movie row" in Dallas, from where all films destined for the theaters of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are sent out. A varied number of prints of the original picture are sent to each of the branch offices over the country by the producer making the film, and according to Mr. Ford, all Dallas houses get from ten to fifteen prints, which are immediately released to the theaters of the territory. Every theater, or chain of theaters, has a booking agent in Dallas, who reviews the film books in his house when he can conveniently do so, and sees that it is shipped out on the proper date.

Are Selected in Dallas.

In the case of Wichita Falls, where five theaters are under the management of one of the largest amusement concerns in the country, it is of course necessary that a corps of officers be maintained in Dallas at all times. Officials of the company review each picture as it comes to their branch, and hence are qualified to endorse it strictly on its merits.

All films are shipped out of the Dallas branch a day or so ahead of time, and so smoothly do the film exchanges work, there is practically no chance of a picture being lost, unless it figures in a train wreck and is destroyed in transit.

Perhaps many people are not aware of the fact, but Wichita Falls is better fixed theatrically than any other city of its size in the country. Better pictures are shown here sooner, and higher class vaudeville is on tap weekly than many cities twice the size of Wichita Falls are privileged to see. This is made possible through the commanding position occupied by the largest amusement concern here in the theatrical center of the south, for Dye, Ford and Rodgers, affiliated with Southern Enterprises, have a monopoly on the moving picture houses in Texas, Oklahoma and other southeastern states. How this city succeeds in getting pictures before Dallas, New Orleans, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston is a state secret, but the fact remains that they do, and such a condition speaks well for the city.

Newspaper exchanges which find their way to this city from the north and east show by their theatrical advertisements that Wichita Falls is about three weeks ahead of communities of a similar size in other sections of the country. It is also reported that one local man returned from a business trip to Detroit and said that he hunted the town over for a picture which he hadn't seen in Wichita Falls, and couldn't find one.

A canvass of the play houses of the city revealed some interesting facts in regard to the kind of pictures which draw best here, for it revealed that westerns, the wider the better, were without exception the most consistent and prolific drawing cards. No matter where played or who featured, a wild west picture packs them in day in and day out, and goes to prove that the city is no so highbrow as some would have us believe.

Comedies, and comedy dramas are also popular, but the heavy sex dramas no matter how daring, does not draw worth a cent. The public is tired of and disgusted with these pictures which make their chief bid for fame through the medium of nude female figures, according to one prominent authority, and managers of movie houses all over the country are widely steering clear of those pictures which carry a heavy sex appeal. Slap stick comedies are also falling into the discard, it seems, although a good pie slinging combat will occasionally bring laughs.

The public is now turning more to the production side of the picture than to the personal star side, in the opinion of Mr. Ford, who states that a really good picture, regardless of the absence of a famous star, will make a much bigger hit than a mediocre production with a high film celebrity as the main attraction. In offering proof of this it might be stated that two of the best pictures which have exhibited here in six months were devoid of well known screen favorites in the cast. "Go and Get It," Marshall Nellan's famous picture of newspaper life, could not boast of a single star in its entire cast, yet it made a big Olympic day and night on its first appearance and when brought back to the Empress a few weeks later lined up the crowds half way across the street. This was a clear cut case of a fine production with an absorbing story triumphing over the personal drawing power of a star. "Go and Get It" did not feature a single screen favorite, unless it was Wesley Barry, and none of the leading roles were filled by stars of the Olympic circuit, yet the picture enjoyed unprecedented runs all over the country and is now listed as one of the "knock out" pictures.

Pictures, Not Stars.

A parallel example is offered by "Humorogue," which drew the largest crowd of the Olympic history. It offered no single star, but was a wonderful production and went over big everywhere.

On the other hand many pictures featuring the foremost of the screen actors and actresses have been shown here and have fallen flat, simply because there was no story to back up the work of the star.

A query regarding what movie favorite has had the largest following in Wichita Falls brought the information that William S. Hart and Tom Mix usually drew the best crowds, and that the male performer in movie land were far more popular in this city than those of the opposite sex. Hart and Mix got the call because they are invariably played in westerns. Wallace Reid is a reigning favorite, as is Charles Ray, Douglas Fairbanks and Neal Hart. Among the feminine portions of movie land Clara Kimball Young is believed by the local managers to hold first place in Wichita Falls, although Viola Dana and Bebe Daniels are considered good money makers. The Tallmadge sisters, Dorothy Gish, Mary Miles Minter and Ethel Clayton also draw well, but are not considered as such good bets as the first three. Mary Pickford, say the managers, who is supposed to be queen of them all, has but a very small group of admirers.

Big League Amusements.

With the above facts and figures in black and white it is not hard to deduce that moving pictures are somewhat popular in Wichita Falls. Vaudeville offers different problems, of course, and no figures were available on attendance and cost statistics of the Wichita and Palace, but it was learned that Wichita Falls gets a complete Majestic vaudeville program before any other city in the state. The Palace theater opens the Majestic circuit, according to Manager Ford, the acts appearing here coming from all corners of the country. Some come from Philadelphia, some from New Orleans, some from St. Louis and some from Los Angeles, combining here into a complete program and then traveling together, five of them at least, to Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and other cities entertaining Majestic films.

So to those who believe in theatricals this article is respectfully referred. The statements are as true as it is possible to make them, and official reports are waiting to back up the statistics quoted. The amusement game is a big one, and is played in big league fashion in Wichita Falls.

Movie Mention

Plans have been completed at Vitagraph's West Coast studios to soon start another Antonio Moreno picture. The star recently completed "Three Sevens," and then went on a four week's vacation which had been promised for two years. Chester Bennett will direct Mr. Moreno in his next production.

When Earle Williams was still in his teens he was quite noted as a bicycle racer. During a ten-mile relay race on the Mole, near Oakland, Cal., a small boy ran across the track in front of Williams and both were taken to a hospital, where the racer spent several weeks. He hadn't been on a bicycle since until last week, when he put aside his prejudice against the once popular "wheel" to make an important scene in "The Mystery of the Silver Car," his forthcoming production which is nearing completion.

A carved mahogany fireplace which formerly adorned the library of one of the finest and best known residences on Fifth avenue, New York, and which originally cost more than $30,000, is shown in some of the scenes in "A Quietude." Alice Joyce's newest production. The action of the story takes place in New York's wealthiest and most select circles, and all the "sets" necessarily are unusually elaborate. Edward Jose is directing the production.

Larry Semon, famous comedy king, has a new leading woman in his forthcoming comedy, "The Rent Collector." Her name is Norma Nichols, and as well as being a dashing type physically, is said to have an excellent sense of comedy and should help to multiply the large number of laughs to be found in all Semon comedies. Larry's supporting company also includes Frank Alexander, "Babe" Hardy, Bill Hauber and Al Thompson.

George Randolph Chester, who is now on the Pacific coast personally directing the special production, "The Son of Wallingford," has just received a wire from his agent that the Small-Maynard company are accepting the book from which his film story is adapted, at the largest royalty rates that Mr. Chester has received during a lifetime of writing. The early chapters of the magazine version of this story by Mr. Chester appear in the current issue of Collier's Weekly.

Earle Williams is now in the midst of his screening of a film version of Wyndham Murray's famous novel, "The Secret of the Silver Car." Kathleen Adams appears opposite the star. She is said to be especially fitted for the part in this picture because of her stately blonde beauty of the British type. The heroine is an English girl, and Miss Adams typifies her to the complete satisfaction of the author himself. Other members of his supporting cast are Emmett King, John Stepping, Geoffrey Webb, Eric Mayne, Mona Lisa and Max Asher.

George Randolph Chester is having rather a difficult time selecting a California town for many of the scenes in "The Son of Wallingford." His newest literary creation which he is personally directing for the movies. Chamber of commerce, board of trade and other civic representatives of a dozen different booming municipalities of the west coast have been besieging the author to use their home village for his picture since it became known that a busy small town was required.

The chief setting of the picture is a live little city alongside a lake. Of course, there are several such cities in the golden state and all of them are live enough to appreciate the advantage of having their section selected for the background of a production as big as this one is designed to be.

"The Purple Riders," the Joe Ryan serial, is being filmed in true western atmosphere and with real cowboys in the supporting company. Ryan and his troupe are living in the open on the Mexican border in Lower California, camping in tents and cooking their own meals over little open fires.

Restaurant Man Could Not Eat His Own Food

It's pretty tough for a restaurant man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't blow me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last Mary's Wonderful Remedy and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man. Make your skin "A skin you love to touch"

A BEAUTIFUL skin, soft, smooth, faultlessly clear—any girl can have this charm.

For your skin is constantly changing—each day old skin dies and new takes its place. Give this new skin the right treatment, and see how soft and lovely you can keep it.

If your skin is very sensitive and easily irritated, use each night this special treatment:

DIP a soft washcloth in warm water and hold it to your face.

Now make a warm water lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and dip your cloth up and down until the cloth is "fluffy" with the soft, white lather. Rub this lathered cloth gently over your skin until the pores are thoroughly cleansed.

Rinse first with warm, then with clear, cool water and dry carefully.

THE very first time you use this treatment it will leave your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. Do not regard this as a disadvantage—it is an indication that the treatment is doing you good, for it means that your skin is responding in the right way to this method of cleansing. After a few treatments the drawn feeling will disappear and your skin will gain a new, healthful sense of softness and smoothness.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today, at any drug store or toilet goods counter, and begin this treatment tonight. A 25-cent cake of Woodbury's will last for a month or six weeks. The Andrew Jergens Co., Cincinnati, New York and Perth, Ontario.

FRIENDS OF ENGLAND AGHAST AND ENEMIES OF COUNTRY PLEASED AT THE REIGN OF TERROR IN IRELAND

BROODING OVER MANY WRONGS DONE IN THE PAST, IRELAND IS UNFORGIVING, UNREASONABLE

England Cannot Forget Irish Collusion With Germany in Rebellion of 1916—Two Countries Do Not Understand Each Other, Declares Sir Phillip Gibbs in Writing of Conditions as They Are Today.

By SIR PHILIP GIBBS

There is no doubt whatever that the present condition of Ireland, with almost daily reports of murders, ambushes, attacks on police barracks and military depots amounting to a reign of terror, is doing more harm to the decent reputation of England in the world than any other action which arouses hatred or criticism among England's enemies or friends.

Even our friends and I must be confessed that we have not many just now, in spite of all our sacrifices and efforts in the war, to defend our conduct in Ireland or to reconcile it with that professed love of liberty for the small nations and all mankind by which we called our men to arms, and proclaimed the terms of peace.

Through the medium of Irish propaganda, skillfully organized and widely circulated, they read of the passionate claim of the Irish people for the right of nationality and represented by a British government which has helped to create many new nations in Europe, including Poland, Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Armenia.

They read of an organized system of military and police coercion by which the Irish people are denied the usual rights of civil law; forbidden to hold inquiries on fellow citizens shot by soldiers or policemen; subjected to arrest on suspicion and imprisonment without trial; and terrorized by an army of occupation ruthless in its command.

FRIENDS OF ENGLAND TROUBLED.
Day by day and week by week they read of outrageous things done by a block of men called "Black-and-Tans," who have been recruited from the ranks of unemployed soldiers, some of them brutalized perhaps by five years of war, callous of human life, and hostile to the population among whom they have been sent to maintain "order."

These men, with or without official sanction and connivance—some of the evidence seems to incriminate the English government—have, it is alleged, committed acts of atrocity only comparable to the German work in Belgium in the early days of 1914, shooting, flogging and torturing Irish citizens, burning their houses, shops, and factories, running amuck in their streets while they fire indiscriminately, raiding their houses in the dead of night, entering their churches when they are in the act of worship, hauling men out and shooting them in cold blood.

Those things are not read unmoved by the friends of England. Their first incredulity is overcome by apparent weight of evidence and by repetition, and they are aghast at the reign of anarchy which England has made in her sister Ireland.

"How is it," they ask, "that the English, who are not a brutal people, whose men (as the war proved) are generally kind-hearted, even to their enemies, who for centuries have led the way to civil progress in Europe, should lose their moral qualities and betray their best ideals in the case of Ireland? We cannot understand it."

So speak our friends in America, in France, and in other countries, as I know by letters I receive. Even the French people, who are not soft in putting down rebellion, who are not tolerant of political revolt, are scandalized by the English treatment of Ireland. From one Frenchman who served with our armies in the war on the western front I have had a letter in which he explains his perplexity about Ireland, and adds a postscript in which he sums up his indignation in one savage little sentence, "Your government disgusts us!"

SIR PHILIP GIBBS

ENGLAND'S ENEMIES APPROVE.
If our friends talk like that, what of our enemies? They find this Irish business to their liking. It provides them with one more proof of the insupportable abomination of England. "John Bull," they say, "always was and always will be a hypocrite and a bully. For centuries he has prated about liberty while he has thrust his fist into the face of all rivals, trodden down the native races of his colonial and captured territories, increased and held his empire by brute force, exercised the most cynical diplomatic policy, and done all things in the names of righteousness and God. His present terrorism in Ireland is only one more proof of his traditional brutality, and does not surprise us in the least." That, in a mild way, is the verdict of England's enemies in every part of the world to which Irish propaganda reaches.

But what of England's view of this state of affairs in Ireland? What does the average Englishman, not tied to the policy of the Coalition government, or to any definite party which has to defend or attack that policy, think of the Irish problem as it has developed since the war? I think it would be well both for England's friends and England's enemies to know that, and it is my purpose in this article to attempt an explanation of the average English attitude.

EXTREMES OF PUBLIC OPINION.
First of all, it is necessary to leave out of account the extreme views held do it properly this time. The best thing would be to sink the whole damned island."

That type of man is to be found in many places and classes of English life. You may find him in sporting clubs, down Pall Mall and St. James's street, on the race course at Epsom, where he is keeping a "book," in the crowd that goes to see a prize fight, in the manor house of a country squire, sometimes in the rectory of a country parish.

But his type is old-fashioned and dwindling away. Even before the war it was passing, and when the war came his old-fashioned opinions were heard with laughter at mess tables where young officers who had been thinking hard about many problems of life and death, the cause of the war and the hopes of the world, were not taking the old chap's blusterings as the last word in the way of wisdom. But he still exists, and writes letters to the Morning Post, which is published exclusively for his class and ideas. He is also in the coalition government, where he fumes and frets over the weakness of the ministry and their compromise with the forces of disorder. He sneered with laughter over any allusion to the hunger strike of Mary MacSwiney, and he became purple in the face with rage when the policy of reprisals was challenged by Mr. Asquith.

Average Man's Point of View.
These are the two extremes of thought in England, but, as I have said, they are both in minorities and do not in my opinion represent the great body of moderate Englishmen who are anxious to know the truth and to find out some kind of reasonable solution to the Irish problem. The average Englishman, as I meet him in restaurants, shops, and other places of middle-class circumstances, is mightily perplexed about the Irish trouble. Frankly, he does not understand the Irish temperament, nor sees any kind of solution of the Irish problem.

For one thing, he cannot bring himself to believe that the Irish have a real hatred of England and the English. He sees no adequate reason for hatred, and argues that the Irish with whom he comes in contact in London or elsewhere are nice people with a sense of humor and not at all murderous in their instincts. He likes most of their men and all their women, as far as he knows them, and he believes firmly, in spite of all evidence to the contrary, that sin runs in the blood, and that only a minority of extremists who do not at all represent the great body of Irish people, and that, therefore, their violence is artificially engineered, and if defeated by English resolution, would be followed by a renewal of friendship between our two peoples, provided Ireland were given a generous measure of home rule.

He is beginning to admit, however, that there are some qualities in the Irish character which baffle him. His remembrance of old novels by Charles Lever, Samuel Lover, and other writers, as well as the stage type of Irishman traditional for a long time in England, still holds his imagination with the figure of a breezy, laughing, devil-may-care, romantic soul who helped to win most of England's battles and was loyal to the flag.

Now recent experiences have taught him that there is something wrong in that picture. He finds an unsuspected cruelty in the Irish people, the cruelty of the present and brooding over old grievances, unforgiving, relentless in the pursuit of vengeance. Where he expected weakness, he finds the hardest resolution, a most obstinate resistance to English "reason." Where he looked for sentiment, especially in the war with Germany, he finds the hardest resolution, a most selfish refusal of allegiance, and, worst of all, black treachery to old England in her hour of need. What is the meaning of that? "What the devil," he asks, plaintively, "is the matter with these people?"

AN OLD GRUDGE UNFORGOTTEN.
It must be remembered that the average Englishman knows very little of Irish history. He does not read it in his school books; he does not find it in his newspapers. He has not seen, as I have before the war, young men and girls in Dublin standing on orange boxes in side streets on a Saturday night, reciting old ballads about the battle of the Boyne, the massacre of Limerick, and other episodes of tragedy which are kept green in the memory of the people. He knows very little of the way in which Irish industries were deliberately killed by Castlebragh—Castrothorpe, as they call him—nor of the frightful families which decimated the country because of that policy, nor of the tragic evictions under English or Anglo-Irish landlords which made thousands of families homeless and foodless, nor of the penal laws which made martyrs of their priests and tried to kill people's faith, nor of the executions and jailing of Irish patriots through many centuries of resistance to English rule.

The average Englishman has not read much of that and does not know that it is the intellectual food upon which the Irish feed from early childhood, so that the remembrance of all that history is black in their souls and a flame of passion in their hearts.

Yagnely the ordinary Englishman knows and admits that England in the old days was "rather rough" on Ireland—he is unaware that even as recently as 1816 there were the evictions and terrorism of Clanciarde—and, generally, as it seems to him, he wishes to make amends. He thinks he has made amends by the Wyndham land acts which enabled the peasants to buy their land with English credit, and for the life of him he cannot understand why the Irish hark back to the past and refuse to recognize that England is a good friend.

He does not realize that everything England does for Ireland, English does or will do, is not received with gratitude as a favor, or as a generous act, but is regarded as a long-delayed concession forced from us and as due in the balance compared with half a thousand years of tyranny, robbery, and brutality. He does not understand that the claim for national independence has never been abandoned for all that time, and that, though the spark burns dim in times of peace, it flares up again and spreads as it has now spread again, like a prairie fire throughout those island people with their faithful remembrance of history, their cherished faith, that undying pride.

The average Englishman, of whom I was one, was shocked to his marrow and by the rebellion of 1848. I shall never forget when that dreadful news came to us on the western front. We had been through a ghastly winter when the Germans held all the good positions against us on the ridges in Flanders, while we were in the flats and swamps at a time when we were still weak in artillery, so that they pounded our men with shell fire and we could answer back but feebly. Day after day, night after night, our men were blown to bits, our casualty lists lengthened with the names of our noble youth, and we knew that the Germans were hardly touched in strength while on other fronts they were winning stupendous victories and England's life was menaced.

At that very time the Irish tried to stab us in the back—did stab us in the back. Young officers of ours, and of theirs, on leave in Dublin, were shot down, sometimes without arms in their hands. Young Irish boys sniped English soldiers from the roofs, though some of our officers would not give the word of command to fire back at them as I know, because of the youth of those lads. There was proof, since admitted without shame, that the Irish leaders were in negotiation with the German for active help. They expected German ships to arrive with arms and ammunition, and with fighting men. They were willing to get away from England in any time of need. Count Plunket, I am told, went in disguise to Germany to negotiate this aid. Cassinagh (Gogman) was acting on his own initiative, tortured by his conscience and by his fears.

When that news came to us it seemed first incredible and then unforgivable. It is still hard to forget or forgive by any Englishman, and by some Irishmen. An Irish general said to me, "I can never go back to Ireland, never! I can never take off my hat to an Irishman again." There were tears in his eyes as he spoke.

Now IRISH JUSTIFY REBELLION.

The average Englishman does not know the Irish defense of that act of rebellion, and if he knew, would not admit a word of it. I know and will set it out with fairness. The sin fell on you if you had guaranteed our national claims. We would have fought for you if you had let us fight under our own flag and in our own Irish brigades. The Nationalist leaders (wrongly, as we now think) arranged a substitution of recruits which was turned down by your war office. Hundreds of thousands of young Irishmen (stupidly, as we now believe) did volunteer and were drafted, not in their own brigade, as a rule, but in English battalions, and died in heaps to save the liberty of England while strengthening England's tyranny in Ireland. Gradually we saw this. England's fight for liberty was not to be our liberty. What was happening in Ulster? The Ulster volunteers were allowed to arm against us in 1914 were still kept back in Ulster while our men were being massacred in Gallipoli and France. They stood solid as a menace to southern Ireland, with preferential treatment and secret help from England. Very well! We had to recruit our own volunteers. At first there were two groups—John Redmond's, designed for the help of England, and James Connolly's for the liberty of Ireland. A split took place, led by Connolly. Presently the Redmond men drifted over to Connolly's side—for Ireland and not for England.

Then we thought we saw our chance of victory. England was hard pressed. Germany seemed certain of victory. It was Ireland's chance of liberty. There were divided counsels—some wanting to wait until we were stronger. Pierce was against us. They cursed us for our foolhardy act. After three days, when the "rebels," as England called them, were hard pressed and losing and being led in large numbers, the people were all for us. They were set on fire by the heroism of those boys, and the spirit of Ireland, the soul of Ireland was stirred to its depths by pity, by pride, by the old call of nationality, and then by an undying hatred of England, when General Maxwell began his Bloody Asses, executed James Connolly and fifteen others, and swept into the prisons, with unnecessary brutality and horrors, three thousand young Irish lads. After that time feint was established in every Irish home outside Protestant Ulster, and the whole people are dedicated anew to the liberty of their nation.

Those are, as far as I remember them, the exact words of one of the intellectual leaders of Sinn Fein, who told them to me no longer than a night before these lines were written. It is clear, therefore, that Sinn Fein was seeking German aid and that the rebellion of 1916 was a deliberate effort to drag England down to ruin. To an Englishman, however sympathetic to Ireland as I am, that is a terrible revelation, a most tragic and heart-breaking knowledge, because it shows that the Irish people are so divorced from all ties of sentiment with us that they desire our downfall and prefer alliance with our deadliest enemies to any fellowship with us.

ENGLAND IS MUCH INTERESTED IN PLAN FOR DISARMAMENT

EXPECTED TO CALL CONFERENCE IN EVENT UNITED STATES DECLINES.

DECIDES ON PROGRAM IN EARLY NEGOTIATIONS

Will Be Guided Largely By The Reaction Which Follows The Visit Of Viviani.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Great Britain has decided tentatively upon the program she will follow in negotiations to be opened shortly with the Harding administration, advice reaching Washington today indicated.

England in approaching the United States on questions of world policy apparently will observe these decisions:

1.—Proposals to the new administration will be guided, so far as possible, by the reaction which follows the visit here of Rene Viviani, former French premier.

2.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, likely will be designated to head the British mission to Washington.

3.—Unless the United States indicates she is ready to inaugurate a movement for world disarmament, England may take the initiative and suggest a disarmament conference.

4.—Britain will consent to the elimination of article 10 from the League of Nations, but will urge that the main body of the covenant be retained.

She will not go as far as France in modification of the league.

Advices are that England will not send any envoys to this country until the French mission is completed. She will observe the outcome of Viviani's visit hoping to profit by lessons which may grow out of the Frenchman's contact with the administration.

Geddes, it is understood, will be named to head the British mission, lest the appointment of a special commission from London might seem to undermine the ambassador's position here. Geddes, however, will be supported by a naval officer, a military man and possibly other aides who will be sent from London.

It is reported Britain is becoming increasingly eager to open a disarmament discussion.

According to advices from London she does not appreciate the movement in this country to pursue the naval building program when Britain has just announced a cut in her naval appropriation. It is declared that while England would prefer to see a call for a disarmament conference come from Washington, she will not hesitate to start such a movement herself if it becomes apparent the United States does not intend to act.

This sentiment may be conveyed to President Harding after the Britons complete their formal pleasantries.

CHEVROLET MAKES UNUSUAL OFFER OF DIVIDEND TO OWNERS

A sales plan unique in the annals of automobile salesmanship is that officially announced by the Chevrolet Motor company, manufacturers of the Chevrolet, which announcement is officially confirmed by the Cochran Motor company, local distributors. The plan entails a refund or dividend to all buyers of Chevrolet cars who have purchased a Chevrolet since January 1, 1921, or may purchase one between now and July 21, provided during this period Chevrolet sales equal or exceed fifty thousand cars. The program averages less than half the sales made in the same period during 1920.

The "dividend" or refund plan provides that cash payments of $70 will be made to all retail purchasers of "Four-Ninety" touring, "Four-Ninety" roadsters, "Four-Ninety" light delivery wagons or "Four-Ninety" chassis, and cash payments of $100 to all retail purchasers of "Four-Ninety" coupes or "Four-Ninety" sedans.

"This refund represents savings in material prices under present readjusted conditions," says the announcement, "which savings can be made provided Chevrolet factories continue to operate on the estimated average quantity basis."

When it is considered that Chevrolet sold 186,147 cars during 1920, or an average of 108,500 for seven months, it will be seen that the program provides for less than half the production and sales average of 1920. Mr. Cochran of the Cochran Motor company declares that is only about 12 cars for each dealer in the United States, and that he will exceed his own quota by a large margin.

But Songspare Never Did Write Anything Like This

Paraphrasing Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith," a clever writer named E. A. Brimstone tells of the woes of the ordinary or garden variety of motorists in some verses which he labels "The Village Autolite."

The paraphrase appears in the Cadillac Standard, issued by the Neel Cadillac Company of Philadelphia, a copy of which has been received by Scott Brown, manager of the King & Weaver Automobile Company, and he declares that the man who drives a Cadillac does not experience any of the troubles set forth because the Cadillac is not subject to such ills. However, the verses being so clever are given herewith:

"The Village Autolite."
Under a hooded motor car
The owner of it lies;
He's suffered many a jolt and jar,
And now he tugs and prays,
Around about him, leaning, are
Some criticizing guys.

He's smudgy, dirty, and he's mad,
His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with beads of sweat,
He does the best he can,
The watchers oft express regret
That they can't help the man.

And children, going home from school,
Gaze in on the scene, of course;
The kids are silent, as a rule,
Though some express remorse;
While others yell, "You boob,
"Why don't you gitta horse!"

He goes on Sunday, not to church,
But on the country roads,
If power fails he tries to search
For gasoline hordes,
And oft his hands he doth besmirch
Whenever a tire explodes.

Toiling—rejoicing—sorrowing,
Dully he has his thrills;
Each morning sees him cranking up
For punctures and such ills,
Something attempted—biff! and then,
Repairs—and doctors' bills!

DAMP WEATHER HAS ITS EFFECT ON SALES

Activity along auto row was more or less "passé" during the past week. Old Man Jupiter Plusius having butted in and spoiled things with an excessive amount of moisture and frigidity.

"It knocked us square in the head just as we were getting good and started on our spring business," said one local dealer, "and we'd have had some news for you if your paper had missed its guess on the weather," was another's barbed salutation.

Still another declared positively that he would have closed a sale if the roads had been in passable condition so that his prospect could have driven the machine away with him.

But in spite of these reports, practically all the dealers were enthusiastic and predicted that as soon as the spring weather set in in earnest business would pick up in good shape.

"It's about time for 'em to begin tuning up the old boat for summer weather now," said one of our victims, "and it won't take them long to get the 'new car' fever. As soon as a guy's next door neighbor buys a new machine that fellow will follow suit, and then we'll be in clover."

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

Never use hot water on the surface of a car.

Inside protectors should not be used in new tires.

Over-speeding a tire has the same effect as overloading.

Too rich a carburetor mixture or insufficient air being fed to the cylinders will cause misfiring.

When a retainer is used, care should be taken to avoid puncturing the tube.

A very fine grade of sandpaper is excellent for use in cleaning the commutator of the generator.

By all means use good gasoline as it insures more mileage and more efficiency.

When washing a car, care should be taken to see that no water reaches any part of the electric system.

The presence of oil on the leather facing of the cone clutch will cause slipping. This can be prevented by applying borax or soapstone.

Sudden bumping of a car in motion is usually caused by a broken spring or a flat tire. In either case stop the car immediately.

Because of the increased length of leverage and centrifugal force, a car with a long wheel base is more apt to skid than one with a shorter wheel base.

To keep a car clean never allow dust or dirt to collect in the top, in the interior, on the floor, in the upholstery, or upon any part of the skeleton of the car.

To prevent skidding when making a turn always release the brakes when starting to turn. This will disengage the clutch, causing the car to slow down before reaching the turn.

Lubrication is one of the requisites for running an engine, but if the engine cranks over freely, it is a safe conclusion that the lubrication is all right.

To prevent magnets to troubles the proper setting of points must be maintained at all times, and the coverings should be inspected occasionally for the presence of particles of steel, carbon or oil.

To distinguish direct from alternating current, hold a simple magnet near a lighted incandescent lamp; if the current is alternating the filament will vibrate; if the current is direct the filament will be attracted or repelled as the positive or the negative pole of the magnet is held near the lamp.

An inexpensive cotter-pin puller can be made from an old file. One end is bent over so that it may receive the blows of a hammer and a hook formed on the opposite end. The puller can be made by heating the file and bending while hot, then allow it to cool of its own accord.

Horrible Mystery Upsets Equanimity Of Overland Dealer

If a certain mysterious somebody in Wichita Falls only knew it he has one Walter J. Daugherty, sales manager of the Overland Motor Company, very much on the hip—and some of these days there's going to be an awful reckoning. For Daugherty hasn't tossed upon his downy couch these many restless nights without an active mind and a determination to concoct revenge. For many days and from many points of the compass Mr. Daugherty has been receiving wierd messages, always bearing the mysterious signature, "C-C." A few days ago one dropped in bearing an Oklahoma postmark. Only Wednesday it came in from right here in our own Wichita Falls, and this time it read something like this:

"Left Oklahoma same day received your letter. Meet me at Westland Hotel 3 o'clock this afternoon to talk over disposal of the body."

"C-C."

When the first message arrived some time ago Daugherty supposed it was for somebody else and returned it to the postoffice marked "not at." But another and another kept coming, and there could be no doubt about who the writer meant to reach.

"I don't know whether its serious or funny," said Daugherty. "Only I wish he wouldn't do it, or at least would be more specific about what is eating on him. Whether he means 'C-C' for 'Clu Clu,' and whether by 'disposal of the body' he wants me to dispose of a defunct automobile body or whether its honest-to-goodness murder, is beyond me. Anyway, if I ever catch him out somewhere on a cloudy day I'm going to take his umbrella away from him and then pray for it to rain and rain and rain."

"Why I Want My Husband to Replace Our Old Car With a New One"

TO THE WOMAN OF WICHITA FALLS, or Wichita county, writing us the best 250-word letter on either of the above subjects, the King & Weaver Automobile Company will pay $15 in cash.

There are no special rules to this contest other than that no letter shall be longer than 250 words, and that all letters shall be in our hands or bear a postmark prior to April 12, 1921. It is not desired that the name of any special make of car be mentioned.

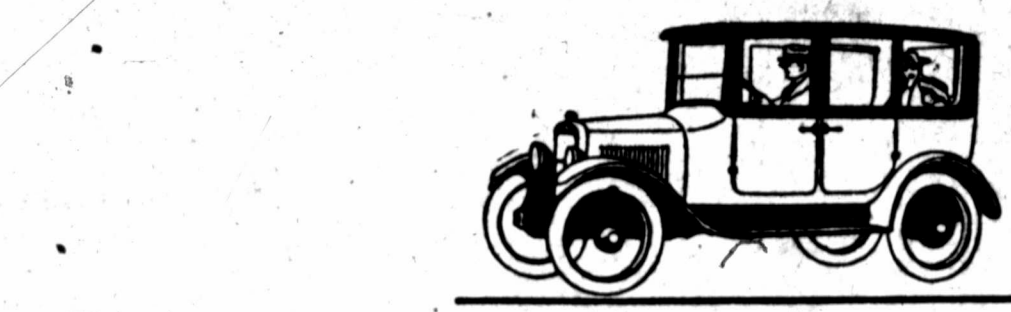

Messrs. George S. Harshberger of the Wichita Falls Record News and W. W. Pigue of the Wichita Daily Times will be the judges as to the merit of the letters received by us and will make the award. Announcement and publication of the prize-winning letter will be made in the daily press of the city on Sunday, April 17, and check will be mailed on April 18.

Entrance to this contest entails no obligation whatever. Its sole purpose is simply to direct thought to the AUTOMOBILE, now that the most delightful automobiling season of the year is at hand.

WITH THE AUTO DEALERS

W. F. Bankston, around at the E. Demrod Auto & Supply Co., local factory distributor for the Ford-Lite Battery Co., says it keeps him humping to fill the battery orders that are coming his way. Mr. Demrod says he doesn't wish Bankston any bad luck, but that he hopes he will acquire a good sized hump if it means a continuation of the present rush for Ford-Lite batteries.

That there was a need for another high class auto storage establishment in the down-town district has been demonstrated by the number of patrons already secured by Fred Thom & Sons to occupy the space in their new fireproof building at 805 Seventh street not needed by their Liberty salesrooms or service department. This is one of the newest and best constructed buildings in the city. In addition to giving Fred Thom & Sons all the room required for their business, there is storage capacity for 150 cars.

L. O. Brown of the Victory Motor Co., local Premier and Oldsmobile distributor, visited Dallas and Fort Worth during the past week-end.

Did it ever occur to you that a setting hen must get awfully lonesome?

E. F. Reilly and Dr. V. E. Rattan received Huppmobile touring cars during the past week.

The Holmes Sales and Service Co. announces that it has nearly completed its stock of auto parts. Another shipment of tires is expected within a few days, but the company is now prepared to supply any demands of a general nature from the auto owners of the city.

A big shipment of wheel rims, nuts, bolts and lug nuts has been received by the Gaines company and they can now supply these all-important accessories for any make of car in the city. The Gaines brothers now have a real motor car parts depot and have about the most complete line of parts and accessories that can be found in north Texas.

Oakland repairing throughout the northern part of the state is good, according to D. H. Rubsam, manager of the Marshall Huff Motor company, which is headquarters for Oakland machines in this section.

A carload of "little six" Studebakers and a car of special models is on the way to the Excelsior Motor company, local distributors of the popular Studebaker machine.

James Gough, assistant division manager of the Overland Motor company, with headquarters in Kansas City, and W. J. Daugherty, sales manager of the local Overland agency, spent the latter part of last week in the Overland territory. They report business as being very good throughout the section.

The following sales have been reported for the month by Nolen-Stringer, local distributors of the Haynes and Lincoln machines: W. B. Outhrie, Haynes touring; J. H. Martin, Haynes touring; C. D. Shamburger, Haynes touring; A. C. Jensen, Haynes coupe. They also disposed of five second-hand machines.

"Judging from sales during the past three months and from inquiries in regard to the machine which we receive every day, it looks like this year is going to be a banner year for the Huppmobile," says C. E. Eckman of Eckman and Von Allmen, local agents for the Hupp and Peerless cars. "Many of these inquisitive ones are present owners of Hupp, too, so you see you can't keep 'em away from a good machine.

A new "model-10 Express" Republic truck is on route to the Galles Motor company of this city and is expected within the next few weeks. These new Republics are the last word in truck design and engineering, combining power and stamina with plenty of speed and flexibility.

A new Oakland sedan and a three-passenger Oakland coupe have been received by the Marshall Huff Motor company and are now on the salesroom floor.

A new Lincoln four-passenger machine will be filled when the cars are available. L. L. Dixon, manager of the local Buick distributing agency, is sold out again. Dixon sells cars when no one else does, and now he's taking orders to be filled within a few days out of the city last week with excellent results. According to Mr. Waeleler, the new hood design of the 1921 Franklin is receiving many compliments wherever it is seen.

C. J. Waeleler, manager of the Franklin Sales company, local Franklin distributor, spent a few days out of the city last week with excellent results. According to Mr. Waeleler, the new hood design of the 1921 Franklin is receiving many compliments wherever it is seen.

R. R. Cunningham of the Stapleton-Brown Motor Co., five-man distributor at Dallas, was a visitor at the salesrooms of the Conner-Myers Automobile company last week.

Among the sales made by the Frits Motor company last week was a Marmon sedan to A. A. Kuehn, Lucile Street, Wichita Falls.

Lloyd Weaver and C. L. Hall of the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company, Hudson and Essex distributors, attended the annual convention of the Texas Automobile Dealers' association at Fort Worth Friday.

George E. Reynolds of the Dallas branch of the White company, spent several days of last week with the Overland Motors company, local White distributors.

Among the sales reported by the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company last week was a Hudson speedster to N. H. Martin and a five-passenger Essex to Lester Meyers. In addition to these sales the company disposed of a number of used cars, the sum total making up an excellent week's business.

The Auto Dealers association is taking things easy and is getting its wind back after the big auto show of two weeks ago, according to reports from the various dignitaries along auto row. Nothing much has been started yet, and the dealers are straightening up their own affairs.

"We're still after our auto show prospects," says H. E. Moulder of the Wilhelm-Moulder company, Chandler and Cleveland representatives. "Business is rather slow right now, but things as a whole look mighty encouraging."

Natural History Collection Shown In Auto Salesroom

That Wichita Falls boasts one of the most complete natural history museums of any city its size in the country is unknown to a large majority of the local citizenship. It is an important feature of the decorations in the salesrooms of the Frits Motor Company, local Marmon distributors, Eighth and Austin, and is the much cherished property of F. O. Frits, father of Manager D. L. Frits of the company.

More than one hundred specimens of animals, birds and reptiles gathered from various sections of the United States and foreign countries are upon display on shelves along the walls of the Frits salesrooms, in addition to which there are scores of specimens of creeping and crawling things too small to stuff preserved in alcohol. Practically all of the animals and birds were caught or killed by Mr. Frits, the owner, whose chief hobby is taxidermy.

Among the interesting specimens is a condor killed on the wreck of the battleship Maine, a wedge-tail American eagle shot at Sitka, Alaska; a rabbit hawk from Missouri, a red fox from Ohio, beavers, white possums, wolves, deer, cranes, alligators, armadillos, snakes, a double-headed pig, etc.

An interesting story is told by Mr. Frits regarding the white possum, which was caught in Custer county, Oklahoma. An old Indian declared upon seeing this animal that it meant there was to be a "heap big war"; many men ain't got' die much soon." It was just six months later that the world war broke with all its horrors. Mr. Frits at one time made a specialty of traveling about delivering addresses on woodcraft and animal life, and can talk most interestingly for hours regarding his experiences in the wilds of many climes. He extends an invitation to Boy Scout organizations particularly to see his specimens, and upon proper pressure might be induced to deliver his lecture for the benefit of the boys.

$100 Dividend for Chevrolet Owners

The production schedule of Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Models for the seven months from January 1 to July 31, 1921, is fifty thousand cars.

We have received official notice that to each retail purchaser of a new Model "Four-Ninety" car at present list prices, the Chevrolet Motor Co. will make the following cash payments — "Four-Ninety" Touring, $70; "Four-Ninety" Roadster, $70; "Four-Ninety" Light Delivery Wagon, $70; "Four-Ninety" Chassis, $70; "Four-Ninety" Coupe, $100; "Four-Ninety" Sedan, $100; provided the Chevrolet Motor Companies manufacture and sell fifty thousand new Chevrolet Model "Four-Ninety" cars between January 1, 1921, and July 31, 1921. This offer to be subject to the terms as set forth in full in the refund certificate which will be delivered to each purchaser.

This refund represents savings in material prices under present readjusted conditions, which savings can be made provided Chevrolet factories continue to operate on the estimated average quantity production basis.

Fifty thousand cars is the minimum which Chevrolet engineers estimate will secure substantial savings in cost in manufacture. These savings will be passed on to the purchasers of these fifty thousand cars.

Each purchaser of a Model "Four-Ninety" will receive a certificate from us. This certificate will be deemed as indicated on its face.

The entire plan is a straightforward business proposition presented in a straightforward way. Whether you are in the market for a new car or not, you must not fail to learn the details of this unique and simple plan. It offers to every man of sound business judgment an opportunity to take advantage of the best automobile value obtainable.

All retail purchasers of Model "Four-Ninety" cars since October 1, 1920, will receive their certificates through their local dealers or retail stores on application to them.

Production results will be announced not later than August 10, 1921. Certificates will be subject to payment according to their terms, thereafter, up to September 15, 1921.

During 1920 the Chevrolet Motor Company averaged 15,000 cars per month—or 108,500 cars in seven months. This program provides for less than half that record!

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: I have an Overland four 1917 model. The engine has been set for about a month and some water has gotten in and rusted the cylinders, that is the piston is stuck in each one. I soaked it with kerosene a half day, took the head off and pulled the car trying to turn the motor over but with no success. What would you advise?—L. M.

Think the trouble is—could it be a stuck piston?—L. M.

Either the piston rings are broken and otherwise not performing their proper function, or the cylinder is out. It is also possible but not probable, that a sand hole in the piston casting is causing the trouble. To determine this it will be necessary to remove the cylinder for inspection.

Motor Department: My engine has recently begun to consume three times as much gasoline as it used to, but if the oil gets low the engine comes to a knock and loses power on a hill. If filled full of oil there seems nothing wrong with it. Yet there must be something the matter, as it did not have this trouble until recently. Please advise me.—L. M.

There must be a leak somewhere or you would not consume such an excessive amount without carbonizing the cylinders. Evidently there is some part of the mechanism which must be repaired or it will grow worse. Be sure that the crank case gasket is tight and that the oil pump does not leak. Be sure to change oil in crank case about every 1,000 miles.

Motor Department: Would it cause any extra wear on the differential if I'm turning sharp corners one did not throw out the clutch? Or is it best to throw out the clutch and reduce to second speed?—Reader.

To throw out clutch in turning corners does not affect the differential, which is designed to care for such requirements. To disengage the clutch while turning sharp corners is good practice, but this is done more to relieve straight line shafts. Sharp corners should be taken at reduced speed, and by doing this it is often necessary to change to a lower gear before accelerating.

Motor Department: My fuel pipe presently leaks and I cannot stop it. Tightening it to the point where it is in danger of breaking does no good. I live far away from any repair shop where I could have the threads fixed. Would it be advisable to use red lead or white lead on this joint, as they do in gas fittings?—J. V.

The gasoline would dissolve the oil in the lead, or if it set first, it would be difficult to take the joint apart without damaging it. Rub soap into the threads or paint them with a heavy coat of shellac before assembling. These substances are not so readily affected by gasoline and so may do the work to your satisfaction.

Motor Department: I have a Ford and find the rear axle to have considerable play when jacked up. When the wheel is off I can move the protruding part of the axle up or down or sideways about an eighth of an inch. Should not the axle fit snug in the roller bearing at this point? Does it indicate that the roller bearings are worn and need replacement? The roller bearings rattle considerably when taken out.

It is evident that the roller bearings are badly worn and need replacing. They should be a snug fit around the axle. Since you have already taken them out for inspection you will need no instructions for substituting new ones.

HELPFUL HINTS.
A squeak is one of the most annoying and elusive troubles to which a car is subject. Usually it is located in the springs and so they must be oiled. Jack up the frame, taking the load off the springs. Fry the leaves apart and apply graphite grease with a thin blade, as most of the squeaks come at the tips of the springs. This treatment usually stops the noise.

No harm will result if the spring leaves are well lubricated. To the contrary, you will enjoy more comfort in driving over rough roads.

A broken front spring may have a block of wood substituted for it. Jack up the frame until it is the height at which the spring should hold it, and then slip in a block of wood of the proper size between the axle and the frame. Fasten this in place with wire or rope and drive carefully.

Put a wrench on the front axle spring clips occasionally. You may avoid a broken spring or the axle shifting out of line. Incidentally, greater safety will be insured together with less tire wear.

A useful trick is to place the graphite grease in an oil can and set it over a hot flame. When melted the grease is squirted in between the leaves, especially the part close to the bolts that hold them to the axle. As squeaks frequently come from this part this is especially recommended. It puts graphite grease into places which it could not reach otherwise.

AFTER FIVE YEARS USE FIELDS OVERLAND NEEDS PAIR OF LIGHT GLOBES

Five years ago H. B. Fields of Iowa Park bought an Overland from the Overland Motors company, local distributors. During these five years he has driven this car tens of thousands of miles over Texas roads, in all kinds of weather. Friday he entered the service department of the Overland Motors company with a pained expression on his face. It was the first time in the entire five years that his car had ever been in a shop or had needed repairs of any kind, he said. He was in need of two light globes!

"I don't know why I should feel so badly over it," said Mr. Fields to Joe Hill, generalissimo of the service department, "but I had about come to the conclusion that there was never going to be any need for repairs to the little old boat."

Out on COUNTRY ROADS you need good batteries, the kind that will stand up under hard, steady usage and give the best of service under all conditions. This demand is met by our Eveready Batteries which are solidly made and designed to meet the needs of all cars, both light and heavy.

Regardless of your ability to buy any car you choose, consider if you can find the justification of finer quality in a costlier car than Hudson.

To appreciate its value you need not be a Hudson enthusiast in the sense of those thousands who hold it essentially the greatest of all cars. But you must recognize its long-held position among the leaders in performance, reliability and distinction.

And consider what an endorsement is represented in its more than five years' leadership of fine car sales.

Now that its price advantage is even more intensified, will not its sixth year of sales leadership show even a greater margin of popular preference?

CITY'S MOST HISTORIC STRUCTURE TO BE RAZED; BIRTHPLACE OF TWO BANKS, ONCE ROBBERY SCENE

Work of tearing down this building will start soon, to make room for a handsome new structure to be erected by Saul Lebeson.

Once a bank, later a city hall, then a real estate office and a second-hand clothing shop—such is a tabloid history of the structure at the northwest corner of Seventh and Indiana, soon to be demolished to make way for something more modern, more in keeping with the day. Within a short time workmen will be busy tearing it down to clear a site for the up-to-date store building which Saul Lebeson recently announced he would put up there.

Wichita Falls is too young to have landmarks, but that old building is the most appropriate claimant to that distinction, with the Templeton and Barwise buildings, on Ohio coming next.

It is Wichita Falls' oldest building constructed of anything other than wood. I. Jalonic, one of the oldest residents here, had sufficient faith, in 1851, to put up the building, and stone being hauled many miles to erect it. For a time it seemed doubtful if Mr. Jalonic's faith was justified, for no tenant appeared for the building, until more than a year after its completion. Then came the railroad, and with the railroad came the struggling community's first bank, established by Col. John G. James, now of Oklahoma. Col. James was a visitor in Wichita Falls only a day or two ago. He established the John G. James bank in the vacant structure, no doubt feeling that its solid walls afforded more protection for his assets than did any of the frame structures available. In case any of the banker's lawless namesakes should make it a deplorable visit.

The bank grew and prospered and soon became the Panhandle National bank. Col. James built it a new home across Seventh street, and it moved there. In 1885, R. E. Huff succeeded Col. James as president, the name being changed to the First National Bank.

Col. James had an active part in organizing the City National Bank, in 1890, and it also, for a time, occupied the building at Seventh and Indiana before moving to Seventh and Ohio, where it remained for many years.

In September, 1884, while Col. James was president of the first bank, then housed in the structure to be demolished, Wichita Falls had her first bank robbery, or rather attempted robbery. The true story of this attempt will never be known, for a youth named Bagley, one of the conspirators, was killed, the victim of a frame-up.

Bagley, Hays, Palmetto and Kincaid were the names of the quartet that planned the raid. It was agreed that all four should ride up to bank from the west side, that Hays and Palmetto should remain outside and that Kincaid and Bagley should enter and rob the bank. Bagley, it appears, had reason in advance to suspect Kincaid's good faith, and endeavored to call the attempt off, but Kincaid swore that he was acting squarely, and convinced Bagley that there was no frame-up. But somebody tipped the bank officers off, and those had seen to it that rangers were on hand. Kincaid and Bagley entered the bank, and the command "hands up" was given to Col. James and to L. S. Grant, bookkeeper and teller. The rangers, hidden back of the counter, started firing, and Bagley fell; it is said that Kincaid also shot at him when the firing began.

Kincaid, Hays and Palmetto were arrested and tried, but all were turned loose. Bagley's suspicions of Kincaid had been only too well founded, as the latter had peached to the bank and to the rangers, and had insisted on going through with the fake affair for that reason. Poor Bagley! It was no fake for him.

Later Kincaid was made a member of the ranger force as a "reward" for the information he gave. Sentiment here was too strong against him, however, and he was transferred.

After being the birthplace of two banks, the building became Wichita Falls' city hall. This was in the early nineties, probably about the time that O. T. Bacon was mayor. He, C. W. Bean and others ruled over the municipal affairs in that structure until in 1905, the present city hall building was erected at Ninth and Ohio.

Here's a Chance to Win $15 Prize and Car, Also—Perhaps

Just to give the ladies of Wichita Falls and Wichita county an opportunity to try their hands at letter-writing and incidentally to pick up a little bit of money, the King and Weaver Automobile company, local distributors of the Nash automobile, is offering a special cash prize of $15 to the woman of this section who submits the best 250-word letter on either of the following subjects: "Why I Want My Husband to Buy a Car," "Why I Want My Husband to Replace Our Old Car With a New One."

The contest begins today and ends at midnight Tuesday, April 12. Announcement of the winner and publication of the winning letter will be made in the daily press of Wichita Falls on Sunday, April 17, with check going out to the lucky housewife on the following day.

"I have no particular object in this except to rouse interest in the automobile business generally," said Hugh Weaver of the King and Weaver Automobile company. "Now that the best automobiling season of the year is upon us, and according to the para-graphers, the divine afflatus afflates most copiously at this time, there ought to be some mighty good letters coming in. It is not required that the name of any particular make of car be given; in fact it is not desired. This contest is more for the fun there is in it than anything else."

Official announcement, giving the rules of the contest, appears in today's automobile section of The Times.

TO CONTINUE OPERATION OF THE STATE RAILROAD

AUSTIN, March 26.—Continued and uninterrupted operation of the Texas state railroad will be the policy of Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson, he announced. The lieutenant governor became, by the terms of a law enacted during the close of the legislature, the chairman of a board to manage the railroad. He appointed J. A. Glen of Beaumont and E. C. Durham of Diboll, Angelina county, the other members of the board.

That the road shall be continued in operation to serve the communities along it is more important than the question of what can be got for it, Lieutenant Governor Davidson said. He declared that he was determined to take no action that does not insure its continued and uninterrupted operation.

The lieutenant governor said he believed that the board will be able to make an advantageous arrangement with a railroad company "under which the state will not only cease its steady loss of money, but will be able to realize the actual value of the road. Until it is sold or leased, he said, it will be kept in steady operation by its new board of managers.

The state railroad was built during the administration of Governor T. M. Campbell of Palestine and was put under the prison commission's management. It has been frequently referred to as a "white elephant," and has been a source of steady loss to the state. It has considerable equipment, including a passenger motor car and two locomotives, but all the equipment is in a state of repair, and in a condition, the lieutenant governor said.

Mr. Glen, of the new board, is division superintendent of the Santa Fe road at Beaumont. Mr. Durham is the manager of a short line railroad in the lumber belt of east Texas.

The legislature appropriated $25,000 for repaving, improving and rehabilitating the state railroad, so that it would be a more attractive concern to offer to one of the trunk line systems it touches, Mr. Davidson said. It connects with the I. & G. N. at Palestine and with the Southern Pacific system at its other terminus, Russ.

The landings were derived by the Spaniards from a Moorish dance.

BELIEVE HIS STORY AND THE PRISONER IS RELEASED

EL PASO, TEXAS, March 26.—C. H. Harmon was arraigned in county court on a charge of carrying a pistol. He said he was guilty and wanted to plead guilty.

"What were you doing carrying a pistol?" the judge asked.

"I had put it in my pocket to take to town, to sell and buy something to eat," the prisoner replied.

The assistant county attorney, Charles Vesic, who was prosecuting Harmon, told the judge he believed the story.

"We don't want anybody to plead guilty in this court or any other court who isn't guilty, do we judge?" asked the prosecutor. The judge held the same opinion.

Harmon was released and told to sell his gun and make the money go as far as it could until he found a job.

How to tell when your Battery has a Glass Arm

Get that examination NOW!

THE battery graveyard is filled with batteries that died before their time. Their owners either neglected them, or prescribed the wrong medicine.

Don't take that responsibility on yourself when there are Prest-O-Lite Service Stations everywhere you drive, equipped for and experienced in battery life-extension.

That's the Prest-O-Lite Service Station's job, no matter what make of battery you now have. If a little distilled water is all your battery needs, distilled water is what you'll get.

We won't try to sell you a new battery until your present battery is actually dead and ready for the soft music. When you do need a new battery, you'll be glad to know that Prest-O-Lite is back to pre-war prices and that an allowance will be made on your old battery. Get that examination now.

LINCOLN

OF COURSE, it was only to be expected that the new LELAND-BUILT LINCOLN Motor Car would be enthusiastically received.

Motordom, for several years, had looked forward to some new achievement—to some new development that would endow the motor car with added potency.

It had hoped for the day when engineering genius would broaden the scope of motor-car utility—and evolve a car less limited by deficient highways.

That the LELAND-BUILT LINCOLN Car would create a profound impression was only natural.

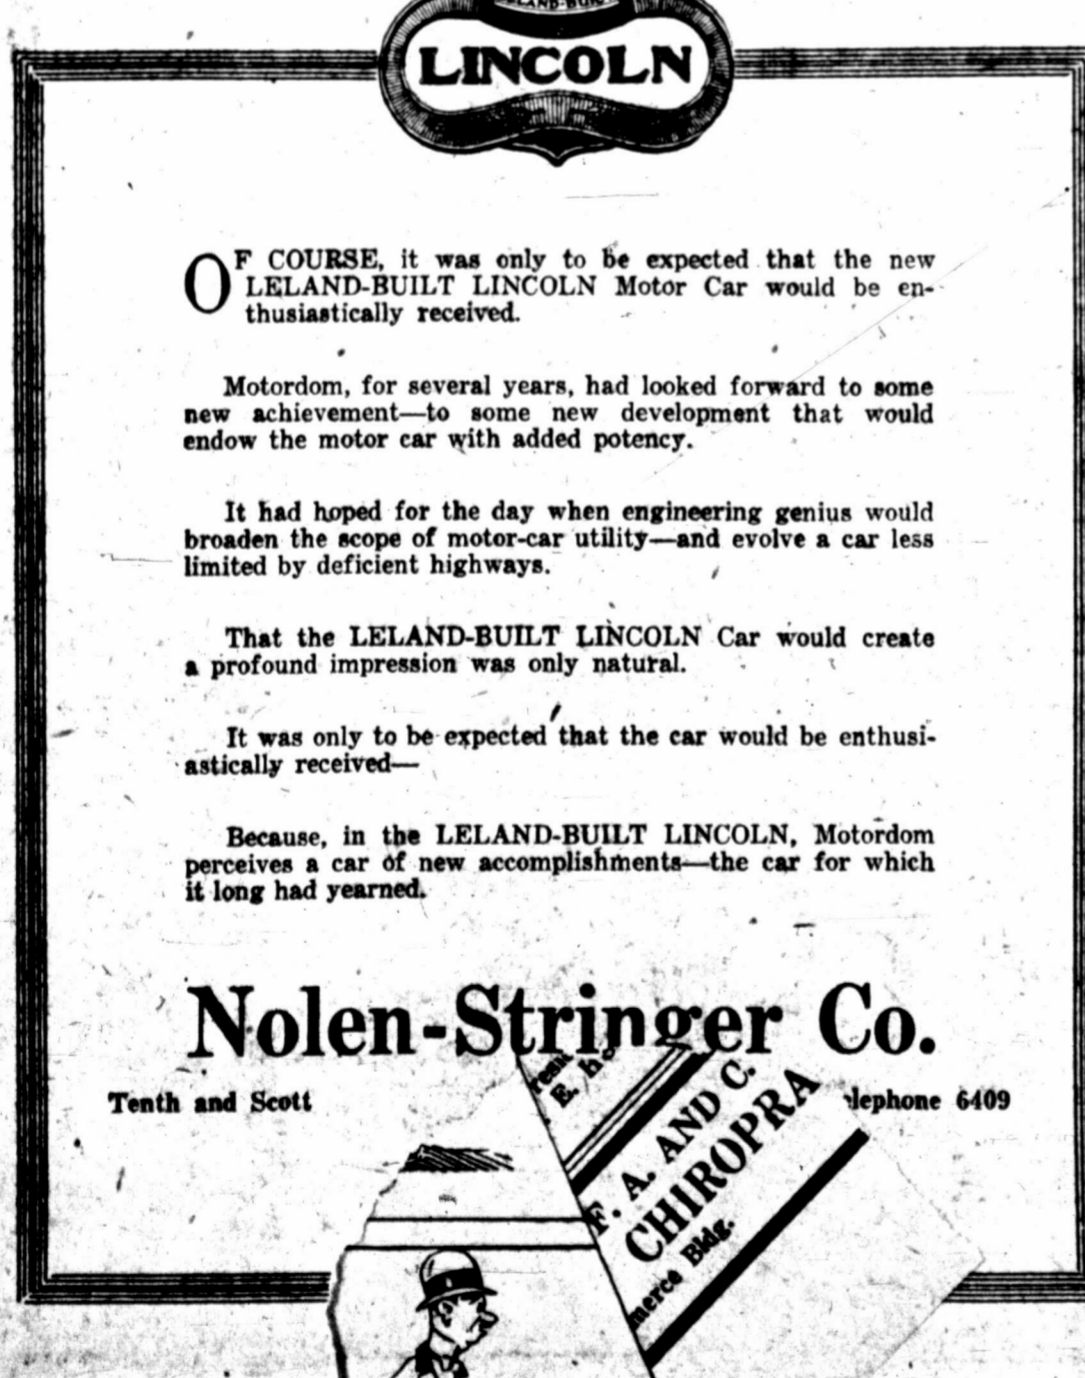

It was only to be expected that the car would be enthusiastically received—

Because, in the LELAND-BUILT LINCOLN, Motordom perceives a car of new accomplishments—the car for which it long had yearned.

JURIES COST COUNTY $24,000 A YEAR, AS COMPARED WITH ONLY $3,600 THREE YEARS AGO

Comparatively few people take any interest whatsoever in the courts of the county and their doings, still clinging to the old idea that they are an institution established and maintained only for those who get into trouble and those who can not settle their disputes privately, but who through choice air them out in court.

Few people realize that out of every dollar that they pay into the county treasury as taxes, five cents of it goes toward the paying of jury fees and 22 cents of it goes to the paying of salaries a portion of which goes to the officials of the courts.

It is safe to say that less than a hundred people know and but a few number more than that think that $23,976.20 of the money paid by taxpayers was spent for the fiscal year ending March 1, 1921, for jury fees. This, however, is the amount expended during that time as shown on the county treasurer's books.

It is the opinion of many people that the litigants in civil cases pay for the cost of a jury but this is not the case. When a jury is demanded by one of the litigants in a case a jury fee of $5 is charged. This of course is returned to the county for the expenses made on juries. The cost of a jury in any of the district courts is $25 per day. In the county court of law and county court the cost is $18 per day and in the justice of peace courts it is $2 a day.

In addition to the money paid for juries the taxpayers also help in paying for the salaries of county officials who assist in the trial of cases. The court stenographers, the court bailiffs as well as the judges paid by the county all come out of the taxes paid by the property owners of Wichita.

In addition to the $5 deposit made by litigants in civil cases for a jury, the county is reimbursed for jury money by occupation taxes. This includes such licenses as are required by statute in order to engage in the sale of certain articles. This, however, is nominal, as the receipts are small.

Prior to the advent of prohibition it was unnecessary for the county to make a levy on taxes for jury money. The money derived from whiskey licenses was sufficient to tide the county over from year to year.

In speaking of the statement made by many people years ago before the American people gave much thought to grape juice that if there was no such thing as whiskey there would be no need of courts, a court house official made reference to the whiskey license fees as well as to the expenditures during one of the years at that time.

The records show that for the year 1918 only $3,928.87 was expended for jury fees, which is practically one-sixth of the cost during the last fiscal year. From March 1 to date $1,464.25 has been spent for jury fees.

In addition to the amounts, the man also made reference to the jury wheel system which was inaugurated on August 1, 1920. From the records it is shown conclusively that this system has been a saving to the county of from $200 to $500 a month.

Although entirely an estimate it is not believed that a five per cent levy on taxes for the coming year should be a sufficient amount to tide the county over.

From the appearance of the docket in all the courts and judging from the amount of cases that are continually being filed it is earnestly believed that jury costs for the coming year will exceed that of the past.

Very little paving was laid in Wichita Falls last week, several projects being held up by complications of one kind or another. The south end of Ohio paving, which is partially completed, was awaiting the outcome of negotiations between the city council and Denver road officials, and the Brook avenue work is delayed by a disagreement between the contractor and the property owners.

Grant street is being prepared for the bituthic paving there, and part of the grading is completed. Putting down of pavement will start shortly.

The sewer construction crew has only one or two days more of work in North Wichita, and should be through there early this week. A large number of men are at work in Floral Heights where there is a considerable amount of sewer work in prospect.

NEW WAGE STANDARDS FOR GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A bill to fix new wage standards for all government employees is to be one of the first matters to obtain consideration at the approaching session of congress. Salary scales in general will be raised, but wages for several classes of employees may be reduced. Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, and treasury experts are preparing the bill. It is the plan to cease paying federal employees lump sums at salaries fixed at the will of bureau chiefs and also to dispense with the bonus system adopted during the war. The increased cost of living, higher wage scales of private industry and many other factors are to be taken into account.

Making Money

The first principle of money making is money saving. If you learn how to invest your money along as you earn it, so it will bring you something in return on your investment, then you are on the right road to success. You should put away apart of your earnings in a Savings Account, then you are sure of something in return on your investment. Try this by opening up an account with the
