How soon a miracle becomes routine. Less than three years ago, a nation held its breath as man attempted for the first time to set foot on the moon.

This week, although the feat of getting men to and from the moon is still just as miraculous to me personally, the voyage of Apollo 16 is having to struggle to make the headlines. This being the final Apollo mission, perhaps the space program now will look toward landing men on a sister planet in our solar system—and recapture the public's fickle fancy once again.

Congratulations are surely in order to Friona High School's forensics students, for capturing the district literary championship in fine fashion. Friona racked up ten first places out of 15 events.

FHS will be well represented in the regional meet, as 14 individuals qualified for further competition.

It was a big week at FHS, as the golf team had taken the district championship on Tuesday. Adding their number to the list makes 19 from Friona who will be taking part in regional competition.

Jim Gulde of Amarillo, of the Crowe-Gulde Company, presented the program at last Thursday's meeting of the Friona Lions Club.

Gulde had spent three weeks in Russia last fall, as a guest of the Russian officials. He gave a report which was much different to the usual travelogue, especially one behind the Iron Curtain.

Not being a part of a tour group, Gulde said he was able to see the Russians more on "regular terms" than most outside visitors do.

Gulde indicated that for a country that was as far advanced in many ways, Russia is really "poor" in many others. Things that we take for granted in America are unavailable even to the highest-ranking Russian officials.

"Take a supply of ball-point pens with you, and you'll be treated like a king. The Russians haven't come up with this everyday American item," Gulde said. Chewing gum and plastic bags were other luxury items which impressed the Russians.

Since it appears that a runoff will be inevitable in the governor's race, we would personally like to see Governor Preston Smith and Dolph Briscoe be the runoff candidates.

Governor Smith has continually proven his loyalty to this area, and Briscoe seems to be popular with the area cattlemen. It behooves supporters of these two men to do all they can to boost their candidates into the runoff.

The other gubernatorial candidates just have not done anything particularly to warrant the vote of West Texans, in our way of thinking.

Borrowed from Albert Lindley: Noticed on a supply room door recently:

"(Due to the shortage of trained trumpeters, the end of the world will not be held this week."

"And I guess it wasn't," Lindley adds.

The girl had just broken off her engagement with the young doctor.

"Do you mean to tell me," exclaimed her girlfriend, "that he actually asked you to return all his presents?"

"Not only that," she replied, "he sent me a bill for 44 house calls."

The man was applying for the position of bookkeeper. "You say you are an expert accountant," said the boss, "and your references are excellent, but I'd like to know more about you from yourself."

"Well, sir," replied the applicant proudly, "my wife once kept a household account book for a month, and I sat down with it one evening and in an hour managed to figure what we owed one department store."

"You're hired," cried the boss instantly.

County Showbarn For Friona Area

The steering committee for building a livestock showbarn in Parmer County voted unanimously Tuesday night to build the facility in Friona, and turn the direction of the building program over to the Friona group.

At the same time, the other segments of the county pledged to seek financial support from their various communities, and try to get contributions from other parts of the county as well as from Friona.

"We will be attempting to raise $45,000 for the building," said Dwain Menefee, who is Friona's chairman on the steering committee.

Persons wishing to make contributions to the fund may contact either Carrol Gatlin or Jerry Hinkle.

Preliminary plans are to build a 100x150-foot steel structure with concrete floor, with about 50 feet partitioned off at one end for showing and auction sale.

A community-wide meeting is planned in the near future, to attempt to get broad support for the project.

Menefee pointed out that the facility will not be used only for livestock shows, but will be constructed so as to accommodate youth activities, art shows, farm group meetings, and Maize Days activities.

"We plan for the building to be an activity center, not just a showbarn," Menefee said.

The original estimate was for the structure to cost $32,000 if used just for a showbarn, but the additional $12,000 to $13,000 is for the modifications to make it a multi-purpose facility.

The community meeting is to be announced next week. All groups and organizations will be welcome to attend.

Local Baseball Goes Official L'il League

Local baseball leaders voted to affiliate with the official Little League program for the entire local summer baseball program, at a special meeting last Sunday afternoon.

Two teams are to be added to the senior division, making four teams in that division, and eliminating the out-of-town schedule for Friona's teams in the league.

Some 100 local residents heard J.R. Dickerson of Clovis, district Little League director, explain the Little League program.

After considerable discussion, a vote was taken, and it was a unanimous decision to affiliate with Little League.

A new slate of directors was elected for the official Little League's local board. They were Curtis Butler, president; Dwain Menefee, vice president; minor division: Ronald Smiley, vice president, senior division: Patsy Bandy, secretary-treasurer; Tom Jarboe, player agent, and Dr. Robert Alexander, safety officer.

Other board members are Milton Evans, Ann Porter, V.R. Wilcox, Clarence Monroe, Wesley Barnett, Waymon Wilkins, Norman Kothmann, Richard Collard, Dale Houlette, Charles Waggoner and Matilde Castillo.

Prayer Group Host Jim Carlen

Every man in the community is extended a welcome to attend next Monday, and hear the devotional given by Coach Carlen. The Friona High School Fellowship of Christian Athletes were responsible for securing the program.

Sincerely Yours

By Rev. Albert Lindley

On a trip with a group of youth who were all conveniently placed in the back of a grain truck, we became conscious of the fact that as each large truck would approach us, they would blow the large air horn with which each seemed so beautifully endowed.

As a driver of the truck, I began to think something was wrong with the truck—or maybe somebody was getting beat up in the back—or falling out and I had some nominations... you know how it is, all kinds of things run across your mind. But further investigation revealed the kids were using an arm motion of "pulling a simulated rope" like the one that use to grace our steam locomotive whistles (you didn't know I was that old) and also on the trucks. The on-coming truckers would comply with the request and blow their horns.

It did have an effect other than piercing the shrill of the constant chatter. It kept the driver awake.

Now this is no little subject with which I'm dealing.

Just this week I sought to send my daughter's ailing horn (all the time we thought it was her) in to have it repaired.

At one of the bus stations in town—I'll leave it nameless—the remark was made by a "former" friend barber of mine, "I never did know a preacher had to fix his horn," implying he thought he "tooted" it all the time—ha, ha, f-u-n-n-y!

"Tootin' your own horn" is similar to the ad we have seen—

"When you got it, flaunt it."

I'm sure it would not embarrass you to make the statement but it would be better for me to best you to saying what you are already thinking—"Many preachers do 'toot' too much and they are not always endowed with something to flaunt." So there! Ha.

Well, enough kidding around. I just wonder how Gabriel got his job and are there others waiting to fill in while he's on vacation or sick or something...

We usually think of "tootin' your own horn" as being somewhat of a brag and the idea "If I don't blow my own horn, nobody else will" as a pessimistic attitude that people don't really appreciate my worth so I'll just let them know how good I really am...

There are all kinds of mixed up ideas and attitudes that we "make our own" and they often lead us to a mistrust and feeling of little care for each other and lack of appreciation.

Now, I didn't get all of this at the bus station incident. That was all in fun (?). What I really appreciate is the joking, happy, fresh relationships that we can have with each other. That is an important aspect of life.

I think what really turned me on with this was the realization that we are all grouched together on this earth and how important it is to be able to love and appreciate each other.

The moments of harem, honest, openness with each other is such a delight for daily existence.

This time of year seems to be expressive of a full life, love and joy. Would that it could and would become a permanent fixture in our personality.

Well, why not try it?

Just for the fun of it, join me in helping someone else to "blow his horn" or to even "blow it for him"... Try it for the rest of this week and let's see what happens.

I have a sneaking suspicion that I know...

Pause and Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

Editor's Note: Ab Blocker was a relative of Dan Blocker, the "Boss Cartwright" of TV's Bonanza.

The month of July 1885 was hot and dry. Thousands of splayed hooves raised a dust cloud that could be seen for miles. Point riders had the best of the deal because the dust was behind them. Flankers and drag riders sneezed, coughed and cursed wondering why they had signed on to help Ab Blocker drive this herd of longhorns hundreds of miles north from the home range around San Angelo to this new outfit in the Panhandle.

Ab, when he started out from the Fort Conchos country, was only another trail boss doing his job. Bright sunny days and cool nights passed one after another with nothing to disturb the leisurely pace from water to water. Walking, grazing, bedding down, dawn breakfasts, sundown suppers; the days followed each other in monotonous regularity.

One evening, just at supper time, a grey-bearded grubler rode in from the east. His news instilled a sense of urgency into every man in Blocker's outfit.

Another herf was on the way north and had boasted that theirs would be the first to settle on the newly-established ranch.

The red flag of challenge was unfurled.

"Get 'em up and get 'em out," came a little earlier.

"Circle and hold 'em," came a little later.

Now another dust cloud was visible during the day as two herds of horn clicking, halfwild cattle raced into the unknown region whose only beacon was the big North Star.

Every contest has its own vital "moment of truth" when valiant contestants come down to the final wire where only one may win.

Physical endurance of men and cattle was nearing the breaking point as the two herds veered in toward the point of delivery.

The twin dust clouds were so close together that their plumes blended into one as the last rays of the sun silhouetted Rabbit Ear Mountain.

Ab Blocker was not a man to concede defeat.

His herd bedded, his men fed, he walked among them and quietly gave instructions.

Everyone was to rest and take it easy until well after dark. The noisy chuck wagon with its rattling, components was to be left where it was; to be retrieved next day. Without the usual whooping and yelling the herd was to be aroused and silently driven all night to the new range.

Away across the flat prairie the rival herd followed the usual routine, confident that on the morrow they could, with a final burst of speed, overtake and pass Blocker's outfit.

When the eastern sky awoke to a new day Ab Blocker's cattle were contentedly grazing the lush grass and enjoying the crystal clear waters of Buffalo Springs--the first herd placed on the XIT Ranch.

A couple of weeks ago Henry White and I visited Buffalo Springs, some thirty miles north of Dalhart, Texas.

There is not much left of the old headquarters, a long horse barn, an old house, and a small stone building that could have been used for a variety of purposes.

The big springs still flow and in and around them giant cottonwoods and add to the overall effect at an oasis in the Panhandle Desert.

It is a most interesting trip and can be made in one day. Take 385 out of Dalhart for about 23 miles. Turn west on 296 for a few miles to a "dogleg." Cross the cattle guard and in five minutes you will be there.

If you want to camp or picnic go to Thompson's Grove an harms the one, and to this type of soul, sympathy reaches its most beautiful expression."

"If spring cleaning has left you with a headache over that large pile of unwanted items, a garage sale may be the answer to your problems."

It's possible to sell any type of item in a garage sale when it might be of interest to someone else. This includes toys, books, records, knick-knacks, household and sports equipment, furniture and clothes. Use a garage sale to raise money for the family or a favorite charity.

"If your friends and neighbors are in the midst of spring cleaning, join forces to offer a variety of merchandise."

Keep in mind that low prices attract bargain hunters. However, extremely low prices often fail to make the venture financially worthwhile. Check the cost of items at local thrift and second-hand shops for a pricing guide.

Mend and clean clothing before putting it up for sale. Pin the correct size on garments. Tie or pin pairs of shoes together. Clean and repair toys, records, kitchen equipment and books. Steer clear of selling unrepaid or damaged goods.

Remember a trick of the trade, and set up a few tables where everything sells for the same price. Otherwise, group similar items together. Hang all garments on a rack.

"Don't forget advertising for the sale." "Neighborhood signs can help. You can also consider placing a small ad in the newspaper."

Remember to check legal aspects that relate to selling goods. Call the Comptroller of Public Accounts for information on collecting sales tax. He's listed in the phone book under Texas State Agencies.

Check with the Internal Revenue Service on information on reporting income from a garage sale. Is the money collected for a tax-exempt or a non-profit charity? Ask about giving tax deduction receipts to donors of merchandise. The Internal Revenue Service is in the phone book under United States Government Offices.

With spring here, is the man in your life interested in a new double knit wardrobe-but the price of ready-made fashions scaring you both? Why not sew for him? Come to the Suit Fair sponsored by the county home demonstration agents from Castro, Deaf Smith and Parmer County and clothing specialists from Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Suit Fair will be Tuesday, April 25th, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Bull Barn in Hereford. Twenty tailoring techniques will be demonstrated by the specialists and home demonstration agents. Exhibits will be on display by local merchants and seamstresses who have made men's clothing. Come any time during the day-everyone is invited and no admission charge.

If care instructions aren't available with fabrics, it's a good idea to prevent potential problems by pre-treating before sewing. For example, pre-shrink a questionable zipper before sewing by soaking it in warm water.

Test a sample of trim for colorfastness before combining it with a white or light material. Launder any materials that may shrink before cutting the pattern if there's any doubt whether it's been pre-shrunk.

"The popularity of knits has brought the introduction of new products." "Polyester or cotton-covered polyester core threads help eliminate seam puckering when sewing polyester doubleknits and permanent press fabrics."

Special ball-point sewing machine needles make for easier sewing on knit fabrics. Lightweight, nonwoven, washable interfacing designed especially for polyester knits and washable polyester ribbons are two more innovations.

CREW MOVES IN... A crew of engineers have been working on Catfish Draw north of Bovina, taking core samples as preliminary work on the Running Water Draw project. The work is necessary to determine what the soil formation is, what kind of soil will be in the spillway that will be cut, and where the best material is located for building the earthen dam. The work is necessary to determine the design and specifications for the dam. (Soil Conservation Service Photo)

Census Bureau Slates Employment Questions

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of April 19, Percy R. Millard, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Dallas, announced today.

This survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. A scientifically selected sample of households throughout the entire United States is interviewed. The employment and unemployment data that are based on results of this survey provide a continuing measure of the economic condition of the Nation.

For example, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the overall jobless rate was 5.7 percent in February, down from 5.9 percent in January and 6.0 percent in December, while employment was essentially unchanged.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

For Award

The Parmer County Conservation District will compete for the top prizes in the 25th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program, according to Leon Grissom, Bovina, district chairman.

The district will pit its 1972 record of conservation achievements against other districts in the contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD). An independent judging committee will select the first and second place districts in the state.

Each first-place district will receive expense-paid, vacation study trips for its outstanding cooperator and a member of the governing board. Representatives of 53 award-winning conservation districts nationwide will be guests of Goodyear on a tour of outstanding resource development projects.

The awards program also includes recognition of the outstanding cooperator who will be selected by the district from the 700 landowners and landusers who are enrolled in the Parmer County district's program.

Local Resident Recalls Days As Cowboy Cook

Weight Watchers has really caught on in Friona and most persons who attend the meetings and follow the prescribed diet are losing pounds and inches. This will be good for local merchants as everyone will want new spring clothes in smaller sizes.

If you are a Weight Watcher, you need not hesitate to go just about anywhere you want to for any meal. Several public gatherings, which included meals, have recently featured a "Weight Watcher's Table."

Then at one of our local club meetings last week, the thoughtful hostess served apples baked in black cherry Shasta in addition to regular refreshments.

If someone casually remarks to you, "You've been going to Weight Watchers," you are supposed to feel complimented.

Someone once described a man's home as "The place where he can go when he can't go anywhere else." True as this is, there are other definitions, too. It is always somewhat disturbing when you think of the way each of us show our worst behavior when we are at home.

Some anonymous writer answered the question, "What is home?" as follows:

"What is home? A roof to keep out the rain? Four walls to keep out the wind? Floors to keep out the cold? Yes, but home is more than that.

It is the laugh of a baby, the song of a mother, the strength of a father. Warmth of loving hearts, light from happy eyes, kindness, loyalty, comradeship.

Home is first church and first school for young ones, where they learn what is good, what is right and what is kind. Where they go for comfort when they are sick or hurt. Where joy is shared and sorrow eased. Where fathers and mothers are respected and loved.

Where children are wanted. Where the simplest food is good enough for kings because it is earned. Where money is not so important as loving kindness. Where even the tea kettle sings from happiness.

That is home. God bless it."

Some more of our neighbors had an anniversary Monday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Euler observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary by spending the day at home without much fan fare, due to illness of both of them.

They were married April 10, 1912, at Hydro, Oklahoma, and moved to the Friona area in 1919.

Mrs. Euler said, "We've had so many nice flowers, cards, letters and calls from children, grandchildren, other relatives and friends, and we appreciate every one of them so very much."

Their Friona daughter-in-law, Frances Euler, baked a special cake for the couple.

The Eulers are parents of four children, Raymond, who lives here; Lee, who lives in Albuquerque; Mrs. Earl Mangold of Flint, Michigan; and Mrs. Ralph Bigelow of Placentia, California.

They were in California on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Congratulations go to a very fine couple on this special occasion.

(Editor's note: The following story was written by former Star staff writer Tyler Vance for the Amarillo Daily News, and is re-printed here with the permission of the Globe-News Publishing Co.)

Somehow, regardless of physical appearance, cowboy trail cooks always seemed to acquire the nickname "Slim."

But in fact, most cooks back in the days of chuck wagons and open fires are pictured as jolly, somewhat obese fellows, who always managed to eat breakfast before the rest of the camp got up.

Friona's Clarence "Slim" Ashcraft is an exception.

At 76, "Slim" weighs a bare 140 pounds, and attributes his small size to the fact that the cowboys he cooked for usually didn't leave much for the cook to eat.

Not that he wasn't a scrapper in his day, and would have readily taken on any cowpuncher who tried to put something over on him. He says he was just too busy taking care of the camp, or the bunkhouse, or any other place he and the "hands" found themselves that he didn't worry about eating.

"And nobody ever complained about my cooking, either," he says. "They knew if they didn't like it they'd be doing it the next morning."

And the old ranch hand from the Rafter 5, three miles east of here, says his mornings used to begin pretty early. He recalls the cold of early morning, when his tromping across a floor of sleeping men was just about the only sound in the pre-dawn darkness. Clanking of pots in the bunkhouse kitchen and the smell of coffee were the first signs the men had that Slim was beginning a new day's breakfast.

But Slim doesn't consider his cooking much of an accomplishment.

"I did my work just like the other fellows back then—I just started cooking one day, that's all."

He came to the Panhandle to work when he was about 18. He drove cattle on the fenceless Panhandle plains, and especially remembers a drive to Tulsa about 1923.

"The ole boy in charge wasn't used to driving cattle in the winter time, and I kept telling him he had better guide the cattle away from the lakes around that were frozen. He didn't listen, and we lost a lot of the herd by drowning," he said.

The old timer says he made about $3 a day back then, but "I won't say what we all spent our money on . . ."

"People talk about cowboys eating rabbits and such while on the trail. The fellows I worked with thought it was against their religion to eat that kind of stuff, since we always had plenty of bacon and beef to eat. Of course, finding something on the trail that would burn to make a fire with was a problem—we used to use dried out cow chips . . ."

One of Slim's fondest memories is of a fellow he met on the highway, just outside the front gate of the ranch one day.

The fellow had stopped by the gate, looking for a job. As the cook for the outfit, Ashcraft told the stranger that he would have to speak to the boss—he did—and the Rafter 5 gained a new hand.

"But he didn't know a darn thing about cattle and the like," Ashcraft said. "It took a while for him to get used to the Panhandle—and the lack of bathroom facilities. He came in that first day and asked a group of us where the toilet was, so I just waved my hand around and said 'there.' He looked all around that house for the bathroom till another ole boy told him, 'the whole land out there is the bathroom.'"

Ashcraft said it turned out the boy was from New York, and that after a family fight he headed west. He finally went on to California, after working at the ranch for a few months.

"And I hadn't seen him for many years, until a few months back he showed up at my house here. He's a writer now, and has written stories for 'Guidesposts,' and 'Texas Parade,' about life on a Panhandle ranch.

Ashcraft said that the man, Milton Smith, recognized him right away, but that he had a hard time figuring out who the stranger in his front yard was.

"When you cook for a lot of cowboys, they all begin to look the same," Slim said.

"Slim" lost his arm in a cotton gin over 50 years ago, in between jobs as a cowboy. However, the accident didn't slow him down.

"I've been able to manage," says Slim, who has even been observed "rolling his own" cigarettes with just one arm.

Ashcraft has been a custodian at Friona Grade School for the past 20 years.

Last year, Ashcraft and one of his fellow school employees, Daniel Hodgson, was singled out by the Friona school yearbook for the dedication.

Breeding

Pioneer brand grain sorghum varieties have bred-in yield potential to help farmers get the most from their good management even in the face of adverse weather, insects, or plant disease. Also, the genetic inheritance of every Pioneer hybrid is unique. Each variety is bred to bring out the special traits necessary for maximum performance in the area where it is to be grown.

Your Pioneer dealer has many varieties bred to help farmers on the North Plains turn in top yields. Some of these varieties are:

Pioneer Brand 846: excellent drought resistance—high yielding with good growing conditions—MDM resistant—134-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 820: excellent performer under stress—excellent standability—MDM resistant—144-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 828: outstanding yielder—stands and threshes well even after freeze or snow—hard grain that holds quality—MDM resistant—144-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 845: 136 day maturity—competitive with full season varieties under good growing conditions—grows well in cold weather—MDM resistant

Pioneer Brand 883: good yielding late planter—110-day maturity—strong stalks and good roots make it ideal for post-freezing threshing—MDM resistant

Days to maturity is an averaged figure, which is affected by weather and other variables.

GOOD YEAR OR BAD YEAR, YOU'RE BETTER OFF WITH PIONEER.

BILL WIMBERLEY, Dawn, averaged over 9000 pounds of grain per acre on 400 acres of Pioneer brand 828 grain sorghum hybrid. Mr. Wimberley liked the way 828 responds to water and fertility. As he said, "828 is a good all-round seed," and he plans to plant it again this year.

Mr. J. M. Rockwell
 Rockwell Bros. Founder

Rockwell Bros. & Co., Friona--about 1925

Rockwell Founder Had Faith In Plains Area

The late J.M. Rockwell, founder of Rockwell Bros. & Company, is recalled by O.F. Lange as a "great pioneer... a builder of small towns. He believed in this area," says Lange, who was sent to Friona to manage the company's yard in 1919. Rockwell had founded the lumber company at about the turn of the century. The company opened its Friona office in 1907, just as the community was getting started.

George C. Wright, founder and developer of Friona, realized that in order for his new town to grow it would need a lumber yard. Wright offered lots in Friona to Rockwell if he would build a lumber yard here, and consequently the lumber company's history is synonymous with that of the city.

"Og" Lange was working for the Rockwell company at Llano in 1919 when he received a wire from J.M. Rockwell, asking if he would like to manage the company's business in Friona.

He took a train to Friona, looked the town over, and soon was convinced that this was where he wanted to settle down. "I saw the possibility of a growing community, and wanted to be a part of it," Lange says.

The elder Rockwell passed away in 1931, and was succeeded by his son, James W. Rockwell, who carried the company through the bitter depression years. James passed away in 1962.

Another son, Henry R. Rockwell, took over the company reins after he returned from the Navy in World War II, and still heads the organization.

"I am proud to be one of the Rockwell family," says Lange, who has been with the company for 56 years, and has worked for no one else in his career.

The Rockwell company has progressed with the area, and has always been in the forefront of community development.

"We have always tried to advance with the trend of building, staying abreast of the times," says Lange, who has served in the past as Friona's Chamber of Commerce president, and Lions Club president.

The longtime Rockwell manager was the originator of the "Trades Day" program for Friona in the early days here--a program which encouraged local buying.

Lange was manager and the yard's sole employee for a number of years. Then, for a period, the company had one additional employee. Currently, there are four full-time employees at Rockwell's, in addition to part-time help.

"We survived the dust bowl days, the depression, and lots of adverse conditions," Lange says.

When the lumber yard was first built, there was a bank, a real estate office and a livery stable. Later, a hardware store (forerunner of Plains Hardware), a general store, and others opened.

The company began as "Friona Lumber Company" and old company ledgers reveal that there was a good deal of building shortly after the company opened, as George C. Wright put on his first big building "push."

Although Lange is the only manager which most folks can remember here, there were others before him. They included T.J. Crawford, J.E. Harrell, Isaac Corn and a Mr. Lawrence.

One item which was a big seller in the early days isn't even carried in stock. That would be coal, which was used to supply most of the fuel for heat in Friona for a number of years.

In 1907, you could purchase coal for 65¢ per hundredweight, or $12.50 per ton, delivered.

Lange, who also has been an active member of the Union Congregational Church, has seen things change considerably in his tenure at Rockwell's.

His first salary was $75 per month. A four-room house could be built (material and labor) for $1700. There was no indoor plumbing in the city when he first came here. The city's water and sewer systems were installed in 1929.

Other employees at the company include Gene Zachary, the assistant manager; Carolyn Dement, bookkeeper, and Thomas Villalobos.

What Does The Bible Say?

Colossians 3:17 enjoins, "And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him." The phrase "in the name of the Lord" means "by the authority of the Lord" or "as the Lord has authorized." This is illustrated in Acts 4:7-10, "And when they (the rulers, elders and scribes) had set them (Peter and John) in the midst, they asked, "By what power, or by what name, have ye done this?" Then Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said unto them, "Ye rulers of the people--be it known to you all--that by the name of Jesus of Nazareth--both this man stand here before you whole."

Christians are privileged and obligated to "walk by faith" (2 Cor. 5:7). "Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17). Therefore, the Christian's authority for all religious action comes only from God's word and he must, by that word, "prove all things and hold fast that which is good."

Questions invited. Address "What Does the Bible Say?" Box 515, Friona, Texas.
