Congressman Parrish has been working for months to obtain the release of this young Texas, who fought through six major engagements of the war, was wounded and cited for bravery, and whose conviction, the congressman firmly believes, was a gross miscarriage of justice.

From 1913 through the period in which this country became financially interested in the European war and until January 1, 1918, transportation employees did not receive an advance in their daily or monthly wages. After discussing the wages of trainmen, in which he made comparisons of wages paid in 1913 with those received now, Mr. Lee said: "The men have been asked to accept a wage which is an inadequate living wage. ### PLAN IRRIGATION DISTRICT LOANS UNDER NEW BILL

By CHARLES S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent Wichita Daily Times

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The creation of irrigation districts in which the land owners may borrow money from the federal farm loan banks for development purposes is contemplated under a bill introduced by Representative John E. Raker of California and reported out by the house committee on irrigation. Efforts will be made to obtain early consideration of this bill and Representative C. S. Hudson of Texas has been selected to lead the fight for it on the floor.

Heretofore owners of land comprised within irrigation projects, particularly in the west, have been unable to avail themselves of the facilities provided under the federal farm loan banks because of prior liens on their property. Under provisions of the Raker bill, however, it is contemplated that irrigation districts will be created and when a loan is obtained that it will first be necessary to clear existing liens and the remainder may then be utilized for further development. It is pointed out that terms of repayments are much more liberal under the federal farm bank regulations than now obtain in most, if not all, of existing reclamation projects.

Further hearings will be held by the committee on the Smith-Nary and Bankhead bills. These provide for a loan of $250,000,000 from the government to the reclamation fund to be used in the creation of new irrigation and drainage projects for the dual purpose of reclaiming arid and swamp lands and to provide farms for ex-servicemen. President Samuel Gompers of the American federation of labor has requested a hearing on this bill and representatives of the American legion and the United States chamber of commerce also have been invited.

KNOX COUNTY IS A PRIZE WINNER AT DALLAS FAIR

MUNDAY, TEXAS, Oct. 18.—Knox county is situated in one of the best farming sections in west Texas. The exhibit of farm products which is now being shown at the State fair at Dallas bears out this statement.

News reached here yesterday from the fair association that Knox county had won 12th place among Texas counties that have an exhibit at the fair, and also a prize of $200 in cash.

The writer is reliably informed that only three days were spent by F. O. Campbell, Tom Isbell and John Renuau in getting up the farm products for this section of the county. Mr. Campbell says if they had taken more time a much better selection could have been sent to the fair and also they could have sent in a more complete exhibit which would have made a much better showing and placed Knox county far up the line among the counties that have made winners.

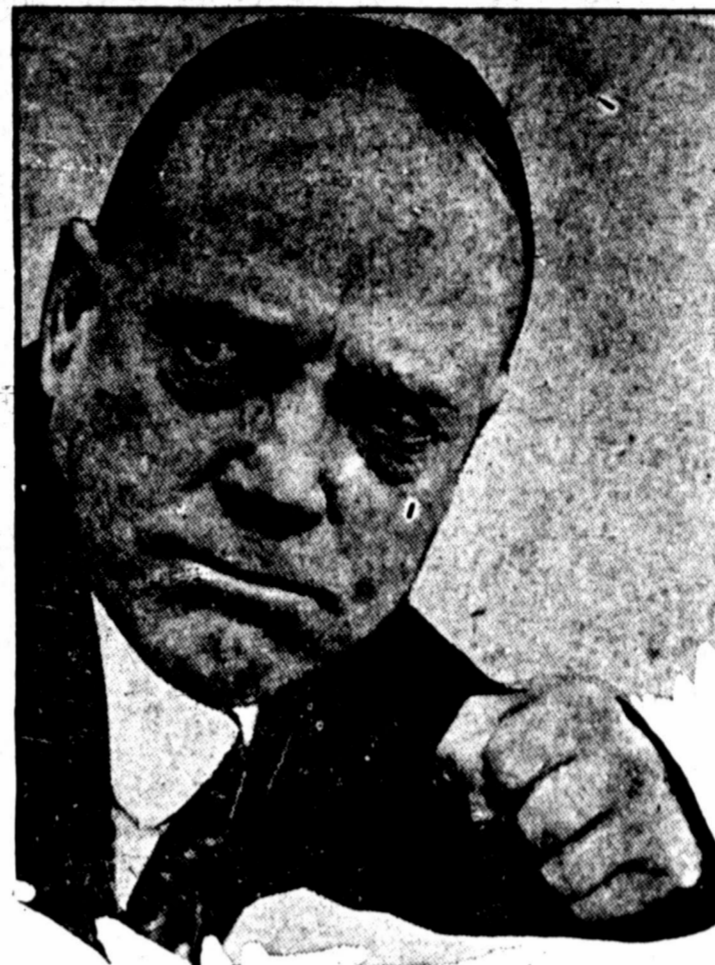

There is an active poultry association here and they are planning a big poultry show Friday and Saturday, the 11th and 12th of November. This will be the second poultry show held by the association in Munday. Plans are being made for one of the best poultry shows in this section of west Texas. Edwin Head of the First National bank is the secretary of this progressive association and nothing will be left undone to make it a success. It also has some prize winning Rhode Island Reds on exhibition at the Dallas fair.

BILLY SUNDAY ON MOVIES

Movies and their effects on public morals are discussed in three articles written by Rev. Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist. This is the first.

By REV. BILLY SUNDAY, Famous American Evangelist.

I never have condemned the theater as an institution, nor will I condemn the movies as an institution, but I will not stand for the rotten things they often tolerate. The biggest men in the theatrical business are constantly striving to put the stage on a higher level and the public has confidence in these men. I don't need to name them; most everybody knows them. And the actors and actresses most loved by the big American public are those who play in clean plays and live clean lives.

BILLY SUNDAY

The same thing can hold true of the movies. Because of its cheapness and its novelty and its big variety of interest, the movie has become immensely popular. It can continue so and become a power for good as well as the most marvelous entertaining enterprise.

No License to Purvey Filth.

But the movie has no moral business to purvey rot and licentiousness and cussedness and filth than the pulpit and press have. We are most of us trying to make it easier in this country to do right and harder to do wrong and if that isn't our ideal we haven't any right to claim American citizenship. So let the movie interests, like other big interests, political and social and religious, aim at building up morals and not tearing them down.

If it does not the whole business will go on the rubbish heap. America is clean at heart and patient to the last degree, but when she does make up her mind to clean house, she acts so quick the devil staggers. He never knows what struck him when she bundled up the licensed saloons and skidded them into hell on the toboggan slide of the eighteenth amendment.

Clean Plays Are Most Profitable.

I understand that fine plays like "Way Down East" have been filmed and made money for their producers. The stage plays that made the record run of all records in New York are clean and wholesome. There is abundant proof that the stage and the movie theatre do not have to pander to depraved taste. If the public elevates a player to stardom, that star is under obligation to the public. His is sin; the effect is worse for a public character to be guilty of it than for a private citizen. His influence for good or evil goes far and wide. Boys and girls by the hundreds of thousands see their favorites in heroic and appealing roles. They naturally idealize them. I can think of nothing more contemptible than for a movie star to shatter the confidence of youth in things that are clean and upright by being crooked in his or her professional life.

and all the time and vast sums spent to produce a film must filter through the often narrow, bigoted censor, who may hold his job because of some political pull and is no more competent to judge a picture than a dog is to teach astronomy. (Copyright, 1921, NEA Service).

Tomorrow Billy Sunday will discuss the sex movie.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL HAS PARENT-TEACHER SOCIETY

MUNDAY ENJOYS A BUILDING CAMPAIGN

Splendid Business Inspires Citizenship to Build For The Future.

Staff Special to The Times.

MUNDAY, TEXAS, Oct. 18.—Munday is now in the midst of a building campaign and new and substantial improvements greet the eye from every quarter of the enterprising city. The excellent trade enjoyed by the merchants and business men for many years has established the confidence needed to build a real city and Munday is on the road to become a leading commercial center in west Texas.

Rev. J. S. Huckabee, who has been pastor of the Methodist church here for the past year, has been removed to McLean and Rev. H. J. Osborn was removed from McLean to this city. Rev. Osborn preached his first sermon here last night and the other churches in Munday called in all appointments and attended the Methodist church in a body.

J. F. Lawrence, a farmer living a few miles from Munday, was in the city Saturday with a load of fine watermelons. He planted the seed on the 25th of June and has received a good yield. The melons are of good size and he finds a ready sale for them. He planted two short boxes of cantaloupes in his orchard for his own use and sold above home consumption $25 worth of cantaloupes. This section of the country is specially adapted to melons and vegetables along with farm products.

R. L. Gaines, a farmer living eight miles from Munday, was in the city Saturday and reports his cotton crop all picked and in the bale for this year. He picked 24 bales of cotton from the same ground he picked 84 bales from last year and plowed under at least 15 bales of cotton he could not get hands to pick. But he will realize more money for the 25 bales than he did from the bumper crop of last year.

G. C. Vaughn, a prosperous farmer of Knox City, was in Munday yesterday and reports most of the cotton picked around Knox City. The four gin plants there have ginned about 2,000 bales, according to Mr. Vaughn's estimation. He also states the best crop of Knox prairie is the best in many years and most of it is gathered in the barn.

W. C. Bevers, living five miles south of Munday, was here yesterday and reports cotton making from one-third to one-half bale per acre, and the farmers in his section are about through picking except a few late crops. He says the maize and corn crops in his community are the best he ever saw, and he saw tested in this section of the country.

COUNCIL INSISTS DENVER PAY FULL SHARE FOR PAVING

FURTHER DELAY ON NORTH END OF OHIO MAY RESULT FROM ACTION.

FURTHER REDUCTION OF CITY EXPENSES FAVORED

Session Monday Afternoon Decides On Additional Cuts in Municipal Payroll.

Further delay in completing the paving on the north end of Ohio avenue was expected to result from the decision of the city council, in adjourned session Tuesday morning, to "stand pat" on its version of the Fort Worth & Denver, and to insist that the railroad pay its assessment for the paving between Fourth and Sixth streets.

Representatives of the railroad did not indicate whether they would continue to fight the matter in the courts. The session Tuesday morning was adjourned from that of Monday night, which met and adjourned at once. At a called session of the council Monday afternoon, it was agreed that further reduction in the city payroll would be made and some further employees dropped from the payroll.

At the session Tuesday morning, J. H. Barwise Jr. of Fort Worth, general attorney for the Denver, after reviewing the controversies with the city over paving both the north and south ends of Ohio, indicated that the railroad was willing to do everything except pay for the Fifth street intersection.

J. L. Jackson and D. M. Hardy, property owners who have been active in getting Ohio avenue paved north of Sixth, pointed out that the railroad had been dealt with more liberally than some other property owners who, in addition to paying the paving assessments, had contributed to a $1,500 bonus as well.

There was considerable discussion as to just what had been previously agreed to, it being the understanding of the council that the railroad had agreed to pay not in excess of $5,000 for the paving between Fourth and Sixth. City Engineer Montgomery submitted figures showing that the actual cost, including the intersection, would be only about $4,500.

Neither Mayor Cline nor Councilman Curtis showed any disposition to recede from their former position, based on their understanding of the verbal agreement with representatives of the road, and a motion by Mr. Fittz, assessing the lead for the actual cost of the paving, was adopted.

The council passed finally the ordinance limiting parking space in front of gasoline stations and adopted a resolution to complete the paving.

MORE WITNESSES WHO NEGLECTED TO REPORT ARE FINED

Three more witnesses were ordered fined by Judge P. A. Martin Tuesday morning when they did not answer to the call of their names. The judge ordered that a $10 fine be entered against them as the subpoenas showed that they had been summoned to appear in court by the sheriff.

The witnesses fined were D. P. Taylor, H. A. O'Neill and C. F. Carter. The judge, however, remitted the fine in the latter's case when he appeared shortly afterward and reported to the court that his automobile had backed on him.

2 NATIONAL ISSUES ARE DISCUSSED BY LOCAL DIRECTORS

VOTE TO TAKE NO ACTION ON CAMPAIGN TO REDUCE UNEMPLOYMENT

UNITED "DRIVE" FOR ALL ORGANIZATIONS FAVORED

Directors Indicate No Support to Be Given to Individual Moves of the Kind.

Two national problems, unemployment and disarmament, were discussed at a meeting of chamber of commerce directors Tuesday morning, and while no action was taken on the specific matter in either case, some interesting comments by members resulted.

The directors again went on record as favoring a united "drive" for local charitable and benevolent organizations and it was indicated that any not wishing to raise their budgets in that way would be left out in the cold.

The unemployment question came up in connection with a proposition to wage a campaign urging the people of this city to create as many jobs as possible by having necessary repairs made, etc.

W. F. Weeks objected to the directors going into any such campaign on the ground that members of labor unions still had their wage scales entirely too high.

"We haven't had enough hard times yet," Mr. Weeks said. "Some people haven't learned their lesson. It still costs $14 a day for a plumber and $15 a day for an electrician. I can't get up any sympathy for men who are unemployed at such wages as that."

T. B. Noble replied that open shop plumbers and electricians could be obtained at $10 a day. Several directors gave recent experiences of alleged excessive charges for that kind of work.

It was voted to take no action on the campaign in question. A request from the San Francisco chamber of commerce for adoption of a resolution urging disarmament for business reasons, met a similar fate, the directors apparently feeling that no useful purpose would be solved by adopting it.

In this connection, C. W. Reid and W. F. Weeks criticized recent pessimistic utterances of President Harding absent the conference.

The action on the "drive" question was taken upon motion of Mayor Cline. Mr. Cline said that in joining the drive, provision should be made whereby any donation to any one of the organizations represented could be received and whereby anyone wishing to exclude any organization from the benefits of his donation might have that privilege.

Mr. Wood reported some unwillingness on the part of the Y. W. C. A. to pool its budget with the others, on the ground that it was not a charitable organization. It was pointed out that the motion included both charitable and benevolent organizations.

The question was asked as to what attitude would be taken toward organizations that insisted on separate drives.

"They won't have the support of the citizenship that this organization represents," said T. B. Noble.

A committee consisting of C. H. Clark, J. S. Bridwell and J. M. Bland was named to represent the chamber of commerce in the matter.

HEAVY VOTE CAST TUESDAY IN CLAY COUNTY ELECTION

Reports from Henrietta Tuesday afternoon indicated a fairly heavy vote in the election in Clay county on $2,000,000 road bonds.

There was no information on how the vote was supposed to be going.

Former residents of Clay county residing here, nearly all whom want to see the bonds voted, expressed doubts Tuesday on the success of the campaign, believing the opposition to be too strong.

M. A. BUNDY TO BE ASSOCIATED WITH SECURITY NATIONAL

Announcement was made Tuesday by officials of the Security National bank that M. A. Bundy, who recently returned to this city to make his home here again, had associated himself with that bank in the capacity of special representative.

Mr. Bundy recently informed friends here that he had decided to make this city his home again, after spending some months in Bentonville, Arkansas, and his return to Wichita Falls was gratifying to his numerous acquaintances here.

Mr. Bundy did not at that time make public what his plans were, but the announcement was made Tuesday by the Security National.

"Bill" Bundy, as he is best known, was at one time agent for the Fort Worth & Denver here, giving up that work to become connected with a refinery in this county. In 1919 he succeeded to the firm of the Arkansas apple country, and moved there, but did not long ago that Wichita Falls was the place for him.

Officials of the Security National feel that in extending his services they have made a valuable addition to the bank's personnel.

MINISTER SPEAKS TO KIWANIANS ON BUSINESS RELIGION

"Judge not that ye be not judged" was the substance of an address delivered Tuesday noon to members of the University club by Rev. J. Lem Keevil, pastor of the First Christian church, when the club met in the Kemp hotel for its weekly luncheon.

The old scriptural quotation was used by the speaker in bringing out points made by Rodger W. Babson, noted economist, in a recent writing, "The Law of Equal Reaction."

Dr. Keevil based his entire talk on the Babson writing and in passing attempted to show the relationship of religion to business, this latter passage being his subject.

The contention that many ideas and principles now being evolved by scientists, theologians, psychologists and philosophers are merely modernized versions of the teachings of Christ two thousand years ago were made by Mr. Keevil, quoting Babson, who also declares that business successes of today were based in whole or in part on the religion of the successful man.

Not all successful men are churchmen, nor are they Christians," Babson was quoted, "but their success is based on their own religion."

Emphasis was also made that every action, whether it be thought, word or deed, was followed by an equal reaction and that whatever a man gave to the world would determine that which he was given in return.

Following Mr. Keevil was A. E. Murdock, local cotton broker, who is leaving the city. Mr. Murdock opened his discussion by taking exception to some of the principles expounded by Babson but soon launched into a dissertation on the function of the University club.

His talk, like the minister's was filled with good advice, and made a profound impression on the club membership.

At the close of his speech Mr. Murdock was extended a rising vote of appreciation and that whatever his affiliation with the organization.

Musical entertainment of the day was provided by Mrs. Frank A. Logan, a pupil of Prof. Robert F. Loew, who gave a delightful piano solo and by a trio from the "Springtime" cast.

Mrs. Logan, two of the leading characters, favored the club with a quartet, accompanied by T. McKinley, Nick Carter made an announcement of the plans for the show.

Walter S. Curlee had a few spirited and to the point remarks to make Tuesday afternoon about the Business Women's presentation of "Springtime" this week, and about the club generally.

"I think the Business Women's club is one of the most important organizations in Wichita Falls," he declared, during the course of his conversation with a member of the Times force, "and I think it's right up to every business man in the city to see that there's not an empty seat in the theater either night that they stage their 'Springtime' show."

Mr. Curlee declared his special interest in the Business Women's club in a previous remark, and clinched the matter by giving sound reasons for it.

"The business girl employed downtown is the inseparable link between business itself and the business man," he said, "every business man knows how much depends on her efficiency in the office and the store. When an unattached young woman comes to town I understand that she is invited to join the Business Women's club as soon as some member meets her. It means that she is provided with the right sort of social interests from the beginning, and given a place that she can get for recreation and to meet other friends from the very beginning."

"We married men have our homes to go to, but the majority of girls and young women in business here in Wichita Falls have rooms. You hear a lot about the 'tired business man' but you don't hear much about the 'tired business girl.' It seems to me it's time some of our business men began hearing things, and saying them."

"I'm for the Business Women's club straight from the shoulder. They're not only holding a big bunch of business women together in a common social interest, but they're looking out for the younger employed girls in this city. They are sending girls to business colleges and paying their expenses. That club is doing some of the finest social service work in Wichita Falls."

"They're putting on this play Friday and Saturday nights for an entirely unselfish purpose. It takes money to do social service work, and I understand from unquestionable sources that every dollar of their proceeds from 'Springtime' is to be devoted to such work. Sixty or seventy of them have been working every evening for the past two weeks or more to make the thing a success, and worth the price they charge for it, and I believe it's up to the business men of Wichita Falls to get in behind them and make the show go big."

"In other words, I believe that every business man who buys a couple of tickets to 'Springtime' is making as solid an investment as he ever made with three dollars in his life."

SAYS PEACE WITH GERMANY NECESSARY TO REHABILITATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Re-establishment of peace with Germany as necessary for American and world rehabilitation was the fundamental reason given in the senate today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the foreign relations committee, for favoring ratification of the peace treaty with Germany.

"The question before us now," said Senator Hitchcock, "is not a choice between the Versailles treaty and the pending treaty, but between the pending treaty and a protracted uncertainty without any treaty."

Senator Hitchcock said that the pending treaty protected American interests as much as the Versailles covenant and that it would not change the American attitude toward the league of nations.

"After this treaty is ratified," he declared, "we can enter the league of nations just as easily as we can now and this treaty does not raise the slightest obstacle against such action."

"I have been asked sometimes," Senator Hitchcock continued, "how I as a democrat would vote for a separate peace with Germany when the democratic platform of last year declared against a separate peace with Germany. The answer is that was one of the issues of the last campaign and was settled by the last campaign. It was settled against the democrats."

DECISION IN THE BABE RUTH CASE IS EXPECTED SOON

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—A decision in the Babe Ruth post-season case by Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, is expected within a few days and the general impression prevailing here today is that Ruth will be let off with a suspension long enough to keep him out of a few of next season's games without pay.

"What goes up must come down," said Judge Landis. "I notified Ruth two weeks ago that the rules prohibited this sort of thing."

New York dispatches received here indicated that Ruth would receive no support from the Yankee clubowners in his controversy with the judge. Colonels Ruppert and Huston are quoted as saying Judge Landis has "no alternative but to meet the situation firmly."

Sport Shots

By PAUL W. LARKIN

Though the attendance for the season at Athletic park during the past season at the Texas league championship games fell off about $5,000, in comparison with the 1920 mark, local officials are more than satisfied with the figures reached. Will Gray has given out as the official figures for paid admissions this year the total of 107,826, while in 1920 the mark was around 121,000. The figures of only one other club around the circuit have been given out, but it is practically certain that only Fort Worth and Dallas can boast of a larger total, the latter having had an exceptionally good year.

More people have left Wichita Falls in the past year than have left any other town in the loop but the proportionate slump in attendance was not as great as it was in one other city at least. Last year the Bassers played to about 114,000 paid admissions in Shreveport while this year the total was 84,700. Incidentally, the number of paid admissions here exceeded those in three Southern league cities and possibly four. Mobile, Nashville and Chattanooga all failed to hit the 100,000 mark—only 62,356 coughing up in the first named. Memphis, on the other hand, went over $80,000 and was about the only club to make money.

Portland, Oregon, is a fine example of how unpopular ownership can kill baseball in a city. The Pacific Coast league city, which boasts a population of 206,000 had 23 cash customers in the stands at one of the home games. The owners, however, refuse to sell.

The American league race was close but couldn't hold a candle to that in the Coast league. Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Francisco all had a chance to cop the flag on the final day. The Angels won out by defeating Portland in the first game of a twin bill. If they had dropped two while Sacramento won two from Vernon, Sacramento would have won. On the same supposition that Los Angeles had dropped two while Sacramento was splitting even, Portland could have won by taking both ends of a twin bill from Seattle.

Those who have openly defied Judge Landis in the past or who have tried to dictate to him in any manner were not long in regretting it, and we won't be a bit surprised if the Bambino is a very sorry Babe in the near future. Just because Babe can belt out more home runs than any other baseball player, no reason why he should be allowed special privileges, and unless we miss our guess he won't be granted any while Landis is commissioner. "Justice" is the judge's middle name and he plays no favorites. If the rule prohibiting a player who has participated in a "world's series" from playing in exhibition games is fair for one it is fair for another.

But, according to Ruth's statement, he isn't the only one who has broken the rule and many players are known to be dissatisfied with that ruling. This system was put up before Landis once before while the Federal league was in operation, but a decision was never reached. Babe's share of the series receipts was a little over $2,000—far less than he could have picked up had he been in the Yankees' line in the pennant. However, the rule is in effect now and while it may be changed some time soon Ruth and the others should pay the penalty for breaking it. It certainly is the supreme test for the judge, but he has never been found wanting thus far.

The punishment meted out will either be in the form of a heavy fine or a suspension. To have any lasting effect the fine must be exceedingly heavy and this appears to be the best method, as when you hit a man's pocketbook it hurts. The fine that would hurt the average player, however, wouldn't make much of a dent in Ruth's roll. A suspension would hurt more than Ruth and we doubt if one will be inflicted.

The Giants were undoubtedly picked by the majority of baseball fans in the country to win the world's series, but now many thought that the Louisville Colonels had a chance with the Baltimore Orioles? Jack Dunn was conceded by practically every critic to have the best minor league club in the over organized and one which could defeat several major league clubs. Yet they took only three games from the representatives of the American association. Maybe Dunn will realize that he and his are not invincible now and maybe he will part with a few of his "stars" who must have been a terrible blow to him.

BATTING AVERAGE OF .330 IS THE HIGHEST REACHED SINCE 1899

GEORGE SIELER WAS THE ONLY PLAYER TO STEAL FOUR BASES IN A SINGLE GAME

IN 4 TIMES AT BAT BANCROFT SLAPPED OUT A SINGLE-DOUBLE-TRIPLE AND A HOME RUN

By ROY GROVE

Old Man Time has the baseball crown all shined up, but he doesn't know whether to stick it on one of the stars in the American league or a National league ace for services rendered during the season of 1921.

Rogers Hornby ought to get the first pep at it for being the sweetest batsman of either league, topping the averages with .330. "This is the highest batting percentage reached since 1899, when Delahanty, of the Phillies, led the league with .408."

But Ty Cobb, the "Georgia Peach," steps into Hornby's shadow demanding recognition and deserving to be marked at the top of all the greats. For Cobb has just pulled through his 16th complete season with the Tigers and finished with a marker of 290. His pupil, Harry Heilmann, topped him by 6002 of a point for the American league hitting records—the first time a right-hander ever bested Cobb, who copped the batting honors in Ban John's league 11 times in 14 years.

Frank Frisch of the Giants dusted down the path with 34 stolen bases, and George Sielier led the American league with 24 "Sts" was the only man to steal four bags in a single game. George also got 10 hits in 18 consecutive trips to the plate, a record for the season.

To Hornby will go the ribbon for smacking out doubles and triples in the National league. He got 43 doubles and 18 triples, while Tris Speaker of the Indians topped him for doubles in the American league by popping out 51.

Dave Bancroft of the Giants gets the ticket for variety in swats. On June 1 he cracked out a single-double, triple and a home run in four trips to the plate.

What Kelly Did

George Kelly, also of McCarraw's squad, did on three occasions the stunt that every player longs to duplicate and that even the best of them failed to do in 1921—he slammed out three home runs at three different times with the bases full, all in a single season.

Four triple plays were manufactured in the American league and in the National league five were executed.

Two triple steals were made, one by Washington and the other by the St. Louis Browns.

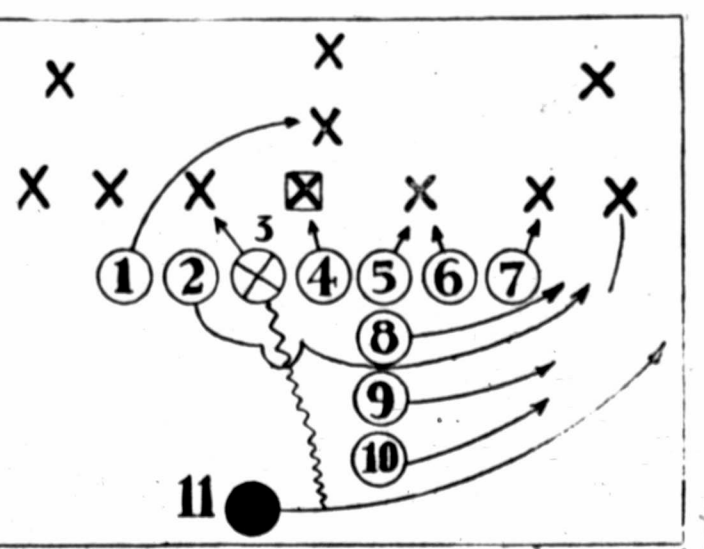

Twenty-seven shutouts were recorded during the year in the National. Pittsburgh got the whitewash 11 times, while the White Sox registered 16 ciphers at the end of their score.

Carl Mays of the Yankees led 1921 pitching ace, although Red Faber of the White Sox tied with him in victories, each having 27. Ed Rommel of the Athletics was the cellar pitching champ with 23 defeats. Smith of the Phillies had the greatest losing streak, when he dropped eight games in a row. Babe Adams sent the mercury up the other way when he won eight contests in a row.

Formation for a Run Around the Right End

By S. S. WILLAMAN
Coach, East Tech High School, Cleveland.

The right end run formation shown here is similar to the famous Georgia Tech shift.

It is especially strong for numbers 9 and 10 to plunge and number 11 to run the end and pass.

The important point to note on the line is that No. 1 goes through after the fullback. No. 2 comes around in the interference. The center, No. 3, goes after the guard and No. 4 blocks out the center. Nos. 5 and 6 take care of the guard and No. 7 the tackle.

The back field, Nos. 8, 9 and 10, forms the interference for the fullback, who receives the ball with a direct pass. The shift indicates to the defense that on this play the left tackle will take the ball, but it is passed directly to the fullback, who sweeps around right end.

WILLAMAN If either No. 5 or No. 6 is able to handle their man alone, then one of them can go through after the fullback.

ON THE OTHER HAND

"Tex Rickard is giving us a lot of new faces at the Garden this winter," says a line.

Take Bob Martin's face for instance after he fit Fay Kelsey.

"It must be pretty soft," writes H. R. B., "for these sportsmen who don't have anything but sport to think about all day long."

But is it? Are there any business men who are busier and more business like than Jack Dempsey, Alex Stirling, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Mollie Bjurstedt, Jim Barnes—and others too numerous to mention?

It may look like play for those who get only a smacking of the great outdoors now and then, but those who make it a business probably would call your job recreation. To those who make sport a business, play is work. They spend days of worry and study, and are always at a high nervous tension. That is expected of them.

Dempsey, Barnes, Ruth, Ty and the rest seldom smile when "on the job." Their minds are centered on their work. They have to deliver—and often that requires as much or more effort than the operation of a big business.

And now comes the season when baseball's stars go on the stage to show audiences what good baseball players they are.

WICHITA CLUB TO RESUME WEEKLY LUNCHEONS SOON

Plans for resumption of the weekly luncheons of the Wichita club, discontinued during the warm weather, were perfected Monday night at a get-together meeting of that organization. The first Wednesday luncheon will be held next week.

Officials of the Gulf Production company will be guests at the first luncheon, Mayor Cline being delegated to see that they attend. The invitation was extended at the instigation of J. W. Culbertson.

Although the report of the president, A. H. Britain, indicated improvement in the club's finances since the first of the year, it was decided to take steps to put the organization on a thorough solid financial footing, and a number of members agreed to extend $100 each, as loans to the club, for that purpose.

Speakers include: A. H. Britain, Mayor Cline, Fra. K. Kell, G. C. Wood and a number of impromptu talkers. A membership committee consisting of G. C. Wood, R. F. Johnson, Lamar Fain, P. M. Simmons and J. T. Harrell was named.

ROTARY GOVERNOR TO VISIT THIS CITY ON NEXT SATURDAY

George C. Holmgren of San Antonio, district governor of the Eighteenth (Texas) district of the International Rotary organization, will be the guest of the local Rotary club next Saturday.

As a result of his visit, the club will hold its weekly meeting at noon Saturday, instead of on Thursday, so that all members may hear the district governor. It is Mr. Holmgren's first visit here since being elected governor, and he has some interesting messages for the local club.

The Rotary official is visiting Panhandle clubs this week, being at Vernon Tuesday; later in the week he will be at Quanah, Childress, Amarillo and Lubbock, coming here from Amarillo Saturday. President Horace Robbins of the local club requests that all members make a special effort to attend Saturday's luncheon.

THOUSANDS WATCH PARADE MONDAY OF GENTRY BROS. SHOW

The familiar cry of the circus vanguard, "the elephants are coming," was heard in the business section Tuesday; a touch of South America, India and the Orient, all were seen in the parade staged by the Gentry Bros. Shows at noon.

There were camels from the sands of the Sahara, that might have been the original prohibition apostles; elephants that may have been in the Stanley exhibition; there were dozens of monkeys, possibly wishing they were bouncing coconuts in the Amazon forests, and there were a lot of smart looking dogs and ponies that apparently wanted to be no place but where they were; they were a contented looking gathering of canines and equines.

The paraphernalia was resplendent in vari-colored paint, with red and gold predominating, and a "harding blue" sallopie brought up the rear; bobbing, plumes were everywhere; human and animal clowns were profusely scattered along the line of march, and there was a plentitude of music, the ebbing strains of one section merging with the oncoming notes of the next.

On the show grounds, everything was in readiness for the first performance at 2:00 o'clock, with another exhibition scheduled for 8:00 o'clock at night.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION HAS MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Favored with a great pennant race, the American association had the best money year in its history, according to President Thomas Hickey. The attendance of 1,400,000 in 1920, a high water mark up to that time, has been exceeded, he says, though he does not give out the exact figures. Kansas City was the premier city when it came to drawing fans to home games.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The cotton market showed the effects of continued nervousness over the uncertainties of transportation and the opening was unchanged to 13 points lower under further liquidation and southern selling. A sharp early decline in Liverpool was attributed to disturbed financial conditions, but the English market recovered a part of its losses before the opening here, and there was a good deal of covering around the local ring. Combined with trade buying and rebuying by some of the sold out longs, this absorbed the early offerings and sent prices about 2 to 2 1/2 points net higher on the more active positions, with December selling up from 15.25 to 15.50. October was relatively easy owing to a few notices, but rallied with the rest of the list and reports that there was to be a conference on the railroad situation in Chicago on Thursday seemed to create a rather more optimistic feeling over the outlook.

the general list. Houses with Japanese connections were sellers of the winter months at these figures and business became less active around midday, but the tone of the market was steady at reactions of 8 or 10 points from this best. There was considerable selling against buying in Liverpool during the first half hour but the volume of speculative liquidation was much smaller than was yesterday and after the first half hour there was no selling here for southern account.

Rumors of the fall of the German cabinet gave the market an easy tone again and a rapid decline set in which carried prices to new low levels for the day, 11 to 22 points under the close of yesterday. January trading down to 17.51 and March to 17.35. At 1:30 o'clock the market was easy with prices at nearly the bottom with much liquidation selling from early buyers. Cotton closed easier at net decline of 23 to 42 points.

As the demand tapered off early in the noon hour offerings were increased and prices made new low ground for the movement under renewed liquidation and local southern selling. There was no special factor connected with the decline which carried December off to 18.23 and January to 18.01, or 11 points net lower, but there was a report of probable large spinning figures and nervousness was increased by the weakness of wheat.

Cotton closed weak.

New Orleans Cotton. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—The poor showing of the Liverpool market put the price of cotton 20 to 21 points lower in the first few minutes of the session today, but almost immediately good support was met, coming from traders who took the view that there would be no railroad strike in this country. At the end of the first half hour of business, the tone was very steady and the trading minutes 26 to 29 points higher than the close of yesterday. December first fell off to 17.50 and then reacted to 18.04.

Rumors that the railroad strike was in a fair way to be postponed indefinitely caused buying and the demand was further increased by cable messages from Liverpool saying that trade interests were absorbing all offerings in the contract market. Prices advanced to levels 41 to 45 points higher than the finals of Saturday which carried December up to 18.23. At noon the market developed a soft tone on claims of less spot demand in American markets and the net gains were pared down 3 to 11 points.

The later cables from Liverpool showed decided strength and the decline here extended to 18.69 for December and 18.45 for January, or about 15 to 20 points net higher on North Texas Gas Company Desires the Cooperation of Its Patrons. It is very difficult and in some cases impossible for us to give the best of service without your assistance. We, therefore, request that you advise our office of any defects in your service, in order that so much of the complaint as may be found to be due to local conditions may be repaired as soon as possible. We are dependent upon the Lone Star Gas Company for an adequate supply of gas delivered at a sufficient pressure to meet your requirements, but we have the assurance of that company, under date of October 6th., that in their opinion there will be an ample supply of gas available for distribution to meet the requirements of both domestic and industrial consumers for the period from October 15, 1921 to November 15, 1922. Our contracts with this company and the injunction granted by the district court of Dallas county gives us the right to expect that the consumers of the North Texas Company will receive their proportionate share of this gas at sufficient pressure to meet their requirements. And we will appreciate any constructive criticism of conditions existing in the local plant, in order that any shortage which may occur during the coming winter may not be attributed to defects in the local plant. # ILLUMINATION OF DOWNTOWN ALLEYS ORDERED BY CHIEF

The illumination at night of all alley-ways in the business district of the city and tearing out of a number of fences and old sheds in the rear of local stores was announced Tuesday by Police Commissioner Fitts as the next step in his program for holding crime in Wichita Falls to a minimum.

Believing that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" the commissioner has ordered the installation of electric lights in all the downtown alleys, and he will shortly issue instructions calling for the removal of the obsolete fences and sheds. It would, in his opinion, offer hiding places for thieves working at night.

Commissioner Fitts and Judge W. N. Bonner, commissioner of public utilities, made a survey of the alleys Monday night, following which the decision to install lights was reached. Fitts was authorized by the city council some time ago to take any steps he deemed necessary for the protection of the city against criminals.

When the new electric lights are in operation all alley-ways will be brightly illuminated at night. Fitts avers, making it a difficult task for anyone to work at the rear of a store without being seen. The fence proposition is one which has needed attention for a long time and this will now be remedied.

Several business houses have fenced in their property abutting on alleys and some have, at one time or another, erected small sheds or store rooms, all of which would afford hiding places for a burglar, according to Fitts. With the tearing out of the way and with the lights burning no alley would afford a safe working place for a crook.

CALOMEL MAY TURN ON YOU NEXT TIME

Next Does You Take May Salivate and Start a World of Trouble

Calomel is mercury, quicksilver. It creases into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system. It is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than any other calomel, without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day. It laces you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—(Adv.)

TIMES ROUTE CARRIER WINS RANGER BICYCLE

Gilbert Seal, age 13, 509 Cowan street, who carries a Times route, is another youngster who is proud of his Ranger "Motorbike" model. Gilbert has carried a Times route for some time, so when the bicycle offer was made by the Times he set to work to secure one. Not only was he successful in winning a wheel, but his route was increased to such an extent that it had to be divided. There are plenty of other boys and girls in Wichita Falls that can do what this young man has done if they will but try. There is no better time to start than right now. All those who enter before Nov. 1 will be allowed further time to secure the required number of subscriptions as our contract with the Mead Cycle company permits us to dispose of 100 Rangers in this campaign, so you will see that there are still plenty left for every one who is not averse to putting a little time and work in to get the proposition. Come in and let the bicycle manager explain the offer to you in detail.

The Eastern Star local chapter will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The worthy matron requests that all officers be present as there is important business to be attended to.

PLENTY OF AMUSEMENTS FOR WICHITANS THESE DAYS—2 PLAY HOUSES REOPEN MONDAY NIGHT

The lid on winter amusements in Wichita Falls flew off with a bang Monday evening when the Wichita and Palace theaters opened their doors to the public. The Wichita, showing the Duns Hill and George Evans "Honey Boy Minstrels" was packed to the doors and standing room was at a premium before the curtain went up, while the Palace offering Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers" was comfortably filled.

Monday's shows started off what will probably be the busiest 10-day period that the local theatrical world has experienced in a long time. The Gentry Bros. circus is scheduled to exhibit this afternoon and evening, Tuesday and Wednesday nights the Shrine's "Oh Joy" musical revue will be given at the Wichita theater on Friday and Saturday will bring the Business Women's presentation of "Springtime" at the same place.

"The Three Musketeers" will run the remainder of this week at the Palace and next Monday Wallace Reid in "The Affairs of Anatol" opens a six-day stand. At the same time the Gene Lewis-Olga Worth stock company starts an eight-week engagement at the Wichita.

Add to this the fact that five other movie houses showing the standard run of pictures will be in operation and it seems that Wichita Falls will have a sufficient quantity of amusements for the time being at least.
The Honey Boy Minstrels at the Wichita Monday night turned out to be a fair group of entertainers and those who sat through the performance were treated to some average humor, better dancing and best music. Some of the vocalists were class A, this being especially true of Hugh Angelo, a tenor, and Percy Meninger, a baritone. Their songs stood out as the high lights of the evening's entertainment. "Chief comedian honors go" to Bob Tenney, "The Cuckoo Gob" and Nick Glynn, who gave some novel entertainment with his "Sweet Patootie". The rest of the comedy was not especially howl-far did it bring out anything worthy of mention. Scotty Weston, a soft shoe dancer, got a big hand at the conclusion of his act and deserved all the applause.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL MEETING NOW IN PROGRESS

The revival meetings at the First Christian church are starting off with a great deal of interest. Good audiences have been present, and already six have come forward to identify themselves with the church. Evangelist James T. McKisack is expected to be present Tuesday night and will begin his leadership of the meetings in earnest.

Mr. McKisack is a man of wide experience, great practical ability, proven Christian character, a university man, says an announcement, "and his messages will stimulate the thought and help all who desire secure a sane and sure conception of life. Mr. Keevil, the minister, recommends him unhesitatingly as a man to be listened to."

"The singing under the choir leader, Dr. L. D. Parnell, is doing some of the best work in its history. It is planned to fill up both platforms and have singing such as has scarcely been heard in this city. The minister and congregation urge all members and friends to attend tonight without fail."
A special feature of these meetings is that the town has been divided into districts, automobiles being provided to bring all who desire to attend, but who are unable to come otherwise.

Mr. M. Mashburn is chairman of the automobile committee with 10 captains under him and they are listing every available machine for this service. This promises to be one of the most unique features of this entire campaign.

W. D. CLINE

Walter Cline's courtship of his present wife began in real earnest when he was six years old...

"I should say so," was the old man's reply. "I hadn't see him for thirty years until last summer when he and Martin Howe were traveling through the country and after seeing no stopped and backed up to where I was standing and Walter asked me if I was not John Kirby. If I didn't take me a minute to recognize that he longed to the Cline clan and guess that he just be little fat Walter, whom I had not seen, as I remarked, for thirty years."

"Fat?" we asked, we meaning the cub reporter. "Why, I should say he was. Before he learned how to walk, he was so fat that when they stood him upright with the heels of his feet touching the floor, his toes could not touch bottom."

"Tell us something about Walter's younger experiences. Was he a good boy, was he lazy, did he know how to milk, could he plow?" And we fired at him ten or fifteen questions in rapid succession.

By this time our newly made friend, old man Kirby, and I had become warmed by the inaudible effects of the ice cream soda and as the old man held up his hand urging me to cease firing, and allowing his thoughts to travel into the past, we knew that he was thinking of the many interesting details of the boy's history and we felt proud that we, with the assistance of the warming liquid we had so joyously drunk together, had cottoned up to the old man successfully that he was about to unburden himself of many secrets of his past.

Without enumerating the question and replies, he gave us the following facts about Walter Cline's early life. He was born in St. Helena parish, Louisiana, in a dirt floor. One of his first attainments was to learn the art of extracting the proverbial liquid food from the oft-spoken of cow. A few nondescript pieces, some cross-bred chickens, and the frogs, fish and birds took up most of his time when he was not paying assiduous court to his now wife, from the age of four until he reached his teens.

As a lad he proved himself proficient in splitting rails, cutting cord-wood, doing chores around the house, and plowing in the field, although he displayed decided antipathy toward breaking new ground, giving as his explanation the fact that this particular kind of outdoor sport was too hard on the shins. There were two evidences of the fact that the providential eye watched over him and saw to it that his life was spared for future years of usefulness. Once when a kid, he and some of the neighborhood boys improvised a swing or hammock made of plow lines and ropes, attaching one to a fence and the other to a wooden horse which was used as the stand for a large grindstone. Several of the boys were on the swing when Walter augged his small weight at the end nearest the grindstone. He proved just exactly one too many for the wooden horse and it started tipping over at such an angle that he seemed due to be ground into grease by the heavy grindstone. His older brother, who was standing nearby, saved his life by jumping in and delaying the fall of the grindstone, by putting his shoulder under the descending weight.

In the early days of Walter Cline's life he did not enjoy the conveniences and luxuries that now are his. Had it not been for the inherent ambition, and the industry in his make-up which made it possible for him to strive always toward the realization of his ambition, his schooling would have been very meagre. In order to secure his education, he worked his way through school, doing carpenter repair work in the summer months on fences, porches and so on, while during the school term he waited on tables.

In 1902 he emigrated to Houston, between the years of 1910 and 1913 he lived in the Rio Grande valley. 1913 found him moved to Burkburnett, and in 1917 he came to Wichita Falls, in which place he expects to spend the rest of his days. Walter Cline is a man's man. His love for hunting and fishing were born in him; his interest in the playing of games was developed during his school days.

John Kirby, the old timer from St. Helena parish mentioned particularly the fact that during his short visit in Walter's office he noticed various classes of men who called, some to confer on business matters, others to ask counsel, and advice, and many to ask his aid.

Mr. Kirby brought out vividly the appeal to the romantic and long sustained courtship that preceded his successful wooing of Ella Pipes, now his wife. The happiness of Walter's home life was cited as proof in favor of long acquaintance before marriage. The other incident where Walter's life was saved was on the occasion when, as a little shaver, he was crossing a bridge over a muddy pool of water and slipped overboard. Will Hayes, a man who was working for Walter's father at the time, reached him and pulled him out after he had gone down the second time. After Walter had grown up, not a long time ago, in fact—he was visiting with an old school friend of his, Reverend Sutton, who was chaplain of a certain penitentiary. He was told of an inmate there who had been sent to the pen for having carved several pounds of avodupoles from a negro, and that this prisoner claimed to have once saved the life of Mr. Walter Cline, mayor of Wichita Falls, President of Maskat Temple, president of the Louisiana and Texas division of the Midcontinent Oil & Gas association, prominent member in business, social and Masonic circles in Texas.

Upon investigation, he found that the prisoner was none other than Will Hayes, the man who had pulled him out of the mud hole before he went down the third and last time. If Will Hayes has lived through the months succeeding that meeting, and has sharpened his knife no more upon the anatomy of a human being, he still enjoys the life of freedom which began shortly after this meeting, as a result of a pardon obtained through the efforts of some unnamed friend.

LEWIS L. LACEY

Ladies and gentlemen, tomorrow night glance down into the orchestra pit and you will see the figure of our sometime sworn by, but always sworn at director, Mr. Lewis L. Lacey, blonde, beautiful, and benign, who through his machinations has contrived to give us what General Sherman said was during many a night of "Let's go—More volume—Louder" while we labored in agonies of sound that rent the air nightly, in the ballroom of the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Lewis L. Lacey has not always been a director of theatricals, ah, no! Years ago the boys around his home town of Austin kidded him into believing that the theatrical world of comedy was his for the asking, and he believed them to the extent that he left his home and mother, and became what is commonly known as a blackface comedian. But, after months of struggle upward (?) General Pershing asked the boys to get together, as there was something to be attempted to over Yonder, so Law, along with several others, crossed the brine, as a member of the Rainbow division, and after a stay of some twenty-two months among the natives and things that crawl, he decided that too much was enough, and he returned. But that's getting ahead of our story.

Lew was born in the fair city of San Antonio some twenty-seven years ago, and was moved to Austin about four years later. Since that time, on account of the prominence (?) of the celebrity in question, the two cities have never been able to satisfactorily settle the question of which town he came from, San Antonio claiming that it was Austin, and Austin, not to be outdone in civic pride, immediately claiming that San Antonio should not take all the blame.

Lewis' middle name, represented by the mysterious "L", has long been of a doubtful quality, even the boy himself being unable to decide which would sound better, Lawrence or Lorenzo, as becoming one of the profession. But like Shakespeare said: "Let chance what may, I love you for your breath," we all like our director and we are sure that he has trained us, in the best show that ever hit our Wichita.

Girls, if by any chance you like this style of slick headed beauty, he is unmarried, and always has been. Let your consciences guide you at all things for it looks like he has a good future, not saying anything about his past. Amen.

It is also a fact that he had other proclivities besides stulteness, as was evidenced on the occasion of his dropping a hot stone down one of his playmates back making an unfortunate choice of the time of the joke and of the object of the joke. His school teacher seemed to see nothing funny about the episode.

The story is still told in Jefferson county that "Stubborn" Stanley, who is now living in the mansion at 1800 Ross, president of a bank, vice president of the Maskat Patrol, and a man of large oil interests—yes, the story still goes the rounds about how this boy, after the hot stone episode, did not join the family circle at meal time for several days. From personal choice he ate his rations from the mantle piece.

Mr. Harvey was born in Centerville, Iowa, but spent his early years in El Reno, Oklahoma. He moved to Seymour with his wife in 1908 and came to Wichita Falls nine years ago. He attributes his interest in baseball to the fact that when he was a boy he was perhaps the rottenest ball player in the state of Oklahoma. Although today finds him the owner of the business R. O. Harvey & Co., president of the Wichita Falls Baseball association, vice president of the City National Bank of Commerce, and president of the Kemp Hotel company and president of the Maskat Patrol, he considers his best accomplishment the raising of four boys, a job which is still taking up a lot of his time. It seems that his keenest ambition is to live long enough to see each one of these four boys trot the hot sands of the desert. Although checking messages over the wire he has praised:

J. I. STALEY

J. I. Staley was at one time the champion benjo picker of Jefferson county, Texas. Men and women, boys and girls came from miles and miles around to listen to him as he played his art.

It is a sad fact that since he has become so busy taking care of his large interests he has let this accomplishment go by the board, and has recently been known to blush when questioned about his lost art. It is not meant to leave the impression that in his early days he played in all the whole district, and has recently been known to blush when questioned about his lost art. It is not meant to leave the impression that in his early days he played in all the whole district, and has recently been known to blush when questioned about his lost art.

R. O. HARVEY

When R. O. Harvey was a kid in El Reno, Oklahoma he earned his spending money by delivering Western Union Messages. There was one man in particular who endeared himself to Ralph by slipping him some extra coins when a message was delivered. This man was in the cotton business, representing large buyers and exporters of Fort Worth, and is a man with whom R. O. Harvey does business today, on quite a different scale.

There is another angle to the acquaintanceship made in El Reno that is unusual. Twenty years after R. O. Harvey delivered messages Mr. and Mrs. Harvey were in Paris, France, going through the Louvre. There they met this same man who had been generous with his tips, going through the Louvre at the same time. Both R. O. and this friend of twenty years earlier were with their wives, and have since grown to be very dear friends.

To his experience as telegraph operator R. O. owes more than to any other one activity in his past life. While checking messages over the wire he has praised:

that had to do with cotton in all its ramifications he got the foundation for the knowledge that is now used to such success in his business.

Theatregoers to Have Real Treat. Shriners to Do Something Different

It has often been said that there was a wide gap between the popular conception of the ordinary home talent show and productions such as one sees produced by theatrical men like A. H. Woods, David Belasco, Flo Ziegfeld and others, and no attempt has ever been made to directly compare the two, since they are so widely different and fill so different a place in the minds of the public. "But," points out Horace Robbins, captain of Maskat Patrol, "if we could persuade one of the producers to bring one of their shows to our city, in which our best talent would be cast for parts, wouldn't we have a production that would create a different impression and possibly fill this ever empty gap?"

"At least all the members of the cast of the 'Revue' think so, and they claim that all that will be necessary to convince any chance doubting 'Thomas' will be his presence at either of the three performances at the Wichita Theatre on Oct. 18 and 19, and these people who have parts are sure that the show which they will offer to the public, under the direction of MacCormack Productions Co., fills all the vacancy that has ever been thought of by the much abused audience which has so often sat through both extremes in performance. A combination of the two extremes, a big town production with specialty acts, gaudy costumes and lighting effects, that will rival many of the Broadway shows, and a cast picked from the best talent in the city, will all go to make this effort of the talent and band the biggest success ever."

Reserved seats are selling fast, and the sale will be continued today at the box office of the Wichita Theatre. Those desiring seats are requested to come early, for the rush of yesterday is expected to be repeated today.

The caption of this sketch is the salutation between Shriners, and in plain English means "Peace be unto you," which explains why Shriners have the spirit of fraternity to such a pronounced degree. No where on earth is there such an organization with the true spirit of democracy and where one Shriner is just as good as another—where dress and aristocracy count as nothing. It is a known fact that the lessons taught its initiates were the most convincing and lasting and of greater single value than any lesson taught in any degree of Masonry from the Entered Apprentice to the third and last degree. When members are taught that justice is on our escutcheon, that virtue must be regarded as the price less worth, and morality observed,

Where Suns Are Bunched

IN THE constellation Hercules is an object that looks like a hazy star. Not until very recent years was it supposed to be anything else. As revealed by the new high-power telescopes, however, it is a congeries of suns.

The distance of this cluster of suns is so great that a ray of light, traveling 186,000 miles a second, would require 360 centuries to reach us. In other words, as we may view it tonight, we behold it as it was 36,000 years ago—a date since which mankind has emerged from the cave-dwelling period, acquired the use of tools and developed all of his successive civilizations.

The cluster is not even a part of our universe, properly speaking—that is to say, of what we call the Milky Way. It is a distinct and isolated system. At least 36,000 of the suns contained in it are individually brighter than our own sun, and the most brilliant of them exceed in light-giving power 1000 suns like ours.

The distance of the cluster from the earth is about 200,000,000,000,000 miles. It seems to be egg-shaped and may rotate about its shorter axis. Observations have proved that it is moving directly toward us at a speed of something like 200 miles a second.

The Gazing Bowl

IN FORMER days a method of divination often practiced by magicians was to pour a little puddle of ink into the palm of a person's hand, the bright surface thereof showing reflections which gave information of things that were going to happen, or else of occurrences actually taking place at a great distance.

An important improvement on this idea is a "gazing bowl," which has been patented by Leo M. Anderson, of New York. It is built to yield valuable results when used in connection with the ouija board.

The bowl is broad and shallow, preferably made of copper or brass, and lined with glass. The metal beneath the glass, however, has a variegated coloring, bestowed by treatment with an acid.

For use, the vessel is filled with water, its interior brightness helping to render the surface of the fluid brilliant with varying reflections.

Seeking visions, the user concentrates his gaze upon the surface and waits. If he has a proper faith, they are sure to come.

A Boat for Bathers

A NEW contrivance for the amusement of bathers is the invention of a Brooklyn man, John Sebetco.

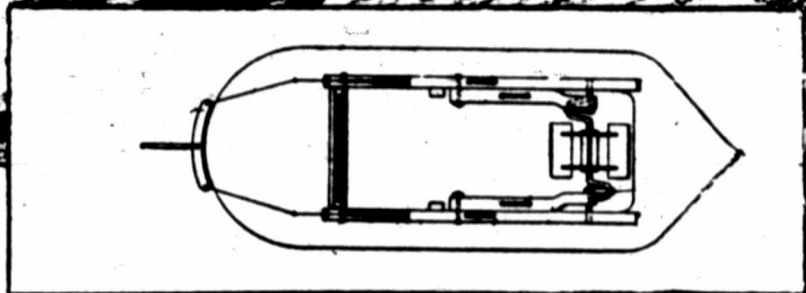

It is a boat-shaped float, provided with water-tight compartments at both ends to give it plenty of buoyancy. In the middle of it is a rectangular opening or well, inside of which the person using it can walk while carrying the float to the water or back again, hand-grips being provided for the purpose.

When the boat is afloat a seat is folded down at the back of the well. The bather sits down, and with his hands operates a couple of levers which cause a water wheel in front of him to revolve.

By this means he is able to propel the float, while he steers it with his elbows, which control slide-rods connected with lines governing a rudder behind.

Artificial Weather Tests

IN THE great laboratory at Madison, Wis., maintained by the United States Forest Service for woodworking experiments a special study has recently been made of the effects of various climatic conditions upon airplane propellers.

In one room, by regulation of warmth and moisture, the climatic conditions of Southern Texas or arid Egypt were reproduced. It was found that propellers subjected to these conditions had a tendency to dry out, flatten and become unbalanced.

In another room the climate of the Ama-son Valley was imitated. This caused propellers to warp badly and to change their shape so much as to become totally unfit for use.

It was found that a coat of aluminum leaf did best service as a waterproof covering for propellers, which, when thus protected, may be exposed to a high humidity for a long time without warping. Leaf aluminum is so thin that from 10,000 to 12,000 layers of it are required to make an inch in thickness. One pound will cover 1170 propellers, at a cost of sixty-six cents.

A Mask for the Batter

IN THE noble game of baseball serious injuries are sometimes inflicted by pitched balls. Discharged from so small a distance with tremendous velocity and deceptively curved, they are not always easy for the batter to dodge. Once in a while a man is killed. There is even such a thing known in the game as a "bean ball," which is thrown with the deliberate intention of hitting the batter's head or coming near enough thereto to frighten him and "get his goat."

To provide against such dangers, Herman H. Pohlmann, of St. Louis, has invented what he calls a "side mask," which is meant to be worn by the batter not in front of his face but to protect the side of his head that is turned toward the pitcher. It is a framework of strong wire, which is secured around the upper part of his head by an elastic band and fastened about the lower part by a strap and buckle. The frame carries four pads which, when the device is adjusted, are brought into firm contact with his forehead, the upper part of his head at the back, his cheek and the part of his head just behind and below the ear.

Thus protected, he has nothing to fear from a pitched ball, while the arrangement of the wire is such that there is no obstruction to his sight. Inasmuch as the "side mask" can be put on or taken off at a moment's notice, one will serve for all the members of a ball team. A left-handed batter, of course, would wear it on the right side of his head.

Keep Your Spool Handy

FOR the woman who sews it would be very convenient to have a spool of thread attached to her wrist in such a way that she can draw upon it as she needs it. A contrivance newly patented by John W. Oliver, of New York City, seems to meet the requirement admirably. It is simple, the spool revolving on a little rod set between two upright plates which are erected upon a clamp that may be sprung over the wrist, holding the affair securely. The thread passes from the spool through a tubular channel just big enough to allow for an easy pull, while offering friction enough to prevent the thread from unreeing too fast. Thus snarling is avoided. The spool, upheld above the wrist in the way described, does not interfere with the movements of the hand. The device, being made of aluminum, weighs almost nothing, and it may be put on or taken off in an instant. The device, its inventor claims, will prove a great convenience.

Where "Potheen" Is Brewed

EFFORTS on the part of the British Government to suppress illicit distilling in Ireland have always met with determined resistance.

What we call "moonshine" whisky is "mountain dew" in the Emerald Isle, or, as it is otherwise called, "potheen"—the latter word meaning a little pot. A century ago it was estimated that there were in Ireland at least 150,000 illicit stills regularly at work. Mostly they were hidden in mountain glens and other secluded places, and the Government was powerless to suppress the industry. The neighborhood of Innishowen was famous for its "potheen," which was of so superior a quality that the British authorities sought, though vainly, to induce the licensed distilleries to make whisky equal to it. The Innishowen liquor had a peculiar smoky flavor (from the peat used for fuel) which was much liked by connoisseurs.

A curious point here concerned was that the makers of illicit whisky could afford to produce a better article than the licensed distilleries could profitably manufacture, inasmuch as they had no overhead expense to meet, furnished their own labor and used the grain they grew themselves.

Tapestry Forests

THE Hawaiian Islands were thrown up ages ago from enormous volcanic chimneys that opened in the Pacific floor. Even to this day the eruption has not ceased. The mountains of the archipelago, with the passage of a great length of time, have been weirdly worn by torrential rains, so as to present to the view fantastically carved canyons and gorges, flanked in many places by almost vertical cliffs.

Upon the faces of these cliffs flourishes a ceaseless growth of "tapestry forest," as it has been called, composed of many species of trees strangely dwarfed in order to enable them to cling, supplemented by a shrubby undergrowth and woven into a continuous mantle. The soil on the cliff faces is necessarily thin, and, to save themselves from being blown off, the trees develop an intricate system of anchoring and bracing roots, forming in many a steep place natural ladders up which the natives climb.

The tapestry growth is saturated with water like a sponge, the rainfall in the parts of the islands where it flourishes being extraordinary. To the eye, with its variations of gray-green, yellow-green, olive-green, silver-green and scores of indefinable shades, it has a rich, mottled, velvety effect, as if of a wondrous woven drapery. Now and then landslides occur, making great rents in the drapery, which are slow to heal. The repair work begins with grasses; other humble plants follow and eventually, when enough soil is available, trees sprout and establish themselves.

Eggs Boiled in Oil

A NEW method of sterilizing eggs, as a preliminary to cold storage, consists in immersing them for five seconds in an oil solution at 250 degrees Fahrenheit. This brief exposure to a heat considerably above the boiling point of water is sufficient to kill not only whatever bacteria the eggs may contain, but also the vital principle in those of them that are fertile.

Electrical machinery does the work. It is claimed that the eggs are in no way injured by the treatment and, when afterward put into cold storage they retain their freshness much longer.

Tomato Wastes

TOMATO pulp, for catsups, pastes and soups, is obtained in the requisite pure state by putting the tomatoes into what is called a "cyclone machine," the material being forced through small holes in a metal screen to get rid of the skins and seeds.

No fewer than 225,000 tons of tomatoes are pulped annually in this country, the skins and seeds being thrown away. It is a lamentable waste, inasmuch as the seeds yield an excellent salad oil, which is also first-rate for paints and varnishes, being a quick drier. The residue from the oil press, mixed with the skins, makes a highly nutritious stock feed.

An Electric Toothbrush

WHY bother to agitate a toothbrush when electricity will do the scrubbing for you?

The electric toothbrush is a new idea, originated by Louis A. Gable, of Harrisburg, Pa. A motor runs it; the brush, attached to a cord, revolves. Buzz-z-z! It finds its way into every cranny, with a rather agreeable sensation to the gums, and in a minute your molars, incisors, bicuspids, etc., are clean as the proverbial whistle.

Bats to Get 'Skeeters

THE breeding of bats to kill off malaria-carrying mosquitoes has of late been seriously advocated.

Not long ago the Carnegie Institution said: "Bats devour large numbers of mosquitoes. Flying at dusk and after dark, and capturing all night-flying insects on the wing, they are important mosquito-destroying animals."

The mosquitoes that carry malaria are night-fliers. Hence the idea might seem a good one.

It was with this object in view that a "battery"—in other words, a bat roost—was built on the experimental farm of the Department of Agriculture six miles south of San Antonio, Tex. Another was established at Mitchell Lake, not far from the same neighborhood, which is an attractive body of fluid formed by sewage from San Antonio, its margins offering excellent breeding places for "skeeters."

These structures are about thirty feet high, upheld on posts, with slanting walls, a projecting roof slightly elevated to allow the bats to pass in and out, and an additional entry space running all the way down one side, with boards slanting upward so as to exclude light to some extent while admitting the winged tenants.

A bat roost near San Antonio, where the Department of Agriculture is trying to breed these enemies of the deadly malaria mosquito and other pests.

The roosts soon acquired occupants—about 9000 in the case of the battery at Mitchell Lake, which was built to accommodate 250,000—and, so far as that went, they were a success. Mexican families residing in their neighborhood have made sworn statements to the effect that the prevalence of malaria has been much less since the roosts were erected.

At Uvalde and along the foothills north of that town are numerous limestone caves which literally swarm with bats. One of these rocky hollows of large size, known as the Frio bat cave, furnishes quarters for millions of them, their droppings, a rich guano, being gathered and hauled away in carts once or twice a year. Yet, on a recent occasion, men camping on the spot for this purpose suffered a veritable plague of mosquitoes, which, as it was finally ascertained, had been introduced by the bats.

To Save Motorists' Eyes

MOTORISTS will welcome a new and very simple little device intended to overcome the glare from glaring headlights on approaching cars. This is the "glare guard," which consists of a small sheet of blue-tinted glass clamped to the wind screen. It can be instantly thrown in or out of the driver's line of vision.

Glue Made From Blood

A NEW kind of glue, very valuable to cabinetmakers and for various other purposes, is made of dried blood albumin. It is a dark crystalline substance, and, with the addition of simple chemicals, furnishes the most waterproof glue known. It is used for airplane parts and "plywood"—the latter term relating to articles which are made by gluing pieces of wood together.

Plywood is a great economy, rendering practicable the utilization of small stuff which used commonly to be thrown away, and thereby saving large-size material.

A new and ingenious method of applying the glue for this purpose has been developed by the Forest Service. Through a trough of glue solution are drawn broad strips of tissue paper, which, being thus saturated, are then dried. A layer of this tissue paper is placed between two pieces of wood, and heat is applied with pressure, the result being a joining that is actually stronger than the wood itself. The glue-paper is always ready for use, and it will keep fresh for a long time.

New Canned Food

A NEWLY patented kind of food, put up ready for the housewife's instant use, is prepared by mixing fine-chopped meat with milk and a little flour. The paste thus formed is filled into molds and exposed to heat, whereby the contents undergo slight shrinkage and acquire a sort of "skin." The molded masses are thus easily dropped out, to be therewith put into cans, which are sterilized and sealed.

A House of Cards

A PHILADELPHIA inventor, Hobart De Lancy Rapson, has patented a cardboard doll's house which ought to meet the demands of the most luxury-loving nursery tenants.

One advantage it has is that it is collapsible. Another is that its rooms open back and front (with no front or rear walls), so that children may move the dolls and their furniture freely about. Doors, of course, connect the rooms.

In these days ready-made dwellings for grown-ups are rather in vogue. They are delivered in such shape as to be put up off-hand. No trouble with builders, and the intending occupants simply move in. A similar advantage, for nursery purposes, is claimed for the cardboard doll houses.

The latter are made in sections stapled together in such wise that they may be folded flat for transportation, yet the structure when erected is virtually all in one piece.

The surfaces of the various sections are printed in colors to represent roofing, outside masonry work and windows, wall and ceiling decoration for the interior, and even rugs. The doll's house looks half furnished before the toy furniture is put into it.

A square aperture in the roof provides for the insertion of a chimney, which, while contributing domiciliary verticality, helps to give rigidity to the building. Hinged to the end walls, outside, are pieces representing gate and fence structures, with foliage.

The house has a peaked roof, which provides an attic, an additional attraction.

Soon you will have an efficient rotary toothbrush that runs by electricity and really cleanses the enamel and thus preserves the teeth.
