

THE MOST MARVELOUS GIRL IN THE WORLD

W. E. A. Service.
JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 11.—The most marvelous girl in the world is just beginning to do marvels for other girls and for boys.
 She is Willetta Huggins, whose eyes are blind and whose ears are deaf, but who sees by smelling and hears by feeling.

Willetta is 16 and an inmate of the Wisconsin School for the Blind here.

Before Willetta became totally blind and deaf she was far from a marvel; frankly, her teachers thought her stupid and indolent.

Often they lost patience with her, they just couldn't get things through her head. At 10 years of age she had got only so far as the second grade and was really a problem for her grandmother, who was wearing her with her two sisters and one brother.

Absentees Found.
 Then a teacher, a little more inclined to investigation than the others, found by some simple tests that Willetta couldn't see well or hear well. She was brought to the attention of a field agent for the school for the blind, who took her to the institution.

For several years, despite the most sympathetic attention and scientific methods of the officials and teachers at the school, Willetta didn't improve much. Her disposition, if anything, grew worse.

Two years ago she became deaf; a year ago she became blind. For a week she was more morose, if anything, than before. Then one day suddenly came an awakening—the result of her sudden perception of her powers of smelling and feeling.

Excels Helen Keller.
 Today Willetta Huggins, through the development of her powers of smelling and feeling, has become more marvelous than even Helen Keller.

"Maybe it is the gift of God in return for the loss of my sight and hearing," is Willetta's only explanation.

Some have been skeptical. They thought the girl still had some powers of vision. To convince them she was given yarn of six colors, in six separate envelopes, and locked in a bank vault at Chippewa Falls. In this blindness she opened the envelopes, smelled the yarn, wrote the color of each strand on an envelope, and put the yarn of that color in its respective envelope. When the vault was opened it was found she had made no mistake.

Hears by Feeling.
 She can hear by feeling vibrations. If she talks over the telephone, she merely places the tip of her finger on the receiver diaphragm. If she is listening to someone converse, she rests her finger lightly on the person's throat, shoulder or chest.

So acute is her sense of hearing by feeling, that she can tell what Superintendent J. T. Hooper of the school is saying by standing 10 feet from him, and taking hold of the end of a wooden pole, the other end of which he rests on the top of his head.

Willetta recently visited Governor John J. Blaine at the state capitol at Madison. She listened to him by placing her fingers on his shoulder, and she easily told the color of his coat by smelling it.

Tells Size of Bills.
 Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, said to Willetta:

"Can you tell the denominations of bills?"

"Surely," she said.

He tested her with $1, $2, $5 and $10 greenbacks. She identified each.

"How do you do it?" he marveled.

"By feeling the numerals," she said.

She tells the number of persons in a room by her sense of smell. A cat entered a room noiselessly. "Who is the cat in?" she inquired, immediately "I smell it!"

She told Governor Blaine: "I am more happy without my vision and hearing than I was before. I guess it's because I understand better, by smelling and feeling—and so I make others understand me better."

Superintendent's Plan.
 But Superintendent Hooper of the school sees a far-reaching lesson in all this. Briefly, it is:

"Willetta was miserable for years because she was misunderstood. She was being forced to use her senses of seeing and hearing, which were quite deficient, while the proper thing would have been to develop her senses of smelling and feeling which were quite extraordinary. There is such a balance in every one. So now, with Willetta's aid, we are trying to work out a system which will enable us to understand this balance, and to give to the world advantage of it for the training of other children."

IOWA PARK GIRL HIT BY CAR AND LEG BROKEN

IOWA PARK, TEXAS, Nov. 11.—While on her way to school Thursday morning, Miss Letta Gosd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Gosd, living near here, started to cross the concrete road at the edge of town and stepped out from behind a truck to be struck by the bumper on the car of L. N. Lockridge. The car was not moving very fast, but the leg was hard enough to knock her down and broke her left leg just below the knee. She also received some other injuries, but it is not known whether or not she will be very serious or not.

BIG CELEBRATION AND TRADES DAY SATURDAY, NOV. 13

IOWA PARK, TEXAS, Nov. 11.—Arrangements are being made for a big day Saturday, the 13th, for a big celebration and trades day. About $150 in cash prizes are to be given away on foot races, horse races and other contests during the day. The trades day of last month was such a success that the business people decided to enlarge and make the November event a real celebration. Many horses will be entered as it will be a free-for-all affair on the horse races as well as the foot races and other athletics. Each merchant is planning and advertising to give special bargains on a few items on that date.

BRITISH DO NOT PROVE IN FILM THEY WON AT JUTLAND

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The film version of the Battle of Jutland has arrived in America. It presents a nice lesson for the deliberators on armaments who are meeting at Washington.

In 45 minutes one sees how millions of dollars of property representing years of human endeavor went down to the bottom of the sea.

One sees, too, how the men who manned those vessels, Germans and English, humans all, died in the hellish blast of war like trapped rats are drowned.

Imagination is needed to make the film that realistic, for the battle is re-enacted with miniature ships, with glimpses of battleships in action interlarded occasionally to help the imagination.

Three years were spent in filming the re-enactment of the battle. Losses of both German and English vessels were studied to get the true maneuvers of Admirals Jellicoe, Beatty, Scheer and Hipper.

This writer knows little about military strategy beyond the squad movements and the best tactics for getting a place at the head of the mess line. However, it appeared to him that if Admiral Beatty and his six cruisers hadn't been on the job, Admiral Jellicoe and the entire English fleet would have been wiped from the face of the sea.

And if a battle can be won decisively, the Germans won the Battle of Jutland as the English film depicts it.

The English attacked. The Germans retreated to their mine fields with less loss than that suffered by Jellicoe's fleet.

This film is of especial interest to minds which respond to the intricacies of chess and checkers.

This writer saw the picture within an hour after its arrival in America. It will be generally repeated within several weeks by Educational.

Investors in wildcat motion picture stock and production schemes lost $50,000,000 this year, according to Martin J. Quigley, chairman of a vigilance committee appointed by recognized producers. Most of that sum was taken from small investors, widows and working women seeking to get rich quickly.

The vigilance committee has been promised the support of the American Bankers association in suppressing fake movie stock and radio schemes. When you are asked to invest in any movie project, ask your banker's advice.

Charles Urban, who maintains a film library office, a morgue in a newspaper office, has prepared a Kineto review called "Permanent Peace." All of the leaders in the disarmament conference are shown.

Pictures are shown of Roosevelt and Wilson when they were dominant in the peace projects of the world. Battlefields and the immense armies and navies of the nations are also shown. It is a graphic visualization of the world's need for disarmament.

Bill Hart appears as a Beau Brummel of the Mississippi frontier days in "White Oak." He makes a picturesque picture, has prepared a picture promise of fitting into the role of Patrick Henry, which he will portray in the costume of the Revolutionary period.

In "White Oak" Hart rides a horse, coddles a dog and kills a tribe of Indians and several white men. It's a typical Hart picture, with an extra portion of Hart. After seeing it one wonders how still will be able to get along as Jacqueline Logan. A year ago she was in the chorus of the revival of "Floradora." Now she's playing leading roles in Goldwyn pictures.

Malyne Polo. She's 17 and the daughter of Eddie Polo, the movie actor. She's in the movies. Too. Plays a bit in "Foolish Wives."

Patrick Henry without horse or six-shooter.

Cut! Cut! Cut! Claire Adams and Carl Gantvoort are to be featured in the screen version of Zane Grey's "Wild Fire."

Another silly title change—screen version of Harriet T. Comstock's "Mam'elle Jo" has been named "Silent Years."

New York physicians have formed a society for the advancement of medicine and surgery by means of motion pictures.

"Over the Hill" is to be exhibited in Shanghai, Singapore, and interior Russia. The movie speaks Esperanto, an "twero."

Jackie Coogan's next picture is to be "The Little Tramp." Jerome Storm, who used to direct Charles Ray, will direct the kid.

PLAN BETTER QUARTERS AT HOLIDAY STREET STATION
A re-arrangement of the living quarters at the No. 3 fire station on Holiday street will be made in the near future, according to Fire Chief J. L. McClure, who states that more room and consequently more comfort for the firemen can be obtained by making a few changes. Moving some plumbing fixtures from an inside room to a built-in sleeping porch and tearing out of some partitions so as to convert several smaller rooms into one large one will constitute most of the work to be done, Chief McClure states.

AUTHORIZATION FOR THE WORK was given by the city council at its regular meeting last Monday night.

OFFICERS FIND ARMISTICE DAY EVE EXTREMELY QUIET
County officers found that Armistice day eve was a most quiet and orderly one and only one arrest was reported since 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. One negro was placed in the county jail on a charge of being drunk.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE MONDAY APPEARS CERTAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A strike of 60,000 garment workers in the metropolis area next Monday appeared inevitable today as the result of the cloak, suit and skirt manufacturers' protective association's determination to operate on a piece-work basis beginning on that day and to increase the working week from 41 to 49 hours. Members of the cloak, skirt and reaper makers' union, affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, by a vote of 18,472 to 142, have decided to affiliate as a protest against the manufacturers' new plan. Strike headquarters have been established in a local hotel and a meeting of all workers called for tomorrow to formulate a course of action.

1000 GOLD STAR MOTHERS MARCH IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Armistice day was observed throughout the country with religious services, planting of memorial trees, mass meetings and other ceremonies. Public schools in most cities were closed. For a few minutes at noon millions of Americans paused to pay silent tribute to America's unknown dead soldier. A little army of gray haired women—New York's gold star mothers—marched this morning to Madison Square Garden to sit for an hour in the seats of honor and listen while the unknown soldier's body, symbolizing all the sons they gave to their country, was laid to rest with America's unknown dead soldier. The mothers, more than 1,000 of them, were escorted by a guard of honor made up of infantrymen.

bluejackets and marines. For the and for them alone, had seats been reserved in the great hall which long before their coming had begun to fill with citizens from every walk of life, reverently eager to follow the Arlington services through the telephonic amplifying device with which the garden and Madison Square outside has been equipped. An hour's program of music and addresses within the garden was scheduled to precede the Arlington ceremonies. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, was selected to preside and Martin W. Littleton to deliver the principal oration, talking over a local circuit through the amplifiers. A chorus of 1,500 school children was present to lead in the singing of patriotic hymns. Many business houses throughout the city observed the day as a holiday and all were required to suspend activities for two minutes beginning at noon and during that period to pray and meditation. Every wheel of the city's transportation was ordered stopped for this period, and factories that employ clerks for the day were expected also to observe the moment by temporary suspension. Tolling church bells were to serve as reminders that the moment designated by President Harding as a period of nation-wide commemoration of the dead and thanksgiving for the success of the cause for which they died, impended. An "Americanization parade" under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was the principal event on the afternoon program. More than 50,000 members of military, patriotic and civic organizations were listed to enter the line of march up Fifth avenue from Washington Square to Sixtieth street. Armistice day services will be held tonight in scores of churches and a mass meeting will be held in Madison Square Garden under auspices of the Central Trades and Labor Council. Speakers at this meeting will include Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; "Jack" William F. Dearson, immediate commander of the American Legion; Bishop Manning, Right Rev. John J. Dunn and Rabbi Stephen Wise.

Fire originating on the loading dock of the Choctaw cotton compress here at 1:30 o'clock this morning caused an estimated loss of $250,000 before being brought under control four hours later. The compress was destroyed and 5,000 bales of cotton burned. Fifty cars loaded with cotton which were on a siding by the compress also burned as did a quantity of lumber belonging to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad. The railroad lumber yard, maintained in connection with its car building shops, adjoining the compress site. The fire was believed to have started from a spark from a locomotive. The compress and cotton was insured for almost its total value, officers of the company said.

SAN FRANCISCO HEARS PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS BY PHONE AMPLIFIER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Crowds gathered here early today to hear President Harding speak. The president was in Washington, but the telephone company had arranged wires, transmitters, receivers and amplifying devices to enable the distance between the two cities to be annihilated—to carry his voice across the continent to the expectant thousands here. The civic auditorium and civic center were opened to the public and these places, where the audible features of the Arlington cemetery ceremonies were transmitted, were the magnet for the city's massed observers of the third anniversary of the armistice. A few early comers were at the doors of the auditorium even before the daylight had dissipated the morning mists. Arrangements had been made to keep together the crowds assembled to hear the president's eulogy of the unknown soldier. The long distance speech, accordingly, headed the day's program here, while subsequent numbers included tomb tributes to the fallen heroes. Auto Plant at Decorator. 181-710

Three meals a day—yet thousands are underfed
Are you getting the full benefit from the food you eat?

SCIENCE has made a discovery of far-reaching importance to every human being. We know now that thousands are slowly starving even on three meals a day.

It has been found that our food cannot furnish life, the vital energy we need if it is short in one single element called vitamine. This is why Fleischmann's Yeast has such a new and startling importance in our diet, for yeast is the richest known source of this vital food factor.

Today thousands are eating Fleischmann's Yeast and gaining strength and vigor from its remarkable health-giving qualities.

Many physicians and hospitals prescribe Fleischmann's Yeast for undernourishment, skin eruptions, boils and constipation. It builds up the body tissues, makes them more resistant to disease.

In addition, because of its freshness (you get it fresh daily) it helps the intestines in their elimination of poisonous waste matter.

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast at any time—2 to 3 cakes a day. Have it on the table at home. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. Ask for it at noontime at your lunch place. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean, wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth. Only one precaution: if troubled with gas, dissolve the yeast first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast.

Order from your grocer a fresh daily supply of Fleischmann's Yeast. Send 4c in stamps for the valuable new booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down conditions, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamine preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamins, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

A DECLARATION—A CHALLENGE!

The Wichita Falls Church of Christ, corner of Tenth and Austin streets, now in a great revival with Brother Billingsley, takes this means of sending greeting to the people of the city here, and on this great Armistice Day celebration to make friendly overtures to the city's religious forces.

We first unequivocally declare for union and against division. We address ourselves to the Methodist and Baptist churches, to the Christian and Presbyterian churches, with their pastors, and say, we would unite with them. And in order to do this, we declare ourselves willing to give up our own church home and meet elsewhere.

We submit that Jehovah foretold that through Christ he would give the people one heart and one way (Jer. 32:39) and Christ himself prayed that all who believed on Him might be one as he and his Father are one (Jno. 17:21). And when division sprang up in the church in Corinth, the Holy Spirit rebuked them and called them carnal (1 Cor. 3:3). Through His Son, God has given the same law to all the world, making the same requirements of and proffering the same blessings to all alike. We all have "the same Lord" (Rom. 10:12) we have "the same body" (Eph. 3:6) which is the church (Col. 1:24); we are all commanded to "walk by the same rule and mind the same thing" (Phil. 3:16) we are all commanded to "Speak the Same Thing" (1 Pet. 1:10) which is to speak as the oracles of God (1 Pet. 4:11); we are to have "the same spirit and walk the same steps" (2 Cor. 12:18).

We thus briefly make out the case why we believe division to be sinful. And speaking for ourselves, we do not say we are all right and everybody else all wrong. Rather, we declare that we unreservedly accept what the Lord says as all right, and believe it to be wrong to do anything in his service but what he says.

And in proposing the union of our forces with others and in doing everything possible to put away division, we declare ourselves more than willing to give up every item of our faith and practice which is not specifically commanded us of the Lord.

Thus we propose to give up our own church home, if any object to its use, and meet with the rest in any other building selected, upon the sole condition that we all shall do simply and only what the Master in his own words through His inspired men positively commands.

Of course this is an extraordinary thing for a religious body to propose. Yet we make the proposal deliberately and with a feeling of the utmost kindness and consideration for others who will not bring themselves to agree hereto.

Submitted in love,
E. L. COCHRAN,
Minister.

ADVISORY BOARD THE EYES AND EARS OF ARMS PARLEY

COMMITTEE TO BE IMPORTANT ADJUNCT IN SOUNDING PUBLIC OPINION.

REPRESENTATIVE OF AMERICAN PUBLIC

Sutherland and Hoover Likely in Certain Contingencies to Play Important Roles.

By MARK SULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—There is a good deal of evidence that the administration is increasing the importance of its advisory committee.

Apparently, the theory that underlies the selection of the members of the advisory committee was to get a group of men and women who should represent large sections of American public opinion, and should be able to tell the conference how these various sections of the public may feel about the proposals that come up in the official conference.

At least four of the committee members are from the far east, and who, through her long residence and the contacts incident to her profession, has acquired not only a body of facts about the far east, but has also well thought out convictions about the relations of America to that part of the globe.

Pimples Denote Waste Products In The Blood

So Do Blackheads, Boils and Similar Skin Disorders

that would prevent his giving his entire time to the work. Mr. Sutherland is well adapted to work hand in hand with President Harding. The two have long been close friends and work comfortably together.

Mr. Hoover is probably the most colorful person on the list. Just beneath the surface there is always present the possibility that the conference may, at some stage or other, overlap from the subjects now on the agenda to the consideration of economic and financial matters. If this should happen, Hoover will inevitably play a large part. No one in American public life exceeds him in the capacity for assembling facts and making correct deductions from them. Incidentally, no one exceeds Mr. Hoover in the art of directing the work of an organization of this kind in such a way as to achieve the maximum of results. His management of the recent unemployment conference in Washington stands out as the most successful thing of the kind that has been done here for many years.

The advisory committee meets today without any program. What it is to do will develop out of today's meeting. The expectation, both in official circles and otherwise, is that the advisory committee will play an increasingly prominent part.

Calomel Salivates AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Door Of This Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury, quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all kinds of bad, go to your drugist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

The human system is forever striving to get rid of the waste products. It is a life-work which goes on forever. When waste products get in the blood, they cause a lowered vitality. As a result, we become subject to many painful and embarrassing ailments. When these symptoms appear, nature is warning us. To throw off the waste products, the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich blood nourishes the body and fights off disease.

NEURASTHENIA - NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted - Practical Advice on What to Do

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and eye-sight looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease, neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to overwork, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certain will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Mount Vernon, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Vanhook, formerly of Stanford, but now residing here, says that after her third child was born, she undertook to resume her household work too soon, and this caused her a great deal of trouble. She began to feel weak and all worked out—not myself at all," says Vanhook describing her condition. "For about six weeks I was just a nervous wreck. I had to have someone do all my household work. My doctor told me my imprudent housework shook to the nervous system, and the thing to do was to use a tonic to build up my strength. He recommended Cardui. Very soon I saw improvement in my condition. I used three bottles of Cardui and my health was restored. I am a strong, healthy woman."

Thousands of women praise Cardui to their friends. This mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine has been in successful use for over forty years, in the treatment of many common ailments suffered by women.

Your druggist sells Cardui. Get the bottle today, today.

FARM WAGES NOW 25 PER CENT ABOVE THAT PAID IN 1916

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—A survey of farm wages, made by the United States department of agriculture, shows that while there has been a reduction of about 27 per cent they are still 25 per cent above the wages paid in 1916. The investigation shows that wages, by the month with board, for the United States at large in 1920, averaged $46.25; in 1921, the rate averaged $59.44; while in 1916 the average monthly wage on the farm was $22.25.

There has been fully as much of a reduction in harvest wages, the report, which has just been issued, showing that whereas in 1916 the average wage was $1.69 per day in 1920, they had increased to $3.60 and in 1921 had fallen to $2.12. The harvest wages for hands boarding themselves increased on an average from $2.07 in 1916 to $4.36 in 1920 and fell to $2.80 in 1921.

Although these reductions under the peak of 1920 are considerable they do not compare to the reductions in the price of farm commodities. Taking 100 as a basis, the figures being those for 1912, the survey shows that whereas prices on crops and meat animals were 104 and 128, the average price of things which the farmer must purchase still represented a percentage of 259. Thus while the farmer is compelled to pay nearly 40 per cent more for his labor and pay 159 per cent more for his supplies he has been forced to sell the products of his farm at just about what he would have received for them in 1912.

Dr. A. L. Lea returned Friday morning from a short professional visit to Fort Worth.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD

Stanzas in Commemoration of the Unknown American Soldier, to be Interred at Arlington, Nov. 11, 1921, at the Convening of the Conference on the Limitation of Armaments.

By PERCY MACKAYE
In The New York Times.

I am the numberless Unknown
Who have cast the shrouds of things that seem.
My grave is a planet's cornerstone,
Holding the ashes of a dream
Whose sacrificial fire blazes from some to zone.

I am the wastrel child whom War
Hath rendered baptism, not in birth
But death, where the unseen hosts that pour
Libation on the blood-dark earth.
Intone through my mute lips the eternal: Nevermore!

Yes, Nevermore! By that mystic name
Youth's hallow'd blood hath christened me—
Nevermore! Ye living, let it flame
The challenge of your destiny—
Nevermore!—to pride and pestilence and hate and shame!

War—Nevermore! O lives that pray
For liberation, make that will
Your watchword, till the thing ye say
Because the law your deeds fulfill;
Then I with Christ will rise in sanction from my clay.

For I am dust of a deathless spark;
Unmastered engine self-enslaved;
The bullet-molder and his mark,
Shattered by dazzling creeds I shared
With you—and your own blindness muffles me in dark.

But my dark shall have no need of the sun
Neither of the moon to shine in it,
If Christ His dawning Will be done,
And this my clay-bed shall be lit
By the stars that blanket me, if my last fight be won.

Masters of life! On your decree,
Unknown and numberless, I wait:
From war's earth-blind captivity
Untomb me! Let your love be fate
And crown my risen youth with timeless victory!

CANDY AND SMOKES WORTH $300 STOLEN AT PRODUCE HOUSE

Candy and tobacco of an estimated value of over $300 was stolen Thursday night from the Wichita Produce company in the 1100 block on Ohio avenue, according to reports to the police. Four cases and 14 cartons from a fifth case of cigarettes were taken by the thieves.

along with 12 dozen pound boxes of chocolates.

The burglars gained access to the sample room of the plant by first tearing off the screen of a window at the rear of the building and then forcing the window open. A locked door was then broken down and the sample room raided.

City Detective Jack Miller took a blood hound to the scene of the robbery, but the trail could not be followed in the deep dust at the rear of the building and efforts to find the thieves by this method were abandoned.

The Wichita Falls and Northwest-Thurday carried a distinguished passenger from Woodward to Frederick in the person of former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of giving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional remedy and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Close the nostrils should upon breathing becomes easy and hearing improves as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

PROCESSION BEHIND BODY SOLEMN BUT NOTABLE PAGEANT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Long before the rising sun broke through a low bank of clouds, long columns of soldiers, sailors and marines today began making their way to the Capitol plaza, there to receive into their keeping America's unknown soldier and to accompany him to his final resting place at Arlington. The day promised to be clear and sharply cool—an almost exact duplication of the first Armistice day three years ago. There was scarcely a breath of wind stirring and the half-masted flags everywhere about the capitol hung virtually stationary.

Just as the first of the sun's beams touched the status of liberty surmounting the capitol dome, beneath which lay the unknown soldier and stood his unceasing guard, sharp commands began to ring out about the capitol as portions of the military escort began to take their places.

Historic Pennsylvania avenue, which today was seen as a tribute to a nation's dead, was roped off and all traffic stopped as when an inaugural parade passes over its roadway. Before sunrise spectators began to line the sides of the avenue.

There was a stir about the white house and at 7:30 o'clock automobiles were in waiting to take President Harding to the capitol to take his place in the funeral procession as the nation's chief mourner.

As the east door of the rotunda swung open there entered the first flood of sunshine to light the bronze figure sent by the president of China, resting on the base. The body bearers lifted the coffin and then put it back. It was a feat. The mountain of flowers stacked high against the walls and in a circle on stands closer in, remained undisturbed over night. Trucks were waiting to transfer them to Arlington ahead of the procession, but by another route.

As the band outside played "Nearer My God to Thee," the coffin was lifted upon the shoulders of the body bearers and taken through the east door to the caisson a few moments before 8 o'clock. The honorary pallbearers followed. There was no ceremony in the rotunda. As the body was removed the soldier guard of honor that had stood about the bier since the night before at last broke ranks.

As the flower-strewn caisson was borne tenderly down the broad steps of the capitol, soldiers stationed in line along the steps and the assembly of thousands on the plaza stood at attention. Flags of the colorbearer were drooped, while those on the capitol were half-masted.

At 8:30 o'clock President Harding left the white house and motored toward the capitol to take his place in the funeral procession. He arrived there at 8:37 o'clock.

Meanwhile the senate met and adjourned, going to the rotunda to fall into line.

As soldiers removed the flowers from about the bier, members of the caisson and supreme court also moved outside to take their places in the line.

As the house delegation marched out and took up its position behind the caisson, Representative Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, the only woman in congress, took her place in the front, dressed in the uniform of an American Red Cross nurse. A soldier was detailed to march with her. The procession moved out of the capitol grounds at 8:32 o'clock.

Harding and Pershing.
President Harding, who had stood head of the line talking with Chief Justice Taft, and others, stepped forward and took his place by General Pershing as a ruff of drums gave the signal for the line to move.

Under an autumn haze, gilded with shafts of light that broke everywhere, the cortege moved slowly into Pennsylvania avenue, the nation's way of victory. Ahead, the broad sweep of the avenue was blanketed solidly with people, a crowd for a glimpse of the cortege.

Of the president, who walked behind the caisson, and of all the famous men who trudged in the column to pay honor to the dead.

It seemed more like the celebration of a great victory than a funeral. Everywhere flags waved.

They fluttered in clusters and snapped and glittered in the sun's changing beams. They were arranged to commemorate the opening of the arms conference Saturday. But the gray hunting paid its first tribute to the passing of the unknown hero.

The Solemn Moment.
As the procession started, Major General Bandholtz rode at the fore, the gleam of bright metal showing through the breast of the khaki-clad legion trooping behind. By a general order every officer and man of the army and navy who took part wore today his medals and decorations conferred by a grateful people. There were no foreign decorations to be seen. The Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Victory Medal and tokens that spoke of high deeds older wars, alone were in evidence.

The avenue was free of obstruction from the great, gray bulk of the capitol on its hill to the eastern end, the pillars of the treasury nearly a mile away. Even the trees that spread a relieving shade of green and grateful shade along the way under summer sun, stood with branches almost stripped of leaves; only here and there a clustering mass of yellow or autumn bronze hid the view of the windows, crowded with faces that looked down on the roadway. Former President Wilson, riding in a carriage with Mrs. Wilson, joined the procession as it swung around the north end of the capitol. As he turned into Pennsylvania avenue the crowds along the way cheered him.

A fringe of boy scouts armed with white staves of cheering and no waving of flags, but the great hush of respect for the dead.

First came a row of motorcycle police, then the mounted officers, then Major General Bandholtz and his staff, horses dancing a little in the cool air and under the restraint of the bridle.

Then a great army band, the solemn strains of a funeral dirge, its cadences marked by the thud of muffled drums.

Next moved the first of the soldier and sailor escort, a platoon of infantry with fixed bayonets gleaming behind them the war-colored carts of horse-drawn machine guns. They moved in the square block formation and behind these, in the same solid blocks, came the sailors white-hatted and with long streamers of crepe dropping their colors.

Then after the first show of troops came the clergy, headed by Bishop Brent, former senior chaplain of the A. E. F., who later was to commit the body to the grave at Arlington. With him were Chaplain Lazarus of the reserve, and Chaplain Frazier of the navy, and Acting admiral and behind these, in the same solid blocks, came the sailors white-hatted and with long streamers of crepe dropping their colors.

and the eight distinguished living heroes selected as body bearers walking on the inside of the column. Hats came off in the crowds as the solemn moment passed.

Six black horses with drivers rigid in the saddle drew his funeral car. On the gun limber, the simple flag-wrapped caisson rode high with only a handful of the flowers and tokens that have been lavished to deck it. Among them lay the withered cluster of French flowers that had come with him all the journey home.

Then immediately following the unknown hero's body walked President Harding and General Pershing side by side with their aides at a short distance, Admiral Coontz, Vice-President Coolidge, Admiral Jones, commanding the Atlantic fleet, and Chief Justice Taft.

The president and the man who led the American armies overseas walked almost alone. The president was clad in black mourning dress with silk hat and marched step for step with General Pershing, who wore of his many war decorations only the Victory medal that every comrade of the war may wear.

Wilson Jones in Procession.
Former President Wilson was to have come next in line, according to program, but having arrived late at the start, he took a place farther back.

The supreme court followed, and then Lieutenant General Young and Miles, former commanders of the army. Then came the cabinet marching in two lines. Governors of some states followed and then Major General Lejune, commander of the marine corps, and Senator Cummins, president pro tempore of the senate. Then came members of the senate marching in columns of eight. Speaker Gillett and members of the house of representatives, all who served in the world war, coming not more than three from a state. The war veteran societies followed.

It was 9:15 o'clock when the head of the procession reached the white house. When the caisson had passed President Harding turned out of his place in the line and after passing through the executive offices, went to the front of the white house grounds to review the remainder of the line as it passed on its way to Arlington. The president later took a motor car for the amphitheater.

President Wilson.
While the president was reviewing the procession there came a moment's delay and he stepped into the street and shook hands with the medal of honor men. When former President Wilson passed in his carriage, Mr. Harding saluted him by taking of his hat and the former president returned the salute. The reverent silence all along the line had only been broken by hand-clapping and some cheers as the former president passed by. After passing the white house, Mr. Wilson's carriage turned out of the procession and drove him home.

It was Mr. Wilson's first public appearance since March 4, when he rode up Pennsylvania avenue with President Harding. The comment was heard in the crowd that the former president, long a sick man, looked better than many folk expected.

Although many of the notables followed President Harding's lead and turned out of the procession at the white house, General Pershing, with Secretary Weeks and Secretary Denby, have continued on the long march to Arlington.

While the remainder of the procession was winding its way to Arlington the great amphitheater was filling with the guests invited to the ceremony. The body was to arrive there, according to program, at 11:15 o'clock.

FORCE TONIC The Master Rebuilder Brings More Years of Usefulness MEN whose occupations are confining; who are overburdened with business cares; who sense the waning of their mental and physical powers, may forestall an early decline and add years of usefulness to their lives by the proper and consistent use of FORCE. WOMEN, likewise, who find social and household duties sapping their nervous energy and physical strength; robbing them of youth, beauty and pleasure in existence, will discover in FORCE a worthy aid to renewed health and greater interest in life. FORCE is sold by reliable druggists everywhere. Equally good for men, women and children.
