Where is the tire dealer headed for in 1922

ALONG about this time of the year the tire-dealer is a much called upon man. Probably a dozen different "Agencies" for a dozen different tires are hopefully spread before him.

But when he gets off by himself and starts to think he finds out that most so-called Agency Franchises are hardly more than permission to invest his money in this brand or that brand at his own risk.

Consider now—not what is said in behalf of the U. S. Tire Sales and Service Agreement—but what it does. Consider general conditions for the past year. And note everywhere that U. S. Tire dealers have been the least affected of all.

Observe how generally the U. S. Tire dealer is respected. Not alone by the public but by his local competitors. The U. S. Tire dealer always knows where he is at. Right now—or in making his plans for 1922.

Where the U. S. Sales Franchise separates from the rest and asserts its prerogatives are in these things— It brings to the dealer's store the greatest and most loyal tire-audience anywhere.

It supports the dealer with the most constructive and courageous publicity expressed policies today. It carries the prestige of the U. S. Royal Cord Tire and the "USCO" Tread.

It is the most sought after franchise in the whole tire trade. U. S. dealers will be the ranking tire-merchants of 1922. Not only in profits returned, but in local reputation as business citizens.

VANDERLIP HAS A PLAN FOR SETTLING WAR OBLIGATIONS

MADE EXHAUSTIVE STUDY OF ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Recognition by the allies of their eleven billion dollar debt to America as a just debt, agreement by the countries to easy payments and the money thus repaid to be used in rehabilitating Europe, was a plan proposed tonight by Frank A. Vanderlip, the New York banker, for settling the obligations of the war.

Mr. Vanderlip, who returned recently from Europe, where he made an exhaustive study of economic conditions, spoke before the Economic club. He said he had discussed the debt with the leading responsible government ministers and financiers of Europe and nearly every nation admitted inability to pay.

The United States would be hurt as much by the rapid receipt of payment in the form of goods as the only possible form of payment in view of the demoralization of foreign exchange, he said, as the allied debtors would be harmed in making payment.

"The full consequence would be profound," he said, "if the payments could be made and were made with any degree of promptness. We need not look further than to contemplate merely the receipts of $100,000,000 a year of interest. If that came in the form of goods, our industrial situation would be upset in a way and to an extent we have not heretofore experienced. The effect upon our labor situation and the consequent social problems which would be raised would be menacing."

As the first postulate in his plan, Mr. Vanderlip said he would lay down the principle that the allied debt was a just debt, morally and, whether it could be paid or not, it should be cheerfully and gratefully acknowledged as a just debt.

"Next, I would want America to be both an intelligent and a lenient creditor," he continued. "Terms of payment must be adapted to the means of our debtors. In that respect we should take the action of the allies in fixing terms of the indemnity as an example to be avoided rather than followed."

"I would have America make a loan—just a grand gesture in international relationships. While demanding that the payment be made I would have America say that she is prepared for the present to forego the receipt of it."

"Concerning what should be done with the money, paid back, Mr. Vanderlip said:

"I would like to see every dollar that can ever be paid to us by our debtors for years to come devoted to the rehabilitation of European civilization. It is only through such rehabilitation that these debts can ever conceivably be paid. It is only through the rehabilitation of European civilization that America can ever conceivably realize in full measure her destiny or can expect a full measure of prosperity for her people."

He believed a plan for the development of eastern Europe could be laid out, he said, comparable to the vision our forefathers had, when the latent possibilities of our great west were unfolded to their minds.

"Everything the war has cost," he added, "everything an unwise peace settlement could cost, can be recomposed and beyond that a great economic margin created. If eastern Europe can be put in order, can be helped and be wiser to handle its own problems, if the people of eastern Europe can be made to comprehend their economic unity, if they can be brought to understand that in the welfare of all nations lies the highest prosperity of each."

To a program of this kind, he declared, he would devote for many years every dollar this country could get of the allied debt.

CO-OPERATIVE PROGRAM FOR MARKETING TEXAS WHEAT CROP OF 1921

DALLAS, Nov. 28.—Texas wheat crop for 1921, estimated at 2,000,000 bushels, will be marketed along lines of a definite co-operative program, was announced here last night following a meeting of the Wheat Growers association and Texas farm-bureau federations.

The grain will be disposed of under a plan similar to the cotton pool now operating and the entire wheat crop will be sold by next April, said the announcement.

FIVE THOUSAND PRINTERS IN NEW YORK TO CONTINUE WORK AT PRESENT SCALE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Five thousand compositors in the New York book and job printing trades will continue to work at their present wages—450 a week for day work, $55 for night work, and $55 for those on midnight shifts—under a decision handed down yesterday by Dr. John Lovejoy Elliott, head of the Hudson Guild Neighborhood Center.

WILL PUBLISH PAPER IN LONDON DEVOTED TO THE CAUSE OF ULSSTER

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Preparations are being made here to publish a newspaper with morning and evening editions devoted to the cause of Ulster, according to the Daily Mirror, which says 250,000 pounds has already been raised for the purpose. The enterprise was started, the Mirror says, in view of the fact that "so many London newspapers which formerly advocated unionist principles have lately let Ulster down very badly."

TROOPS TO BE RETAINED AT COLORADO COAL MINES TWO YEARS IF NECESSARY

DENVER, COLO., Nov. 29.—Asked how long troops will be retained in the southern Colorado coal fields where martial law is in effect as a result of the strike of miners in Colorado Fuel and Iron company's camps, Adjutant General P. J. Hamrock said yesterday "two years if necessary."

ORDER A REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATE ON WOOL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Commodity rates on wool and mohair from Texas to Boston were held today by the interstate commerce commission to be higher than justified and the railroads were ordered to file reduced rates for the commission's approval.

BISHOPS AND CLERGY TO ATTEND CONSECRATION

REVIVE RUMORS OF A MORATORIUM FOR THE GERMAN NATION

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Rumors of a proposed moratorium for Germany are revived by the Daily Mail, which reports that Sir John Bradbury, British delegate on the reparations commission, has drafted a memorandum on the subject for the consideration of the cabinet. The newspaper says that as a result the cabinet may urge a moratorium on Germany's debts to the allies of two or three years, on condition that she cease manufacturing currency.

France's possible attitude toward such a plan is not known, says the Mail, but French officers who have studied the situation favor some such scheme which will not interfere with Germany continuing to pay certain reparations in kind.

Dr. Walter Rathenau, former German minister of reconstruction, and Dr. Walter Simons, former foreign minister, arrived in London today and it is surmised that their visit is connected with the reparations question. This belief is strengthened by the fact that Baron Edgar A. Abergorn, British ambassador to Germany, is also here.

CALOMEL MAY TURN ON YOU NEXT TIME
 Next Does You Take May Salivate and Start a World of Trouble
 Calomel is mercury, quicksilver. It slashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.
 If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodo's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.
 Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodo's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—(Adv.)

HEART AND HEAD WORK TOGETHER

By RUTH ABELING
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Heart of you breathlessly whispering "Yes-yes-yes!"

Head of you practically insisting "No-no!"

Always viewing things from a different angle—that heart and that head of yours?

But they needn't any more. Head and heart can work together.

Miss Sandall further adds that usually the heart is a little bit all right, a very good lead, so to speak.

"There was a time," says Miss Sandall, "when just liking to do a thing was enough to make it a sin, and a dislike for doing it clothed it in virtues."

"Different now," says Miss Sandall; "that was too hard a system for intelligent people to live by for many generations."

"Pursuing the Good Things"

"So we have evolved a new way of thinking—that is finding the good in the things we like to do and profiting physically, mentally and spiritually by that new attitude."

"Doing something you like to do is it three times over. First, something you do not like to do, though the material profit may seem less."

"We have been too much concerned in the past with acquiring knowledge by the ordinary system of education than by development of mental processes which add to originality. Originality is a most valuable asset. And no originality can develop if the mind is forced along the old and too often unpleasant lines."

"As for Miss Sandall herself—a blond little person with intense blue eyes and a voice of exceeding charm of manner. She has a studio in Carnegie Hall.

"Beginning of my career?" Miss Sandall laughed.

Looked to the Stage

"Well—if I must tell you, I thought the stage was the only place I should really be happy, and so I came here to this very building where my studio is and was told by a specialist in that sort of thing that the stage was not the place for me."

"So I went back to Galveston, Texas—where I was born, and I laughed. I began to study psychology and at last I taught in a university which was beginning a course in applied psychology."

"I was asked to give lectures for clubs and organizations and finally met a woman from New York."

Here Miss Sandall laughed again. "You know," she said, "that woman promised me all of New York if I'd come here and give some lectures. So I came," still laughing, "and found the woman had gone to Europe and I was here, all my bridges burned behind me and just one pupil."

"So I rented a studio and put up my little sign and finally, tap-tap the door; someone wanted to know what I was doing in here. I always told them; they were interested and told others who became interested until—now!" finished Miss Sandall.

Is a Lecturer

And now," for Miss Sandall, who dined New York with only one pupil and at last I taught in a university of psychology, means—lectures for clubs, organizations, recognized schools and classes every day.

And a lovely studio in the very building in which, a number of years ago, she was sent away from disappointed, when she applied for a stage career.

Haskell News

HASKELL, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—The most delightful social event of the season was the colonial tea given by the women of the Magazine club Friday afternoon. All members were in costume. The colorful dresses and elaborate coiffures made the present day styles appear somber and plain by contrast.

The guests were ushered into the beautifully decorated library by Madames J. U. Field, C. L. Lewis and R. C. Montgomery, who introduced them to the receiving line, comprised of the following officers of the club: Madames Murchison, Walter Robertson of Wichita Falls, president of the first district; Roy English, Conner, who was wearing the costume affected by the men of that period; O. M. Guest, J. F. Posey, O. E. Patterson, H. E. Post, F. T. Sanders and Courtney. After her talk on the contest, with the names of the presidents was unique, and the prize was presented to Mrs. Walter Robertson. After her talk on her plans for the year as district president, she was also presented with flowers. The song by "Three Colonial Belles" was enjoyed by every one, also the reading by Mrs. Ernest Grissom, who was daintily costumed in old rose taffeta and black lace. Two hundred guests were served refreshments, after which there was a grand march by all the colonial dames and belles.

Little Lad Dies

Frank, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richay, died from tuberculosis of the lungs and was buried on Thanksgiving day.

BLACK VELVET SAFE CHOICE

By MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Black velvet is always the safe as well as the popular material which may be worn on almost any occasion from semi to full dress.

The simple lined black velvet gown by Harry Collins, who created the inaugural wardrobe for Mrs. Harding, is attractive because the simplicity is the sort gained from pure artistry.

The draped skirt effect falls in a long point on one side and the only ornament, aside from the deep yoke of heavy lace, is a large brilliant buckle holding the drape over the left hip. Despite the fact for long and flowing sleeves this gown has short tight sleeves.

It is youthful and chic and avoids the extremes.

It is a discreet eight inches from the ground.

The small black hat has its note of elegance in the lovely sweep of the bird of paradise.

BADLY SCARED NEGRO HELD AFTER DOWNTOWN FIGHT

One arrest of a much frightened negro was the only serious result of a lively scrap in a downtown shine parlor late Monday afternoon. Two negro shine boys were the principals of the affair while a huge stove bolt, wielded with murderous intent by one combatant, also came in for some attention.

EASTLAND COUNTY GETS 400 BARRELS MORE ACTIVITY SEEN

In Eastland county, many tests that have been shut down are again preparing to start drilling. Many older wells are being cleaned out, and the outlook so far is for a renewal of activity throughout all sections of the county.

In the Lake Eastland district on the Brelsford tract the No. 1 well of Day-Davis encountered the top of the sand at 312 feet Saturday, and is producing around 1,000,000 feet of gas and is spraying oil. Conservative estimates place it at a production around 400 barrels. The above well is an offset to the No. 1 Day, on the Caudle land that came in a year ago and which is still producing.

"ALL ABOARD" REHEARSALS START MONDAY EVENING

Rehearsals were started Monday evening by the cast of "All Aboard," the musical comedy to be presented here by the local high school in December. Initial tryouts were held in the Episcopal parish house with a number of the principal characters and members of the choruses present.

The club will remain in Sioux City. Mattick will act as playing manager and McKenna as president and secretary.

RURAL DELIVERY FOR SCOTLAND ADDED

Residents of Scotland addition will probably get rural delivery service in the near future, it was learned Tuesday. Recently H. M. Harrison of the chamber of commerce took up, at their request, the question of having free delivery in that section, and has been advised by Lon Howard, assistant postmaster, that while city carrier service is not feasible for that part of the city, the department is trying to arrange for rural route that will serve the residents.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Screen opera has been introduced to Broadway by Hugo Riesfeld, director of the Rialto theater.

Riesfeld took an old six-reel film version of "La Tosca" starring Pauline Frederick and cut it to a length which required 25 minutes to run.

He condensed the score of Puccini's music for Sardou's drama to the same playing time and synchronized it with the picture. The result was entertainment of high merit. I have attended several performances of the opera, once with Mary Garden playing the title role. Riesfeld's screen version is more than the stage version because he eliminated long stretches of the play that contained little action and little music.

Grand opera is accepted generally as an entertainment for highbrows only. That's because it is usually presented in a foreign language. Many operas, "La Tosca" especially, would be as high a form of art and contain as much, or more, entertainment value, if they were presented in pantomime with orchestral accompaniment. Then they would have a wider appeal. And that is the result that can readily be achieved in screen opera.

Riesfeld has not accomplished a perfect presentation by cutting a film which was originally six reels to two reels and cutting the score of the opera to fit. The patching is evident. However, he has demonstrated that screen opera is feasible. A better presentation will be effected when some motion picture producer realizes this and films an opera, synchronizing its action to its music as the film is made.

Probably no actress of the flapper type has a greater following than Viola Dana. She is the hoyden of the screen. She is youth effervescent, irrepresible.

Most of her picture lies in that narrow borderland which separates comedy and comic. This is true of "The Fourteenth Lover," her latest. A rich girl is besieged by suitors. Her aunt picks the 12th one, but the girl makes her own choice, a poor man.

She learns to cook. A lot of comedy is developed in that situation, as it is in real life when a girl learns to cook—Despite an outlook upon protracted indigestion the romance has a happy ending. The merit of the picture is determined by the personality of the star. She engages the attention. She fills the eye. When she is not in the picture there isn't anything to look at. But she's in almost every scene.

At Studio Keyholes "Brass Buttons," Eddy Lyons' next comedy. Bill Farnum's next is entitled "Man's Weakness." Virginia Valli plays opposite Frank Mayo in "Slipper Tongue." Gladys Walton will be directed in "Kind Deeds" by Tod Browning. Sid Smith is featured in "The Matine Idol," a new Hallroom Boy comedy.

A two-reel picture of the Burial of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, made by Pathe News, will be kept as a record in the archives of the war department.

Pearl White's latest picture will be released New Year's day. Its title has been changed from "Diamonds" to "Any Wife." They seem to mean the same thing, anyway.

"All at Sea," Richard Barthelmess' second starring vehicle, is a satire on the present social unrest of the younger set. It was written by Porter Emerson Browne.

Supporters of the theory that cave-man tactics in besieging the heart of a lady fair are no longer practical were given a respectable helping of food for thought Monday night when the Gene Lewis-Olga Worth stock company opened at the Wichita theatre with "The Misleading Lady," noted New York stage comedy.

Tradition and history tell us that in olden times the most approved formula for courting was the use of ten-pound rocks or twenty-pound bludgeons, these to be applied liberally and forcibly by the love-luck swain to whatever portion of his sweetie's anatomy offered the most attractive target. In these days of super-civilization, however, the ancient ideas have been largely supplanted by beliefs that at least hold less terror for the personal safety of the weaker sex.

In the current production of the Lewis-Worth company the plot is built on the historic custom. True, the heroine is not wooed and won with an eight-foot club as the argumentative medium of her admirer, but she is forcibly carried away from home, chained up in a deserted log cabin and compelled to listen to some unpleasant truths about herself.

And in passing, it may be remarked that this particular portion of the play gives quite a delectable little sermon—for the benefit of the women and for the entertainment of the men.

As for the treatment of the play by the stock company cast, nothing need be said. The Monday offering was of the same high quality as "Madame X." "The Acquittal,"

"Scandal" and all the rest of the productions staged here by Gene Lewis and his entertainers, Mr. Lewis in the role of Jack Cragan, 20th century rough neck de luxe, is cast in a part this week that was apparently made to order for him, and the same can be said of Miss Worth, who appears as the object of Gene's primitive wrath.

Fifty per cent of the humor furnished in the play is that produced by "Zony," played Monday by Klock Ryder. "Boney" he it known, is a harmless lunatic, resident in good standing of a sanitarium, who imagines himself to be Napoleon and who, in portraying this role, manufactures some of the most wholesome and laughable comedy seen on the stage this year. Mr. Ryder's acting of the part was practically perfect.

A personal recounting of the fine work done by each member of the cast is warranted, but the bare statement that none of the characters was poorly cast and that each one applied him or herself assiduously to the task of making "The Misleading Lady" a complete success must suffice for all.

He pointed to the broadsides the realist has made upon idealism. "The demands of an age of frankness," as he puts it, "have forced the hand of the artist and the man of letters. The remark that shocked then has become a commonplace term now, when almost everyone seems to delight in calling a spade a spade. The drama that confined its action to the drawing-room now leads straight to the boudoir. The story that stopped at 11 o'clock now goes into the far-reaches of the night. The conversation that was restricted to polite generalities now discusses Freudian complexes in a matter-of-fact manner."

So it seems also to Mrs. Leslie Carter. Twenty-two years ago, this eminent actress, who was America's original Zaza, shook the foundation stones of society by removing one or two of her outer garments. Mrs. Carter now feels she was a victim of the clock. For all the kick has now gone from these disrobing scenes. The movies have seen to that. An exposure of cuticle now provokes a yawn in which the flapper and the dowager join.

Mrs. Carter, who recently came out of retirement at the solicitation of Archie Selwyn, declared: "Two decades ago I was considered an actress who played parts and depicted scenes that were apt to bring about an elevation of the eyebrows of society. Consider, in the light of the productions of the present, how much-abused a woman I have been, and how very, very tame my old parts were in comparison with the plays of the last few years."

"Why, the 'flapper' of this generation would yawn over 'Zaza.' It would not hold a single thrill for one of the sophisticated young persons now. In the old days, the hoopskirt and the bustle had not so long been off the scenes, and while the public generally took for granted the proposition that women possessed limbs, they were things to be mentioned sotto voce."

"Women, and the writers and artists who portrayed them, attached to the feminine form, and to feminine character, the ultimate of the mysterious."

"In the day just over the line of the present, one might present in the drawing-room a woman in one costume, a door leading to her boudoir, and have her exit by the door and come back in another gown, but the scene was not shifted to show the interior of the boudoir, and the actual process of changing the gown did not go on before the gaze of the multitude."

"The Lady of the Camellias was not shown in the interior of an apartment house, or on a yacht, sitting on the lap of a millionaire, wearing little of anything save a silky frame for Nature's charms. Nor did the scene take the lady into a revelation of twin beds which might, of course, serve to relieve the ennui one suffers from constantly remaining in the same surroundings, and might, therefore, be merely harmless bits of furniture in themselves.

"One saw the woman in the case in a carriage, richly dressed, making her public appearance in the fashionable drives. One might imagine that the carriage was not made by a fairy waving of a wand, that the horses did not represent her earnings as an embroidery worker, and that the flowers had not come to her door through any occult process. But the older order assumed that the impressionistic outline was sufficient.

Whereas one might not know or care particularly twenty years ago about such things, the modern audience is pretty apt to be in no doubt concerning the brand of underwear affected by the erring husband, and young persons seeking light upon the latest styles in lingerie, have no necessity for consulting shop windows.

"In a sentence, the world has undressed itself in public, and opened the door of its bedroom for light as well as air.

"Nor is all of this necessarily bad. Nobody falls into an open cave, plainly exhibited. There may be a valuable aid to society as a whole in the baring of its soul, for the methods by which homes are wrecked are made perfectly plain. One need know little mathematics to understand the principle of reversing any proposition to prove it. Reverse this one: In the process of showing why a woman lost a man, has not the exhibition also resulted in showing a wise woman how she may hold one?"

"Women lose husbands, largely, by failing to play the game all the time. They either do not know or do not remember the incessant role they are called upon to play. Very, very few of the women who have won other women's husbands have had the same basic merit as the woman who lost them. Most of the women who won the men did so by constant industry in utilizing every ounce of attraction and pleasing personality they had. Once let one of them fall in this regard, and her own lack of background would astonish and chill the fly who has been drawn to her web."

"Moving pictures have had their great part in changing the public—for it is the public that has changed. They have taken the present generation out of the frame of mind where 'Zaza' might have made a pulse beat faster."

MEMBERS GUESTS OF UNIVERSITY CLUB AT LUNCHEON TUESDAY

More than eighty stockholders of the Keystone-Ranger Development company of Pittsburgh, Pa., were guests of the University club at the regular weekly luncheon and meeting in the Kemp hotel Tuesday.

The stockholders, who are touring Texas in the various oil fields in the southwest, were cordially welcomed by Mayor Walter D. Clines on behalf of the city and were entertained by a brief address on the purposes of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans by Judge Edgar Secoy.

"I am especially pleased to be called upon to address a gathering of northern men," said Judge Secoy. "I believe that you will be able to enlighten them as to the purpose of our organization which are of a historical, educational and benevolent nature."

"In my opinion the son of a northern veteran who is not proud of his father for having fought in the Civil war and who is not proud of his record as an honorable soldier is not worthy of that father. The same is true of the son of a Confederate soldier who is not proud of his father for having fought for the north and who is not proud of his record as an honorable soldier is not worthy of that father."

"At our meetings and conventions in the past we have heard a great deal of talk about the 'old soldier' but we have never heard of the 'old soldier' who is not proud of his record as an honorable soldier is not worthy of that father. The same is true of the son of a Confederate soldier who is not proud of his father for having fought for the north and who is not proud of his record as an honorable soldier is not worthy of that father."

"Our benevolent purpose is very necessary and is a bit different from that of other organizations in that it is a Confederate soldier's club rather than the general public. The old Confederate soldier is too proud to accept of the son and daughter of the veterans."

"In conclusion, I want to impress upon you the fact that the United Sons of Confederate Veterans bear no ill will toward anyone and respect the rights of others."

The musical program was furnished by Miss Lewis, violinist.

Team workers in the "give once" charity drive were out in force for the banquet at the Y. W. C. A. Monday night.

KEYSTONE RANGER STOCKHOLDERS ON INSPECTION TRIP

MUCH IMPRESSED BY WHAT THEY FIND HERE

Visit Company's Refinery and Go To Burkburnett—To Leave Tuesday Night.

Traveling on their special train, 75 officers and stockholders of the Keystone-Ranger Development company arrived in Wichita Falls shortly before noon, were guests of the University club at luncheon here, and left at 2:30 p. m. for a visit to the company's refinery in North Wichita and to properties at Burkburnett.

The party is headed by J. E. Brown, assistant to the president, and by A. H. Sunshine, chairman of the directors. Three Pullman coaches and 75 men, all residents of Pittsburgh, are in the party, which came down Thursday morning from Henryetta, Oklahoma.

"I didn't expect to find buildings and hotels like this anywhere in Texas," said one member of the party. "The market here is very high. I didn't expect to find buildings and hotels like this anywhere in Texas."

On the train, a "daily paper" is published known as "Refined Tidbits" and it keeps the members of the party informed as to what is going on.

Knock Finley, general manager of the local properties, took charge of the party on its arrival here, and expected to bring them back, after the visit to Burkburnett Tuesday afternoon, for supper at the Kemp, after which the special train will leave for Dallas.

Those in the party are: Messrs. A. H. Sunshine, H. C. Engman, Greer, George Wing, Winslow, Fred Smith, Winger, Fred Johnson, Lohmeyer, McIntyre, C. J. Koch, F. J. Hartman, Misses Lettie Prater, Horne, Wenzel, Keller, Abernethy, Messrs. Douglas, Collier, Hester, Elzer, Messrs. Nelson, Grabert, Atkinson, Ragdon, Abercrombie, Gelbach, Soissons, Umstead, C. A. Young, C. C. Howard, Walter, Charles Donley, Walter Belstein, G. P. Hanny, Alexander, Frederick, Odenkirch, J. G. Richardson, John W. Gray, E. Zimmerman, John Knott, O. P. McKinley, R. M. Douglas, Billingsley, P. K. E. Brown and Hawkins.

The Red Cross announced a second child health conference at Burkburnett this year, to be held Friday, December 2, from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock at the child health clinic.

Mothers are invited to bring all children and babies for this second conference, and to come prepared to ask questions and solve their problems. Some questions are being asked the nurses every day, such as: "What can I cure the scales which form on my baby's scalp?" "Why does my baby take with him when sleeping in a room with the windows open, when that is healthful?" "What are the things necessary for a baby?" "How do I take care of my baby's eyes?" (Two thirds of the blindness in children follows an inflammation which is a symptom of the disease.) "Will weaning my baby affect his teeth, or make it harder for him to eat?" "What is the cause of and illness does not result from the dentition alone. Something else is wrong when there is illness."

WICHITA GLASS CO. AMONG INDICTED IN NEW YORK INQUIRY

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The federal grand jury last Monday returned an indictment charging fifty-one individuals and fifty-two corporations in the window glass industry with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, Joseph M. Neenan, president of the National Glass Workers' union, also was indicted on similar charges.

The indictment charges conspiracy between the labor union and the glass producers to limit production, thereby arbitrarily to maintain excessive prices. The defendants are all charged generally with a combination and conspiracy to suppress competition, to maintain arbitrary, excessive and extortionate prices to curtail the production and the supply of window glass and arbitrarily to control the sale, shipment and delivery of window glass into the southern district of New York, as well as in other parts of various states.

For the purpose of effectually carrying out the alleged conspiracy to arbitrarily fix excessive prices, it is charged an agreement was entered into with the labor union of the National Window Glass workers, through Mr. Neenan, whereby the sale, shipment and delivery of each of the said manufacturers, the period within which the manufacturers were to operate their plants and factories, would be determined by the union.

The corporations indicted include: Sunflower Glass company, Sapulpa; Baker Brothers Glass company, Oklahoma; National Glass company, Shreveport, La., and Wichita Falls Glass company, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Peace officers, firing at a bootlegger's automobile from the wings of an airplane, were duly a faithful ally in the act Tuesday afternoon.

The airplane flew down to the level of the city National building, and Wichita club officers could see the "law" blowing away at the fugitive bootlegger.

The stunt was staged in connection with the two-day trades event being put on by the merchants in connection with the disbanding here of the Sells-Floto circus. A band concert, and a tumbling and acrobatic show, were the main attractions staged on an improvised platform at the Kemp hotel corner, were also features of the second day of the event.

FIRST COMPLETION FOR SOME TIME IN NORTHWEST FIELD

The first well brought in from the Northwest field for a long time was completed Monday by the Bryan Oil corporation in Blaine. The top of the sand was reached at 1,863 and was drilled five feet. It is making around 75 barrels.

Cotton County, Texas. F. G. Ford and associates of this city will build a derrick for a deep test in the South Walters district of Cotton county, Oklahoma. The well has been drilled to a depth of 1,863 and is making around 75 barrels.

Location on Burnett. J. L. McMahon, general superintendent for the Texas company, returned Monday from the Panhandle after an inspection of the company's properties in that section. Mr. McMahon was accompanied by E. J. McGuigan, superintendent of production, and C. B. Clemens, chief engineer. The party left to make a location on the Burnett holdings in Carson county, where they expect to start drilling.

They have selected three possible sites and before the end of the week will decide definitely which one they will drill. The well is in Young county.

Interest continues in the South Bend district of Young county, due to the showing of the North American Refining company's No. 1 well on the B. F. Scott land. The well has an initial production of about 600 barrels from a sand zone located at 2,450 to 2,500, which appears to be the Breckenridge lime of a sandy formation. After draining the well out thoroughly, it was given a 20-quart of nitro with the result that production increased to approximately 800 barrels daily.

On the Newell lease in this district, the No. 7 well of the Tugan-Pacific Oil company that was completed last week with a full production of 1,200 barrels has been drilled 10 feet deeper and is now producing a combined average of around 5,700 barrels, which makes it one of the most productive and valuable leases in the county.

MUCH PROGRESS ON OPENING DAY OF 'GIVE ONCE' DRIVE

PRACTICALLY ALL OF WORKERS SHOW UP FOR DUTY TUESDAY MORNING.

BANQUET MONDAY NIGHT IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Members of Teams Hope to Complete Their Task By Wednesday Night.

The "give once and for all" charity campaign was launched in earnest Tuesday morning, and early in the afternoon reports indicated that satisfactory progress was being made.

Practically all workers showed up for duty, and "pinch-hitters" were available to replace the few who, for one reason or another, were unable to go out with their teams.

Monday night at the Y. W. C. A. about 100 of the workers were guests at a banquet, at which the plans for the campaign were outlined.

The campaign, in which a total of $45,000 is sought for the 1922 budgets of the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Day Nursery, Texas Children's Home and Aid society, Boy Scouts, Welfare Council and Y. W. C. A. is the first of the kind to be staged here, the new plan being adopted of combining the "drives" of these organizations, heretofore held separately, so as to put the financing on a more efficient basis.

VERY FEW CIRCUS PEOPLE REMAINED AFTER BREAK UP

Although it was believed that the personnel of the Sells Floto circus would remain in this city several days, practically all free agents departed before Tuesday morning.

The M. K. & T. put on a special train composed of two Pullman, a chair coach and two baggage cars which departed for St. Louis from the union depot at 12:10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The special train of the circus, with its equipment, all of the working class of people and a number of the actors who possess equipment that must be stored in Denver, left this city at midnight for Denver, Colo.

WHY GUESS ABOUT IT—WHEN YOU CAN KNOW ABOUT IT?

Suppose a guide said—

"This way there's a safe and pleasant road to your destination, with no risks or troubles on the way," and—

"That way there's a road that a good many have stalled on and turned back from, but you may get through."

Which would you take?

Postum is a thoroughly agreeable and satisfying meal-time drink, and you're sure that it's perfectly safe for health.

Postum or coffee? Which road?

Why guess when you can know?
