Friona will take time out from the Christmas season Saturday night for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, and everyone is urged to attend this community-wide event, which promises to be better than average.

Word early in the week was to the effect that many tickets were yet to be sold. Hopefully, residents will avail themselves of an entertaining and sociable evening, even though they are busy with Christmas prepar-

Our entertainer for the banquet, Grady Nutt, promises to be a rare treat, and it's an opportunity that residents should not miss.

. . . . We admit that we're not ordinarily a fan of Ann Landers, but a column she had last week caught our fancy, and we're quoting portions of it herewith, in hopes that those of you who didn't see it will likewise enjoy the wit.

A reader asked Ann "Why do mas time? I refer to people who compose interminable chronicles of the year's activities, and mail them to everyone who has sent them so much as a during the year."

"It is the height of ego," the writer said, "To assume that anyone, save a few intimate friends, whould wade through all that verbage. I am another good hunting year. galled by the attempts to portray glowing pictures of short of pheasants, but others elusive birds, affluence and success."

Building Totals Near $1 Million For Year

Building permits issued by the City of Friona rang up the register for construction estimated at $135,400 for the month of November.

The total brought the calendar year's total estimated construction in the city a healthy $923,400 and renewed prospects for a yearly total in excess of a million dollars for the second straight year.

Needed to put the total over the $1,000,000 mark for 1969 will be permits issued during December for construction amounting to at least $76,600. This is less than the monthly average for the first 11 months of the

Eleven permits were issued during the month, all for new residences, estimated to cost a total of $135,400. The monthly total was the third time this year that permits have topped the $100,000 mark, and represented the best month since March rang out with $114,500 in new

Pause And Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

Sometimes I get the feeling that we can't see the forest for the trees.

In our zeal to keep well-informed on current events we may tend to overreact to national and world news: thereby failing to attach sufficient importance to local happenings.

This thought is prompted by a recent visit to our newly expanded city library, of which we are very proud.

Cynics may ask, "What is so important about a small town having a few hundred books available to the public?" Time and space will not allow a full answer even if we chose to dignify the inane query by providing one. Suffice it to say that in this area there may live the boys or girls who will someday astound the world with their accomplishments in medicine, science, business, art or pol-

We cannot look into the future and name this genius to be, but it is a safe bet that he or she will find our library an important stepping stone to success.

Speaking of books-last Saturday we were reminded of H.G. Wells story, The Time Machine.

Mr. Wells (1866-1946) was an Englishman whose education and training led him into the teaching profession as a science

His vivid imagination and ability as a writer has provided us with some of the best in "science fiction." The Time Machine was a contraption that enabled the human operator to travel either backward or forward into time. For a long time the "Prairie Prowler" has felt the urge to know the high plains as they were in the old days, we therefore decided to risk the trip. Our Time Maching having been recalled by the manufacturer for some adjustments in the directional mechanism we were compelled to use a modern horseless carriage for our journey back into the late 1800's. So it came to pass that on Saturday afternoon we found surselves inside the old log cabin that Mr. Charles Goodnight had built for his line riding cowboys.

The furnishings were few and crude, but there was a good cookstove and plenty of wood.

The shelves and cupboards were stacked with provisions which would be supplemented by game and fish.

Humble though it was, it was no doubt a haven for a couple of old boys who had learned the lessons of survival by battling the elements while playing nurse maid to a herd of onery cow-

We went in the bank, the doctor's office, the blacksmith shop, the lawyer's office, a dress shop and the general store. There was one establishment whose sole purpose was the dispensing of alchololic beverages. Just as one of our party was shouldering his way through the bat-wing doors he was brought up short by a strong tug on the lobe of the right ear

Would you like to make this trip into the early Panhandle? You really don't need a time machine, all that is necessary is to drive over to the bustling college town of Canyon, Texas, and whisked back to the time machine for the homeward trip.

Once there, try to find Mr. Aubrey Pond (he has relatives

During the more than 21 years I have been a resident of the Friona area, I have on many different occasions been proud to be counted with the Frionans. In fact, I am never ashamed for anyone to know I am from Friona except when I'm attending an athletic contest, Perhaps I'm a "fuddy-duddy" or something, but I just simply don't approve of the way some adults behave themselves at ballgames. On one occasion during the past weekend the bad sportsmanship of Frionans sitting near me became so obnoxious that I moved.

This bad sportsmanship isn't of course, limited to residents of our town. At one of the games I sat with fans from a neighboring town and some of them acted no different than some Frionans had the evening before.

During the entire tournament held here last weekend, I didn't observe any participants displaying poor sportsmanship and most of the younger fans conducted themselves admirably.

Not so-some of the adults. When I hear adults criticizing the referees, differing with the scorekeepers, timekeepers, etc., I wonder if any of them ever stop long enough to consider the impression they are making on those sitting around them or the lack of effect they are having on anything.

Maybe I'm really never ashamed of being a Frionan-just ashamed at times that I am an adult sports fan. How can parents who conduct themselves in such an unbecoming manner ever hope to have much influence with their children?

Really, I'm glad that the adults who are poor sports are in the minority. Perhaps the fact that the "silent majority" makes such a little noise and the "noisy minority" makes so much is typical of many other situations in our world today.

At the beginning of this school term the Gerald Barnetts of Lubbock moved to Many Farms, Arizona, where Gerald is teaching in a boarding school for Navajo Indian children. Gerald is a graduate of Friona High School and Texas Technological University. His mother, Mrs. Ruby Barnett, and brother, Doyce Barnett, live here. Mrs. Barnett, the former Barbara Crow, is also from Friona. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Crow. She, too, has a sister, Mrs. Jimmy Norwood, who lives here.

As a direct result of the Barnetts move to Many Farms, each of the 202 Navajo Indian youngsters, who attend the boarding school nine and one half months out of the year, will this year know the wonder of packages at Christmas for probably the first time.

A recent article in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal reported a project sponsored by Barnett in detail. It was written by Fredda Gage of the A-J staff and was captioned "Lubbock Indian Guides Help Santa; Provide Gifts For Navajo Students," with a kicker line above reading, "Brighter Christmas

Being about the same year model as your humble scribe, he can remember when some of the articles, although old, were still in use.

If you can't find Mr. Pond just go on down into the basement and spend a while in the Pioneer Village.

As you view the crude equipment our ancestors used, try to appreciate the hardihood, pride, ambition and plain stubbornness required to wring a living out of the hard country.

We have come a long way over a bumpy road to reach our present high standard of living

Like all travelers we have had to discard old worn-out articles and have replaced them with new improved ones. The frightening thought is that in discarding some things we may have thrown away certain ideals and ambitions that we should have retained.

Take the children back into history a couple of generations. then bring them back to today's Frions by a gradual path strewn with explanations and family togetherness.

We think you will find the generation gap so narrow that you can step over it with no strain at all

HOW BANKS HELP Career seekers

Banking itself offers a most interesting and important life's work, for men and women alike. Banks encourage high-school and college graduates to consider banking as a career; reward those who enter it with real opportunities for training that leads to advancement. In banking, where it is traditional to promote "from the ranks," 1 in every 6 people is an officer; 1 in 10 officers is a woman. We invite young people not yet decided on a career to visit us for more information on a career in banking!

LETTERS TO EDITOR

It has been sometime since I've had a chance to read the "Star," I enjoyed it very muchkeep up the good work!

The column "FrionaSpeaks" is an outstanding idea, I hope the people of Friona use it to its full advantage for it is only through communications that "Problems" can be resolved.

In the November 20th issue, Miss Joy Morton, a former instructor of mine, answered the question, "Are you proud to be an American?" Her response, I think, presented the idea that America should remain in a state of limbo, that point between here (the now) and there (the Future). I would like to remind her and those who hold equal resentment toward these youth who "protest" that our very nation was founded by a much more violent protest. I would plea that each of you stop and ask yourself, "Why?" Yes, why have these young people turned to an open protest of things that they feel are just as important to them as was, say, "Woman's right" important to Miss Dix? Did those women of yesterday fight only to have their product-equal rights-forgotten by one who enjoys the benefits of their labor? of our Nation second-class citizens, as were the women of try to understand that the youth fights, but that it is to point out, too dramatically somefind a weakness.

Mr. Ellis,

It seems you and Mr. Lewis are always cutting down boys who have long hair. The way people act it seems that they think short hair for men was written into the Constitution,

I guess they've forgotten that most of the signers of the Constitution had long hair and some of them even wore powdered wigs. But people don't seem to feel that the value of our nation's most important document was lessened because of the length of these men's hair.

Having long hair didn't make George Washington less a President, or Thomas Jefferson less a statesman, or Robert Lee less a General. And Benjamin Franklin did alright for himself despite the hippie length of his hair.

The noise over long hair is absurd. Long hair doesn't always stand for the doctrines of radical of "speed freak", or hippie who lives off of welfare, but even if it did, why do people attack the symbol rather than the behavior and attitudes symbolized? And why attack at all? Maybe the answer is fear-fear that they won't be able to make it as this new society brings on changes, fear that they themselves will have to change or go away and die.

Just because you wear your Are the young men and women hair long doesn't mean you haven't any goals in life. It doesn't mean you want to sit only 50 years ago? Please around all your life, live off your small welfare check, and stay stoned on L.S. D.

Weds Timothy Rankin Fischer

Wedding vows were exchanged between Janis Dean Goggans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Goggans, 1202 Maple, and Timothy Rankin Fischer, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Fischer, Albuquerque, New Mexico, at 6 p.m. Friday, November 28 in First Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Bill Foil, before an archway of garlanded greenery, centered with a satin covered kneeling bench and flanked by tiered candelabra holding white tapers and baskets of bronze and yellow mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown. It was a demibell silhouette of ivory silk faced peau de soie with a pearl encrusted chantilly lace bodice, stand up collar and lace sleeves. Her chapel mantilla train of double nylon illusion bordered in lace and nearls was attached to a crown of Chantilly lace studded with crystal and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of vanda orchids surrounded by garlands of white stephnotis and streamers of white satin.

Carrying out tradition, the bride wore an heirloom silver and turquoise pendant watch, which belonged to the groom's paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. N. Arthur Fischer: a lace handkerchief that belonged to her maternal grandmother: and a blue garter and a new penny which were given to her

Throckmorton finally wore points failed to work, down the injury-ridden Lazbuddie Longhorns to capture the class B regional title, 20-8 for the second straight year over the Parmer County team.

The Longhorns, with more starters out of the lineup for the championship game than ing quarterback Barnes played they had had all season combined, stuck doggedly in the con- with young Rick Seaton at quartest for three quarters, but the patched-up backfield couldn't match its usual pace, and that cost them the game.

It left the Longhorns 10-2 for the season, compared to 11-1 a year ago, a fine two-year mark of 21-3. The team has been 19-1 in its regular-season games, a torrid .950 percen-

Monte Barnes punted the Greyhounds into trouble at their 15, and they were shoved farther back by a penalty. Throckmorton tried a wide pitchout, Greyhound back in the end zone and Lazbuddie had a 2-0 lead
