

Recently, the El Paso Herald-Post carried a letter which was quite interesting, apparently written following the recent marking of the 25th anniversary of the dropping of the A-bomb on Hiroshima.

The letter, which was also carried this past week in Charles A. Guy's column "The Plainsman" in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, brings up for the first time to residents of our part of the country some hitherto unknown happenings connected with the historic event.

The letter, sent to the El Paso paper from Lucy Bugg, who lives in El Paso, was as follows:

"Time: July 16, 1945, Place, George McDonald's ranch, 7 miles South of Carrizozo, N.M., 50 miles North of Alamogordo on Highway 54.

"About 5 a.m. George and Laura McDonald were awakened by a loud explosion: their room lighted up in orange light. George went outside. The sky was brightly lit. The world's first nuclear device had exploded.

"This atomic bomb was put together in George and Laura's home. (This part of their ranch was taken by the government as part of the vast missile range.) The bomb was taken out of the house in a small cart, riding on two iron rails. It was loaded and placed on a tower that had four big concrete posts. (Part of one post is still standing.) The scientists waited in the launching tower miles away--far enough to be a safe distance. When the scientist pulled the handle down to explode the bomb, he said, "Oh God, I hope it does not work."

"Thanksgiving vacation, 1945, I went to George and Laura's ranch. I was teaching in Albuquerque. George suggested that we visit the place where the bomb exploded. 'Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.'

"We left the 7-X ranchhouse where they lived after giving up their home and drove all day--until after dark. We visited water tanks, camp houses on the ranch. We stopped at the house where the bomb was put together, went in the car on the track still there, ate our lunch at the tower where they pulled the lever to set off the bomb. I put my hand on this lever. We went on to the blast site. The explosion made a shallow hole, saucer shape; the westerly winds had blown sand and was filling up the saucer, grass was growing. The sand at the time of the explosion turned into green glass. George had a teenage boy scoop some up for me. (I took this to Albuquerque and gave the principal a scare by taking it to school.) We took pictures of the site.

"When school was out, I took the green glass-sand to Missouri. Later I dumped it by the side of Highway 21 going to St. Louis.

"The teenage boy later was drafted. He was at his mother's home on furlough, running and playing war with his younger brothers and neighborhood boys. This boy stopped to rest, sat down under a tree and fell over dead. Several years later George started to walk from his sister-in-law's house to his car--and dropped dead. A few years ago, Laura died by inches after a long illness.

"Weeks after we visited the site, scientists wrapped their feet and legs in rubber and sacks before they went into the site, Laura told me this Easter vacation, 1946."

In his column, Charlie Guy says, "The fact that Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and the teenage boy died in what apparently were unusual ways may be coincidence."

"Then again," he says, "Their deaths may have come directly from exposure to the highly destructive materials in the A-bomb."

At any rate, he concludes, Lucy Bugg's letter gives cause for thought and should be especially interesting to those West Texans and New Mexicans so familiar with the area affected.

PLANS SHAPING UP

Slogan Announced For Maize Days

Wendell Gresham, Maize Days chairman this week announced the slogan for the 1970 celebration, gave the name of the emcee for the queen's contest, and reminded those interested in entering girls in the queen's contest of the upcoming deadline.

The slogan for the 1970 celebration will be "Maize--From Field to Fillet." This will be a theme for the float-builders to center on, as well as the queen's decorations.

Named as master of ceremonies for the queen's contest for the second straight year was Ted Weaver, former Chamber of Commerce manager, who now holds a similar position at Sweetwater.

Queen's contest chairmen, Mrs. Edwin Wilson and Mrs. Deon Awtry, reminded merchants, clubs and organizations who wish to enter a contestant in the contest of the August 20 deadline--just two weeks away.

Some seven or eight entries have already been received. Entrants' names, along with a check for $10 should be sent to one of the two chairmen.

Entrants in the contest will be required to do a three-minute talent act. All entrants will perform their talent numbers on the afternoon of September 3. The ten finalists will perform at the pageant finals.

Gresham also says he has asked for the use of the old Nunn Lumber building from Carl McCaslin, to use for a fine arts display during the celebration. Friona Consumers are using the building while their new home is under construction, but are expected to be out by then.

WHERE TO START? . . . High School Principal Raymond Cook probably typifies school administrators and teachers, who are faced with the fact that their summer break from school has either ended or is about to end. School principals will enroll students new to the system next week. Other enrollment begins August 21.

Amendments Are Being Presented

Four of the seven proposed constitutional amendments, to be voted on by Texas voters in November, are being published this month in the Star. They appear in this issue on Page 5.

Some of the amendments appear to be raising much controversy. Voters are urged to read the amendments, so as to be in a position to cast their ballots in November.

The Star will attempt to get the other amendment texts published prior to voting time.

Rain Heaviest In City Limits

Last Saturday morning's rain brought smiles to Friona residents, as it measured officially 2.08 inches.

However, the adjoining country side didn't fare as well, with 1.5 inches being about the top report. Hub received a half inch, and the fall was also lighter to the west. Some farmers were able to shut off their wells for a couple of days, however.

TOTALS GIVEN

City Sets Budget Hearing Monday

City Manager A.L. (Jake) Outland will recommend a $359,322 annual budget for the 1971 fiscal year for the City of Friona at the regular monthly meeting of the Friona City Council next Monday night.

The budget will be an increase of only $360 over the one for the present fiscal year, which ends on September 30. The increase is only one-tenth of one per cent. Total disbursements for the upcoming fiscal year are estimated at $323,340--compared to $313,091 for the current year. This is an increase of $10,249 and will leave the estimated balance at the end of the 1971 fiscal year at $35,982--compared to $45,871 at the end of the current year.

"The new budget will be balanced, although very close. However, it should carry us for the coming year," Outland says. He is recommending that the tax rate remain unchanged at $1.30 per $100 assessed evaluation.

In leaving the rate unchanged, the city has two avenues of increased revenue. They are the city sales tax, which should bring in an estimated $26,000 per year, and additional taxable property, which additions for the 1971 tax year total $502,400. This could bring in an additional $6,500 in taxes.

Principal item under capital expenditures in the 1971 budget is a budgeted $10,000 for additional water well sites. Also under this heading is a $2,000 item for new firemen's suits and $300 for new library books. A large item is expected to be subdivision repayments, although no specific amount is budgeted.

Also on the new budget are salary increases for city employees, at two to three per cent.

The city manager points out that the proposed budget contains no allocations for the taking over, furnishing, or insuring the present Friona State Bank when the City begins using it for its office.

The city manager points out that building permits continue to be reasonably good. Water meters afford another opportunity for revenue to the city.

The public is invited to attend the budget hearing, and make any comments they might wish to make.

New Students To Register

Superintendent of Schools Alton Farr asked this week that any students who will be new to the Friona school system for the coming school term to pre-enroll next week at one of the three principal's offices. Students from the new special kindergarten class through grade four should be pre-enrolled at J.T. Gee's office in the Primary Building.

Those who will be in the fifth through the eighth grades are asked to go to Tom Jarboe's office at Friona Junior High, and those who will be in high school are asked to enroll with principal Raymond Cook.

Principals will be in their offices between the hours of 9-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. all next week.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Chamber Pushes For Downtown Post Office

The Friona Chamber of Commerce board of directors discussed the organization's annual meeting, talked about its drive to keep the Post Office located downtown, and approved sponsorship of a "developmental training" program for Friona merchants at its monthly meeting Tuesday morning at the Farmer House Restaurant.

Dale Smith and Jon Mack Roden were appointed to a committee to serve with president Steve Messenger in looking for possible banquet speakers and setting the banquet date. Chamber directors were generally in favor of a December banquet, such as was held last year.

John Blackburn, Andy Hurst and Dr. Loyd Shackelford are serving on a committee which is working to secure a downtown location for the new post office building in Friona, which was approved by the Post Office Department recently.

The directors passed a motion to sponsor a series of three programs to be presented by the Developmental Training Service Co., designed to help employees, managers and owners be better sales people and develop their business potential to the fullest.

Joel Combs, who met with a local committee last Thursday and discussed the program, is to meet shortly with a steering committee which will work out details of time, location, etc., of the clinic. Cost of participation is $23.50 per person.

In other business, the board heard a report from Maize Days chairman Wendell Gresham and discussed its participation in the Texas Industrial Council's awards program. The chamber plans to prepare an entry on the expansion program in 1969 at Missouri Beef Packers. Clarence Martin gave a report on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce board meeting in Abilene recently. Martin, one of the WTCC directors, is on the organization's Agriculture and Industrial committees. Messenger, who is on the state affairs and Education committee, also attended the meet. The Chamber directors discussed the fact that its freight

Bear, a constant passenger in the back of Tannahill's pickup, fell out recently while warding off another dog and possible enemy of his master. He gets around remarkably well with the cast, however, and is back at his station again, having about three more weeks to go in the cast.

Pause and Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

From Plymouth, England to Palo Duro Canyon, Texas, U.S.A., is about 5000 miles.

August 1970 is 350 years removed from Sept. 1620 when the good ship Mayflower put out into the north Atlantic's stormy seas.

Yet these two events were strangely linked last Saturday night. Let me tell you how.

Ye Olde Prairie Prowler was ready to leave for "Texas" and a night of camping in Palo Duro when Anne Spring ran in with a cup and spoon—souvenirs of her recent trip to Merry England.

We were delighted to get them and made sure that the cup was packed in the case with the cameras and other valuables.

Later in the day we pitched camp below the fifth water crossing and soon had the cup brimming full of strong black coffee.

This brew was the kind that old cowboy Slim Ashcraft calls "out door coffee"—you don't want to drink it and try to stay indoors: nor do you have to drink two cups of it to get one cup of coffee!

As we sipped this nectar the sun slipped down past the canyon's western rim and it was then that the years of time and miles of space separating Plymouth, England and Palo Duro Canyon began to fade into the living tapestry of English-American history.

There is no denying the great bonds of language, names, and law that exist between the two countries.

The Magna Carta forced upon King John of Runnymede in 1215 was in reality the backbone of our present Bill of Rights.

Only three weeks ago we had stood before one of the two authentic hand written copies of this ancient document: our thoughts racing back through time in appreciation of the independent spirit of its authors. (Library of Congress, Wash. D.C.)

We had also visited the graves of our maternal ancestors and read the worn rock's message "Warren Green Pool—England 1798."

We travelled a modern highway that followed the course of Pigeon River in western N.C. where John Lewis came from Wales to settle in the mid sixteen hundreds.

Although the years have seen other bloodlines, including Cherokee, blending into the Anglo-Saxon stock our respect for the English remains undimmed: despite the unpleasantness of the late seventeen hundreds!

And so we felt right at home enjoying coffee from a cup commemorating the 350th sailing of the Mayflower.

The Canyon is darkening, campfires twinkle like lightning-bugs up and down the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River. Every conceivable type of trailer, tent, and camper is present.

Children freed from the concrete jungle race around the area and usually wind up in the river, splashing and yelling like wild Indians.

Parents are busy making camp, preparing supper and they no doubt breathe a silent prayer that Junior will not pull the canyon walls down on top of the whole shebang!

Even the elements contribute to the perfection of the spectacular pageant "Texas."

A bugle heralds the beginning of the play, up on the caprock a lone rider carrying the Texas flag is silhouetted against the evening sky.

At this very moment, one huge brilliant star appears above the rim-rock and two thousand faces lift skyward in hushed appreciation.

Any description of this performance is far and away beyond the meager skill of your scribe.

If you have not seen it you have a major treat in store.

At midnight we have another cup of coffee and notice how the gold lettering on the cup reflects the fire light.

A small thing?

No: rather a gleaming symbol of the contentment available to each of us if we will learn to retire occasionally "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife" and say with Browning's Pippa—

"God's in His Heaven—

GOTEBO, OKLA., RECORD-TIMES: "One man tackles the hard job first and keeps on until he completes it. He succeeds, goes up the ladder and pays taxes to help support the government by income payments. Another man does the easy job first and sidesteps the hard one. He fails in business or loses his job and the government helps support him out of the first man's taxes. Nevertheless, most of us would rather be the first man."

WALTERBORO, S.C., PRESS & STANDARD: "There has never been a party in power which was not criticized by the press, which was not questioned by the press, not challenged by the press. This is the duty of the press. If government edicts were not questioned, nor challenged, it would not be long before the government was in complete control of the people, and their thoughts."

Who Lobbies For The Taxpayers?

When Congressman Daniel J. Flood of Pennsylvania brought before Congress the appropriation bill (H.R. 18515) "for the Departments of Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare, and related agencies," he had with him an enormous stack of documents.

"Take a look at that table—at the committee table in front of me here," Mr. Flood admonished his colleagues. What he had was the printed transcript of the hearings before the Appropriations Committee relative to the Labor-HEW bill. They ran to seven volumes, totalling more than 7,400 pages.

"We have not had the time to count the number of witnesses," Congressman Flood continued. "But I assure you it runs into the hundreds... we heard them—including 193 non-government witnesses, who asked to be heard."

Few people outside of Washington comprehend the tremendous pressure exerted on Congress by "special interest groups,"—all looking for "government money"—meaning, of course, your money because the government doesn't have any money that it doesn't take from you.

Not only do the "public" special interest groups exert great pressure, but the government bureaucracy itself—the non-elected, paid employees of the various bureaus have also come to be a powerful political force. They all have their special causes, too. That is why the Labor-HEW bill this year was two billion, three hundred million dollars over the comparable appropriations for last year, and $93 million over the President's budget for 1970, for a total of $18,800 million.

"That," said Mr. Flood, "is not hay, even for my friends with the bleeding hearts on the subject."

Perhaps he could have added: taxpayers bleed, too.

40 YEARS AGO--AUGUST 8, 1930

A group of Friona young people enjoyed an outing at Palo Duro Canyon Sunday, leaving here in the morning and arriving at the canyon before lunch time. The day was filled with exploring, wading the creek, and a fine dinner under the trees. Those enjoying the outing were Misses Estella Welch, Mary Kathryn, Helen and Dorothy Crawford, Margret Goodwine, Mary Reeve, Marie Clemen and Alice Guyer; Messrs. Milfred Alexander, Heard, Otho and Orville Whitefield, Nelson and Willie Howell Welch and Hadley and Glenn Reeve.

T.N. Jasper last week received an invitation from the program committee of the XIT Ranch Reunion to attend the reunion with his yoke of fine whitefaced black oxen and his ox wagon, with which he delivers freight here and does other draying business. Mr. Jasper and his oxen have attracted a great deal of attention from people visiting Friona and from tourists in cars or on the trains, and the oxen have perhaps had their pictures taken more often than any other oxen in the United States.

Directors of Parmer County Community Hospital are in the process of drawing up plans and specifications for a 3,250-square foot addition to the clinic of the hospital. The new addition will be designed to facilitate five doctors with consultation rooms and two treatment rooms each. As the hospital now stands the doctors, when working at capacity rush periods, keep patients overflowing in the waiting rooms.

Carlsbad Caverns Offers Musical

CARLSBAD, N. M. — Something new has been added for the hundreds of thousands of Texans who will visit Carlsbad this summer. Along with the timeless appeal of Carlsbad Caverns, there's a new musical review, Desert Fiesta, livening up the tourist scene through Labor Day.

A million-dollar civic undertaking headed by Ed Fowler of Carlsbad, Desert Fiesta is a 90-minute musical review for the whole family. Housed in its own attractive, 2,000 seat theatre on the southern edge of town, the show features a cast of 50, including a 15-piece orchestra, with thousands of dollars in elaborate costumes and sets.

The technical crew and performers, many of them professionals, represent 16 states and 23 U. S. colleges and universities, the 15 Texans outnumbering those from any other state. They were chosen from many hundreds of applicants in auditions conducted by Dallasites Charles R. Meeker, Jr., and Judith Houshton who wrote and produced the show.

Meeker, president and executive producer of the Miss Teenage America Pageant and producer of shows at Cedar Point in Ohio, formerly produced Texas State Fair Musicals and the live shows at both Six Flags

Over Texas and Six Flags Over Georgia.

The opening production number is a panorama of early-day New Mexico, complete with Conquistadores and flamenco dancing girls, castanets, capewirling and tambourines — and "Coronado" on a real, live horse!

Other major sets include an old-time Western saloon, with cowboys and can-can chorus line, and the patriotic finale at a Fourth of July picnic, which features barbershop quartet harmony, banjo plucking and other nostalgic entertainment.

In between, there are front-of-the-curtain solos and Western vignettes performed on a side stage to maintain the show's unusually fast pace. Highlights include the ventriloquism act of Texan Jay Johnson and his "close personal friend," Squeaky; a stunning adagio ballet by Catherine Miller and John Paul of Michigan, and a medley by singing star David Wylie of Louisiana.

Shows are presented at 7 and 9:30 p. m. nightly, except Wednesday, with 3 p. m. matinees on Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are available at the theatre box office daily or from Desert Fiesta, Box 1133, Carlsbad, N. M. 88220 (505 887-2811) and are priced for adults at $2.00 and, under age 18, at $1.60.

Farmer's Union Opposes House Agriculture Bill

Statement by Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman

The Nixon Farm Bill which was approved by the House Agriculture Committee last week does not measure up to the objectives of the Farmers Union program. It will remove the traditional concept of parity price protection to farmers, undermine the loan program as a price support, and deny farmers the opportunity to keep supply in line with demand. It will reduce net farm income and further depress the already weak agricultural economy.

Although Secretary of Agriculture Hardin's recommendations are being publicized as a consensus of viewpoints and a program that is generally consistent with existing programs, it is neither. It does not have the support of a single general farm organization. It radically departs from the basic principals in present programs by eliminating marketing quotas on cotton and permitting open-end production of all the basic commodities. It gives the secretary of agriculture unprecedented authority to set price supports on wheat and feed grains. It removes all price floors and imposes price ceilings.

The enactment of the Nixon

Farm proposal would result in lower prices and reduced income for all farm commodities. The amount of the cut would depend on how Secretary Hardin administered the program. Market prices would slump to world levels and an immediate build-up of surpluses would be inevitable. Lower livestock prices would doubtlessly result from cheap grain and feed wheat.

Cotton producers would be particularly hard hit if the House Agriculture Committee-approved program passes Congress. A decline in income of from $10 to $15 per bale in 1971 would be the minimum. Texas cotton producers would lose from $40 to $50 million! The Nixon Farm Bill would create a more serious cost-price squeeze in agriculture. It will force additional farm families off the land and into the urban centers. It would remove the incentive for young farmers to stay in agriculture. It will seriously depress the economics of small towns and rural communities.

If the Administration's recommendation passes, farm prices will be reduced but the

Friona Boy Hurt In Cycle Wreck

Danny Parker, continues to be hospitalized in Herman Hospital, Houston, recovering from a motorcycle accident on July 26 which left him with a broken right arm and multiple fractures of his right leg.

His mother, Eva Marie Parker, returned to Friona this week after spending a week with her son.

Parker was riding with a group in a national forest about 50 miles from Houston, when he hit a deep chuck hole with his cycle.

Mrs. Parker says that Danny will spend from six weeks to two months in traction. His arm has been badly swollen, and will require therapy, and bones in his leg were shattered. Hospital officials expect him to be in a body cast for quite some time.

In the meantime, Parker will appreciate a card or letter from friends in Friona.

Farmer's Union...

consumer will not benefit. The Bill is more of a "trade bill" which is designed to benefit the middle-man who buys from farmers than it is a "farm bill." It will benefit most those whose profits depend on increased volume and low prices. Both farmer and consumer will be penalized.

Farmers Union cannot support the Nixon-Hardin Farm Bill. We will exert every effort to get a program passed in the Senate that will increase net farm income and preserve family farm agriculture.

YEARBOOK ARRIVES. . . Baker Duggins, faculty sponsor, and Denise Buske, a staff member, are shown as they uncrated the first box of 1970 Friona High School yearbooks. The annuals will be distributed next Tuesday to all who purchased them. Also, there will be a limited number for sale after the buyers get their books.

SCHEDULE GIVEN

1970 Chieftain Yearbooks To Be Distributed Tuesday

The 1970 Friona High School Yearbook, "The Chieftain," will be distributed to all who purchased annuals at the High School principal's office on Tuesday, August 11.

The yearbook, which is 20 per cent larger in terms of pages than the previous year's annual, is the first to be printed on a "summer delivery" schedule. It contains complete reports on all spring activities, including graduation. Previous yearbooks, with the end-of-school delivery, could not do this.

Baker Duggins, faculty advisor for the yearbook, asks students to call for their yearbooks next Tuesday by the following schedule, using 1970-71 grades:

Grades nine through graduates: 9 to 11 a.m.; grades seven and eight: 11 to 12 noon; grades five and six, 1 to 2 p.m.; and grades two, three and four: 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Those who did not order an annual but wish to purchase one may do so between 3:30 and 4 p.m. that day.

The yearbook, which was edited by Norman Mohr with Danny Kendrick as assistant, is termed "Volume 50." It has a white cover, with a beautiful four-color frontispiece which is a silhouette of an Indian Chieftain against the rays of the rising sun. Owners of a yearbook may be surprised to know that the picture was taken by staff photographers, and was not done professionally.

Besides the frontispiece, there are two pages at the front of the book in four-color printing.

The division pages are attractively done, using color and picture insets. They were designed and drawn by editor Norman Mohr.

The most beautiful and most handsome selections, which are to be secret until the yearbook is passed out Tuesday were judged by television personality Bill Cosby, who commented on the toughness of his job. "I'm only sorry you wouldn't let me call it a tie," Cosby wrote.

The yearbook contains 272 pages, and is a credit to its staff and sponsor.

committee is scheduled to meet with officials of Curry Motor Freight Co. to talk about freight problems which are cropping up locally.

Attending the meeting, in addition to directors Marc Houser, Ralph Shirley, Roden, Martin, Smith and Messenger were new Chamber Manager Billy Jones and secretary, Mrs. Russell Bryant, Bill Ellis and Wendell Gresham.

Four Teenagers Hurt In Wreck

Four Friona teenagers were injured in a wreck last Friday in Lubbock. The four had just completed a week of summer workshop activity on the Texas Tech campus.

Injured were Bryan Elliott, who sustained a broken pelvis bone, Shiela Struve, who has a back injury, and Fran Dodd, who has a cracked jawbone. The fourth youngster, Dwayne Bauer, was treated for cuts and abrasions and released.

Elliott and Miss Struve continue to be hospitalized. The four were riding in the Dodd Cadillac and the crash occurred at a dead-end street they were not anticipating. The car was totally wrecked.

Enrollment Schedule Announced For Friona

Enrollment schedule for the Friona school system was announced this week by Superintendent of Schools Alton Farr.

High School students will enroll on August 21 from 9 a.m. at the high school auditorium. Students in grades seven and eight will enroll at the junior high school auditorium on the same day, also beginning at 9 a.m. Students in grade 6 will enroll at the junior high auditorium, starting at 1 p.m. on the 21st.

Those who will be in kindergarten through the fifth grade will enroll on August 24, which is also the first day of school.

All teachers will be on duty the week of August 17-21 for in-service training. The first general faculty meeting is slated for August 17 at 8 a.m.

"Been reading the classics," boasted Dum-Dum to his friend, "but I still don't know what's a Greek urn."

His friend thought for a moment and replied, "What difference how much money a Greek makes? Just concentrate on the classics."

"It's another 'listen in' Mary. I'll call you from the drug store."

Why force your teenager out of the house when it costs so little to give her some privacy? Just a few cents a day gives her an extension phone of her own—and helps make growing up a lot easier.

Hub Intersection Is Accident Scene

Three persons were injured two of them seriously, in a car-truck accident at the Hub intersection last Wednesday. The accident was the third this year for the intersection of Highways 214 and 86.

The accident involved a 1966 Ambassador Sedan and a 1969 Chevrolet truck. Highway Patrolman Mike Greer said the sedan, driven by Ralph L. Ford, 57, of Lawton, Okla., apparently failed to see the flashing red light and stop sign.

The car was eastbound on Highway 86, and the truck was headed north on Highway 214.

The truck, driven by Mary Rogers LaComb of Friona, almost made it across the intersection, but the sedan, which skidded some 92 feet, struck the truck at the rear tandem. The car then spun around and came to rest in the center of the highway, blocking the northbound lane of Highway 214.

Force of the impact caused the truck to lose its brakes, and it was forced to coast to a stop, some 1000 feet from the point of impact.

Alma Pauline Ford, 51, was the most seriously injured. She had both of her legs broken plus internal injuries. Mrs. Ford also was said to have a heart condition. She had to stay in the wreck some 30 minutes while a doctor was summoned from Parmer County Community Hospital.

Willie Faye Stanford, 50, of Tipton, Okla., received back injuries, a fractured pelvis and internal injuries.

Ralph Ford, the driver, had a broken arm and lacerations.

The impact knocked the undercarriage out from under the truck, and bent the frame, but the body was not scratched. The truck belonged to John Bingham, and ironically, a Bingham truck was involved in one of the other recent crashes at the intersection, although it was less serious.

Two ambulances from Claiborn Ambulance Service were required to transport the injured to Parmer County Community Hospital. They were later transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Mrs. LaComb, driver of the truck, was not injured.

At Home In Parmer County

By Janice Miller
County HD Agent

The District 4-H Dress Revue was Tuesday, August 4 at the Villa Inn in Amarillo. Parmer County was represented by four members. Coy Jameson, Friona, served as an escort at the annual event. Deborah Harding competed in the senior division of the Revue. Penny Norton represented the 9-11 year age group and Lee Ann Williams represented the 12-13 year age group. The three girls are from Farwell.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
1/4 teaspoon each of ground savory, ground tarragon, crumbled bay leaf, celery salt
Alternate layers of tomato, cucumber and onion in shallow glass dish. Beat dressing ingredients together. Pour over vegetables and chill, covered, for at least 12 hours. Drain and serve on shredded lettuce. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 6 servings.

For those of you who like cucumbers, try this way of serving them:

TOMATOES VINAIGRETTE
2 medium tomatoes, sliced
1 medium cucumber, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/2 onion, sliced separated into rings
lettuce, shredded
Dressing:
1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 cup wine vinegar

For a tempting salad dish, thaw frozen lemon and lime concentrate. Mix with an equal amount of cold water. Chill well in the refrigerator—about one hour. Pour over cantaloupe balls in dessert dishes and garnish with sprigs of mint.

For those of you who are putting meat in the freezer now, remember to wrap it in heavy aluminum foil or heavy freezer paper. This vapor-proof wrap prevents "freezer burn."

Attorney Is Given Honor

Farwell attorney Sam L. Aldridge, 63, was named General Practitioner of the Year recently by the State Bar of Texas general practice section.

The announcement was by George T. Barrow of Houston, past section chairman, at an opening session of the Bar's 88th annual meeting.

Long active in area civic affairs, Aldridge is a former mayor of Farwell. He served as County Attorney of Parmer County in 1946-54 and was a member of the Texas Public Safety Commission in 1952-56.

A native of Bovina, Aldridge has practiced law at Farwell for 36 years, except for three years as a special agent for the F.B.I. He graduated from New Mexico Military Institute and the University of Texas School of Law and was admitted to the bar in 1933.

Throughout Parmer County two weeks ago an outbreak of maize dwarf mosaic virus occurred in grain sorghum. Outbreaks were also reported in Bailey, Castro and Deaf Smith Counties. Although not new to the Panhandle-South Plains area, MDMV has not been this widespread over the entire grain sorghum producing area before.

As you have seen, the symptoms vary from chlorotic mottle of light and dark green areas intermingled to a red leaf symptom under certain conditions. The type of symptom will depend on the variety of the sorghum, the stage of infection and certain environmental conditions.

The red leaf symptom usually appears when temperatures are cool for a period below 75 degrees to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Plants growing under the same conditions and not infected do not show the red leaf symptoms. Malformed heads, small seed and varying degrees of sterility are symptoms associated with disease developments.

Several grass type plants, including Johnsongrass and Quack grass are susceptible to the virus. The grasses are perennial and carry the virus through the winter. Virus particles become distributed throughout all parts of the plant except the seed.

Green bugs and corn leaf aphids feed on the grasses before transferring to the milo plants. They carry the virus in their mouthparts and transmit it to the milo. The amount of infection that develops within a given sorghum field depends upon the extent of occurrence of overwintering host plants in or around the field and population level of aphids.

Prevention of MDMV infections can best be accomplished by eradication of perennial host grasses such as Johnsongrass, in fields or near fields where sorghum is to be grown. It has been observed that losses are much greater where infected Johnsongrass is present in the sorghum field. The keys for control of the virus are sorghum variety selection, insect control and Johnsongrass control. For more information contact the county extension office.

The Northwest Public Power Association noted that West Germany has announced plans to build five new nuclear-powered generating plants in the next three years. The plants are valued at an equivalent of $550 million. Total output is estimated at 2,100 megawatts. Further plans call for the building of 14 other nuclear-powered stations in the Federal Republic by 1975.

MAIL CARRIER

Many a note that should be read, and often signed, gets lost in the journey from school to home. There is no sure cure for these mysterious disappearances, but Junior will have a harder time losing them if you paste a big envelope inside the back cover of his workbook to hold them.

STYLISH KNIT-PICKING—Double knit cotton provides two fashionable ways to keep your knits about you comfortably this fall. Ideal for classroom or office wear is the long-sleeved dirndl dress with body-hugging shirt top and wide side belts that tie in back. At right, a chevron-patterned pantsuit with long fitted tunic jacket and flare pants with fly front. Both designed by Wayne Rogers for No Comment.

IRAN BOUND... Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Patton and daughters, Charla and Jill, are on their way to Tehran, Iran, where they plan to be living for the next two years. The Pattons, who are teachers, will be employed in the American school there and will be teaching children of all people, diplomats, and other Americans living in the city. The Pattons, who have been living at Lake Jackson, plan to do a lot of traveling in their spare time. Pat and Jimmy both grew up here and will probably be the only Frionans in Iran for the next few years.

FHS Twirlers Attend WTSU Twirling School

The Friona High School Twirlers attended the West Texas State University Band and Twirling School July 12-24.

At the WTSU school, the group learned new routines to use during the 1970-71 football season. One of the favorites is a dance routine to Hawaii 5-0.

While at WTSU, the group took advantage of many of the college facilities, such as the new activity center. The center has an Olympic-size swimming pool, a bowling alley, pool tables, game rooms, TV rooms, and four full-sized basketball courts.

In addition, there are trampolines, badminton courts and a ballroom.

First appearance of the twirlers will be in the Maize Days parade, and a spokesman for the group said they were looking forward to this, as well as appearances at football games.

Connie Stone, Bryan Jameson Exchange Wedding Vows

In a candlelight ceremony at First Baptist Church at 6:00 p.m. Saturday, August 1, wedding vows were exchanged between Connie Mae Stone and Bryan Earl Jameson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Travis Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jameson.

Reverend Glen Williams, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church of Muleshoe performed the ceremony before double arch candelabra filled with white and avocado green candles. The double arch was flanked by spiral candelabras filled with avocado green candles and decorated with yellow daisies interspersed among greenery. A bouquet of white gladiolus and yellow daisies stood at each end. A white kneeling bench completed the altar arrangement.

Elaine Boyle, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Paula Fortenberry, as she sang, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" and "A Time For Us". At the conclusion, she sang, "The Wedding Prayer."

As the bride was escorted to the altar by her father she wore a formal gown of clipped Chantilly lace over poie de sole. The gown featured a sashina neckline, short puffed sleeves with a wide cuff. The empire bodice was accented with a bias fold of poie de sole. Small covered buttons went down the front of the A-line skirt. Two rows of scalloped lace outlined the bottom of the skirt. A Watteau Chapel length train flowed from the skirt. The headpiece was a beaded crown with imported illusion attached. She carried a lace covered Bible topped with a yellow throated cattleya orchid with English Ivy garland and satin streamers.

The bride presented her mother with a red rose as she came up the aisle and presented the groom's mother with a red rose as she came down the aisle.

The couple extinguished two burning candles and lighted one at the conclusion of the ceremony signifying their life together.

Mrs. Linda Reznik of Lubbock was her sister's Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Jan Jameson, sister of the groom, Joyce Riley, of Lamesa, and Mrs. Joyce Pierce of Lubbock. They wore identical floor length dresses of yellow pole-sole, princess style with sheer organza sleeves and accented with tiny avocado green bows down each side of the front. They carried baskets filled with yellow daisies and avocado green bows.

Mindy Stone, of Lamesa, cousin of the bride was flower girl. She wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids and carried a smaller basket of yellow daisies and green bows.

Douglas and Russell Stepanion, twins from Lubbock, were the ring bearers. They carried heart shaped satin covered pillows topped with tiny bells, a dove nestled in white bows and a lily of the valley with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Kenneth Koch of Fort Worth was best man. Groomsmen were Gary Phipps, cousin of the groom, Mike Reznik of Lubbock and Steve Stone, brother of the bride.

Candlelighters were Myrna Phipps, cousin of the groom and Wade Jameson, brother of the groom. Myrna wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids, white gloves and a yellow daisy corsage.

Ushers were Gary Stone, brother of the bride and Coy Jameson, brother of the groom.

Rose Denney registered the guests and handed out scrolls. The table was covered with a white satin cloth with netskirts. A white and yellow daisy arrangement was on the table.

For the wedding, the bride's mother wore a turquoise linen dress with lace sleeves and beige accessories. The groom's mother wore a white double knit, A-line dress with black accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white taffeta cloth with draped sides and white net skirts. It was decorated with avocado green bows, yellow daisies and white wedding bells.

The yellow three tiered cake was decorated with love birds, cherubs and miniature brides maids and groomsmen. The cake was topped with the traditional bride and groom. A Silver candelabra bowl filled with yellow and white daisies stock and babies breath centered the table. A silver punch bowl and tray and silver appointments completed the setting.

The groom's table was round with a green cloth trimmed in gold. Guests were served coffee and chocolate cake.

Servers at the bride's table were Judy Phipps, cousin of the groom and Kathy Hardin of Levelland. Deloris Phipps and Kathy Bandy, cousins of the groom, served at the groom's table.

Sincerely Yours

BY REV. ALBERT LINDLEY

I really don't know how the situation will be by the time you read this--you should read it first--but from the way things are looking as I write, Pro Football just won't be for this year.

As I anticipate this, I am spending more time watching the commercials on T.V. when they show some football plays because it just may be that that will be the only Pro ball we will see this year.

I sure hope not--and as I said--by the time you read this, it might all be over.

Can you imagine how family conversations may be back in vogue before long, with no Sunday afternoon games?

The American Way of Life for Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day and New Year's Day, may have to be drastically changed to take care of the possibilities of a listening audience once again. . . wow! What reverberations. . .

I use to think it would be fun to be able to foresee the future--to know what was going to happen and just what question would be asked on a certain quiz--ha. I would think of the vast fortunes I would acquire by being able to tell others how it would all turn out. . . man, wouldn't that be rough? To be able to know everything that was going to happen?

Wasn't it in Ann Landers (Yes, sometimes) the other day that the woman talked about something bad that was supposed to happen as related by some "fortune teller" and then how very long the lady lived in fear of its happening? (It never did.)

Of course, there are some things it would sure help to know about--Stock markets--all kinds of predictions--etc., but not really.

We might think we would like the idea of knowing in advance but the knowledge would literally run us crazy. We wouldn't be capable of dealing with it all. I think God knew to keep us "looking in a mirror, darkly" as Paul comes, through again in his usual way.

I'm reminded of a meeting of a certain conference of ministers and the subject of higher education was being discussed. One brother found considerable satisfaction in being able to boast that he was not a product of the "preacher factories," as he termed the denomination's schools. "I thank God for my ignorance," he exclaimed.

"Brother," said the presiding bishop, "you apparently have a lot to be thankful for."

Well, there are things we need to be grateful for, and not knowing it all is a part of what I'm trying to say. . .

Now, back to my subject--if I had one--to be able to know in advance would keep our human nature doing "flip-flops" trying to "line up our ducks" (you should remember that one) before certain things would happen. We would be trying to out-guess the "instant replay" before it even occurred. . .

Yes, I think God knew to keep us in the dark. But I'm not so sure he intended for us to be "stupid" about it all and literally pass away our chances of being what he meant for us to be. . . do you suppose?

The difference between not knowing what we are not supposed to know and not knowing what we are supposed to know--is a great distance. . . in fact, this is where we live and this is where reality is found. We have to make our choices as to what we are going to do about it all and being complacent isn't what will work.

Of course, we need to guard against becoming too much of a litudinarian, also. (Try that one on.)

It is just a simple fact of action. . .

The treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society went to the town bank to make a deposit for the society. Handing the money and book to the teller, she said, "Here's the Aid money."

The teller thought she said "egg money" and desiring to be pleasant, remarked: "Well, the old hens certainly were busy last week, weren't they?"

I'll wager that you already know more than you are doing. . .

Cool Colorado seems to have been calling a lot of local people during the past several weeks. It seems that some Frionans are always coming or going from the Northeastern New Mexico-Central Colorado area.

The Earl Grahams took off for a few days, for the first time in a number of years, according to the grapevine report I heard, and went sightseeing in the Denver-Colorado Springs area. Kenneth and Mickey Williams and children have just returned from a fishing jaunt, which took them as far as Lake City, Colorado.

The Leland Hutsons spent several days in the Red River, New Mexico area as did the Rene Sneads. Think the Sneads also fished over in Colorado a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Spring, Susie and Johnny returned Friday after spending a couple of weeks fishing and sightseeing. They went as far as Yellowstone National Park and saw a lot of interesting things between here and there.

As they were enroute home Friday afternoon, they stopped at a place in Trinidad. Before they had been there very long, Bill and Fadine Wooley drove up. Then before they got away, Wright and Jane Williams drove up.

Had anyone known all three families were in the same general area, they would not have expected them all to be at the same place at the same time.

Looks like a game of "fruit basket turn over" is going on in the West part of town. Robert and Connie Neelley and children, Ben and Lee Ann, are soon moving to Houston. They have sold their house on Arrah Street to the Dub Ingrams, who have lived on a farm south of town for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jones, who are new in our town, have purchased the home of the J.C. Becks on Watkins and will be moving in as soon as the Becks move about a block away into the house which the Gerald Floyds moved out of early in the Spring.

Mrs. Beck is the Star's bookkeeper and her husband is the Santa Fe agent here. They have been kind of playing hop scotch out on West Sixth for a few years. First they lived on Sixth, then moved northwest a few blocks and are now moving southwest back onto Sixth.

Even though it isn't Independence Day, Veteran's Day or any other national holiday, I enjoyed reading the following and hope you do too. Really Old Glory and other symbols of Americanism are to be enjoyed any day of any year.

I AM OLD GLORY.
For more than nine score years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom, I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a united nation of fifty sovereign states.

Planted firmly on the high pinnacle of American Faith, my gently fluttering folds have proved an inspiration to untold millions. Men have followed me into battle with unswerving courage. They have looked upon me as a symbol of national unity. They have prayed that they and their fellow citizens might continue to enjoy the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which have been granted to every American as the heritage of free man.

So long as men love liberty more than life itself; so long as they treasure the priceless privileges bought with the blood of our forefathers; so long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all remain deeply rooted in human hearts, I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States.
