CHARGED WALTON USED STATE FUNDS IN FIGHT ON KLAN

FURTHER TESTIMONY INTRODUCED AT IMPEACHMENT HEARING

CHIEF CLERK HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT TESTIFIES

Declares Clerks Were Taken From Their Work to Write Letters For Governor.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 10.—Governor J. C. Walton, used state funds to aid in his fight against the Ku Klux Klan and also in an attempt to defeat a constitutional amendment empowering the state legislature to meet on its own call for impeaching investigations, it was testified yesterday at the governor's trial on impeachment charges.

The testimony was introduced by the prosecution in support of its charge that the executive diverted public moneys to his own use by using state employes for purposes other than their duties prescribed.

G. E. Bates, chief clerk of the state highway department, told the court that a number of department clerks were taken from their regular work by the governor to write letters to individuals in all parts of the country soliciting funds with which to carry on the Klan fight in Oklahoma. In this manner the executive aided in the payment of numerous congratulatory messages for his anti-Klan activities. A total of more than 25,000 letters were written for Governor Walton altogether by the highway department clerks, Bates said.

Other members of his staff, the witness declared, were used in checking signatures on the initiative petition for the proposed amendment by which the governor advanced to keep the measure off special election ballot on grounds that it was unconstitutional. Several special voters had signed the petition.

Bates also testified with other witnesses in support of the impeachment charges against the Governor Walton alleged the state payrolls by employing numerous superfluous workers "take care of his political friends."

WINDING UP TESTIMONY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 10.—Prosecution in the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton devoted the morning session of the senate council today to winding up its testimony in support of charges that the executive had padded the state payroll and had his personal chauffeur paid from funds of the state highway department.

C. C. Childers, state auditor, testified that the state highway department had previously informed him that the Governor had been driven by T. E. Edwards. The prosecution had previously introduced evidence intended to prove that Edwards was the governor's chauffeur.

Testimony given last yesterday by Zack McNeill, who was for a time employed as an inspector of the state highway department, was continued today in the defense proffered against it on the grounds that it was circumstantial. McNeill testified to his duties while connected with the department.

Childers was submitted to a minute "cross-examination" by the defense which stressed the question of whether warrants which the prosecution alleged were illegally issued here the signature of Governor Walton. The examination brought out that one warrant for $75 drawn on a fund of $5,000 appropriated for the apprehension of Fred Dennis, former state bank commissioner, who is under indictment for alleged bribery, was signed by the executive.

PARIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—The presentation of Great Britain's bill for her war debt to the French government is foreseen by political observers as one of the probable early results of the apparent collapse of the plan for an expert committee to examine Germany's capacity to pay reparations. It is understood French officials expect it to be one of the developments.

The reparations commission, which will meet next Tuesday, now will have to decide the question whether the Germans shall be heard, according to their request, as to the capacity of Germany to pay. It is understood that there will be no opposition on the part of the French.

It is pointed out that the peace treaty itself provides for equitable hearings for Germany on that subject.

The result was that work was sent to Premier Poincare through the ambassador that his determination to restrict the scope of the inquiry, administration officials here believed, would frustrate the object of the United States in offering the aid in bringing about an adjustment.

What the future might bring forth officials here declined to predict. They would discuss only what had transpired, asserting that the American public was entitled to know the details of the negotiations of the United States. Declining to speculate as to future possibilities they would not admit that the door through which American aid might be tendered had been closed.

No formal invitation to participate in the reparations inquiry was pointed out in the proposed Washington government and consequently a declaration is not in order.

The reparations inquiry, no invitation from the allies is now expected. It was plainly indicated that the reparations inquiry would continue to insist upon reparations.

In his talk with Mr. Hughes yesterday, the witness declared, he explained that Premier Poincare's stipulation that the experts be limited to 12 inquiries into Germany's "present and prospective" resources meant that the survey should be restricted to the period ending with 1928.

This limitation in itself was regarded by the Washington government as making a comprehensive study of financial plans that would avoid economic disaster in Europe impossible.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Most editorial expressions of hope that America would take a hand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Restrictions insisted upon by France on the proposed inquiry by experts into Germany's economic condition would render such an effort to solve reparations problems useless and futile, in the opinion of the Washington government.

The decision was reached last year after the situation had been discussed during the day by President Coolidge with his cabinet and Ambassador Jusserand at a conference with secretary Hughes explained in detail the nature of the French limitations.

HUGHES SAW HIM COMING

Oklahoma Attorney Decoyed From Home Is Shot and Killed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 10.—Decoyed from his home by an unidentified telephone call, Paul J. McCarthy, prominent local attorney and a veteran of the world war, was shot here late last night and left to die in his moving automobile.

The lawyer was attacked as he approached a meeting place in a residential section where he had been summoned by a supposed client a few minutes before midnight.

He is thought to have leaped upon the running board of the automobile and fired the fatal shot at close range. He then vanished, leaving McCarthy's body huddled in the front seat and his briefcase unattended, across the street to stall on the trolley car track.

The attorney was dead when a passing motorist reached him.

Hugh F. Hughtery, one of McCarthy's employes, is being held by the police for questioning. He was seen with McCarthy a few hours before the latter was lured from his home by the telephone call.

McCarthy had an extensive police court practice. His consequent association with all types of underworld characters led the authorities to believe that he was slain by one of his former clients seeking revenge for some famous wrong.

He was not robbed.

Law Firm of Branch & Howard Employed to Assist Prosecution.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 10. (AP)—Philip E. Fox, Ku Klux Klan publicity man, was declared "highly nervous" to undergo an examination when Dr. N. N. Owen, Jr., alienist, was called in today to examine the slayer of W. S. Cohn, attorney for the Simons faction of the Klan.

Fox was returned to his cell, physicians announcing he was in too bad a physical condition to submit to the mental examination.

Former Governor Hugh Dorsey and Frank Cooper, counsel for P. H. Simons, went to the jail shortly afterwards for their first conference with the alienist. Mrs. Fox did not visit the jail this morning and it was reported from her home that she had suffered a recurrence of the nervous attack of last Monday night.

REPORTED STINKES AND HARRY SINCLAIR MAKE BIG OIL DEAL

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—Reports of a big oil deal between the Stinkes interests, American and Harry F. Sinclair, American oil magnate and owner of New Famous race horse, victor in the recent international match with Papyrus of England, were neither confirmed nor denied by Hugo Stinkes Jr., son of German's financial magnate, or Mr. Sinclair, both of whom are in New Orleans. They are accompanied by their wives and representatives.

Herr Stinkes is quoted as saying that one reason for his presence here is to inspect the harbor and accommodations for his vessel.

The party will also inspect properties of the Sinclair Refining Company which are located near here.

From New Orleans the party will go to Houston to inspect the ship canal and to Galveston, which is a port of call for the Stinkes ships.

They will then visit the oil fields of north Texas and Oklahoma.

DENY REPORTS STINKES IS NEGOTIATING DEAL

HOUSTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Hugo Stinkes Jr., son of the great German industrialist, is in south Texas today to get his first view of an oil field. He reached Houston this morning with a party, including Harry F. Sinclair, the oil man.

It is just a trip to show Mr. Stinkes America and American methods," a spokesman for the party said. He denied reports that the Stinkes interests were negotiating with the Sinclair company for the purchase of the Stingo refinery on the Houston ship channel.

The program for the day was a little uncertain. A trip to the Sinclair refinery and a visit to the Goose Creek oil field are on the program and from Goose Creek the party is scheduled to go to Galveston. The time of departure depends on Herr Stinkes' wishes. He may decide to spend tonight in Galveston or may return to Houston by automobile in time to take a night train for Dallas. Whether the party will stop at Powell and other north Texas fields depends on the wishes of the guests. It is possible the party may go directly through to Tulsa.

Mrs. Stinkes accompanies her husband.

Dr. Evans said it was his opinion that the shooting was not the result of a factional fight within the Klan, but that it was a personal matter. The removal of Fox from Fulton tower, where he is held without bond, due to what his family physician termed a complete nervous breakdown, was considered likely during the day, it was said.

Announcement of the date for the trial was expected within the next day or two. Court attaches, however, considered it probable that the defense as its first move would file jurisdiction on the grounds that sufficient time for preparation of the defense had not been afforded. This was predicted upon the assumption that the prosecution to begin the trial at the earliest possible time, probably next week.

ANNOUNCE FAILURE OF N. O. COTTON FIRM AS RESULT COTTON JUMP

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Failure of the important spot cotton firm of W. J. Davis & Co., which maintains offices here and in many Mississippi towns, was announced on the cotton exchange floor today.

In making the statement to the cotton exchange that it was unable to meet its obligations the firm said it had applied for a receiver in the federal court at Jackson, Miss., which was one of its principal offices in the city.

The failure was set down by the trade as being due to the rapid rise in the price of cotton and also to the difficulty which has been experienced in securing grades of cotton which were freely sold abroad by many spot concerns some time ago before this year's cotton crop deteriorated.

Government of Von Knilling Is In Complete Control in Munich And State of Siege Proclaimed

BERLIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—It is rumored from Munich that General Luderndorf committed suicide immediately upon being paroled after his arrest in connection with the abortive putsch in Munich.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Handelsblad today published what it reserves a report that the former German crown prince left the island of Wieringen at 4 o'clock this morning for the German frontier.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Dutch government officially announced today that former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany crossed the German frontier this morning en route to Oels, Upper Silesia. The prince had previously expressed a desire to retire to Oels.

UTRECHT, Holland, Nov. 10. (AP)—Rumors are circulating here that the Dutch government has ordered the arrest of General Luderndorf, who was paroled yesterday for Germany, has gone to get himself at the head of a monarchist government, but this is completely untrue and there are no means of verifying it.

BERLIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—The government of Bavaria is in complete control in Munich, according to latest reports from the Bavarian capital. Quiet has been restored in the city. A state of siege has been proclaimed throughout Bavaria.

The German press reports that a coup d'etat in Munich was averted by the police immediately arrested and disarmed all insurgents.

At Nuremberg the police disarmed the nationalists. The burgomaster yesterday sent an urgent request for troops, but Chancellor Stresemann refused to comply.

BERLIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—Chancellor Stresemann and other government leaders give evidence of satisfaction over the restoration of Munich to the control of the national government. They are inclined to disfigure in that it definitely disposes of Luderndorf and Hitler's present status of reactionary menace.

The chancellor believes that the swiftly liquidated putsch has been a valuable lesson to Germany abroad, demonstrating even Bavaria's determination to defend the German republic against attacks from within.

That a militarist of the "militarist" variety, varied typified by General Luderndorf, should have attempted to be led away as a culprit implicated in a miniature beer hall revolution, is a striking example of the political and military attitudes of the German people who were formerly associated with Hitler and his general staff are inclined to give him their sympathy, the apparent announcement of the officer of his rank and military antecedents should have submitted to such humiliation as was heaped on him yesterday. A ranking officer in such a predicament in any other country would have committed suicide, or many of those who formerly were inclined to hold a brief for the general.

Nevertheless official charges are contained in the report that have now been eliminated definitely from German internal politics regardless of the far trend of the relations between Munich and Berlin.

Opinions here hold that Luderndorf is guilty of high treason unless the specific charges are in answer to the defense of the republic in his case he would face a severe prison term.

Reports from Munich and other points in Bavaria indicate that the federal troops were completely out of sympathy with Hitler and his associates in stamping out the last smoldering sparks of the short lived revolt.

Wichita Falls Radio Stations That Receive Woodrow Wilson Address Asked to Telephone Times Office

Former President Woodrow Wilson, commander and chief of the army and navy of the United States during the world war, after a lifetime of more than three years, will make a public address at his home in Washington, D. C., Saturday evening, beginning at 7:28 o'clock eastern standard time, which is 7:23 Wichita Falls time. The address, lasting probably ten minutes, will be broadcast to the world by radio and many Wichita Falls radio stations are arranging to hear the speech.

Although the address is supposed to be the general theme of Armistice Day, it is expected that American participation in world affairs will also be discussed.

Station WCAP, Washington, will broadcast the address on 495 meters and station WEAF at New York City will broadcast it on 482 meters. Other stations in the country are expected to remain silent during the address.

Many local fans have inspected their radio sets and invited guests to their homes to hear the address. The Times office, 419 and 421, will pick up either of the above stations at 7:23 o'clock and should be able to understand clearly every word of the address.

According to advices from Washington, D. C., received Saturday morning, the former president's address is being planned to make his Armistice day tribute to him the greatest demonstration in his long career. The former president's subject will be "The Significance of Armistice Day." He will speak into a microphone in his study, which has been installed by radio experts.

Facilities for broadcasting the address are being arranged by radio experts to be ample to make it available to receiving sets in all parts of the United States. The Washington station will distribute the address immediately and arrangements have been made for the speech to go on a telephone wire to New York, where it will pass through an amplifier and be broadcasted on the New York City station.

Readers of The Times who wish to either of the stations and hear the address are asked to telephone The Times office, 419 and 421, and give their names and addresses to the operator.

STORIES OF FUR AND FUR TRAPPING

Trading Posts in the Old Days

In the early days of American settlement, in the very heart of the wilderness, hundreds of miles from another trading center, stood the wooden stockade which was the outpost of the trader in furs. Here he lived through the dead of winter when snowdrifts mounted to his tiny windows and higher, his only associates the Indians who came from their forest homes laden with hides and buffalo skins and eagerly traded a couple of fifties or a hundred for bright colored glass beads or the magical "fire water" the pale face offered.

Some of the transactions which took place in these dimly-lighted, log-cabin strongholds are shown on the honor of the "square-dealing" white man, the natives giving in return for trinkets costing but a few cents, furs that could be sold

THE FINDING OF THE RED EAR

The red ear will bring you good luck. That out of the harvest you plant. These are the words of an old Indian custom. The Arnolds were planning an old-fashioned husking bee. We can have pop corn balls, and we can pull taffy," said Marjorie. "There should be a prize for the one that finds the red ear," said their aunt, who had lived in the country since the early days. "The red ear?" Burt asked, puzzled. "What do you mean?" "It is an old Indian custom," explained Aunt Margaret. "In every field of corn that is harvested is found a red ear. When the corn is husked, to the one who finds the red ear, comes great luck. We should have a prize in readiness to give to the person who finds the lucky ear."

The Romance of Fur Trading

Interwoven with the early history of North America are thrilling tales of fur trapping. Men exploited the barren forests and grew rich from the profits of the animals' skins they caught. From the rude huts of the first fur merchants, the industry has jumped to great city warehouses of today where large scale buying and speculation take place. Read in the Stories of Fur and Fur Trapping beginning today how furs have been used for money and how they have clothed pioneer and monarch.

Russian Boys Taught the Fun Maker to Play Hole Ball

This is a good game to play in a meadow or backyard where a "Keep Off the Grass" warning does not prevent the digging of holes in the ground. There should be as many holes as there are players, each hole having a number. The hole is big enough to form a cup into which a tennis ball, or baseball may be thrown.

Each player should draw a number. The players throw from a straight line drawn ten feet from the first hole. Count out to see who shall be the first thrower. The hole into which the ball goes counts as many points for the player as the number of the hole indicates.

Suppose the ball goes into hole five—that means that the player receives five points. It means also that the player holding number five must play next. If this player's ball lands in hole two, his score for the play is two, and the player holding the two number is next to cast the ball.

Susan Alredale's Ambition

Susan Alredale's big brown eyes looked wistfully at the old lady visitor and then at Dick, Susan's master. Then she looked at the little ball of white fluff in the young lady's lap.

"I suppose I must as well admit," laughed Aunt Margaret, "that I do have a red ear, but I don't know where it is. New where did the fourth ear come from?" Nobody answered. "I guess the fourth ear must be the lucky one that is always found in the cornfield," Aunt Margaret declared. "Anyway, the prize is cinnamon cookies, and we'll let the winners of the red-ears divide it!"

SAFE EXPERIMENTS IN SCIENCE

These are little laboratory exercises for boys and girls to perform at home with materials in everyday use.

Balance

Every object, however irregular in shape, has a center. If it were hung by the center point the object would not tip to either side. A trick experiment for you to try is shown at the end of the article. Put a small piece of candle so that when the candle is put in a glass of water it balances with its wick above the surface. Light the candle and you will find that it burns to the end. This experiment is an example of the Law of Centroids which states that "when a body is immersed in water it loses weight in an amount equal to the weight of the water displaced."

HOW TO CARTOON

The easiest way to draw the human figure is by the "oval method." In this method a small oval or egg is used for the head, a larger oval for the trunk of the body, and then the arms and legs are added.

Notice how simply the above sketches are drawn; no features are included, yet they are full of action. cartoonist usually sketches his figures in by this method, then goes over them carefully, adding the facial features, the hair, clothing, etc.

Practise drawing the figures on a sheet of paper—don't try to add details, as that will come later. After you have drawn these figures several times originate a few of your own. When you have worked at drawing figures, you will be ready next week to study clothing.

FOOTBALL A LESSON IN SIGNALS AND THE QUARTERBACK

In a good system of signals each player should have a distinct number indicating a definite assignment to each of the eleven men. Dead numbers should be changed all the time and apparently given the same meaning to the proper play to select.

Give Each Player a Number. In a good system of signals each player should have a distinct number indicating a definite assignment to each of the eleven men. Dead numbers should be changed all the time and apparently given the same meaning to the proper play to select.

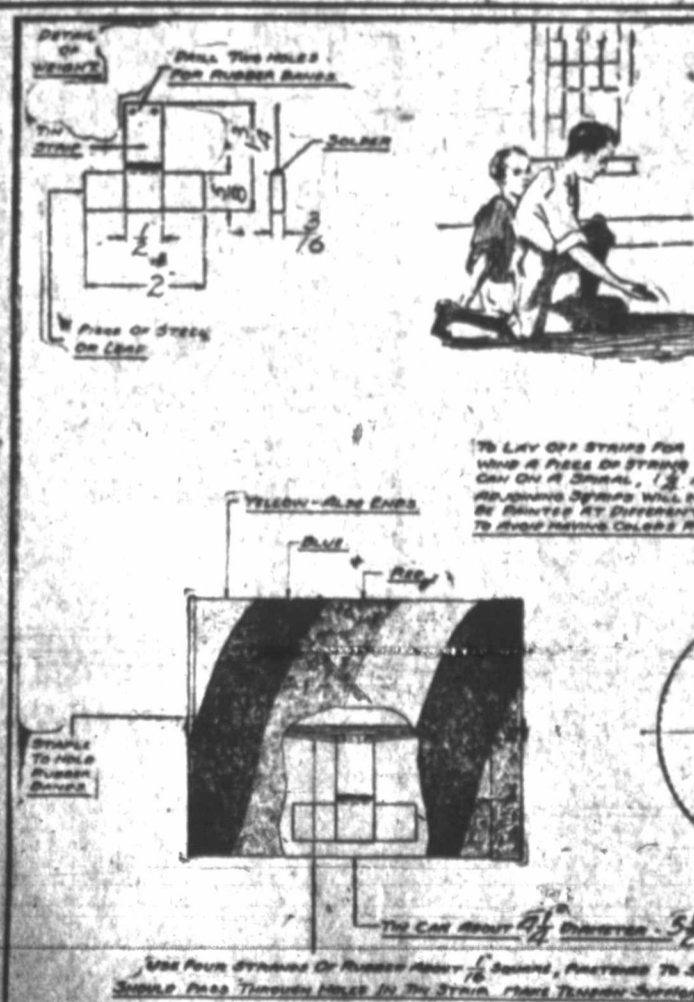

Must Have Good Memory. As signals are so important in a game the quarterback must have a good memory so there will never be any danger of his mixing signals. He must be careful not to accept any signals, nor to snap signals, but should call numbers with the same accent even while the ball is being passed.

QUARTER-BACK SIGNALS

The pin horizontally, you will find that the card will stay in any position that you put it. It is said to be in equilibrium.

Equilibrium is unstable when an object tips over easily or tends to keep moving when changed a little from its original position. A pencil poised on its point on your fingertip is an example of extremely unstable equilibrium. Unstable objects fall readily to more stable positions. The pencil can be put into stable

LET'S GET READY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Take a sheet of colored paper, found at book stores, or drawing paper colored with paint or crayon. To make good letters is an accomplishment which few young artists achieve, so it would be better, perhaps, to trace the letters for your free-hand. The letters below are the exact size for the label book. Mark on the back of the newspaper with a soft pencil, and then trace the words on to your drawing paper. To indicate whether your job be plum, grape or strawberry, you should cut a tiny pattern of the fruit and paste it before the word. Trace, if you like, the bottle given here, and color them, or draw your own. It will be possible to find tiny pictures in magazine advertisements, too.

The back of each label should have a thin coating of mastic so that will stick when attached to a jar. Tie in the pages of the book, book cover. The paper may be any and then cut the labels on the line chosen color and may be the dividing them from each other, so kindergarten construction paper they can be torn out easily.

IN SNOPYQUOP LAND

This Snopyquop is none other than Sir Ickabod Flatchard, the old Master. He is taking his morning stroll on the Bolla-boulevard beneath his Paris parasol. Notice his striped pants and his elegant frame. He is indeed a work of art. No, Johnnie, that isn't the Woolworth building in the background, those are castles. The one on the left is Mere Castle, and the one on the right is Irene Castle. The gentleman approaching is Sir Richard Spiffenshiner, of Potadum (no, that isn't spelling). He owns Ickabod money, so he is putting up a smoke screen in his foreground so Sir Flatchard won't see him. Leave it to boys to trick Ick!

Most paintings are on the walls of art galleries, but these two boys are of the Modern or Flapper school, and step out more. If not well hung, they are at least well executed.

Every boy is familiar with the these bands wind up. When the large enough and far enough apart boomerang. The toy shown today forward motion of the can stops, to receive small staples. ### A True Fish Story

Perhaps you've heard today, and if so it may be halibut. Here's the story of how the halibut got his name: An approved spelling of the name is "holibut," and the derivation of the first portion of the word is the English "holy." Flounder, in older times, were called "buttes," and the name "holibut," or "halibut," was formed from "holy" and "butte," indicating that the food was served upon "holy days," or "holidays."

WICHITA FALLS HAMMERS WAY INTO CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS

Coyotes' Undaunted Spirit Leads Red and Black to Victory Over Vernon in Most Thrilling Game

Staff Special to The Times.
VERNON, Nov. 10.—(Plunging, smashing) crashing against and through the opponent's line, Wichita Falls' defenders of the Red and Black—the Coyotes—earned their way into the final for the championship of district No. 4 here Friday afternoon by making the Vernon Pirates into camp by a score of 13 to 6. A crowd of approximately 2,500 people, a third of which number had journeyed here from Wichita Falls, saw the elimination of Vernon High school from the state interscholastic football league.

The final score indicated nothing more than the result. The game was a football classic from beginning to end, holding the attention of thousands of spectators. The flash, the quickness of the play, the quickness of the Coyotes, which resulted in the first half ending by a score of 6 to 0 in favor of Vernon, was swept aside by the undaunted spirit, the swiftness, the cunning and elusive characteristic of the Coyotes.

In the first half the Pirates outclassed the Coyotes in every department, but in the second half they were swept aside by the sturdy line and the plunging backs of the Coyotes. Aerial attacks by both teams netted but little.

The Tigers won all their counts through means of the educated toe of Quarterback Holler, who sent the pigskin between the goal posts twice in the first half, the first one going through three and a half minutes and the second one in the last half.

Holler's strapping, twisting, plunging fullback of the Coyotes, assisted by perfect interference and by a sturdy line, carried the ball across the Vernon goal line twice in the last half. In each instance the added point was lost when the ball fell short and the other then it went wide.

Tigers Fight All the Way.
When the final whistle sounded the Vernon High school boys were striking back with all their power, but the constant hammering of the Coyotes backs had not only taken the pigskin across their goal two times but had sapped away the Tiger strength with which they had started the game.

Coach Galbraith, of Vernon, announced before the game began that he had entered a protest because of the fact that Steve West, the Coyote center, was in the lineup. He claimed that West was ineligible to play with the Coyotes team because his parents had moved to Houston.

Match 2: First Downs.
With the exception of a part of the first half, the Coyotes played the offensive game while Vernon took the defensive. The Tigers resorted to straight football the Red and Black defenders put over 24 first downs as compared with their opponents four.

It would be unfair to single out stars of the afternoon. The game was never a time when all 22 men on the field were not giving their team all they had. Backfield men on both teams were finding holes made by the linemen, and team work was exceptionally noticeable at all times.

Wichita Falls elected to kick off and Baldwin sent the pigskin in a spiral to the Vernon 20-yard line. Holler accepted the kick and returned it to his own 40-yard line.

Vernon Returns Point.
On the first down, Walker punted 40 yards and the ball rolled out of bounds on Wichita's 24-yard line. Stringer went through left tackle for four yards but on the next play Smith fumbled for a loss of six yards. Baldwin punted and Holler again received it in a substantive out of bounds on Wichita's 30-yard line.

Withers carried the ball through center for one yard and made 10 yards behind Wichita's right end for first down. Robinson was hurt and Holler took his place at center for the Pirates.

Holler went through Wichita's left side of the line for nine yards and Withers went to the center for the needed yard. On two end runs, the Tigers carried the ball to within Wichita's 10-yard line on the third down they failed to kick in any ground.

Vernon Scores.
Holler went back to the 20-yard line and booted the ball between the goal posts for three points. The game was but three and a half minutes old.

Walker kicked off for Vernon and Baldwin returned it 25 yards to the center of the field. Smith and Baldwin carried the ball over in two plays for first downs. Baldwin and Jenkins by crashing through the line on straggling plays again made first downs.

Stringer was thrown for a loss of one yard on the first down when the left side of the Coyote's line did not hold. Holler intercepted an attempted forward pass on his own 20-yard line but was thrown in his tracks.

Walker again booted for 40 yards down the field and the ball was returned to the center of the field.

On the next two plays, Jenkins and Withers gained six yards. Holler was sent in as a substitute for Beatty. A fake punt formation netted the Coyotes but two yards and Baldwin was forced to punt. Vernon returned the ball to its own 35-yard line and on the first down the punt formation was called. Duke blocked Walker's attempt to punt and recovered the ball on the 20-yard line. Baldwin made one yard around left end and Jenkins made eight off right tackle. Moore substituted for Smith.

Wichita again made first downs but failed to make any progress on the next three plays and then punted.

Vernon returned with a punt and just as the quarter ended the Coyotes were penalized 15 yards for slugging. The ball was on Vernon's 25-yard line.

Second Quarter.
Walker punted 40 yards to start off the second quarter and after three unsuccessful attempts on line plunges, Wichita Falls returned the punt, the ball rolling out of bounds on Vernon's 25-yard line.

On the next two plays Moore made 15 yards for first downs. After Stringer plunged through the line on the first down, Baldwin on two yards Baldwin was given the ball on the next play and he made ten yards around right end.

Curtain substituted for Baldwin and on the fourth down with five yards to go, Duke attempted a drop kick from the 20-yard line but failed.

After an exchange of punts, Vernon resorted to the open passing game. A double forward pass, a long one down the field failed, was incomplete, but on the second attempt, Walker to Holler, Vernon made a gain of 25 yards, bringing

CHIEF ROEBUCK, A CHOCTAW BRAVE STANDS SIX FEET FIVE; WEIGHS 225

Chief Roebuck in Grid Togs and War Paint

By NEA Service
LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 6.—A 17-year-old Choctaw brave, standing six feet five inches in his moccasins and weighing 225 pounds, is a member of the Haskell Indians football squad this year. Roebuck is the biggest Indian ever to report for football work here, and is still growing. Coach Hanley predicts he will be a 250-pounder by next year. Roebuck shows skill as a gridiron athlete and is expected to be a star in time.

Roebuck carries the ball over for first downs. Baldwin and Moore made first downs again and the pigskin rested on Vernon's 14-yard line. Chewing again was called upon to carry the ball and made six yards on two downs.

Score Touchdown.
The Coyotes lined up in their peculiar formation and on a fake line plunge through Vernon's right side of the line. Baldwin and Moore of the hole made by the linemen and into backfield running mates, carrying the ball to within reach of the goal line when he was tackled. He rolled across for the first touchdown of the game. Scrimmage Shaw failed to kick the field goal, and the score stood on an even basis, 6 to 0. Walker returned the ball to his own 30-yard line. On the first down a forward pass was intercepted by Chewing who jumped him and returned it 20 yards to Vernon's 35-yard line. Moore on the next two plays made first downs for Wichita. Holler substituted for Jenkins on the 35-yard line. On the second down, Moore was called for a foul. Shaw again attempted to kick from field but missed, the ball falling 40 yards to the left.

Walker punted on the next play and Mackechney returned it to the position they run from. Chewing made a sensational run around left end for a 12-yard gain, but it went for naught as the referee penalized the Coyotes 15 yards for holding. Baldwin kicked, and after a forward pass had failed, Vernon punted. Chewing carried the ball back 20 yards before he was thrown.

Coyotes Score Again.
The ball was on Vernon's 40-yard line when play resumed. Curtin and Baldwin made six yards through the line on three downs. On a fake kick from placement Baldwin received the ball and started through the line. Perfect interference disposed of the first line of defense but Baldwin squirmed, twisted and sidestepped past the secondary defense. Chewing seemed to instill down. Shaw's attempt to gain the extra point again failed.

After Vernon had kicked off to the Coyotes again and a march down the field toward their opponent's goal line. After two first downs on the first line of defense, Holler and Shaw attempted a goal from field, but it went wide.

Vernon attempted four forward passes from its 20-yard line, three of them falling short and the fourth one being knocked down by Chewing.

The last few seconds of play were exciting and it appeared as though another touchdown would be scored by the visitors. With the ball on Vernon's four-yard line Baldwin fumbled on the fourth down and the ball went over. Walker had just punted 25 yards down the field when the whistle blew, ending the game. Score, Wichita Falls 12, Vernon 6.

GRIDIRON GLEANINGS

Coyotes 12, Vernon Pirates 6.

It was worth it from either a Wichita Falls or Vernon point of view, even if Prof. Cochran, of the Vernon High school faculty ruled and insisted that publicity was worth nothing, charging all scribes the regular price of admission.

The 2500 fans who assembled on the field say it was worth it, even if they were forced to stand up during the entire two hours and a half of play. No seats of any description were provided. Many stood on top of automobiles.

Although the Coyotes were penalized several times for slugging and holding the game was not interfered with by any unnecessary roughness.

Just before Baldwin made the first touchdown of the game, he was knocked out for the first time in his high school football career. Some non player's knee found its way into the big boy's stomach on a tackle which dropped him dead in his tracks.

Falls and West, centers for Vernon and Wichita Falls, respectively, performed in first class style. Every pass of the ball was accurate and they held their ground both on the defensive and offensive.

Holler, quarterback for the Pirates, and Jenkins and Mackechney, the Wichita Falls' generals, all had difficulty in calling signals so that they could be heard. The noise made by the two bands of high school supporters was deafening throughout and many times the signals were given back of the line of scrimmage in "bunch" formation.

The work of the three directors of play was commendable and at no time did any one of them seem confused. Holler's educated toe, which sent the ball between the Coyotes' goal posts twice, bears watching.

Walker and Baldwin, fullbacks, showed their worth throughout the contest. Both punted exceptionally well, their boots seldom being less than 25 yards. Although Walker was unable to gain ground through the line on plunges, he was nevertheless hard to stop. Baldwin, however, kept up his record as a ground gainer.

Withers and Bourland, running mates of Walker, were in the game at all times, running interference and doing some real work on the defense.

Smith, Stringer, Curtin and Mackechney, who performed in the backfield for the Coyotes, proved equal to all the work they were called upon to do by the quarterback. Chewing seemed to instill hope into the Coyotes eleven when he entered in the last period and in addition to this never failed to gain ground when he was given the opportunity.

Coffey, who played throughout the game at right tackle, was in the middle of nearly every play on the line. It was through the holes that he tore in Vernon's line that the most ground was gained.

Shaw, Cameron, Waggoner, Ferguson and Justin, who hold down end positions during the contest, showed speed and good judgment. Of all the end runs made only two were made outside of the ends. They played their parts well and kept the backs from circling around them on the end run plays.

In fact every one of the 22 players who were in the game throughout the afternoon were worthy of mention for their fighting spirit shown at all times, and the manner in which they conducted themselves. At times were there any signs of loss of temper.

Woo Fling Lamm Who Flings a Nasty Pass

PICKS PRINCETON HARVARD GAME AS MOST INTERESTING

By THOMAS L. CUM' SKEY
Universal Service Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—If arrangements were now being made trans-continually, as romantics insist they soon will, where would you save your money today for your football report?

As a guess, providing you are not a wearer of the colors of any particular university or college, but just a fan, we think you'd take off for Princeton-Harvard game at Old Nassau.

The Tiger and the Crimson battles, which began far back in 1877, are as full of color as a northern woodland when the frost ticks the leaves. They may not play the best brand of football that can be seen, yet it is the most interesting. The Tiger and the Crimson tomorrow should make the greatest national appeal.

Other games of considerable interest in the past are Penn State and Georgia Tech, Dartmouth and Brown, Cornell and Columbia, Yale and Maryland, Nennu and Lafayette, Syracuse and Boston University, Holy Cross and Fordham.

YOUNG MAN ACCUSED OF PASSING BOGUS CHECK FREED AFTER PAYING UP

Charged with passing a "bogus" check on a local department store, a young man was arrested at his quarters in a downtown building about midnight Friday by officers from the sheriff's department. The young man, who recently came to Wichita Falls, said he did not write the check, which officers claim he presented to the clerk at the department store.

According to reports, the officers have been watching the young man for several days, and they went to his room and placed him under arrest Friday night.

To keep from going to the county jail, the young man procured funds and took up the check, although he denied passing the worthless paper on the local store. The officers warned him that they would still be watching him and that they hoped he was not the man guilty of passing a number of bad checks in Wichita Falls recently.

Trade Veach
In all probability Bobby Veach will be traded by Detroit during the winter. Veach doesn't seem to fit in with Cobles policy, yet is too good trading material to be allowed to sit on the bench.

Favorite Plays OF FAMOUS COACHES

HARVARD SLIGHT FAVORITE BEFORE PRINCETON GAME

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—With more than 5,000 persons waving rival banners and shouting defiant cheers the gridiron eleven of Harvard and Princeton, whose football relations began 46 years ago will open the annual big three series at Palmer Memorial stadium this afternoon.

The Harvard eleven rules a slight favorite, but the records of the conflicting eleven would indicate there is little to choose between them.

Vangerbig ... Fullback ... Hammond

Substitutes: White; Hobbs for Beatty; Moore for Smith; Curtin for Baldwin; Howie for Duke; Mackechney for Jenkins; Shaw for Hobbs; Powell for Stringer; Chewing for Powell.

Vernon Falls for Robinson; Williams for Withers.

Officials: Referee, Robbins of Vanderbilt; Umpire, Moore of North Texas State Normal; Head Linesman, Chambers of Devo.

Early Peevish.
National League umpires say that if Tony Kaufman didn't get peevish every time he thought the umpire missed a strike he would be a 25 cent better pitcher. The moment he starts to fuss with the umpire he loses much of his stuff. There are several other pitchers in both leagues with that falling.

Fast Ball Best.
Denny Vance has the best fast ball in the National League, say the leading batters of that organization. Lack of a change of pace is his outstanding fault. When the opposition starts hitting his speed he has little else to offer.

College Stars
Fifteen years ago Connie Mack was the only major league manager who would give a college ball player a trial. Today the college stars are eagerly sought by every major league club.

"THE TOOL"

BY CRANNING POLLOCK

Illustrated by R.W. McFARLAND

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Clara Jewett, in love with the handsome Daniel Gilchrist, married Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Club of the Metropolis in New York because of his radical opinions.

"Overcoat Hall" refuge for the unemployed, is established with baths for the poor and maintained at a minimum price.

George Goodkind, Jerry's father, for Clara, who frequently visits the hall to help Gilchrist.

"I know you do," said Clara. "There was a certain decision in her tone, a certain self-sufficiency that told of something she knew. The two women looked at each other for a moment. Each gave something of commiseration to the other in that exchange of glances between these two who had been betrayed, in such different ways, yet simultaneously, it was Pearl who turned away."

"I guess you ain't got much use for me," she said, smiling.

Clara looked at her as though sharing the pity she had for herself.

"Why?" she questioned, calmly, forlornly. "What's the difference between us?"

Pearl turned toward her with eyes that did not understand. Somehow she felt that there was no bitterness here, but she did not know why. She had no answer to that, she backed nervously to the door and opened it.

"Well, good night," she said, bewildered.

"Forget everything," she said. "Won't you take me, dear?"

Daniel looked at her tenderly, intensely. "No," he answered, without a sign of emotion.

"Don't you want me?" she faltered. "No," he did not take his deliberate eyes from her.

"Then take me," she urged. "I love the good in you—the good you're trying hard to kill," he said with earnestness. "I love you because you're big enough to do what is right."

"What is right?" she asked bewilderedly. "Go back to your husband," Daniel spoke with cold deliberation. She flushed and straightened. "I'd rather die," she flared.

"I know it's your job," he said firmly. "You took it with your eyes open. It's up to you to see it through."

"Must I go on forever paying for some mistake?" "Everybody must pay for our mistakes. That it was wrong to make a bargain doesn't make it right to break the bargain when we get tired of it," she said.

"I don't know what to do," she moaned. "Play the game," Gilchrist said condescendingly. "Go back to that poor, mistaken man lying across the foot of your bed—his mind going and his health gone. Bear your punishment and help him to bear his. That's your duty."

"Duty, duty, duty," she echoed mechanically. "What about happiness?" "There is no other happiness," he returned. "Gilchrist sank in his chair. There was no smile on his wan face now. There was agony written in his fine lines. Save for his eyes, there was something of desolation there. The eyes, though, still held the spark of a fire that seemed to have burned itself out in the rest of him."

Mary Margaret found him huddled there, his face in his hands, motionless.

CHAPTER XX
A Pitiful Confession.
Wearied by the sheer effort of renunciation, Gilchrist sank into a chair. There was no smile on his wan face now. There was agony written in his fine lines. Save for his eyes, there was something of desolation there. The eyes, though, still held the spark of a fire that seemed to have burned itself out in the rest of him.

Mary Margaret found him huddled there, his face in his hands, motionless.

POPPIES

An effective flower for a corsage decoration is the ribbon poppy. To make this flower 8 inches of 3 inch ribbon are required.

Fold this ribbon, seam it and run a gathering thread at lower edge, as in Fig. 1.

Tendrils are made as in Fig. 4, by wrapping three threads of wire with narrow satin ribbon and attaching to the poppies.

COULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK

But Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Kearsville, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done for me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper and read it in my husband's paper. I saw you had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. Sarah H. Blaine, Box 177, Kearsville, N.Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, at a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularity, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

NOVEL MODES IN HAIRBOWS AND SASHES
Wide ribbon is particularly favored for the new modes in sash and hairbow sets. A novel touch is added when narrow ribbon is applied to the wide ribbon for ornamentation. Sometimes ribbon flowers may be added with pleasing effect.
