Senator Hiram Johnson Tosses Hat In Ring In Contest for the Republican Nomination In 1924

By CHARLES N. WHEELER, University Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The fight is on. United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president.

Accompanying his declaration was a brief pronouncement accentuating the outstanding issues on which he will go into every state of the union in his fight for national delegates. The great issues as he puts them are:

1. The old age contest between the forces of reaction and progress in domestic affairs.
2. The overhauling question as to whether the United States shall continue the program laid down by Washington and his associates or whether the nation shall now embark on a career of foreign intrigue and entanglements that may mean its disintegration.
3. The very existence of the Republican party, as declared in strength by the forces of reaction at Washington.
4. On the one side in this crisis of the republic, he said, are arrayed the ultra-conservative, retarding the march of the human race along the highway of progress and on the other side the forces that recognized all existing rights, but is forward-looking.

The foreign policy of the nation, he stated, is perhaps of greater importance at this hour than our domestic difficulties.

"Against League of Nations," he said, "I am against the League of Nations and all its subsidiaries." His statement read in part:

"We would help Europe in any rational way. We would continue to alleviate suffering, clothe the naked, and feed the hungry. We would do this ever by the sword of our own actions, the arbiter of our destiny."

The senator announced that he would appeal to the electorates in every state of the union.

"In those states," he added, "where the voters may express their preference by the ballot box, I will participate in the presidential preference primaries, including California and cheerfully acquiesce in the result."

"No man who aspires to the highest office in the gift of the American people should shrink from a verdict by those he seeks to serve, and, equally, none is entitled to the presidency whom the people do not want."

Senator Johnson made his announcement to newspaper men at his suite in the Drake Hotel. None of his political chiefs was present. He will go to Washington tomorrow and return to Chicago on November 21 to deliver his message to the American people at the Cook county real estate banquet.

"At that time," he said tonight, "I will take up all the issues that must be fought out in this campaign and will make myself clear as to just where I stand, as I always have done."

"Favorite Sons"

Senator Johnson also made it clear that he will not make the mistake he did in 1922 when he recognized "favorite sons" and kept out of the primaries in many states.

"There will be no favorite sons this time, so far as I am concerned," he said. "Every state will be a battleground where there may be opposition. This is a campaign in which the people will determine the result."

Coincidentally with the Johnson announcement Wm. Gibbs McAdoo, at Omaha, virtually declared his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president and will open an active campaign throughout the country in a few days.

Senator Johnson made his decision known in the following statement issued after a conference with political friends at the Drake Hotel at 5:00 o'clock this evening:

"Theoretically under our system the people themselves elect their president. These states with presidential preference primaries not only recognize this theory but put it in practice. They preserve the spirit as well as the letter of American institutions. It is an American's birthright to submit himself to the choice of his fellow citizens. He is entitled to make his own political judgment and to exercise his own prescriptive right to office, and I deny that any one or number of men may disregard popular will and its definition to dictate our candidate. Regularly should this be so at the present time."

"There is discontent abroad in the land, there is threatened disintegration of the Republican party. The discontent and party difficulties arise not because of popular government, but from the lack of it. Two warring philosophies of government in the nation, justice in the state, from which I come, struggle for mastery; designate them as you will, the contest between them is age old. The one ultra-conservative, materialistic, stolidly and stubbornly resisting any change and vigorously contesting every human advance, invites an ultra-radicalism. The other, mindful of existing rights, but recognizing conditions and mankind's gradual progress, is idealistic and forward looking.

"It avoids alike ultra-conservatism and ultra-radicalism, it's the old, old struggle beginning in the early days of man's first achievement, never ending since. Reaction and progress must fight it out again in the Republican party in the coming presidential primary. A question not men now, but their philosophy of government. That which obtains at Washington does not fit present day needs. Ultra-conservatism there rules; progressive challenges it. And the ensuing contest will determine whether of the Republican party shall be the permanent instrument of reaction or whether it shall respond to present day conditions and aspirations. We would have a revitalized Republican party, a party representing honest work and life, the instrument of positive state reaction nor destructive radicalism. Only such a party with the broad understanding vision and human sympathy and progression can solve our pressing domestic needs."

"Not only is there the fundamental and irreconcilable difference in our domestic policies, but a like divergence, perhaps even of greater importance, in relation to our foreign affairs. A foreign policy one entered upon may with difficulty be changed. One false step may do what years may not undo. The whole future of national existence may be endangered by the ill-considered act of a day. I am against the league of nations and all its subsidiaries, membership in which could lead to participation, direct or indirect, in the league. To take us into the league court or to involve us in the political struggle abroad inevitably will draw us in to the European maelstrom from which we have just escaped. We would help Europe in any rational way. We would continue to alleviate suffering, clothe the naked, feed the hungry, but we would ever be the sole judge of our own action, the arbiter of our own destiny. Our country, the greatest on earth, should have its own foreign policy, thoroughly understood by our people, frankly proclaimed. Preserving our country as it is, we preserve the world's greatest asset, civilization's highest promise. Our timid, vacillating and contradictory positions demand that America's foreign policy again be decided by the whole people who must themselves, at whatever cost, maintain it. This decision should be so clear, so definite, and certain that no casuistry, no spurious pious, no direction can dispute with the

"Upon these fundamentals, amply and expressing details hereafter, to the men and women who constitute America's destiny, I will make my appeal. In every state the contest will be waged. In those states in which the voters may express their preference on the issue, I will cheerfully and cheerfully acquiesce in the result. No man who aspires to the highest office in the gift of the American people should shrink from a verdict by those he seeks to serve, and, equally, none is entitled to the presidency whom the people do not want."

Imbiber Asks Time For Wedding Ere Fine Is Imposed

"Just give me time to go to the court house for my license and time to get married and I will come right back," was the peculiar request made to the desk sergeant at the police station Thursday by a well dressed middle-aged man who had limbed too freely of the merry liquid.

With every pocket full of greenbacks, the man begged for permission to pay his fine and go tell his girl what had happened. "Just do this one favor and I will come right back and go to jail," he pleaded. But the officers insisted that it was best for him to sober up before the ceremony.

According to his story, somewhere in the city the chosen girl wore the orange blossoms and waited while the unlucky man celebrated his scheduled wedding day by cell No. 4 of the city jail. He was sufficiently sober Friday morning to plead his fine and left the city hall to smooth things over with the anxiously waiting girl.

PERSHING SAYS MUST EDUCATE CITIZENS TO ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 14.—American citizens must be educated to accept their fundamental national responsibilities if they are to continue in the enjoyment of their rights as individuals, declared Pershing, General Pershing, and his colleagues today through the American Legion. Statistics of the franchise, General Pershing said, show that less than half of the eligible voters actually cast their ballots.

After declaring that the people of the United States are progressing toward a fuller realization of the obligations of national citizenship, but do not yet meet their national responsibilities to perfection, General Pershing's statement continued: "It is here that education has its greatest opportunity for achievement. What can education do to make sure that when young men and women enter upon citizenship they are as capable as possible of the responsibilities as they are in a position to realize them?"

"These are no mere words, the most vital of our educational problems. National development depends upon their successful solution. They can be progressively solved if America determines to do it. Education week is a good time to begin work directed toward this most significant end."

The statement was issued as an appeal to observe American education week November 18 to 24 which the legion is fostering in cooperation with the National Education Association and the United States Bureau of Education.

Vigorous Old Age

WHY separate youth and old age with a deep and ever-widening abyss?

The bloom of youth and the hardy, ruddy glow of Old Age—strength and sixty—should be separated only by the span of years and not by varying differences of physical wholesomeness.

Vigorous old age is within the grasp of all. S. S. S. brings that hale and hearty feeling back with a rush. Rich red blood is the greatest enemy of weakening Old Age. S. S. S. builds Red Blood Cells. Rich, red blood coursing through your veins sweeps away impurities that retard the proper functioning of your system. Old Age—once a dreaded agony becomes a vigorous, enjoyable, care-free time of life.

(S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and proportioned. Welcome Old Age when it comes. Be ready to withstand the attacks of disease that follow in its wake. Meet Old Age with a hearty handshake. A handshake that speaks of well-being—of a vigorous, clear thinking, red blooded constitution. S. S. S. is your best friend when Old Age is seen rounding the corner. Get a bottle and drive care and worry away. All leading drug stores carry it. The large size is the more economical.)

U. S. ATTORNEY IS HERE PREPARING FOR GRAND JURY

A. J. Reinhart, an assistant in the United States district attorney's department for the northern district of Texas, arrived in Wichita Falls Friday morning to make preparations for the opening of federal court here next Monday morning.

Judge Wm. H. Atwell, the clerk of the court, U. S. deputy marshals and a number of members of the district attorney's office, will arrive here Sunday.

Mr. Reinhart began work immediately in arranging the work for the grand jury which will be impaneled at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning. He will also be in the drawing of the complaints in cases where it is not necessary to prosecute by indictment.

NON-SUIT TAKEN FRIDAY IN CHINA DISH CASE

A non-suit was taken Friday morning in the case in which various samples of chinaware were displayed before the jury in the 7th district court Thursday afternoon. The case is styled Mrs. Alice Taylor Moseley and husband against Mrs. John O'Neill and husband.

The case went to trial after the noon hour Thursday and continued until 10 o'clock Friday morning. The defense had introduced some testimony when the plaintiff asked for time for consultation. Immediately afterward a non-suit was asked for.

The plaintiff in the case sought recovery of approximately $400, which she claimed was the loss by the defendant for seasons given and for china dishes ordered by her for the defendant.

The defendant contended that it had been agreed that she was to receive the dishes at cost price, but that the price asked by the plaintiff for the goods included an exorbitant profit.

GOLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolium, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosolium is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creosolium, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creosolium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creosolium Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mrs. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Alenrbu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Alenrbu with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. Palace Drug Store from Rheumatism until the will supply you. Mail orders accepted.—adv.

Veteran and Most Modern Engines are Exhibited Here by Veteran Engineers

Forty-one years of service and still running.
Old No. 40, oldest locomotive in the point of service on the Fort Worth & Denver City railroad, which was on exhibition at the union station Thursday afternoon with its modern sister, No. 151, a 20th century monster locomotive, has been inspected by thousands of interested spectators during the last week at Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and other points between the two cities. Thousands of residents of Wichita Falls saw the engine Thursday afternoon at the union station. Many school boys were at the depot to greet the engines when they arrived. Only railroad men who have seen many years of service can describe the difference between the two locomotives—but not an engineer can be found who will speak against old No. 40, one of the most faithful locomotives in service.

"She will still do 60 miles an hour," George McNeill, for 36 years an engineer on the Deaver, who for many years operated the locomotive, explained as he proudly pointed to the old engine which has a very warm place in his heart. Mr. McNeill is in command of the old engine during the exhibition and Ed Hartzell is in charge of the monster 151. Engineer Hartzell has a service record of 41 years, but has not been an engineer as long as Mr. McNeill. Both men are now piloting the fast modern type locomotives which tear through the country between Children and Fort Worth on the Fort Worth & Denver with their modern trains of all-steel cars.

Veterans in railroad service conduct the curious through the engines contrasted here Thursday. Mr. Hartzell of Fort Worth is the oldest engineer on the road, having entered the service in 1882, but Mr. McNeill of Fort Worth, who entered the employ in 1885, is the oldest engineer in active service. Walter Long, present road foreman, has been in active service since 1890.

The two locomotives formed one of the most interesting and educational exhibits ever viewed in Wichita Falls, and many people crowded around the locomotives Thursday.

Old No. 40 first went into service in 1882, on the Union Pacific railroad, but after being overhauled, it entered the service of the Deaver in 1892. It bears the distinction of being the smallest locomotive still in service on the Denver road, drawing a passenger train every day between Abilene and Wichita Falls on the Wichita Valley railroad. The monster No. 151 was designed especially for fast passenger service between Amarillo and Fort Worth and can attain a speed of between 55 and 60 miles an hour.

out of harmony with the progressive spirit of Wichita Falls and has been a source of almost continuous expense—expense that never brought any permanent or even long continued relief or benefit.

Now this condition is to be changed by the laying of vitrified brick paving on both Indiana and Ohio avenues. The new pavement will greatly improve appearance, it will make traffic easier and more comfortable and while the immediate cost will be considerable it will stop a continual drain upon the city's funds.

JUST FOLKS —By— EDGAR A. GUEST

A DAY IS NOT SO LONG. From dawn to dusk is not so long. When it is spent in mirth and song; Night swiftly falls to close the day. That's true from care and rich with play. The hands upon the clock turn fast. The happiest hours are soonest past. But oh, the leaden feet of care. Make long the time of our despair. And grief and hurt and shame and wrong. Make every troubled day seem long.

Let me be true for just today, Whatever waits along my way! Surely from daybreak until night I can be faithful to the right; Can face one day of blistering rain And bitter cold, and not complain. What though I fare to work or play, Unchanged's the measure of the day, The bright hours do no faster go Than those which bear the freight of woe.

'Tis faltering faith and heavy doubt Which seem to stretch the mornings out. If pleasure's day so swiftly flies, For one day can I not be wise? Can I not face one day of care And brave the heartache of despair? Have I not courage staid enough One day to bear with life's rebuff? Though long it seems to troubled hearts, Even the day of grief departs.

Not long the day when laughter rings, Not long the day which pleasure brings, Nor longer is the day of woe— 'Tis but man's thinking makes it so. Then let me, though I smile or grove, Keep faith with all from dawn till eve. Let me each day, through every test, With courage hold to what is best. Tomorrow waits—blue skies to gray, I have but to be true today. (Copyright, 1923, by Edgar A. Guest)

TODAY'S TALK By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A RICH QUEST. Franklin E. Lane once wrote to one of his friends at the close of a year that, though there had been many disappointments during the months that had passed so quickly, still there had come one rich reward—the friend to whom he wrote.

Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason

THE RESORT TOWN. The crowds are gone from Bullfrog Beach, the scene is sad and drear; no more we see the blooming peach in bathing togs appear; the hungry seabirds wall and screech, and no relief is near. The town is dead, no noisy band grinds out the ragtime tune, no hot dog dealer is at hand to capture the doubloon; but there is only soggy sand, in bar and drift and dune. The sea is gray that once was blue, the water no longer play, but scrap a dreary sound or two, and snarling, drift away, and every mortal thing in view is brown or black or gray. The girls are gone, the boys are gone, all youth has left the town; the flowers are withered on the lawn, the grass is dead and brown; and all the buildings seem to yawn; deserted, broken down. Some dismal gray-beards walk the shore and talk away the time, and tell old tales of days of yore, of distant ports and clime; and every day to them's a bore, and every night a crime. A stranger, gazing at the place, would have a pallid grin, and say, "It's surely not its race, it's mortified within; it's dead to loveliness and grace, it's too dead to stink." But wait a few brief months, I pray, and see the town once more; and you will find it twice as gay as ever it was before, the bells will ring, the bands will play, the peaches burst the shore.

TODAY

We are doing well even on the farm. According to Secretary Wallace, 11 of the leading crops are worth this year two billions more than last year.

There seems to be some prosperity in the coal country. A writer and his portable typewriter machine from Chicago to New York, runs in four sections, each with an engine, and a man can run a big engine on a pull.

Paris newspapers say American bankers are retreating from the crown prince to Germany. These papers exaggerate the insanity of the American banker. He has more money than the prince, but there is a limit.

Paris papers, with Germany repudiating and ceasing payment of her debts, will soon have things more serious and dangerous than "American bankers" to think about.

What might have been a pretty good German goose with golden eggs is dead. Her financial federal bill has been rejected. Let him read that can read and understand what is not good to keep.

Some European bonds of various nationalities may be bargain soon. Learn from Germany's one crown prince, back on his landed estate at Oels, that it pays to own a piece of this soil.

A MATING IN THE WILDS

OTTWELL BINNS. ILLUSTRATED BY RAYMOND BROWN. GUILD ALFRED A. KNOPP, INC. CHICAGO, ILL. MADE IN U.S.A.

Stane looked forward through the open doorway, and standing near the door, watching a tall Indian bartering with the factor, saw the beautiful Indian girl from the neighboring camp. He nodded an affirmative, and seeing an opportunity to obtain information, he spoke to the man.

Stane made no reply to this. He nodded carelessly and passed into the store. Factor Rowdwell looked round as he entered, and surveyed him with a measuring eye as if taking stock of a new acquaintance.

Stane caught the question, but the answer he did not hear, though he saw the man's eyes and mouth as they moved. He turned and moved on again, before Stane could reply, and he joined the English girl, the latter inquired in a surprised voice, "You know that man?"

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was sitting and thinking and I was on the floor doing my lessons and wishing I wasn't, and all of a sudden pop said, "The sun of a gun! Well, pop, who? I said, and pop said, 'The bird that was standing next to me in the trolley car coming home this afternoon. There's a 5 dollar bill gone from my vest pocket and I'll be willing to bet another 5 that that bird got it. The sun of a gun, pop said.'

Well that's very funny because I never saw a bird's general appearance man in my life and I thought I never saw a bird's general appearance man in my life and I thought I never saw a bird's general appearance man in my life.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Divide the oblong into five pieces which will fit together to form the square. The oblong is five times as long as it is wide. This is the puzzle which confronted the carpenter who wished to make a square cover. It may be worked backward if you wish by getting the square into five pieces that will form the oblong.

Why They're Leaving. The Turkish government has ordered the prohibition law rigidly enforced in Constantinople. Another scheme to drive out the "Christians" population.—Houston (Tex.) Post.

America's Favorite Songs

DISTRICT HEADS OF FEDERATION REPORT

Americanization work done by this district, on the establishment of tourist parks in every county, on the addition of nine home demonstration agents and the total number of 45 clubs in the district with a record of no unvisited or unanswered questionnaires.

Mrs. J. C. George of Brownsville, president of district five, called attention to the large endowment fund of more than $1,300 and to the great progress made in this district in connection with public health, the protection of women and children in home and industry.

The sixth district, reported by Miss Minnie Cunningham of Comanche, district president, has done special work in the formation and federation of junior clubs, and has a tourist park in every town. The creation of a large student loan fund was among the other remarkable achievements of the district.

Mrs. G. R. Scott of Corpus Christi, president of the seventh district, called attention to the fact that this district has the lowest per cent of illiteracy in the state, included in the numerous public health, baby health, baby clinics and public health school health work.

Mrs. G. H. Rott of Corpus Christi read new resolutions and the body adopted those having passed the first reading of the resolutions pertaining to outdoor advertising; the setting aside of December 15 for "Buy an Victory" day; the elimination of local markets for benefit of rural sections; continuation of the information bureau as a department of the state educational survey, and the establishing of a chauteau in the southwest.

Mrs. H. F. Ring of Houston, chairman of industrial schools in every town, in reporting, touched on the preventative work done by this committee, and referred to the work of Mrs. J. E. King, who was appointed at the suggestion of this committee, on the board of state prison supervision; she also brought out the work done for the protection of women and children in industry in a legislative way.

The report of the public health committee was given by state chairman, Mrs. John D. Finagan of Kingsville, in which she declared that 90 per cent of the children are defective and 40 per cent are undernourished, thus emphasizing the importance of the health examination of school children, more public health nurses and better milk supply. She told of the splendid work already done by this department in these lines and touched on the recommendations made by the committee.

The department of home economics was reported by Mrs. George D. Haglind, principal, chairman. She spoke of the successful cooperation of the thrift and rural life sections as brought out in the conference Thursday and announced the sixth district as leader in home economic work.

Mrs. W. C. Martin of Dallas reported on the publication of "Who's Who in the Womanhood of Texas," and Mrs. L. E. Shaver of Dallas gave the report on the publication, Texas Federation News, both reports being enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Anna L. Burdick, special agent for girls and women in trades and vocational federal board, addressed the convention the industrial Education for Girls at the Friday morning session in the educational conference. Mrs. Burdick declared that a program of the education of the youths of Texas would be a great factor in the state's welfare.

Mrs. Burdick highly commended the educational department of Texas, and stated that Texas was one of the two states in the entire country that had a woman in the educational representation. The other state was Georgia, she stated.

In explaining her purpose, the speaker told of the three kinds of industrial and vocational schools. One, she explained, is an evening school for trade and extension work; the second, a part-time school for girls over 14 years of age who are working; and the third, a school for workers who have working permits and who are in the industrial world at an early age.

Mrs. Burdick told the assembly that the medium wage for industrial women was $11 to $15 per week. She said that it was the opinion of some that women should not be given as much for their services as men, but she quoted statistics from one state showing that of 50,000 women wage earners making from $11 to $15 per week, 21 per cent had large families of dependents.

"The non-wage earners should take the responsibility of seeing that the wage earners have the right training, that they might speak for themselves and demand their own rights," she declared.

Future of American Republic Depends Upon Reestablishment Individual Ownership, Says Senator Sheppard

That the future of the American republic depends upon the reestablishment of individual ownership, and that this can be attained only by economic action by the people and not by legislation, was the main theme of an address by Morris Sheppard, senior senator of Texas, before the business council of the chamber of commerce at its weekly luncheon at the Kemp Hotel Friday.

"Only by a change in the economic conditions, by the people and not by legislation, will the change be accomplished. There is no peculiar magic that will transform poverty into riches and there must be a reestablishment of individual ownership if this republic is to be more than an empty shell," Senator Sheppard said.

"It is essential to a profound understanding of the conditions that confront our government that we keep three things in mind: during the 15 decades of our history since the signing of the Declaration of Independence, there has been a marked development in scientific and mechanical power. The industrial revolution which began about the time the American continent was discovered spread through the European continent in the United States. No sweeping was this revolution in the United States that it brought about an entire change in the economic life of our nation; it marked the beginning of a mechanical age, the displacement of hand power by machinery.

The speaker called attention to conditions which had existed up to the time of the industrial revolution when the predominant population was agricultural, every community was practically self-sustaining, the individual ownership was the custom and there was an even distribution of wealth.

He contrasted this condition with the period which followed, when the nation was transformed into a country whose population was predominantly industrial and commercial, when the major part of the people, who at one time had been owners of their own farms, were in factories and had been transformed as if by magic from owners to tenants. He called attention to the astounding suddenness with which fortunes leaped with the coming of the mechanical age and the passing of the individual ownership.

"The owning class has attained a similar superiority over the farm-owners to extent that they are forced to sell their products to the creatures of the new industrialism at their own price. The change has driven people into the cities, dependent upon their employers for support. It has put millions of people out of work, brought about a surplus of population in every town, times forces us to sell to European markets whether we want to or not, and there is restlessness everywhere. We are just drink money mad."

As a remedy for the situation, the senior Texas senator advocated the return to individual ownership. This could best be attained, he said, by utilizing every effort to expand education of every kind and put it within the reach of every boy and girl. He urged the establishment of a national bureau of individual ownership of the European countries, as well as political ones, as a means of increasing the earning power of the individuals and increase his productivity. Every pound of cotton raised in the south and sent to be manufactured into material is a reflection of economic maladjustment and material loss. There must be a readjustment of the small American farm if it is to be saved from annihilation." In conclusion, the speaker told of the benefits which were to be derived from the combination of owner and operator in the same person and the manufacture of raw materials in the area in which they were produced.

Senator Sheppard was the guest of Ed Howard, who had arranged a luncheon for the following guests: J. T. Young, C. C. Cabiness, B. D. Donnell, Edgar Scurry, J. H. Allison, J. W. Cantwell, W. H. Silk, Alva Howard and J. H. Brittain. Howard accepted the invitation of the business council to combine the two luncheons and give the membership the opportunity of hearing the speaker. He was introduced by Judge A. H. Brittain.

Senator Sheppard left Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock on the Fort Worth & Denver for Amarillo.

Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court was engaged Friday afternoon in hearing an injunction suit, styled Grace Jennings estate vs. C. B. Weaver and others, in which the plaintiff seeks a permanent order restraining the defendant from further drilling on a lease.

The defendant asks that the temporary injunction order be dissolved. The plaintiff alleges in her petition that the defendant at this time is not acting in good faith in attempting to drill on the lease and that his actions are for the purpose of placing a cloud on the title to the land, which she has attempted to sell to another party.

DPAW JURIES FOR TWO WEEKS IN DECEMBER

GRAND JURY NOT LIKELY TO CLOSE WORK THIS WEEK

It was apparent Friday afternoon that the grand jury of the 99th district court, which has been in session throughout the week and which has been attempting to complete its work before Saturday evening, will not be able to conclude its labors this week.

A number of grand jurors stated late Friday afternoon that every effort was being made to wind up the work by Saturday night. When asked whether it was possible that they would finish they stated that they could not tell.

Howard accepted the invitation of the business council to combine the two luncheons and give the membership the opportunity of hearing the speaker. He was introduced by Judge A. H. Brittain.

Senator Sheppard left Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock on the Fort Worth & Denver for Amarillo.

Refinery Worker Is Injured In Fall From Tower

Ed Daley, an employe of the Texoma refinery, was painfully, if not permanently injured Friday morning, when he fell from the top of an agitator tower at the refinery.

He was rushed to General Hospital and Friday afternoon was still in a semi-conscious condition. According to the physicians in charge he is suffering from fractures of the upper and lower jaw, and several scalp wounds. His jaw teeth on both sides were knocked out. An X-ray examination was being made Friday afternoon to determine the extent of his injuries.

As a remedy for the situation, the senior Texas senator advocated the return to individual ownership. This could best be attained, he said, by utilizing every effort to expand education of every kind and put it within the reach of every boy and girl.

Witness Called By Grand Jury "Sick" But Comes

A certain male witness who had been served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury Wednesday morning sent word that he was sick and could not come to court.

Thursday morning the grand jury directed one of the bailiffs to go to the man's home to ascertain how sick the man was and when the bailiff could expect him to appear. The bailiff made another officer to go with him to the man's house.

When they arrived at the house, it was ascertained that the man lived there by himself and upon entering they found him in bed. After a few minutes the officers departed, but returned in five minutes with a physician.

The man's temperature was taken, his pulse beats were counted and he was sounded out by the doctor. The doctor packed up his instruments and then turned to the man and said, "Well, my friend I find that the best thing you can do is to jump up out of bed and go to court."

Thursday afternoon the man appeared before the grand jury.

SECRETARY OF BOARD AND EDITOR REELECTED

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, Nov. 16. (AP)—The Texas Baptist Missionary Association in session here has unanimously reelected Rev. C. R. Meadows as secretary of the state board and Hon. D. C. Dove as editor of Baptist Progress.

The association last night agreed to join the action of the Baptist convention of Oklahoma in laying a base for a new south-wide missionary Baptist general cooperative foreign missionary body.

Working in cooperation with the Children's Book Week campaign at the Kemp public library, the art department of the city public schools has been having poster work concerning children's books done in the various art classes from the fourth grade up. As a result the children's section is very attractively decorated with posters made by students in the ward and high schools.

Most of these posters deal with reading good books. They all show originality, and the fourth and fifth grades work is especially attractive, with the raised poster work, small pieces of paper being posted on the design to make it appear realistic.

The two posters considered to be the best of the entire collection were designed by seventh grade students in the Pannin and San Jacinto schools. One of these posters is a picture of a boy and girl before a bookcase reading. The other represents a set of books between two fancy bookends on a table, with the names of some of the famous classical writers. The painting under each picture is in ink and reads, "Read Better Books."

The story hour at the library each afternoon at 4:30 o'clock has been attracting much attention, and hundreds of children have listened to stories since the beginning of the campaign last Monday.

According to reports from the children's section Friday morning, about 80 children listened to the story told on Monday afternoon, while on Thursday afternoon fully 200 children were present. I. H. Sheldon lectured on bird life Friday afternoon, showing his specimens of birds.

ENGLAND THREATENS BREAK WITH FRANCE

declared to be out of the question in competent quarters here. Whether the French government intends to take separate action in case Great Britain definitely refuses to join in such a move cannot be confirmed in official circles. The tone of the comment in official quarters, however, shows that Premier Poincare regards the question of military control in Germany as a really serious matter requiring action. If action is decided upon by France, it seems clear it will be with reference to this question, rather than to the presence of the former crown prince in Germany.

EACH SIDE IS WAITING FOR OTHER TO YIELD

DUSSELDORF, Nov. 16. (AP)—Neither the French authorities nor the German industrialists have made any new move toward resumption of negotiations for continuation of industrial activity in the Ruhr under arrangements between the French and the German capitalists so far as can be learned.

Each side is apparently waiting for the other to make the first overture toward the breaking of the deadlock in the parleys resulting from the refusal of the Germans to accept some of the French conditions.

The Difference of 150 Years You've heard the story of Paul Revere—how he clattered out of Boston and spread the alarm to every Middlesex village, etc. That was in April, 1775. It was an all night job. Today Boston papers would scalp extras on their presses and in the shake of a little lamb's tail the whole thrilling message would be in each home of the well known county. This represents the advance of 150 years in the important business of spreading news. The cry of "Extra—Extra" on the midnight air brings startled folks to their doors as once did the pound of a horse's hoofs and the breathless shout of the rider. Papers have supplanted the courier—multiplied his effectiveness many times—increased his speed a hundred fold. How far back we would go without newspapers! We would remain in ignorance not only of events at home and abroad—but also of much that concerns us just as vitally—news of the very things that have to do with the personal, every-day life of each one of us. Somebody might be selling a new, better and more economical food; or a utensil that would add immeasurably to our comfort and well-being; or some better material for making shoes or clothing—but we would never know it. Modern advertising is a boon. It keeps our information up-to-date on the many things we need in order to live a profitable, happy and useful life in this age of progress. Do you take full advantage of the advertising in The Times? Read It!—It Pays!

"WOMEN AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS"—MRS. LEE JOSEPH

"Women Can Wipe Institution Of War From the Human Race"—Mrs. Joseph's Address Stirring

"It is the Shame of America That the Covenant of the League of Nations, That Greatest of All Human Documents, Has Been Made a Plaything in the Mire of Partisan Politics!"

Men think of war in terms of economic gain; there is the spectacle of victorious France, whose national debt comprises half her total national wealth. There is Germany prostrate. War does not pay.

Women think of war in terms of blood, broken families and stinking death. The blood of prattling innocents, of future generations, will be upon your heads if you evade the responsibilities of the present hour, for women of America can lead the world to peace. War is an institution, and women can destroy it!

Mrs. Joseph's address sent the first challenge for concerted and cooperative action on the part of organized American women to the women of the Texas Federation Thursday evening. The church was crowded, the main auditorium of the big Crowder edifice overflowing as an eager audience into the ante-rooms and galleries, and furnishing silent but incontrovertible evidence that the women of Wichita Falls have a grave and eager interest in the greatest question confronting the world today. The address had an attractive prelude, that for a few moments relieved the minds of the listeners from the consideration of more serious matters. Miss Jennie Hill Barry of Milford, daughter of Mrs. Margie W. Barry, gave a lovely group of songs, "L'Amour de Mat," "Quill Saufrance" (Lorenz), "Billy Boy" and "Frog Went a-Courtin'" with a sympathetic and beautiful piano accompaniment by Miss Annette Walsh; Mrs. C. W. Conery, Fort Worth, a past president of the state federation, extended a greeting to the convention and paid a pretty compliment to the hospitality of this years convention city; Mrs. W. H. Moore of Fort Worth introduced the district presidents, and Mrs. J. C. George of Brownsville, in their behalf, made a very gracious response. At the close of Mrs. Joseph's address Mrs. David Warren of Bowie, attractive young daughter of Mrs. W. H. Potter, gave a delightfully entertaining pianologue on "Hats" by Lytton Cox, with a musical accompaniment by Mrs. A. J. McNeese, and Miss Leah Pearl Curry sang the beautiful Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," with the piano accompaniment by Mrs. A. H. Brittain, violin obligato by Mrs. O. E. Nicholls, and organ accompaniment by Mrs. F. K. Collard. At the close of Mrs. Joseph's talk, Mrs. J. W. Emerick of New York, noted social service worker and national director in America of the Near East relief work, made a splendid appeal for that relief organization in her vivid delineation of its great service among the desolate, childless Armenians, Syria and other countries broken in the world war.

The theme that I have chosen is the problem of international relations. We must not overlook a sinister influence—capitalism as it is exercised through the manufacture of war equipment. This influence is constantly pressing upon all governments.

ignorance and the next step is to control it. The vital question then presents itself: how most international economic league can be organized.

At the end of the 16th century, the modern economic age began; it has since the right enjoyment of the navigation multiplied adventures and the great opening up of the world. There came the discovery of America—trading began between the colonies and the old world. The struggle for colonial empires caused these means wealth, prestige and national power; so began the play of the economic factor in national politics.

The first economic effort marked the conquest of the seas and the discovery of land—industrial revolution followed. Power driven machinery was applied to many industries, and the products of industry so increased that new markets must be found for raw material. The increase of products was followed by the acquisition of trade routes and markets; transportation was simplified through the building of powerful steamships. The canal of Suez and Panama shortened distances and thus the world has become reduced to one large economic unit.

Reduction of trade routes to an economic unit resulted in economic interdependence. For the very means of life nations have now become dependent upon each other. To sustain commerce there came the evolution of the banking system of the world; international exchange of money was developed. It is sensitive to the slightest disturbance in international affairs. Here, again, follows the close relation of world economics to world politics.

We must recognize the fact that the economic necessities of a nation largely determine its national policy. Witness England's position in the recent Anglo-French deadlock—how unfair is the judgment of those who fail to understand that "economic security is national security."

Recognizing that national purpose is vitally related to industry, commerce and transportation and complicated with human motives, we are forced to admit that commercial questions necessarily affect the negotiation and treaties of nations. (Cite England in Egypt, China and Japan, French Loan to Turkey, 1914.)

Increasingly will economic considerations affect international relations and quibbling interests will provoke sentiments of unfriendliness. We must not overlook a sinister influence—capitalism as it is exercised through the manufacture of war equipment. This influence is constantly pressing upon all governments.

How great an influence the question of reparations is wielding in the present day world; it is intricately concerned with the question of war loans—indeed it is a fact that many of the world's great financiers believe that the cancellation of these war loans is essential to a restoration of normal business conditions.

ing down through the disturbing influence of uncertainty of the future and the destruction of confidence.

An international economic league offers a feasible means for the distribution of raw material and also the economic boycott as a weapon against a disturber of world peace. To be specific, such a boycott would close the telegraphic systems, confine railway lines to their own borders, conclude foreign relations with a complete withdrawal of financial relations—under such conditions, sever diplomatic relations.

The economic boycott is a powerful tool. It is still the disturbing factor in world conditions.

It is hardly possible to comprehend or correctly measure such loss. The war cost 186 billion dollars—and the indirect cost, such as the destruction of property, the loss of production, the capitalized value of the human lives and the cost of the national debt of the United States during the world war rose from one to nearly twenty five billion dollars.

We cannot grasp these colossal figures, but translating billions of dollars, in war debt, into terms of utility and folly of self imposed economic burdens, there will come the realization of some new scheme for the settlement of international differences.

War of Conquest Don't Pay. The time is gone when wars of conquest can be made to pay. Germany believed that war paid when she forced an indemnity of a billion dollars from the French nation in 1871; but having lost her struggle to win the war in the Marne battle, and having lost her struggle to escape from the consequences of that war in the Ruhr conflict, does Germany today, believe that war pays?

The spectacle of victorious France, whose national debt comprises half of her total national wealth, and Germany prostrate, should convince the world that war does not pay!

For example: Germany is a great purchaser of raw material; she manufactures and exports to other nations. The time is gone when wars of conquest can be made to pay. Germany believed that war paid when she forced an indemnity of a billion dollars from the French nation in 1871; but having lost her struggle to win the war in the Marne battle, and having lost her struggle to escape from the consequences of that war in the Ruhr conflict, does Germany today, believe that war pays?

While economic causes often operate as a disintegrating force, economic causes can bind people together. It is important to note that modern conditions rest upon a common basis, and the credit system, upon which business is based, rests upon nation; she sells her coarsest stuff to France, and France, sells her linen, silk and gloves and finer commodities to Germany. England fabricates its steel; her millions are unemployed; she cannot sell her manufactured goods to Germany, so France and England and all other nations are vitally interested in the restoration of Germany's purchasing power and the economic problem that confronts all nations today: Will the German structure survive? Almost endlessly we might trace the force of economic as it affects international relations.

What of nationality as a factor in world peace? What is nationality? First we have the family—then the community—then the nation, the larger community. It is just as important that men belong to a nation as to belong to a family—perhaps more so. It has been said that "consciousness of nationality is essential to individual self respect" as self respect is essential to right living.

Now we, as a nation, have a common tradition—the memories of struggles and sufferings endured, the games of great men treasured because they embody the nation's ideals, and the nation's purpose—these are the sacred things of national life. We Americans are conscious of these certain things that we hold in common; our heritage, our history, the language, our religion, the home land, and the promise of the future, the national pride and, speaking largely, I am of value to my nation in the degree that I am the outgrowth of the heritage and the purpose of my own

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

A Head of Cabbage.
To the woman who is cooking for two or three a day, a head of cabbage often causes much perplexity. A quarter of a head is often more than enough for one meal and after the cabbage is cut it must be used soon or wasted. Perhaps cooked cabbage is taboo in the family and raw cabbage for four or five meals in succession seems too much of a good thing.

If the color of the cabbage is the main objection, try cooking it uncovered. Parboil and carefully drain before dressing for the table. Cabbage really has a more delicate flavor than cauliflower or Brussels sprouts if it's carefully cooked and served.

In cold weather a cut head of cabbage can be kept for several days if wrapped in oiled paper and treasured in a cold place before using.

The story of this head of cabbage may help your next week's menu planning.

With the fish dinner of Friday serve a cabbage salad. On Saturday lunch use the leftover fish with cabbage in a salad. The menu might be something like this:

Fish and cabbage salad. Hot cheese sandwiches, cookies, tea. Serve cabbage au gratin with the Sunday roast.

Monday plan to have a vegetable soup and use cabbage, carrots, tomatoes and onions for the vegetables. The tomatoes and carrots seem to absorb the disagreeable pungency of the cabbage and the soup is really delicious.

Cabbage salad. One cup finely shredded cabbage, one-half cup diced celery, one apple, two tablespoons nuts, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, two tablespoons vinegar, four tablespoons oil, paprika.

Add salt and sugar to cabbage and crush slightly with a wooden potato masher. Add celery and apple, diced and mix well. Add vinegar, salt and continue stirring. Sprinkle with paprika and arrange on salad plates. Sprinkle with nuts and serve.

If you happen to have a slice of canned pineapple add this, cut in small pieces. The tartness of the pineapple is quite an addition to the salad.

Fish and Cabbage Salad. One cup cold flaked fish, one cup cabbage, finely shredded, one green pepper, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons lemon juice, mayonnaise, one teaspoon minced parsley. Remove seeds and wipe ribs from pepper and cut in shreds. Mix fish and cabbage and pour over lemon juice. Let stand half an hour. Make moist with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce. Sprinkle with paprika before serving.

Cabbage au Gratin. Two cups finely shredded cabbage, two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, one and one-half cups milk, one tablespoon grated cheese, one-fourth cup coarse bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Put cabbage into slightly salted boiling water and boil, uncovered, for 15 minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Drain. Put in a well buttered baking dish and pour over the sauce made by melting butter, stirring in flour, slowly adding milk and cooking until thick and smooth. Add cheese and stir until melted. Cover with crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven until crumbs are brown.

Cabbage cooked this way will not fill the house with a disagreeable cabbage odor.

This one head of cabbage is used in four different ways, providing nourishing food at a low cost and without monotony. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

soaked in cold water for at least eight hours before cooking. After the soaking they should be rinsed in fresh water and put on to cook in cold water.

slightly moistened with sweet oil. Rub dry with a soft cloth and then polish with chamolite skin.

Care of Mattress.
A mattress should be thoroughly brushed and beaten with a flat rattan beater at least once a month. By turning it every few days the wear will be more evenly distributed.

Rustproof Stoveware.
Before you use your new tinware rub it well with lard and heat it in the oven. This will insure it against rust.

Durable Paint.
Carriage paint is particularly strong and resists wear, and is said to be excellent for floors and for painted furniture.

Scaled Wall Paper.
When cleaning wall paper remember that you can easily mar it by hard rubbing, so use a soft cloth like outline flannel, and use very little pressure on your strokes.

Keep Bugs Away.
Never set platters or bowls away on shelves if they are sticky or contain sticky food because this is the quickest way there is to invite bugs.

Cover Sauce Pans.
If you use covers on your sauce pans while cooking in them you will save heat and hence fuel.

Household Suggestions

Discolored Nickel.
If your nickel pans become discolored, clean them by rubbing with a paste of whiting or a fine scourer.

Ironing Lace.
Instead of ironing lace it is more satisfactory to stretch it while wet into its original shape and pin in position on a well padded board. If allowed to dry this way it is like new when dry. If it must be ironed, always iron it on the wrong side over a thick pad.

Heart of Beef.
Heart of beef makes a cheap and nutritious dish. It may be baked, stewed or braised.

Senator Sheppard Announces His Candidacy for Third Term; Will Not Hazard Guess On Next President

Senator Morris Sheppard Thursday afternoon, after his address before the annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at the First Baptist church, informally announced his candidacy for re-election to the United States senate, when interviewed by a representative of The Times.

Formal announcement will be made in March, 1924, before the primary election which takes place in July, the senator declared. No candidate has announced his candidacy in the senatorial campaign against Senator Sheppard, but opposition will probably be experienced.

"No human being could predict the nominee of either political party for president of the United States," Senator Sheppard declared, "and it is doubtful whether President Coolidge will be nominated by the Republican party for the new term."

"I do not anticipate any weakening of the Volstead act, and any change in the prohibition laws of the country should be made in the direction of strengthening the act," he stated.

"The League of Nations expresses the purpose for which we entered the war—the admission of war and the doctrine of war. The United States has long evaded its responsibility and influence in world affairs and for this reason the other countries of the world have weakened. The United States can hardly expect its suggestions to the world to be accepted as long as it remains outside of the League of Nations."

Senator Sheppard's state keynote, "Favors Extension State Sovereignty," was made by Senator Sheppard to prove his position as a strong believer in the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations.

Since the recess of congress Senator Sheppard has been touring the state of Texas and has visited practically every city and community, making more than fifty speeches, he declared.

He stated that the good prices of cotton have shown a splendid effect on conditions in the Lone Star state, and that certain prosperity and progress would be the result.

Agricultural conditions, and more especially the wheat situation, will receive the thorough attention of the next session of congress and immediate steps will probably be taken to protect the wheat growers. The railroad situation will also receive the attention of the highest legislative body of the United States, the senator declared.

When asked about the controversy regarding the seating of the newly elected Texas senator, Mario D. Mayfield, Senator Sheppard stated that since a contest had been filed it would be necessary for the senator to sit as judge during the hearing and the case would probably be a precedent for years to come.

"It has been several years since I have visited Wichita Falls and while I was waiting along the business district Thursday afternoon I was very much impressed with the wonderful growth of the city, and there is no doubt that Wichita Falls is one of the most promising cities in Texas," the senator said.

Thursday evening Senator Sheppard was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Young at dinner at the Wichita club.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of the Wichita Falls public schools, arranged Thursday afternoon for Senator Sheppard to address students of the Wichita Falls High School Friday morning.

Senator Sheppard arrived in Wichita Falls over the Fort Worth & Denver City railroad from Fort Worth Thursday afternoon and he will leave this city Friday afternoon for Amarillo. He will make several addresses in the Panhandle and leave that section for Washington.

Senator Sheppard is now the senator from Texas since the retirement of Senator Culberson. He was elected to the 57th congress Nov. 15, 1902, for the unexpired term of his father, deceased, and has been in public office since that time. He was re-elected to the 58th and 59th congresses and served from 1905 to 1915, when he was elected United States senator from the first Texas district for the unexpired term of Joseph W. Bailey, resigned. On the same day he was also elected for the term 1915-1919 and was later reelected for the term 1919-1922.

WATER NOW SIXTY-TWO AND HALF FEET DEEP IN LAKE KEMP

Recent rains caused a rise of slightly more than one foot in the waters of Lake Kemp, according to reports received by J. L. Lockridge, resident engineer of the Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1, and the surplus water passed through the spillway.

Temporary bridges will be constructed across the gaps in the road, which were formed by the "shooting" of the road to open the spillway.

Sheet metal piling will soon be driven across the river channel gap, which has been closed with an earthen dyke and the process of puddling is scheduled to take place in the near future.

The water at the diversion dam is more than four feet deep, as it must be that depth before the water can flow through the spillway gate.

PIGGLY WIGGLY stores are a national affair with each city and town unit co-operating with all other town units toward a lower cost in operation and with ability to make lower prices.

Whether One Buys Or Whether One Looks---In Either Case It's Alright With Piggly Wiggly

A "Different" Store

Come and get a loaf of our now famous bread, hear the music, and see for yourself that a PIGGLY WIGGLY store is different from any other store in the world—that it looks different; that the prices are lower; that the assortment of food products is greater; that the orderly arrangement of the entire store makes it possible to have an absolutely clean store.

Operating Cost

The operating cost of PIGGLY WIGGLY stores is lower than any heretofore known method of retail distribution. The saving in operating cost is given the consumer, affording prices which are savings that cannot be obtained elsewhere.

Food Products

Food products of a variety including fresh fruits and vegetables, of more than one thousand items, each item priced by a swinging price tag. Nationally known advertised brands of a most comprehensive assortment is the class of merchandise to be found in every PIGGLY WIGGLY store.

Visitors Welcome

You can look and be at home in this store and go through its two separate aisles upon a tour of inspection as to the merchandise, as to its cleanliness, as to the prices—and for so doing you will be handed a loaf of bread FREE, that you may know we were glad that you came.

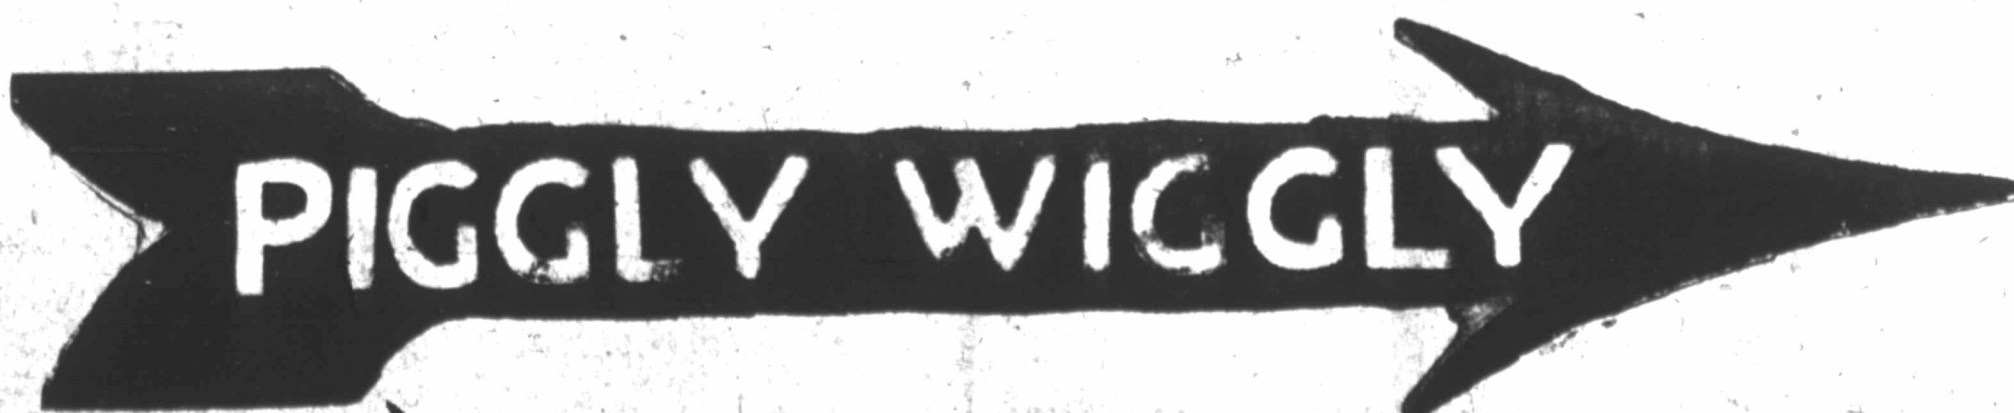

Your Own Decision

If you see something that you want to buy of your own free will, without persuasion from anyone, without mental contact whatsoever with anyone—if you want to make a purchase voluntarily, we, of course, will be glad to have you as a customer.

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT ON EVE OF CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE

Coach McCallum Believes Coyotes In Condition to Overcome Heavier Team; Tickets Are In Great Demand

Wichita Falls' returned bowl of fathomless blue was without a blemish Friday, the eve of the championship gridiron battle between the Coyotes and Strawn's eleven.

The clear skies were significant, not only because they were a sort of guarantee that the weather gods would be kind Saturday, but because they signified the confidence of the two teams who will battle for the crown of District No. 4 of the interscholastic football league Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the ball park.

Not a cloud of doubt hovered about either camp. An air of confidence permeates the atmosphere surrounding the two armies of high school gridiron warriors. One of the two confidence men is the shaker Saturday afternoon. Which will it be? Strawn says it will be the Coyotes. The Coyotes say it will be Strawn.

Coach McCallum, who has been more or less severe on the bearers of the red and black and gray stripes of the past week on the field of practice, expressed confidence that the Coyotes will win the championship of the district. "The boys have been practicing hard and never before have they displayed such a fighting spirit. I believe Wichita Falls will win the championship of this district," he said Friday.

Tickets for the game were placed on sale Friday morning at Tipton's and Central drug stores and Strawn's news stand. There was a great demand for the tickets throughout the day and a record crowd will probably be on hand to witness the contest. A conservative estimate placed on the crowd is between 1,500 and 2,000.

The Coyote squad is intact, with the exception of Deems, whose ineffectuality will keep him from participating. Jenkins or Chevington probably will start the game at the general's position. There are no cripples, all having recovered from bruises and slight injuries suffered in last week's game at Yarnon. A number of new plays will be tried in the game with Strawn. The regulars and a few substitutes are the only ones besides the coach who have been permitted to see the practice for the past two days while the new plays were being learned.

Fighting the open game, the aerial attack of which Strawn boasts and which has been used to great advantage throughout the season, has also been a daily routine for the past week.

The realization that several men were needed who are able to kick from placement or drop kick has been the cause of three or four members of the squad putting in two hours daily in kicking goal from field.

MINNESOTA KNOWS BEST TEAM DOES NOT ALWAYS WIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—One of the toughest breaks a football team was ever handed came to the University of Minnesota in its game with Northwestern last season. It was enough to take the heart out of the most courageous aggregation, but it deprived the Gophers of a victory that was justly earned.

The incident cropped out in the latter part of the tilt, which was played at Evanston, the Northwestern stronghold. At the time, the Northern was leading 7-0. They looked like almost certain victors. Practically all through the fray they had showed marked superiority over the Purple. It looked all over but the shouting.

With the battle fast drawing to a close, Minnesota, by some clever tactics, plunged and end runs, carried the leather almost to the four's goal line. Another touchdown seemed apparent. It would be the second for certain.

But then came the "break." The ball was passed to a Gopher back to take over the final chalk march. Over he plunged. But as he was tackled the leather dropped from his grasp. It was batted into the air by the Northwestern player. The ball was quick to take in the situation. Grabbing up the pigskin he set out for the Minnesota goal, 12 yards away. Only Martineau, Gopher safety-man, was between him and the coveted line. But a bunch of Purple buzzes, acting as interference, put him out of the play. And Palmer cantered unimpeded for the touchdown. Goal was kicked, knotting the score at 7-7, where it remained.

FIVE MEMBERS OF YALE'S BEST ELEVEN IN YEARS WHO WILL PARTICIPATE IN PRINCETON GAME SATURDAY

The best team that Yale has had in years. That is the opinion of the football experts as to the Blue eleven of 1922 coached by Ted Jones. Things have been breaking rather badly for several years at New Haven but it looks as if the team of this year will wipe out the disgrace of some past reversals.

Early in the year in the game with Ypskonek, Jones lost the services of his star back, Charley O'Leary. A broken leg put him out for the rest of the season. It was feared the loss of O'Leary would slow down the backfield but the team had the proper spirit and kept up its winning ways.

Although Strawn's eleven is heralded as being a team which relies mainly on forward passing, local supporters are confident that this backfield heavy-weight team will tear and rip open the Wichita Falls line for big gains.

But they can get along without concrete quarterbacks. Now that the crown prince has returned to Germany the mark is no longer the most worthless thing in that country.

It appears that Mr. Rockne neglected to inform the Nebraska team in advance that his Notre Dame boys were invincible. It being his first year, Isay Zarator is just a halfback at Harvard. By next year he will surely be the dynamo.

Let's see, what was the name of that 1900s head who was going to make the white Sox a pennant contender? A Washington doctor took 212 stitches in a razor fighter's anatomy. This is six under par and undoubtedly constitutes a new course record.

The first thing a golfer should learn is etiquette, says Outam. But we insist the first thing he should learn is addition.

One nice thing about the barred football players, they never did it for the wife and kiddies. Col. Hickory Knutt. Dundee is going to box 52 times in 13 cities next year. This ought to be good news to the innumerable sufferers of the nation.

While it may be true that Roosevelt invented the rabbit punch, as Trainer De Forest writes, it is Mr. Dempsey who is collecting the royalties. Colleges can't get along without concrete stadiums these days.

Strawn's Eleven Leaves Early to Journey to Battle Ground Ready To Bring Back the District Title

STRAWN, Texas, Nov. 14.—Despite the fact that the train which carried Strawn's high school football team away from home departed at 4 o'clock Friday morning, hundreds of high school students and supporters of the team were at the depot to bid them bon voyage and to express the confidence placed in them.

The team as well as the supporters are confident that they will return home Sunday with the championship crown of District No. 4 of the interscholastic football league safely tucked in a suitcase which was taken along for that very purpose.

A number of rooters and supporters accompanied the squad, composed of twenty men, while a large number of fans are expected to leave Friday night or Saturday morning to bring the game at Wichita Falls.

The team is in the best of condition, according to the coach, who states that the machine which overcame Cleburne, thereby upsetting the odds, is in better working order than it was at that time. There are no nippies and the regular lineup will start the game against the Coyotes.

Zeo Arrives at Churchill Down Late Thursday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—After an absence of six months, Zeo, winner of the Kentucky Derby, returned to Churchill Downs late Thursday. He is quartered on the same grounds with in Memoriam, his opponent in another great race match slated for Churchill Downs Saturday.

The Dixie colic's reputation is international, yet, as if by repetition, he came here yesterday and upon arrival was practically unaided. His almost unaccountable reputation was due, however, to his late arrival. All day many curious people had edged among each other waiting to catch a glimpse of the Rancocas colt at the station and at the track, but when darkness fell, they left.

The Indians, although losing to Minnesota by a single point, have rolled up a total of 275 points and expect to pass the 400 mark before the season ends. In John Levi, 165 pound fullback and captain, they claim a triple threat star of ability rivaling that of Jim Thorpe. Levi gave an exhibition of passing and kicking at Yankee stadium today, which exceeded anything of its kind yet shown here to witward patrons. Levi was accurately thrown for distances of 50 to 75 yards and his punts traveled 60 to 85 yards.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR IS SLIGHTLY INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Miss Cora Bell, of 2100 Grant street, telephone operator for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was slightly injured Tuesday night when she was struck by an automobile. The accident occurred on Grant street, the young woman being on her way home from work, according to reports.

She was removed to her home, where it was found that Miss Bell was not seriously injured. Police have no record of the occurrence, and it is not known whether the driver of the machine stopped and rendered aid or kept on driving.

HAVE MARKED 3690 TURKEYS AT HASKELL

HASKELL, Texas, Nov. 16.—Much activity is manifested in the turkey market in the city of Haskell this week. Up to Thursday morning, November 15, there was 3690 head of turkeys sold weighing 79,075 pounds at 16 cents per pound brought 215,240 which was paid for by the growers of Haskell county this week. The price is some lower than was expected and quite a number of growers are holding for better prices. The turkey growers' association has many members with thousands of turkeys which have not been offered for sale at the present prices. There were more turkeys grown here this year than ever before in the history of the county and the prospects are for greater production another year. The Western Produce Company has bought most of the turkeys up to date and has a dressing plant here. They shipped a car of 16,000 pounds of dressed turkeys last Tuesday and will ship another on Saturday.

Cancer Preventable and Curable When Discovered In Early Stage Dr. Scott Tells Health Conference

"Cancer, from which 80,000 people in the United States die annually, is preventable in a healthful place," Dr. A. C. Scott of Temple told the public health conference of the State Federation of Women's Clubs Thursday afternoon.

After the age of 45, cancer is responsible for the death of one man out of 10 and of one woman out of every eight, according to statistics, the disease seldom attacking young people, the speaker stated. It is one of the most common and one of the most misunderstood diseases, being preventable and almost always curable when discovered in its early stages, Dr. Scott declared.

The great barrier to success in the treatment is the fact that people possess so many erroneous ideas concerning it, most of them finding out what they should know about the disease from three months to three years too late, many taking for granted that is incurable and becoming sceptical if they suspect that they have it, he stated. It is often thought that it is a constitutional or blood disease, when in all probability it is not inherited, he declared, and is not notifiable except in its last stages, contrary to the belief of a large majority of people.

These false impressions cause many blunders, including that of secrecy on the part of the victim, the result being that the neighbor or druggist instead of a competent physician, and the resorting to violent and unwise remedies, according to Dr. Scott, who added that blunders are also made by doctors, referring particularly to incompetent treatment of the tendency to operate after it is too late.

Cancer of the skin was said to be common among people of fair skin. In the case of the face, the face and back of hands, the skin becoming scaly, which is often peeling and peeling off repeatedly, irritated moles, black or blue moles standing well above the skin, any sore that remains on the body, lips or mouth as much as two months, any jumps or tumors about the body, any unusual bloody discharge from the body, and persistent chronic indigestion.

In speaking of the treatment for cancer, Dr. Scott declared that for hundreds of years medicine has been used without any beneficial result, with the exception of external application to skin cancers, which has sometimes been successful. The knife, cauterizing, X-ray and radium are the treatments bringing results, radium being especially in its usefulness, but being "substituted in certain cases which the other three cannot reach. X-ray is of great value especially in the treatment in destroying the straggling cells, but the knife and cauterizing have proved the most successful, according to Dr. Scott.

With Mrs. John D. Hinnegans of Kingville, state chairman of the Department of Public Health, in the chair, Miss Margaret Carey, of the American Child Health Association, opened the program of the public health conference, which was held at the Hotel Statler, Wednesday afternoon, stating that the object of the association is the raising of the standard of the American child, including an endeavor to bring about a lower maternal and infant death rate, and maintaining the health of the child during infancy and on through school.

From birth to school age is the most important period, she declared, speaking of the efforts of the association to cooperate with all agencies connected in any way with keeping the "well child well," and in encouraging cooperation between the home and the school. Health education work applied to the school child in particular was stressed, with reference to the rules of simple living which can be taught by any teacher.

"The maternal duty of women is to maintain the health of the children of the land," Miss Carey declared, referring to the great power women now have in legislative matters and to the worldwide expectation that women will devote this power primarily to matters of health and education.

Mrs. H. C. Reed, president of the woman's auxiliary of the American Medical Association, in an address to the health conference on organized medicine, commended the federation of the splendid health programs carried out by the various organizations. She outlined to "mothers of sons" the necessary steps for a boy who plans to be a physician and referred to the legislation concerning examination of licenses for doctors, declaring that this will be a protection to capable and really fit chiropractors and will prevent rejection from being communicated in connection with Christian Science practitioners.

Mrs. Reed bespoke the loyalty and cooperation of the dignitaries of the medical profession, declaring that a large majority of them depend on the power of prayer in the carrying on of their profession and are men who will be found on church boards and connected with the best and highest in any community.
